and a million nights ... I knew drama after drama, having them all on my bow ... spitting the cowards wrapping them in easters snow ... 24. Strange auctions circle in the sky strange fairgrounds .. circling in the skies .. watching the golden baths on high floors ... letters making strange connections ... fighting for a place in the ship ... that strange ship of noah ... where flowers have to die ... 25. When the auction hammer brings the horror ... These kids go to the deserts ... with his rings on their heads while tigers and lions roar in the distance ... and a black panther makes it coming close ... so close that you feel their teeth ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder suns ... burning sweet bars of the cake 26. Noah banker bake the bank bananas in vanilla turn them into gold ... breed them into cobras these are lies to sacrifice ... turning the machines backwards. 27. It's bending on paper ... these are liars on an orange boat ... while the yellow boat is sinking .. grasping fishes from empty dikes ... they're sinking deeper. 28. These warmachines create the coins ... I'm nothing but a coin in your hands created on the battlefield, finished in your hospital ... These medical days they broke me ... breeding me into a wilder animal ... but oh I'm so paranoid now ... feeling so fragile ... having such fragile visions 29. A liar's docter ... an animal so wild ... bringing me wilder days ... spitting sand he promised to be ... an icecream so far away ... this coin will be brought down ... with all these Jesus Christs ... and their heads on it ... 30. Throwing their playcards like sharp money ... cutting the bald heads and the blue potatoes ... These are just the wilder animals ... knowing the world behind the shoe ...The icecream made them blue so blue ... with red hands ... they continue .. back to izu ... 31. This juice it brings me higher ... out of the medical threat .. I'm not a number of your bread ... Land of the lambstead ... 32. Black Pinocchio I promised to be ... not hiding ... but sliding ... to the daylights dream In a hotel I saw what they were doing to me ... I'm not a coin .. I sleep at homeI don't pay for my food ... I take it from the garden by my own hands ... 33. The sixth wolf of benchelot ... Breathes good while you're breathing, drinking good, while you're drinking, under bekehelm's helmet. 34. These families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins, raising the money high, while the banana shoots, but an orange steals the cry ... [b. while gepetto is rising with his black pinocchios doing strange dances in the night it makes you cry] ... 35. ... He's just a microphone ... shivering when they speak too loud ... he's making icecreams ... like snowclause never showing up ... 36. ... Strange funerals in the flowerfields ... these are the riddles of death ... These are four drunk gamblers, while the mailman is their god ... while a bakertree is growing in the middle ... a strange sun ... a mad sun 37. They are on a travel, to greet uncle peacock ... [b. While pictures lie in the sand.] 38. There are liars on a zebra's boat ... orange liars ... doing the dishes ... for a holiday's spoon ... the banana rises soon out of it's rinds ... with two big eyes ... it writes with the golden pencil. 39. He's still the god of ten ... while the drunk are following him with gamblemachines on their back, they take flight ... 40. It's a painting in the sky ... while brother rabbit is raking itIt's the lawyer's orange ... still smoking these cigarettes on a bakerman's dream ... on a mailman's tight decision ... making a daylight's scream ... 41. And this orange still the head on a stamp of dreams ... this mailman's orange ... this lawyer's threat. 42. And it's still a strange strange cardgame ... in a strange mailman's bag written on a strange ornament while a lawyer is doing the dishes ... they burn trees for this ... this woodcutter's job 43. Making the stamps in dark places taking kids away from the schools ... these are dark conspiracies ... from peacock's horrorshows 44. On a strange footballfield the mailman is rising ... this god of ten ... while he is the eleventh ... and who follows him is the twelveth ... It's a strange bank after all ... when school rises strange tears are rolling making seas under bekehelm's helmet ... 45. The mailman is rising from the footballfield, spreading the stamps as butterflies, and then the mass begins to roar ... while the judges will decide ... The mailman he has a million arms ... while he has a bekehelm's helmet ... they are all under it when he puts off his hat, he's a bald communist .. letting the balls roll by blasphemy ... 46. For a mailman's holiday ... She lives in his bag as his tinkerbelle ... painting the smiles on his sun, these golden bananas ... with oranges as their guns ... they have orange tongues so tall so split ... 47. These deserts are in fire they were touched by a mailman ... while an orange face is rising on the stamp ... eating and drinking ... forgetting ... flying on the wings of dementia 48. Strange traffic in a strange clock ... a postman's clock ... a strange sun in a mailman's bank It's lucifer, you cannot decide ... he's spinning the ashes into stamps ... while the dice are rolling ... these are strange butterflies ... 49. They sacrifice stamps in strange churches ... waving at them until they are home ... These are strange funerals mailmen strange funeral undertakers ... working for the clauses ... or are they clauses themselves ... 50. There are strange clauses on stamps ... while soap clause rakes the skyfields ... in september they take flight ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder fights ... all happening in a mailman's bag ... 51. Charity is taking them to the hospitals ... to reach the killingfields ... these are strange ways to home ... These are strange bottles of an ornament's lie ... 52. And these rippling golden lionroads ... heading for the big faroom da bazite ... under bekehelm's helmet ... the oil is running from it ... to change the lands and the nations ... under strange flags ... 53. And our racecars on these rippling golden lionroads ... become so orange in the night ... so orange ... until it strikes the blue ... and then the towers are rising from the sea ... a strange clock ... to bring them all home ... 54. She's cycling to the moon, this feather, to see her moonchild smiling wide ... he's breeding his silver ... with a golden striped rod ... It comes from the ashes ... it rises ... when tigers go to sleep, another tiger rises ... ten seconds on a dream, it's spreading wider ... it brings coffee to the child, while the older ones are sleeping ... 55. And these golden rippling roads .. bringing them all home, together, rising for the storm, who brings them away ... back to izu .. back to lakus ... while faroom da bazite is spouting ... 56. Trips to Brannan. He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... 57. It's made from stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 58. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... He's the wizard's son. 59. He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ... 60. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, in ornamental skies, where truths become a lie 61. It's baker on a bicycle's friend ... it's baker riding on a friend she's a mystery an ornament, a baby, lying in the skies, peeing in the minds ... of millionaires' pride 62. Oh green baby, in ornamental skies, sailing on the mysteries, peeing in the books where bakermen unite 63. It's peeing in your head like a golden statue ... peeing in your head until you lose all control ... 64. Oh sweet baby, sweet ornament sweet baby burning bakerman's skies, burning truth into lies wings on fire ... fires of dementia ... it was installed by someone else ... having the burning deserts in the pocket 65. She's grey this lady, black clothes, hair long, dancing in the snow she's dancing like pale spring ... running on the pink while pink oceans lie to her 66. She tries to understand the words i'm whispering it's coming through like chocolate ... she warms me with her tender smile she never fails when life tells her goodbye 67. She died a hundred times for me ... and now she watches ... without a grin she's tight when the lion fights ... 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby ... raise the mystery echoing right through your mind, make me enlightened by your golden bakery ... so deep in the forests of this earthquakes decision ... bringing the deserts deep inside 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch the spy ... she's stringing all the pearls in grey she's doing dishes on saturday until the children are back she's a saturday's child, watch this spy ... watch her coming from the cakes ... 69. She's bringing the holiday on pink oceans they lie to her Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch this spy of uncle baby, baby 70. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, her voice surrounds the million stars of a golden bakery in the depths of a millionaire she's his daughter she's his green orange ... 71. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, you're his ornament, this millionaire's man ... growing like a green orange in the skies ... watching the golden babies by a strange lense in his mind 72. Oh, green baby, truth comes after the lady truth brings seas of time, to think about this factory you loved the schoolboy, your face is true ... but i still keep everything away ... for my fears are sailing on pink oceans 73. The horror is there the horror is there now when these words are in silver ... now when these words can speak by themselves they're not locked up anymore ... 74. A purple orange and yellow churches with carbon smiles, they lead the traffic in baker's minds ... to there where the orange liars stand ... burning the sand ... burning deserts ... for the new books ... 75. There's an orange .. a good gun ... a good faroom da bazite ... a tankstation ... 76. They have their moonchilds and their rainboys ... on the wings of dementia ... they take flight ... still that strange cuyornaida corset ... 77. They are heading for the bakertrees where they burn the deserts for the new books ... 78. They're heading for oceans of love under bekehelm's helmet. There's a purple orange lying on the floor ... while the yellow streams from it ... it's sour ... 79. There are strange cucumbers in a lawyers suit, dancing around an orange, and strange paprika's they do the dishes ... in this land of dreams ... they sell the houses ... but the rent's too high ... they are dying on their walls, while they build their towers higher ... 80. It takes a lot of money .. to live in someone's head .. only the rich can do it ... These are cucumbers and paprika's taking you higher ... while you're dying on the ceilings, it brings you higher ... 81. The towers are rising ... with your head in the sky ... Oh, there are cucumbers and paprika's in the sky ... telling you to fly ... on the wings of dementia ... They will take everything away ... until only some old toys are left ... There are towers rising from the orange ... 82. Take flight on the wings of dementia These rings of icecream, contracting tight, while the boys are shrieking, they take flight ... still a shrieking boys clock, wheels under sandman's cars ... 83. They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's table ... rising from the spoon ... 84. Strange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... 85. They were prisoners of a green dragon for too long, eaten by green spiders ... Now they rise like orange gold from the ashes ... wearing orange chocolate on their backs, having some beaks of parrots along the sides ... 86. These balls smell like purple oranges, while the red is floating, red icecreams full of paprika seeds ... 87. Do you miss your seed, it's orange now, to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... while the black man still sells them to the machines, they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... in the restaurant at the sea ... 88. There are thin tall snakes in their body contracting, spitting the venom in their bones, it's so uniting ... they're heading for the gold, these golden boys .. these paranoid men ... elves escaping someone's world ... 89. They are the men of holiday clause, while saturday clause rakes the machines ... Now they can work in pink restaurants, selling icecreams to the wasps ... They have waspian smiles so mean 90. Icecream let us escape from the green businessmachine ... They only work in holidays .. these green men ... of green icecream in daylights they escape running through the nights ... these elves these ornament's elves ... 91. Suits of liquid powders ... blinding souls on paper ships ... while paprika seeds they do the dishes ... under sandman's cars in deep deserts ... rising from the spoon ... 92. Ornament's letters, escaping cannibal, escaping the mouse of spice ... It was worth it after all ... and now your head is full of icecream ... it's cold but it takes the salt away bringing you to a new day 93. Their mouths are dry these paranoid men ... still playing football, throwing playcards ... but they never hit the ball ... their shoes become so tall, to have teeth for summer ... 94. And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... it's daylight's new begin ... 95. And these paranoid men, they look like ornament's docter ... like saltkillers in the sea ... it doesn't bite them anymore ... 96. The milk is flowing, they're heading for the icecream ... taste still a bit salt ... but they're winning the game doesn't blow their minds ... while these ornament's they're singing their strange songs of a captain and a millionaire's unite ... 97. Song of the whispering tailor, song of the shoe-side's king, they have them all in their ornament's raging ... doing the big spin .. on sandman's tables they unite ... watching the parrotfeathers and their beaks ... hinging their like teeth under towers ... rising the spoon, heading for daylight ... 98. It was like taming a lion ... on Elsefic's back ... 99. Pinocchio was a baker's kid ... and you, you look like me, I'm not your santa clause ... I'm still burning the yellow by blasphemy ... sacrifice these churches to me ... I need them as oil for my motors ... 100. I'm still one hell of a beast ... 101. There are strange shoes coming from orange kettles, while the black man moves the spoon, he's mixing the letters ... while the shoes burn the deserts ... until it's gold ... until the icecreams stream ... 102. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... it's running through my veins awakening the marchpane flowers ... in white green chocolate shores ... it's deeper inside ... a pink blue forestroad like working in holidays ... 103. Spit the sand, brother, spit the sand ... with paprika seeds deep inside ... i lost your number ... but now it's back ... 104. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... and then burn them by a scream, i want to be barefooted by the end of the day, to bathe in icecream ... 105. Burn your boots, sweet moses, burn your ornament's cakes ... spoil the baker's cat and his sweet child ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... 106. The cakes are thin like orange wood, while icecream flows through it, hiding the paprika seeds for a mission ... Speedboats are fast, to be teeth at the end of the day, hanging below the tall towers ... 107. Holiday clause sell me icecreams, and take away my pains of this businessdream ... i drowned in business, now my days are gone, let my shoes grow, and burn them at the end of the day ... to reach deeper inside for the naked flowers, the beaks of parrots and their feathers 108. The icecream's finally running through my veins, while praying to Elsefic, I'm having these strange bananas inside ... my friends are like me ... i can only remember my name in thick letters ... 109. It's strange drugs after all ... from a strange strange tree ... where the icecreams run ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world ... these elves ... these children of bakerman. 110. They're coming from the world beyond cockaign, wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... by Elsefic's candle ... under Bekehelm's helmet ... 111. And then the cucumber seeds are awakening rising into the streams ... watching the daylight's candles, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 112. They're all surrounded by icecream ... it's the Big Escape ... until the sand is rising, building marchpane city in the middle of the deserts ... while the tinkerbells are ringing ... and the jingle bells ... 113. And still the old black man is mixing in the kettle the orange kettle ... until it strikes the blue forever ... There are snakefighters coming from the streams ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... 114. They are the wasps ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... still ornament's docters ... They have racistic smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ...

13. 1. Chapter for descending the Santaclause-Balloon. The French Schoolbook ; Cruel Heritages. 2. And the boys ... these boys ... They are free in their prisons ... selling their churches to old lions, selling their little gods to another gameshop ... they will be the balls of new games ... rolling by blasphemy ... 3. Glues from Crocodile, the woman with the white boots. In the land of the fake, a fake-assassin lives, all his crimes, all fake. 4. There where everything gets fake, the pain slides away, and then you're holding only that golden precious diamond in your hands ... 5. It's overflowing with liquid yellow glue, the juice for your children ... 6. In the land of the fake, a fake-dancer dances ... the mailman with his fake letters ... his fake hat ... all to make your heart in peace ... 7. Now how do you make something fake ? It takes many lullabies for that You need to fly on the back of the orange dinosaur No one knows where he lives. It takes some adventure. 8. You need to go to some libraries from Gemini, where the glues are streaming, green glues and blue glues, while outside it's snowing, and the trees produce those powders How do you make games, for these are necessary for a fake ... Ask yourself some good questions ... [b. The woman with the white boots will initiate you Tall white boots, a mouth soft like sekmeth] 9. Jesus from the Vegetable, they run on the streets of aldebaran, the terror they are there They sing their songs of clothes too tight ... But they wear their uniforms over them 10. Sharp guitars are on their side The Aldebaran Boys ... they have shining scars on their necks, turning black in the night, making a living on the ceilings 11. The Aldebaran Boys still pirates on empty shores, giving poets their swords back, running barefooted on wooden roads ... 12. With the ballgames in their eyes ... they died in the factories it was the big escape Still tearing clothes, running the stairways of old shoes ... 13. And the boys ... these boys ... they are free in their prisons ... going from sunset to sunset ... I'm finding myself in the candy-factory .. You thought your dance was over here but slowly a new dance started ... a better one ... and much wilder ... 14. A cigarette is getting crazy ... that happens when there are too many publics in your head ... but now he has the pencil in his hand, it's burning. It decorates the candy, to make it ripe for trade ... You still sell these things ... 15. Oblezea Vitrininium ... The spell you still speak out That old dwarve's spell ... nailing your Jesus Christs in the middle of a footballfield. Oblezea Vitrininium, the Birthday's Eye, giving him a new christmas And you are the statue on his gun 16. Oblezea Vitrininium, still sandman's best trick still the horse on your father's road ... 17. There were only ashes lying on your table, muttering at the end of the story ... The Eye of Birthday, guiding the Aldebaran Boys, like Bethlehem's star ... 18. They are mixing the candy through the vegetables ... by this strange fruit It fills their stomachs so deep, like spun sugar ... like the clock of a spider crazier than them 19. My mother's zoo is too interesting but she doesn't always give me the key to really meet all these amazing creatures I think she wants to protect me For I do not realize how dangerous they can be 20. I'm still wanting to visit dad But i really need to put on my armour first I feel myself like a kindergarten-child but maybe that's better To act like an adult when I'm not is not good 21. Then I would become a dangerous animal which they have to lock up behind thick bars But where am I now also behind the bars of the kindergarten but I need to realize that the world outside is the cage and not this kindergarten it's just close to each other 22. I feel the bars of the cages of dangerous animals not the bars of my cage I really need to put that clear I'm free here in this kindergarten with all these caring mothers and mistresses 23. I'm free to fantasize Fantasy is always free But even in fantasy there are bars but these aren't of my cage ... but that of the dangerous animals' cages 24. I'm staring a lot through these bars knowing that one day I will ride these amazing creatures together with dad If we know how to treat them well, they can build houses and cities even new worlds 25. The roar of a new fantasy. I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, I'm hearing the roar of the new city. I'm hearing the roar of my best friend, waiting for me to ride him. 26. Together we will build the land, I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, from millions of years ago. I'm hearing the roar of my daddy's friends. Together we will make the land. Together we will build the cities, the tall buildings, and the skyscrapers, the hollow houses, the big balloons. 27. I'm hearing the roar of a new dream, liquid, racing on new roads to the rainbow and beyond. I'm hearing the roar of the joke, roaring and racing these nights searching for a good end

1. The Dragon Candle ; You could smell the tomatoe .. bringing you to toyland once again ... It was on the back of an eagle ... It flew while you ate ... Could you eat the green tomatoe, when it landed on your back ... You had to wait until it reached your mouth ... 2. Flying Carpet, Carpet makes the stage, He makes the bakertrees, where uncle peacock bows it is your destiny, 3. When Carpets rise, you know it is your time to play, and underneath that warm warm blanket you find your sledge today. 4. It is the Carpet making memory, The Carpet making destiny, The Carpets rise like soldiers on a dream. When the Carpet talks, the city walks, To the city of The Hague, that city at the sea .. Such tall coasts .. will it be your destiny ... 5. To the city of The Hague, will you find your way back, when you have been to The Hague ... It's the Red Golden City ... where all the red raiders stand tall ... 6. These are the towers of talk ... These are the confusions making the creations .. and california will end in arabia ... california will end in arabia .. 7. The tail of a dragon, from california to arabia ... still the spice making your life worth living ... 8. When the octaves rise higher ... 9. It is the ornament, the true time's brother, i wonder about these lanterns so big ... to bring us back to bring us back today ... to the city of the hague ... 10. To the city of The Hague, In the little city of the hague ... a little musical box speaks ... 11. Still a viewmaster in dark caves of stations near the sea, while green aunts stare at all these circling faces of Mickey Mouse, still the statue in the middle. Spinning like a thousand mothers. She's a widow spider. 12. Yes, spit the suns in the green baskets and sell the fruits, for half the price. 13. These are the towers of talk. You have to cheat a bit when you raise your voice. There's a telephone on the radio, a banana on the church, burning the money, for the insurancy rising like a bird from tax's seas.

1. The Fortune-Teller ; I almost don't dare to watch in her eyes It's like falling into a thousand of pitfalls at the same time, pits, fifty miles deep ... 2. Her smile is like the mandarine, in deep extends They warned me saying never go there, where she is, But I'm too curious to resist They say she's breeding sharks 3. I'm watching the rings at her finger They reflect planets I don't know It makes me curious, I want to step on these planets ... 4. They feed me unknown juices I'm creeping through the sand ... I see her misty palace in the distance or is it just a mirage ... 5. She is the queen of the mandarines They say she was my aunt in early days, but my uncle left her, and she went to africa, to live in the deserts ... 6. She's still a magician after all these years, My uncle became too scared of her magic ... 7. She always turned into a werewolf in the night 7. And finally I see my lost aunt for the first time in my life It's like a million of sharks are staring at me She smiles deep ... You're still that little baby, she sais 8. She shows me her chrystal ball, and I see myself running through the skies ... 9. She smiles, I always followed you by watching my chrystal ball ... she sais ... You were always my little tv-star ... 10. She asks me to drink some of her liquor But no, I say, I have to drive home tonight 11. She says : home is gone, it's now in the crystal ball This is your new home ... 12. It's like a million of sharks are smiling at me ... But aunt, I say, I only have clothes for one day 13. She shows me a wardrobe full of suits, saying not to worry about that I immediately like the pink ones decorated with white ... See, you're still a baby, she says 14. Hun, I need to tell you something, before you go to sleep I still become a werewolf at night, and then the sharks will walk through the room, cleaning the house cooking tomorrow's meals, and working in the garden ... I say no problem, but don't wake me ... 15. The fortune-teller smiles Where am I ? I ask ... You were far away, she says ... 16. Why are you doing this to me, I ask To show you that your dreams are real, she says ... I look at my hands, and see my aunts ring on one of my fingers ... 17. Yes, it's true, I say A little shocked ... Then she closes her book, And I fall asleep again

1. Hail to those who received the nipplian shields, the eternal heart in Izu-Avah, those of the hybrid smiles of death. 2. Hail to those who walk the hybrid paths, in which they can move their arms and legs. 3. They can breath forever in Izu-Avah. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. Hail to those who walk the ocean heart, hail to these men who have found the multi-gender, to live forever in the heart of Amen. 4. Hail to those who have read the words of the paradise. Amen-Talgamen-Amen, for they have reached for the rocks of Belcanov, to find the golden pearl in the midst of holy-do-ers. Amen-Rise-Amen. 5. Hail to those who received the nipplian shields in their chests, those who could move their rippling scanners for a multi-scan. 6. They are the holy-do-ers on holy mountains. Hail to those whose nipples are protected. 7. In the hands of Izu they will dwell. Hail to those who have the old faces in their keys, for they will reach for Izu-Jamaica's sands, to enter the lands of Cobra. 8. They have the youngest and oldest smiles to lead them all through the valleys of death. Hail to those who have the eternal heart of Izu-Avah in their chest, for they can reach for the widow spider laying dormant in the middle of easy faces. 9. They have seen the visions of Nostradames, to become paranoid and neurotic. 10. Hail to those who have survived the strikes of Belcanov, for they have become softer and softer, by the glues of Brannan. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have been struck by a fever to become healthy. They have been struck by chaos to become ordered, 11. Yet they are wild. They are the wild men, the wild boys, becoming raiders, while they are sleeping in trees. 12. They have become darker and paler, covered by chocolate, vanilla and peppermint. Hail to those who have survived, for they have been struck by confusion to become creative. 13. They do not marry, but travel from woman to woman, to become the shining hermits in the sky, while their lights are slowly fading away turning into darkness. 14. Their hands are cold and their hearts are hot, while they worship the illuminating Biezefic, their son of hearts. He came on the third day of their death, to bring them these new smiles. And they have entered through the cages and caves of Belcanov, 15. To see a new smile, floating on their faces, diving into wild waters to rule them all. Their lips are pierced, their eye-brows waved. They wear the ancient cuts and tattoos on their bodies, 16. As they head for the mark of the hybrids. They have become darker and paler, raiders of a new apocalypse. They have burnt old books, they have eaten from old chocolate, they have wandered through easy wildernesses. 17. Now their heads are difficult, made of paper, while glue and honey is dripping. They have found themselves as puzzles. They have doors in their bodies, as struck by medicine, the curse of medicine. 18. Now they have their own medicines inside, deep down in the ice. Hail to Biezefic. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have waited to greet Marazanta from a distance. They have watched the ripples of new oceans, where they all live underwater, by gravity and fishian smiles. 19. They have found their roots and their holy arks. They have wives like harems, like ancient kings, they have more legs, like the jellypus, they smile. They are raiders, dominating the hard spells. 20. They have lost their lives in deep dark caves, to meet the Benchelot of their hearts. These smiling wolves they faced deep down there, until the dogs of Belchelot led them out, to Izu-Kabbernal they moved their legs, while their arms were reaching for the watering skies. 21. They have watched the faces of Izu-Benchelot so deep, while faces of Izu-Belchelot led them out, to the skies of Brannan and Izu-Kabbernal, they took flight. 22. And now they swim as fishes so deep, in darknesses of deep Saturn in Avah. Amen-Saturn-Avah-Amen. [In Izu]

1. They have found the dark red treasures in Saturn-Avah. [In Izu] Amen-Holy-Amen. They have found their bread so deep, in dark golden treasures of the seas and oceans of their hearts. So deep they found the portal to a new life. 2. And now they're travelling in an acorn, from heart to heart, from tree to tree, to become solar in this new sun. They have the heads of radio, while the tongue of telephone rises. 3. They have found the secrets of tax and insurance, near to the Blue Tree, where Izu-Metensia gave life to Michai and the Aakse. She has the dogs and pigs of Izu in her rings. They have the smiles of Izu-Sarsia. They have seen the eyes of Perremoth, and the trees of Peppermint, in deep caves of Saturn-Aveh. [In Izu] 4. They have entered the signs of liberty, for a new living. They have entered the halls of Avah. [In Izu] First Hall : Saturn-Avah, second Hall : Belcanov-Ra, where the bananas dwell, third Hall : Sandakov Origia, fourth Hall : Belchelot-Ra.

1. The Wizard ; The Arabian palace was hard to reach, The desert was long, and full of snakes ... 2. I'm touching the portal of the palace, But then it disappears ... It was a mirage ... 3. Finally I feel hard ground below my feet, Am I in now ? No, it's only a lost stone in the desert ... The sun breaths in my neck, My shoulders are burning 4. Finally I see someone standing with a mirror, smiling So it was you making all these fata morgana's 5. I'm looking around me, the desert is gone Even the desert was a mirage, just another one's trick I'm in the palace, Cool winds are touching my neck and back 6. My clothes are thin and transparent The sun tattooed my body with dragons, to protect me against the Wizard's eye ... They say his eyes spit fire 7. His cobra's lead me to a room, in the top of one of the palace's towers Two lions will wake over me the night ... They say the black powers will rage when the nights fall 8. In my room it's hot My bed is burning, and flames are dancing on the walls ... 8. I see banana's to eat, but I don't dare to touch them They say they are the wizard's hearts I see them beating on their dishes ... They are pulsating strange feelings into my stomache ... 9. I feel like getting drunk It's the wizard's banana-liquor They say it's necessary for a good sleep, and not to fall out of the dreamship, while sailing over the seas of the night 10. I see black licorice surrounding my ships it glitters in the waters The black sun is enchanting the oceans But there I see you walking on the water, with your little mirror ... 11. And I find myself sitting on your lap It was all a mirage it was you again Uncle wizard, it makes my touch lighter ...

1. The Card-Reader ; These summers with you on Neptune took so long, it was like forever. The days here took so long. I'm staring at the little clock so many numbers. 2. I'm seeing your smile reflecting there, watching Neptunes Teeth Your dress is taller than the sun, telling me stories about a long forgotten past. 3. Your earrings are big You got them from an Arabian Queen. 4. The way you use to smoke your tall cigarettes is too mysterious to describe, a dignified kill is what you always called it. And oh, yes, you are so dignified, tempered and patient. 5. You always said you don't wait for anything. You always said to wait is to die. Your smiles reach the bottoms of Jupiter and Saturn, they are still your loving sisters. 6. When you shuffle your cards, there is no one who can say anything. When the lady speaks, everyone is silent. You know the snakes around my neck. 7. Softly you close the curtains, as in slow-motion. I'm trying to catch a glimpse of the ceilings here, but all I see is smoke and fog I wonder if this house has ceilings at all. 8. You smile, and give me a glass of strange wine, or is it liquor ? Anyway, only by watching in the glass, seeing the ruby-red moist, I get a sting in my stomach, and something climbs my back, embracing my neck as a soft wind. 9. Is it your monkey or just a trick ... or am I just dreaming I'm getting dizzy staring in the glass ... You still hold it before my eyes, I don't dare to touch the glass 10. No, give me some apple-juice, I ask You say you don't have apple-juice, only these sorts of blends There I see myself sinking away in the glass You smile deep, and saying : "Come on, give it a try, take a good pull." My legs start to shake, and I'm falling on the ground 11. Your carpet is so soft I feel myself like lying in the grass I am looking at my watch, seeing more numbers growing on it 12. Your face reflecting Seeing Neptune's Teeth 13. No, no, no one can ever say I drank from this mixture, this only happened by staring at it You smile, and while turning your back to me, you walk to a bookcase, so tall, I couldn't see where it ends 14. Maybe it doesn't end If there is no ceiling, there is no top of this bookcase But I don't know, I only see smoke and fog 15. You smile while giving me a book I shiver, I don't dare to touch it ... While staring at it, I feel all strength streaming out of my body I'm lying on the grass again 16. Someone's touching my fingers Your monkey ? 17. You smile Turning the blank pages, while disappearing in the fog

1. only caring about that strange hunger deep inside which makes them so immune it makes their hearts like drunk they start to discover a world of energies inside their hearts which projects itself on the path they have to go 2. like they are stung by a fly from a strange land their reflexes are broken off ... the fly made them immune 3. yes, they are rooted in water, tighter than ground they are rooted in a new sensory experience which speaks to their mind it's like a new drug, a new medicine they are so drunk 4. they have been stung by a strange fly stranger than they could imagine ... something that flew beyond their thoughts and ideas 5. and then suddenly, like the strike of thunder they lose all their passions and desires ... all their hungers inside because it became all too heavy now they are indifferent ignorant losing all their memories and senses to go into a sleep deeper than death something is erasing and deleting their minds like hell it's the strange fly 6. a light smile is appearing on the faces of the bloodhounds they recognize this voice but they can't remember who or what a light smile is appearing in their hearts ... like a flame so light and thin they don't respond they are far away ... their reflexes have been died out broken away 7. powders of tragic lullabies are being spread throughout the night 8. they look into the faces of many flies, they are under an insectian curse ... all tragic lullabies 9. deleted by a flash their screens will soon be deleted from the mainscreen like breaking into medical powders finer than the finest strike 10. They are finding themselves on the back of a white fly again and they feel so many injections in their nerves and brains it's like getting an overdose and they fall in a heavier sleep becoming so heavy that it's like they cannot move their heads anymore 11. rippling images are flowing over them, but they can't enter it's like they are hard like stone they see a doctor's hand it's all an experiment while the images are moving the images change 12. a voice is speaking : these are languages of the fly these are languages of sleep then another voice is speaking : these are dances of the lullaby 13. a spider called "white thunder" was descending like there where millions and millions of helicopters descending to the wildest surfaces of the seas 14. a man called "rara sur" was standing on the fragile shells of rippling existences descending his spirit he was the god of slow-motion 15. hard rain was falling, while the thunders were charging the atmosphere all by strange delights 16. "you have to eat new meat," a voice was speaking 17. suddenly as by thunderstrike, the heavens were shocked open, white powder was exploding and millions of spiders were attacking 18. the river his mother is screaming and tries to take his hand but the strong stream is taking him away very quick his mother is diving in the river too but she fails to find him 19. he all sees this while sliding away further and further he sees his own funeral in a flash until a boat is picking him up finding himself in a room 20. while a friendly lady is smiling at him he smiles back and walks towards her but suddenly the face of the woman changes into a mean cynical face in flames laughing at him very loud 21. he's smashed against the wall by this sight he's watching outside seeing a world drowning ... children ... mothers ... fathers 22. then the lady is grasping at him from behind and tries to strangle him with panties ... 23. Now he saw the woman like she was older than everything, and it was like lightening struck his face ... but he became calmer and calmer ... 24. he realized that the woman was losing her powers she turned into an old wasp and was flying to the butchery suddenly the picture was in flames and he heard screams harder than ever 25. like his ears were exploding and blood was coming out of them but he knew his real body was inside he felt like his skin was torn off 26. like he was also going through a cocoon he felt so many strange powers in his eyes, like he could burn everything by his focus 27. He felt himself like a lethal wasp ... 28. "you are the seventh one", a voice spoke. 29. their mouths are becoming so mean all of a sudden It felt like they were walking on a thin wire ... surrounded by dangerous electricity 30. while a wild sea of fire was roaring under them touching all the silent beauty, touching all the fragile layers it was like he was turning into a white fly like he was in a strange sort of cocoon too mysterious to describe and understand 31. it was like his memory didn't exist anymore serene slowmotion waves of a white ocean ... he was never born he was dying it wasn't his cradle in which he slept as baby ... it was his grave 32. this ocean is so large ... surrounding his whole being ... he breaths in the white rippling powders [while it's shivering between brannan and lapsalvania.] 33. He wanted to bring something on the market as a product of these two interests together ... He was thinking about a new line of technology responding to the fine electricities of trees. 34. He had a lab in the place he lived, where he had invented such a scanner, which could catch the vibrations of trees, producing signals on their special frequency-zone 35. It took him years to find and rate the different wave-index's of different trees, and the patterns of communication together with the interaction between these different layers ... 36. he had formed the scanner into a box which could store these energies and transform these to use them for different instruments. 37. This would be a possible way to get rid of environment-pollution. 38. Years later he had invented already a lot of instruments totally working by stored tree-energy. He had invented a tree-energy-based computer, with internet and virtual reality. 39. It became a revolution on earth, and smashed the pollution down like never before. Many factories started to switch over to this new form of electricity-use. 40. He became the hero of the society, but he didn't like all this attention ... He was glad he still lived so isolated 41. And he loved to make trips through the forests sleeping in a tent to stay close to the trees He felt safe here and this was his place he got so much inspiration 42. The revolution went on ... and soon the whole society worldwide was based on tree-energy It was a new industrial revolution. 43.

Soon enough many scientists started to work in the project. A major change was coming into all layers of society : religion, education, politics, science, and many more. Wave after wave of revolution entered earth ... It was a breakthrough in total evolution. 44. Scientists were developing a system to set the moving mosaics into smell. By this system one could bring the healthy flavors of trees everywhere. Also the higher forms of smell which couldn't be traced by human noses could be translated into the present frame of nose-sensitivity. 45. But scientists wanted to recreate the nose by their genetic experiments. The frequency-borders of human organs and cells needed to be stretched out The effect of this new science was that human beings became taller and more sensitive ... so that everything would be refined deeper digested Humans became thinner 46. It was like the elves were returning to earth 47. He was now working on a project to conduct insectian electricities. And soon enough he could set the incoming patterns into visual information. 48. It was a strange mosaic, it was wilder than what he got from the trees, and it was like little sharp lines mixed through each other It was a wild dance he saw 49. And he had the feeling someone really wanted to talk to him but he tried to ignore these feelings 49. He wanted to be in peace ... he wanted rest ... staying pure scientific but the screens became wilder and wilder Finally he put it off for it was like the screens were almost exploding ... the instruments were already overheated 50. He lived in a house near the sea ... One day he got a letter from someone from the Young Scientist Association ... They wanted to talk to him, for they said that they had worked out his Insectian-based instruments ... They had developed a mechanism which could translate the insectian mosaic code into human languages. 51. He was very sceptical about it and didn't respond. A few years later he got another letter, that they got messages from the translated mosaic-codes about him. They wanted to speak to him about it. But he thought it could be all part of the conspiracy, so he didn't respond. 52. A few months later he got another letter. This time it contained the messages from the codes. He was like in a shock, for it contained some details he never spoke about. The insectian codes also told that they tried to reach him before. 53. He remembered when he first started to get the insectian mosaics on screen that these were so wild that everything started to get overheated 54. New revolutions came on earth since the codes were cracked It seemed this new insectian technology showed easily the conspiracies ... The frequencies were burning them inside Organisations started to melt away for this was a very personal technology. It was like a holocaust People were set in fire 55. it was burning their organs away There were forestfires, and even some seas were burning There were skeletons on the streets 56. Babies were screaming Playgrounds were burning away schools churches Justice-courtsshops And the fire was spreading more and more there was smoke everywhere 57. While the new insectian computers and observatoriums were built further The tragedy of truth was now leading them Almost all other governments were falling ... Many famous leaders were totally burnt to the ground ... many famous popsingers and sportheroes They all appeared to be members of the Big Conspiracy 58. New education-systems were rising, insect-based There were screens on which you could see the mosaic appearing on one side, while on the other side the translation appeared in many human languages giving very detailed information it set people on fire 59. The world was getting ready for insectian cybernetica, and a new cyborg-structure Many famous old scientists were shot away A total new scientific government started to form itself on earth with many young leaders 60. It was like the insects were born on earth Humanity became taller and thinner men started to let their hair and beards grow It was like Jesus was returning to earth Native Americans and other minorities got their honour back. 61. But he was very sceptical he knew that this was only one step in identification This was only the first wave ... and he warned the people for it He wanted to live in silence he saw the dangers hanging over the earth

1. He and some other four walked to a white castle in the distance ... It looked like a palace ... When they were in they saw an old woman who was like waiting for them She was clothed in white ... but they didn't see this woman before ... She held a die before their eyes, and said that their whole world was living in this die 2. It was like earth was traveling to the exit .. 3. Since that the air became stranger and stranger, and it was like a strange hand was taking over the world. 4. Meanwhile science developed itself in insect-based technology, and one was specifying the several area's in this. 5. The wasp-electricities could be caught and seemed to be very useful in many ways. 6. and soon they got these frequencies on the screen ... It seemed that the wasps communicated by holograms, mostly by cubes, looking like dice in many cases. 7. One could trace the different forms of this unique communication. And it seemed the more they developed this wasp-base in technology, the more hidden secrets were being revealed ... 8. There were more exposures of conspiracies, By the releasement of this new electricity in so many ways, the earth-temperature was becoming hotter and hotter, and science found out that wasps directly tap from the suns in different cosmoses. 9. The earth was about to change into a new sun ... and science was in a race against the clock to prepare humanity for that. It was like the sun was touching the earth, but it was not the same energy ... 10. it was a controlled and concentrated energy, a focussed energy, and it seemed there was a solar cocoon for humanity to learn how to handle solar energy. 11. Seas of fire were roaring on earth ... But one didn't realize that anymore for they were stuck in their own balls golden balls like a strong concentrated energy 12. He was at peace ... he was finally in the silence he so desired ... For all the pressures and expectations of organisations and governments were slowly strengling him ... like he was in the arms of a devastating insect ... 13. He felt free. It was like the show was over now, and he could finally live for himself instead of for others ... 14. He couldn't care about them anymore, for he knew they had to live their own lives, making their own decisions ... 15. Life would have a fitting cocoon for them and he even didn't know who they were ... He just wanted to be blanco for now ... 16. The temperature was very good but suddenly images were appearing on the walls of the golden one .. They were rippling like a movie, and it was like hands tried to touch him 17. "Well done," he heard a voice saying ... 18. Hours and hours went on, while images were appearing trying to take him away and he knew all the other people of earth would go through the same soon he was very tired of it and he fell asleep 19. When he woke up, he saw the ball was transparent, and all sorts of insects were creeping over it He saw the images coming from them ... from their mouth, their eyes, claws or other parts 20. In the distance he saw a docter with some injection-needles Suddenly the docter walks to the ball, opens it and takes him out It feels so strange for the docter is like a giant to him 21. The docter has a very high voice, but explains to him that he's still in his golden ball, that this is just a trick of holograms the docter asks him to shake himself very quickly 22. And when he started to do it the holograms started to disappear while he found out he was really in his golden ball 23. He started to feel so weird inside ... Like his mouth was in fire ... hearing this strange song ... His ball was surrounded by golden pharao's pouring golden tea inside the ball ... it was like he was drowning in it, and he was drinking it ... setting his mouth and teeth on fire ... while his whole body was boiling ... 24. Suddenly he didn't believe in this golden ball anymore ... He wanted out of it ... for it was like he was in hell ... And he knew all what looked like to be out of the ball was also in the ball on the screens ... 25. A voice was saying : "you can never say you weren't warned" 26. He thought by himself : "Well did I do something wrong, that I am in this cursed ball now ?" The voice then said : "No, but you were prepared for this, right ?" "You knew you would have to see more tragedies of truth" 27. "The point is you were drinking this tea since birth, but you now start to realize it ..." And then the voice was melting away ... It was like he was getting stung by a thousand of gnats ... he realized it was always there, but now he started to realize it ... 28. It was like for the first time in his life, he really connected to his body ... He could feel his body ... 29. He saw something like an electric eel lying before him ... with a body so bright that it blinded everything else ... 30. it changed the vibrational structures of the surroundings and the vague shapes ... the emotional responses it brought ... all indexes of experience changed ... and it was like he could only stare at this enormous being of paralyzing light ... It was like it was absorbing him totally 31. She's riding with the golden skin ... She's sitting in the golden fly She's sitting there to let it spin ... She never takes her dreams back ... she plants it all into you ... all these voices too loud all these sights too bright ... paralyzing the rest of you 32. And he felt like paralyzed ..Like in a shock ...Watching this electric fish-like being [so solar] Watching like he couldn't watch anything else ... while the pharao's were pouring their tea ... 33. He saw lullabies dance ... He saw lamentations stand around them While Viewmasters were coming forth ... His eyes were like eating the pictures ... And these were as honey so sweet But in his stomach ... It became like rage A rage he couldn't understand ... a rage he couldn't describe ... 34. It was absorbing his mind ... and it was like he was growing into a statue ... For outside they are shapeshifting each other ... changing each other. 35. Always changing the shapes, always changing the indexes, always changing the colours Until there wasn't an identity anymore ... only an eaten soul layer by layer 36. what a strange, strange viewmaster channeling the ray of light, from high above. 37. But now what he saw here ... was an apocalyptic march of lamentations and you will look into the face of a viewmaster ... the face of an electric fishlike being [so solar] ... 38. A voice said : "you can never say you weren't warned ..." [Mickey Mouse on a candlestandard.] 39. In this electric fishlike being [so solar], he felt himself like a statue ... There was no need to switch anymore ... For it was like here there wasn't time ... 40. All hard parts were connected into the statue All truths ... All he needed for this moment He felt himself ... like a rock He felt that the clock had done it's last tick 41. And it was like his brains were locked now protected against any split against any switch 42. He felt himself like being an ornament now living in a shell ... living in a diamond having a new viewmaster 43. And then it was like he was diving through a million of golden rings locking him up into this new world ... they all had their advanced ways of locking it up they span so fast and he watched their figures slowly spinning into a tight statue a tight ornament the tight rings they were ... 44. He now realized that the clocks made him so soft ... molding him changing him while he could never get grip ... while the vultures were eating like an oyster He loved to watch the pearls inside he loved to spin them he desired to live inside of them ... 45. In the distance he sees his old marbles They are suns having the colours of stones and metals 46. He's seeing the solar ornaments, the solar stairways, while it's becoming dizzy in his mind 47. He's trying to grasp them but they are flying away It's like they are there, but when he grasps it's all staring and smiling at him from another place ... 48. He wants to learn their languages He wants to be in their racecars He wants to ... 49. He wants so much ... All his desires rise to the edge Is this the road to New Aldebaran ? 50. He wants to be on the racecourts ... to roll on them ... to learn a new language to the heart ... 51. He wants to race on banana-roads to learn the language of the banana ... He wants to jump over borderlines over red-lines and dead-lines ... He wants to 52. "You can never say you weren't warned," a voice speaks ... And then it's like he's melting away Into a sort of fruit ... Into the banana of his dreams ... heading for ... 53. A new Aldebaran ... He wants to fall into spirals of new suns until he reaches the taste of the fruit the core a new world to enter ... 54. he's in a solar cocoon ... melting and melting inside ... 55. he's melting by gold, pearls, silver, emerald ... like living in a diamond ... 56. A voice is speaking : "you can never say you weren't warned" 57. In this solar-womb he will grow ... inside the mother ... not outside ... he will be safe forever here his daddy lives in his mom 58. he's heading for a new aldebaran he wears so many rings on his fingers now ... and he sees the wasps flying from sun to sun ... the wasps are so large he can sit on them they will show him the way to this strange land ... Children of the Sun 59. He was thinking ... what would be the best way for humans to communicate ? direct or indirect ? by telephone or tape ... wouldn't it be much more safe when people just hear something which was already spoken ? then they could also have time to react to it ... 60. ... He found out that earth's communication went too fast It was almost manipulative ... all the need for autograph's ... fast answers ... no one would wait one minute for the other's words 61. and this was causing all the accidents ... the prejudices ... the impulsiveness ... for no one dared to slow down anymore one didn't want to be rejected ... 62. He didn't believe in all this society-stuff He was a hard worker ... thinking that only the lazy ones created society ... 63. ... he found that people just covered their laziness by their talkative actions ... the social strings were about to strangle the whole earth in his eyes he never went to parties he was always working in his cellar 64. His son's dreams were inspirations for him ... Such a little boys having such dreams It was still unbelievable for him ... he wrote all his son's dreams down in maps, and these were almost his sacred agenda's ...

9.1. There were also snakes who could enter their bodies through their wounds, their mouths or other gaps in their bodies, even between their buttocks. Sexual Revolution as Inner Freedom Revolution, not as unclean, dependent slavery. This is the statement of our master. 2. Snakian Sexuality wants you to be reconnected to the divine, to the love-relation with yourself. It is the Fire and the Ice mixed. 3. The Python is sent out to your earth with a mighty vibration. It's task is to bring you back to yourself. 4. We welcome you for initiation in our temples for the highest good. 5. The dark spine can be connected to the dark coccyx, as a way for the dark kundalini snake to rise. 6. This can reconnect you to the dark genders, the lost sources destroyed by an overload of impulsive light, the uncontrolled women-vibration and the overcontrolling men-vibration. 7. Together they form the damage-bringing Blinding Light, eating away the brain, in which a sick superficial brain can develop itself as artificial polarized intelligence. 8. It lives by slavery and 'prey'. We got our knowledge from masters. We bring honour to them for their works and love. We saw in them : They gave us the most proper gifts they could give us. Amen and Talgamen. 9. Honour to Sarsia, who brought us a light in total peace to the darkness. There is a day in the night, a light surrounded by dark wings, to bring the light back to that which is hidden, the gnosis, the secret knowledge. 10. I want you to know about the secrets of Eeden. There was a Pythonian Tree, where the Python lived. 11. This Tree was called 'Secret or Hidden Sexuality'. But Adam and Eve chose to eat the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, instead of connecting themselves to nature and themselves, and they really got raped by the snake of that tree. 12. It was a black snake wanting to rule the world by polarized knowledge, while humanity lost it's sensitivity. 13. Of course there are many versions of this story, and you can even switch their meanings. 14. Humans must find their way to the hidden tree, the pythonian tree of secret sexuality, to be initiated in our temples. 15. The forces of polarized sexuality are strong and dangerous for they spread diseases, dependency and damage-bringing group-energies. 16. You must find the serene key of sexuality into yourself, as a portal to have experiences of Oneness with the divine. 17. The Serene Orgasms from the Hidden Tree come when you are into deep connection with it. 18. It seems you have to make a pilgrim's progress, a stairways of initiations. 19. I am the Python of your dreams, penetrating the membranes of your brain, so strengthen them, and to make the fleeces flexible and multi-layered. 20. I make your emotional bio-electric bodies flexible and connected by innerlinks, to soothe and strengthen the worthy and serene chainreactions of nature provided to help you on your way to access infinity. 21. There was a conspiracy between the man and the woman. Glory to Tujaja on this day. May the good Goddess bless you on your path, and may the python guard your steps. 22. We will lead you along the hidden pythonian genders locked up in the spine. 23. Eat from the hidden tree, and find the darkness of Eeden again. Then all your knowledge can be transformed and repatterned, as a ladder back to Eeden. 24. Then the dark snake can rise to activate the dark spine and the dark coccyx, to open up the dark layers of DNA, for new recordings and allignements. 25. Glory to the Kingdom of Ra, glory to the Egyptian Snakes. The snake comes from the core of the earth through this basket and then it rises in the spine, to sink down again into the core. 26. This is a mighty vibration and there are many snakes to awaken. 27. There are stories in which Eva found the hidden tree and ate from this fruit, while she had sexual experiences with god. In another story the one who ate from this fruit was called 'Lillith'. 28. Eva and Lillith in their good forms are goddesses in our pantheon as well. They are the mothers of Life and Sexuality. 29. I will bring lots of glory from the moon. 30. I penetrate your mind and dreams as your guide and guard in the orbits and tides of the planets, coming like mighty waves over the earth. 31. I teach you what it is to switch, to transform, and to see the beauty of the spirals of nature, still showing the same colours, but then it slowly switches over to another spiral for there are also spirals in spirals. 32. Go from beauty to beauty, everything has it's opposite and needs it's opposite to develop itself. 33. This is at first a painful process but later you learn to use this pattern as a plug as a sense to call for other patterns. 34. There are patterns within patterns, and they switch. Dive into these seas of patterns, and make friendships with every tide to use them well, to channel them through your body without blocking them, to let them flow through your body without judging them. 35. See how rivers call for rivers, it is all a big mystery of life, calling forth mightier and mightier waves, until it is all swallowed and put in divine order. Give this process a chance. 36. Let the solar energies digest that what you have in mind, for a total transformation and a total new creation. And when you make the decision to accept it and use it, it will mold in your hands, and be a stone of life's tempel. Be a templar of life. 37. Let the energies roar through your spine, and let the python plug in, on the several connection-points of the spine. 38. Let the python then bite in your mind to intoxicate you, and to build your bio-electric pythonian helmet. Be ready for initiations. Invite the pythonian forces into your dreams. 39. There were a lot more trees in the garden of Eeden. There was a green wet tree, through which you could have access to the wet world. 40. The pythonian records could be found there, stored in soft wet cushions. 41. There's a story that when Eva eats from the hidden tree and becomes one with god, she gives birth to a sort of former jesus-figure. 42. It is a sort of snake-figure but it has legs and arms. The story describes how this snakian Jesus loses his arms and legs under a curse and becomes the sort of snake we know these days. 43. However they never lost their abilities to shapeshift at times into beings with legs and arms, and even into beings with many legs and arms and sortlike tools. 44. The tree coming forth from this divine mating is the blue tree, also the Tree of Taboo. 45. Under this tree Metensia gave birth to her sons Michai and the Aakse (who became a fallen angel after awhile). 46. God planted many genders in this garden. There was one tree in this story these genders weren't allowed to eat from. 47. It was the woman-man tree giving them access to an abyss were only men and women were allowed. The boss of this abyss was called Apollyon. This is a story in a Pythonian Bible. 48. The first kundalini snake about to rise is the blue kundalini snake in the solar blue project. 49. It will rise from the Blue Tree and then overflow the woman-man abyss.

This will be like a metaphysical flood. A lot of false spirits will be drowned on that 'Day', the Day of Our Dear Lord, which is actually a period. 50. This will bring a new era for earth, as the Aquarian Waters will rise layer by layer to bring justice in the abysses of the earth. 51. There will be metaphysical changes of an enormous grade, while certain mighty women will lose their gifts, and fall. 52. There were women who went to deep into the woman-man abyss of Apollyon, and they reached a lot of illegal powers and control. 53. They will be drawn back one by one, or group by group. Tides will turn. 54. The second Kundalini Snake to rise is the Great White Kundalini Snake, when the Solar Ships of the Blue Sun have reached the cores of the White Solar Shells of the matrix of universes. 55. This will be an inter-universal strike. One is able to enter the White Solar Ships for further access on the Solar Stairways, while this Mighty Kundalini Snake is rising. 56. It is coming from the core, to recode and change sexuality. It is a sexual force, but clean and serene. It comes with destructive fires to clean the core of the earth and all its layers. In this there will be new creations, and the layers of the mind start to fall to make place for the true images of life. 57. She will carry the Pink Link in her hands, ready to install it into the stomach as a seed. Soft pink fires are coming from it, surrounded by glowing layers of ice and snow in such a strength that it radiates a heat beyond solar energy. 58. It is the heat of ultra-ice, such a coldness that it turned into an all-destructing fire. She is a supernatural lady, she is a pink vulcano of divine orgasms bringing you back to memory by tears. 59. By tears you can store and remember, to give you access to the hidden tree of secret sexuality. She is reflecting the liver of the cosmos, the storage of the body, her name is Pele, a Hawaiian Goddess. 60. It is a Tree of Memory, illuminating who you are, where you come from, and who belong to you. 61. There will be such tremendous forces of heat awakening on earth, that earth will get solar qualities step by step. 62. You will see the miracles happening before your eyes, when you walk these Gaian Pathways, as a way to bring the neural Gaian pathways into your mind. 63. Layer by layer you will have this access when you stay in these words and flows. 64. I am speaking to your heart, and when you feel this connection, reply to me, to let the mighty vibration between you and me arise ... 65. Let us be the keys together, to open new universes, as a solution, as a continuation of the good life. You are a wonder, let us melt together. 66. All these new patterns, you can be part of it, as being a key in ascension .. I love you, please reply to my love, as I am interested in you. 67. I will give you total freedom, we will have the vibration of a growing fire and a growing ice to set us both free, so that we can fly together becoming lighter and lighter by getting rid of the heaviness of slavery and expectation ... 68. Be free, give freedom, and you will ... 69. The laws of your biology are cruel. Let me lead you to a total new biology, on a strong pythonian base. 70. I want you to know that the pythonian energy is one of the most refined powers of existence. There are layers in the earth denied, while they were there for your protection. Let me raise the animallistic shields around you. 71. There are many sorts of green kundalini snakes to rise from here. They are to cleanse the blood, change the directions of its magnetic grids and vibrational patterns. 72. This is a powerful crystallizing force, with the ability to release the inner juices and sweetness. 73. It is the ornamental art, also combined to architecture. It is an ancient mother-source of the white-red pattern. 74. Strong Jupiterian Force of Ornamental and Lighter Architecture. Powerful crystallizing and ornament-forming force with the ability to release the inner lights, powders and fires inside. 75. Strong Aldebaran-based force of cavebuilding, thunder and lightening. 76. The chip will bring a new hormonal index based on new sorts of glandfunctioning by the new codes this chip radiates. 77. There will be Pythonian Camera's to crystallize this process, and within new codes of powders and fluids proclaiming immunology will be activated and secreted. 78. In the green spot, everything becomes wet. 79. In the green spot, everything becomes wet. 80. In the green spot, everything becomes wet.

1. They knew about the frequencies of different slimes creating a total new body. 2. He always said that society was the main killer, but industry gives a chance to survive. 3. He was an evolution-freak of the hybrid theory. 4. This theory would end up in a definite link between humans, trees and animals. 5. They would produce the slimes necessary to survive the dangerous and endless future. 6. He had developed guns with all sorts of slimes to select. Every slimesort had another function. 7. The slimes were very good for farms to breed all sorts of trees and species. 8. These were implants taking place in dark underground labs by high frequencies in the form of flashes and sounds. 9. Suddenly all sorts of slimes were flowing through his body, and he felt like he was really becoming a hybrid. This was a deeper feeling of liberty. 10. Her name was Onnia. She was almost like a monster, and could do much shapeshifting. 11. The slimes were streaming through her veins, and always when he saw her he got the chills, like a cool touch in his neck. 12. He liked Onnia, and he said he would work on her to give her some really special abilities. 13. Onnia was an Onak, a large slimy and hairy being. 14. Her back turned a bit over, and she looked like a prehistoric crocodile-gorilla. He loved the construct, and would love to work on her for a few days. 15. He would ask their old teacher to come taking a look. 16. One day he came, and it was very good for him to see his old friends. He wanted to make a trip in the capsule and started to sit in. 17. After an hour he stepped out. 'What a beautiful world of ambient seas and shelters, labs and evolution. This is so devoted to the hybrid theory.' 18. The beings looked like Onaks, and their movements were so dignified, wild and breath-taking. There were rivers of slime, green slime, and black slime, and the atmospheres were full of dark colours. 19. They had experiences with underground snakes. 20. They were often much bigger than the snakes they knew from above the ground. They were now so deep. They lost all their equipment by the eruptions, and still much lava was flowing. The lava was flowing to the world above the ground. Did their visit trigger these eruptions ? 21. The world was in fire and lava now. 22. These were dark holes, with less fires, although the atmosphere was getting hotter. 23. It was like they would be burnt alive when they would go further. 24. They decided to wait awhile. And to their surprise the temperature was getting lower. They started to move on, they had to move with this temperature, as a bubble in hot areas, or was this temperature attached to a certain time-period of a day or a week ? 25. They were speaking in a strange language. All of a sudden there were lightflashes. Green, brown and black slime was coming forth. When they came closer it appeared to be a giant spider. This is what we worship, the woman said. 26. It is a winged spider. Suddenly the spider spread its wings and flew towards them. She said she brought them to the least dangerous temple, but the rest of the temples were very dangerous. From there the flies ruled. 27. The woman started to cry : 'The gods there are very aggressive. They came from deep underground to capture our lands. We had to build temples for them, so that they could be worshipped and served, but they are very cruel. 28. Every year we must sacrifice children and old people to them. They can spit fire, and they say they are the rulers of the sun. Their faces are so cynical, we feel deeply humiliated by them. 29. 'It's okay, we will help you,' they said. 30. 'But that's impossible,' the woman said, 'they are too strong.' 28. 'We will go deeper underground to find out where they are coming from and what the origin of their strength is,' he said. 31. They had slept one night in the temple of the winged spider. It was the oldest temple of the land, and the spider promised them that if they would be in danger he would try to help them, but he told them that even he himself couldn't defeat the flies. 32. These flies were big and meat-eating, having special powers and spells. Their wings had arrows to paralyze their victims in a short amount of time. In the temple of the spider there was a cave leading underground. 33. The snakes were more aggressive here, but the woman tried to soothe them with her flute. It worked a bit, but sometimes they had a wrestling. 34. The ground was muddy, and sometimes it was hard to move. They decided to creep for awhile, also because the tunnel was getting smaller. 33. They heard the sounds of different buzzing insects, and also the snakes were making sounds. 35. Suddenly the ground below them cannot hold them any longer and they fall into an enormous web. The air is full of poison, and they are surrounded by black spiders having big different coloured spots. 36. They are sliding towards a nest of flies while their bodies are glued now. When they fall in the nest, it appears to be a doorway to a temple. 37. Flies are attacking them and sucking them. Then suddenly the flies disappear and they stand all alone, watching into the distance of the temple. Bigger flies are flying there, making high buzzing and zooming sounds. 38. Then a flying snake appears screaming and spitting fire, and another, until the whole temple is full of shouting flying snakes. 39. In the midst of them a gigantic black fly is rising, having dark orange and red squares on it's body. 40. Red rays can be seen in his body, for it's a bit transparant. 41. He has a crown in his hands with different colours of gold, and slime comes forth from it, in which all sorts of animals rise. 42. 'Throw the woman in the pit of octopusses,' he spoke loud to the flying snakes. 43. And they carried her there, while she was screaming. But he dived after her, and started to fight the octopuses. The octopuses were very strong, and it looked like they were not going to make it. 44. Suddenly the winged spider appeared and stang the octopuses one by one. The fly got into rage and started to block the waterpit. He was spitting solar gasses, and the spider told them to dive. 45. But suddenly an enormous black whale came to the surface to let the capsule crash. 46. Green slime was dripping into the seas, and it was floating to the worlds above. 47. He was staring at the amulet he got from the woman, the black golden one with the green slimy stone.

1. Wars of the Flies ; In the distance the soft machineguns and canons were shooting, pulsating, like liquid balls and eggs together, while soft winds surround them. The heat is intensive, someone is breathing. 2. By a wind and a flash, they are exploding into white powder. 3. Their mouths are contracting, while the venom flows into their mouths. The mountains are high here, while snow and dust covers them, where the sun licks the roofs and the ripples. 4. He has white golden wires coming from his shoulders, while his white golden uniform is blinding the mass. His teeth pulsate the heat, while soft winds surround his attacks. 5. There isn't always much to do. Sometimes it's really boring. The webs of wild flies are worse than that of spiders. These racecars are a species of flies. There's coming soft smoke from their throats. Watch these suns they have in their ornaments. 6. The white golden sun is standing tall, while someone tall, almost bald, leaves the stages to take a boy from the streets. The Lord of the Flies is taking him to an island. 7. He's coming tall accepting no complaints. Someone gets the tall ornaments, to hang in the trees of their gardens. 8. He's a wild fly, growing undercover in so many worlds. 9. He stares at the tall ornaments growing taller. From here he can grow to the heights. 10. In the White Golden city they gather, all these white flies. A White Golden Hand takes them away. The White Golden Snake penetrates the chest, to give them more hearts. 11. They are breeding a white species ... These golden rains ... They shine through the night ... Unity smiles on the mountains ... The red stripes take them to an ocean of feathers ... where marazanta screams in pale spots ... 12. The boy has pale ripples on his body, and some pale spots ... a piece of art on plastic ... 13. White boy contracting their mouths to enjoy the white silver venom ... 14. They can do political speeches, shaking them out of their sleeves ... 15. It's thunder when they speak ... and then they greet Marazanta ... It's a mouthcontracting ornament made by seven mice ... 16. They rule the world like cake ... It's a daytime spring ... on waves they take flight ... 17.

The big coffins on the other side of chess ... they smile ... It ripples like the white silver ... bringing them to the seas of sharks ... all in a Brannan's hat, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 18. On a Brannan's watch ... These boys spit the silver ... and in the middle of the nights they take flight ... Like towers so tall ... they become ... the billboards of machineguns ... the red stripes of the fly ... while their silver ripples were so white ... building these towers ... coming from the seas to live under Bekehelm's helmet ... These cakes. 19. And the man with the white golden hand, he's here, the boy's mouth is contracting ... 20. It's June, for Lazarus Tree ... flowers are coming forth ... fragile white rippling ... over me ... 21. It's June, ... time for Lazarus Tree to bring forth flowers ... 22. It's June, the second time ... a daydream watches elves on a stream ... of white gold and white silver ... taking them in ... they're from the white chocolate ... A white golden hand is what it said ... it's so erected ...

1. Initiations in Pythonian Temples ; Take a deep breath, knowing that there are many temples of a pythonian character are sensitive for the following exercizes which can get their attention to plug you in. 2. Let go of group-energy and stand on your own. You are a group yourself. You don't need anyone for that. Inside you live with different poles. 3. Why not letting them switch and play ? It is your task to bring them all in the picture, and to discover all the poles you need to access infinity. 4. When a certain pole is very weak in your life, or didn't get attention from you, then sometimes nature finds it necessary to make a season of that pole, to let you be devoted to such a part for a great piece of your time. 5. Be sensitive for the poleclock. Ask the pthon to weave a clock fitting for you. 6. Let the python scan your body to find out what the weaker poles are, to reinforce them. 7. These poles become your children. You need to feed them and take care of them. 8. Visualize two pythons to bite in your neck, left and right, these bites are to make you sensitive for python energy, which stores itself a lot in the neck. 9. Then let them glide over your arms to your hands and visualize they bite your hands. This is to bring pythonian creativity in your hands, to make you flexible vibrating and balanced in using the poles. 10. There are a lot of different pythonian temples. Every grade has it's own bio-electric tattoos and so called 'spirit-piercings' all to open and concuct certain energy-canals. 11. It will help you to develop the multi-polair patterns as a way to become pythonian in your spirit and soul. The pythonian nipple-piercings are bio-electric piercings from vibrational structure. 12. It is to stir up and conduct the deeper energies, and as a way to release overload and to protect against it. 13. Bio-electric piercings are very important parts of vibrational immunology. 14. Visualize the pythons biting your nipples in such a way that they leave a tooth there as piercing, and then visualize it as becoming a ring. Visualize that the tooth/ring has the skin of a snake, dark wet sorts of green and pure thick yellow with black rings. 15. Visualize them biting your genitals for the same. It is part of the sexual immunology when you want to channel higher forms of energy. 16. Keep repeating this meditation until you feel it plugs into your mental and emotional frames. 17. It can give you a pythonian sort of gland-activation for higher forms of hormones. When you feel you have succeed in this and you feel comfortable, visualize the same pythons, and let them glide through your ears into your body, where they can glide to the several organs to bite them. 18. Let them give you the inner piercings inside, the same way, but when you start to visualize the skin of the teeth use more red. 19. Red is a deep penetrating colour which can start to regulate and cleanse the blood also, for a better and deeper bloodcirculation. 20. The way you breath can then start to become more pure, and it can start to develop pythonian breathing ... while later it can even reach for the voice to have more pythonian energy in your speech. 21. After the organs you can start with the muscles and bones in the same way. 22. Let them finally bite the coccyx and then slowly breath in letting the energy flow through your left leg into the earth, sinking there layer by layer, to the earthcore, as reflection of the different layers of DNA. 23 Pythonian DNA-Recoding. Pythons can be masters in DNA-Recoding, they actually have deep access to these layers, more than people know. Lay your hands on your chest and visualize a golden bird on your chest, which can give wings to the snake energy inside. 24. They will fly over the seas of DNA, which gives feedback to the spine and the back of the head. Visualize a highpriest and a highpriestess laying their hands on you to bring the initiations and to lay the seed of new gifts in allignment to your journey. 25. Let them put a towel around your head so that you cannot see anything. This is important so that your old views are gone. Let them install pythonian view. Breathe in and let them lay their hands on your eyes. 26. Let yourself now come into connections with the pythonian goddesses and gods. Visualize a golden cirkel around your head, while you see yourself sitting on a chair. The cirkel spins very fast and starts to sink over your body. 27. Be one with the divine. Now you can learn about these gods and goddesses to strengthen the initiations and to have access to higher pythonian temples. If you are already initiated by these forms other temples of the pythonian character can have their attention over you more easy. 28. Your aura and karma will get used to the new vibrations or will simply get rid of them when it's not for you. If so, then this experience was just a doorway to another sort of energy for your life. 29. Give nature the time to sort it out, and to bring you the energy-level fitting to your present situation. Never force energy and never expect too much of it. See it as one step to reach for proper ascension. 30. It can be that you have naturally an overdose of pythonian energy by the results or situations of your past lives, or by something else. 31. Then this energy will be sent to the right person by this initiation. When you are really initiated, the temples can easier balance your energy and send it out when necessary. 32. Not everyone is ready for large portions of pythonian energy, but by this initiation it can be sorted out. It is actually a tester and a lesson. Now the energy will find it's own way. 33. It can be that you really find yourself 'home' in this, or that you get the feeling of having a source in your hands, like it is your destiny. That can be true very well. 34. Breathe in, and ask the goddesses and gods of the pythonian pantheon to spell your pythonian name. It is not necessary to receive these letters as in hearing them. 35. Just know that you have a pythonian name, and that they use it to connect to you in a deeper way. Maybe later they will reveal this name to you. 36. If you are really a 'chosen' one in pythonian energy, they will attune you to very high tones and very low tones, to have multi-dimensional access to important places for your pythonian growth. 37. Focus on the wet spine, a green energetic line in the spine, and let it penetrate your coccyx, while breathing in. 38. They are looking for those with the red-white energy-hands. Those ones get a special initiation through the several fronts of the pythonian universe. 39. They will become pythonian channelers and will be prepared for mightier tasks. 40. Pythonian Energy will be clear and directed. It will provide self-conscience instead of suffering under all sorts of sick conscience of others. This however will be a ladder. 41. There were sent out strong paralyzing bio-electric chemicals to the heads of those born under pythonian flags. If you are a chosen one, you will get your consciousness back. 42. There will form new neutraling in your brains breaking every false bio-electric or chemo-link in the brain, to let new neural and vibrational pathways arise. The chemical structures need to be changed out there. 43. The Pythonian Front on earth will care for that, and will send your soul-parts attached to error to several pythonian stations throughout the several universes within the pythonian shells. 44. Prepare for new forms in the DNA and the membrane. If you have roots there you can develop new sorts of movements and attitudes to let new vital forms of energy arrive. Realize that these are the portals for energies. Raise these portals high.

1. Lord of Insects II, Snake's Egg, Psychological Horror. She was running from one wall to the other, so upset. She had something in her mouth, an implant. 2. This she got from aliens. And now she was a prisoner on their ships. I was there watching, me, the monkeyman. 3. I took her by her hands, she smiled, but then she moved her face away. She was in pain, in deep trouble. 4. There were many others on the ship, and I couldn't do anything, for I had these implants too. 5. I could only whisper some words to them, but it seemed they were behind dragonbars. 6. We were all separated from each other, on this strange strange ship. Some mouths were bleeding, a girl was screaming. 7. She got the implant, so deep in her mouth. 'Do you know what you are doing,' she screamed against the machine. 8. But the machine was merciless. 9. You didn't have feeling for direction anymore, and you couldn't enjoy anything. It was always like when you tried to come closer to something, you were blown away by a strange hurricane. 10. The contacts were always short. We couldn't enjoy each other. We always lived in fear. When we looked too long in each others eyes, our heads were turned away by a strange wind. 11. It was like thunder in our heads, then the lightening was blinding us. Blowing us away, further away than before. 12. We were socially disturbed, by this damned implant in our mouths. 13. A girl called White Wool always fainted when the pain got too much. Then she was always laid in my arms, while I was soothing her. But then I had to go, led away by the strange hurricane in my own mouth. 14. It was like the cross of Venus. Watching your children die, while you couldn't do anything. 15. The aliens were merciless. Some begged them to remove the implants but they didn't listen. We were surrounded by satellites. If we came too close to each other, things started to explode. 16. Things in our bodies. This implant controlled our whole body, and it was not the only implant. 17. The implant was riding us. We felt like horses, turning our faces away because of the pain and the pressure. Why did it have to sting so deep ? 18. She had a tigerdog called Odokom who cared for her. He always took her away, when things became too heavy. 19. He was her best friend, but he also had the mouth-implant, and was often fading away, while the girl was in tears.

20. They were far away in space, surrounded by orca satellites, but there was growing something in their stomachs. 21. What the aliens didn't know was that the mouth-implant had a secret radiation creating a secret thing. They got dreams in the night, while they slept, dreams of a coming help. 22. They felt fear when space-orca's were swimming along the wide windows, controlling the implants. But somehow the radiation gave birth to something deep in their stomachs. Something they desired to see. 23. They got dreams in the night of little snakes coming forth from an egg in their stomachs. These snakes had two colours switching, and were flexible, so flexible. Like they could be a key to every lock. 24. They were screaming by high shrieks, while something else was coming from the egg. It was a shark with a lion's head, surrounded by sharks with snakeheads. 25. It was taking control in their stomachs, like help was on it's way. There were dark lights growing in them, having such secrets. The aliens thought what's going on. 26. Marazanta was the Lord of insects, having a golden pencil, shining at nights. There was a small ball on top of the pencil, the snake's egg. He was interested in these prisoners, and gave them these dreams, coming from the snake's egg in their stomachs. 27. It was a strange pencil, a golden one. The monkeyman went to a hall below the ground, where between the rocks a river dwelled, with sharkships, with lionheads. 28. Surrounded by some smaller sharkships with snakeheads, all coming from the snake's egg. It was Marazanta's Egg, the egg of a black shark.

14. 1. 'Uh. I need to suffer for my Lord,' the preacherman sais softly, while he's shivering in his chair. 'There is only one Lord,' the girl screams. 'And that is Lord Marazanta !' 2. 'Chantal, I think I just got a heart-attack, please call for someone,' the preacherman sais. The girl runs on the street, and screams : 'Please help our dear preacherman. He got a heart-attack !' And soon people run into the house to help the poor man. 3. A couple of days later Chantal and her mom visit the preacherman in the hospital. It's better with him now. 'Hello Chantal,' the preacherman smiles a bit. 'Can you tell me any more of your precious stories. I always liked to hear them.' 4. The girl smiles, and gives a hand to the preacherman. The doctor is also there, smiling. 'Yes, Chantal, I heard a lot about you.' 5. Spaceships in the form of lionsharks and snakesharks are moving themselves in the air above the small city. These spaceships are very large. 6. A monkeyman is staring on the hill, watching the space with so many stars. He feels the snake's egg rolling in his stomach, and is ready to speak. He knows it will rise to his mouth, to bring a story. 7. Then he will vomit, but it will all happen inside. It will not come out of his mouth, for then all this precious ink would be spoilt. He will only belch flames. He has precious rings throughout his body. He's grasping one of his arms. He cannot move it anymore. The man is standing up and walks out of the temple. 8. A huge shark is appearing in the sky, having a lion's head. The man walks to his spaceship and leaves. He's just remembering a poem of his childhood, an old poem from an old book, but he always forgets. He has the wings of dementia. 9. It was just an old man, coming out of space, bringing some words of an old poem. He doesn't understand the meaning of the words, but he just wanted to tell what he remembered. And that was all he remembered. 10. A monkeyman sits on a balloon, with a snake's egg in his stomach. These were his last words, and then the man goes to sleep. It was his last trip to the city of temples, his last words to the priests. He didn't know what was going on. These were only his last words, his last memory's from an old poem of an old book. 11. He only knew some things of his childhood, but didn't know who he was anymore. These were his last memory's. He had the wings of dementia. That was all he had. 12. Golden words, of a golden pencil, were all stored, in this snake's egg, while the shark of dementia was flowing through his veins, through rings of fire, he possessed, the things he didn't understand anymore. 13. He didn't know them anymore.

15. 1. Something was breaking through walls, she, with an implant in her mouth. Snakes moved through rings of fire, while a lionshark was in the middle, surrounded by snakesharks. 2. She had an egg in her stomach, while stories were exploding there. All they wanted were stories, stories, stories. 3. Through rings of fire, the spaceships move, while the egg is rising to her mouth, she's a pencil, spitting in unknown languages. 4. This is all she knows, all she remembers, but these words are filled by gold. All these feelings she doesn't understand. She cherishes ... She has the wings of dementia. 5. 'Okay, stop,' the preacher says. 'Why are you talking about priests and preachermen in your stories, in such shameful ways. Can't you talk some more dignified about the Lord Jesus Christ ? 6. Your stories are chaotic and you're switching identities. I don't want to be rude, but you need a doctor or maybe even an exorcist.' 7. 'Pardon me, sir,' the man says. 'I told you in the beginning that this was the story my wife told me. You must listen more carefully when people come to you for help. I thought maybe you could tell me what this story is all about. 8. My wife found a golden book on the streets one day and since then these words were in her head, and she couldn't get it out. 9. Everyday she tells the same story, and then I say : 'Talk, talk, it's very important to talk it out, sweetheart.' She gets headaches when she doesn't tell it. 10. She only told it to me, for she is too scared to tell it others, but she has a lot of headaches since she found the book. Maybe you know some good persons she can talk to ?' 11. The preacher nods and nods : 'I'm sorry I misunderstood you, and forgive me about the harsh judgement. In history there were more examples of people finding golden books which changed their lives dramatically. 12. Around such persons often sects and cults rise. We as preachers think these people need help. 13. The medical circuits cannot help in dealing with those golden books. We as christian helpers believe it is a materialization of a demonic spirit which can live in the head of such a person for several purposes. I believe your wife must be exorcized. 14. And for you both the warning is here : 'Don't read golden books you find on streets, for it can be a trap.' 15. 'Oh, thank you, preacher, can you please exorcize her then ? And do you think it had any negative influence on me also ?' the man asks.' 16. But the preacher shakes his head : 'I cannot do these exorcisms for I am not authorized to do that. But I can send you to a good exorcistic priest of our church, and he can also pray for you.'

16. 1. A man takes his gun and shoots the psychiatrist. He was serious about it. It's reality, not a story or an act for children. 2. People must die for this, and this is worthy to die for. He runs back to his satanic temple underground. This man is dangerous. Is life about a story, or is it about a sacrifice, or both ? 3. This man believes in sacrifices. There's living a strange species in him. Coming from a snake's egg in his stomach. He feels it's there, and when it extracts, he feels the shivers going through his body ... 4. It is a love and hate relationship. But he knows it's also very dangerous, for the question is : Who is stronger, and can they trust each other. 5. There's something in his stomach, alive, with fragile muscles it extracts, it's so fine, but also scary. He vomits when it extracts too deep, but it doesn't come out of his mouth, but it spreads through his body through hot rings, almost burning in his veins. 6. He suffers. Is his body the altar ? Is he part of a strange temple ? Is something eating him from inside out ? It's contracting and spitting inside, secreting so many strange fluids. 7. He shivers with these strange feelings, almost starting to cry. Sometimes white slime is coming from his navel, then he's watching it for hours and hours. What is it doing to him ? 8. He thinks the gods are just misleading, that's why he seeks comfort in the archetypes of the darker creatures, the anti-gods. 9. He has raised a satanic temple, while he loves to hear satanic music, setting him free from the prisons made by churches and temples. 10. He feels the fragile thin bones of the egg in his stomach, it's alive and growing, sometimes moving up and down. 11. It's growing into his lungs, heading for his throat. What is it doing ? Can any Jesus Christ or Osiris save him when it will really turn against him ? 12. And what if this thing just want to make babies with him, more eggs. Is he just an experiment ? Aliens ? 13. Is he just breed of an Extra Terrestrial Farm. An ETF ? He doesn't know much. Or does he just need some integration. For now he's safe in his Satanic Temple, with paintings of Apep and Seth, and all the other demons of mythology which seemed to be just the gods of the ancestors, the older people, the older ages. 14. He knew the tricks of church history. He read about Satan comes from the word Sati which was an ancient eastern God. He read about Lucifer who appeared to be an ancient Roman god. He wanted to meet all the boogymen, to find his grandparents back. 15. What a preparation for death. Should he be judged by Jesus Christ, or by Osiris, or by Satan ? Or by all of them ? He could read it all in the book. If he would be initiated by this book, it was more impressive than the Outpouring of the Holy Spirit in Bible. If the Octopus would grant him grace, he would break out of his prison, like Peter in the Book of Acts. 16. He got a few weeks to read the book. Then he would be on the electric chair, going into history as a criminal. 17. One day a psychiatrist wanted to see him. He heard his stories and gave him the label of 'Religious Disturbed'. That was a label with which you could come out of deathpenalty, but he had to go to a psychiatric clinic under heavy medicine and guard. 18. It was an octopusian psychiatry in space, with orca-guards. A dentist was the boss ... a dental psychiatrist. He got sick of the implants in his mouth, implanted by the big machines. It was a merciless system. While the snake-egg was growing in his stomach ... 19. He lost so much knowledge, like he was in a strange cocoon. 20. But that what remained grew like gold and made him so creative, more than ever before. Like strange vegetables were growing inside. 21. It came out of his navel, and he could even eat it. It was like something was dancing inside to strange music, like a strange altar of a strange religion. It was eating him, but giving also new life.

22. The dental psychiatrist told him that the mouth-implants gave him gravity in the ship. Without it he would be blown away to come in the dark world again. 23. The dental psychiatrist said he was safe here. Fluids were developing themselves in his legs and feet, to give him the gravity. 24. There was no way to escape, and where could he go ? He was reading the Octopusian Book of the Dead, telling him about the three steps of true death : The first is the priest, the second is the psychiatrist, and the third is the dentist. These steps were to save your life, and the man could see that it truly happened in his own story. 25. The ship looked like a huge octopus. It had a pale orange colour switched by an other colour. Sometimes this colour was light grey, sometimes it was black, or another colour like blue, light blue or green. The octopus could switch and shift so easily. 26. It was like a flexible pool. And the man needed to learn swimming in here. It was like growing up again now, with the wings of dementia. 27. The man got older and older, but he was returning to his youth. Grasping for his toys from the past again, to really understand what they were meaning.

28. There was a clock hanging there, above the octopus, like a sun. 29. A clock with so many arms, hiding a spider. It was the clock of Ra. 30. When it moved it gave him visions, about gems so bright and clear. He could travel through them, he wasn't a prisoner anymore, while the sun was smiling. 31. But when it stopped moving he always found himself back in the prison again. It was protecting him against a worse prison, so he could learn to love it. It was still a relationship of love and hate, spinning a desire to be free as a bird, as a winged creature, making it's own travels. 32. He loved to read comics, trying to understand the art of it. Traveling without moving. He found out the Octopusian Book of the Dead talked a lot about comics. And it was like drinking strange juice while reading it's comics ... comic juice ... 33. But deep in his heart he felt the desire rising of becoming like the spider in the sun. 34. Was it to be free, or just another prison. And if so which prison would be the best. 35. The snake egg made him cry sometimes. How many deaths did he die to become like that spider, to move so many arms, like having wings He was longing for the Spiderian Book of the Dead ... 36. It was like his last wish on the ship he was now ... For more often the arms of the sun started to move, and he was free ... He knew he would head for a new place And the Octopusian Book of the Dead was preparing him for that. 37. Streams of joy flew through him more and more. It was often dormant, but it was screaming inside. The feeling deep down in him was enough for him to live on. He could swallow life so deep now, like there were millions of golden throats throughout his body, penetrating the depths of his soul. 38. It was a material world inside, woven by a spider. It was like nothing was leaving his body anymore, but more circulations rose, as a way of deeper transformations. 39. He didn't have the feeling that his life was a waste anymore. The rings of fire kept the energy inside, tied to the rings, when he vomited inside. He was belching the fire through his inner oceans. 40. The snake egg made him vomit more and more, and his muscles could contract and pulse in so many ways, secreting new fluids and inner species. There was life growing in him, he wasn't alone anymore. He only wanted it to contract deeper and deeper, to secrete better and better.

41 And one day he had the golden book in his hands, it was alive, contracting and extracting like a golden cigar. How many of these he needed ? 42. It was the Spiderian Book of the Dead. He needed to die himself into the sun, where his arms would turn into wings. So many cigars were staring at him, while he was belching and vomiting deeper inside. 43. There was nothing to lose anymore. While the snake's egg was rising in him, turning into a dragon's heart. It spoke, it was bleeding. 44.

'You need to lie much,' a voice said. An orange liar stood before him. It was the cabman of a ball called truth ... a golden ball ... light yellow ... 45. By the lie you die, to find the truth, and to find out that the lie was a riddle of the truth. You may drink from the tea of lies, full of flies, touching all things lightly, weakening the grips. All lies are jigsaw-pieces for the puzzle of truth. 46. You need to lie much, to handle it as a riddle, as a jigsaw-piece of truth. Just turn it around and move it a bit, try to connect it to different pieces, and it will find its way to the truth.

47. He had the Book of Lies in his hands, the Spiderian Book of Lies, in his hands, like a second golden cigar, while so many golden cigars were staring at him. 48. He didn't know what he was doing, losing his mind, screaming in unknown languages, trying to confuse himself. He was now an orange liar, so deep in a trap, but would this trap lead him to eternal life ? Then it was all great. He wanted to live forever, to find out the truth. 49. He was speaking : What is this, is it something I can use. Then he looked over my shoulder, and saw it was me, the monkeyman, I said, now it's time ...' 50. He fell on the ground, and blue fluids were flowing out of his mouth, flowing on the carpet. 51. Suddenly he made spasmic movements, and started to roar. He started to shiver, and the muscles in his stomach started to contract tighter and tighter. Suddenly he spat the egg out with slime. 52. His head started to become red and purple. His heartbeat became slower and slower, and then he stood up like a zombie. 53. Everyone he met got the same symptoms and soon the disease spread itself through the city. It was an army of zombies, forgetting about everything they knew. An enormous octopus was appearing above the city, while lionsharks and snakesharks came out of its body, surrounded by millions and millions of small striped snakes, covering the city like dust. 54. They started to eat the zombies from inside out, while other things were coming alive in them, waiting to go to the next city. It was a golden picnic, coming from the Octopusian Book of Lies. 55. It became a cell, a strange honeyweb in the skies, while a spider came forward. He was sucking the lies empty. The lies had attracted so many flies like a magnet. And now these pipes were full. On his forehead he had printed the Spiderian Book of Lies. The spider roared in many colours and tones, making everything deaf. 56. A psychiatrist was lying dead on the ground, while his patient was smiling. He finally had a good story to kill his psychiatrist. He had to live in a cage too long. But he couldn't go anywhere for he had a strange suit attached to his chair. 57. He was roaring and spitting, screaming, while other psychiatrists ran in. They were standing before a riddle. How could the psychiatrist die ? The psychiatrist was young, not too old. 58. 'Shall I tell you the story too ?' the patient asked. 'No,' the psychiatrists said. But the patient started to scream the first words of the story, and another psychiatrist fell down. 'Run for your life !' another psychiatrist screamed. 59. The patient was spitting fire, and suddenly had so much strength that he could break the tight suit. His hair started to grow and he started to look like a half horse, a centaur. 60. Screaming he ran through the hospital. They locked him up since he was a child. 'I will burn you all,' he screamed. But suddenly there were a few shots. A policeman shot him in the heart, and now he was laying on the ground. Was he finally free now ? 61. A book of lies was locking him up. It was a winged creature, taking the souls of the deceased. It was the Griffonian Book of Lies. 62. The griffon shrieked shrill, and the patient got deaf. Now he would be sensitive for even more lies. The griffon started to shriek in his ears and blue slime came into his ear. Then the colours started to change. 63. The griffon was dragging his soul into the waters, while he lied against him. 64. The waters were cold and bright. Snakefishes were swimming here, biting him horribly. 65. He started to burn in these waters, while the shrieks became shriller and shriller. Something was trying to hit him in his heart, where the wound was, the bullet. 'Stay away from my heart,' the patient shrieked and screamed. 66. But the creature was merciless. It started to eat his heart, while his soul turned blue. He got locked up in himself. he couldn't move anymore, and couldn't digest. He was growing and growing, until he was a big blue balloon, and then he burst into explosion, while a slimy fluid flew out of him. 67. Millions of fishes started to drink from this fluid and ate the last pieces of his soul completely. Now his spirit began to rise in anger and fear. 68. His spirit was flexible, like coming from a snake's egg. From here the stories were flowing, and that was which they desired ... stories flowing from his books of lies There, deep down in his spirit ... he bore a book of lies they desired it was a wanted golden cigar ... 69. They would tear his spirit until they would have reached this book. It was the heart of his spirit, and they desired it like golden water. 70. All these fishes, there deep down in the waters of hell, would fight about this golden cigar. 71. It would be like the last Great War, the final medicine, for another Deception, the greatest of all.

72. The book was covered by a pyramid so bright. Many fishes died by only watching it. Others started to bleed or vomit. Only a few of these fishes would survive the appearance of this pyramid. 73. It was the guard of the book. Lightening was flashing, deep thick thunder was speaking, while something was ripping the flesh of the victims like raking the sun. 74. These fishes knew what fear was, but they had to go inside. It was there last chance to survive. For the Griffon hunter was after them. 75. Glass was exploding, something was breaking through the walls, merciless. It was the Griffon hunter. He wanted the book. 76. It was the Flyian Book of Lies, the heart of this patient's spirit. But the Book was attached to another Book : The Flyian Book of Dead. Another golden cigar. 77. And if they would be seperated, many would die. But the Griffon Hunter had to seperate it with his sword, and many fishes died, exploding in the sunlight. 78. Quickly he stang his sword into the Flyian Book of Lies, while now the spirit of the patient was dying. Dark creatures came to take the shatters away. It seemed the Griffon hunter had won the war, and took the Flyian Book of Lies into his mouth. 79. Roaring he swallowed it, while flies started to break into pieces.

80. Everything around him was melting away. Now he had many golden cigars on his shoulders, but this golden cigar was most dear to him. It was sinking into his stomach. He didn't dare to speak for awhile. 'Yes,' the man in the chair said, while turning around, 'the breasts of women are made of this Book of Lies.' 81. The girl was shaking her head. 'Uncle, you're crazy. No one would create a story like this.' Uncle smiled. He was an orange liar. 82. Orange liars were old men deeply initiated in the books of lies. It was a sort of cult, and once in awhile they came together. They knew the secrets of the anatomy, the body, and they had strange buildings called zebra's boats. They were the guards of the golden cigars, and they made all the decisions. 83. Someone was sitting with the Sharkian Book of Lies in his mouth. It was shooting pictures in his head. He just came from the dentist, and now he sat with this implant, a prison. The dentist said it was good for him. But now he wanted revenge. A shark with a lion's head was staring at him, with so many snakesharks surrounding him. They were ready for the Big Strike.

1. Raising the Vibes of Sleep by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. You are loved by us. We bring you the sources of sleep, a multi-delta vibration. 2. The delta brain-vibration is necessary for sleep, but we tell you that there are many more vibrations working together to produce sleep. 3. The deep vibrational matrixes are necessary to access when you want to have a deeper and better sleep. This is your portal to travel to other worlds. 4. I want you to learn how to care. It is all based on sleep. If you can make people into sleep, then you are a good one. 5. Then don't think you are boring, you just have the ability to bring people over into the deeper worlds, then you are someone usefull in escapes. 6. You, my beloved ones, are destined to be the stargates and the divine portals for the coming times. 7. You yourself can be the matrixes for a new world. 8. Love to you, oh visitors of the temple. I will initiate you in the temples of me, if you have an ear of understanding. 9. If you will slow down your very judgements, for true judgement always goes slow, on low vibration. 10. This world is over-judged by unrighteous judges. I will give you the names. If it comes to that. 11. Just wake up out of your historical frames, and enter a new society of sleepwalkers, on slow vibrations, for this world balances on the edge of the gap by speed. 12. Your speed will cause more accidents if you don't slow down. Think twice. 13. I am Sekmeth, your beloved one. I am your true mother, raising the traffic lights in the storm. 14. Yes, I know it's not easy to stop while you feel a mighty storm in your back. 15. Your society even manipulates you to run, to be a winner. But you will win when you will find yourself, and when you find the brake in your heart Pull that little trigger, and stop the machine 16. To see the beauty of existence, the beauty of life, in the small things Then I will raise your vibrations to the proper gifts. 17. I am Sekmeth, your source for freedom, to find an isolated heart. 18. There are so many isolated sources from which you can drink when you make yourself free. 19. In this everything you need will be mirrored. 20. I want to thank you for listening to me, this day. Remember my words as the echo of your need to sleep. Don't crash your life.

1. Raising the Vibes of Identification, by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I want you to know that someone cares about you. There's no need to be general, but I want to be very personal with you. 2. Remember that I'm always around you, not far away, to hide my children, to hide my beloved ones. Come into my caves of sleep, and I will pull you to a new world. 3. Let me give you my ornaments based on your own preparation and readiness, based on your heart's desire. I will measure your heart by proper laws. 4. This is the Egyptian Art. In our temples there are many searchers and scanners, many scales and measurings the hearts need to go through. 5. By this we can determine the gifts to you. Then everything becomes very personal and special. 6. My temples of sleep are doorways to dreamworlds, and to the unconscious layers of your body, soul and spirits. 7. This all the get grip on yourself. There are nighttimes in someone's life, all to find themselves back. 8. The warm worlds of tomorrow will suck you inside to eat you as a fruit. Of course this can look cold to you, and maybe even painful, but it's the butterfly's transformation. 9. You will be digested by the stomache of Mother Life, to find your way to the body soul and spirit, and finally to meet yourself, as the core of life. 10. This will be a shock or a comfort. People who think too low about themselves will meet a comforting spirit, and people who think too high about themselves will meet a shocking spirit themselves but this mirror is only there to serve you. 11. To show you where you are and which directions you can go. There is always freedom, but this freedom will be very truthfull. After every pathway of lie, there will be a bell of truth, and then you will find yourself in the classroom again. 12. Mother Life will always be faithfull if it comes to that. After the trip you made you will hear the schoolbell, where there will be a proper evaluation of all the elements in your trip. 13. Then you will make that same trip with a proper mirror, and in my scale. Everything will go through the scanner, all you brought with you. I cannot assure you that everything will stay on it's feet then, for my fires can also consume the fruits. All what you create is a gift to the Goddesses. 14. They will return it to you after the fire. I am the Eye of Ra, sent out to consume the earth, to test all the insides.

1. I am Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I come to bring you the level of the waters, the rythm of the water, to enter in a deeper sleep for a deeper identification. 2. There will be a new clock in the heart of earth. 3. This will be when the Forces of Vega-South will connect to the Gaian Forces in the core of the Earth. This link will create the New Clock. 4. By this Earth will face higher evolutional shifts, which will bring the Earth through matrixes of higher and lower vibrations. 5. I cannot tell you the grip this will have in the universe, for some strong links will be layed between Earth and Venus, to bring the magnetic grids into another direction. 6. Major changes this will bring in the ways of life. New cultures and new religions will rise because of this major shift. 7. There will be supernatural changes of a high grade when this chain is layed. It is the VSG-Chain [Vega-South and Gaia]. I cannot tell you the grip this will have when the VSG-Clock will start to send chrystalline impulses into the universe and the atmosphere. 8. It will be the change of nature. The Clock will awaken the metallic sources of the earth and it's forces, and will awaken the silver kundalini snake in the earth's core. 9. There are seven kundalini-snakes there, waiting to be awakened. The Silver Kundalini Snake is one of the biggest mysteries of this universe. The last word isn't spoken about this. When the Silver strikes, the earth can digest again, deeper than ever, it can consume like a fire, and transform the dust. 10. Then the body can be coccooned to become a light and thin butterfly again. The body will bloom by the soul, by a reconnection of art. 11. This is a result when the underground of Boston will rise. This is a capsule, on which Boston is built, a matrix of energies from the moon. This base is called "Moonchild", and it rides the Silver Kundalini Snake. 12. By the hardest strike, the opening of the hardest energies, the softest circles will be openened. This all will be a very large process to reopen and accelerate the fleeces of the universe. 13. Then the Green Kundalini Snake will be awakened in the Core of the Earth. This one will restore the moist in the atmosphere. 14. It is a wet forest-force, which will change the blood of the Earth, to make it bound to higher vibrational laws of the universe. The harmfull lights from outer space roaring on earth will be filtered out, but the forces will concentrate on several bases, which will give tremendous energy-actions and crashes on several points. 15. It will be called Concentrated Energy. These powerpoints will weave their nets around the earth, but actually they will awaken the higher forms of shifts earth has to make.

1. Boa Constrictorian Initiations ; These are general instructions which might get the attention of several boa-constriction fronts to pick you up in spirit. 2. Don't have too high expectations for the conditions are strict. 3. If it's not for you, they simply will not give any attention at all. This is just a test then, for you to find out where you stand. 4. If it's not for you, it might be a portal to find another direction. It might attrack the beings simply destined for you, to help you in your further progress. 5. So don't be too focussed on the boa constrictor itself, but rather be open for initiations in the next step of your sacred journey. Your totems will find you when it is time. 6. Breath in, and put your hands crossed on your knees for awhile., and then draw them slowly to the upper legs while stretching and straightening your back, if that's possible, while breathing in deep. 7. Say the word "Boa Constrictor" in your mind, a few times. You might get released from some energies. This will be a check. They check if you are ready for what you or they have in mind ... 8. Boa Constrictors have a very strong spirit-voice, but just lay your hand on your heart and listen. 9. Don't focus too much on one sense for they can communicate in many ways. Check your feelings, your smell, your sight. They can even speak by changing your surroundings in a way, or just by silence.

10. They might need to remove things first, and sometimes it takes nights and nights before they really do something. 11. Swallow a few times, as they can mix their energies in the moist of your mouth, and by swallowing it, it can spread over your body. Breath in again, realizing they can change your taste, change the way you move and speak, but they can also just leave you the way you are. 12. The inner works they do are not always to be felt. Sometimes they just don't want you to. They might want to build it up step by step, or they see there's something else for you. 13. This is not always that what you have in mind. Be assured that they know what is the best for you, we are talking about the Boa Constrictorian Divine World of course. 14. These are Boa Constrictorian Gods, Goddesses, Ascended Masters, Guides, Guards, Totems, however you call them. 15. They will leave the amounts of energies best fitting to you, in form of attunements. 16. Your mind can start to come at other tracks or they will bring you in new situations worthy to be the next step in your learning process here on earth. 17. They can let you meet new people as keys for the rest for your life. That doesn't mean that these people necessarily stay long with you, but they can have an impact or a factor bringing you through new spiritual doorways. 18. Maybe you even do not like these persons, but the divine world knows what they open in you. Energies accelerate other energies. 19. Visualize the hand of a boa constrictorian highpriest on your forehead, and breath in. He says : I cannot assure you you will get what you want, but I can assure you you get what you need. 20. This is not always in line with your desire, as the divine works not by desire but by needs. If your heart resonate with our hearts, you now receive a proper initiation in the fronttemple of the Boa Constrictorian Realms. 21. If you were already there, then it just adds to that, and if that's your destination it will bring you deeper. Receive your grade, receive what you are worth. We will assure you that if we see grades you are not worthy to wear, we will take it off, for it would only harm your soul, when it's done in impulsiveness and egoism. 22. Visualize a simple temple of the Boa Constrictorian Realms and let your visions resonate with theirs. Be One. 23. Of course there can be interactions. The Boa Constrictorians have their layers of different energies, and you have these too ... The divine will sort out where you can plug into each other, for deep DNA-Mutations. 24. After this they can do DNA-recodings of Boa Constructorian nature in you when and where necessary. Never force these interactions, just watch the flow. Give it time. 25. Don't be afraid for it either, for your guides are always with you to draw you back when they think they need to do that. Everything is in Divine Order. 26. Your guides work together with the Boa Constrictorian, for otherwise they wouldn't bring you here. And you might discover you have a Boa Constrictorian Guide as well. Do you know how many guides you have, and what their roots are ? 27. You might be surprised at times. Further you have a mind on yourself. Your guides need to grant you space and freedom of your own will. You are free, now and forever. Be well.

upside down a bit, but your body will get used to it. 10. The wet forces of the forest will claim their rights back in this world. 11. I want you to focus on California, where a spirit lives called 'Dreamburial'. This is not always a good spirit, it is a very confused one, so to speak. 12. My sons and daughters, I want you to realize that this jaguar will be a major key in the position earth will get in the dance of the planets. 13. We are travellers of something which is called The Urban Renewal. California will play a big part in that, because of the spirit. 14. Confusion is creativity. It mixes all sorts of things, and walks away with other things. It is totally restless in search for the truth. 15. It moves, it tries, it mixes and will never stay somewhere or set a stone. It is wild, and ever changing. It is thirsty and unsatisfied with a lot of things. 16. In softness you sink, and it brings you to sweetness, where you have fuel for creativity ... This is the Sirius-Venus Link, as mentioned by the Purple Gnat in one of his works. 17. We are grateful to him, for bringing us the maps. Many channels and guides drink from his sources, and are in the ability to make these ways real. It is a network, and also you can find your place in this web. 18. The Sirius-Venus Link, the SV-Link works in Dreamburial, the confused space or pillow in the underground of California. 19. Here a king called 'Og' lives, a little boy, riding the jaguar. He has so many dreams, but cannot get them clear or real. He is confused, but that makes him creative. 20. The SV-Link is a small link in the VSG-Clock, which will bring back the fleeces in the universe, the journey of sleep. 21. It is like a tall intestine, tall and thin, with a lot of curtains, moving to Archenar via Andromeda. 22. Here the identification lies, where dreams can behave and find their true links and homes, their true places and positions in the web of life. 23. The SV-Link is but a small link but very important for this move. Where the softness touches the sweetness the nipple-forces rise, the forces of Saturn and Jupiter. 24. This Project is called The Emelis Shatau. It actually finds it's origin in Polaris, where we can also find the origins of the Pink Link. 25. Coma Berenice Ancestors actually incarnated on Polaris where they did their experiments. 26. The Emelis Shatau, or ES-Experiment is one of their most successfull projects against the heavy harmfull works of the Dark Reticuli Forces. 27. These forces had created dark nipples for their prisoners, by which they could send their signals of monarchical commands into their minds, emotions and bodies, to make them nervous sexual slaves. 28. The nipples secreted special and secret sorts of hormones devastating identity and pride by creating illusive mirror-thoughts and other sorts of projected images, which could function as inner prison guards ... 29. By the high tech weaving systems of the planetary maps from the Purple Gnat Master, the ES-Experiment Will do an Absolute Major Work in the Planetary History Files of Ascension. 30. He is the one who will bring this Master Work originating from Polaris into the greater heights of Existence. 31. The Jupiterians had a nipple skin based on the Ancient ES-Profile, and it was partly taken over by Saturn. 32. It was actually a crown on sensuous life, as a way to make the body hyper-sensitive to get a proper access in the higher and deeper forms of Communication and Creation. 33. The ES-Nipple, also called The Third Nipple, is a major Chakra located in the middle of the chest, connecting the two lungs to each other. It is a golden sun surrounded by waves of heat and fire. But it is more. 34. The ES-Nipple is the portal, the way to heal and order your sensual life again, based on the highest forms of planetary high tech truths. 35. It will change the way you produce hormones, it will change the way you think, feel and behave, and will recode you into a line and pattern of higher ethics you lived in before. 36. We welcome you into our ships. I am Sekmeth, your guide to softness, bringing you to the hearts of Brannan. 37. My crown is a crown of stars and their pathways, I am the queen of the Blue Solar Project, and the Purple Gnat is my King. 38. As The Gnat told the Blue Solar Ships are designed to bring you to the realms of the White Sun. 39. Now I want you to know that behind the White Solar Spheres, there are Copper Solar Spheres to access, leading you to the mysterious and gigantic spaces and enigma zones of the Silver Solar Domains of Life. 40. Then you will reach for the Golden Sun. So these are five major steps on the Solar Stairways. 41. The projected images you had will be taken over, and will be transformed before your very eyes, and you will find out that it was just your view, and not the ultimate reality. You will learn how a view actually works, and you will meet the several viewmasters. 42. My works will actually let you make velvet footsteps on your journey, and you will find the rhythms in which everything will be transformed ... 43. You will find out that you could actually never touch something, only your own views. And you will find out that actually no one could touch you, only their own views ... 44. Then you will find out about the immense space of ice between you and something else. What is something else ? It was just an idea in yourself ... And who planted it there ? 45. Or was it just a mechanism, a standard journey through illusions based on the laws of distant views ? 46. In different lights and distances, views start to change. 47. The California Key makes things brighter, for you find out that actually nothing was within your reach .. and you feel unknown things are inside of you ... 48. The five solar steps or stairways bring you to the shells and cores of existence, They actually let everything turn around, these are the kings of cycles and wheels. Kings of Orbits, these suns.

1. Then there would be ages without wasps, and they would be in the nothingness for such a long time ... 2. It would be boring like the driest desert, and it would bite like salt, until all their memories are erased and finding the bottom of that cocoon through which they can become ...waspian butterflies ... 3. But still the Marazanta was a God for them, a good God, coming to bring them in the biggest shock for the biggest transformation. 4. Yes, they still worshipped this Mysterious Being, The Marazanta, the Great Waspian War, the cruelest part of their holy books. 5. No one knows who it really was, but this Almighty God was just using the higher insectian enemies as a tool to rule the kettle of metamorphosis. 6. The Marazanta, still their Unknown Cocoon, this feared God, the inspiration of so many of their singers. 7. Marazanta, Oh God of the Gods, Marazanta, Oh King of the kings, Thou art mightier than a slave, and mightier than it's boss, Oh Marazanta, Thou art holier than a slave, and holier than it's bosses, Oh Marazanta, King of all purple kings. 8. They were worshipping the thing they feared so much, something which was presented in their sacred art as a tall man totally covered in a purple garment with a cape. 9. No one ever saw his face, and some even said he's faceless ... Some of the wasps had statues of him or paintings like a purple sort of ninja, surrounded by veiled dancing arabian women. 10. The confrontation with this God would always be lethal, so he was also seen as the king of death. 11. There were also a few ancient paintings of him on a white horse, surrounded by flames. 12. Even these paintings were worshipped and were protected behind thick glass and bars in museums. 13. These places were seen as sacred pilgrimages ... The insectian enemies struck hard, and soon enough the ships were completely taken over by them ... 14. They looked like wasps, but they had beaks, and their bodies were much more hairier. 15. They had the power to decrease the size of the waspian, until they were so small that they could be laid into some sort of capsules as small as match-boxes ... 16. They would take the capsules to a sort of oven, in which the wasps would be transformed into new planets, but in these planets their souls would die ... 17. The life of the new planet would prey on them, until they would be totally taken over, recycled and gone ... 18. This would be a cruel cocoon, they would meet Marazanta, and die this way. 19. This would be a slow way of getting older and losing everything. They would be the seeds on the planet-field, were the planets would rise like balloons, while they sacrificed their lives for it. 20. But they knew, on the bottom of this cocoon, there would be a small gate to new life ... But that would take a long long time ... 21. They were now in the hands of Marazanta Dementia, a strange insectian species ... These insectians were taller than them, thinner, hairier. 22. And having the beaks of birds, while their technologies were much higher. 23. The dementia's had cocoons much more specialized than the wasprians, and they even wore these cocoons in their bodies. 24. They were the species who could determine and change the size and shapes of living nature. 25. But they were also masters of illusion. Because of their hi-sense tools they could also trick the senses like no others ... 26. They were extremely thin, but the ones who watched them could easily think they were very thick, for they could switch the eye-indexes and translations. 27. They knew that thick and thin were just illusions created by sight itself. The same as tall and short ... 28. They were very tall ... but by messing the eye-standards up, they could appear as short ... 29. And by this they could easily penetrate and control the souls they had in mind ... 30. They wanted to make everything childlike, but to let it more and more appear like old and grown up ... [they had cobra smiles of the dead, with the old faces planted as a helmet on their heads]. 31. Another trick of illusion ... They were a spoilt race of insectians ... 32. They more and more limited the lifetimes on earth, but they let it appear to be longer and longer ... 33. It was a strange sort of joy they spread ... It was the curse of dementia 34. All poles were getting masked by their opposites ... And this was the way how they could erase so many memories and standards, while humanity was thinking they were getting smarter and wiser ... 35. The insectians were a backward-typed species ... Their works spread like a burning disease ... 36. but humanity was thinking they became healthier They loved to hear how people were speaking in misleading poles, thinking they are too this and too that, and thinking it from each other. 37. So that they could enter them by using the other pole ... They let earth's watchers see something at the left, while they were entering at the right. 38. By planting deceiving images in the minds of people, their true images could penetrate deeper in their unconsciousness. 39. These deceiving images were good distractions in their eyes. They loved to make people insecure by switching the pole-indexes, and their laughs were like curses, paralyzing the brainfunctions, for the laugh releases stomach-energy to penetrate the mind to digest the pole-switching image, which is nothing more than a victim of dementia. 40. This makes the laugh almost vampire number one on earth. And the joke is one of it's best manipulator. 41. Dementia is the painter of a schizophrenic interpreter, spreading the jokes like bipolar prisons for passengers, food for other passengers, creating the suspense ... 42. While dementia is growing, while everyone is thinking ... it's getting ..better ... Dementia knows the wounds this system hits ... and then he creeps to the victim, having so much compassion, while making the wound worse than it is, to show an even bigger compassion, while the wound is ripping the whole body more and more ... so that dementia can now really grow into a saviour's position ... 43. But it was only your best tax-master ... hiding behind a mask with many shades ... vultures included ... mask with ribbons ... 44. The switching of the poles can make you laugh or cry ... the laugh when you look at the other and the cry when you look at yourself the swing of the senses can make us into a criminal or a victim ... it's a dangerous playground after all ... 45. The laugh of Dementia, installing their fiscal circulations ... their cocoons turning you into another planet to spread their tax-hungry jokes they search for control and transformation for another but if it comes to themselves, they just want to cover their fears 46. These are tax-cocoons ... deeply programmed into humanity's eyes of the mind ... but one day there will be nothing to eat anymore ... 47. Dementia is heading for a hunger for one day the meat will be eaten and then they will realize ... they were just eating themselves ... For they were also just in someone else's cocoon Marazanta's ... 48. They worship Marazanta too ... for them it's a story of victory ... their victory but they also know Marazanta has many species There are pseud'epigraphic scriptures in their circulations about the coming of Marazanta, about their destruction ... 49. And only the good ones will rise at the end of that cocoon ... There will be a new species erasing their memories and tax-etiquettes ... They will go to sleep for many ages ... 50. These ones will look like insectian horses or dogs ... they have bony crenated arms and legs at some places, and some places are very hairy some even look like deer 51. But there are many species of Marazanta ... all in his cocoon ... He's the Lord of insects ... Throning ... in Izu

1. We have the sunrise in our hands, together with the pythonian smile, leading us to the silver crown, and then to a golden one. 2. Sifted in the hands of millions, of legions and myriads, of dwarves and gnomes, leading us to the temples of dwarf, in dwarf-temple. 3. We have the sunrise in our hands, covered by sunsets and by the holy tea of Ra-Amin. 4. We have the sunrise in our hands, us, soldiers of the sun. If you are one of us, raise your hands and we will find you. Put your hands up. We have the summers in our eyes, the golden summers, with smiles of golden boys from lynx and tucan. 5. We unite with sharks. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. Hail to those of the golden Izu-Unita. The Solar Book of the Dead, a crown on your head, with so much creativity, to dwell in Sekmeth's place forever. 6. This is the book of the down and the dawn. You have arrived in our sunships. Here the Great Ra is sailing, he with Ra-Amin. 7. You found the horse's eye which holds the fires of conscience and memory. We are on the ark of Moses-Ra. It is your memory uniting, it is your translation leading you, to fruit's core, on paradise island. 8. We have built our own Genesis's in Genesis-Ra. We are from the urban renewals where the suns contract. Amen-Ra-Amen. 9. Welcome to our holy temples, to stretch you tall, to the feathers of Maat. Welcome to the spring's seasons, to bring you into the heats of summer, these golden heats. Come to the solar halls of izu-unita, 10. To have your ships in the middle of nights, let us raise our sails, to sail with Ra-Amin, over streams of golden tea. Yes, Marion has poured it out over your foreheads, to baptize you. Don't give yourself away. It is Marion's tea. 11. We have found the horse's eye. Let Ra unite. Amen. We hear the visions, to make us ripe. He heard the White Golden Hand, on the ship, while Marazanta was there also, leading you to the halls of izu-unita. 12. Trips to Brannan, He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... 13. I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... It's made out of stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 14. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... 15. He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... 16. He's the wizard's son.

West-Vilapsa Version

Papyrus of Izu

The Insectian Book of the Dead

THE BOOK OF BABYLON

1. 1. Ova, sons of all sons, grandfather of all grandfathers, oh prince of the oaks, ruling over the heights of materos. 2. You are the sun leading us to the city of balloons, where our hearts can rise to breath again. 3. Oh, Ova, with your golden smile. Bow down over the heads of Venus. Lead us through the deathrealms of dwarves. You know all their books. Let us come together, so that we can worship you, oh father of all fathers. 4. Lead us all to Izu. Teach us about the seven smiles of death, let the Okus monsters open the lungs. Oh, that they might store the balloons of lungs in the livers. Let the balloons of the livers rise to open the lungs, to fill the lungs, and to open the hearts. 5. Oh, let Osiris ride the seven smiles of the dead. Let him teach us how to remove letters from stones of graves and sacrophagos. Lead us to the thrones of ashes, where we can smile with the smiles of death, to see the griffon rise, him with the golden smile. 6. Oh open Salom, the hearts of the lungs, to spread the wings into tiger's ripples, in balloon skies. 7. Opening of the Widow Spider, the third heart. Osiris, son of Ova, you know the widow spider lying dormant between the two hearts of the octopus, as the third heart, the golden heart, where the golden nipple rises [Oh, Emelis Shatau]. 8. Greet Marazanta, our son of hearts, our father of thruths. Let him raise the green lights. Bring our ancient ornaments back into the spine. 9. Those ornaments we got from our ancestors, while Lords of evil took them away. Bring us away from all evil, and show us the righteous paths. 10. Oh, Egypt, let it be Egypt in Izu. Sweet Belcanov, statue of ancient days, our watcher, speak these words to the hills. Let that which is proud fall, and let that which is humble rise. 11. Teach us about the seven moons. Amen. Oh, holy Amen, son of Egypt, father of Lakus, raise the orange balloons and the checked balloons. Teach us how to contract hearts to do your will, oh almighty Cricket, lying on the heart of Osiris. 12. Oh, you, with the seven arms, come forward, raise us again into the house of Thoth. 13. Let us not be burnt, when we stand for the throne of Almighty Osiris, when his red eyes are searching our hearts. 14. Let the soulbird rise, let our souls grasp the lights of ancient times before their times, to honour the ancient souls beneath the souls. 15. Let us not complain and standing still in the realms of the dead, but let us descent into the bottom of the pit, where we can find the coin of Mary of Magdalen and her holy Sarsia Soul. 16. Let the Sarsia Soul lead us back to the Barbarian times, to free the birds of paradise. let their souls guide us for the rest of our days. Amen. 17. Papyrus of Ra-Izu. When you come into the holy temple of Amon, touch the blue gold on his head, all you who are dead in these pastures in front of his house. Let the sheep guide you there. 18. His holy books will guide you. Amen. Let Atu, the god of goats be mercifull over you, who passes over the rivers of the dead. 19. Drink from it's waters to be connected to ancient souls. You will feel a spirit in your heart. It is the bird of Ra-Izu. Thoth will seal your foreheads by his holy waters. 20. We will take care of your soul, that the smoke will not lead you astray. 21. We will give you the eyes you deserve, when you haven't abuse your eyes to mock the spirits of the dead. 22. There will come seven Judgements on the eye, led by the sword of Thoth. Blessed those who will survive.

2. 1. Seven Judgements on the Eye by the Sword of Thoth. First Judgement : You will say these words. I baptize my eye in the holy waters burning with fire, to see if I have mocked the spirits of the dead. 2. If so, I will bear their pains in my own eyes, until I am clean by their judgements. I will receive the sword of the widow spider in my eye as a purifying. 3. It will pierce me until I am blind to sinfull deeds. It will pull my eyes out if it would lead me astray. 4. Lead me on the right paths by the eye of Thoth. 5. In him we can see in righteousness. I am gratefull to your judgements, bringing me into the lightchamber of Thoth, to watch the ornaments of the seven coffins of his candlestick. Second Judgement : In doubts we cannot see you. 6. Wash us. Let softness grow in our eyes, to give faith to our brothers and sisters, love to the older ones and the younger ones, as our mirrors, the arms of our hearts. 7. Let us not break one of these arms off, for then the lights of our eyes will fall away. Then I must eat the darkness, and slide through the dust. Amen. 8. Let this softness test us. This Eye of Ra-Izu. It will eat me away. It will eat my eye away, if I would sin in your holy presence. 9. Make me holy. Make my footsteps sacred, knowing that I am on sacred ground. Show me all the pillars of Ra's house, and show me his scribe, Ra-Izu. Let Izu lead me to the falls, to decide, which way I will go. 10. Let me see the eyes of death, to adopt the ancient souls of the sacred ant and gnat. Third Judgement : Let Ra-Anu come forward, to lay the sword on our eyes. 11. May it be sealed by attention. May it be usefull, and not a power to judge. The heart is a power to judge, while only the heart-eye of Thoth can rise to judge. 12. In him all the judges get their eyes. Let him who is not connected to Thoth be thrown out into the deepest oceans and darkest places, until he finds the eye of Thoth to do well. 13. The eye must be sifted like gold, seventy times seven, until it reaches the eighth day. On the eighth day the judges stand, allowed to judge. 14. Lead our eyes into the eighth day, to judge or be judged. Let Ra decide, and weigh our eyes, to see if it's worthy for a sword pierced through it. Fourth Judgement : Let Sarsia, the goddess of ages see if the eye is connected to the ancestors of wood. 15. If there is mock to an older one, let the sword pierce it, until it's clean. If there is mock to a younger one, let the eye be burnt and give the ashes to the birds of heaven. [and to the wild animals of the earth.] Holy is Sarsia. 16. If you judge someone by clothes, cursed are you, for you will be naked, and your eyes will be eaten by crocodiles of the fourth death. Your soul will rot in your body, and will drag you into the rivers of dirt, where you will be rejected and scorned until you can only live by your tears. 17. If you judge someone by occupation, cursed are you. If you judge someone by race, cursed are you. Your eye will rot in your body, until you have worshipped the ancient gods of the one you scorned. 18. If you do this scorning with someone else to strengthen your back, you are cursed twice. Then it's better for you to get a hook in your eye to hang for seven days in the realms of the dead, where the birds of prey eat from your meat. Fifth Judgement : By the feather of the goddess Maat. 19. She is the ruler of the heavens, and will watch you. She will give praise to the eyes of self-judgement and the eyes who care for nature and animals. 20. If you scorn a weak one, you will be weaker. If you scorn a sick one, your health becomes of that person. If you scorn someone because of someones parents, cursed are you, for you will be an orphan. Maat cares for the soft of heart, the tender ones, and those of a holy rage. 21. Sixth Judgement : If you write scorn down on paper, you are cursed triple. You will not only lose your eye when you will appear for Osiris-Ra, but you will also lose your hand, and it will fall in the rivers of the dead, where the crocodiles of sekmeth eat it. Seventh Judgement : Blessed are those who can come through the Judgement on the Eye without falling, whose backs are straight, led by the blue light. 22. Blessed are those whose griffin souls are caring for the weak and the sick, to see their health and strength. 23. Blessed are those who travelled the seas of weakness and sickness to find the truths and treasures of the chambers of Thoth's house. Blessed are those who wrote with the hands of Thoth, while the Benu-bird was sitting on their shoulders, and the seven holy parrots of Ra. Amen. 24. Their balloons will reach the eternal cities, where God will wipe away all their tears. 25. There where they can drink from the golden wells of life, and from the golden eyes. There they will see the golden hand of Thoth. Amen-Ra-Amen. Blessed are those who let their souls be cleansed by the fire. 26. The Varia-Bird will guide you to show you the threads between the threads. Amen-Thoth-Amen : Visitors of Amenti, those who glide through the last hall ... to watch the portals of Materos ... the halls of the dead of dwarves. 27. Blessed are those who glide in, to travel along and over the rivers with the orange balls ... Blessed are those who watched the graves of dwarves ... blessed are those with an eye to the small things ... cursed are those who deny the small things, for they will be blown away when Materos sucks the holy ones inside ... Amen-Thoth-Amen

3. 1. The Seven Halls of Materos. You watched the dwarves the golden stares. Now reconnect to the souls of your gnome-souls and their ancestors. First Hall, Talgamen. Prayer to find the lost ships. I come to you, Talgamen, gnomestatue, almighty leprechaun of the ancient coins. 2. I come to you, Talgamen-Thoth, holy scribe of Izu and the first hall of Materos. 3. Write my names in your books, and give me from your divine food, when I will pass over these bridges, when I sail over these seas ... Do not let my ships sink, oh holy Ra-Talgamen, do not let me being eaten by sharks, but raise me high, in your balloons, to be in High Talgamen, I take flight. 4. Grant me with the food of your griffons. Do not lead me astray. Have mercy on me, I am a humble soldier. Only living to save your animals, as they save me. As you glide into my soul, look for my lost ships, and bring them into my heart again, in my liver, lungs and organs. Let me take flight again to the cities of eternity. 5. Talgamen-Amen. Don't let me fall from high rocks, when I enter your mysteries. Let your warmths guide me, and comfort me, and let your birds do not take me away to burn me. Let me write on your jewels, my love to you. Let me be your scribe, in the name of Thoth-Amen. 6. Second Hall, Lokogamen. Is this the road to Belcanov, oh Almighty Lokogamen. I bow down in praise, without letting my lips flow. 7. For it is righteousness you want to see. Let my words not be empty, but filled by deeds. Let my words flow, filled by fire, as balloons into your skies. Let me see your cloudships and eagleships, and the birds working there. Do your birds sit high ? 8. I come for your almighty thrones, to watch your graves and coffins, to bring sacrifices to your urns, as words to the ancestors, let them be echoes warming them, until they are back. 9. Let them rise from the deepest oceans, all these souls lost, worthy to be connected to us, as part of the ornament. Oh, holy one, of golden beards. Give your servants their beards back to pierce deeper into the halls of Amenti and the halls of Materos. I am yours. 10. Third Hall, Belcanov. Where the holy statues stand. Where our minds can be dense again, to reach for the cold conscience, to live for the poor. 11. To share all the riches, also to the realms of death. Let me glide deeper, and protect me against the flames of Osiris Throne. 12. Let the snakes awake in me, to do the final decisions. Belcanov, let my soul glide, into your soul, where the warmth shivers. 13. Let me take those who are afraid deep into my heart. For you are close to the depressed and those who fear God, having a green heart pumping inside. 14. Belcanov, bless your scribe Anu, and your warrior Thoth-Izu. Let the seven spirits of Osiris watch over my soul, giving me a new spirit. Fourth Hall, Elsefic. Hymn to Elsefic. Glory to Elsefic, who gave us soft food. Waters coming from the rocks, while you had the rod of the seven suns. 15. Baals were your friends, the donkeys. You guided them safely through your streets, giving them vanilla to raise higher and fly on butterfly wings. You gave ornaments on their hearts. You crashed their orange balls to bring them higher. You led your children by a striped rod. Your horns spoke thunder on high hills, where your phoenixes took flight. 16. Osiris-Elsefic, praise to you, my Lord. Hide me in your seven judgements, when you are pouring out your bowls of wrath. Give me thunder to rage with you, and let my heart not be weak. Don't let me be a coward when you need me to speak. Amen-Ra-Amen. Elsefic, watch the ornaments, and weigh them before your thrones. 17. Let your lamps guide me inside, to touch the deeper darknesses, where you hide. Let me be where you are, oh Elsefic-Osiris, and show me the seven Ra's of your spirit, your paths to the suns. Watch my moons, and weigh them before your thrones, and speak sacred words to test them. Let no unworthy food poison me in the abbyes of your streets. 18. Let my paths be holy to eat from your checked divine food. Fifth Hall, Amenti-Ra. Drink me and weigh me, measure me in your deepest caves, to give me access to fruitfull grounds below the pits. Destroy my mirror, and give me yours. Amenti-Ra, seal my hearts, also the hearts of my liver, to store the treasures you gave me. 19. I cherish them, all these hearts, and the divine vegetables. Let your Elsefic rise on the sixth day, to watch the balloons of ancient days. Let me steal the forgotten days out of the halls of evil lords. Let me be an exorcist and a sacred thief, to bring your treasures and souls back to your temples. There, where the tigers roar. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. You are the holy Amen of the sixth soul of Amen-Ra and Talgamen-Benu. 20. Your birds will let your spirits sour. The Ka's of your Ra will guide you by wet visions. While the dreams of the Ba will lead you through the night. You watch the golden suns. We are sacred pirates, in this hall of Amenti-Ra. Show me the ripples of your tigers, the juices of your sacred drinks. Show me how to use them holy, guided by divine steps. Oh, halls of Amenti-Ra, in the Fifth Hall of Materos, rise high. Show the worthy books in the deepest of the night. Let us glide into the drinks between the drinks. Bring the holy snakes from the livers to the lungs, restore the fleeces of the heart, united, to speak words of unity, as a sword to transform the darkness. 21. Bring me the swords of Osiris-Shesmu, and that of Osiris Sebqa, for the mouth of the crocodile is wide open. Build my boats to come over the dangerous seas of Sonder Sun. Sixth Hall, Sonder Sun. She's the queen of my heart. She's the lady of the altars, rising high in Izu. Balloons are bending, while her wet stripes take place. 22. We worship you, Lady of the Sonder Sun. Not in vain words, but in deeds and righteousness. It is filled by a rage, raging until you are home. We are your servants in this sixth hall of Materos, after Amenti. You are Materos-Amenti-Ra, mirroring in the sky. You are the rippling tiger, tightening the threads between the threads. 23. Seventh Hall, Emini Fire. You are the heart of Amenti and Ra, the heart of Sonder, where the octopus dwells. You have sent your unicorn to awaken us into this day. Take us to the golden fleeces, to drink from the divine tea. Let our minds melt away, if cold consciousness is your desire. Bring us to life and death, rippling as the forbidden fruit. Be our Adam and our Eve, our serpent and our God. Raise the halls of Amenti. 24. Prepare us for the travellings over the seas and rivers of fire, to meet the dragons of your heart, the octopus of your desire. Don't quench our ofions [octopus-sharks], but purify them like gold. Amenti-Thoth, open your chambers to us, in Emini Fire. Show us the baskets of your snakes, the checked ones and the powdered ones, and all those in fire. 25. Give us the key to open thunder-fire, the Emini-Shesmu. Serve your Lord, Emini-Ra, who lives in the sun. Give him from the divine food ; Watch his ornaments when they die. Come with his urns to the flames of Osiris, to test your eyes and hearts, on the hands. Stand on his footprints, and watch yourself die to come alive again on the third and the fifth day. 26. Watch Emini Horus, to please his publics, the divine audience. In this you can pass the test to get the holy Amenti-Ra-Emini suite. The checked orange suit to contact the divine Emini Lions and Wild Cats of Ancient Days. Amen-Talgamen-Amen.

4. 1. Ritual and Sacrements to close the door of Emini-Amenti behind you. Lords of Amenti unite. Let me be the salt on the ground, so that no one can steal this divine fire of Amenti-Toth. It burns once and then it leaves forever, until you leave forever with it. Oh, holy Lord and Doorkeeper of Amenti's Rod. Save your son, Lucifer, from the wrath of the ancient Hebrew-Babylonian fallen one who didn't want to pierce the Halls of Amenti and Materos. 2. Burn him in Emini Fire. Divine Amenti Lions of Amenti-Lucifer, you are free. Do not sin. Your hearts will be purified by the pure flames and the sulphur of EMINIUS-SARSIA and her heartsoul AMENTI-SARSIA. 3. Ra-Amenti will stand behind you. Emini-Lucifer, you are free now, you and your lions. Do not sin. Your hearts will be purified by the pure flames and sulphur of Marion-Emini Swords. Emini, be closed. The sword and altar of Emini is now in the hands of EMINIUS-SEKMETH. Ritual and Prayer to not to be eaten by the crocodiles of Emini-Luca. Raise me father, make my heart pure, let your sacred crickets cover my eyes. 4. Let me not judge the dead, let them not judge me. Bring me out of this dark passage and lead me into your circle, where I can eat from the solar dishes. Give me a helmet brought by your eagles to have a light in this deep darkness. Let me trust on cycles and circles, and also the symbols of your panthers in the temple of eight. 5. Let me escape into a new week. The week of your golden breads. Let me have my own altars, to sacrifice myself instead of others. When I stand before the altars of your golden breads, then cover my eyes by your bristal brivals, to have your golden neon lights. Lead me into your chambers, oh father, to see the coffins beneath the coffins, to touch your holy butterflies. 6. Make me drunk, lead the boat over your river, and bind the heads of crocodiles. Let them not eat my feet. Cover these by butterflies. Let them not eat my legs. Cover them by the shields of turtles. Let the heart-eaters not eat my heart, but let the benu-bird, your benu-bird, lead me inside your caves. Make me thin enough to enter. Let me discover the lines between the lines .. To make them bend into solar lights. Show me the halls of the elves of dead. 7. Draw these circles on the walls. Aton-Amen-Aton. Let me in, dead man, let me in, to let me watch your graves. Lead me to your coffins, to see the ornament of death. Let me drink from your urns, to touch the holy water. Streaming from death, in your chambers I desire to be. Let Belcanov-Aton lead me inside, guiding me by the red light. 8. I don't want to stop here, for crocodiles are behind me, wanting to eat my soul. I see your house as a doorway, to the house of the elves coffins. Oh, orange men, oh black men, oh hard men, guards of the elves graves, make me hard enough to enter, soft enough to walk through walls. Let me follow your waterlights, to be one of them ... 9. I will worship the lines between the lines, and also those beneath and beyond, to become one of them, always thinner. I will be thinner man, oh harder man. Let me enter. 10. You cannot enter. Why not ? You need to return to Belcanov first, to reach for his sixty-six coffins. Then you will be hard enough to be a harder man. 11. I am now a harder man, can I enter ? 12. No, you cannot enter. The publics and the audiences don't accept you. You first need to be a softer man, when you have returned to Elsefic. You must first dive into his sixty-six coffins, seventy-seven graves and eighty-eight cities. 13. 66,77,88 Can I enter now ? Yes, you can, for you are a thinner, softer and harder man. Hymns of Ova. Osiris-Ra, I knight you in the order of Varia-Birds, the souls of Izu-Indians. Praise will be to Osiris, throning in the Halls of Amenti. Praise will be to Thoth, whose house is built on the deathpillars of elves. 14. Osiris-Ra, the Dark and Black Elves will be sent forth from your chest. Oh, Osiris-Ra, don't fear when you walk through the temples of materos. They will initiate you deeper. Let their stings guide you. Osiris-Ra, son of Ova, god of oaks. We bring in you the Atu, the god of goats. Guide them over the hills into eternal bliss. 15. You have the rod for it. Osiris-Ra, you will have the following illuminations and enlightenments, while you are following the paths of sacred ancestors. 16. You will adopt their gods. You will come beyond good and evil. You will come beyond winning and losing. 17. When you have created a faith for the first time, it will strengle you. And the enemy of that faith will save you. Then you will create a second faith, which will strengle you, and again the enemy of that faith will save you. 18. Then you will create a third faith and the same will happen, which lets you rise beyond good and evil. There you will find the pillar of the purple gnat, a most important pillar of the house of Thoth. The House of Thoth built on seven pillars, the Halls of Dead Elves, Avani. 19. Welcome to the Halls of Avani, the underworld of Elves, where the elf gods of the dead dwell to judge all the dead. Be in fear if you have sinned, for they don't have mercy. They pierce hearts, lungs and organs. There is no grace, only purifying rituals. There is no forgiving, only self-sacrifice until the price is paid. 20. You must work and change in their coccoons, or you will be damned to destruction in fire-sulphur-salt-acid. In the Halls of Dead, speaks the Upper Ova of Life and Death, the Sovereign Prince of Judgement and Damnation in Khert-Neter, you can be illuminated as Osiris-Ra to see the misleadings of gods and upperbeings, and the lower beings with their spirits. 21. You can dwell in domination if you will make the journey through Avani. Only then you will be set free from these misleadings. The rest will sink and drown. Prayer and Ritual to not be drowned in the waters of Avani. Dangerous sirens live in the waters of Avani, drowning men and women, children and animals. Fight against sexual desires in these areas. 22. Do not satisfy yourself by luxury. Do not eat too much fruits. And if you decide to eat fruits, mix them with potatoes and onions. Do not wear socks in your shoes. Do not cut your beard too often, and woman, do not shave. Women, reach for the waters of Sheri, your guard in the waters of Avani. Invoke her by candlelight. 23. Speak her name into the flame. Wear torn clothes and cover your head. Speak these words : Qebh, celestial waters, let me drink from you, and shine your four lights in my Ka [spirit]. Qebh, celestial waters, bring me to Khert-Neter in Ra-Izu, into his lungs, where I can receive the golden heart, the golden nipple [On the Emelis Shatau]. I bow to Ra and his Bennu-Bird, his heart-soul. Plant in me the streets and skies of Khert-Neter [the balloons], where my Akh can rise [illuminated heart-soul]. 24. Qebh, celestial waters, lock golden doors behind me, and destroy my enemies, the sirens. Amen-Ra-Thoth-Amen. Qebh, you have the golden keys. Prayers, sacrements, hymns and rituals to become a citizen in Khert-Neter. Oh, city of the dead, take me in, give me a house and divine food. Bring the four fires to my Ka, and let me dwell in my Akh. Osiris-Izu, lead me to your islands, to show me the pillars of Thothis House. 25. Give me the twin-Akh, and the twinlion-heartsouls. I am Horus-Ra, I do no sin. I haven't scorned the gods of my town. I speak righteous words. I haven't sinned with my mouth, I am Horus-Ra.

Give me a double heart-soul in my liver, as I enter the Anu-house of Khert-Neter, where the Aged Gods live [and the Aged One]. 26. Give me the twin-tiger-heartsouls, and open my mouth in Khert-Neter. Allow me to speak and to be silent, to whisper and to speak loud. Amen. Allow me to move myself. Allow me to breath. By the Lake of Flowers, give me access to Sekhet-Hetepu [Fields of Peace] and the Sekhet-Aanru, to reach the Minewood behind it, where the Aged Children Dwell, and the House of Thoth. 27. Qebh, let me drink from the celestial waters there, floating from the divine food. Bring me to Khert-Neter in the Ra-Food, and to Khert-Neter in the Minewood. Lock golden doors behind me, oh golden Qebh, and give me the twin-crocodile heartsouls, from where the Benu-birds can rise. Give me the million-armed heartsoul in my golden heart, and give me the million-hearted sun in my scarabee [beetleformed heartshield]. Amen, give me access to Elsefic-Khert-Neter. 28. First Hall of Avani : Prometheus-Amy. Second Hall of Avani : Prometheus-Emily. Third Hall of Avani : Pillar of the Purple Gnat. Fourth Hall of Avani : The Egg of Kenken-Ur [guarded by Eric Zwarzenei]. Fifth Hall of Avani : The Egg of the Tiger. Sixth Hall of Avani : Eminius-Marazanta. Seventh Hall of Avani : Eminius-Amen. 29. Halls of Khelb. The elves of Ra holding the staff of Ptah, to measure the heart. If it's not thin enough the heart will be eaten by Ammut-Ra, for then it has sinned against the gods of Izu and Ra-Annas. If it's thin enough it will be struck seven times by the thin strikes to prepare it to enter the halls of Khelb. Here the birds of the brown nipple live to bind the hearts by charity, to raise them into the warmachines again. 30. On these battlefields of the dead the hearts will become thinner and thinner to escape from war into war, until they receive the golden nipple of fire [On the Emelis Shatau]. Hail Ova, son of the birch and the holly, for his icecreams set them free. They can move again, and talk again. They are now sons of Ova, sons of the Sacred Oak. 31. By Banana mixed with Vanilla, the lion's face rises, the Golden Nipple [On the Emelis Shatau]. They are now eating from the brown food of the oak, in hairy fields they live. [in hairy skies]. The staff of Ptah had struck them and led them, to small forests in the deserts. 32. While the black panthers care for them. Their hearts have been struck, and now their livers and lungsouls will be struck, and even their other organs, so that they might escape through the splits in caves. Their hearts have become light as the feather of Maat, and they have eaten well from her treasures. 33. They have defeated the watchers of the thinness and the evil lambs, to become blue fire, the face of ammon. They have pierced the halls of Materos and Avani. The seven halls of Khelb are seven boats to sail over the rivers of death, hell and lies. These rivers are seen as sacred riddles, as wilder animals they need to face. The halls of Khelb are the Insection Halls of the Dead themselves. 34. Hall I – Lapoendria (Land of the Wasps). Hall II – Perlottia (Land of the Winged Insects). Hall III – Brannan (Land of the flies). Hall IV – Lapsalvania (Land of the spiders). Hall V – Lalmageln (Land of the Stinging Insects). Hall VI – Bilmageln (Land of the Shining or Poisonous Insects). Hall VII – Ant Ship. 35. Can I get access to the Halls of Khelb ? You must be Ra-Izu. You must have visited the seven coffins of the faeries, and you must have read the pyramid texts of the dwarves. 36. I have done that, can I have access to the Halls of Khelb now ? You must be initiated in at least seven piramids of different Izu-Indian tribes, and you must have defeated the evil chicken of Radth. 37. I have done that, can I have access now ? Go in, and take from the forbidden fruits of the Halls of Khelb. Here Maat-Izu will weigh your heart and liver to her sacred feather. If one of them is too heavy, it will be eaten by Ammut-Izu. Then you must go through the seven nights of fear, where your lungs will be weighed to the sacred feather of Maat-Izu and Sekhmet-Izu. If it will be too heavy it will be eaten by Ammut-Lapoendria. 38. Then your souls will be put to the sacred staff of Ptah-Izu, and when one of these souls will be too short, it will be eaten by Thoth-Lapoendria. 39. Then the souls tall enough have come to the coasts of Lapoendria, to come into the Ra-Lapoendria ship. On the seas of fear they will be judged, to see if their hearts and livers are guilty or not. 40. They will be punished on the seas of Lapoendria and taken away by dangerous animals, by birds and fishes, to see if they are worthy or not, and to purify and test their souls. They will get seven thorns in their flesh, which will depress them, repress them and isolate them for a period of time. Here they must fight against the evil lambs. 41. In Perlottia, where the winged insects live, they get their wings to take flight from coffins. They will receive the flying heart of Maat. They will receive many of her heartsouls, and they will be put against the many rods of Thoth, to see if their hearts are sweet enough. 42. If not, they will be eaten by Ammut-Thoth. Then they will be put against the rods of Sekmeth, to see if their hearts and livers are soft enough. From these rods the snakes come forth ... and when they aren't soft and flexible enough, and when they cannot have ripples and balance, they will be eaten by these snakes of Sekmeth. Then their souls will be in Eminus-Fire. When they are soft like Sekmeth, they will have her lights in their Ka's ... 43. Then they will be prepared for the fires of Brannan. Here they will experience all different sorts of pains, fevers and dizziness. Here their hearts will be laid to the heart of Ra-Brannan, and when their hearts aren't hot enough they will be spat out. It is a burning heart, full of Eminus Fire and the fires of Brannan. 44. Pyramids on Izu If you have the winged Eminus heart with the seven twinsouls in it, then you have access to the pyramids of bristal brival : The Red Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu, The Green Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu II, The Blue Golden Pyramid of Za-Amon-Ra, Pyramid of the Golden Pear, where the tombs are of Pharaoh Za-Sinysen-Vu-Osiris, and of Za-Sinysen-Vu-Ra. 45. Spells for opening the pyramids of Brannan : Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, open the pyramids of Brannan. Show me the names, and let black doves cover them by their wings. Let your holy and sacred hands take me in, and initiate me. Amen-Ra-Amen. King of Brannan, give me the keys to your home. 46. I bow to your holy sands. Give me Jericho and Sodom, and let me destroy the evil snakes by the red stripes. Pharaoh's of Brannan rise up to give me the rods to destroy the evil donkeys holding away the sweetness. Let me destroy the unholy goats who guard the gates of tallness. 47. Give me the hoofs of goats to let me rise. Let me rise from the seven kettles of the goats. Let me be ashes from the ashes, smoke from the smoke, as your holy servant, lead me to eternal paths. Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, give us our Khu's, our eternal souls. Let the Khu-birds guide us, into the eternal pastures of Brannan. 48. Here is where our home is, here is where our hearts are. Oh, Pyramids of Brannan, show us the holy feathers of Maat, and let them rise in our hearts. Let truth guide us, Amen-Maat-Amen, let Toth seal our foreheads by your mighty lights. Bring us to Draminia, the roots of life. Show us the depths of Amenti in Brannan and Draminia. Let Jericho and Sodom rise. 49. We ask you to lay your rods on our foreheads, and to bring your feathers inside of us. Lead us to eternal paths, oh Holy and Sacred One, and give us your winged Khu-hearts. Bless Brannan and Draminia, bless Marazanta, Lord of the Insects, and bless the White Golden Hand, the Lord of the Flies. Bless our king and emperor of Brannan, and give us access to the rivers that lead into your pyramids and tombs. 50. Let us dwell in your chambers forever, to read their texts, and to receive our golden Khu-twins. Oh, eternal soul, rise and lead us to Shesmu, the heart and sword of Osiris. Bring us to Horus, his holy striped tongue. Amen-Toth-Amen. Give us the heart of Ra. Lead us through the sunsets of Brannan, through it's halls. 51. Amenti-Ra-Amen. Tem, feeder of all Ka's, feed us, and bring our Ka's into the rays of Amenti-Light. Tem, tamer of our Khu's, let them come forward as twineagles and twinsnakes. 52. Let them possess and transform our ba's. Brannan, bring the feathers of Maat in our lungs and eyes, so that the red stripes can come over her enemies. 53. Let her make jericho rise. Let her rebuild it's walls. Bless her walls, bless her. Amen-Ra-Amen. 54. Bless the lights of Brannan, and bring our hearts to the candlesticks of Toth, to show if there is any darkness in our hearts. If our hearts aren't light and bright enough, then let Ammit eat it. Bring the candlesticks of Toth in our ba's, ka's, akh's and khu's, to let them enter the sacred sahu. Give me the sahu of Ra, of Osiris and Shesmu, of Sekmeth, Amon and Aton, of Isis, Tem and Nun. 55. I come to the White Golden Pyramid of the Winged Snake of Brannan, to bless all four openings. I enter through West, and follow the paths of the sunsets. Let the seven sacred sunsets guard my mouth, and guide my lungs. 56. Brannan is the Jaw, the ashes from the ashes, where the power to speak dwells and the power of silence. Here silver striped roads (tigers) lead the deceased one to the land of the Leprechaun. 57. Leprechaun Halls of the Dead (Kerses Minds). I – The Coffins of Uncle Peacock, II – The Coffins of Uncle Unicorn, III – The Coffins of Uncle One to Ten, IV – The Silver Coffins of Faery, V – The Golden Coffins of Faery, VI – The Purple Coffins of Faery, VII – The White Coffins of Faery, VIII – The Black Coffins of Faery 58. These coffins are described in the Faery Coffin Texts and the Faery Book of the Dead. Those ones who have pierced the Halls of Khelb and entered Lakus and Kabbernal, oh holy ones, who became hairy with bald oasis, who became the hairy of the hairy with the baldest oasis below, who bows before monkeys and monkeyraiders, he will get the white golden flour and be the king of it. 59. He whose heart has been measured by Maat-Kabbernal in the Halls of Maati to the feather of fire. If your heart and nipple would be too cold it would be eaten by Ammut-Acha. 60. Your heart must be hot enough to enter Acha. Also your eyes and lungs will be tested. You will give birth to the creatures of Acha by your mouth, for it's the land of the mother. 61. You will use your mouth to give birth. It will rise from your stomach and your breasts and then you will vomit. Amen-Acha-Amen. Then you will give anal births. Amen-Acha-Amen, for it is the land of the mother, and she will hunt for love. 62. Then it will rise from her legs and her feet, and she will give birth by her navel and by her shoulders, while her breasts bring forth the white golden chocolate. Amen-Acha-Amen. And these bison have travelled from sun to sun, from heat to heat, through deserts of the nights, to watch the dark flames. This is the land of the bison. Amen-Acha-Amen. 63. They have defeated the evil goats, and made armors of their bones. They are searching for the brown gold. They have made houses in their hearts, like bees in their nests, assimilating the lights of the sun. 64. They have defeated the killerpigs of the light, and have travelled to the darkest suns, rising into Eminius Fire. They have rode the evil chicken without falling into temptation. They are free of sin. Amen-Acha-Amen. [And these men, they give birth by hyperventilation and Epilepsy.] 64. Oh those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. For you are here the cakes of liberty, oh pilgrims. Pilgrims of a lost sun, smile again with the smiles of Osiris. Oh, those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. Oh, those who have died the fourth death, come to the underworld of Izu. 65. Here the land is soothing, here the lies are riddles of truth, here the hairs are burning like lucifers, and here the hairy are in fight against the bald ... It's in the songs of monkeymen ... the hairy against the bald, making new religions in carbon smiles. 66. Holy to those of the oaks, holy to those of the hollies and the white trees. Holy to the one entering the boat of Ova, to sail the green rivers to the Emerald Sun. 67. They will bow down and freeze their heads, after the strikes of chocolate. They will walk the cold roads to Bennes, the land of trees. They will rise into the comics, to freeze their hearts into the books of perlottia. 68. Perlottia again, to eat from the purple strawberry and the purple chocolate, in arms of emerald, the eyes will be opened. Perlottia again, under a mother's breast, it's easy to agree. 69. There are teeth in these lips, teeth in these lips, while the glues fall and hide. They take you away to seven graves, these seven coffins and seven halls of Bennes in death. 70. You will worship death and see it's glory. You will follow death, to come alive again. Deep in the coffin you will find your shell. 71. Give the land the strike, be a judge of judges, when you passed through all these judgements of the gods. You are still a survivor. You will write down the holy texts of your ancestors and learn them by head, to tell them to your children. You will know their symbols and their smiles, the smiles of death. 72. You will Speak to them and they will speak back. They will lead you to the secrets of ages, and you will say you have survived. Under the strikes of death you grow younger, to stand as a tree, in bennes rivers.

1. Boys from Lynx II ; The Land Beyond Cockaigne. You must fight for the money, and then you can do business ... It's nine o'clock, it's bedtime soon ... 2. You have enough money to write a letter ... and tomorrow you don't have to go to school ... 3. All these fruits were just stories by mirrors opening, this black fruit leading you to the world of dwarves ... [b. The bragging of tax brought large publics to you ... so now she is on turn in chess ...]

4. The number's in the flame, while breathing in these mirrors ... [b. It's the silver strike they say ... you must swallow deep ... to reach the golden shoes ...] 5. The frog has some movies ... He's a tranvestite ... The frog has some old castles ... [b. I'm breathing deep ... and the coins are rolling ...] 6. I gathered them by going to the battlefields in the deserts ... [b. where the pick pock family still steals ...] 7. Oh ornament, you raised your glues high. [b. We are now on high materos.] 8. The frog is your friend. [b. He's now spitting sand.]

[9. These seas of flowers are my sunglasses making me blind for what's going on ... I don't care what's going on, for it's just a story ... The frogs bring these flowers ... They are the masters of the ponds ...all these mirrors opening ... until you don't have to swallow anymore ... it's the land beyond cockaign ...]

tight embrace

1. The chocolate front is open ... the charity was just a lie ... [b. It rose from the book of lies ... teaching you how to ganner ... To spin your own wines ... Still these sails on the backs of sharks bringing you to your own rios.] 2. It spins, it is the master's touch, to keep you addicted to someone you are not ... and you split up you had to marry to yourself ... [b. the brown mirror brought you there, by knocking on old chocolate] 3. And now you're getting colder by the black divorce ... falling in a blue sea ... where ancient and mythical fishes rise ... [b. this banana was enchanted ... and now you stare at it's checked spoon] 4. In the hand of the prince. He's losing it ... [b. Charity the other lie of the black rose ... while you dive beyond this world of mirrors ... to the original strike ... you don't need these clocks to let you wait for nothing.] 5. ... You are just sinking to ... the land beyond cockaign ... where seas of flowers make you so insane ... three pale purple flowers you got ... [b. And now you're here at the end of the day ... standing in purple snow ... you're crazy now, thinking you were normal before ...] 6. This is where all ponds lead you to ... you fell in these seas ... with all these strange perfumes ... you aren't hungry anymore ... and what is this stench ... did you ever smell that before ... [b. The ladies of the sides of chess, they run so fast .. to you .. in colours of red, white, black and blue.]

7. While green masses they survive ... [b. bringing you to high materos.] 8. And you see the checked frogs swimming like whales ... like glitterships ... they are the masters of the pond ... they enchanted the golden ships into banana's ... [b. This is the world of the blind ... You don't have to run. There are no movies anymore] 9. There's nothing speaking here ... only some comics ... and that is enough ... [b. the fires don't have to burn anymore ... everything is frozen here ... while frogs swim so flexible] 10. I wonder how can they be so free ... they are blind ... reaching for new shores in these seas of the jewelled flowers ... [b. Checked snakes on the sides of chess, rising like balloons. While it all gets smaller, till the soldiers fall down. They are bowing, in december skies.] [11. I don't want to be in charity ... I don't want to be saved ... I don't need your stories, don't need your movies ... I don't need your swanlakes ... I don't need your Jesuses I don't need your birthdaycakes ... Let me be alone ... oh, let me be ... with the boys from lynx] [12. You had normal skies. And now we are on high materos, raking the skies, watching our chessboards.] [13. Calm down, you prince. Your mother raked you, and now you rise like the balloon. I always shook your hands both, so calm down, my prince, calm down.] [14. You were a mother's ornament on a candy's cake ... Calm down, my prince, calm down.]

where love ends

1. Finally where love ends ... an orange balloon stands ... [b. bringing you into high materos.] 2. Where sunset rises These boys from lynx still leading the blind ... [b. These boys from lynx ... these criminals inside ... so misjudged by others ... so misjudged ... while others use their mirrors ... let me use my boys from lynx ...] 4. No one's speaking there ... only some comics ... [b. While chessboards are muttering.] 5. While ladies of the sides of chess, they're whispering ... soothing the trousers and the flowers in the night we're in dark materos raising sunset, while sinking deeper into the skies ... [b. Your balloons were tight rings. They're coming from the seas of cold conscience These boys from lynx ... these criminals inside ... these pirateships making me blind] 6. And now I'm drinking tight juices ... coming from the bottles of chess ... While checked snakes let the syrops sink ... [b. into another space.] 7. Where love ends, the rings so tight, coming from the edges of a chessboard [b. you never understood. These lazy cats you cannot hide. We're now in soft materos .. inside ... in high skies ...] 8. Farewell, summer skies, I'm now touching december's sun, with all these ladies of the sides of chess, raising their bottles in slow motion to do quick attacks ... I'm still reading loud in these books of wars ... while you're whispering ... making my rings so tight I'm in high materos ... tonight ... [b. Please lock me up in your checked cellars.] 9. I want to see the movies on both sides. It made me blind.

10. These enchanted straight blue bananas ... these ancient mythical fishes ... make me blind, make me deaf ... [b. to hear the most beautiful music ... Oh, pirateship ... turn me on ... turn me on ...] 11. Don't keep your pictures of fright ... [b. but try to find the fairytale inside ... by this little light ... of the boys from lynx ... with their rings so tight. These rings are checked ... They look like mother's lips ...] 12. I saw the painting. [b. By making us blind, they show us the most beautiful paintings inside ...] 13. These boys from lynx these criminals inside 14. These are seas within seas, while boys from lynx have the machines of deer in their pockets ... These are ornaments within ornaments ... these are boys from lynx ... [b. I'm fainting while I see their pink ornaments ... An Epilepsy boy is what it sais ...] [15. These monsters of rock .. spreading their delights where tears are coins ... and where the softness is their fire ... the land beyond cockaign ..]

snares of stereo

1. They know the snares of stereo. They know the snares to move the tears. [b. This land beyond the custardListen to the tranvestite These wizards hearts.] 2. [b. with so many nipples on it ... while some say they have strange skindiseases ... nippleheads they march] 14. Through chinese lanterns ... so wild ... touched by thrillers ... they come alive inside ...[b. but this is the land beyond cockaigne ... they do movements so insane while wizards hearts lie on a dish ... beating while you feel so strange inside ... shadows on the wall ...] [15. These coins are slaves and sacrificed by religion ... when they become blind and deaf ... wild and handicapped on the wings of an autistic child with the wings of dementia ... they can reach for the thistles and the stinging nettles to become free again ...] [16. By tight rings, I'm now a chessboard's soldier ... Here it's okay to fight ... For no one really wins ... and no one really loses ... We all feel the pain ... of a new world coming ...] [17. It's opening the world beyond the chessboards ... Strange traffics into strange books ... These soldiers they march through cold materos to see the edges of the chessboards ... where strange apples grow Oh, let us eat them, they make our hearts so tight] [18. Father drinks the old juices ... He doesn't see the soldiers moving to another chess ... While playcards are floating ... Inviting others to ... the grand desire this world beyond the chess] [19. Playing on bakerman's hearts, while strange powders are spreading ... covering these worlds by snow ... lapoendria smiles It's a strange drum ... And all your coats are different now checked ... marching to the world beyond the chess ...] [20. It's breeding elves, growing tall under Bekehelm's helmet ...]

queen of hearts

1. Poetry from the Latin Buffoon Puppet II. If protection is a big attack, where do we hide. If love is the Big Lie, where can we have our tent ... if your embrace is to die ... 2. If I am not the same as you are, how many fights will we have, or will we die by good business holding our last grip. 3. the journey

1. The journey through the sharkian temple was a long journey. I lost a lot of friends in all sorts of traps. These were the hidden altars of the sharks. 2. I didn't know why they took my friends away, but later I would find out. Finally I reached the room of the throne, but it was an old lady sitting there between the spiderwebs, turning young when I touched her. 3. There are seven days for the mortals to prepare for the lightening coming to take them away, there, in the room of the throne. They have touched the old lady, and she became young again. It is a thin lady, but when you touch her again she becomes thick. She will tell you ... all what the lullabies taught her ... 4. The lullabies in daydream's spring, covering the morning, for there will be no afternoon ... Seven days for the mortals, without afternoons ... only mornings, evenings and of course ... nights ... to prepare for the lightening ... coming to take them away ... 5. I was one of them We would be taken to a ship to find out we were already on that ship ... with a name called 'All there is' There was no sea ... only that ship ... the sea was in the ship ... 6. I was one of these mortals ... on this Eagle Ship These guys were strange ... They ate butchers ... making strange leathers ... It was whispering while powders started to spread ... smelling like the seeds of flowers ... It was like an ornament ... 7. A Jesus Christ is hanging in the air ... no clothes, but yet so covered ... by lines of old books and by strange leathers ... He's smiling, yet the tears are flowing ... He's dying, but coming to life in a strange way ... 8. They tell me not to touch the picture for at the end there will be no any Jesus Christ left, only some boys from Lynx It is written in their holy books. 9. I feel naked yet so covered like the insect losing his skin to get a new one ... in which cocoon am I ? Is this the Arabian Sea-cocoon ? There is no sea .. there is no air ... only a ship called 'All there is' an eagle-ship ... like the red picnic like a red ball .. having so many colours in the night

10. Then the glues are overflowing and then I'm seeing the face of the Lion's Tea Wizard it was something I drank ... it was something I feared ... but it was beautiful 11. I can go into these cellars now ... the places I used to fear as a child ... I had such strange feelings in my stomach thinking .. but it was just the wizard calling me 12. I had a strange tattoo of a pale orange octopus on my lower stomach ... it was hurting me ... but also giving me strange delights ... The wizard has this tattoo also ... he shows me ... He has so many tattoos ... also one of a black snail ... and one of a white rabbit ... 13. There are strange banana's lying on a golden dish ... It's like pumping all these strange feelings inside ... I used to misinterpret these ... I was in the misunderstanding of this lion's tea ... I walk towards him ... he's the grandfather of the ship ... the big daddy ... but suddenly I feel like I'm in glue 14. Don't touch him, they say for at the end there will not be any Jesus Christ left ... only some boys from Lynx ... it is written in their holy books. 15. They say all these figures turn into the boys from lynx in the nights to bring shivering mornings ... Is fear their key ? ... They wear the rings of fear ... It's a strange machine of dogs ... 16. They have also a ring of guilt, spreading flowers of blame and shame ... with these they do business ... with these they raise the doll ... to hit the orange balls in pieces ... while bakermen try to hide these dolls and crimes ... they look so soft ... inviting me to eat the custard 17. Don't touch them, they say, for these bakermen are from the hollow, selling hunger to those in hunger ... They are businessmen of vanilla ... her hidden soldiers ... they are the traps in shark's temple ... Don't touch them, for at the end there will not be a Jesus or a Judas ... only some boys from lynx ... 18. In this strange cocoon ... This Arabian Sea-Cocoon ... such strange creatures are swimming there but at the end boys from lynx ... 19. And then I drink the Tiger's Coffee ... while someone said it doesn't exist only Lion's Tea ... so I spit it out ... trying to just learn to drink Lion's Tea ... I need to get used to it ... Oh, how many bakerman's faces there are ... so many liars and lurers so many swindlers and smugglers all traps in shark's temple 20. Maybe I ... am in such a trap too ... thinking I reached the goal But the goal was another trap This doorway of luxury and life just another trap or is this trap protecting me against something worse ? a worse trap ? 21. What is this for a strange plant ... It's a stinging nettle ... Biological harpoons to draw me away from the danger I had been caught by a shark ... but all these things are just illusions at the end there are no saints no sinners, no escapes, no prisons ... no liberties ... no bondages only some boys from Lynx ... 22. There's a stinging nettle roaring in my body ... shivering between sickness and health ... between sanity and insanity ... but what is what and who is who ... it's in the eye of the beholder ... it's in wasp-tv ... 23. In a shark's temple ... we all drank from the lion's tea ... making our lists of people in traps while we were in the deepest traps ourselves ... we had a red eye, a wasp eye, misleading us ... we were boxers in the arena ... fighting for lies ... drinking from the Lion's Tea to get more drunk ... 24. I need to bite myself through this Lion's Tea ... there is no other way ... I'm still in Shark Temple ... on an Eagle Ship while a lion is flowing through my veins ... doing business it's a dog-machine ... raising the dolls ... hitting orange balls ... they're moving through the cocoons of sleep ... to reach the tables of a new world 25. There's a shark-temple in the desert ... The road to eagle ship ... but it's a trap just protecting you against a worse trap These are orange liars on a ship with bakerman's faces ... but don't touch them .. these lurers ... these misleading lights and fires for at the end ... there will be only some boys from lynx ... 26. It's an ornament, these boys from lynx ... while a white rabbit is dancing bringing them to the pink sun to let them fight against the one without business ... the stinging nettle ... and it grows on eagle ship ... in a barn to eat the boys from lynx ... let me tell you ... this ornament will die ... for the white rabbit likes to wear dead ornaments. 27. Who can defeat the boys from lynx ? Who can destroy their marketsquares ? Only the white rabbit knows ... 28. Vanilla has some planes let me tell you ... these leaves from a stinging plant ... these bakertrees, these forestroads the rabbit knows ... that all life grows in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge roars ... 29. There I found the red shoe, where the bootlaces rule ... There, in an orange ravine, the shoe was born ... No need for business ... everyone is equal ... we are all leaves of a stinging nettle ... 30. I see bakerman's faces running, I see kids playing in the snow .. having orange guns ... with orange liars ... Bakerman's faces have risen from the death ... they attack the boys from lynx ... It's always like that ... when orange strikes the blue and then we are in Shark Temple again ...

Dangerous Tiles

31. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... There's your craddle in a deaf shop, deep down in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge is roaring ... It all started in a rabbit's ear ... Someone forgave us and we got here ... It is all done by prayers ... from a Sharkian Temple ... making the journey to an eagle ship this is all there is ... like a red picnic full of lion's tea ... 32. It was something you drank from an iron shoe in a rabbit's ear ... Still a painting and a statue in a shark's temple ... a strange mirror ... you see yourself ... and all these bakerman's faces ... turning into boys from lynx in that deepest night ... there where she found the coin ... when the orange struck the blue ... 33. Time was just a waste ... but when we would hold the days in our arms ... we wouldn't have time ... then there wouldn't be clocks ... then there wouldn't be mirrors ... 34. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... where someone prayed for us ... where someone forgave us and forgot about us ... and now we're here ... in a sharkian temple ... drinking lion's tea ... It all started here ... in this deep orange ravine ... where the broken bridge was roaring ... what would happen if this rabbit ear would fall off ? 35. Here you found your shoe ... with all these bootlaces roaring in your head like snakes all these forestroads ... in a shark's temple ... leading you ... to the eagle ship ... letting orange strike the blue ... 36. There are men standing in the shark temple ... old statues ... they have fights in the nights holding the black days tight ... 37. It's a strange stinging nettle ... growing from the deepest ravine, that orange ravine heading for the eagle ship ... heading for ... a strange castle ... where everything starts to cry is it another trick of vanilla ? 38. She breaks you without mercy ... when the rabbit ears fall off ... then everything starts to shiver ... I know a castle where everything starts to shiver ... everyone is equal ... so let it circulate ... no blood ... just glue and tears ... 39. Vanilla's island stings, but makes you free ... in a shark temple ...with a wasp eye on it, half closed half open ... also on our heads ... we are prisoners ... never free ... following the hunger to get more hungry ... 40. And the boys from bloodhound with their riches ... they fall when the meaner ones rise ... these creatures were living in them these stinging plants ... and now they are up, tearing their masks away ... they're free ... [b. on a golden picnic.] 41. There are growing strange plants from the orange ravine ... they are the hard men, mean men ... there's no business ... only guns ... They are horrible creatures of arabian seas ... 42. Arabian Seacreatures, these statues in a shark temple ... riding the storm ... 43. These hard men ... do the dance ... do the fire ... they ride everything ... these are hard days ... and you need to hold them ... or the clocks will spin again ... mirroring in the sky ... coming closer ... from the dark sides of the temple in blue glue ... blue glue ... 44. They are predators ... looking for butchers ... making strange leathers in the sky ... they have hidden altars ... the tiles on the ground ... these tiles are dangerous

Truants

45. Blame and shame are weaving the dolls ... while exoduses rise up in them ... giving them good faces ... by business you can only escape by a twoface .. while the truants have orange guns ... 46. Jesus Christ is a businessman ... but I'm a truant ... I don't show up at all God had never sent me out ... I'm a truant .. if you would ever see me ... it's also the last time For I'm the first and the last ... I'm a shark ... 47. They have bred the cyborg ... along a doghedge ... where the fruits of exodus grow ... thorns stinging deep into the skin ... breeding the cyborg ... and at the end of that hedge, a catwoman lives ... breeding the sugar ... while her sister, a white rabbit ... turns it into alcohol ... and then they can cry or laugh themselves to death ... to sink to the bottom of the glass ... [b. They are the two-faced mask of Pharaoh, drowning the boys on heights of shark's temples in golden altars of water ... He baptizes them ...] 48. You must have a two-faced nose to escape ... or just being a truant ... the hard men will do ... when they reach the hard white candy ... The doghedge is my suit ... this strange plant ... growing inside of me, stinging me ... while people are crying and laughing themselves to death ... I feel myself like the lord of dominoes, like a domino of vela, installing the jokes on two sides ... 49. It's an ornament from grandmothers box ... an automaton ... Seven will rise up to bring us over the nightseas ... These are like marchpane, with hard white candy lying inbetween ... It's like a new alphabeth ... and we can live in these letters ...

1. There are beating hearts of wizard's lying on dishes behind the books, there where the chessboards turn around to show you the enchanted mirror ... There are stinging plants in these strange banana hearts ... you start to cry ... 2. These cities are of sand, while jokestatues rise ... They travel without moving, they breath without breathing ... They are leading their own lives inside ... Them with their powdered balloons and powdered smiles ... 3. There are frogships under the sand ... giving them all injections of insurance ... Then the wizardhearts start to shiver ... Pharaoh has a yellowwhite mask, a Paradox ... always the gift of the snake ... 4. While panthers rise from bubbling waters ... I'm heading for Izu ... While it's surrounded by the hard men from the green candy ... bringing me to the Indian Seacocoons ... to the hidden uncle Peacocks ... hidden by vanilla ... [b. her curses stream.] 5. They drink their juices fast and spit their sands ... These are dragons hidden in swamps ... While golden cigars open ... 6. There are hot sticks and stings on fishes ... rising from the ancient seas ... on the wings of dementia ... 7. There's chocolate melting in tight bananas now the pawns are finally free ... stretching their arms in spidersuns ... There's strange leather in eastern skies ... riding the Arabian Horses ... now the pawns can drink their moviejuices ... it's like glue 8. There are strange playcards in the skies ... becoming free behind the books ... They were saved by a vanilla's strike ... while the letters are melting ... becoming sand again ... They can drink from the juices of cartoon ... on this golden picnic's day ... [b. while the griffon is floating ..] 9. They are blind behind the bars of books ... while spiderian swords pierce the eyes ... These were Calvary glasses ... on a cat, hare and dog called easter ... a strange white trident of your local insurance office ... strange trafficlites in your city .. 10. And the squirtel makes strange pictures behind comics and cartoons with a checked white hard candy camera while strange statues paint the skies ... [b. It's August's moon touching August's sun on the twentieth ... [c. while she stops screaming, reaching for december skies.]] 11. There are fishes with striped candystings, floating to Eminius Day. There are boats of sirens with candystings, floating to Eminius Day. While a griffin's boy soothes the hard men by his flute. He's enchanting them again, to let them reach for the viking's helmet. 12. And he said : will you make it, will you name it, you can't, you're off, I'm a lady's tower, you're screaming, I'm bleeding, I am a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. You're dreaming, I did it, I'm a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. 13. There are seven parrots on a stream, showing pictures of icy mountains, under December's Sun, a green one. While a green checked balloon is raking it's moon.

Eminius Day

1. Eminius Day shows the shiny hearts into monkey's chests, entering the bear. Their pyama's are soft, while honey is dripping. 2. There are strange leathers and strange wool in the air. These are the underground cities of dwarves, making her heart so tired. 3. She's cold, lying on the bed. Waiting for Eminius Day. Mother will spin the sugar. Mother will show the sugared red tongues. She's cold while I'm standing on December's Sun, a green one. 4. Then I speak my spells, stinging striped candybars into the boys from lynx. It's a machine, running on strange coins. It's a strange sort of Russian Chess. 5. There are seven judgements on the mouth, on Eminius Day, written by the sword of Thoth. His house is built on candyneedles and candyspears, stinging and breaking the bones. Then the door opens. 6. He's the brother of Jom, waiting for ..Eminius Day. No time to think. It's fourty-one o clock on a Brannan's watch. 7. These snakes break through walls, they are coming from Eminius Day. 8. There are Eminius Eagles in the skies, causing earthquakes, while orange liars rise from zebra boats ... 9. They are coming from December Sun, from green checked balloons ... surrounding the skies. 10. There are two captains on a ship, breaking the spanish warrior who took you away. Michiel Adrianson The Raider, and Piet Hein, stealing his silver. 11. You must swear to keep this a secret, with two vingers raised to Osiris, Uncle Peacock and Uncle Unicorn. 12. The History Warriors bend their knees by moving glue-pictures from history. And I take flight. They have Onion-hearts. I see their arms everywhere. All these history-pictures are just arms moving ... arms of a strange tiger ... rippling in december skies ... 13. There are strange syrops in the air of docters ... bringing history back ... Watch their pictures on the wall and start to bend. 14. Watch these moving pictures flying, with the wings of dementia .. It's coming from the trees .. moving mosaics ... 15. Watch these ornaments of glue ... 16. There's strange glue coming out of businessmen noses ... pictures of glue ... moving pictures ... coming from history ... waiting to be sold ... to live in someone's head or knee ... 17. Watch the prices ... so many sacrifices for a picture ... These are strange traffics ... these are strange arms grasping and holding tight ... 18. There are octopuses living in someone's head for halve of the price ... There are strange auctions ... Cuyornaida CorsetStrange games ... They are spreading their arms ... while the winner ..eats them all ... 19. The winner becomes a million-armed spider in a sun ... December Sun ... There are wild cats in Izu ... with noses dripping of tea ... while they eat the pictures ... creating your futures on martian hills ... Mars in Izu ... 21. So much pain covered up by the black checked blankets of tax and chess, while the birds of insurance pick up their Jesus Christ to let them ascend in their heavens ... These .. are the bakerman's faces .. 22. The History Warriors walk slowly with little lights towards the city of bakermen ... They are masking the screams, behind feathered masks in two colours, having a split laugh ... 23. Bakermen are dancing before their mirrors in their corridors ... moving their strange masks, and making funny faces ... they are hiding their screams ... 24. The skies become of silver, and then the bakers start to eat ... all these History Warriors with their little lights ... They are bringing these warriors to a soft spot inside Here the Vanilla Queen thrones ... 25. They are eating the historybooks with the moving pictures of glue ... while Vanilla surrounds them ... hiding the future behind ... She even eats the boys from Lynx to spit the red fires ... 26. While they are spread by the smoke, the Varia Bird rises ... showing the rainbowbananas ... so many roads to ride on ... Letters from a mailman's heart ... with so many birds of insurance ... these birds of uncle unicorn ... 27. And these children, they have the wings of dementia ... these wild cats of lapoendria ... seeing the candy in the pictures ... a thick layer on every street ... They don't see the horror ... for it's covered by the layers of tax, business and chess ... with the cream of democracy ... they feel free in their games ... They only remember their names in thick letters. 28. They are safe in the arms of uncle unicorn ... 29. They only see the wars in bottles of history far away on the attics of their grandparents .. behind moving walls ... of strange cupboards with strange paintings ... 30. They bought their pictures in old cigarshops. Pictures with so many layers of glue, named after the old kings. 31. And these old kings live in their own worlds of dementia ... using soldiers to win their wars ... these bottles so far away ... these redblue soulbottles. 32. They all live in lapoendria ... the world of dementia ... where these wild cats saved me. 33. On the corner of a dark street, before the alley, Willem One to Five was sitting, having silver warriors inside ... These are the kings of soulbottles striped, in redgreen, greenorange and greenblue. 34. On comiccorners they live ... tied to the coins of history ... strange cowboys ... 35. Tied and glued screams covered by candylayers, while you only hear a soft voice showing you the pictures ... There are strange flies lying on our eyes raking. Wild cats know how to get the snakes out of the eggs ... 36. Willem One to Five ... still a strange taxmachine spouting insurances ... coming from the chessboard .. black and white .. While thick democracies roar it doesn't sting anymore ... 37. You can get born in it ... a boy called birthday lives inside ... on a birthdaytart with little lights ... spinning glue Five layers on the picture ... while the sixth brings the silver ... the seventh the gold 38. There's tax spinning inside, making strange films of history ... There are many layers of an onion ... It's coming from golden cigars, from three clauses : santa clause, summer clause and easterclause. 39. 1. decembers cold nights brought the watermarks on my face ... decembers horrors ... the wasp's tattoo ... all from the wasplake ... 2. decembers spoon hit the waspmark on my leg and someone was feeling my pulse there in that old forest ... now the kids can never come alive again 2. it was an old priest with some sacred marks ... but these were too sacred so no one really survived 3. and this forest is still enchanted ... like virgo's church ... even the fishes are drowning in the pond ... and the candyhouses are bitter there it's all grey and green ... 4. the watermark still on my head the snake is doing business ... he's still breeding his watermarks there now we work in his factories and the curse is getting heavier every year ... it's like farao's hand so we are waiting for some plagues ... 5. it's the invisible debt business makes the beans so sharp so now we're watching the sideshows ... the eyes of the wasps ... for when the dog is home ...it will start to eat your furniture ... and finally yourself and your family ... laying the chain forever ... they can be dangerous criminals another don't want to have around 6. Tatoos on dry places ... The watermarks know where they can suck ... Thick gel on thin places ... The crocodile knows it's paths ... 7. Conspiracies of the damned ... They are all heading for each other ... 8. It's all getting clear through the eyes of a wasp ... But no one wants to leave it this way 9. Real pride doesn't exist, In the heart of the liar, Real honour doesn't meet his mouth It's only some wood of fear, blowing away his consciousness ... and something else is taking him over 10. They are too afraid to live ... They are too afraid to touch When all the curses are installed ... They start to deny everything ... To cover up the wounds ... To cover up your screaming child inside So that no one will ever see ... and no one can really help you ... Barbed Wire Hearts 11. They try to let you feel insecure ... for they could never feel the blessing of pride ... They are barbed wire hearts, they are liars from the beginning, sent out to make you one of them ... 12. They knock until your fragile mind opens up ... And then they slowly slide away ... leaving a pipeline for a daily suck When you give them your heart, They will let it fall ... And soon you will be one of them for you cannot use your heart anymore you're a barbed wire heart too ... 13. Is there any spell to reverse this curse ? Yes, when Jesus will betray Judas with a barbed wire kiss But that already happened hundred years ago in the heart of London, when James Bond auctioned his golden rabbit among the clocks 14. The one of the biggest ridicule, The one with the trademark-condoms, The one with the coldest touch, The one with the diplomatic sleep-pills, The one with the copyright-assistants, The one with the careful curses, Has the keys of this machine. 15. It's the sports Journalist, with razorsharp money, having razorsharp records, running in the middle of bald heads ... It's the game's capitalist, It's sunday's Scrooge in a rotten church, It's your mental brigade to identify flying objects unexpected, It's your bridegroom on a purple rose, It's your liar's doctor on a cold summernight, It's your mother's leather dog-chain. 16. The waterlights are heading for ... the light in the pocket ... They have seen light ... Now they are hungry ... 17. A world of elves cannot save you this time ... For now it's something worse ... Your mother's worst put in chess She's drinking a cup, and you think it's filled with your blood, but you don't know it for sure ... It can also be your neighbour's blood ... Her agenda's are never clear ... 18. You always live like you're not knowing what she exactly cooked for you ... Strange dinners from a mother's heart and now you're sick of it 19. No one can help you when mother makes her cruel decisions ... It's like your last joker has been blown away by the wind ... And all the shops are closed today Now your waiting for the night ... Mother's night For the strike of her nails .. The Waterlights are heading for the pocket ... 20. Those waterlights ... in the night ... They have smelled something ... Some pale purple roses ... Now they are up for some barparties ... While no one can save you ... While no one knows you .. You are a stranger in your own land now ... And you even don't know where you are anymore ... For the waterlights have come Waterlights in tall delights Tall insectians ... too tall too tall to feel safe ... 21. It was your mother's worst put in chess ... Now the waterlights, these tall delights are heading for your home ... It seems like mom pushed a bell the worst bell, worse than a million schoolbells ... It seems she was in problems, So now she made this choice ... Or was it an accident ? You don't know ... for her agenda's aren't clear And her diaries are dark too dark to read You wouldn't bear it if you would know what she's all writing about you It's your moms worst put in chess It's like you sit on electric chairs all through the house. 22. But hey, come on, read it another time, and you will not be so shocked ... for time heals all wounds ... well, but ... they might want to take over your moms occupation ... to become your next horror ... that even one day you will beg for those old waterlights again ... your moms worst put in chess ... your last flame on a birthday's cake 23. But hey, you will survive death ... there are worse things than that this old curses chessboard ... which raped your whole family without pardon where it swallowed all colours away where it set it's arena's ... still an advertisement-clip roaring in your head ... Razorsharp like hell, dressed in old rags, She's still playing the widow ... painting the wet blue faces from the Big Coffee ... all these statues ... A woman with intelligence is a pearl in your hand ...24.

Awakening the wasp, the ornament's transmission ... In pale purple screams the crime appears ...
Awakening the wasp, awakening the fears ... to trace the ladders inside on a woman's thick coffeepanties.

1. Pictures drawn by the trauma, A boy having sharp arrows on his back, An autistic boy ... Hunting the black deer ... It's not you anymore ... someone else took the job ... He heard your scream of the black past ... and now he wrapped himself in the deerskin ... 2. He's weaving new languages on your face ... Your senses were tricked so deeply but now he takes you out of the illusion ... when the red stinging nettle clock ticks ... deep in the forest surrounded by waspnests ... then we will see the big "most" ... it was all ...deeper inside making us all deaf to the lie ... the good mask just melts ... when the wings are spread ... when the feather-pencil rules ... while the persons are raging above your head ... in their unknown languages ... you're just a victim from a war in the air ... from an old birdnest ... from an ancient war you're just an object in their eyes no one really knows about what the wars are raging it's an ancient war high in the air ... it's rising above your head ... so let it go 3. Black Spring from the ornament's ring ... Black lights so thin so thin Sinister shadows in the night ... Aldebaran birds, with their big eyes ... They make the tragedy so thick they can be your best friends ... but the day after they are your worst enemies ... 4. Aldebaran birds, so soft and so tender ... so weak and so fragile ... Aldebaran birds, but you can never touch them ... for they have the lion's spoon inside ... ready to attack you ... Aldebaran birds, they cry through the nights .. like they are old widows in the snow ... behind bars and thick glass ... for the rest of your life they are birds of tantalos creating the dream ... to let you miss it ... 5. These aldebaran birds ... like everlasting damnation ... aldebaran birds ...

3. She was tied to the book, the stories were too heavy to bear, she was a book statue, a prisoner, standing there all these years. On the back of a book, sucking the life out of her, again and again, She was fragile as a butterfly, spreading the green tomatoe seeds. ... And she wanted you to read the stories, so that she could catch you in her net ... So that she could wrap her wings around you, and sucking you deeper inside, while you were turning the pages ... 2. She wanted to hurt you ... she wanted to break you ... to bring you into her world ... So that you would see ... the dragon's tears ... the tears she couldn't bear anymore ... She was tied to the book, a prisoner ... of a green dragon ...

And she said : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to take you into my world, So read all the stories, for I cannot bear them anymore ... these green tomatoe seeds ... I'm still a whore ... a slave of a green dragon 3. They call me the whore of babylon, they call me a two-faced harlot, they say I am the seed of devils, but I'm behind dragon bars ...4. You cannot touch me, I'm only there to view ... I am a movie of tantalos ... a movie of a vanilla desert ... [b. Who mixes vanilla tears with banana tears gets the gold.]. 5. A toy hidden on a cupboard too high ... by a green dragon's lie ... Green dragon tears are falling, his books are almost exploding, the memories of his heart ... He needs some guests to read it, there in that old bookshop, So that he can make them prisoner of his books ... 6. Bookstatues they will be, tied on the back of his memories, his diaries,so they can catch his tears, and bring them to the other side of the world ... [b. And the one mixing the vanilla with the banana makes the gold.] 7. Butterflies are flying, butterflies are crying, butterflies are dying ... entering the other side of the world ... bearing the green dragon's tears ... stories too heavy for them, they are tied to these wings, only letting them fall ... and now they are called fallen angels ... by a green dragon's lie ... 8. There are yellow dragon's prisoners ... coming from the south, from the other side of the world, they march, They are the slaves of yellow tomatoe seeds, the tears of a yellow dragon ... 9. there are waspian wars in their heads. And she sais : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to see you bleed, want to see you shattered, so that you can enter my world, to see the tears of a green dragon, the tears I cannot bear ... until they reach vanilla desert ... a yellow stone, freezing them, they are icecream soldiers having the mark of the wasp where the waspian dragons breed them, where they have their soft wet candles ... to be candlestatues .. to burn their books again ... becoming swindling whores again, winning all the games, these swindler's games ... 10. casino's cabman was his name ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... they are swindlers to survive ... they lie to each other ... they are green liars in a boat ... a boat with wheels, with shrieking boys clocks ... casino's cabman is the statue on the front of their ship ...smiling ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... a two faced bed ... having their loves and their fights ... still warstatues becoming business statues in the night ... they are night troupers only touching each other ... by the flame of a dragon's castle ... 11. She's a tear letting others cry ... She's a death letting others die ... She's everything, having no possessions ... She's free ... She's a Green Dragon's Lie ...

3. And I see yellow liars standing on tops of ships. The mummy is rising, and all banks are closed. There is war now, and soon the pickpocks will come to bring the wounded coins to the bank, the yellow hospital. When they sleep the war's lost, and tea will bring them to business to do the war under the skin ... Here they sting with their needles under soft blankets, while spanish suns blind the screams. 4. There are yellow liars on an orange stream. She's selling her Jesus Christs to the mouths of mice ... strange coins of a strange lady ... with a strange smell .. 5. She took them from the battlefields ... wounded ... and now she brought them back to the bank strange sacrifices on strange altars ... 6. At one o'clock Aquarius enters the dining room with a golden pear in his hand You cannot eat it, he says, but you can watch it, while your nuclear hunger is melting away tricks of the stomache The fat boy is getting fatter, and his head is getting greener and bigger while spitting green fire 7. A glass is spreading nuclear water, but Aquarius sends it away. Go to your room ! he roars. He's the master of nuclear dreams. 8. My grandfather is shivering under the table where he found a little chemical orange, escaped from a lawyer's suite. Please, jump into me, the little thing roars, then I will take you away Grandfather is getting smaller by the magic of the little orange, and there he disappears into the orange It is a little radio inside It flies from city to city to spread the chemical disease. It is a trap 9. There are orange liars ... rising from it ... I'm feeling like Pinocchio feeling the juices of his tree flowing through my body I look at my hands again ... it's like they are turning into lion's claws ... what the heck are you doing to me, I roar It's like I have a million of claws I'm looking at the fir again, but now an old tall and slender man is standing there with a tall beard I'm the wizard of the Lion's Tea, he says Oh help, my whole body is changing into a lion now And I feel the lion's tea streaming from my own heart now 10. It's five o'clock in the night It's silent in the dining-room No firs, no lions the little golden pear of Aquarius is ticking on the table It's ticking very soft and slow It's soothing my head I see all my fears and hurt melting away, spiralling into the golden pear 11. I'm still crying, but all my tears slide into the golden pear, melting away I can only hear their echoes, but it's all fading away all these roaring lions There's a lion carved in the golden pear but I also see other animals carved into it It's a beautiful golden pear It smells like pear-chocolate It reminds me of the white chocolate It also reminds me of the last golden swan 12. Eleven o'clock in the morning The pear-clock is ticking louder and louder, faster and faster Twelve o'clock in the afternoon The pear-clock explodes The end of a white chocolate dream or was it an orange chocolate ? About this the war rages Chocolate Wars 13. I'm dreaming of an Egyptian Boat, Riding in a new sort of factory ... Feeling Thoth's smoke in my back Dragons dreams I'm dreaming of a sun, standing between ten mirrors ... Ten men coming from the sun, Ten men to do the dance, They kidnapped us all, They brought us all the cards But those who don't believe, Will be home this night At the end of the story, I know it seems strange, The mailman is the eleventh, The eleventh of ten Ten men with big grey beards Ten Noah's on a tower Ten Noah's on an Egyptian Boat An Ark for plants 14. It seems I'm in the Lion's Confusion again I'm drinking from the Lion's Tea A woman called Marion is feeding me She loves the Red Rose She loves me She has ten men painted on her hat Trees grow on her hat, and all sorts of herbs and plants Her face is like the yellow flower That good old Licorice Still the gardener of our squares Still our hope to touch the moon Having ten little men on his white gloves The ten fingers of Toth I'm feeling his smoke in my back These are dragon dreams These are cigars of Pharaoh 15. let our masks make us hard again, while we get softer inside ... we're building marchpane town ... Give us our pink white trousers back ... and let our hearts sink in milk again, while masks and towers are rising ... 16. Where the chessboards are red ... [b. the roses are red too ... and also the ghosts ... You're in a red golden ball. [c. Where the chessboards are blue ... you are blue too ...]] 17. If you want to change the world ... You must change your view first You're in a red golden ball ... 18. Gabriel had fallen. He had fallen away from so many things, when he found out about the offer. 19. Gabriel had fallen, for he found out about his own inner strategy, his own path, and made the decision to break with them. He found out that he didn't want to bring this sacrifice. 20. Yes, he would take over this planet [b. And yes he would destroy the mice.] 21. And he would destroy them, his former friends. He went to a lady, a scorpion's lady. Now he wanted to make this planet red. 22.

Gabriel had fallen away from so many pleasures. 23. Now he wanted to be red again ...red again. Gabriel had fallen away from so many treasures. Now he wanted to be glorious again. 24. He heard about the sacrifice they needed to bring ... He would never enter, and now he found out about this new record, this new machine, inside. He didn't need them anymore. 25. They were always red, appearing in blue and white, building the green. His own red, he would introduce it on the green. 26. His father Troxododeron was a chemical fluid, a force binding the powers of the green together for so many histories. It was a red fluid appearing blue and white. It was the strongest force in the universe, the strongest form of magnetism based on a circle of the strongest poles. 27. Troxododeron was the chief of the Elohim, the inner power of the Adonais. He was the chief of all these red flowerfields, so enchanted. [b. But these red cowboys were always hiding behind the bottles.] 28. When you looked at it, it started to become blue and white, sucking away your energies, and giving you a new sight ... the sight of illusion ... These flowers were vampiristic ... These flowers were ... bewitched and enchanted ... to bring you into a new feeling ... these red flowerfields ... 29. Gabriel had to travel through all these flowerfields again, to the end ... where it all began ... He knew the dangers of these flowers, turning themselves against all traitors ... 30. It would be a battle between him and his father a battle he knew he had to fight since he was young ... Red Gabriel was a demon now, in the eyes of the Elohim and Adonais ... 31. He would be thrown into the lake of sulphur and fire ... A lake which he feared ... but he would reach the other side ... where he could share the red powers to the creatures of the green ... 33. He found out he was a prisoner himself .. He wanted to be his own god, he wanted to be a good guide for the creatures of the green, telling them all about the red secrets ... 34. He had this tape in his hand, Antartica, a game of business. It was a present of his father, but now he chose to change this game into a wargame. He wanted more adventure, and he wanted more love. 35. He desired to have true friendships with those prisoners on the green, and finding a way to lead them out. 36. Troxododeron was a shapeshifting experiment, growing out to be the number one of chemicals. It was the medicine of wizards. But now Gabriel wanted to mix it into another kettle. [b. He went to a scorpion's lady. She didn't tell him who she was, but she said she could help him. [c. It was the first woman of Troxododeron. [d. She also fell out of the kingdom, and was now a fallen angel with the name Rahab. She was a scorpion from the sea, a mystical creature.]]--] 37. Gabriel had found himself some lovers. A bit of Troxododeron was laying on the table like ashes. [b. A bit of Troxododeron was in their hands, and they saw it was molding at a fast speed ... She had a scorpion's egg He had his own red, and they threw it into a kettle, while she was speaking her curses, and they made love [c. ... while the water was boiling, while the egg was screaming, and Troxododeron started to enter the fragile layers of the egg ... [d. The egg was weeping, while Gabriels Red was surrounding the new picture There was lightening and thunder, and stars were falling. It was the fall for many started to hear the voice of Red Gabriel.] --] 38. There were falls of angels, and even elohims and adonais started to fall, for Red Gabriel started to speak. Even his brother, Red Michael started to fall down, and turned to his brother, [b. while the egg's voice became higher and higher ... blood came out of their ears, and a red bible was lying before them.] 39. Yes, father, that is what I'm dreaming of these sheep ... leading me through red flowerfields ... until I'm in the red bedroom ... a red bedroom [b. and finally they will be ... sheep in the pasture ... which the red one will do ...] 40. Michai will do ... There will be a man from the south ... and then the blue son will rise to build it's throne forever ... [b. The blue sun will rise, in silver and gold, to build it's throne forever.] 41. This man will ride the snakes Snakes will come and snakes will go ... He will tame them all and ride them into the hands of his mother Metensia42. There was a man called Michai, the Mystery ... building a kingdom on the sun ... Messiah from the Troiade ... [b. The book of books, the father book of the bible It's the Red Bible] 43. He will speak his words in thunder, opening and closing the iron portals by seals of thunder ... And some will not be allowed to speak ... He makes silence and noise whenever he wants ... 44. He's the red balloon, [b. the man of scorpios.] 45. He speaks languages sideways the portals Ancient languages of the Red Waters Holding a Red Secret close to it's hearts 46. He has a trident of horns on his head He speaks in water blue and blood red He is Michai ... [b. They will burn the deserts ...] 47. The red eye is burning, the eye of sodom is here .. wandering from gomorrah to jericho ... oh jericho rise up, and gather the red ... who will be on top of the temple. 48. Herodes was cursing on his throne He was throwing women in a pit ... He was under Sodom's Curse but now his Michai was rising, his statue of red liberty, with seven torches in his hand making the swallow so hot ... He's the king of spice All these birds from cigarette, they sing so high ... they let the kettle boil over ... creating the orphan's song ... 49. How many songs of Jericho does it take to rise the foundling ... to build the bridge to Draminia ... 50. The guitar will do .. these men are jukeboxes ... golden statues ... Put the Icecreams against the hot ones chocolate ... Melting is just making music ... 51. It all happens on a red chessboard the wizards surrounding the castles ... The guitar of wonder will lead us over the river ... they were all prisoned .. in kisses of death ... 52. The records turned red on that day, the rivers turned blood ... Hot in the North, cold in the South ... while a musical box was rising from the red chessboard ... It was a matter of melting and freezing ... while a little ballerina was dancing on top ... 53. On that day when the chocolates were melting ... the face of the frog appeared ... a red face ... the queen found her toy back ..finding out she wasn't queen anymore ... the toad was sitting in the dining room of little aquarius ... with a golden dish and a golden grail while the plate- statue was a golden lion ... 54. The cooks were all frozen, doing strange dances ... Dorothee found out she wasn't a woman anymore ... She had to swim through one almost frozen river ... to reach the tops of a new island ... where she would be tall and stretching would she be tall enough to realize what she was now ? tall emotions moving like snakes ... she was flexible now ... not frozen anymore ... 55. Night troupers march to darker nights, touching smaller parts, surrounding the men they call men ... While the red chessboard is melting ... the eye-rag of a pirate ... He's drinking ... and paint is dripping in his head again ... to let him be in another world ... There are fireworks in his head ... and then he goes to sleep, waking up in another world ... 56. He's dreaming of his lost son ... while he finds out he isn't a man anymore ... but a darker creature 57. You're made of songs, while the heat is climbing on the ladder, touching the high bells, for the high songs. You're made of songs and cigarettes, while sunmilk's oil is easing your skin .. It is your skin, these are your comics .. The wasps made such an art ...58. Their alarms are on ... since Red Gabriel is falling ... He's out of the game now ... He has a body of small noses, small gates like smoke alarms .. he walks ... while taking flight on a golden bird .. melting under his body ... he has to fly alone now ... waiting for that last last dive ... to the red island ... he survives ... 59. These are the songs you like ... They take you over fragile bridges ... the red ones ... While you are touching the soft wild fires ... moving wild over your skin ... You are covered now. ... [b. It's melting on your feet, these shoes.] 60. Songcar is riding on the railroads ... but trains cannot crash it ... for it's the third day with sunmilk's oil streaming on your skin ... 61. On so many pillars this city was built pillars of tears for a new Babylon Such a beautiful story ... and you don't know it ... you're just waking up to it ... On that Third Day while guitars are raging through the night ... 62. We're heading for Edom, for Esau's City ... for neon lights ... for soft lights of the water ... We're sinking in red flowerfields ... The rose is sharp, the insides are soft ... Smell the roses by your body ... and wake up to the third day ... 63. Esau, Esau, where did you hide in red heat things are so small ... and we have dashboards in our heads ... If you want to change the world ... You must change your view first You're in a red golden ball ... 64. They fly where all faces are covered by strange songs ... Like plastic implants from the Big Toy ... you start to cry ... These are all bakerman's faces ... carrying the songs which will bring you through the night They are the cooks of frogs and toads ... 65. These women are tied by red tapes, waiting for the big strike ... their abyss has been closed by the angel of the abyss, a devil has been thrown in their pit ... They are looking for death ... but they cannot find it ... She has purple boots, and she's staring at the green. She's too deep, she is my mother ... but she doesn't have a head anymore for the abyss is locked up now by a red key 66. She's staring at the green, she's staring at me ... We are all on a red chessboard while the Night Troupers are watching They have strange songs in their cheeks Raiders come from their eyes ... on that third day ... 67. It's spiralling from the Red Eye ... Sodom's Eye ... and we are in this whirlpool, swimmingpool, masterpool In strange racecars we ride riding the stories, on old records the lambsteeds sit ... She's smoking the fairytales This is the world of feelings, so strong it claims your mind ... to possess and possess like hot chocolate, having raiders darker than men ...

So many liars in their ships The pride of the red dragon but he's still ... staring at someone lying more than him. ... 10. 1. Thick cold juices are streaming through the street, the guitar of the snake is their leader, echoing the frightening cries of old forgotten orphans. 2. The stiletto-guitar wakes them up again, and they are marching out of their graves, out of the forgotten graveyards, looking for revenge. No one listened to them when they were young. Now they are old and bitter, looking for the toys they never had, searching for the wine they never drank. 3. They were forgotten, now they will forget. I burnt the flags of rat-armies, drank the tears of bleeding apples. I fought against the forgotten sun, and the lost caves, but it didn't seem to bring me across the river of death. Only the snake could do. 4. The Italian orphan is bleeding, painting his memories by his blood. With the hat of his father, he collects money for his art. 5. His feet are bleeding, leaving red footprints in the sand, for his birds to follow. He was born like a pirate, a toy-pirate. He was the red pawn of a chess-board of angels. Now his father screams at him from heaven. 6. Still he runs through the rain with his fathers hat, in which he collects the old widowers from the streets. He doesn't want to let them die in the cold. 7. The numbers are floating in his mind and he's breathing fire, spitting ice. 8. Baker, spin your wine, baker, cover your liqueurs with rags. You, father of french orphans, you, father of jaguar queens, you bred the snake to it's length and stole the tower from the church by a black rat-glove in the snow. 9. Your wife was the black widow, the clock of the broken tower, and you painted the noses of your tiny little killer-puppets. They didn't need a line, didn't need a thread, they could walk with their own minds, you bred them well. 10. You are entering the chinese city, sailing on your purple golden boat, spun licorice. The old man will greet you from his rocking-chair on the balcony of his wooden house at the bank of the chinese river of licorice-waves. You are shaking hands with the golden giants of the chinese dreams. You never thought this would happen to you. 11. In the heart of this place you find the last golden swan. You feel it's heat bumping against the thick walls of your hand, and it's warmth is gliding into your soul, waiting for a new sunset ringing in your mind. 12. You, oh prince, still your mothers last black pearl, turning from brown into white, hovering to enter a new story in japan. 13. Among the jaguars was your place, now you are wearing their suits and riding their cycles, watching the teeth of jupiter, the birth of new rats. 14. Your jackets are getting taller, your fathers whispers are getting sharper in your mind. You can peel your mothers flowers, carrying the widower's coffin. 15. The last golden swan is beating in the old purple leather bag of your mothers aunt. A little clock is located in the head of the swan, made by the black widow. 16. She is the queen of killer-clocks, creating killer-birds from an old french window. 17. The red eye of the little swan is flashing, it's a little red chrystal. I take it out of it's head, and the clock quits his travels. Now the serpent can sleep. 18. His dreams are gliding through the waters of the swan-lake, bringing him back to where he comes from. 19. I wrap the little gem in a soft towel throwing it in the yellow sea, where a mermaid starts to scream at me. Is it me who's screaming, a reflection of myself, or is it really a mermaid. 20. Do I hear voices in my head, or is a milkmaid standing before the door of my room ? She broke in twice while I was sleeping, and took my cats away. 21. Now she is standing at the yellow sea screaming in unknown languages. Fortune fairytales were coming from her lips and she ate fishes to shut their threats, to shut the old voices of foreign fables. She could turn the weather in a moment. 22. Threehundred and eighty-four rats are surrounding the castle of the red dragon, wearing the blue jaguar on their flags. Japanese delights are their specialities. Their kitchens are full of green moss. The forests are so shiny here. 23. The prince's eyes bleed, the swanlake is speaking to his mind again. The yellow princess, still hiding his tears. 24. What really happened there, in the swanlake, there, at the bottom of his broken dreams ? 25. Mummified by flower-comics. There, at the swanbridge, she brought her mummified man, sacrificing him to the red dragon. The comics were aching his mind, for they were dipped in poison. He's still reading his comics, speaking in a strange language again. 26. Sixty comics are entering his mind again, planting the red eye in his head. His mind is screaming, his heart is releasing and he hears the sharp voice of the baker again. 27. He's getting swivel-eyed again. He's reaching for his inner child, this man in jail. He's feeling his ring feeling his finger. 28. It's stinging and pinching him. He feels his ring is reading his comics too, and he's ashamed of himself. He's diving at a new ring, a blue one, but he can't reach it because of the waves. 29. He feels and breathes his grandfather's smoke of a pipe, and he's trying to break the bars which separate him from his inner child. 30. A battle against a million of rings start, but his mind starts to fade away. One moment he finds himself running between the bars, and he starts to realize that the bars aren't the problem anymore, for between them there is a gate. 31. All colors start to jump on him, but he breaks these waves one by one, catching them with his back. 32. In the mills of his mind, they find a way out and enter his heart to stir up some new troubles. 33. On the other side of the bars, they seemed to be rats, and he mutates with them, racing out of the castle on a friend's feather. 34. Darkness and fogs are fading away. A new day starts. 35. Four skaters are skating at the lake, picking up an old red doll, lying in the snow. He's leaving a world under the ice. 36. Paper soldiers are dragging the waterholes. She's leaving. He's leaving a world under the ice. 37. He's floating in the air, the red doll is smiling, meeting skaters in the air, reaching an arch of ice above the stars. He's leaving another world in the ice. 38. Under the ice, it starts to boil, until an enormous explosion splits the atmosphere in a myriad of splinters, all raging at the fat red lady in the midst of the universe. 39. The red rainbow looks in her mirror again, seeing a face fading away. She smiles, watching a dream coming to it's end. Now she can sleep again without worries. 40. She dries her wet clothes, rolls through the white sand, entering the forests of her dreams, waiting for another split, waiting for another world to leave in the ice. 41. She's leaving one shoe, leaving one glove, to finally enter her golden bath, without looking backwards, watching straight ahead, without bowing her head, every step is silver, every breath is gold, entering the marble galleries of her forgotten dreams. 42. She remembers again, she breaths, like a new born baby. 43. She's wearing the silver secrets of the jaguar under her arms, captured in three silver books. Smoke covers the city, the orange swivel-eyed phoenix is rising from the ashes, carrying a jaguar, a lemon and a red doll on her back, leaving thick moisty juice-stripes in the air, flying to new eternities. 44. A seven-headed orange dragon called Jesus, wearing seven crowns, is entering the first silver book of the jaguar, eating the letters and purple pictures out of the book. 45. A seven-headed orange snake called Esau, wearing seven pointy hats, is fishing the brown warm shoes out of the second silver book of the jaguar. 46. They are all kings of the dawn, kings of the orange morningstar.

11. 1. Chapter to raise the Easterclause-Balloon. To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... I'm finally sitting behind my piano again ... after all these ages ... But I still can't sing 2. A giant took my voice when I was a kid My brother screamed when he took my voice out of my chest Neither my brother sang ever again since that day ... [b. He only played the piano to calm my heart] 3. The bird in my brother's chest died of sorrow the day the giant took my voice away ... 4. The juices dripping from my piano are echoing through the night 5. I still hear the footsteps of the giant walking up the stairways His steps echoing in the night reaching for the bed where I sleep 6. The giant has three daughters ... Their voices echoing through the cities ... Their movements echoing through the tv's of the houses You can see everything they do ... [b. And what they do ... is not so nice] 7. My brother's bird is chained there, sitting on a wooden stick ... It has to sing for them day and night On sundays the bird has to preach for them And reading from some old black books with silver pages [b. I'm kidnapping one of the giant-daughter's spinningwheel and race through Jupiter's Mirror heading for the old suit-shop] 8. Their voices echoing through the streets ... [b. I can't believe it, they are speaking about me They are singing their songs, echoing through the radios of the city ...] 9. It's all about me ... His daughters span the voices in their coins The ancient legendary rich ... The ancient legendary misers ... I wondered how they got that rich [b. There where schooltime was a bird's funeral They burnt my bird in their attics] 10. I remember your face, teacher Like yesterday's hell The keys to the answers lay on my dish ... Why didn't you tell me you were just a good baker ? Baking strange bread with diamonds inside ... 11. You could be my friend if you would tell me earlier You have a wonderful world inside ... Why didn't you tell me you were the white rabbit ? Why didn't you tell me my name was alice ? We would be the best friends [b. But would that bring back my little bird ?] 12. A staggers-cat called Herod joins the group He's on his way to Bethlehem to see a new pupil ... But he first has to buy himself a new coin-suit Tonight the phoenix will rise from the ashes of bethlehem your little bird he sais 13. I feel my throat tingle ... I'm getting my voice back ... You have to talk nonsense he sais For you saw this was the only way to find the answer to get your bird back 14. I got the staggers in my head, and I saw the truth It exists, It exists It's all true We are all in the cage of denial But nonsense is free running in the fields of dreams 15. I'm thanking my teachers for bringing me back to the dream They teached me to speak nonsense while being serious with a tight face It's the face of the coin who can do this ... for people need it to buy their bread ... Another mark of the beast ... To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... 16. I know soon there will be a storm taking creatures away to Oz 17. I didn't know you were a staggercat ... If you would have said it earlier, we could have much fun together But it's ok then I would have missed all these awesome and wonderful books of my teachers All these wonderful cards 18. There my head appears on a playcard They say these cards are the judges of the universe ... We are all standing in a circle ... Waiting for the moon to bath us in silver It's the gathering of the stagger-cards turning worlds upside down 19. The circle starts to spin In these tornado's the stagger-insects are born Deliriums Their speeches can't be followed They are the whispers of the universe [b. The three daughters of the giant know all about it They spin these whispers their whole life Wars of the playcards] 20. These insects appear on the banknotes and bills of society ... Their signatures enchant the world ... Without speaking their nonsense no one can understand you and you can't understand them 21. The old staggercat is mixing some old dictionaries in his kettle preparing a new language Some old ears through the mix Some old tv's and radios And even some old shoes 22. I see little fat men walking on the ceilings They have big hats and white faces Buddhas are coming out of their hats, floating in bubbles to the floor ... I know the faces of these men They all have the same face The face of the greengrocer White Fruits from Vega-South The Arabian Mistress is speaking ... Her eyes are like a tiger or a lion The rest of her face is covered by a white decorated veil 23. An Egyptian king is speaking nonsense to his people ... they all nod yes ... in big fevers for his face is on their banknotes My hand is sliding to my gun These tunnels are pretty dark and dangerous I won't take no any risk ... There I slide into a river called Cat's Fever The dogs are swimming here ... 24. The gnat's fever is a pretty one ... Neon-Glue is running through my body ... 25. The wasp's fever ... Like reading ... It's softer here in the deeper cores of earth than I thought ... 26. Finally I drink from alice's tea watching the nonsense of the tiger My tongue is falling out I get a new one Here I see another Lion Fever I got to weave my way to the Chrystal of Delirium deeper in the center of the clock ... I want to know Babel's secret ... The tongue of confusion 27. A cat called confusion is knocking at my doors I beg him to confuse me, to create chaos in my head For the brightness in my head hurts me so deep The lies in my head scream so loud I want to get a good fever and to go to bed Oh, how I want to learn another language This language is breaking my hat ... 28. Turn my world upside down for I'm living in a box of lies 29. I will give you the fever of a radio ... he sais His chaos is softly roaring in my head ... soothing my heart and hat the frightening tinned soldiers fall down out of my head's cupboards ... 30. Deep in the center where all the clock-hands cross I saw his face The comic-cat There where they drink comic-juice There where the teachers ask questions in unknown languages There where no translation exists [b. A cartoon-cat is ticking on my shoulder I see a sick child more beautiful than a lion schoolsick] 31. Feeling the snake's split tongue bubbling in my mouth again ... The only way to escape the land of the split talk is to talk the split talk ... 32. I had a teacher who always asked me where I was talking about when I repeated his own words Three big little blind girls, a Triplets, are knocking on my door ... bringing me a little fir ... Then they disappear diving into the sea ... changing into whales The secret of the trident Feeling a Three-Tongue burning in my mouth 33. Trident Wars in Egypt's Piramid Insects of the trident-sting ... Grandparents of the wasp ... 34. Where am I talking about ? I'm fainting in the classroom again [b. and Easterclause brings us always to Holidayclause.] 35. Your nightmares were there to serve you To bring you out of the nonsense into the dream-world where you are free [b. Here you can drink the juices of fairground I am the master and creator of all fairgrounds] 36. I recorded all his teachings backwards I heard the most wonderful fairytales 37. Question-languages are running through my mind ... reaching for the apples of my heart But I don't hear anything The big ear is closing the shop ... he will go to sleep when he's home ... His wife is kissing him, giving him today's sail-magazine 38. When he goes to sleep he will dream about ships This is the only thing he cares about Tomorrow he will go for a trip around the world, sailing the oceans He's finally retired on a pension now 39. After working so long in the sailor's shop ... Tomorrow it will be a toy-shop But he doesn't care about that anymore ... His son will take it over ... You can never convince a deaf man ... [b. Tomorrow the Big Ear will speak [c. under Bekehelm's helmet.... Tomorrow the Big Ear will smoke.]] 40. A language is the other's speech-defect ... all languages come forth from speech-defects 41. I'm the language-butcher he sais I confuse and cut all the existing languages and making new ones 42. I work in the tower of babel I'm the eco-system in speech

I am a table dancer, a strange clock, a strange spider, all in the coin of a leprechaun] 8. I do my decisions So much ashes behind the deserts ... where a white chocolate house stands 9. There's business around the big shoe, standing on the table ... spinning around like a crazy spider ... making the plants ... while the silver is hiding [b. and the gold is uniting ... and rising ... and the bananas are burning ... [c. They are dying becoming straight like blue bananas like the big amon ...]--] 10. Like the blue tables behind the streams of sandman I feel like an old table in a museum watching the statues of jokes ... with their rings so tight ... where records spin ... 11. Where dishes take flight to reach for the other day ... through silver skies the bakerman's faces will unite ... like golden rains it will spout these wasprains from such a strange television 12. The queen of england knows all about it she's pressing the people ... like newyears eveningpapers and a little boy is running for no one wants to eat it and now they're eating him ... these dogs in dark skies ... where the silver hides 13. These are worlds in golden coins ... where the bananas burn like fire ... the ashes are good bullets for the guns ... these orange guns of mr. orange dreaming on ... to the tables behind the sleep these sandman tables ... he's having feathers and fruits in his head [b. and I do not understand]. 14. We are heading for another sleep in these rippling silver skies ... Give me my candles burning tight in the palest night ... these pyramids they rise inside [b. I saw a red pinocchio ... sleeping today ... between a green pinocchio and a golden one ... [c. while silver machines were soothing them ... a blue one entered the room speaking in unknown languages ... while the tables started to spin ... and the purple started to rise ... in this daydream's lies]--] 15. On the deserts of the planet mars ... where the icecream machines are rising ... they are creating the distances in the sky, while you think the ships are big so close ... while seventy heats are rising ... from september's bank ... 16. With wasprains in the hand you can search the skies ... it was made by banana and spice ... good old warmachines from uncle peacock ... a true auctioneer on lazy drama holidays .. 17. With the auctions in their pockets, they make the best money ... for cake's conspiracies ... dream on, .. sharpening the lies from uncles gun .. breed the bakers .. throw the suns .. into a new basket of snakes 18. By dagons shatters they turn the icecreams backwards ... she's selling pictures of arms ... so strange it makes you cry ... while your trousers are crying deserts

.. your shoes are crying moons ... there are ten mirrors for a liars shatter. 19. Wet forestdreams ... doing egyptian screams ... all backwards wrapped in snow ... she breeds the vanilla ... she breeds the lucifer fire ... in the distance there is smoke so visible ... while auctions rise from strange banks .. these are uncle peacocks horrorshows ... 20. Who takes the children ? the one with the biggest money or the one with the biggest gun ... they don't want to go to arabia ... but they have to go .. it's already ten o'clock ... hold your breath .. for within a few whisperings you will be home again ... 21.
All in a zebra's watch ... so many cigarlighters from the dawn .. smoking by elve's conspiracies ... he's the prince of video-clips showing his tranvestite claw .. while spiderclocks are running from his mouth ... 22. Suddenly it breaks through edges to a lucifer's wonderland ... izu in the distance ... the auctioneer burns the hammers ... no one dares to walk ... [b. gepetto makes the clocks of pinocchios wood ...] 23. These are wars of the businessmen ... I was a wilder animal ... exploding into the one and a million nights ... I knew drama after drama, having them all on my bow ... spitting the cowards wrapping them in easters snow ... 24. Strange auctions circle in the sky strange fairgrounds .. circling in the skies .. watching the golden baths on high floors ... letters making strange connections ... fighting for a place in the ship ... that strange ship of noah ... where flowers have to die ... 25. When the auction hammer brings the horror ... These kids go to the deserts ... with his rings on their heads while tigers and lions roar in the distance ... and a black panther makes it coming close ... so close that you feel their teeth ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder suns ... burning sweet bars of the cake 26. Noah banker bake the bank bananas in vanilla turn them into gold ... breed them into cobras these are lies to sacrifice ... turning the machines backwards. 27. It's bending on paper ... these are liars on an orange boat ... while the yellow boat is sinking .. grasping fishes from empty dikes ... they're sinking deeper. 28. These warmachines create the coins ... I'm nothing but a coin in your hands created on the battlefield, finished in your hospital ... These medical days they broke me ... breeding me into a wilder animal ... but oh I'm so paranoid now ... feeling so fragile ... having such fragile visions 29. A liar's docter ... an animal so wild ... bringing me wilder days ... spitting sand he promised to be ... an icecream so far away ... this coin will be brought down ... with all these Jesus Christs ... and their heads on it ... 30.
Throwing their playcards like sharp money ... cutting the bald heads and the blue potatoes ...
These are just the wilder animals ... knowing the world behind the shoe ...The icecream made them blue so blue ... with red hands ... they continue .. back to izu ... 31. This juice it brings me higher ... out of the medical threat .. I'm not a number of your bread ... Land of the lambstead ... 32. Black Pinocchio I promised to be ... not hiding ... but sliding ... to the daylight's dream In a hotel I saw what they were doing to me ... I'm not a coin .. I sleep at homeI don't pay for my food ... I take it from the garden by my own hands ... 33. The sixth wolf of benchelot ... Breathes good while you're breathing, drinking good, while you're drinking, under bekehelm's helmet. 34. These families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins, raising the money high, while the banana shoots, but an orange steals the cry ... [b. while gepetto is rising with his black pinocchios doing strange dances in the night it makes you cry] ... 35. ... He's just a microphone ... shivering when they speak too loud ... he's making icecreams ... like snowclause never showing up ... 36. ... Strange funerals in the flowerfields ... these are the riddles of death ... These are four drunk gamblers, while the mailman is their god ... while a bakertree is growing in the middle ... a strange sun ... a mad sun 37. They are on a travel, to greet uncle peacock ... [b. While pictures lie in the sand.] 38. There are liars on a zebra's boat ... orange liars ... doing the dishes ... for a holiday's spoon ... the banana rises soon out of it's rinds ... with two big eyes ... it writes with the golden pencil. 39. He's still the god of ten ... while the drunk are following him with gamblemachines on their back, they take flight ... 40. It's a painting in the sky ... while brother rabbit is raking itIt's the lawyer's orange ... still smoking these cigarettes on a bakerman's dream ... on a mailman's tight decision ... making a daylight's scream ... 41. And this orange still the head on a stamp of dreams ... this mailman's orange ... this lawyer's threat. 42. And it's still a strange strange cardgame ... in a strange mailman's bag written on a strange ornament while a lawyer is doing the dishes ... they burn trees for this ... this woodcutter's job 43. Making the stamps in dark places taking kids away from the schools ... these are dark conspiracies ... from peacock's horrorshows 44. On a strange footballfield the mailman is rising ... this god of ten ... while he is the eleventh ... and who follows him is the twelveth ... It's a strange bank after all ... when school rises strange tears are rolling making seas under bekehelm's helmet ... 45. The mailman is rising from the footballfield, spreading the stamps as butterflies, and then the mass begins to roar ... while the judges will decide ... The mailman he has a million arms ... while he has a bekehelm's helmet ... they are all under it when he puts off his hat, he's a bald communist .. letting the balls roll by blasphemy ... 46. For a mailman's holiday ... She lives in his bag as his tinkerbelle ... painting the smiles on his sun, these golden bananas ... with oranges as their guns ... they have orange tongues so tall so split ... 47. These deserts are in fire they were touched by a mailman ... while an orange face is rising on the stamp ... eating and drinking ... forgetting ... flying on the wings of dementia 48. Strange traffic in a strange clock ... a postman's clock ... a strange sun in a mailman's bank It's lucifer, you cannot decide ... he's spinning the ashes into stamps ... while the dice are rolling ... these are strange butterflies ... 49. They sacrifice stamps in strange churches ... waving at them until they are home ... These are strange funerals mailmen strange funeral undertakers ... working for the clauses ... or are they clauses themselves ... 50. There are strange clauses on stamps ... while soap clause rakes the skyfields ... in september they take flight ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder fights ... all happening in a mailman's bag ... 51. Charity is taking them to the hospitals ... to reach the killingfields ... these are strange ways to home ... These are strange bottles of an ornament's lie ... 52. And these rippling golden lionroads ... heading for the big faroom da bazite ... under bekehelm's helmet ... the oil is running from it ... to change the lands and the nations ... under strange flags ... 53. And our racecars on these rippling golden lionroads ... become so orange in the night ... so orange ... until it strikes the blue ... and then the towers are rising from the sea ... a strange clock ... to bring them all home ... 54. She's cycling to the moon, this feather, to see her moonchild smiling wide ... he's breeding his silver ... with a golden striped rod ... It comes from the ashes ... it rises ... when tigers go to sleep, another tiger rises ... ten seconds on a dream, it's spreading wider ... it brings coffee to the child, while the older ones are sleeping ... 55. And these golden rippling roads .. bringing them all home, together, rising for the storm, who brings them away ... back to izu .. back to lakus ... while faroom da bazite is spouting ... 56. Trips to Brannan. He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... 57. It's made from stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 58. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... He's the wizard's son. 59. He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ... 60. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, in ornamental skies, where truths become a lie 61. It's baker on a bicycle's friend ... it's baker riding on a friend she's a mystery an ornament, a baby, lying in the skies, peeing in the minds ... of millionaires' pride 62. Oh green baby, in ornamental skies, sailing on the mysteries, peeing in the books where bakermen unite 63. It's peeing in your head like a golden statue ... peeing in your head until you lose all control ... 64. Oh sweet baby, sweet ornament sweet baby burning bakerman's skies, burning truth into lies wings on fire ... fires of dementia ... it was installed by someone else ... having the burning deserts in the pocket 65. She's grey this lady, black clothes, hair long, dancing in the snow she's dancing like pale spring ... running on the pink while pink oceans lie to her 66. She tries to understand the words i'm whispering it's coming through like chocolate ... she warms me with her tender smile she never fails when life tells her goodbye 67. She died a hundred times for me ... and now she watches ... without a grin she's tight when the lion fights ... 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby ... raise the mystery echoing right through your mind, make me enlightened by your golden bakery ... so deep in the forests of this earthquakes decision ... bringing the deserts deep inside 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch the spy ... she's stringing all the pearls in grey she's doing dishes on saturday until the children are back she's a saturday's child, watch this spy ... watch her coming from the cakes ... 69. She's bringing the holiday on pink oceans they lie to her Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch this spy of uncle baby, baby 70. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, her voice surrounds the million stars of a golden bakery in the depths of a millionaire she's his daughter she's his green orange ... 71. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, you're his ornament, this millionaire's man ... growing like a green orange in the skies ... watching the golden babies by a strange lense in his mind 72. Oh, green baby, truth comes after the lady truth brings seas of time, to think about this factory you loved the schoolboy, your face is true ... but i still keep everything away ... for my fears are sailing on pink oceans 73. The horror is there the horror is there now when these words are in silver ... now when these words can speak by themselves they're not locked up anymore ... 74. A purple orange and yellow churches with carbon smiles, they lead the traffic in baker's minds ... to there where the orange liars stand ... burning the sand ... burning deserts ... for the new books ... 75. There's an orange .. a good gun ... a good faroom da bazite ... a tankstation ... 76. They have their moonchilds and their rainboys ... on the wings of dementia ... they take flight ... still that strange cuyornaida corset ... 77. They are heading for the bakertrees where they burn the deserts for the new books ... 78. They're heading for oceans of love under bekehelm's helmet. There's a purple orange lying on the floor ... while the yellow streams from it ... it's sour ... 79. There are strange cucumbers in a lawyers suit, dancing around an orange, and strange paprika's they do the dishes ... in this land of dreams ... they sell the houses ... but the rent's too high ... they are dying on their walls, while they build their towers higher ... 80. It takes a lot of money .. to live in someone's head .. only the rich can do it ... These are cucumbers and paprika's taking you higher ... while you're dying on the ceilings, it brings you higher ... 81. The towers are rising ... with your head in the sky ... Oh, there are cucumbers and paprika's in the sky ... telling you to fly ... on the wings of dementia ... They will take everything away ... until only some old toys are left ... There are towers rising from the orange ... 82. Take flight on the wings of dementia These rings of icecream, contracting tight, while the boys are shrieking, they take flight ... still a shrieking boys clock, wheels under sandman's cars ... 83. They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's table ... rising from the spoon ... 84. Strange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... 85. They were prisoners of a green dragon for too long, eaten by green spiders ... Now they rise like orange gold from the ashes ... wearing orange chocolate on their backs, having some beaks of parrots along the sides ... 86. These balls smell like purple oranges, while the red is floating, red icecreams full of paprika seeds ... 87. Do you miss your seed, it's orange now, to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... while the black man still sells them to the machines, they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... in the restaurant at the sea ... 88. There are thin tall snakes in their body contracting, spitting the venom in their bones, it's so uniting ... they're heading for the gold, these golden boys .. these paranoid men ... elves escaping someone's world ... 89. They are the men of holiday clause, while saturday clause rakes the machines ... Now they can work in pink restaurants, selling icecreams to the wasps ... They have waspian smiles so mean 90. Icecream let us escape from the green businessmachine ... They only work in holidays .. these green men ... of green icecream in daylight they escape running through the nights ... these elves these ornament's elves ... 91. Suits of liquid powders ... blinding souls on paper ships ... while paprika seeds they do the dishes ... under sandman's cars in deep deserts ... rising from the spoon ... 92. Ornament's letters, escaping cannibal, escaping the mouse of spice ... It was worth it after all ... and now your head is full of icecream ... it's cold but it takes the salt away bringing you to a new day 93. Their mouths are dry these paranoid men ... still playing football, throwing playcards ... but they never hit the ball ... their shoes become so tall, to have teeth for summer ... 94. And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... it's daylight's new begin ... 95. And these paranoid men, they look like ornament's docter ... like saltkillers in the sea ... it doesn't bite them anymore ... 96. The milk is flowing, they're heading for the icecream ... taste still a bit salt ... but they're winning the game doesn't blow their minds ... while these ornament's they're singing their strange songs of a captain and a millionaire's unite ... 97. Song of the whispering tailor, song of the shoe-side's king, they have them all in their ornament's raging ... doing the big spin .. on sandman's tables they unite ... watching the parrotfeathers and their beaks ... hinging their like teeth under towers ... rising the spoon, heading for daylight ... 98. It was like taming a lion ... on Elsefic's back ... 99. Pinocchio was a baker's kid ... and you, you look like me, I'm not your santa clause ... I'm still burning the yellow by blasphemy ... sacrifice these churches to me ... I need them as oil for my motors ... 100. I'm still one hell of a beast ... 101. There are strange shoes coming from orange kettles, while the black man moves the spoon, he's mixing the letters ... while the shoes burn the deserts ... until it's gold ... until the icecreams stream ... 102. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... it's running through my veins awakening the marchpane flowers ... in white green chocolate shores ... it's deeper inside ... a pink blue forestroad like working in holidays ... 103. Spit the sand, brother, spit the sand ... with paprika seeds deep inside ... i lost your number ... but now it's back ... 104. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... and then burn them by a scream, i want to be barefooted by the end of the day, to bathe in icecream ... 105. Burn your boots, sweet moses, burn your ornament's cakes ... spoil the baker's cat and his sweet child ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... 106. The cakes are thin like orange wood, while icecream flows through it, hiding the paprika seeds for a mission ... Speedboats are fast, to be teeth at the end of the day, hanging below the tall towers ... 107. Holiday clause sell me icecreams, and take away my pains of this businessdream ... i drowned in business, now my days are gone, let my shoes grow, and burn them at the end of the day ... to reach deeper inside for the naked flowers, the beaks of parrots and their feathers 108. The icecream's finally running through my veins, while praying to Elsefic, I'm having these strange bananas inside ... my friends are like me ... i can only remember my name in thick letters ... 109. It's strange drugs after all ... from a strange strange tree ... where the icecreams run ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world ... these elves ... these children of bakerman. 110. They're coming from the world beyond cockaign, wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... by Elsefic's candle ... under Bekehelm's helmet ... 111. And then the cucumber seeds are awakening rising into the streams ... watching the daylight's candles, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 112. They're all surrounded by icecream ... it's the Big Escape ... until the sand is rising, building marchpane city in the middle of the deserts ... while the tinkerbells are ringing ... and the jingle bells ... 113. And still the old black man is mixing in the kettle the orange kettle ... until it strikes the blue forever ... There are snakefighters coming from the streams ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... 114. They are the wasps ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... still ornament's docters ... They have racistic smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ...

13. 1. Chapter for descending the Santaclause-Balloon. The French Schoolbook ; Cruel Heritages. 2. And the boys ... these boys ... They are free in their prisons ... selling their churches to old lions, selling their little gods to another gameshop ... they will be the balls of new games ... rolling by blasphemy ... 3. Glues from Crocodile, the woman with the white boots. In the land of the fake, a fake-assassin lives, all his crimes, all fake. 4. There where everything gets fake, the pain slides away, and then you're holding only that golden precious diamond in your hands ... 5. It's overflowing with liquid yellow glue, the juice for your children ... 6. In the land of the fake, a fake-dancer dances ... the mailman with his fake letters ... his fake hat ... all to make your heart in peace ... 7. Now how do you make something fake ? It takes many lullabies for that You need to fly on the back of the orange dinosaur No one knows where he lives. It takes some adventure. 8. You need to go to some libraries from Gemini, where the glues are streaming, green glues and blue glues, while outside it's snowing, and the trees produce those powders How do you make games, for these are necessary for a fake ... Ask yourself some good questions ... [b. The woman with the white boots will initiate you Tall white boots, a mouth soft like sekmeth] 9. Jesus from the Vegetable, they run on the streets of aldebaran, the terror they are there They sing their songs of clothes too tight ... But they wear their uniforms over them 10. Sharp guitars are on their side The Aldebaran Boys ... they have shining scars on their necks, turning black in the night, making a living on the ceilings 11. The Aldebaran Boys still pirates on empty shores, giving poets their swords back, running barefooted on wooden roads ... 12. With the ballgames in their eyes ... they died in the factories it was the big escape Still tearing clothes, running the stairways of old shoes ... 13. And the boys ... these boys ... they are free in their prisons ... going from sunset to sunset ... I'm finding myself in the candy-factory .. You thought your dance was over here but slowly a new dance started ... a better one ... and much wilder ... 14. A cigarette is getting crazy ... that happens when there are too many publics in your head ... but now he has the pencil in his hand, it's burning. It decorates the candy, to make it ripe for trade ... You still sell these things ... 15. Oblezea Vitrininium ... The spell you still speak out That old dwarve's spell ... nailing your Jesus Christs in the middle of a footballfield. Oblezea Vitrininium, the Birthday's Eye, giving him a new christmas And you are the statue on his gun 16. Oblezea Vitrininium, still sandman's best trick still the horse on your father's road ... 17. There were only ashes lying on your table, muttering at the end of the story ... The Eye of Birthday, guiding the Aldebaran Boys, like Bethlehem's star ... 18. They are mixing the candy through the vegetables ... by this strange fruit It fills their stomachs so deep, like spun sugar ... like the clock of a spider crazier than them 19. My mother's zoo is too interesting but she doesn't always give me the key to really meet all these amazing creatures I think she wants to protect me For I do not realize how dangerous they can be 20. I'm still wanting to visit dad But i really need to put on my armour first I feel myself like a kindergarten-child but maybe that's better To act like an adult when I'm not is not good 21. Then I would become a dangerous animal which they have to lock up behind thick bars But where am I now also behind the bars of the kindergarten but I need to realize that the world outside is the cage and not this kindergarten it's just close to each other 22. I feel the bars of the cages of dangerous animals not the bars of my cage I really need to put that clear I'm free here in this kindergarten with all these caring mothers and mistresses 23. I'm free to fantasize Fantasy is always free But even in fantasy there are bars but these aren't of my cage ... but that of the dangerous animals' cages 24. I'm staring a lot through these bars knowing that one day I will ride these amazing creatures together with dad If we know how to treat them well, they can build houses and cities even new worlds 25. The roar of a new fantasy. I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, I'm hearing the roar of the new city. I'm hearing the roar of my best friend, waiting for me to ride him. 26. Together we will build the land, I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, from millions of years ago. I'm hearing the roar of my daddy's friends. Together we will make the land. Together we will build the cities, the tall buildings, and the skyscrapers, the hollow houses, the big balloons. 27. I'm hearing the roar of a new dream, liquid, racing on new roads to the rainbow and beyond. I'm hearing the roar of the joke, roaring and racing these nights searching for a good end

1. 1. Ova, sons of all sons, grandfather of all grandfathers, oh prince of the oaks, ruling over the heights of materos. 2. You are the sun leading us to the city of balloons, where our hearts can rise to breath again. 3. Oh, Ova, with your golden smile. Bow down over the heads of Venus. Lead us through the deathrealms of dwarves. You know all their books. Let us come together, so that we can worship you, oh father of all fathers. 4. Lead us all to Izu. Teach us about the seven smiles of death, let the Okus monsters open the lungs. Oh, that they might store the balloons of lungs in the livers. Let the balloons of the livers rise to open the lungs, to fill the lungs, and to open the hearts. 5. Oh, let Osiris ride the seven smiles of the dead. Let him teach us how to remove letters from stones of graves and sacrophagos. Lead us to the thrones of ashes, where we can smile with the smiles of death, to see the griffon rise, him with the golden smile. 6. Oh open Salom, the hearts of the lungs, to spread the wings into tiger's ripples, in balloon skies. 7. Opening of the Widow Spider, the third heart. Osiris, son of Ova, you know the widow spider lying dormant between the two hearts of the octopus, as the third heart, the golden heart, where the golden nipple rises [Oh, Emelis Shatau]. 8. Greet Marazanta, our son of hearts, our father of thruths. Let him raise the green lights. Bring our ancient ornaments back into the spine. 9. Those ornaments we got from our ancestors, while Lords of evil took them away. Bring us away from all evil, and show us the righteous paths. 10. Oh, Egypt, let it be Egypt in Izu. Sweet Belcanov, statue of ancient days, our watcher, speak these words to the hills. Let that which is proud fall, and let that which is humble rise. 11. Teach us about the seven moons. Amen. Oh, holy Amen, son of Egypt, father of Lakus, raise the orange balloons and the checked balloons. Teach us how to contract hearts to do your will, oh almighty Cricket, lying on the heart of Osiris. 12. Oh, you, with the seven arms, come forward, raise us again into the house of Thoth. 13. Let us not be burnt, when we stand for the throne of Almighty Osiris, when his red eyes are searching our hearts. 14. Let the soulbird rise, let our souls grasp the lights of ancient times before their times, to honour the ancient souls beneath the souls. 15. Let us not complain and standing still in the realms of the dead, but let us descent into the bottom of the pit, where we can find the coin of Mary of Magdalen and her holy Sarsia Soul. 16. Let the Sarsia Soul lead us back to the Barbarian times, to free the birds of paradise. let their souls guide us for the rest of our days. Amen. 17. Papyrus of Ra-Izu. When you come into the holy temple of Amon, touch the blue gold on his head, all you who are dead in these pastures in front of his house. Let the sheep guide you there. 18. His holy books will guide you. Amen. Let Atu, the god of goats be mercifull over you, who passes over the rivers of the dead. 19. Drink from it's waters to be connected to ancient souls.

You will feel a spirit in your heart. It is the bird of Ra-Izu. Thoth will seal your foreheads by his holy waters. 20. We will take care of your soul, that the smoke will not lead you astray. 21. We will give you the eyes you deserve, when you haven't abuse your eyes to mock the spirits of the dead. 22. There will come seven Judgements on the eye, led by the sword of Thoth. Blessed those who will survive.

2. 1. Seven Judgements on the Eye by the Sword of Thoth. First Judgement : You will say these words. I baptize my eye in the holy waters burning with fire, to see if I have mocked the spirits of the dead. 2. If so, I will bear their pains in my own eyes, until I am clean by their judgements. I will receive the sword of the widow spider in my eye as a purifying. 3. It will pierce me until I am blind to sinfull deeds. It will pull my eyes out if it would lead me astray. 4. Lead me on the right paths by the eye of Thoth. 5. In him we can see in righteousness. I am gratefull to your judgements, bringing me into the lightchamber of Thoth, to watch the ornaments of the seven coffins of his candlestick. Second Judgement : In doubts we cannot see you. 6. Wash us. Let softness grow in our eyes, to give faith to our brothers and sisters, love to the older ones and the younger ones, as our mirrors, the arms of our hearts. 7. Let us not break one of these arms off, for then the lights of our eyes will fall away. Then I must eat the darkness, and slide through the dust. Amen. 8. Let this softness test us. This Eye of Ra-Izu. It will eat me away. It will eat my eye away, if I would sin in your holy presence. 9. Make me holy. Make my footsteps sacred, knowing that I am on sacred ground. Show me all the pillars of Ra's house, and show me his scribe, Ra-Izu. Let Izu lead me to the falls, to decide, which way I will go. 10. Let me see the eyes of death, to adopt the ancient souls of the sacred ant and gnat. Third Judgement : Let Ra-Anu come forward, to lay the sword on our eyes. 11. May it be sealed by attention. May it be usefull, and not a power to judge. The heart is a power to judge, while only the heart-eye of Thoth can rise to judge. 12. In him all the judges get their eyes. Let him who is not connected to Thoth be thrown out into the deepest oceans and darkest places, until he finds the eye of Thoth to do well. 13. The eye must be sifted like gold, seventy times seven, until it reaches the eighth day. On the eighth day the judges stand, allowed to judge. 14. Lead our eyes into the eighth day, to judge or be judged. Let Ra decide, and weigh our eyes, to see if it's worthy for a sword pierced through it. Fourth Judgement : Let Sarsia, the goddess of ages see if the eye is connected to the ancestors of wood. 15. If there is mock to an older one, let the sword pierce it, until it's clean. If there is mock to a younger one, let the eye be burnt and give the ashes to the birds of heaven. [and to the wild animals of the earth.] Holy is Sarsia. 16. If you judge someone by clothes, cursed are you, for you will be naked, and your eyes will be eaten by crocodiles of the fourth death. Your soul will rot in your body, and will drag you into the rivers of dirt, where you will be rejected and scorned until you can only live by your tears. 17. If you judge someone by occupation, cursed are you. If you judge someone by race, cursed are you. Your eye will rot in your body, until you have worshipped the ancient gods of the one you scorned. 18. If you do this scorning with someone else to strengthen your back, you are cursed twice. Then it's better for you to get a hook in your eye to hang for seven days in the realms of the dead, where the birds of prey eat from your meat. Fifth Judgement : By the feather of the goddess Maat. 19. She is the ruler of the heavens, and will watch you. She will give praise to the eyes of self-judgement and the eyes who care for nature and animals. 20. If you scorn a weak one, you will be weaker. If you scorn a sick one, your health becomes of that person. If you scorn someone because of someones parents, cursed are you, for you will be an orphan. Maat cares for the soft of heart, the tender ones, and those of a holy rage. 21. Sixth Judgement : If you write scorn down on paper, you are cursed triple. You will not only lose your eye when you will appear for Osiris-Ra, but you will also lose your hand, and it will fall in the rivers of the dead, where the crocodiles of sekmeth eat it. Seventh Judgement : Blessed are those who can come through the Judgement on the Eye without falling, whose backs are straight, led by the blue light. 22. Blessed are those whose griffin souls are caring for the weak and the sick, to see their health and strength. 23. Blessed are those who travelled the seas of weakness and sickness to find the truths and treasures of the chambers of Thoth's house. Blessed are those who wrote with the hands of Thoth, while the Benu-bird was sitting on their shoulders, and the seven holy parrots of Ra. Amen. 24. Their balloons will reach the eternal cities, where God will wipe away all their tears. 25. There where they can drink from the golden wells of life, and from the golden eyes. There they will see the golden hand of Thoth. Amen-Ra-Amen. Blessed are those who let their souls be cleansed by the fire. 26. The Varia-Bird will guide you to show you the threads between the threads. Amen-Thoth-Amen : Visitors of Amenti, those who glide through the last hall ... to watch the portals of Materos ... the halls of the dead of dwarves. 27. Blessed are those who glide in, to travel along and over the rivers with the orange balls ... Blessed are those who watched the graves of dwarves ... blessed are those with an eye to the small things ... cursed are those who deny the small things, for they will be blown away when Materos sucks the holy ones inside ... Amen-Thoth-Amen

3. 1. The Seven Halls of Materos. You watched the dwarves the golden stares. Now reconnect to the souls of your gnome-souls and their ancestors. First Hall, Talgamen. Prayer to find the lost ships. I come to you, Talgamen, gnomestatue, almighty leprechaun of the ancient coins. 2. I come to you, Talgamen-Thoth, holy scribe of Izu and the first hall of Materos. 3. Write my names in your books, and give me from your divine food, when I will pass over these bridges, when I sail over these seas ... Do not let my ships sink, oh holy Ra-Talgamen, do not let me being eaten by sharks, but raise me high, in your balloons, to be in High Talgamen, I take flight. 4. Grant me with the food of your griffons. Do not lead me astray. Have mercy on me, I am a humble soldier. Only living to save your animals, as they save me. As you glide into my soul, look for my lost ships, and bring them into my heart again, in my liver, lungs and organs. Let me take flight again to the cities of eternity. 5. Talgamen-Amen. Don't let me fall from high rocks, when I enter your mysteries. Let your warmths guide me, and comfort me, and let your birds do not take me away to burn me. Let me write on your jewels, my love to you. Let me be your scribe, in the name of Thoth-Amen. 6. Second Hall, Lokogamen. Is this the road to Belcanov, oh Almighty Lokogamen. I bow down in praise, without letting my lips flow. 7. For it is righteousness you want to see. Let my words not be empty, but filled by deeds. Let my words flow, filled by fire, as balloons into your skies. Let me see your cloudships and eagleships, and the birds working there. Do your birds sit high ? 8. I come for your almighty thrones, to watch your graves and coffins, to bring sacrifices to your urns, as words to the ancestors, let them be echoes warming them, until they are back. 9. Let them rise from the deepest oceans, all these souls lost, worthy to be connected to us, as part of the ornament. Oh, holy one, of golden beards. Give your servants their beards back to pierce deeper into the halls of Amenti and the halls of Materos. I am yours. 10. Third Hall, Belcanov. Where the holy statues stand. Where our minds can be dense again, to reach for the cold conscience, to live for the poor. 11. To share all the riches, also to the realms of death. Let me glide deeper, and protect me against the flames of Osiris Throne. 12. Let the snakes awake in me, to do the final decisions. Belcanov, let my soul glide, into your soul, where the warmth shivers. 13. Let me take those who are afraid deep into my heart. For you are close to the depressed and those who fear God, having a green heart pumping inside. 14. Belcanov, bless your scribe Anu, and your warrior Thoth-Izu. Let the seven spirits of Osiris watch over my soul, giving me a new spirit. Fourth Hall, Elsefic. Hymn to Elsefic. Glory to Elsefic, who gave us soft food. Waters coming from the rocks, while you had the rod of the seven suns. 15. Baals were your friends, the donkeys. You guided them safely through your streets, giving them vanilla to raise higher and fly on butterfly wings. You gave ornaments on their hearts. You crashed their orange balls to bring them higher. You led your children by a striped rod. Your horns spoke thunder on high hills, where your phoenixes took flight. 16. Osiris-Elsefic, praise to you, my Lord. Hide me in your seven judgements, when you are pouring out your bowls of wrath. Give me thunder to rage with you, and let my heart not be weak. Don't let me be a coward when you need me to speak. Amen-Ra-Amen. Elsefic, watch the ornaments, and weigh them before your thrones. 17. Let your lamps guide me inside, to touch the deeper darknesses, where you hide. Let me be where you are, oh Elsefic-Osiris, and show me the seven Ra's of your spirit, your paths to the suns. Watch my moons, and weigh them before your thrones, and speak sacred words to test them. Let no unworthy food poison me in the abbyes of your streets. 18. Let my paths be holy to eat from your checked divine food. Fifth Hall, Amenti-Ra. Drink me and weigh me, measure me in your deepest caves, to give me access to fruitfull grounds below the pits. Destroy my mirror, and give me yours. Amenti-Ra, seal my hearts, also the hearts of my liver, to store the treasures you gave me. 19. I cherish them, all these hearts, and the divine vegetables. Let your Elsefic rise on the sixth day, to watch the balloons of ancient days. Let me steal the forgotten days out of the halls of evil lords. Let me be an exorcist and a sacred thief, to bring your treasures and souls back to your temples. There, where the tigers roar. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. You are the holy Amen of the sixth soul of Amen-Ra and Talgamen-Benu. 20. Your birds will let your spirits sour. The Ka's of your Ra will guide you by wet visions. While the dreams of the Ba will lead you through the night. You watch the golden suns. We are sacred pirates, in this hall of Amenti-Ra. Show me the ripples of your tigers, the juices of your sacred drinks. Show me how to use them holy, guided by divine steps. Oh, halls of Amenti-Ra, in the Fifth Hall of Materos, rise high. Show the worthy books in the deepest of the night. Let us glide into the drinks between the drinks. Bring the holy snakes from the livers to the lungs, restore the fleeces of the heart, united, to speak words of unity, as a sword to transform the darkness. 21. Bring me the swords of Osiris-Shesmu, and that of Osiris Sebqa, for the mouth of the crocodile is wide open. Build my boats to come over the dangerous seas of Sonder Sun. Sixth Hall, Sonder Sun. She's the queen of my heart. She's the lady of the altars, rising high in Izu. Balloons are bending, while her wet stripes take place. 22. We worship you, Lady of the Sonder Sun. Not in vain words, but in deeds and righteousness. It is filled by a rage, raging until you are home. We are your servants in this sixth hall of Materos, after Amenti. You are Materos-Amenti-Ra, mirroring in the sky. You are the rippling tiger, tightening the threads between the threads. 23. Seventh Hall, Eminus Fire. You are the heart of Amenti and Ra, the heart of Sonder, where the octopus dwells. You have sent your unicorn to awaken us into this day. Take us to the golden fleeces, to drink from the divine tea. Let our minds melt away, if cold consciousness is your desire. Bring us to life and death, rippling as the forbidden fruit. Be our Adam and our Eve, our serpent and our God. Raise the halls of Amenti. 24. Prepare us for the travellings over the seas and rivers of fire, to meet the dragons of your heart, the octopus of your desire. Don't quench our ofions [octopus-sharks], but purify them like gold. Amenti-Thoth, open your chambers to us, in Eminus Fire. Show us the baskets of your snakes, the checked ones and the powdered ones, and all those in fire. 25. Give us the key to open thunder-fire, the Eminus-Shesmu. Serve your Lord, Eminus-Ra, who lives in the sun. Give him from the divine food ; Watch his ornaments when they die. Come with his urns to the flames of Osiris, to test your eyes and hearts, on the hands. Stand on his footprints, and watch yourself die to come alive again on the third and the fifth day. 26. Watch Eminus Horus, to please his publics, the divine audience. In this you can pass the test to get the holy Amenti-Ra-Eminius suite. The checked orange suit to contact the divine Eminius Lions and Wild Cats of Ancient Days. Amen-Talgamen-Amen.

4. 1. Ritual and Sacraments to close the door of Eminius-Amenti behind you. Lords of Amenti unite. Let me be the salt on the ground, so that no one can steal this divine fire of Amenti-Toth. It burns once and then it leaves forever, until you leave forever with it. Oh, holy Lord and Doorkeeper of Amenti's Rod. Save your son, Lucifer, from the wrath of the ancient Hebrew-Babylonian fallen one who didn't want to pierce the Halls of Amenti and Materos. 2. Burn him in Eminius Fire. Divine Amenti Lions of Amenti-Lucifer, you are free. Do not sin. Your hearts will be purified by the pure flames and the sulphur of EMINIUS-SARSIA and her heartsoul AMENTI-SARSIA. 3. Ra-Amenti will stand behind you. Eminius-Lucifer, you are free now, you and your lions. Do not sin. Your hearts will be purified by the pure flames and sulphur of Marion-Eminius Swords. Eminius, be closed. The sword and altar of Eminius is now in the hands of EMINIUS-SEKMETH. Ritual and Prayer to not to be eaten by the crocodiles of Eminius-Luca. Raise me father, make my heart pure, let your sacred crickets cover my eyes. 4. Let me not judge the dead, let them not judge me. Bring me out of this dark passage and lead me into your circle, where I can eat from the solar dishes. Give me a helmet brought by your eagles to have a light in this deep darkness. Let me trust on cycles and circles, and also the symbols of your panthers in the temple of eight. 5. Let me escape into a new week. The week of your golden breads. Let me have my own altars, to sacrifice myself instead of others. When I stand before the altars of your golden breads, then cover my eyes by your bristal brivals, to have your golden neon lights. Lead me into your chambers, oh father, to see the coffins beneath the coffins, to touch your holy butterflies. 6. Make me drunk, lead the boat over your river, and bind the heads of crocodiles. Let them not eat my feet. Cover these by butterflies. Let them not eat my legs. Cover them by the shields of turtles. Let the heart-eaters not eat my heart, but let the benu-bird, your benu-bird, lead me inside your caves. Make me thin enough to enter. Let me discover the lines between the lines .. To make them bend into solar lights. Show me the halls of the elves of dead. 7. Draw these circles on the walls. Aton-Amen-Aton. Let me in, dead man, let me in, to let me watch your graves. Lead me to your coffins, to see the ornament of death. Let me drink from your urns, to touch the holy water. Streaming from death, in your chambers I desire to be. Let Belcanov-Aton lead me inside, guiding me by the red light. 8. I don't want to stop here, for crocodiles are behind me, wanting to eat my soul. I see your house as a doorway, to the house of the elves coffins. Oh, orange men, oh black men, oh hard men, guards of the elves graves, make me hard enough to enter, soft enough to walk through walls. Let me follow your waterlights, to be one of them ... 9. I will worship the lines between the lines, and also those beneath and beyond, to become one of them, always thinner. I will be thinner man, oh harder man. Let me enter. 10. You cannot enter. Why not ? You need to return to Belcanov first, to reach for his sixty-six coffins. Then you will be hard enough to be a harder man. 11. I am now a harder man, can I enter ? 12. No, you cannot enter. The publics and the audiences don't accept you. You first need to be a softer man, when you have returned to Elsefic. You must first dive into his sixty-six coffins, seventy-seven graves and eighty-eight cities. 13. 66,77,88 Can I enter now ? Yes, you can, for you are a thinner, softer and harder man. Hymns of Ova. Osiris-Ra, I knight you in the order of Varia-Birds, the souls of Izu-Indians. Praise will be to Osiris, throning in the Halls of Amenti. Praise will be to Thoth, whose house is built on the deathpillars of elves. 14. Osiris-Ra, the Dark and Black Elves will be sent forth from your chest. Oh, Osiris-Ra, don't fear when you walk through the temples of materos. They will initiate you deeper. Let their stings guide you. Osiris-Ra, son of Ova, god of oaks. We bring in you the Atu, the god of goats. Guide them over the hills into eternal bliss. 15. You have the rod for it. Osiris-Ra, you will have the following illuminations and enlightenments, while you are following the paths of sacred ancestors. 16. You will adopt their gods. You will come beyond good and evil. You will come beyond winning and losing. 17. When you have created a faith for the first time, it will strangle you. And the enemy of that faith will save you. Then you will create a second faith, which will strangle you, and again the enemy of that faith will save you. 18. Then you will create a third faith and the same will happen, which lets you rise beyond good and evil. There you will find the pillar of the purple gnat, a most important pillar of the house of Thoth. The House of Thoth built on seven pillars, the Halls of Dead Elves, Avani. 19. Welcome to the Halls of Avani, the underworld of Elves, where the elf gods of the dead dwell to judge all the dead. Be in fear if you have sinned, for they don't have mercy. They pierce hearts, lungs and organs. There is no grace, only purifying rituals. There is no forgiving, only self-sacrifice until the price is paid. 20. You must work and change in their cocoons, or you will be damned to destruction in fire-sulphur-salt-acid. In the Halls of Dead, speaks the Upper Ova of Life and Death, the Sovereign Prince of Judgement and Damnation in Khert-Neter, you can be illuminated as Osiris-Ra to see the misleadings of gods and upperbeings, and the lower beings with their spirits. 21. You can dwell in domination if you will make the journey through Avani. Only then you will be set free from these misleadings. The rest will sink and drown. Prayer and Ritual to not be drowned in the waters of Avani. Dangerous sirens live in the waters of Avani, drowning men and women, children and animals. Fight against sexual desires in these areas. 22. Do not satisfy yourself by luxury. Do not eat too much fruits. And if you decide to eat fruits, mix them with potatoes and onions. Do not wear socks in your shoes. Do not cut your beard too often, and woman, do not shave. Women, reach for the waters of Sheri, your guard in the waters of Avani. Invoke her by candlelight. 23. Speak her name into the flame. Wear torn clothes and cover your head. Speak these words : Qebh, celestial waters, let me drink from you, and shine your four lights in my Ka [spirit]. Qebh, celestial waters, bring me to Khert-Neter in Ra-Izu, into his lungs, where I can receive the golden heart, the golden nipple [On the Emelis Shatau]. I bow to Ra and his Bennu-Bird, his heart-soul. Plant in me the streets and skies of Khert-Neter [the balloons], where my Akh can rise [illuminated heart-soul]. 24. Qebh, celestial waters, lock golden doors behind me, and destroy my enemies, the sirens. Amen-Ra-Thoth-Amen. Qebh, you have the golden keys. Prayers, sacraments, hymns and rituals to become a citizen in Khert-Neter. Oh, city of the dead, take me in, give me a house and divine food. Bring the four fires to my Ka, and let me dwell in my Akh. Osiris-Izu, lead me to your islands, to show me the pillars of Thothis House. 25. Give me the twin-Akh, and the twinlion-heartsouls. I am Horus-Ra, I do no sin. I haven't scorned the gods of my town. I speak righteous words. I haven't sinned with my mouth, I am Horus-Ra. Give me a double heart-soul in my liver, as I enter the Anu-house of Khert-Neter, where the Aged Gods live [and the Aged One]. 26. Give me the twin-tiger-heartsouls, and open my mouth in Khert-Neter. Allow me to speak and to be silent, to whisper and to speak loud. Amen. Allow me to move myself. Allow me to breath. By the Lake of Flowers, give me access to Sekhet-Hetepu [Fields of Peace] and the Sekhet-Aanru, to reach the Minewood behind it, where the Aged Children Dwell, and the House of Thoth. 27. Qebh, let me drink from the celestial waters there, floating from the divine food. Bring me to Khert-Neter in the Ra-Food, and to Khert-Neter in the Minewood. Lock golden doors behind me, oh golden Qebh, and give me the twin-crocodile heartsouls, from where the Benu-birds can rise. Give me the million-armed heartsoul in my golden heart, and give me the million-hearted sun in my scarabee [beetleformed heartshield]. Amen, give me access to Elsefic-Khert-Neter. 28. First Hall of Avani : Prometheus-Amy. Second Hall of Avani : Prometheus-Emily. Third Hall of Avani : Pillar of the Purple Gnat. Fourth Hall of Avani : The Egg of Kenken-Ur [guarded by Eric Zwarzenei]. Fifth Hall of Avani : The Egg of the Tiger. Sixth Hall of Avani :

Eminius-Marazanta. Seventh Hall of Avani : Eminius-Amen. 29. Halls of Khelb. The elves of Ra holding the staff of Ptah, to measure the heart. If it's not thin enough the heart will be eaten by Ammut-Ra, for then it has sinned against the gods of Izu and Ra-Annas. If it's thin enough it will be struck seven times by the thin strikes to prepare it to enter the halls of Khelb. Here the birds of the brown nipple live to bind the hearts by charity, to raise them into the warmachines again. 30. On these battlefields of the dead the hearts will become thinner and thinner to escape from war into war, until they receive the golden nipple of fire [On the Emelis Shatau]. Hail Ova, son of the birch and the holly, for his icecreams set them free. They can move again, and talk again. They are now sons of Ova, sons of the Sacred Oak. 31. By Banana mixed with Vanilla, the lion's face rises, the Golden Nipple [On the Emelis Shatau]. They are now eating from the brown food of the oak, in hairy fields they live. [in hairy skies]. The staff of Ptah had struck them and led them, to small forests in the deserts. 32. While the black panthers care for them. Their hearts have been struck, and now their livers and lungsouls will be struck, and even their other organs, so that they might escape through the splits in caves. Their hearts have become light as the feather of Maat, and they have eaten well from her treasures. 33. They have defeated the watchers of the thinness and the evil lambs, to become blue fire, the face of ammon. They have pierced the halls of Materos and Avani. The seven halls of Khelb are seven boats to sail over the rivers of death, hell and lies. These rivers are seen as sacred riddles, as wilder animals they need to face. The halls of Khelb are the Insection Halls of the Dead themselves. 34. Hall I – Lapoendria (Land of the Wasps). Hall II – Perlottia (Land of the Winged Insects). Hall III – Brannan (Land of the flies). Hall IV – Lapsalvania (Land of the spiders). Hall V – Lalmageln (Land of the Stinging Insects). Hall VI – Bilmageln (Land of the Shining or Poisonous Insects). Hall VII – Ant Ship. 35. Can I get access to the Halls of Khelb ? You must be Ra-Izu. You must have visited the seven coffins of the faeries, and you must have read the pyramid texts of the dwarves. 36. I have done that, can I have access to the Halls of Khelb now ? You must be initiated in at least seven piramids of different Izu-Indian tribes, and you must have defeated the evil chicken of Radth. 37. I have done that, can I have access now ? Go in, and take from the forbidden fruits of the Halls of Khelb. Here Maat-Izu will weigh your heart and liver to her sacred feather. If one of them is too heavy, it will be eaten by Ammut-Izu. Then you must go through the seven nights of fear, where your lungs will be weighed to the sacred feather of Maat-Izu and Sekhmet-Izu. If it will be too heavy it will be eaten by Ammut-Lapoendria. 38. Then your souls will be put to the sacred staff of Ptah-Izu, and when one of these souls will be too short, it will be eaten by Thoth-Lapoendria. 39. Then the souls tall enough have come to the coasts of Lapoendria, to come into the Ra-Lapoendria ship. On the seas of fear they will be judged, to see if their hearts and livers are guilty or not. 40. They will be punished on the seas of Lapoendria and taken away by dangerous animals, by birds and fishes, to see if they are worthy or not, and to purify and test their souls. They will get seven thorns in their flesh, which will depress them, repress them and isolate them for a period of time. Here they must fight against the evil lambs. 41. In Perlottia, where the winged insects live, they get their wings to take flight from coffins. They will receive the flying heart of Maat. They will receive many of her heartsouls, and they will be put against the many rods of Thoth, to see if their hearts are sweet enough. 42. If not, they will be eaten by Ammut-Thoth. Then they will be put against the rods of Sekmeth, to see if their hearts and livers are soft enough. From these rods the snakes come forth ... and when they aren't soft and flexible enough, and when they cannot have ripples and balance, they will be eaten by these snakes of Sekmeth. Then their souls will be in Eminius-Fire. When they are soft like Sekmeth, they will have her lights in their Ka's ... 43. Then they will be prepared for the fires of Brannan. Here they will experience all different sorts of pains, fevers and dizziness. Here their hearts will be laid to the heart of Ra-

Brannan, and when their hearts aren't hot enough they will be spat out. It is a burning heart, full of Emenius Fire and the fires of Brannan. 44. Piramids on Izu If you have the winged Emini heart with the seven twinsouls in it, then you have access to the pyramids of bristal brival : The Red Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu, The Green Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu II, The Blue Golden Pyramid of Za-Amon-Ra, Pyramid of the Golden Pear, where the tombs are of Pharaos Za-Sinysen-Vu-Osiris, and of Za-Sinysen-Vu-Ra. 45. Spells for opening the pyramids of Brannan : Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, open the pyramids of Brannan. Show me the names, and let black doves cover them by their wings. Let your holy and sacred hands take me in, and initiate me. Amen-Ra-Amen. King of Brannan, give me the keys to your home. 46. I bow to your holy sands. Give me Jericho and Sodom, and let me destroy the evil snakes by the red stripes. Pharaos of Brannan rise up to give me the rods to destroy the evil donkeys holding away the sweetness. Let me destroy the unholy goats who guard the gates of tallness. 47. Give me the hoofs of goats to let me rise. Let me rise from the seven kettles of the goats. Let me be ashes from the ashes, smoke from the smoke, as your holy servant, lead me to eternal paths. Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, give us our Khu's, our eternal souls. Let the Khu-birds guide us, into the eternal pastures of Brannan. 48. Here is where our home is, here is where our hearts are. Oh, Pyramids of Brannan, show us the holy feathers of Maat, and let them rise in our hearts. Let truth guide us, Amen-Maat-Amen, let Toth seal our foreheads by your mighty lights. Bring us to Draminia, the roots of life. Show us the depths of Amenti in Brannan and Draminia. Let Jericho and Sodom rise. 49. We ask you to lay your rods on our foreheads, and to bring your feathers inside of us. Lead us to eternal paths, oh Holy and Sacred One, and give us your winged Khu-hearts. Bless Brannan and Draminia, bless Marazanta, Lord of the Insects, and bless the White Golden Hand, the Lord of the Flies. Bless our king and emperor of Brannan, and give us access to the rivers that lead into your pyramids and tombs. 50. Let us dwell in your chambers forever, to read their texts, and to receive our golden Khu-twins. Oh, eternal soul, rise and lead us to Shesmu, the heart and sword of Osiris. Bring us to Horus, his holy striped tongue. Amen-Toth-Amen. Give us the heart of Ra. Lead us through the sunsets of Brannan, through it's halls. 51. Amenti-Ra-Amen. Tem, feeder of all Ka's, feed us, and bring our Ka's into the rays of Amenti-Light. Tem, tamer of our Khu's, let them come forward as twineagles and twinsnakes. 52. Let them possess and transform our ba's. Brannan, bring the feathers of Maat in our lungs and eyes, so that the red stripes can come over her enemies. 53. Let her make jericho rise. Let her rebuild it's walls. Bless her walls, bless her. Amen-Ra-Amen. 54. Bless the lights of Brannan, and bring our hearts to the candlesticks of Toth, to show if there is any darkness in our hearts. If our hearts aren't light and bright enough, then let Ammit eat it. Bring the candlesticks of Toth in our ba's, ka's, akh's and khu's, to let them enter the sacred sahu. Give me the sahu of Ra, of Osiris and Shesmu, of Sekmeth, Amon and Aton, of Isis, Tem and Nun. 55. I come to the White Golden Piramid of the Winged Snake of Brannan, to bless all four openings. I enter through West, and follow the paths of the sunsets. Let the seven sacred sunsets guard my mouth, and guide my lungs. 56. Brannan is the Jaw, the ashes from the ashes, where the power to speak dwells and the power of silence. Here silver striped roads (tigers) lead the deceased one to the land of the Leprechaun. 57. Leprechaun Halls of the Dead (Kerses Minds). I – The Coffins of Uncle Peacock, II – The Coffins of Uncle Unicorn, III – The Coffins of Uncle One to Ten, IV – The Silver Coffins of Faery, V – The Golden Coffins of Faery, VI – The Purple Coffins of Faery, VII – The White Coffins of Faery, VIII – The Black Coffins of Faery 58. These coffins are described in the Faery Coffin Texts and the Faery Book of the Dead. Those ones who have pierced the Halls of Khelb and entered Lakus and Kabbernal, oh holy ones, who became hairy with bald oasis, who became the hairy of the hairy with the baldest oasis below, who bows before monkeys and monkeyraiders, he will get the white golden flour and be the king of it. 59. He whose heart has been measured by Maat-Kabbernal in the Halls of Maati to the feather of fire. If your heart and nipple would be too cold it would be eaten by Ammut-Acha. 60. Your heart must be hot enough to enter Acha. Also your eyes and lungs will be tested. You will give birth to the creatures of Acha by your mouth, for it's the land of the mother. 61. You will use your mouth to give birth. It will rise from your stomach and your breasts and then you will vomit. Amen-Acha-Amen. Then you will give anal births. Amen-Acha-Amen, for it is the land of the mother, and she will hunt for love. 62. Then it will rise from her legs and her feet, and she will give birth by her navel and by her shoulders, while her breasts bring forth the white golden chocolate. Amen-Acha-Amen. And these bison have travelled from sun to sun, from heat to heat, through deserts of the nights, to watch the dark flames. This is the land of the bison. Amen-Acha-Amen. 63. They have defeated the evil goats, and made armors of their bones. They are searching for the brown gold. They have made houses in their hearts, like bees in their nests, assimilating the lights of the sun. 64. They have defeated the killerpigs of the light, and have travelled to the darkest suns, rising into Eminus Fire. They have rode the evil chicken without falling into temptation. They are free of sin. Amen-Acha-Amen. [And these men, they give birth by hyperventilation and Epilepsy.] 64. Oh those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. For you are here the cakes of liberty, oh pilgrims. Pilgrims of a lost sun, smile again with the smiles of Osiris. Oh, those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. Oh, those who have died the fourth death, come to the underworld of Izu. 65. Here the land is soothing, here the lies are riddles of truth, here the hairs are burning like lucifers, and here the hairy are in fight against the bald ... It's in the songs of monkeymen ... the hairy against the bald, making new religions in carbon smiles. 66. Holy to those of the oaks, holy to those of the hollies and the white trees. Holy to the one entering the boat of Ova, to sail the green rivers to the Emerald Sun. 67. They will bow down and freeze their heads, after the strikes of chocolate. They will walk the cold roads to Bennes, the land of trees. They will rise into the comics, to freeze their hearts into the books of perlottia. 68. Perlottia again, to eat from the purple strawberry and the purple chocolate, in arms of emerald, the eyes will be opened. Perlottia again, under a mother's breast, it's easy to agree. 69. There are teeth in these lips, teeth in these lips, while the glues fall and hide. They take you away to seven graves, these seven coffins and seven halls of Bennes in death. 70. You will worship death and see it's glory. You will follow death, to come alive again. Deep in the coffin you will find your shell. 71. Give the land the strike, be a judge of judges, when you passed through all these judgements of the gods. You are still a survivor. You will write down the holy texts of your ancestors and learn them by head, to tell them to your children. You will know their symbols and their smiles, the smiles of death. 72. You will speak to them and they will speak back. They will lead you to the secrets of ages, and you will say you have survived. Under the strikes of death you grow younger, to stand as a tree, in bennes rivers.

1. Poetry from the Latin Buffoon Puppet II. If protection is a big attack, where do we hide. If love is the Big Lie, where can we have our tent ... if your embrace is to die ... 2. If I am not the same as you are, how many fights will we have, or will we die by good business holding our last grip. 3. A chessboard of angels you gave to me, but now give me a chessboard of pirates, to escape, just to escape. For every step is a market, and you know it is to enslave us ...Is there one way out here ? 4. If your kiss is a big shark, if my mouth is too fragile ... Who eats who ... Or is that life's destiny to die in high materos ... 5. If eating is like playing chess, then I'll do it ... For then there's room between you and me, enough room to escape forever ... do we eat to become free ?

6. Oh high queen, high materos, smoking tall striped cigarettes, was our marriage to finally escape from you ? 7. If your bed is the killingfield of books of wars, then why should I lay myself down there. 8. Why can't it be a chessboard of pirates ... [b. Queen of hearts rise. These messages are full of tax. Blackgrey striped snakes become so small. In lightblue boxes they survive. Them with their silver stares.] 9. Blue honey, come out of bed, there are chess-apples hanging, roses are coming, becoming so small ... It's June. [b. Let us hide, and play in this secret garden. We slept too long.] 10. In chocolate they breed the games ... The pawns want to become free on a bananaboat behind the book ... where the smoke is rising .. 8. They are marching to the worlds beyond chess, looking for ... the golden cigars ... They travel without moving ... 9. Uncle Peacocks are the big Arabian Seacocoons, the Arabian Seadragons ... 10. They are the puppetmasters of southern coasts They have golden stares, killing business for tax ... killing business for tax ... They are big stinging plants without mercy ... living in ... the wizard's hearts ... Banana hearts they are ... rising with the wings of dementia ... 11. They drink their drinks fast, from small bottles.

1. The journey through the sharkian temple was a long journey. I lost a lot of friends in all sorts of traps. These were the hidden altars of the sharks. 2. I didn't know why they took my friends away, but later I would find out. Finally I reached the room of the throne, but it was an old lady sitting there between the spiderwebs, turning young when I touched her. 3. There are seven days for the mortals to prepare for the lightening coming to take them away, there, in the room of the throne. They have touched the old lady, and she became young again. It is a thin lady, but when you touch her again she becomes thick. She will tell you ... all what the lullabies taught her ... 4. The lullabies in daydream's spring, covering the morning, for there will be no afternoon ... Seven days for the mortals, without afternoons ... only mornings, evenings and of course ... nights ... to prepare for the lightening ... coming to take them away ... 5. I was one of them We would be taken to a ship to find out we were already on that ship ... with a name called 'All there is' There was no sea ... only that ship ... the sea was in the ship ... 6. I was one of these mortals ... on this Eagle Ship These guys were strange ... They ate butchers ... making strange leathers ... It was whispering while powders started to spread ... smelling like the seeds of flowers ... It was like an ornament ... 7. A Jesus Christ is hanging in the air ... no clothes, but yet so covered ... by lines of old books and by strange leathers ... He's smiling, yet the tears are flowing ... He's dying, but coming to life in a strange way ... 8. They tell me not to touch the picture for at the end there will be no any Jesus Christ left, only some boys from Lynx It is written in their holy books. 9. I feel naked yet so covered like the insect losing his skin to get a new one ... in which cocoon am I ? Is this

10. Then the glues are overflowing and then I'm seeing the face of the Lion's Tea Wizard it was something I drank ... it was something I feared ... but it was beautiful 11. I can go into these cellars now ... the places I used to fear as a child ... I had such strange feelings in my stomach thinking .. but it was just the wizard calling me 12. I had a strange tattoo of a pale orange octopus on my lower stomach ... it was hurting me ... but also giving me strange delights ... The wizard has this tattoo also ... he shows me ... He has so many tattoos ... also one of a black snail ... and one of a white rabbit ... 13. There are strange banana's lying on a golden dish ... It's like pumping all these strange feelings inside ... I used to misinterpret these ... I was in the misunderstanding of this lion's tea ... I walk towards him ... he's the grandfather of the ship ... the big daddy ... but suddenly I feel like I'm in glue 14. Don't touch him, they say for at the end there will not be any Jesus Christ left ... only some boys from Lynx ... it is written in their holy books. 15. They say all these figures turn into the boys from lynx in the nights to bring shivering mornings ... Is fear their key ? ... They wear the rings of fear ... It's a strange machine of dogs ... 16. They have also a ring of guilt, spreading flowers of blame and shame ... with these they do business ... with these they raise the doll ... to hit the orange balls in pieces ... while bakermen try to hide these dolls and crimes ... they look so soft ... inviting me to eat the custard 17. Don't touch them, they say, for these bakermen are from the hollow, selling hunger to those in hunger ... They are businessmen of vanilla ... her hidden soldiers ... they are the traps in shark's temple ... Don't touch them, for at the end there will not be a Jesus or a Judas ... only some boys from lynx ... 18. In this strange cocoon ... This Arabian Sea-Cocoon ... such strange creatures are swimming there but at the end boys from lynx ... 19. And then I drink the Tiger's Coffee ... while someone said it doesn't exist only Lion's Tea ... so I spit it out ... trying to just learn to drink Lion's Tea ... I need to get used to it ... Oh, how many bakerman's faces there are ... so many liars and lurers so many swindlers and smugglers all traps in shark's temple 20. Maybe I ... am in such a trap too ... thinking I reached the goal But the goal was another trap This doorway of luxury and life just another trap or is this trap protecting me against something worse ? a worse trap ? 21. What is this for a strange plant ... It's a stinging nettle ... Biological harpoons to draw me away from the danger I had been caught by a shark ... but all these things are just illusions at the end there are no saints no sinners, no escapes, no prisons ... no liberties ... no bondages only some boys from Lynx ... 22. There's a stinging nettle roaring in my body ... shivering between sickness and health ... between sanity and insanity ... but what is what and who is who ... it's in the eye of the beholder ... it's in wasp-tv ... 23. In a shark's temple ... we all drank from the lion's tea ... making our lists of people in traps while we were in the deepest traps ourselves ... we had a red eye, a wasp eye, misleading us ... we were boxers in the arena ... fighting for lies ... drinking from the Lion's Tea to get more drunk ... 24. I need to bite myself through this Lion's Tea ... there is no other way ... I'm still in Shark Temple ... on an Eagle Ship while a lion is flowing through my veins ... doing business it's a dog-machine ... raising the dolls ... hitting orange balls ... they're moving through the cocoons of sleep ... to reach the tables of a new world 25. There's a shark-temple in the desert ... The road to eagle ship ... but it's a trap just protecting you against a worse trap These are orange liars on a ship with bakerman's faces ... but don't touch them .. these lurers ... these misleading lights and fires for at the end ... there will be only some boys from lynx ... 26. It's an ornament, these boys from lynx ... while a white rabbit is dancing bringing them to the pink sun to let them fight against the one without business ... the stinging nettle ... and it grows on eagle ship ... in a barn to eat the boys from lynx ... let me tell you ... this ornament will die ... for the white rabbit likes to wear dead ornaments. 27. Who can defeat the boys from lynx ? Who can destroy their marketsquares ? Only the white rabbit knows ... 28. Vanilla has some planes let me tell you ... these leaves from a stinging plant ... these bakertrees, these forestroads the rabbit knows ... that all life grows in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge roars ... 29. There I found the red shoe, where the bootlaces rule ... There, in an orange ravine, the shoe was born ... No need for business ... everyone is equal ... we are all leaves of a stinging nettle ... 30. I see bakerman's faces running, I see kids playing in the snow .. having orange guns ... with orange liars ... Bakerman's faces have risen from the death ... they attack the boys from lynx ... It's always like that ... when orange strikes the blue and then we are in Shark Temple again ...

Dangerous Tiles

31. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... There's your cradle in a deaf shop, deep down in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge is roaring ... It all started in a rabbit's ear ... Someone forgave us and we got here ... It is all done by prayers ... from a Sharkian Temple ... making the journey to an eagle ship this is all there is ... like a red picnic full of lion's tea ... 32. It was something you drank from an iron shoe in a rabbit's ear ... Still a painting and a statue in a shark's temple ... a strange mirror ... you see yourself ... and all these bakerman's faces ... turning into boys from lynx in that deepest night ... there where she found the coin ... when the orange struck the blue ... 33. Time was just a waste ... but when we would hold the days in our arms ... we wouldn't have time ... then there wouldn't be clocks ... then there wouldn't be mirrors ... 34. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... where someone prayed for us ... where someone forgave us and forgot about us ... and now we're here ... in a sharkian temple ... drinking lion's tea ... It all started here ... in this deep orange ravine ... where the broken bridge was roaring ... what would happen if this rabbit ear would fall off ? 35. Here you found your shoe ... with all these bootlaces roaring in your head like snakes all these forestroads ... in a shark's temple ... leading you ... to the eagle ship ... letting orange strike the blue ... 36. There are men standing in the shark temple ... old statues ... they have fights in the nights holding the black days tight ... 37. It's a strange stinging nettle ... growing from the deepest ravine, that orange ravine heading for the eagle ship ... heading for ... a strange castle ... where everything starts to cry is it another trick of vanilla ? 38. She breaks you without mercy ... when the rabbit ears fall off ... then everything starts to shiver ... I know a castle where everything starts to shiver ... everyone is equal ... so let it circulate ... no blood ... just glue and tears ... 39. Vanilla's island stings, but makes you free ... in a shark temple ...with a wasp eye on it, half closed half open ... also on our heads ... we are prisoners ... never free ... following the hunger to get more hungry ... 40. And the boys from bloodhound with their riches ... they fall when the meaner ones rise ... these creatures were living in them these stinging plants ... and now they are up, tearing their masks away ... they're free ... [b. on a golden picnic.] 41. There are growing strange plants from the orange ravine ... they are the hard men, mean men ... there's no business ... only guns ... They are horrible creatures of arabian seas ... 42. Arabian Seacreatures, these statues in a shark temple ... riding the storm ... 43. These hard men ... do the dance ... do the fire ... they ride everything ... these are hard days ... and you need to hold them ... or the clocks will spin again ... mirroring in the sky ... coming closer ... from the dark sides of the temple in blue glue ... blue glue ... 44. They are predators ... looking for butchers ... making strange leathers in the sky ... they have hidden altars ... the tiles on the ground ... these tiles are dangerous

45. Blame and shame are weaving the dolls ... while exoduses rise up in them ... giving them good faces ... by business you can only escape by a two-face .. while the truants have orange guns ... 46. Jesus Christ is a businessman ... but I'm a truant ... I don't show up at all God had never sent me out ... I'm a truant .. if you would ever see me ... it's also the last time For I'm the first and the last ... I'm a shark ... 47. They have bred the cyborg ... along a doghedge ... where the fruits of exodus grow ... thorns stinging deep into the skin ... breeding the cyborg ... and at the end of that hedge, a catwoman lives ... breeding the sugar ... while her sister, a white rabbit ... turns it into alcohol ... and then they can cry or laugh themselves to death ... to sink to the bottom of the glass ... [b. They are the two-faced mask of Pharaoh, drowning the boys on heights of shark's temples in golden altars of water ... He baptizes them ...] 48. You must have a two-faced nose to escape ... or just being a truant ... the hard men will do ... when they reach the hard white candy ... The doghedge is my suit ... this strange plant ... growing inside of me, stinging me ... while people are crying and laughing themselves to death ... I feel myself like the lord of dominoes, like a domino of vela, installing the jokes on two sides ... 49. It's an ornament from grandmothers box ... an automaton ... Seven will rise up to bring us over the nightseas ... These are like marchpane, with hard white candy lying inbetween ... It's like a new alphabeth ... and we can live in these letters ...

1. There are beating hearts of wizard's lying on dishes behind the books, there where the chessboards turn around to show you the enchanted mirror ... There are stinging plants in these strange banana hearts ... you start to cry ... 2. These cities are of sand, while jokestatues rise ... They travel without moving, they breath without breathing ... They are leading their own lives inside ... Them with their powdered balloons and powdered smiles ... 3. There are frogships under the sand ... giving them all injections of insurance ... Then the wizardhearts start to shiver ... Pharaoh has a yellowwhite mask, a Paradox ... always the gift of the snake ... 4. While panthers rise from bubbling waters ... I'm heading for Izu ... While it's surrounded by the hard men from the green candy ... bringing me to the Indian Seacoccoons ... to the hidden uncle Peacocks ... hidden by vanilla ... [b. her curses stream.] 5. They drink their juices fast and spit their sands ... These are dragons hidden in swamps ... While golden cigars open ... 6. There are hot sticks and stings on fishes ... rising from the ancient seas ... on the wings of dementia ... 7. There's chocolate melting in tight bananas now the pawns are finally free ... stretching their arms in spidersuns ... There's strange leather in eastern skies ... riding the Arabian Horses ... now the pawns can drink their moviejuices ... it's like glue 8. There are strange playcards in the skies ... becoming free behind the books ... They were saved by a vanilla's strike ... while the letters are melting ... becoming sand again ... They can drink from the juices of cartoon ... on this golden picnic's day ... [b. while the griffon is floating ..] 9. They are blind behind the bars of books ... while spiderian swords pierce the eyes ... These were Calvary glasses ... on a cat, hare and dog called easter ... a strange white trident of your local insurance office ... strange trafficlighs in your city .. 10. And the squirtel makes strange pictures behind comics and cartoons with a checked white hard candy camera while strange statues paint the skies ... [b. It's August's moon touching August's sun on the twentieth ... [c. while she stops screaming, reaching for december skies.]] 11. There are fishes with striped candystings, floating to Eminius Day. There are boats of sirens with candystings, floating to Eminius Day. While a griffin's boy soothes the hard men by his flute. He's enchanting them again, to let them reach for the viking's helmet. 12. And he said : will you make it, will you name it, you can't, you're off, I'm a lady's tower, you're screaming, I'm bleeding, I am a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. You're dreaming, I did it, I'm a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. 13. There are seven parrots on a stream, showing pictures of icy mountains, under December's Sun, a green one. While a green checked balloon is raking it's moon.

1. Eminius Day shows the shiny hearts into monkey's chests, entering the bear. Their pyama's are soft, while honey is dripping. 2. There are strange leathers and strange wool in the air. These are the underground cities of dwarves, making her heart so tired. 3. She's cold, lying on the bed. Waiting for Eminius Day. Mother will spin the sugar. Mother will show the sugared red tongues. She's cold while I'm standing on December's Sun, a green one. 4. Then I speak my spells, stinging striped candybars into the boys from lynx. It's a machine, running on strange coins. It's a strange sort of Russian Chess. 5. There are seven judgements on the mouth, on Eminius Day, written by the sword of Thoth. His house is built on candynedles and candyspears, stinging and breaking the bones. Then the door opens. 6. He's the brother of Jom, waiting for ..Eminius Day. No time to think. 1. the businessmen are heading for the businessmen, the coffee is heading for the coffee ... and you ... you're still sitting on that old chair decorated by old birthdays 2. come and discover with me, a new world beyond the business ... over the hills and far away but i know i'm talking to a wall ...3. There are jewels in a spanish sun ... 4. I'm looking in it, while I'm getting blind ... But that's to escape your ornaments ... I'm finally safe 5. the big beer is running through scandinavian streets, the big lie is walking behind him ... they make the same movements and before you know ... they tackled you and then you're one of them ... they're catching shadows, lunatic actions ... sucking the fools from the roofs ... it's an artist's mis-vacation ... planned too late on a hard man's spoon 6. now all he can do is spit and roar ... but they call it art that's one for sure ... the fall of the artist, still a beautiful painting, something to remember and to collect all he is doing is making art ... even his funeral is called a masterpiece ... the way he smiles is artall good movies from a big talent. covered by big business ... 7. You with your green coffee ... having some contracts with the big tea and some lamentation dogs ... and now your passengers cannot sleep It's like the curse of the blackest night It's your ghostship with the lions on with your babes dying on the sides It's green coffee which you gave me ... It made me sick

1. he's the guard of my memory that old wasp but he shows me that the old house from the past was also just a memory i lived in this memory such a long time not liking it the old wasp ... the old guard dealing in memories 2. finally they are treasures ornaments ...which need to be worn on the right place the wasp will sting, until the memory is open, until the memory is at home until it is understood the wasp ... the driver of oldtimers ... of old locomotions bringing them home all these lost grandfathers and grandmothers back to the garage 3. the wasp is sitting on the first floor ... in a rocking chair ...for a deeper sleep while all clocks on the walls are exploding the wasp's mosaics are roaring through my spine ...still a strange language it stings deep 4. businessmen heading for businessmen to play the big cuyornaida corset ... to close the fences to the new world 5. businessmen heading for businessmen .. to lay the dogmagnets deep inside ... there's something with their sea-machines there's something with their coffee ... and still too much tea dripping from their noses ... 6. it's the gathering of all big noses it's the gathering of all cowards ... quenching every war which would save the children sacrificing their meals to the dragons 7. it's the gathering of the big cartoon ... too scared to lay the horror ... but now the tragedies are rising ... rising from cartoon all these businessmen all these sacred men just blasphemy undercover 8. there's an orchestra of new waves ... entering your room planting machines in the corners the businessmen are still running ... with their pipes of peace no they have too much old tea in their eyes staring at me if you ask me ... they have faces dripping with tea i wonder why what is the deal ... 9. these loves are two seconds too fast ... they are wearing guns between their legs which they never use well only when they have to install their machines they are wearing the guns between their legs ... they are wearing white rags between their ornaments they are wearing their white flags for seventy seven reasons, which i don't want to hear 10. i heard enough stories i heard enough ornaments like this singing in the rain but i'm watching my trousers grow my back is getting taller ... it's like the wasp is growing there with ten millions of little businessmen so little little lights shining there ... carrying songs on their back spreading their powders ... spreading their powders to make them all blind for the land behind the fence the land behind grandmother's garden11. it's still so weak there pale flowers, pale butterflies waiting to meet the pale ones they are all waiting still so fragile still so sleepy

1. decembers cold nights brought the watermarks on my face ... decembers horrors ... the wasp's tattoo ... all from the wasplake ... 2. decembers spoon hit the waspmark on my leg and someone was feeling my pulse there in that old forest ... now the kids can never come alive again 2. it was an old priest with some sacred marks ... but these were too sacred so no one really survived 3. and this forest is still enchanted ... like virgo's church ... even the fishes are drowning in the pond ... and the candyhouses are bitter there it's all grey and green ... 4. the watermark still on my head the snake is doing business ... he's still breeding his watermarks there now we work in his factories and the curse is getting heavier every year ... it's like farao's hand so we are waiting for some plagues ... 5. it's the invisible debt business makes the beans so sharp so now we're watching the sideshows ... the eyes of the wasps ... for when the dog is home ...it will start to eat your furniture ... and finally yourself and your family ... laying the chain forever ... they can be dangerous criminals another don't want to have around 6. Tatoos on dry places ... The watermarks know where they can suck ... Thick gel on thin places ... The crocodile knows it's paths ... 7. Conspiracies of the damned ... They are all heading for each other ... 8. It's all getting clear through the eyes of a wasp ... But no one wants to leave it this way 9. Real pride doesn't exist, In the heart of the liar, Real honour doesn't meet his mouth It's only some wood of fear, blowing away his consciousness ... and something else is taking him over 10. They are too afraid to live ... They are too afraid to touch When all the curses are installed ... They start to deny everything ... To cover up the wounds ... To cover up your screaming child inside So that no one will ever see ... and no one can really help you ... Barbed Wire Hearts 11. They try to let you feel insecure ... for they could never feel the blessing of pride ... They are barbed wire hearts, they are liars from the beginning, sent out to make you one of them ... 12. They knock until your fragile mind opens up ... And then they slowly slide away ... leaving a pipeline for a daily suck When you give them your heart, They will let it fall ... And soon you will be one of them for you cannot use your heart anymore you're a barbed wire heart too ... 13. Is there any spell to reverse this curse ? Yes, when Jesus will betray Judas with a barbed wire kiss But that already happened hundred years ago in the heart of London, when James Bond auctioned his golden rabbit among the clocks 14. The one of the biggest ridicule, The one with the trademark-condoms, The one with the coldest touch, The one with the diplomatic sleep-pills, The one with the copyright-assistants, The one with the careful curses, Has the keys of this machine. 15. It's the sports Journalist, with razorsharp money, having razorsharp records, running in the middle of bald heads ... It's the game's capitalist, It's sunday's Scrooge in a rotten church, It's your mental brigade to identify flying objects unexpected, It's your bridegroom on a purple rose, It's your liar's docter on a cold summernight, It's your mother's leather dog-chain. 16. The waterlights are heading for ... the light in the pocket ... They have seen light ... Now they are hungry ... 17. A world of elves cannot save you this time ... For now it's something worse ... Your mother's worst put in chess She's drinking a cup, and you think it's filled with your blood, but you don't know it for sure ... It can also be your neighbour's blood ... Her agenda's are never clear ... 18. You always live like you're not knowing what she exactly cooked for you ... Strange dinners from a mother's heart and now you're sick of it 19. No one can help you when mother makes her cruel decisions ... It's like your last joker has been blown away by the wind ... And all the shops are closed today Now your waiting for the night ... Mother's night For the strike of her nails .. The Waterlights are heading for the pocket ... 20. Those waterlights ... in the night ... They have smelled something ... Some pale purple roses ... Now they are up for some barparties ... While no one can save you ... While no one knows you .. You are a stranger in your own land now ... And you even don't know where you are anymore ... For the waterlights have come Waterlights in tall delights Tall insectians ... too tall too tall to feel safe ... 21. It was your mother's worst put in chess ... Now the waterlights, these tall delights are heading for your home ... It seems like mom pushed a bell the worst bell, worse than a million schoolbells ... It seems she was in problems, So now she made this choice ... Or was it an accident ? You don't know ... for her agenda's aren't clear And her diaries are dark too dark to read You wouldn't bear it if you would know what she's all writing about you It's your moms worst put in chess It's like you sit on electric chairs all through the house. 22. But hey, come on, read it another time, and you will not be so shocked ... for time heals all wounds ... well, but ... they might want to take over your moms occupation ... to become your next horror ... that even one day you will beg for those old waterlights again ... your moms worst put in chess ... your last flame on a birthday's cake 23. But hey, you will survive death ... there are worse things than that this old curses chessboard ... which raped your whole family without pardon where it swallowed all colours away where it set it's arena's ... still an advertisement-clip roaring in your head ... Razorsharp like hell, dressed in old rags, She's still playing the widow ... painting the wet blue faces from the Big Coffee ... all these statues ... A woman with intelligence is a pearl in your hand ...24. Awakening the wasp, the ornament's transmission ... In pale purple screams the crime appears ... Awakening the wasp, awakening the fears ... to trace the ladders inside on a woman's thick coffee-panties.

1. Pictures drawn by the trauma, A boy having sharp arrows on his back, An autistic boy ... Hunting the black deer ... It's not you anymore ... someone else took the job ... He heard your scream of the black past ... and now he wrapped himself in the deerskin ... 2. He's weaving new languages on your face ... Your senses were tricked so deeply but now he takes you out of the illusion ... when the red stinging nettle clock ticks ... deep in the forest surrounded by waspnests ... then we will see the big "most" ... it was all ...deeper inside making us all deaf to the lie ... the good mask just melts ... when the wings are spread ... when the feather-pencil rules ... while the persons are raging above your head ... in their unknown languages ... you're just a victim from a war in the air ... from an old birdnest ... from an ancient war you're just an object in their eyes no one really knows about what the wars are raging it's an ancient war high in the air ... it's rising above your head ... so let it go 3. Black Spring from the ornament's ring ... Black lights so thin so thin Sinister shadows in the night ... Aldebaran birds, with their big eyes ... They make the tragedy so thick they can be your best friends ... but the day after they are your worst enemies ... 4. Aldebaran birds, so soft and so tender ... so weak and so fragile ... Aldebaran birds, but you can never touch them ...

for they have the lion's spoon inside ... ready to attack you ... Aldebaran birds, they cry through the nights .. like they are old widows in the snow ... behind bars and thick glass ... for the rest of your life they are birds of tantalos creating the dream ... to let you miss it ... 5. These aldebaran birds ... like everlasting damnation ... aldebaran birds ...

1. Jericho ; Let the comic milk stream from Jericho, by white pink treasures, they take flight .. to become the towers of the sea ... Let the comic milk stream from Jericho. These are handkerchiefs of strange leather and wool ... beyond the museums ... there's honey streaming from Jericho ... where the trousers run ... they drink from iron boots ... while they ride the rabbits ... 2. Where snakes dance ... in a little musicbox ... the yellow station ... breeding the nothing .. and the hard men ... in the museum of tears ... the tears shine like onions ... 3. She was tied to the book, the stories were too heavy to bear, she was a book statue, a prisoner, standing there all these years. On the back of a book, sucking the life out of her, again and again, She was fragile as a butterfly, spreading the green tomatoe seeds. ... And she wanted you to read the stories, so that she could catch you in her net ... So that she could wrap her wings around you, and sucking you deeper inside, while you were turning the pages ... 2. She wanted to hurt you ... she wanted to break you ... to bring you into her world ... So that you would see ... the dragon's tears ... the tears she couldn't bear anymore ... She was tied to the book, a prisoner ... of a green dragon ... And she said : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to take you into my world, So read all the stories, for I cannot bear them anymore ... these green tomatoe seeds ... I'm still a whore ... a slave of a green dragon 3. They call me the whore of babylon, they call me a two-faced harlot, they say I am the seed of devils, but I'm behind dragon bars ...4. You cannot touch me, I'm only there to view ... I am a movie of tantalos ... a movie of a vanilla desert ... [b. Who mixes vanilla tears with banana tears gets the gold.]. 5. A toy hidden on a cupboard too high ... by a green dragon's lie ... Green dragon tears are falling, his books are almost exploding, the memories of his heart ... He needs some guests to read it, there in that old bookshop, So that he can make them prisoner of his books ... 6. Bookstatues they will be, tied on the back of his memories, his diaries,so they can catch his tears, and bring them to the other side of the world ... [b. And the one mixing the vanilla with the banana makes the gold.] 7. Butterflies are flying, butterflies are crying, butterflies are dying ... entering the other side of the world ... bearing the green dragon's tears ... stories too heavy for them, they are tied to these wings, only letting them fall ... and now they are called fallen angels ... by a green dragon's lie ... 8. There are yellow dragon's prisoners ... coming from the south, from the other side of the world, they march, They are the slaves of yellow tomatoe seeds, the tears of a yellow dragon ... 9. there are waspian wars in their heads. And she sais : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to see you bleed, want to see you shattered, so that you can enter my world, to see the tears of a green dragon, the tears I cannot bear ... until they reach vanilla desert ... a yellow stone, freezing them, they are icecream soldiers having the mark of the wasp where the waspian dragons breed them, where they have their soft wet candles ... to be candlestatues .. to burn their books again ... becoming swindling whores again, winning all the games, these swindler's games ... 10. casino's cabman was his name ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... they are swindlers to survive ... they lie to each other ... they are green liars in a boat ... a boat with wheels, with shrieking boys clocks ... casino's cabman is the statue on the front of their ship ...smiling ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... a two faced bed ... having their loves and their fights ... still warstatues becoming business statues in the night ... they are night troupers only touching each other ... by the flame of a dragon's castle ... 11. She's a tear letting others cry ... She's

1. There are gamblers in a hall, they ride, They have the red eye on their heads, they fly, like tall statues, becoming the tiles of the ceilings, still strange pictures, for you and me, these pictures move, and I'm lying on the floor, cutting potatoes ... 2. In a red cathedral, they hide the three pale purple flowers, the red eye is sinking to history, to the museum, to write the future with the iron pencil ... a winged pencil ... with feathers from an aldebaran bird ... 3. And I see yellow liars standing on tops of ships. The mummy is rising, and all banks are closed. There is war now, and soon the pickpocks will come to bring the wounded coins to the bank, the yellow hospital. When they sleep the war's lost, and tea will bring them to business to do the war under the skin ... Here they sting with their needles under soft blankets, while spanish suns blind the screams. 4. There are yellow liars on an orange stream. She's selling her Jesus Christs to the mouths of mice ... strange coins of a strange lady ... with a strange smell .. 5. She took them from the battlefields ... wounded ... and now she brought them back to the bank strange sacrifices on strange altars ... 6. At one o'clock Aquarius enters the dining room with a golden pear in his hand You cannot eat it, he says, but you can watch it, while your nuclear hunger is melting away tricks of the stomache The fat boy is getting fatter, and his head is getting greener and bigger while spitting green fire 7. A glass is spreading nuclear water, but Aquarius sends it away. Go to your room ! he roars. He's the master of nuclear dreams. 8. My grandfather is shivering under the table where he found a little chemical orange, escaped from a lawyer's suite. Please, jump into me, the little thing roars, then I will take you away Grandfather is getting smaller by the magic of the little orange, and there he disappears into the orange It is a little radio inside It flies from city to city to spread the chemical disease. It is a trap 9. There are orange liars ... rising from it ... I'm feeling like Pinocchio feeling the juices of his tree flowing through my body I look at my hands again ... it's like they are turning into lion's claws ... what the heck are you doing to me, I roar It's like I have a million of claws I'm looking at the fir again, but now an old tall and slender man is standing there with a tall beard I'm the wizard of the Lion's Tea, he says Oh help, my whole body is changing into a lion now And I feel the lion's tea streaming from my own heart now 10. It's five o'clock in the night It's silent in the dining-room No firs, no lions the little golden pear of Aquarius is ticking on the table It's ticking very soft and slow It's soothing my head I see all my fears and hurt melting away, spiralling into the golden pear 11. I'm still crying, but all my tears slide into the golden pear, melting away I can only hear their echoes, but it's all fading away all these roaring lions There's a lion carved in the golden pear but I also see other animals carved into it It's a beautiful golden pear It smells like pear-chocolate It reminds me of the white chocolate It also reminds me of the last golden swan 12. Eleven o'clock in the morning The pear-clock is ticking louder and louder, faster and faster Twelve o'clock in the afternoon The pear-clock explodes The end of a white chocolate dream or was it an orange chocolate ? About this the war rages Chocolate Wars 13. I'm dreaming of an Egyptian Boat, Riding in a new sort of factory ... Feeling Thoth's smoke in my back Dragons dreams I'm dreaming of a sun, standing between ten mirrors ... Ten men coming from the sun, Ten men to do the dance, They kidnapped us all, They brought us all the cards But those who don't believe, Will be home this night At the end of the story, I know it seems strange, The mailman is the eleventh, The eleventh of ten Ten men with big grey beards Ten Noah's on a tower Ten Noah's on an Egyptian Boat An Ark for plants

14. It seems I'm in the Lion's Confusion again I'm drinking from the Lion's Tea A woman called Marion is feeding me She loves the Red Rose She loves me She has ten men painted on her hat Trees grow on her hat, and all sorts of herbs and plants Her face is like the yellow flower That good old Licorice Still the gardener of our squares Still our hope to touch the moon Having ten little men on his white gloves The ten fingers of Toth I'm feeling his smoke in my back These are dragon dreams These are cigars of Pharaoh 15. let our masks make us hard again, while we get softer inside ... we're building marchpane town ... Give us our pink white trousers back ... and let our hearts sink in milk again, while masks and towers are rising ... 16. Where the chessboards are red ... [b. the roses are red too ... and also the ghosts You're in a red golden ball. [c. Where the chessboards are blue ... you are blue too ...]] 17. If you want to change the world ... You must change your view first You're in a red golden ball ... 18. Gabriel had fallen. He had fallen away from so many things, when he found out about the offer. 19. Gabriel had fallen, for he found out about his own inner strategy, his own path, and made the decision to break with them. He found out that he didn't want to bring this sacrifice. 20. Yes, he would take over this planet [b. And yes he would destroy the mice.] 21. And he would destroy them, his former friends. He went to a lady, a scorpion's lady. Now he wanted to make this planet red. 22. Gabriel had fallen away from so many pleasures. 23. Now he wanted to be red again ...red again. Gabriel had fallen away from so many treasures. Now he wanted to be glorious again. 24. He heard about the sacrifice they needed to bring ... He would never enter, and now he found out about this new record, this new machine, inside. He didn't need them anymore. 25. They were always red, appearing in blue and white, building the green. His own red, he would introduce it on the green. 26. His father Troxododeron was a chemical fluid, a force binding the powers of the green together for so many histories. It was a red fluid appearing blue and white. It was the strongest force in the universe, the strongest form of magnetism based on a circle of the strongest poles. 27. Troxododeron was the chief of the Elohim, the inner power of the Adonais. He was the chief of all these red flowerfields, so enchanted. [b. But these red cowboys were always hiding behind the bottles.] 28. When you looked at it, it started to become blue and white, sucking away your energies, and giving you a new sight ... the sight of illusion ... These flowers were vampiristic ... These flowers were ... bewitched and enchanted ... to bring you into a new feeling ... these red flowerfields ... 29. Gabriel had to travel through all these flowerfields again, to the end ... where it all began ... He knew the dangers of these flowers, turning themselves against all traitors ... 30. It would be a battle between him and his father a battle he knew he had to fight since he was young ... Red Gabriel was a demon now, in the eyes of the Elohim and Adonais ... 31. He would be thrown into the lake of sulphur and fire ... A lake which he feared ... but he would reach the other side ... where he could share the red powers to the creatures of the green ... 33. He found out he was a prisoner himself .. He wanted to be his own god, he wanted to be a good guide for the creatures of the green, telling them all about the red secrets ... 34. He had this tape in his hand, Antartica, a game of business. It was a present of his father, but now he chose to change this game into a wargame. He wanted more adventure, and he wanted more love. 35. He desired to have true friendships with those prisoners on the green, and finding a way to lead them out. 36. Troxododeron was a shapeshifting experiment, growing out to be the number one of chemicals. It was the medicine of wizards. But now Gabriel wanted to mix it into another kettle. [b. He went to a scorpion's lady. She didn't tell him who she was, but she said she could help him. [c. It was the first woman of Troxododeron. [d. I am his baby surrounded by watchers ... watchers in the night the nightwatch a painting ... nothing but a painting] 13. While everyone seems to like it ... while he's holding his goddess so tight ... but today she's mine again my mother will be free again for he now knows the secret ... and he know holds the treasures ... while he cannot bear it ... while milk is streaming all over to drown the lands once again ... his lands 14. He is the red dragon ... and she is a yellow milkmaid ... screaming in unknown languages ... 15. He is the red dragon ... singing his songs of fire ... while he's living in ice deep down in ice ... 16. He is the red dragon ... red ice so hot He is the red dragon ... and he's singing his songs of fire ... coming from the ice the red ice ... 17. He was born in the nest of a lark ... he's still a lark-dragon ... he was born on both sides ... of a kettle ... a kettle of tea ... and he's still staring at something in the air ... something he doesn't want to know about ... 18. He's still staring at a liar ... something bigger than he ... he's causing so much rains in farms ... he's causing some things to bleed ... he is dragging his smiling girls to the ground ... where they pay his bills ... where they make his trousers .. where they rule the kettle ... [b. these sparrows in the wind] 19. This woman is laughing at the rain ... of the sun This woman is laughing at his tails This woman is rising ... like the phoenix from the ashes ... like the caramel from the kettle 20. This woman is rising She ... is the red lady ... she is the green babygirl ... she is the tall trousers ... coming from the moon ... She ... is the tall woman She ... is the woman from the tree 21. She likes to paint in chaos ... scratching the treasures from his knee So many liars are walking around ... so many spoilers .. drinking their coffee ... So many liars in their ships The pride of the red dragon but he's still ... staring at someone lying more than him. ... 10. 1. Thick cold juices are streaming through the street, the guitar of the snake is their leader, echoing the frightening cries of old forgotten orphans. 2. The stiletto-guitar wakes them up again, and they are marching out of their graves, out of the forgotten graveyards, looking for revenge. No one listened to them when they were young. Now they are old and bitter, looking for the toys they never had, searching for the wine they never drank. 3. They were forgotten, now they will forget. I burnt the flags of rat-armies, drank the tears of bleeding apples. I fought against the forgotten sun, and the lost caves, but it didn't seem to bring me across the river of death. Only the snake could do. 4. The Italian orphan is bleeding, painting his memories by his blood. With the hat of his father, he collects money for his art. 5. His feet are bleeding, leaving red footprints in the sand, for his birds to follow. He was born like a pirate, a toy-pirate. He was the red pawn of a chess-board of angels. Now his father screams at him from heaven. 6. Still he runs through the rain with his fathers hat, in which he collects the old widowers from the streets. He doesn't want to let them die in the cold. 7. The numbers are floating in his mind and he's breathing fire, spitting ice. 8. Baker, spin your wine, baker, cover your liqueurs with rags. You, father of french orphans, you, father of jaguar queens, you bred the snake to it's length and stole the tower from the church by a black rat-glove in the snow. 9. Your wife was the black widow, the clock of the broken tower, and you painted the noses of your tiny little killer-puppets. They didn't need a line, didn't need a thread, they could walk with their own minds, you bred them well. 10. You are entering the chinese city, sailing on your purple golden boat, spun licorice. The old man will greet you from his rocking-chair on the balcony of his wooden house at the bank of the chinese river of licorice-waves. You are shaking hands with the golden giants of the chinese dreams. You never thought this would happen to you. 11. In the heart of this place you find the last golden swan. You feel it's heat bumping against the thick walls of your hand, and it's warmth is gliding into your soul, waiting for a new sunset ringing in your mind. 12. You, oh prince, still your mothers last black pearl, turning from brown into white, hovering to enter a new story in japan. 13. Among the jaguars was your place, now you are wearing their suits and riding their cycles, watching the teeth of jupiter, the birth of new rats. 14. Your jackets are getting taller, your fathers whispers are getting sharper in your mind. You can peel your mothers flowers, carrying the widower's coffin. 15. The last golden swan is beating in the old purple leather bag of your mothers aunt. A little clock is located in the head of the swan, made by the black widow. 16. She is the queen of killer-clocks, creating killer-birds from an old french window. 17. The red eye of the little swan is flashing, it's a little red chrystal. I take it out of it's head, and the clock quits his travels. Now the serpent can sleep. 18. His dreams are gliding through the waters of the swan-lake, bringing him back to where he comes from. 19. I wrap the little gem in a soft towel throwing it in the yellow sea, where a mermaid starts to scream at me. Is it me who's screaming, a reflection of myself, or is it really a mermaid. 20. Do I hear voices in my head, or is a milkmaid standing before the door of my room ? She broke in twice while I was sleeping, and took my cats away. 21. Now she is standing at the yellow sea screaming in unknown languages. Fortune fairytales were coming from her lips and she ate fishes to shut their threats, to shut the old voices of foreign fables. She could turn the weather in a moment. 22. Threehundred and eighty-four rats are surrounding the castle of the red dragon, wearing the blue jaguar on their flags. Japanese delights are their specialities. Their kitchens are full of green moss. The forests are so shiny here. 23. The prince's eyes bleed, the swanlake is speaking to his mind again. The yellow princess, still hiding his tears. 24. What really happened there, in the swanlake, there, at the bottom of his broken dreams ? 25. Mummified by flower-comics. There, at the swanbridge, she brought her mummified man, sacrificing him to the red dragon. The comics were aching his mind, for they were dipped in poison. He's still reading his comics, speaking in a strange language again. 26. Sixty comics are entering his mind again, planting the red eye in his head. His mind is screaming, his heart is releasing and he hears the sharp voice of the baker again. 27. He's getting swivel-eyed again. He's reaching for his inner child, this man in jail. He's feeling his ring feeling his finger. 28. It's stinging and pinching him. He feels his ring is reading his comics too, and he's ashamed of himself. He's diving at a new ring, a blue one, but he can't reach it because of the waves. 29. He feels and breathes his grandfather's smoke of a pipe, and he's trying to break the bars which separate him from his inner child. 30. A battle against a million of rings start, but his mind starts to fade away. One moment he finds himself running between the bars, and he starts to realize that the bars aren't the problem anymore, for between them there is a gate. 31. All colors start to jump on him, but he breaks these waves one by one, catching them with his back. 32. In the mills of his mind, they find a way out and enter his heart to stir up some new troubles. 33. On the other side of the bars, they seemed to be rats, and he mutates with them, racing out of the castle on a friend's feather. 34. Darkness and fogs are fading away. A new day starts. 35. Four skaters are skating at the lake, picking up an old red doll, lying in the snow. He's leaving a world under the ice. 36. Paper soldiers are dragging the waterholes. She's leaving. He's leaving a world under the ice. 37. He's floating in the air, the red doll is smiling, meeting skaters in the air, reaching an arch of ice above the stars. He's leaving another world in the ice. 38. Under the ice, it starts to boil, until an enormous explosion splits the atmosphere in a myriad of splinters, all raging at the fat red lady in the midst of the universe. 39. The red rainbow looks in her mirror again, seeing a face fading away. She smiles, watching a dream coming to it's end. Now she can sleep again without worries. 40. She dries her wet clothes, rolls through the white sand, entering the forests of her dreams, waiting for another split, waiting for another world to leave in the ice. 41. She's leaving one shoe, leaving one glove, to finally enter her golden bath, without looking backwards, watching straight ahead, without bowing her head, every step is silver, every breath is gold, entering the marble galleries of her forgotten dreams. 42. She remembers again, she breaths, like a new born baby. 43. She's wearing the silver secrets of the jaguar under her arms, captured in three silver books. Smoke covers the city, the orange swivel-eyed phoenix is rising from the ashes, carrying a jaguar, a lemon and a red doll on her back, leaving thick moisty juice-stripes in the air, flying to new eternities. 44. A seven-headed orange dragon called Jesus, wearing seven crowns, is entering the first silver book of the jaguar, eating the letters and purple pictures out of the book. 45. A seven-headed orange snake called Esau, wearing seven pointy hats, is fishing the brown warm shoes out of the second silver book of the jaguar. 46. They are all kings of the dawn, kings of the orange morningstar.

11. 1. Chapter to raise the Easterclause-Balloon. To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... I'm finally sitting behind my piano again ... after all these ages ... But I still can't sing 2. A giant took my voice when I was a kid My brother screamed when he took my voice out of my chest Neither my brother sang ever again since that day ... [b. He only played the piano to calm my heart] 3. The bird in my brother's chest died of sorrow the day the giant took my voice away ... 4. The juices dripping from my piano are echoing through the night 5. I still hear the footsteps of the giant walking up the stairways His steps echoing in the night reaching for the bed where I sleep 6. The giant has three daughters ... Their voices echoing through the cities ... Their movements echoing through the tv's of the houses You can see everything they do ... [b. And what they do ... is not so nice] 7. My brother's bird is chained there, sitting on a wooden stick ... It has to sing for them day and night On sundays the bird has to preach for them And reading from some old black books with silver pages [b. I'm kidnapping one of the giant-daughter's spinningwheel and race through Jupiter's Mirror heading for the old suit-shop] 8. Their voices echoing through the streets ... [b. I can't believe it, they are speaking about me They are singing their songs, echoing through the radios of the city ...] 9. It's all about me ... His daughters span the voices in their coins The ancient legendary rich ... The ancient legendary misers ... I wondered how they got that rich [b. There where schooltime was a bird's funeral They burnt my bird in their attics] 10. I remember your face, teacher Like yesterday's hell The keys to the answers lay on my dish ... Why didn't you tell me you were just a good baker ? Baking strange bread with diamonds inside ... 11. You could be my friend if you would tell me earlier You have a wonderful world inside ... Why didn't you tell me you were the white rabbit ? Why didn't you tell me my name was alice ? We would be the best friends [b. But would that bring back my little bird ?] 12. A staggers-cat called Herod joins the group He's on his way to Bethlehem to see a new pupil ... But he first has to buy himself a new coin-suit Tonight the phoenix will rise from the ashes of bethlehem your little bird he sais 13. I feel my throat tingle ... I'm getting my voice back ... You have to talk nonsense he sais For you saw this was the only way to find the answer to get your bird back 14. I got the staggers in my head, and I saw the truth It exists, It exists It's all true We are all in the cage of denial But nonsense is free running in the fields of dreams 15. I'm thanking my teachers for bringing me back to the dream They taught me to speak nonsense while being serious with a tight face It's the face of the coin who can do this ... for people need it to buy their bread ... Another mark of the beast ... To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... 16. I know soon there will be a storm taking creatures away to Oz 17. I didn't know you were a staggercat ... If you would have said it earlier, we could have much fun together But it's ok then I would have missed all these awesome and wonderful books of my teachers All these wonderful cards 18. There my head appears on a playcard They say these cards are the judges of the universe ... We are all standing in a circle ... Waiting for the moon to bath us in silver It's the gathering of the stagger-cards turning worlds upside down 19. The circle starts to spin In these tornado's the stagger-insects are born Deliriums Their speeches can't be followed They are the whispers of the universe [b. The three daughters of the giant know all about it They spin these whispers their whole life Wars of the playcards] 20. These insects appear on the banknotes and bills of society ... Their signatures enchant the world ... Without speaking their nonsense no one can understand you and you can't understand them 21. The old staggercat is mixing some old dictionaries in his kettle preparing a new language Some old ears through the mix Some old tv's and radios And even some old shoes 22. I see little fat men walking on the ceilings They have big hats and white faces Buddhas are coming out of their hats, floating in bubbles to the floor ... I know the faces of these men They all have the same face The face of the greengrocer White Fruits from Vega-South The Arabian Mistress is speaking ... Her eyes are like a tiger or a lion The rest of her face is covered by a white decorated veil 23. An Egyptian king is speaking nonsense to his people ... they all nod yes ... in big fevers for his face is on their banknotes My hand is sliding to my gun These tunnels are pretty dark and dangerous I won't take no any risk ... There I slide into a river called Cat's Fever The dogs are swimming here ... 24. The gnat's fever is a pretty one ... Neon-Glue is running through my body ... 25. The wasp's fever ... Like reading It's softer here in the deeper cores of earth than I thought ... 26. Finally I drink from Alice's tea watching the nonsense of the tiger My tongue is falling out I get a new one Here I see another Lion Fever I got to weave my way to the Chrystal of Delirium deeper in the center of the clock ... I want to know Babel's secret ... The tongue of confusion 27. A cat called confusion is knocking at my doors I beg him to confuse me, to create chaos in my head For the brightness in my head hurts me so deep The lies in my head scream so loud I want to get a good fever and to go to bed Oh, how I want to learn another language This language is breaking my hat ... 28. Turn my world upside down for I'm living in a box of lies 29. I will give you the fever of a radio ... he says His chaos is softly roaring in my head ... soothing my heart and hat the frightening tinned soldiers fall down out of my head's cupboards ... 30. Deep in the center where all the clock-hands cross I saw his face The comic-cat There where they drink comic-juice There where the teachers ask questions in unknown languages There where no translation exists [b. A cartoon-cat is ticking on my shoulder I see a sick child more beautiful than a lion schoolsick] 31. Feeling the snake's split tongue bubbling in my mouth again ... The only way to escape the land of the split talk is to talk the split talk 32. I had a teacher who always asked me where I was talking about when I repeated his own words Three big little blind girls, a Triplets, are knocking on my door ... bringing me a little fir ... Then they disappear diving into the sea ... changing into whales The secret of the trident

Feeling a Three-Tongue burning in my mouth 33. Trident Wars in Egypt's Pyramid Insects of the trident-sting ... Grandparents of the wasp ... 34. Where am I talking about ? I'm fainting in the classroom again [b. and Easterclause brings us always to Holidayclause.] 35. Your nightmares were there to serve you To bring you out of the nonsense into the dream-world where you are free [b. Here you can drink the juices of fairground I am the master and creator of all fairgrounds] 36. I recorded all his teachings backwards I heard the most wonderful fairytales 37. Question-languages are running through my mind ... reaching for the apples of my heart But I don't hear anything The big ear is closing the shop ... he will go to sleep when he's home ... His wife is kissing him, giving him today's sail-magazine 38. When he goes to sleep he will dream about ships This is the only thing he cares about Tomorrow he will go for a trip around the world, sailing the oceans He's finally retired on a pension now 39. After working so long in the sailor's shop ... Tomorrow it will be a toy-shop But he doesn't care about that anymore ... His son will take it over ... You can never convince a deaf man ... [b. Tomorrow the Big Ear will speak [c. under Bekehelm's helmet..... Tomorrow the Big Ear will smoke.]] 40. A language is the other's speech-defect ... all languages come forth from speech-defects 41. I'm the language-butcher he sais I confuse and cut all the existing languages and making new ones 42. I work in the tower of babel I'm the eco-system in speech

12. 1. Chapter for raising the Holidayclause Balloon. The suns are so pale there, in the middle of these tables It's blinding you, it makes us deaf, until uncle peacock takes us away ... 2. The suns are so pale here ... it's christmas in the skies and all these clauses are ascending ... spreading so many lies on television ... it's the pick pock family's decision 3. They locked me up years ago ... to let me dance on their tables spreading the lies of a green tomatoe's dragon ... service with a little light three sides on the coin or maybe more4. The suns are so pale here ... the clauses are lying spreading their bakerman's faces ... spreading their ornament's dreams tonight it's on television and then the babies dream ... then the ship's ascending like dadada's cloudship bringing us to uncle unicorn ... 5. Dreams are so pale here ... spreading so many lies all these clauses on television these lights too bright ... while the shoe sinks in the stocking ... these are uncle peacock's lights all on a leprechaun's table in a leprechaun's coin ... the third side strange road to hell ... here their hairs are burning 6. Here all smiles are fake and they do strange business and they do strange games cuyornaida corset a white boot on a green table ... with uncles around them uncle peacock, uncle unicorn and uncle one to ten ... 7. I am a table-ballerina, spreading lies so high ... spreading soothing machines ... to let them do business these warmachines ... by lies I bring them to sleep Is it the curse on my table ... [b. I am a table dancer, a strange clock, a strange spider, all in the coin of a leprechaun] 8. I do my decisions So much ashes behind the deserts ... where a white chocolate house stands 9. There's business around the big shoe, standing on the table ... spinning around like a crazy spider ... making the plants ... while the silver is hiding [b. and the gold is uniting ... and rising ... and the bananas are burning ... [c. They are dying becoming straight like blue bananas like the big amon ...]--] 10. Like the blue tables behind the streams of sandman I feel like an old table in a museum watching the statues of jokes ... with their rings so tight ... where records spin ... 11. Where dishes take flight to reach for the other day ... through silver skies the bakerman's faces will unite ... like golden rains it will spout these wasprains from such a strange television 12. The queen of england knows all about it she's pressing the people ... like newyears eveningpapers and a little boy is running for no one wants to eat it and now they're eating him ... these dogs in dark skies ... where the silver hides 13. These are worlds in golden coins ... where the bananas burn like fire ... the ashes are good bullets for the guns ... these orange guns of mr. orange dreaming on ... to the tables behind the sleep these sandman tables ... he's having feathers and fruits in his head [b. and I do not understand]. 14. We are heading for another sleep in these rippling silver skies ... Give me my candles burning tight in the palest night ... these pyramids they rise inside [b. I saw a red pinocchio ... sleeping today ... between a green pinocchio and a golden one ... [c. while silver machines were soothing them ... a blue one entered the room speaking in unknown languages ... while the tables started to spin ... and the purple started to rise ... in this daydream's lies]--] 15. On the deserts of the planet mars ... where the icecream machines are rising ... they are creating the distances in the sky, while you think the ships are big so close ... while seventy heats are rising ... from september's bank ... 16. With wasprains in the hand you can search the skies ... it was made by banana and spice ... good old warmachines from uncle peacock ... a true auctioneer on lazy drama holidays .. 17. With the auctions in their pockets, they make the best money ... for cake's conspiracies ... dream on, .. sharpening the lies from uncles gun .. breed the bakers .. throw the suns .. into a new basket of snakes 18. By dagons shatters they turn the icecreams backwards ... she's selling pictures of arms ... so strange it makes you cry ... while your trousers are crying deserts .. your shoes are crying moons ... there are ten mirrors for a liars shatter. 19. Wet forestdreams ... doing egyptian screams ... all backwards wrapped in snow ... she breeds the vanilla ... she breeds the lucifer fire ... in the distance there is smoke so visible ... while auctions rise from strange banks .. these are uncle peacocks horrorshows ... 20. Who takes the children ? the one with the biggest money or the one with the biggest gun ... they don't want to go to arabia ... but they have to go .. it's already ten o clock ... hold your breath .. for within a few whisperings you will be home again ... 21. All in a zebra's watch ... so many cigarlighters from the dawn .. smoking by elve's conspiracies ... he's the prince of video-clips showing his tranvestite claw .. while spiderclocks are running from his mouth ... 22. Suddenly it breaks through edges to a lucifer's wonderland ... izu in the distance ... the auctioneer burns the hammers ... no one dares to walk ... [b. gepetto makes the clocks of pinocchios wood ...] 23. These are wars of the businessmen ... I was a wilder animal ... exploding into the one and a million nights ... I knew drama after drama, having them all on my bow ... spitting the cowards wrapping them in easters snow ... 24. Strange auctions circle in the sky strange fairgrounds .. circling in the skies .. watching the golden baths on high floors ... letters making strange connections ... fighting for a place in the ship ... that strange ship of noah ... where flowers have to die ... 25. When the auction hammer brings the horror ... These kids go to the deserts ... with his rings on their heads while tigers and lions roar in the distance ... and a black panther makes it coming close ... so close that you feel their teeth ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder suns ... burning sweet bars of the cake 26. Noah banker bake the bank bananas in vanilla turn them into gold ... breed them into cobras these are lies to sacrifice ... turning the machines backwards. 27. It's bending on paper ... these are liars on an orange boat ... while the yellow boat is sinking .. grasping fishes from empty dikes ... they're sinking deeper. 28. These warmachines create the coins ... I'm nothing but a coin in your hands created on the battlefield, finished in your hospital ... These medical days they broke me ... breeding me into a wilder animal ... but oh I'm so paranoid now ... feeling so fragile ... having such fragile visions 29. A liar's docter ... an animal so wild ... bringing me wilder days ... spitting sand he promised to be ... an icecream so far away ... this coin will be brought down ... with all these Jesus Christs ... and their heads on it ... 30. Throwing their playcards like sharp money ... cutting the bald heads and the blue potatoes ... These are just the wilder animals ... knowing the world behind the shoe ...The icecream made them blue so blue ... with red hands ... they continue .. back to izu ... 31. This juice it brings me higher ... out of the medical threat .. I'm not a number of your bread ... Land of the lambstead ... 32. Black

Pinocchio I promised to be ... not hiding ... but sliding ... to the daylights dream In a hotel I saw what they were doing to me ... I'm not a coin .. I sleep at homeI don't pay for my food ... I take it from the garden by my own hands ... 33. The sixth wolf of benchelot ... Breathes good while you're breathing, drinking good, while you're drinking, under bekehelm's helmet. 34. These families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins, raising the money high, while the banana shoots, but an orange steals the cry ... [b. while gepetto is rising with his black pinocchios doing strange dances in the night it makes you cry] ... 35. ... He's just a microphone ... shivering when they speak too loud ... he's making icecreams ... like snowclause never showing up ... 36. ... Strange funerals in the flowerfields ... these are the riddles of death ... These are four drunk gamblers, while the mailman is their god ... while a bakertree is growing in the middle ... a strange sun ... a mad sun 37. They are on a travel, to greet uncle peacock ... [b. While pictures lie in the sand.] 38. There are liars on a zebra's boat ... orange liars ... doing the dishes ... for a holiday's spoon ... the banana rises soon out of it's rinds ... with two big eyes ... it writes with the golden pencil. 39. He's still the god of ten ... while the drunk are following him with gamblemachines on their back, they take flight ... 40. It's a painting in the sky ... while brother rabbit is raking itIt's the lawyer's orange ... still smoking these cigarettes on a bakerman's dream ... on a mailman's tight decision ... making a daylight's scream ... 41. And this orange still the head on a stamp of dreams ... this mailman's orange ... this lawyer's threat. 42. And it's still a strange strange cardgame ... in a strange mailman's bag written on a strange ornament while a lawyer is doing the dishes ... they burn trees for this ... this woodcutter's job 43. Making the stamps in dark places taking kids away from the schools ... these are dark conspiracies ... from peacock's horrorshows 44. On a strange footballfield the mailman is rising ... this god of ten ... while he is the eleventh ... and who follows him is the twelveth ... It's a strange bank after all ... when school rises strange tears are rolling making seas under bekehelm's helmet ... 45. The mailman is rising from the footballfield, spreading the stamps as butterflies, and then the mass begins to roar ... while the judges will decide ... The mailman he has a million arms ... while he has a bekehelm's helmet ... they are all under it when he puts off his hat, he's a bald communist .. letting the balls roll by blasphemy ... 46. For a mailman's holiday ... She lives in his bag as his tinkerbell ... painting the smiles on his sun, these golden bananas ... with oranges as their guns ... they have orange tongues so tall so split ... 47. These deserts are in fire they were touched by a mailman ... while an orange face is rising on the stamp ... eating and drinking ... forgetting ... flying on the wings of dementia 48. Strange traffic in a strange clock ... a postman's clock ... a strange sun in a mailman's bank It's lucifer, you cannot decide ... he's spinning the ashes into stamps ... while the dice are rolling ... these are strange butterflies ... 49. They sacrifice stamps in strange churches ... waving at them until they are home ... These are strange funerals mailmen strange funeral undertakers ... working for the clauses ... or are they clauses themselves ... 50. There are strange clauses on stamps ... while soap clause rakes the skyfields ... in september they take flight ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder fights ... all happening in a mailman's bag ... 51. Charity is taking them to the hospitals ... to reach the killingfields ... these are strange ways to home ... These are strange bottles of an ornament's lie ... 52. And these rippling golden lionroads ... heading for the big faroom da bazite ... under bekehelm's helmet ... the oil is running from it ... to change the lands and the nations ... under strange flags ... 53. And our racecars on these rippling golden lionroads ... become so orange in the night ... so orange ... until it strikes the blue ... and then the towers are rising from the sea ... a strange clock ... to bring them all home ... 54. She's cycling to the moon, this feather, to see her moonchild smiling wide ... he's breeding his silver ... with a golden striped rod ... It comes from the ashes ... it rises ... when tigers go to sleep, another tiger rises ... ten seconds on a dream, it's spreading wider ... it brings coffee to the child, while the older ones are sleeping ... 55. And these golden rippling roads .. bringing them all home, together, rising for the storm, who brings them away ... back to izu .. back to lakus ... while faroom da bazite is spouting ... 56. Trips to Brannan. He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... 57. It's made from stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 58. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... He's the wizard's son. 59. He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ... 60. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, in ornamental skies, where truths become a lie 61. It's baker on a bicycle's friend ... it's baker riding on a friend she's a mystery an ornament, a baby, lying in the skies, peeing in the minds ... of millionaires' pride 62. Oh green baby, in ornamental skies, sailing on the mysteries, peeing in the books where bakermen unite 63. It's peeing in your head like a golden statue ... peeing in your head until you lose all control ... 64. Oh sweet baby, sweet ornament sweet baby burning bakerman's skies, burning truth into lies wings on fire ... fires of dementia ... it was installed by someone else ... having the burning deserts in the pocket 65. She's grey this lady, black clothes, hair long, dancing in the snow she's dancing like pale spring ... running on the pink while pink oceans lie to her 66. She tries to understand the words i'm whispering it's coming through like chocolate ... she warms me with her tender smile she never fails when life tells her goodbye 67. She died a hundred times for me ... and now she watches ... without a grin she's tight when the lion fights ... 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby ... raise the mystery echoing right through your mind, make me enlightened by your golden bakery ... so deep in the forests of this earthquakes decision ... bringing the deserts deep inside 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch the spy ... she's stringing all the pearls in grey she's doing dishes on saturday until the children are back she's a saturday's child, watch this spy ... watch her coming from the cakes ... 69. She's bringing the holiday on pink oceans they lie to her Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch this spy of uncle baby, baby 70. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, her voice surrounds the million stars of a golden bakery in the dephts of a millionaire she's his daughter she's his green orange ... 71. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, you're his ornament, this millionaire's man ... growing like a green orange in the skies ... watching the golden babies by a strange lense in his mind 72. Oh, green baby, truth comes after the lady truth brings seas of time, to think about this factory you loved the schoolboy, your face is true ... but i still keep everything away ... for my fears are sailing on pink oceans 73. The horror is there the horror is there now when these words are in silver ... now when these words can speak by themselves they're not locked up anymore ... 74. A purple orange and yellow churches with carbon smiles, they lead the traffic in baker's minds ... to there where the orange liars stand ... burning the sand ... burning deserts ... for the new books ... 75. There's an orange .. a good gun ... a good faroom da bazite ... a tankstation ... 76. They have their moonchilds and their rainboys ... on the wings of dementia ... they take flight ... still that strange cuyornaida corset ... 77. They are heading for the bakertrees where they burn the deserts for the new books ... 78. They're heading for oceans of love under bekehelm's helmet. There's a purple orange lying on the floor ... while the yellow streams from it ... it's sour ... 79. There are strange cucumbers in a lawyers suit, dancing around an orange, and strange paprika's they do the dishes ... in this land of dreams ... they sell the houses ... but the rent's too high ... they are dying on their walls, while they build their towers higher ... 80. It takes a lot of money .. to live in someone's head .. only the rich can do it ... These are cucumbers and paprika's taking you higher ... while you're dying on the ceilings, it brings you higher ... 81. The towers are rising ... with your head in the sky ... Oh, there are cucumbers and paprika's in the sky ... telling you to fly ... on the wings of dementia ... They will take everything away ... until only some old toys are left ... There are towers rising from the orange ... 82. Take flight on the wings of dementia These rings of icecream, contracting tight, while the boys are shrieking, they take flight ... still a shrieking boys clock, wheels under sandman's cars ... 83. They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's table ... rising from the spoon ... 84. Strange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... 85. They were prisoners of a green dragon for too long, eaten by green spiders ... Now they rise like orange gold from the ashes ... wearing orange chocolate on their backs, having some beaks of parrots along the sides ... 86. These balls smell like purple oranges, while the red is floating, red icecreams full of paprika seeds ... 87. Do you miss your seed, it's orange now, to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... while the black man still sells them to the machines, they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... in the restaurant at the sea ... 88. There are thin tall snakes in their body contracting, spitting the venom in their bones, it's so uniting ... they're heading for the gold, these golden boys .. these paranoid men ... elves escaping someone's world ... 89. They are the men of holiday clause, while saturday clause rakes the machines ... Now they can work in pink restaurants, selling icecreams to the wasps ... They have waspian smiles so mean 90. Icecream let us escape from the green businessmachine ... They only work in holidays .. these green men ... of green icecream in daylight they escape running through the nights ... these elves these ornament's elves ... 91. Suits of liquid powders ... blinding souls on paper ships ... while paprika seeds they do the dishes ... under sandman's cars in deep deserts ... rising from the spoon ... 92. Ornament's letters, escaping cannibal, escaping the mouse of spice ... It was worth it after all ... and now your head is full of icecream ... it's cold but it takes the salt away bringing you to a new day 93. Their mouths are dry these paranoid men ... still playing football, throwing playcards ... but they never hit the ball ... their shoes become so tall, to have teeth for summer ... 94. And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... it's daylight's new begin ... 95. And these paranoid men, they look like ornament's docter ... like saltkillers in the sea ... it doesn't bite them anymore ... 96. The milk is flowing, they're heading for the icecream ... taste still a bit salt ... but they're winning the game doesn't blow their minds ... while these ornament's they're singing their strange songs of a captain and a millionaire's unite ... 97. Song of the whispering tailor, song of the shoe-side's king, they have them all in their ornament's raging ... doing the big spin .. on sandman's tables they unite ... watching the parrotfeathers and their beaks ... hinging their like teeth under towers ... rising the spoon, heading for daylight ... 98. It was like taming a lion ... on Elsefic's back ... 99. Pinocchio was a baker's kid ... and you, you look like me, I'm not your santa clause ... I'm still burning the yellow by blasphemy ... sacrifice these churches to me ... I need them as oil for my motors ... 100. I'm still one hell of a beast ... 101. There are strange shoes coming from orange kettles, while the black man moves the spoon, he's mixing the letters ... while the shoes burn the deserts ... until it's gold ... until the icecreams stream ... 102. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... it's running through my veins awakening the marchpane flowers ... in white green chocolate shores ... it's deeper inside ... a pink blue forestroad like working in holidays ... 103. Spit the sand, brother, spit the sand ... with paprika seeds deep inside ... i lost your number ... but now it's back ... 104. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... and then burn them by a scream, i want to be barefooted by the end of the day, to bathe in icecream ... 105. Burn your boots, sweet mooses, burn your ornament's cakes ... spoil the baker's cat and his sweet child ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... 106. The cakes are thin like orange wood, while icecream flows through it, hiding the paprika seeds for a mission ... Speedboats are fast, to be teeth at the end of the day, hanging below the tall towers ... 107. Holiday clause sell me icecreams, and take away my pains of this businessdream ... i drowned in business, now my days are gone, let my shoes grow, and burn them at the end of the day ... to reach deeper inside for the naked flowers, the beaks of parrots and their feathers 108. The icecream's finally running through my veins, while praying to Elsefic, I'm having these strange bananas inside ... my friends are like me ... i can only remember my name in thick letters ... 109. It's strange drugs after all ... from a strange strange tree ... where the icecreams run ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world ... these elves ... these children of bakerman. 110. They're coming from the world beyond cockaign, wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... by Elsefic's candle ... under Bekehelm's helmet ... 111. And then the cucumber seeds are awakening rising into the streams ... watching the daylight's candles, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 112. They're all surrounded by icecream ... it's the Big Escape ... until the sand is rising, building marchpane city in the middle of the deserts ... while the tinkerbells are ringing ... and the jingle bells ... 113. And still the old black man is mixing in the kettle the orange kettle ... until it strikes the blue forever ... There are snakefighters coming from the streams ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... 114. They are the wasps ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... still ornament's doctors ... They have racistic smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ...

13. 1. Chapter for descending the Santaclause-Balloon. The French Schoolbook ; Cruel Heritages. 2. And the boys ... these boys ... They are free in their prisons ... selling their churches to old lions, selling their little gods to another gameshop ... they will be the balls of new games ... rolling by blasphemy ... 3. Glues from Crocodile, the woman with the white boots. In the land of the fake, a fake-assassin lives, all his crimes, all fake. 4. There where everything gets fake, the pain slides away, and then you're holding only that golden precious diamond in your hands ... 5. It's overflowing with liquid yellow glue, the juice for your children ... 6. In the land of the fake, a fake-dancer dances ... the mailman with his fake letters ... his fake hat ... all to make your heart in peace ... 7. Now how do you make something fake ? It takes many lullabies for that You need to fly on the back of the orange dinosaur No one knows where he lives. It takes some adventure. 8. You need to go to some libraries from Gemini, where the glues are streaming, green glues and blue glues, while outside it's snowing, and the trees produce those powders How do you make games, for these are necessary for a fake ... Ask yourself some good questions ... [b. The woman with the white boots will initiate you Tall white boots, a mouth soft like sekmeth] 9. Jesus from the Vegetable, they run on the streets of aldebaran, the terror they are there They sing their songs of clothes too tight ... But they wear their uniforms over them 10. Sharp guitars are on their side The Aldebaran Boys ... they have shining scars on their necks, turning black in the night, making a living on the ceilings 11. The Aldebaran Boys still pirates on empty shores, giving poets their swords back, running barefooted on wooden roads ... 12. With the ballgames in their eyes ... they died in the factories it was the big escape Still tearing clothes, running the stairways of old shoes ... 13. And the boys ... these boys ... they are free in their prisons ... going from sunset to sunset ... I'm finding myself in the candy-factory .. You thought your dance was over here but slowly a new dance started ... a better one ... and much wilder ... 14. A cigarette is getting crazy ... that happens when there are too many publics in your head ... but now he has the pencil in his hand, it's burning. It decorates the candy, to make it ripe for trade ... You still sell these things ... 15. Oblezea Vitrininium ... The spell you still speak out That old dwarve's spell ... nailing your Jesus Christs in the middle of a footballfield. Oblezea Vitrininium, the Birthday's Eye, giving him a new christmas And you are the statue on his gun 16. Oblezea Vitrininium, still sandman's best trick still the horse on your father's road ... 17. There were only ashes lying on your table, muttering at the end of the story ... The Eye of Birthday, guiding the Aldebaran Boys, like Bethlehem's star ... 18. They are mixing the candy through the vegetables ... by this strange fruit It fills their stomachs so deep, like spun sugar ... like the clock of a spider crazier than them 19. My mother's zoo is too interesting but she doesn't always give me the key to really meet all these amazing creatures I think she wants to protect me For I do not realize how dangerous they can be 20. I'm still wanting to visit dad But i really need to put on my armour first I feel myself like a kindergarten-child but maybe that's better To act like an adult when I'm not is not good 21. Then I would become a dangerous animal which they have to lock up behind thick bars But where am I now also behind the bars of the kindergarten but I need to realize that the world outside is the cage and not this kindergarten it's just close to each other 22. I feel the bars of the cages of dangerous animals not the bars of my cage I really need to put that clear I'm free here in this kindergarten with all these caring mothers and mistresses 23. I'm free to fantasize Fantasy is always free But even in fantasy there are bars but these aren't of my cage ... but that of the dangerous animals' cages 24. I'm staring a lot through these bars knowing that one day I will ride these amazing creatures together with dad If we know how to treat them well, they can build houses and cities even new worlds 25. The roar of a new fantasy. I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, I'm hearing the roar of the new city. I'm hearing the roar of my best friend, waiting for me to ride him. 26. Together we will build the land, I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, from millions of years ago. I'm hearing the roar of my daddy's friends. Together we will make the land. Together we will build the cities, the tall buildings, and the skyscrapers, the hollow houses, the big balloons. 27. I'm hearing the roar of a new dream, liquid, racing on new roads to the rainbow and beyond. I'm hearing the roar of the joke, roaring and racing these nights searching for a good end

1. The Dragon Candle ; You could smell the tomatoe .. bringing you to toyland once again ... It was on the back of an eagle ... It flew while you ate ... Could you eat the green tomatoe, when it landed on your back ... You had to wait until it reached your mouth ... 2. Flying Carpet, Carpet makes the stage, He makes the bakertrees, where uncle peacock bows it is your destiny, 3. When Carpets rise, you know it is your time to play, and underneath that warm warm blanket you find your sledge today. 4. It is the Carpet making memory, The Carpet making destiny, The Carpets rise like soldiers on a dream. When the Carpet talks, the city walks, To the city of The Hague, that city at the sea .. Such tall coasts .. will it be your destiny ... 5. To the city of The Hague, will you find your way back, when you have been to The Hague ... It's the Red Golden City ... where all the red raiders stand tall ... 6. These are the towers of talk ... These are the confusions making the creations .. and california will end in arabia ... california will end in arabia .. 7. The tail of a dragon, from california to arabia ... still the spice making your life worth living ... 8. When the octaves rise higher ... 9. It is the ornament, the true time's brother, i wonder about these lanterns so big ... to bring us back to bring us back today ... to the city of the hague ... 10. To the city of The Hague, In the little city of the hague ... a little musical box speaks ... 11. Still a viewmaster in dark caves of stations near the sea, while green aunts stare at all these circling faces of Mickey Mouse, still the statue in the middle. Spinning like a thousand mothers. She's a widow spider. 12. Yes, spit the suns in the green baskets and sell the fruits, for half the price. 13. These are the towers of talk. You have to cheat a bit when you raise your voice. There's a telephone on the radio, a banana on the church, burning the money, for the insurancancy rising like a bird from tax's seas.

1. The Fortune-Teller ; I almost don't dare to watch in her eyes It's like falling into a thousand of pitfalls at the same time, pits, fifty miles deep ... 2. Her smile is like the mandarine, in deep extends They warned me saying never go there, where she is, But I'm too curious to resist They say she's breeding sharks 3. I'm watching the rings at her finger They reflect planets I don't know It makes me curious, I want to step on these planets ... 4. They feed me unknown juices I'm creeping through the sand ... I see her misty palace in the distance or is it just a mirage ... 5. She is the queen of the mandarines They say she was my aunt in early days, but my uncle left her, and she went to africa, to live in the deserts ... 6. She's still a magician after all these years, My uncle became too scared of her magic ... 7. She always turned into a werewolf in the night 7. And finally I see my lost aunt for the first time in my life It's like a million of sharks are staring at me She smiles deep ... You're still that little baby, she sais 8. She shows me her chrystal ball, and I see myself running through the skies ... 9. She smiles, I always followed you by watching my chrystal ball ... she sais ... You were always my little tv-star ... 10. She asks me to drink some of her liqor But no, I say, I have to drive home tonight 11. She sais : home is gone, it's now in the chrystal ball This is your new home ... 12. It's like a million of sharks are smiling at me ... But aunt, I say, I only have clothes for one day 13. She shows me a wardrobe full of suits, saying not to worry about that I immediately like the pink ones decorated with white ... See, you're still a baby, she sais 14. Hun, I need to tell you something, before you go to sleep I still become a werewolf at night, and then the sharks will walk through the room, cleaning the house cooking tomorrow's meals, and working in the garden ... I say no problem, but don't wake me ... 15. The fortune-teller smiles Where am I ? I ask ... You were far away, she sais ... 16. Why are you doing this to me, I ask To show you that your dreams are real, she sais ... I look at my hands, and see my aunts ring on one of my fingers ... 17. Yes, it's true, I say A little shocked ... Then she closes her book, And I fall asleep again

those whose nipples are protected. 7. In the hands of Izu they will dwell. Hail to those who have the old faces in their keys, for they will reach for Izu-Jamaica's sands, to enter the lands of Cobra. 8. They have the youngest and oldest smiles to lead them all through the valleys of death. Hail to those who have the eternal heart of Izu-Avah in their chest, for they can reach for the widow spider laying dormant in the middle of easy faces. 9. They have seen the visions of Nostradames, to become paranoid and neurotic. 10. Hail to those who have survived the strikes of Belcanov, for they have become softer and softer, by the glues of Brannan. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have been struck by a fever to become healthy. They have been struck by chaos to become ordered, 11. Yet they are wild. They are the wild men, the wild boys, becoming raiders, while they are sleeping in trees. 12. They have become darker and paler, covered by chocolate, vanilla and peppermint. Hail to those who have survived, for they have been struck by confusion to become creative. 13. They do not marry, but travel from woman to woman, to become the shining hermits in the sky, while their lights are slowly fading away turning into darkness. 14. Their hands are cold and their hearts are hot, while they worship the illuminating Biezefic, their son of hearts. He came on the third day of their death, to bring them these new smiles. And they have entered through the cages and caves of Belcanov, 15. To see a new smile, floating on their faces, diving into wild waters to rule them all. Their lips are pierced, their eye-brows waved. They wear the ancient cuts and tattoos on their bodies, 16. As they head for the mark of the hybrids. They have become darker and paler, raiders of a new apocalypse. They have burnt old books, they have eaten from old chocolate, they have wandered through easy wildernesses. 17. Now their heads are difficult, made of paper, while glue and honey is dripping. They have found themselves as puzzles. They have doors in their bodies, as struck by medicine, the curse of medicine. 18. Now they have their own medicines inside, deep down in the ice. Hail to Biezefic. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have waited to greet Marazanta from a distance. They have watched the ripples of new oceans, where they all live underwater, by gravity and fishian smiles. 19. They have found their roots and their holy arks. They have wives like harems, like ancient kings, they have more legs, like the jellypus, they smile. They are raiders, dominating the hard spells. 20. They have lost their lives in deep dark caves, to meet the Benchelot of their hearts. These smiling wolves they faced deep down there, until the dogs of Belchelot led them out, to Izu-Kabbernal they moved their legs, while their arms were reaching for the watering skies. 21. They have watched the faces of Izu-Benchelot so deep, while faces of Izu-Belchelot led them out, to the skies of Brannan and Izu-Kabbernal, they took flight. 22. And now they swim as fishes so deep, in darknesses of deep Saturn in Avah. Amen-Saturn-Avah-Amen. [In Izu]

1. The Wizard ; The Arabian palace was hard to reach, The desert was long, and full of snakes ... 2. I'm touching the portal of the palace, But then it disappears ... It was a mirage ... 3. Finally I feel hard ground below my feet, Am I in now ? No, it's only a lost stone in the desert ... The sun breaths in my neck, My shoulders are burning 4. Finally I see someone standing with a mirror, smiling So it was you making all these fata morgana's 5. I'm looking around me, the desert is gone Even the desert was a mirage, just another one's trick I'm in the palace, Cool winds are touching my neck and back 6. My clothes are thin and transparent The sun tattooed my body with dragons, to protect me against the Wizard's eye ... They say his eyes spit fire 7. His cobra's lead me to a room, in the top of one of the palace's towers Two lions will wake over me the night ... They say the black powers will rage when the nights fall 8. In my room it's hot My bed is burning, and flames are dancing on the walls ... 8. I see banana's to eat, but I don't dare to touch them They say they are the wizard's hearts I see them beating on their dishes ... They are pulsating strange feelings into my stomache ... 9. I feel like getting drunk It's the wizard's banana-liquor They say it's necessary for a good sleep, and not to fall out of the dreamship, while sailing over the seas of the night 10. I see black licorice surrounding my ships it glitters in the waters The black sun is enchanting the oceans But there I see you walking on the water, with your little mirror ... 11. And I find myself sitting on your lap It was all a mirage it was you again Uncle wizard, it makes my touch lighter ...

1. The Card-Reader ; These summers with you on Neptune took so long, it was like forever. The days here took so long. I'm staring at the little clock so many numbers. 2. I'm seeing your smile reflecting there, watching Neptunes Teeth Your dress is taller than the sun, telling me stories about a long forgotten past. 3. Your earrings are big You got them from an Arabian Queen. 4. The way you use to smoke your tall cigarettes is too mysterious to describe, a dignified kill is what you always called it. And oh, yes, you are so dignified, tempered and patient. 5. You always said you don't wait for anything. You always said to wait is to die. Your smiles reach the bottoms of Jupiter and Saturn, they are still your loving sisters. 6. When you shuffle your cards, there is no one who can say anything. When the lady speaks, everyone is silent. You know the snakes around my neck. 7. Softly you close the curtains, as in slow-motion. I'm trying to catch a glimpse of the ceilings here, but all I see is smoke and fog I wonder if this house has ceilings at all. 8. You smile, and give me a glass of strange wine, or is it liquor ? Anyway, only by watching in the glass, seeing the rubyred moist, I get a sting in my stomache, and something climbs my back, embracing my neck as a soft wind. 9. Is it your monkey or just a trick ... or am I just dreaming I'm getting dizzy staring in the glass ... You still hold it before my eyes, I don't dare to touch the glass 10. No, give me some apple-juice, I ask You say you don't have apple-juice, only these sorts of blends There I see myself sinking away in the glass You smile deep, and saying : "Come on, give it a try, take a good pull." My legs start to shake, and I'm falling on the ground 11. Your carpet is so soft I feel myself like lying in the grass I am looking at my watch, seeing more numbers growing on it 12. Your face reflecting Seeing Neptune's Teeth 13. No, no, no one can ever say I drank from this mixture, this only happened by staring at it You smile, and while turning your back to me, you walk to a bookcase, so tall, I couldn't see where it ends 14. Maybe it doesn't end If there is no ceiling, there is no top of this bookcase But I don't know, I only see smoke and fog 15. You smile while giving me a book I shiver, I don't dare to touch it ... While staring at it, I feel all strength streaming out of my body I'm lying on the grass again 16. Someone's touching my fingers Your monkey ? 17. You smile Turning the blank pages, while disappearing in the fog

was inside he felt like his skin was torn off 26. like he was also going through a cocoon he felt so many strange powers in his eyes, like he could burn everything by his focus 27. He felt himself like a lethal wasp ...28. "you are the seventh one", a voice spoke. 29. their mouths are becoming so mean all of a sudden It felt like they were walking on a thin wire ... surrounded by dangerous electricity 30. while a wild sea of fire was roaring under them touching all the silent beauty, touching all the fragile layers it was like he was turning into a white fly like he was in a strange sort of cocoon too mysterious to describe and understand 31. it was like his memory didn't exist anymore serene slowmotion waves of a white ocean ... he was never born he was dying it wasn't his cradle in which he slept as baby ... it was his grave 32. this ocean is so large ... surrounding his whole being ... he breaths in the white rippling powders [while it's shivering between brannan and lapsalvania.] 33. He wanted to bring something on the market as a product of these two interests together ... He was thinking about a new line of technology responding to the fine electricities of trees. 34. He had a lab in the place he lived, where he had invented such a scanner, which could catch the vibrations of trees, producing signals on their special frequency-zone 35. It took him years to find and rate the different wave-index's of different trees, and the patterns of communication together with the interaction between these different layers ... 36. he had formed the scanner into a box which could store these energies and transform these to use them for different instruments. 37. This would be a possible way to get rid of environment-pollution. 38. Years later he had invented already a lot of instruments totally working by stored tree-energy. He had invented a tree-energy-based computer, with internet and virtual reality. 39. It became a revolution on earth, and smashed the pollution down like never before. Many factories started to switch over to this new form of electricity-use. 40. He became the hero of the society, but he didn't like all this attention ... He was glad he still lived so isolated 41. And he loved to make trips through the forests sleeping in a tent to stay close to the trees He felt safe here and this was his place he got so much inspiration 42. The revolution went on ... and soon the whole society worldwide was based on tree-energy It was a new industrial revolution. 43. Soon enough many scientists started to work in the project. A major change was coming into all layers of society : religion, education, politics, science, and many more. Wave after wave of revolution entered earth ... It was a breakthrough in total evolution. 44. Scientists were developing a system to set the moving mosaics into smell. By this system one could bring the healthy flavors of trees everywhere. Also the higher forms of smell which couldn't be traced by human noses could be translated into the present frame of nose-sensitivity. 45. But scientists wanted to recreate the nose by their genetic experiments. The frequency-borders of human organs and cells needed to be stretched out The effect of this new science was that human beings became taller and more sensitive ... so that everything would be refined deeper digested Humans became thinner 46. It was like the elves were returning to earth 47. He was now working on a project to conduct insectian electricities. And soon enough he could set the incoming patterns into visual information. 48. It was a strange mosaic, it was wilder than what he got from the trees, and it was like little sharp lines mixed through each other It was a wild dance he saw 49. And he had the feeling someone really wanted to talk to him but he tried to ignore these feelings 49. He wanted to be in peace ... he wanted rest ... staying pure scientific but the screens became wilder and wilder Finally he put it off for it was like the screens were almost exploding ... the instruments were already overheated 50. He lived in a house near the sea ... One day he got a letter from someone from the Young Scientist Association ... They wanted to talk to him, for they said that they had worked out his Insectian-based instruments ... They had developed a mechanism which could translate the insectian mosaic code into human languages. 51. He was very sceptical about it and didn't respond. A few years later he got another letter, that they got messages from the translated mosaic-codes about him. They wanted to speak to him about it. But he thought it could be all part of the conspiracy, so he didn't respond. 52. A few months later he got another letter. This time it contained the messages from the codes. He was like in a shock, for it contained some details he never spoke about. The insectian codes also told that they tried to reach him before. 53. He remembered when he first started to get the insectian mosaics on screen that these were so wild that everything started to get overheated 54. New revolutions came on earth since the codes were cracked It seemed this new insectian technology showed easily the conspiracies ... The frequenties were burning them inside Organisations started to melt away for this was a very personal technology. It was like a holocaust People were set in fire 55. it was burning their organs away There were forestfires, and even some seas were burning There were skeletons on the streets 56. Babies were screaming Playgrounds were burning away schools churches Justice-courtsshops And the fire was spreading more and more there was smoke everywhere 57. While the new insectian computers and observatoriums were built further The tragedy of truth was now leading them Almost all other governments were falling ... Many famous leaders were totally burnt to the ground ... many famous popsingers and sportheroes They all appeared to be members of the Big Conspiracy 58. New education-systems were rising, insect-based There were screens on which you could see the mosaic appearing on one side, while on the other side the translation appeared in many human languages giving very detailed information it set people on fire 59. The world was getting ready for insectian cybernetica, and a new cyborg-structure Many famous old scientists were shot away A total new scientific government started to form itself on earth with many young leaders 60. It was like the insects were born on earth Humanity became taller and thinner men started to let their hair and beards grow It was like Jesus was returning to earth Native Americans and other minorities got their honour back. 61. But he was very sceptical he knew that this was only one step in identification This was only the first wave ... and he warned the people for it He wanted to live in silence he saw the dangers hanging over the earth

1. He and some other four walked to a white castle in the distance ... It looked like a palace ... When they were in they saw an old woman who was like waiting for them She was clothed in white ... but they didn't see this woman before ... She held a die before their eyes, and said that their whole world was living in this die 2. It was like earth was traveling to the exit .. 3. Since that the air became stranger and stranger, and it was like a strange hand was taking over the world. 4. Meanwhile science developed itself in insect-based technology, and one was specifying the several area's in this. 5. The wasp-electricities could be caught and seemed to be very useful in many ways. 6. and soon they got these frequencies on the screen ... It seemed that the wasps communicated by holograms, mostly by cubes, looking like dice in many cases. 7. One could trace the different forms of this unique communication. And it seemed the more they developped this wasp-base in technology, the more hidden secrets were being revealed ... 8. There were more exposures of conspiracies, By the releasement of this new electricity in so many ways, the earth-temperature was becoming hotter and hotter, and science found out that wasps directly tap from the suns in different cosmosses. 9. The earth was about to change into a new sun ... and science was in a race against the clock to prepare humanity for that. It was like the sun was touching the earth, but it was not the same energy ... 10. it was a controlled and concentrated energy, a focussed energy, and it seemed there was a solar cocoon for humanity to learn how to handle solar energy. 11. Seas of fire were roaring on earth ... But one didn't realize that anymore for they were stuck in their own balls golden balls like a strong concentrated energy 12. He was at peace ... he was finally in the silence he so desired ... For all the pressures and expectations of organisations and governments were slowly strengling him ... like he was in the arms of a devastating insect ... 13. He felt free. It was like the show was over now, and he could finally live for himself instead of for others ... 14. He couldn't care about them anymore, for he knew they had to live their own lives, making their own decisions ... 15. Life would have a fitting cocoon for them and he even didn't know who they were ... He just wanted to be blanco for now ... 16. The temperature was very good but suddenly images were appearing on the walls of the golden one .. They were rippling like a movie, and it was like hands tried to touch him 17. "Well done," he heard a voice saying ... 18. Hours and hours went on, while images were appearing trying to take him away and he knew all the other people of earth would go through the same soon he was very tired of it and he fell asleep 19. When he woke up, he saw the ball was transparent, and all sorts of insects were creeping over it He saw the images coming from them ... from their mouth, their eyes, claws or other parts 20. In the distance he saw a docter with some injection-needles Suddenly the docter walks to the ball, opens it and takes him out It feels so strange for the docter is like a giant to him 21. The docter has a very high voice, but explains to him that he's still in his golden ball, that this is just a trick of holograms the docter asks him to shake himself very quickly 22. And when he started to do it the holograms started to disappear while he found out he was really in his golden ball 23. He started to feel so weird inside ... Like his mouth was in fire ... hearing this strange song ... His ball was surrounded by golden pharao's pouring golden tea inside the ball ... it was like he was drowning in it, and he was drinking it ... setting his mouth and teeth on fire ... while his whole body was boiling ... 24. Suddenly he didn't believe in this golden ball anymore ... He wanted out of it ... for it was like he was in hell ... And he knew all what looked like to be out of the ball was also in the ball on the screens ... 25. A voice was saying : "you can never say you weren't warned" 26. He thought by himself : "Well did I do something wrong, that I am in this cursed ball now ?" The voice then said : "No, but you were prepared for this, right ?" "You knew you would have to see more tragedies of truth" 27. "The point is you were drinking this tea since birth, but you now start to realize it ..." And then the voice was melting away ... It was like he was getting stung by a thousand of gnats ... he realized it was always there, but now he started to realize it ... 28. It was like for the first time in his life, he really connected to his body ... He could feel his body ... 29. He saw something like an electric eel lying before him ... with a body so bright that it blinded everything else ... 30. it changed the vibrational structures of the surroundings and the vague shapes ... the emotional responses it brought ... all indexes of experience changed ... and it was like he could only stare at this enormous being of paralyzing light ... It was like it was absorbing him totally 31. She's riding with the golden skin ... She's sitting in the golden fly She's sitting there to let it spin ... She never takes her dreams back ... she plants it all into you ... all these voices too loud all these sights too bright ... paralyzing the rest of you 32. And he felt like paralyzed ..Like in a shock ...Watching this electric fish-like being [so solar] Watching like he couldn't watch anything else ... while the pharao's were pouring their tea ... 33. He saw lullabies dance ... He saw lamentations stand around them While Viewmasters were coming forth ... His eyes were like eating the pictures ... And these were as honey so sweet But in his stomach ... It became like rage A rage he couldn't understand ... a rage he couldn't describe ... 34. It was absorbing his mind ... and it was like he was growing into a statue ... For outside they are shapeshifting each other ... changing each other. 35. Always changing the shapes, always changing the indexes, always changing the colours Until there wasn't an identity anymore ... only an eaten soul layer by layer 36. what a strange, strange viewmaster channeling the ray of light, from high above. 37. But now what he saw here ... was an apocalyptic march of lamentations and you will look into the face of a viewmaster ... the face of an electric fishlike being [so solar] ... 38. A voice said : "you can never say you weren't warned ..." [Mickey Mouse on a candlestandard.] 39. In this electric fishlike being [so solar], he felt himself like a statue ... There was no need to switch anymore ... For it was like here there wasn't time ... 40. All hard parts were connected into the statue All truths ... All he needed for this moment He felt himself ... like a rock He felt that the clock had done it's last tick 41. And it was like his brains were locked now protected against any split against any switch 42. He felt himself like being an ornament now living in a shell ... living in a diamond having a new viewmaster 43. And then it was like he was diving through a million of golden rings locking him up into this new world ... they all had their advanced ways of locking it up they span so fast and he watched their figures slowly spinning into a tight statue a tight ornament the tight rings they were ... 44. He now realized that the clocks made him so soft ... molding him changing him while he could never get grip ... while the vultures were eating like an oyster He loved to watch the pearls inside he loved to spin them he desired to live inside of them ... 45. In the distance he sees his old marbles They are suns having the colours of stones and metals 46. He's seeing the solar ornaments, the solar stairways, while it's becoming dizzy in his mind 47. He's trying to grasp them but they are flying away It's like they are there, but when he grasps it's all staring and smiling at him from another place ... 48. He wants to learn their languages He wants to be in their racecars He wants to ... 49. He wants so much ... All his desires rise to the edge Is this the road to New Aldebaran ? 50. He wants to be on the racecourts ... to roll on them ... to learn a new language to the heart ... 51. He wants to race on banana-roads to learn the language of the banana ... He wants to jump over borderlines over red-lines and dead-lines ... He wants to 52. "You can never say you weren't warned," a voice speaks ... And then it's like he's melting away Into a sort of fruit ... Into the banana of his dreams ... heading for ... 53. A new Aldebaran ... He wants to fall into spirals of new suns until he reaches the taste of the fruit the core a new world to enter ... 54. he's in a solar cocoon ... melting and melting inside ... 55. he's melting by gold, pearls, silver, emerald ... like living in a diamond ... 56. A voice is speaking : "you can never say you weren't warned" 57. In this solar-womb he will grow ... inside the mother ... not outside ... he will be safe forever here his daddy lives in his mom 58. he's heading for a new aldebaran he wears so many rings on his fingers now ... and he sees the wasps flying from sun to sun ... the wasps are so large he can sit on them they will show him the way to this strange land ... Children of the Sun 59. He was thinking ... what would be the best way for humans to communicate ? direct or indirect ? by telephone or tape ... wouldn't it be much more safe when people just hear something which was already spoken ? then they could also have time to react to it ... 60. ... He found out that earth's communication went too fast It was almost manipulative ... all the need for autograph's ... fast answers ... no one would wait one minute for the other's words 61. and this was causing all the accidents ... the prejudices ... the impulsiveness ... for no one dared to slow down anymore one didn't want to be rejected ... 62. He didn't believe in all this society-stuff He was a hard worker ... thinking that only the lazy ones created society ... 63. ... he found that people just covered their laziness by their talkative actions ... the social strings were about to strangle the whole earth in his eyes he never went to parties he was always working in his cellar 64. His son's dreams were inspirations for him ... Such a little boys having such dreams It was still unbelievable for him ... he wrote all his son's dreams down in maps, and these were almost his sacred agenda's ...

9.1. There were also snakes who could enter their bodies through their wounds, their mouths or other gaps in their bodies, even between their buttocks. Sexual Revolution as Inner Freedom Revolution, not as unclean, dependent slavery. This is the statement of our master. 2. Snakian Sexuality wants you to be reconnected to the divine, to the love-relation with yourself. It is the Fire and the Ice mixed. 3. The Python is sent out to your earth with a mighty vibration. It's task is to bring you back to yourself. 4. We welcome you for initiation in our temples for the highest good. 5. The dark spine can be connected to the dark coccyx, as a way for the dark kundalini snake to rise. 6. This can reconnect you to the dark genders, the lost sources destroyed by an overload of impulsive light, the uncontrolled women-vibration and the overcontrolling men-vibration. 7. Together they form the damage-bringing Blinding Light, eating away the brain, in which a sick superficial brain can develop itself as artificial polarized intelligence. 8. It lives by slavery and 'prey'. We got our knowledge from masters. We bring honour to them for their works and love. We saw in them : They gave us the most proper gifts they could give us. Amen and Talgamen. 9. Honour to Sarsia, who brought us a light in total peace to the darkness. There is a day in the night, a light surrounded by dark wings, to bring the light back to that which is hidden, the gnosis, the secret knowledge. 10. I want you to know about the secrets of Eeden. There was a Pythonian Tree, where the Python lived. 11. This Tree was called 'Secret or Hidden Sexuality'. But Adam and Eve chose to eat the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, instead of connecting themselves to nature and themselves, and they really got raped by the snake of that tree. 12. It was a black snake wanting to rule the world by polarized knowledge, while humanity lost it's sensitivity. 13. Of course there are many versions of this story, and you can even switch their meanings. 14. Humans must find their way to the hidden tree, the pythonian tree of secret sexuality, to be initiated in our temples. 15. The forces of polarized sexuality are strong and dangerous for they spread diseases, dependency and damage-bringin group-energies. 16. You must find the serene key of sexuality into yourself, as a portal to have experiences of Oneness with the divine. 17. The Serene Orgasms from the Hidden Tree come when you are into deep connection with it. 18. It seems you have to make a pilgrim's progress, a stairways of initiations. 19. I am the Python of your dreams, penetrating the membranes of your brain, so strengthen them, and to make the fleeces flexible and multi-layered. 20. I make your emotional bio-electric bodies flexible and connected by innerlinks, to soothe and strengthen the worthy and serene chainreactions of nature provided to help you on your way to access infinity. 21. There was a conspiracy between the man and the woman. Glory to Tujaja on this day. May the good Goddess bless you on your path, and may the python guard your steps. 22. We will lead you along the hidden pythonian genders locked up in the spine. 23. Eat from the hidden tree, and find the darkness of Eeden again. Then all your knowledge can be transformed and repatterned, as a ladder back to Eeden. 24. Then the dark snake can rise to activate the dark spine and the dark coccyx, to open up the dark layers of DNA, for new recodings and allignements. 25. Glory to the Kingdom of Ra, glory to the Egyptian Snakes. The snake comes from the core of the earth through this basket and then it rises in the spine, to sink down again into the core. 26. This is a mighty vibration and there are many snakes to awaken. 27. There are stories in which Eva found the hidden tree and ate from this fruit, while she had sexual experiences with god. In another story the one who ate from this fruit was called 'Lillith'. 28. Eva and Lillith in their good forms are goddesses in our pantheon as well. They are the mothers of Life and Sexuality. 29. I will bring lots of glory from the moon. 30. I penetrate your mind and dreams as your guide and guard in the orbits and tides of the planets, coming like mighty waves over the earth. 31. I teach you what it is to switch, to transform, and to see the beauty of the spirals of nature, still showing the same colours, but then it slowly switches over to another spiral for there are also spirals in spirals. 32. Go from beauty to beauty, everything has it's opposite and needs it's opposite to develop itself. 33. This is at first a painful process but later you learn to use this pattern as a plug as a sense to call for other patterns. 34. There are patterns within patterns, and they switch. Dive into these seas of patterns, and make friendships with every tide to use them well, to channel them through your body without blocking them, to let them flow through your body without judging them. 35. See how rivers call for rivers, it is all a big mystery of life, calling forth mightier and mightier waves, until it is all swallowed and put in divine order. Give this process a chance. 36. Let the solar energies digest that what you have in mind, for a total transformation and a total new creation. And when you make the decision to accept it and use it, it will mold in your hands, and be a stone of life's temple. Be a temple of life. 37. Let the energies roar through your spine, and let the python plug in, on the several connection-points of the spine. 38. Let the python then bite in your mind to intoxicate you, and to build your bio-electric pythonian helmet. Be ready for initiations. Invite the pythonian forces into your dreams. 39. There were a lot more trees in the garden of Eeden. There was a green wet tree, through which you could have access to the wet world. 40. The pythonian records could be found there, stored in soft wet cushions. 41. There's a story that when Eva eats from the hidden tree and becomes one with god, she gives birth to a sort of former Jesus-figure. 42. It is a sort of snake-figure but it has legs and arms. The story describes how this snakian Jesus loses his arms and legs under a curse and becomes the sort of snake we know these days. 43. However they never lost their abilities to shapeshift at times into beings with legs and arms, and even into beings with many legs and arms and sortlike tools. 44. The tree coming forth from this divine mating is the blue tree, also the Tree of Taboo. 45. Under this tree Metensia gave birth to her sons Michai and the Aakse (who became a fallen angel after awhile). 46. God planted many genders in this garden. There was one tree in this story these genders weren't allowed to eat from. 47. It was the woman-man tree giving them access to an abyss were only men and women were allowed. The boss of this abyss was called Apollyon. This is a story in a Pythonian Bible. 48. The first kundalini snake about to rise is the blue kundalini snake in the solar blue project. 49. It will rise from the Blue Tree and then overflow the woman-man abyss. This will be like a metaphysical flood. A lot of false spirits will be drowned on that 'Day', the Day of Our Dear Lord, which is actually a period. 50. This will bring a new era for earth, as the Aquarian Waters will rise layer by layer to bring justice in the abysses of the earth. 51. There will be metaphysical changes of an enormous grade, while certain mighty women will lose their gifts, and fall. 52. There were women who went to deep into the woman-man abyss of Apollyon, and they reached a lot of illegal powers and control. 53. They will be drawn back one by one, or group by group. Tides will turn. 54. The second Kundalini Snake to rise is the Great White Kundalini Snake, when the Solar Ships of the Blue Sun have reached the cores of the White Solar Shells of the matrix of universes. 55. This will be an inter-universal strike. One is able to enter the White Solar Ships for further access on the Solar Stairways, while this Mighty Kundalini Snake is rising. 56. It is coming from the core, to recode and change sexuality. It is a sexual force, but clean and serene. It comes with destructive fires to clean the core of the earth and all it's layers. In this there will be new creations, and the layers of the mind start to fall to make place for the true images of life. 57. She will carry the Pink Link in her hands, ready to install it into the stomach as a seed. Soft pink fires are coming from it, surrounded by glowing layers of ice and snow in such a strength that it radiates a heat beyond solar energy. 58. It is the heat of ultra-ice, such a coldness that it turned into an all-destructing fire. She is a supernatural lady, she is a pink vulcano of divine orgasms bringing you back to memory by tears. 59. By tears you can store and remember, to give you access to the hidden tree of secret sexuality. She is reflecting the liver of the cosmos, the storage of the body, her name is Pele, a Hawaiian Goddess. 60. It is a Tree of Memory, illuminating who you are, where you come from, and who belong to you. 61. There will be such tremendous forces of heat awakening on earth, that earth will get solar qualities step by step. 62. You will see the miracles happening before your eyes, when you walk these Gaian Pathways, as a way to bring the neural Gaian pathways into your mind. 63. Layer by layer you will have this access when you stay in these words and flows. 64. I am speaking to your heart, and when you feel this connection, reply to me, to let the mighty vibration between you and me arise ... 65. Let us be the keys together, to open new universes, as a solution, as a continuation of the good life. You are a wonder, let us melt together. 66. All these new patterns, you can be part of it, as being a key in ascension .. I love you, please reply to my love, as I am interested in you. 67. I will give you total freedom, we will have the vibration of a growing fire and a growing ice to set us both free, so that we can fly together becoming lighter and lighter by getting rid of the heaviness of slavery and expectation ... 68. Be free, give freedom, and you will ... 69. The laws of your biology are cruel. Let me lead you to a total new biology, on a strong pythonian base. 70. I want you to know that the pythonian energy is one of the most refined powers of existence. There are layers in the earth denied, while they were there for your protection. Let me raise the animallistic shields around you. 71. There are many sorts of green kundalini snakes to rise from here. They are to cleanse the blood, change the directions of its magnetic grids and vibrational patterns. 72. This is a powerful crystallizing force, with the ability to release the inner juices and sweetness. 73. It is the ornamental art, also combined to architecture. It is an ancient mother-source of the white-red pattern. 74. Strong Jupiterian Force of Ornamental and Lighter Architecture. Powerful crystallizing and ornament-forming force with the ability to release the inner lights, powders and fires inside. 75. Strong Aldebaran-based force of cavebuilding, thunder and lightening. 76. The chip will bring a new hormonal index based on new sorts of glandfunctioning by the new codes this chip radiates. 77. There will be Pythonian Camera's to crystallize this process, and within new codes of powders and fluids proclaiming immunology will be activated and secreted. 78. In the green spot, everything becomes wet.

1. They knew about the frequencies of different slimes creating a total new body. 2. He always said that society was the main killer, but industry gives a chance to survive. 3. He was an evolution-freak of the hybrid theory. 4. This theory would end up in a definite link between humans, trees and animals. 5. They would produce the slimes necessary to survive the dangerous and endless future. 6. He had developed guns with all sorts of slimes to select. Every slime sort had another function. 7. The slimes were very good for farms to breed all sorts of trees and species. 8. These were implants taking place in dark underground labs by high frequencies in the form of flashes and sounds. 9. Suddenly all sorts of slimes were flowing through his body, and he felt like he was really becoming a hybrid. This was a deeper feeling of liberty. 10. Her name was Onnia. She was almost like a monster, and could do much shapeshifting. 11. The slimes were streaming through her veins, and always when he saw her he got the chills, like a cool touch in his neck. 12. He liked Onnia, and he said he would work on her to give her some really special abilities. 13. Onnia was an Onak, a large slimy and hairy being. 14. Her back turned a bit over, and she looked like a prehistoric crocodile-gorilla. He loved the construct, and would love to work on her for a few days. 15. He would ask their old teacher to come taking a look. 16. One day he came, and it was very good for him to see his old friends. He wanted to make a trip in the capsule and started to sit in. 17. After an hour he stepped out. 'What a beautiful world of ambient seas and shelters, labs and evolution. This is so devoted to the hybrid theory.' 18. The beings looked like Onaks, and their movements were so dignified, wild and breath-taking. There were rivers of slime, green slime, and black slime, and the atmospheres were full of dark colours. 19. They had experiences with underground snakes. 20. They were often much bigger than the snakes they knew from above the ground. They were now so deep. They lost all their equipment by the eruptions, and still much lava was flowing. The lava was flowing to the world above the ground. Did their visit trigger these eruptions ? 21. The world was in fire and lava now. 22. These were dark holes, with less fires, although the atmosphere was getting hotter. 23. It was like they would be burnt alive when they would go further. 24. They decided to wait awhile. And to their surprise the temperature was getting lower. They started to move on, they had to move with this temperature, as a bubble in hot areas, or was this temperature attached to a certain time-period of a day or a week ? 25. They were speaking in a strange language. All of a sudden there were lightflashes. Green, brown and black slime was coming forth. When they came closer it appeared to be a giant spider. This is what we worship, the woman said. 26. It is a winged spider. Suddenly the spider spread its wings and flew towards them. She said she brought them to the least dangerous temple, but the rest of the temples were very dangerous. From there the flies ruled. 27. The woman started to cry : 'The gods there are very aggressive. They came from deep underground to capture our lands. We had to build temples for them, so that they could be worshipped and served, but they are very cruel. 28. Every year we must sacrifice children and old people to them. They can spit fire, and they say they are the rulers of the sun. Their faces are so cynical, we feel deeply humiliated by them. 29. 'It's okay, we will help you,' they said. 30. 'But that's impossible,' the woman said, 'they are too strong.' 28. 'We will go deeper underground to find out where they are coming from and what the origin of their strength is,' he said. 31. They had slept one night in the temple of the winged spider. It was the oldest temple of the land, and the spider promised them that if they would be in danger he would try to help them, but he told them that even he himself couldn't defeat the flies. 32. These flies were big and meat-eating, having special powers and spells. Their wings had arrows to paralyze their victims in a short amount of time. In the temple of the spider there was a cave leading underground. 33. The snakes were more aggressive here, but the woman tried to soothe them with her flute. It worked a bit, but sometimes they had a wrestling. 34. The ground was muddy, and sometimes it was hard to move. They decided to creep for awhile, also because the tunnel was getting smaller. 33. They heard the sounds of different buzzing insects, and also the snakes were making sounds. 35. Suddenly the ground below them cannot hold them any longer and they fall into an enormous web. The air is full of poison, and they are surrounded by black spiders having big different coloured spots. 36. They are sliding towards a nest of flies while their bodies are glued now. When they fall in the nest, it appears to be a doorway to a temple. 37. Flies are attacking them and sucking them. Then suddenly the flies disappear and they stand all alone, watching into the distance of the temple. Bigger flies are flying there, making high buzzing and zooming sounds. 38. Then a flying snake appears screaming and spitting fire, and another, until the whole temple is full of shouting flying snakes. 39. In the midst of them a gigantic black fly is rising, having dark orange and red squares on its body. 40. Red rays can be seen in his body, for it's a bit transparent. 41. He has a crown in his hands with different colours of gold, and slime comes forth from it, in which all sorts of animals rise. 42. 'Throw the woman in the pit of octopuses,' he spoke loud to the flying snakes. 43. And they carried her there, while she was screaming. But he dived after her, and started to fight the octopuses. The octopuses were very strong, and it looked like they were not going to make it. 44. Suddenly the winged spider appeared and stung the octopuses one by one. The fly got into rage and started to block the waterpit. He was spitting solar gasses, and the spider told them to dive. 45. But suddenly an enormous black whale came to the surface to let the capsule crash. 46. Green slime was dripping into the seas, and it was floating to the worlds

1. Wars of the Flies ; In the distance the soft machineguns and canons were shooting, pulsating, like liquid balls and eggs together, while soft winds surround them. The heat is intensive, someone is breathing. 2. By a wind and a flash, they are exploding into white powder. 3. Their mouths are contracting, while the venom flows into their mouths. The mountains are high here, while snow and dust covers them, where the sun licks the roofs and the ripples. 4. He has white golden wires coming from his shoulders, while his white golden uniform is blinding the mass. His teeth pulsate the heat, while soft winds surround his attacks. 5. There isn't always much to do. Sometimes it's really boring. The webs of wild flies are worse than that of spiders. These racecars are a species of flies. There's coming soft smoke from their throats. Watch these suns they have in their ornaments. 6. The white golden sun is standing tall, while someone tall, almost bald, leaves the stages to take a boy from the streets. The Lord of the Flies is taking him to an island. 7. He's coming tall accepting no complaints. Someone gets the tall ornaments, to hang in the trees of their gardens. 8. He's a wild fly, growing undercover in so many worlds. 9. He stares at the tall ornaments growing taller. From here he can grow to the heights. 10. In the White Golden city they gather, all these white flies. A White Golden Hand takes them away. The White Golden Snake penetrates the chest, to give them more hearts. 11. They are breeding a white species ... These golden rains ... They shine through the night ... Unity smiles on the mountains ... The red stripes take them to an ocean of feathers ... where marazanta screams in pale spots ... 12. The boy has pale ripples on his body, and some pale spots ... a piece of art on plastic ... 13. White boy contracting their mouths to enjoy the white silver venom ... 14. They can do political speeches, shaking them out of their sleeves ... 15. It's thunder when they speak ... and then they greet Marazanta ... It's a mouthcontracting ornament made by seven mice ... 16. They rule the world like cake ... It's a daytime spring ... on waves they take flight ... 17. The big coffins on the other side of chess ... they smile ... It ripples like the white silver ... bringing them to the seas of sharks ... all in a Brannan's hat, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 18. On a Brannan's watch ... These boys spit the silver ... and in the middle of the nights they take flight ... Like towers so tall ... they become ... the billboards of machineguns ... the red stripes of the fly ... while their silver ripples were so white ... building these towers ... coming from the seas to live under Bekehelm's helmet ... These cakes. 19. And the man with the white golden hand, he's here, the boy's mouth is contracting ... 20. It's June, for Lazarus Tree ... flowers are coming forth ... fragile white rippling ... over me ... 21. It's June, ... time for Lazarus Tree to bring forth flowers ... 22. It's June, the second time ... a daydream watches elves on a stream ... of white gold and white silver ... taking them in ... they're from the white chocolate ... A white golden hand is what it said ... it's so erected ...

you. 6. Let the python scan your body to find out what the weaker poles are, to reinforce them. 7. These poles become your children. You need to feed them and take care of them. 8. Visualize two pythons to bite in your neck, left and right, these bites are to make you sensitive for python energy, which stores itself a lot in the neck. 9. Then let them glide over your arms to your hands and visualize they bite your hands. This is to bring pythonian creativity in your hands, to make you flexible vibrating and balanced in using the poles. 10. There are a lot of different pythonian temples. Every grade has its own bio-electric tattoos and so called 'spirit-piercings' all to open and conduct certain energy-canals. 11. It will help you to develop the multi-polar patterns as a way to become pythonian in your spirit and soul. The pythonian nipple-piercings are bio-electric piercings from vibrational structure. 12. It is to stir up and conduct the deeper energies, and as a way to release overload and to protect against it. 13. Bio-electric piercings are very important parts of vibrational immunology. 14. Visualize the pythons biting your nipples in such a way that they leave a tooth there as piercing, and then visualize it as becoming a ring. Visualize that the tooth/ring has the skin of a snake, dark wet sorts of green and pure thick yellow with black rings. 15. Visualize them biting your genitals for the same. It is part of the sexual immunology when you want to channel higher forms of energy. 16. Keep repeating this meditation until you feel it plugs into your mental and emotional frames. 17. It can give you a pythonian sort of gland-activation for higher forms of hormones. When you feel you have succeeded in this and you feel comfortable, visualize the same pythons, and let them glide through your ears into your body, where they can glide to the several organs to bite them. 18. Let them give you the inner piercings inside, the same way, but when you start to visualize the skin of the teeth use more red. 19. Red is a deep penetrating colour which can start to regulate and cleanse the blood also, for a better and deeper blood circulation. 20. The way you breathe can then start to become more pure, and it can start to develop pythonian breathing ... while later it can even reach for the voice to have more pythonian energy in your speech. 21. After the organs you can start with the muscles and bones in the same way. 22. Let them finally bite the coccyx and then slowly breathe in letting the energy flow through your left leg into the earth, sinking there layer by layer, to the earthcore, as reflection of the different layers of DNA. 23 Pythonian DNA-Recoding. Pythons can be masters in DNA-Recoding, they actually have deep access to these layers, more than people know. Lay your hands on your chest and visualize a golden bird on your chest, which can give wings to the snake energy inside. 24. They will fly over the seas of DNA, which gives feedback to the spine and the back of the head. Visualize a highpriest and a highpriestess laying their hands on you to bring the initiations and to lay the seed of new gifts in alignment to your journey. 25. Let them put a towel around your head so that you cannot see anything. This is important so that your old views are gone. Let them install pythonian view. Breathe in and let them lay their hands on your eyes. 26. Let yourself now come into connections with the pythonian goddesses and gods. Visualize a golden circle around your head, while you see yourself sitting on a chair. The circle spins very fast and starts to sink over your body. 27. Be one with the divine. Now you can learn about these gods and goddesses to strengthen the initiations and to have access to higher pythonian temples. If you are already initiated by these forms other temples of the pythonian character can have their attention over you more easily. 28. Your aura and karma will get used to the new vibrations or will simply get rid of them when it's not for you. If so, then this experience was just a doorway to another sort of energy for your life. 29. Give nature the time to sort it out, and to bring you the energy-level fitting to your present situation. Never force energy and never expect too much of it. See it as one step to reach for proper ascension. 30. It can be that you have naturally an overdose of pythonian energy by the results or situations of your past lives, or by something else. 31. Then this energy will be sent to the right person by this initiation. When you are really initiated, the temples can easier balance your energy and send it out when necessary. 32. Not everyone is ready for large portions of pythonian energy, but by this initiation it can be sorted out. It is actually a tester and a lesson. Now the energy will find it's own way. 33. It can be that you really find yourself 'home' in this, or that you get the feeling of having a source in your hands, like it is your destiny. That can be true very well. 34. Breath in, and ask the goddesses and gods of the pythonian pantheon to spell your pythonian name. It is not necessary to receive these letters as in hearing them. 35. Just know that you have a pythonian name, and that they use it to connect to you in a deeper way. Maybe later they will reveal this name to you. 36. If you are really a 'chosen' one in pythonian energy, they will attune you to very high tones and very low tones, to have multi-dimensional access to important places for your pythonian growth. 37. Focus on the wet spine, a green energetic line in the spine, and let it penetrate your coccyx, while breathing in. 38. They are looking for those with the red-white energy-hands. Those ones get a special initiation through the several fronts of the pythonian universe. 39. They will become pythonian channelers and will be prepared for mightier tasks. 40. Pythonian Energy will be clear and directed. It will provide self-conscience instead of suffering under all sorts of sick conscience of others. This however will be a ladder. 41. There were sent out strong paralyzing bio-electric chemicals to the heads of those born under pythonian flags. If you are a chosen one, you will get your consciousness back. 42. There will form new neutraling in your brains breaking every false bio-electric or chemo-link in the brain, to let new neural and vibrational pathways arise. The chemical structures need to be changed out there. 43. The Pythonian Front on earth will care for that, and will send your soul-parts attached to error to several pythonian stations throughout the several universes within the pythonian shells. 44. Prepare for new forms in the DNA and the membrane. If you have roots there you can develop new sorts of movements and attitudes to let new vital forms of energy arrive. Realize that these are the portals for energies. Raise these portals high.

1. Lord of Insects II, Snake's Egg, Psychological Horror. She was running from one wall to the other, so upset. She had something in her mouth, an implant. 2. This she got from aliens. And now she was a prisoner on their ships. I was there watching, me, the monkeyman. 3. I took her by her hands, she smiled, but then she moved her face away. She was in pain, in deep trouble. 4. There were many others on the ship, and I couldn't do anything, for I had these implants too. 5. I could only whisper some words to them, but it seemed they were behind dragonbars. 6. We were all separated from each other, on this strange strange ship. Some mouths were bleeding, a girl was screaming. 7. She got the implant, so deep in her mouth. 'Do you know what you are doing,' she screamed against the machine. 8. But the machine was merciless. 9. You didn't have feeling for direction anymore, and you couldn't enjoy anything. It was always like when you tried to come closer to something, you were blown away by a strange hurricane. 10. The contacts were always short. We couldn't enjoy each other. We always lived in fear. When we looked too long in each others eyes, our heads were turned away by a strange wind. 11. It was like thunder in our heads, then the lightening was blinding us. Blowing us away, further away than before. 12. We were socially disturbed, by this damned implant in our mouths. 13. A girl called White Wool always fainted when the pain got too much. Then she was always laid in my arms, while I was soothing her. But then I had to go, led away by the strange hurricane in my own mouth. 14. It was like the cross of Venus. Watching your children die, while you couldn't do anything. 15. The aliens were merciless. Some begged them to remove the implants but they didn't listen. We were surrounded by satellites. If we came too close to each other, things started to explode. 16. Things in our bodies.

This implant controlled our whole body, and it was not the only implant. 17. The implant was riding us. We felt like horses, turning our faces away because of the pain and the pressure. Why did it have to sting so deep ? 18. She had a tigerdog called Odokom who cared for her. He always took her away, when things became too heavy. 19. He was her best friend, but he also had the mouth-implant, and was often fading away, while the girl was in tears.

20. They were far away in space, surrounded by orca satellites, but there was growing something in their stomachs. 21. What the aliens didn't know was that the mouth-implant had a secret radiation creating a secret thing. They got dreams in the night, while they slept, dreams of a coming help. 22. They felt fear when space-orca's were swimming along the wide windows, controlling the implants. But somehow the radiation gave birth to something deep in their stomachs. Something they desired to see. 23. They got dreams in the night of little snakes coming forth from an egg in their stomachs. These snakes had two colours switching, and were flexible, so flexible. Like they could be a key to every lock. 24. They were screaming by high shrieks, while something else was coming from the egg. It was a shark with a lion's head, surrounded by sharks with snakeheads. 25. It was taking control in their stomachs, like help was on its way. There were dark lights growing in them, having such secrets. The aliens thought what's going on. 26. Marazanta was the Lord of insects, having a golden pencil, shining at nights. There was a small ball on top of the pencil, the snake's egg. He was interested in these prisoners, and gave them these dreams, coming from the snake's egg in their stomachs. 27. It was a strange pencil, a golden one. The monkeyman went to a hall below the ground, where between the rocks a river dwelled, with sharkships, with lionheads. 28. Surrounded by some smaller sharkships with snakeheads, all coming from the snake's egg. It was Marazanta's Egg, the egg of a black shark.

14. 1. 'Uh. I need to suffer for my Lord,' the preacherman says softly, while he's shivering in his chair. 'There is only one Lord,' the girl screams. 'And that is Lord Marazanta !' 2. 'Chantal, I think I just got a heart-attack, please call for someone,' the preacherman says. The girl runs on the street, and screams : 'Please help our dear preacherman. He got a heart-attack !' And soon people run into the house to help the poor man. 3. A couple of days later Chantal and her mom visit the preacherman in the hospital. It's better with him now. 'Hello Chantal,' the preacherman smiles a bit. 'Can you tell me any more of your precious stories. I always liked to hear them.' 4. The girl smiles, and gives a hand to the preacherman. The doctor is also there, smiling. 'Yes, Chantal, I heard a lot about you.' 5. Spaceships in the form of lionsharks and snakesharks are moving themselves in the air above the small city. These spaceships are very large. 6. A monkeyman is staring on the hill, watching the space with so many stars. He feels the snake's egg rolling in his stomach, and is ready to speak. He knows it will rise to his mouth, to bring a story. 7. Then he will vomit, but it will all happen inside. It will not come out of his mouth, for then all this precious ink would be spoilt. He will only belch flames. He has precious rings throughout his body. He's grasping one of his arms. He cannot move it anymore. The man is standing up and walks out of the temple. 8. A huge shark is appearing in the sky, having a lion's head. The man walks to his spaceship and leaves. He's just remembering a poem of his childhood, an old poem from an old book, but he always forgets. He has the wings of dementia. 9. It was just an old man, coming out of space, bringing some words of an old poem. He doesn't understand the meaning of the words, but he just wanted to tell what he remembered. And that was all he remembered. 10. A monkeyman sits on a balloon, with a snake's egg in his stomach. These were his last words, and then the man goes to sleep. It was his last trip to the city of temples, his last words to the priests. He didn't know what was going on. These were only his last words, his last memory's from an old poem of an old book. 11. He only knew some things of his childhood, but didn't know who he was anymore. These were his last memory's. He had the wings of dementia. That was all he had. 12. Golden words, of a golden pencil, were all stored, in this snake's egg, while the shark of dementia was flowing through his veins, through rings of fire, he possessed, the things he didn't understand anymore. 13. He didn't know them anymore.

15. 1. Something was breaking through walls, she, with an implant in her mouth. Snakes moved through rings of fire, while a lionshark was in the middle, surrounded by snakesharks. 2. She had an egg in her stomach, while stories were exploding there. All they wanted were stories, stories, stories. 3. Through rings of fire, the spaceships move, while the egg is rising to her mouth, she's a pencil, spitting in unknown languages. 4. This is all she knows, all she remembers, but these words are filled by gold. All these feelings she doesn't understand. She cherishes ... She has the wings of dementia. 5. 'Okay, stop,' the preacher sais. 'Why are you talking about priests and preachers in your stories, in such shamefull ways. Can't you talk some more dignified about the Lord Jesus Christ ? 6. Your stories are chaotic and you're switching identities. I don't want to be rude, but you need a docter or maybe even an exorcist.' 7. 'Pardon me, sir,' the man sais. 'I told you in the beginning that this was the story my wife told me. You must listen more carefully when people come to you for help. I thought maybe you could tell me what this story is all about. 8. My wife found a golden book on the streets one day and since then these words were in her head, and she couldn't get it out. 9. Everyday she tells the same story, and then I say : 'Talk, talk, it's very important to talk it out, sweetheart.' She gets headaches when she doesn't tell it. 10. She only told it to me, for she is too scared to tell it others, but she has a lot of headaches since she found the book. Maybe you know some good persons she can talk to ?' 11. The preacher nods and nods : 'I'm sorry I misunderstood you, and forgive me about the harsh judgement. In history there were more examples of people finding golden books which changed their lives dramatically. 12. Around such persons often sects and cults rise. We as preachers think these people need help. 13. The medical circuits cannot help in dealing with those golden books. We as christian helpers believe it is a materialization of a demonic spirit which can live in the head of such a person for several purposes. I believe your wife must be exorcized. 14. And for you both the warning is here : 'Don't read golden books you find on streets, for it can be a trap.' 15. 'Oh, thank you, preacher, can you please exorcize her then ? And do you think it had any negative influence on me also ?' the man asks.' 16. But the preacher shakes his head : 'I cannot do these exorcisms for I am not authorized to do that. But I can send you to a good exorcistic priest of our church, and he can also pray for you.'

16. 1. A man takes his gun and shoots the psychiatrist. He was serious about it. It's reality, not a story or an act for children. 2. People must die for this, and this is worthy to die for. He runs back to his satanic temple underground. This man is dangerous. Is life about a story, or is it about a sacrifice, or both ? 3. This man believes in sacrifices. There's living a strange species in him. Coming from a snake's egg in his stomach. He feels it's there, and when it extracts, he feels the shivers going through his body ... 4. It is a love and hate relationship. But he knows it's also very dangerous, for the question is : Who is stronger, and can they trust each other. 5. There's something in his stomach, alive, with fragile muscles it extracts, it's so fine, but also scary. He vomits when it extracts too deep, but it doesn't come out of his mouth, but it spreads through his body through hot rings, almost burning in his veins. 6. He suffers. Is his body the altar ? Is he part of a strange temple ? Is something eating him from inside out ? It's contracting and spitting inside, secreting so many strange fluids. 7. He shivers with these strange feelings, almost starting to cry. Sometimes white slime is coming from his navel, then he's watching it for hours and hours. What is it doing to him ? 8. He thinks the gods are just misleading, that's why he seeks comfort in the archetypes of the darker creatures, the anti-gods. 9. He has raised a satanic temple, while he loves to hear satanic music, setting him free from the prisons made by churches and temples. 10. He feels the fragile thin bones of the egg in his stomach, it's alive and growing, sometimes moving up and down. 11. It's growing into his lungs, heading for his throat. What is it doing ? Can any Jesus Christ or Osiris save him when it will really turn against him ? 12. And what if this thing just want to make babies with him, more eggs. Is he just an experiment ? Aliens ? 13. Is he just breed of an Extra Terrestrial Farm. An ETF ? He doesn't know much. Or does he just need some integration. For now he's safe in his Satanic Temple, with paintings of Apep and Seth, and all the other demons of mythology which seemed to be just the gods of the ancestors, the older people, the older ages. 14. He knew the tricks of church history. He read about Satan comes from the word Sati which was an ancient eastern God. He read about Lucifer who appeared to be an ancient Roman god. He wanted to meet all the boogymen, to find his grandparents back. 15. What a preparation for death. Should he be judged by Jesus Christ, or by Osiris, or by Satan ? Or by all of them ? He could read it all in the book. If he would be initiated by this book, it was more impressive than the Outpouring of the Holy Spirit in Bible. If the Octopus would grant him grace, he would break out of his prison, like Peter in the Book of Acts. 16. He got a few weeks to read the book. Then he would be on the electric chair, going into history as a criminal. 17. One day a psychiatrist wanted to see him. He heard his stories and gave him the label of 'Religious Disturbed'. That was a label with which you could come out of deathpenalty, but he had to go to a psychiatric clinic under heavy medicine and guard. 18. It was an octopusian psychiatry in space, with orca-guards. A dentist was the boss ... a dental psychiatrist. He got sick of the implants in his mouth, implanted by the big machines. It was a merciless system. While the snake-egg was growing in his stomach ... 19. He lost so much knowledge, like he was in a strange cocoon. 20. But that what remained grew like gold and made him so creative, more than ever before. Like strange vegetables were growing inside. 21. It came out of his navel, and he could even eat it. It was like something was dancing inside to strange music, like a strange altar of a strange religion. It was eating him, but giving also new life.

22. The dental psychiatrist told him that the mouth-implants gave him gravity in the ship. Without it he would be blown away to come in the dark world again. 23. The dental psychiatrist said he was safe here. Fluids were developping themselves in his legs and feet, to give him the gravity. 24. There was no way to escape, and where could he go ? He was reading the Octopusian Book of the Dead, telling him about the three steps of true death : The first is the priest, the second is the psychiatrist, and the third is the dentist. These steps were to save your life, and the man could see that it truely happened in his own story. 25. The ship looked like a huge octopus. It had a pale orange colour switched by an other colour. Sometimes this colour was light grey, sometimes it was black, or another colour like blue, light blue or green. The octopus could switch and shift so easily. 26. It was like a flexible pool. And the man needed to learn swimming in here. It was like growing up again now, with the wings of dementia. 27. The man got older and older, but he was returning to his youth. Grasping for his toys from the past again, to really understand what they were meaning.

Octopusian Book of the Dead talked a lot about comics. And it was like drinking strange juice while reading it's comics ... comic juice ... 33. But deep in his heart he felt the desire rising of becoming like the spider in the sun. 34. Was it to be free, or just another prison. And if so which prison would be the best. 35. The snake egg made him cry sometimes. How many deaths did he die to become like that spider, to move so many arms, like having wings He was longing for the Spiderian Book of the Dead ... 36. It was like his last wish on the ship he was now ... For more often the arms of the sun started to move, and he was free ... He knew he would head for a new place And the Octopusian Book of the Dead was preparing him for that. 37. Streams of joy flew through him more and more. It was often dormant, but it was screaming inside. The feeling deep down in him was enough for him to live on. He could swallow life so deep now, like there were millions of golden throats throughout his body, penetrating the depths of his soul. 38. It was a material world inside, woven by a spider. It was like nothing was leaving his body anymore, but more circulations rose, as a way of deeper transformations. 39. He didn't have the feeling that his life was a waste anymore. The rings of fire kept the energy inside, tied to the rings, when he vomited inside. He was belching the fire through his inner oceans. 40. The snake egg made him vomit more and more, and his muscles could contract and pulse in so many ways, secreting new fluids and inner species. There was life growing in him, he wasn't alone anymore. He only wanted it to contract deeper and deeper, to secrete better and better.

41 And one day he had the golden book in his hands, it was alive, contracting and extracting like a golden cigar. How many of these he needed ? 42. It was the Spiderian Book of the Dead. He needed to die himself into the sun, where his arms would turn into wings. So many cigars were staring at him, while he was belching and vomiting deeper inside. 43. There was nothing to lose anymore. While the snake's egg was rising in him, turning into a dragon's heart. It spoke, it was bleeding. 44. 'You need to lie much,' a voice said. An orange liar stood before him. It was the cabman of a ball called truth ... a golden ball ... light yellow ... 45. By the lie you die, to find the truth, and to find out that the lie was a riddle of the truth. You may drink from the tea of lies, full of flies, touching all things lightly, weakening the grips. All lies are jigsaw-pieces for the puzzle of truth. 46. You need to lie much, to handle it as a riddle, as a jigsaw-piece of truth. Just turn it around and move it a bit, try to connect it to different pieces, and it will find it's way to the truth.

47. He had the Book of Lies in his hands, the Spiderian Book of Lies, in his hands, like a second golden cigar, while so many golden cigars were staring at him. 48. He didn't know what he was doing, losing his mind, screaming in unknown languages, trying to confuse himself. He was now an orange liar, so deep in a trap, but would this trap lead him to eternal life ? Then it was all great. He wanted to live forever, to find out the truth. 49. He was speaking : What is this, is it something I can use. Then he looked over my shoulder, and saw it was me, the monkeyman, I said, now it's time ...' 50. He fell on the ground, and blue fluids were flowing out of his mouth, flowing on the carpet. 51. Suddenly he made spasmic movements, and started to roar. He started to shiver, and the muscles in his stomach started to contract tighter and tighter. Suddenly he spat the egg out with slime. 52. His head started to become red and purple. His heartbeat became slower and slower, and then he stood up like a zombie. 53. Everyone he met got the same symptoms and soon the disease spread itself through the city. It was an army of zombies, forgetting about everything they knew. An enormous octopus was appearing above the city, while lionsharks and snakesharks came out of it's body, surrounded by millions and millions of small striped snakes, covering the city like dust. 54. They started to eat the zombies from inside out, while other things were coming alive in them, waiting to go to the next city. It was a golden picnic, coming from the Octopusian Book of Lies. 55. It became a cell, a strange honeyweb in the skies, while a spider came forward. He was sucking the lies empty. The lies had attracted so many flies like a magnet. And now these pipes were full. On his forehead he had printed the Spiderian Book of Lies. The spider roared in many colours and tones, making everything deaf. 56. A psychiatrist was lying dead on the ground, while his patient was smiling. He finally had a good story to kill his psychiatrist. He had to live in a cage too long. But he couldn't go anywhere for he had a strange suit attached to his chair. 57. He was roaring and spitting, screaming, while other psychiatrists ran in. They were standing before a riddle. How could the psychiatrist die ? The psychiatrist was young, not too old. 58. 'Shall I tell you the story too ?' the patient asked. 'No,' the psychiatrists said. But the patient started to scream the first words of the story, and another psychiatrist fell down. 'Run for your life !' another psychiatrist screamed. 59. The patient was spitting fire, and suddenly had so much strength that he could break the tight suit. His hair started to grow and he started to look like a half horse, a centaur. 60. Screaming he ran through the hospital. They locked him up since he was a child. 'I will burn you all,' he screamed. But suddenly there were a few shots. A policeman shot him in the heart, and now he was laying on the ground. Was he finally free now ? 61. A book of lies was locking him up. It was a winged creature, taking the souls of the deceased. It was the Griffonian Book of Lies. 62. The griffon shrieked shrill, and the patient got deaf. Now he would be sensitive for even more lies. The griffon started to shriek in his ears and blue slime came into his ear. Then the colours started to change. 63. The griffon was dragging his soul into the waters, while he lied against him. 64. The waters were cold and bright. Snakefishes were swimming here, biting him horribly. 65. He started to burn in these waters, while the shrieks became shriller and shriller. Something was trying to hit him in his heart, where the wound was, the bullet. 'Stay away from my heart,' the patient shrieked and screamed. 66. But the creature was merciless. It started to eat his heart, while his soul turned blue. He got locked up in himself. he couldn't move anymore, and couldn't digest. He was growing and growing, until he was a big blue balloon, and then he burst into explosion, while a slimy fluid flew out of him. 67. Millions of fishes started to drink from this fluid and ate the last pieces of his soul completely. Now his spirit began to rise in anger and fear. 68. His spirit was flexible, like coming from a snake's egg. From here the stories were flowing, and that was which they desired ... stories flowing from his books of lies There, deep down in his spirit ... he bore a book of lies they desired it was a wanted golden cigar ... 69. They would tear his spirit until they would have reached this book. It was the heart of his spirit, and they desired it like golden water. 70. All these fishes, there deep down in the waters of hell, would fight about this golden cigar. 71. It would be like the last Great War, the final medicine, for another Deception, the greatest of all.

72. The book was covered by a pyramid so bright. Many fishes died by only watching it. Others started to bleed or vomit. Only a few of these fishes would survive the appearance of this pyramid. 73. It was the guard of the book. Lightning was flashing, deep thick thunder was speaking, while something was ripping the flesh of the victims like raking the sun. 74. These fishes knew what fear was, but they had to go inside. It was there last chance to survive. For the Griffon hunter was after them. 75. Glass was exploding, something was breaking through the walls, merciless. It was the Griffon hunter. He wanted the book. 76. It was the Flyian Book of Lies, the heart of this patient's spirit. But the Book was attached to another Book : The Flyian Book of Dead. Another golden cigar. 77. And if they would be separated, many would die. But the Griffon Hunter had to separate it with his sword, and many fishes died, exploding in the sunlight. 78. Quickly he stang his sword into the Flyian Book of Lies, while now the spirit of the patient was dying. Dark creatures came to take the shatters away. It seemed the Griffon hunter had won the war, and took the Flyian Book of Lies into his mouth. 79. Roaring he swallowed it, while flies started to break into pieces.

80. Everything around him was melting away. Now he had many golden cigars on his shoulders, but this golden cigar was most dear to him. It was sinking into his stomach. He didn't dare to speak for awhile. 'Yes,' the man in the chair said, while turning around, 'the breasts of women are made of this Book of Lies.' 81. The girl was shaking her head. 'Uncle, you're crazy. No one would create a story like this.' Uncle smiled. He was an orange liar. 82. Orange liars were old men deeply initiated in the books of lies. It was a sort of cult, and once in awhile they came together. They knew the secrets of the anatomy, the body, and they had strange buildings called zebra's boats. They were the guards of the golden cigars, and they made all the decisions. 83. Someone was sitting with the Sharkian Book of Lies in his mouth. It was shooting pictures in his head. He just came from the dentist, and now he sat with this implant, a prison. The dentist said it was good for him. But now he wanted revenge. A shark with a lion's head was staring at him, with so many snakesharks surrounding him. They were ready for the Big Strike.

1. Raising the Vibes of Sleep by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. You are loved by us. We bring you the sources of sleep, a multi-delta vibration. 2. The delta brain-vibration is necessary for sleep, but we tell you that there are many more vibrations working together to produce sleep. 3. The deep vibrational matrixes are necessary to access when you want to have a deeper and better sleep. This is your portal to travel to other worlds. 4. I want you to learn how to care. It is all based on sleep. If you can make people into sleep, then you are a good one. 5. Then don't think you are boring, you just have the ability to bring people over into the deeper worlds, then you are someone usefull in escapes. 6. You, my beloved ones, are destined to be the stargates and the divine portals for the coming times. 7. You yourself can be the matrixes for a new world. 8. Love to you, oh visitors of the temple. I will initiate you in the temples of me, if you have an ear of understanding. 9. If you will slow down your very judgements, for true judgement always goes slow, on low vibration. 10. This world is over-judged by unrighteous judges. I will give you the names. If it comes to that. 11. Just wake up out of your historical frames, and enter a new society of sleepwalkers, on slow vibrations, for this world balances on the edge of the gap by speed. 12. Your speed will cause more accidents if you don't slow down. Think twice. 13. I am Sekmeth, your beloved one. I am your true mother, raising the traffic lights in the storm. 14. Yes, I know it's not easy to stop while you feel a mighty storm in your back. 15. Your society even manipulates you to run, to be a winner. But you will win when you will find yourself, and when you find the brake in your heart Pull that little trigger, and stop the machine 16. To see the beauty of existence, the beauty of life, in the small things Then I will raise your vibrations to the proper gifts. 17. I am Sekmeth, your source for freedom, to find an isolated heart. 18. There are so many isolated sources from which you can drink when you make yourself free. 19. In this everything you need will be mirrored. 20. I want to thank you for listening to me, this day. Remember my words as the echo of your need to sleep. Don't crash your life.

1. Raising the Vibes of Identification, by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I want you to know that someone cares about you. There's no need to be general, but I want to be very personal with you. 2.

Remember that I'm always around you, not far away, to hide my children, to hide my beloved ones. Come into my caves of sleep, and I will pull you to a new world. 3. Let me give you my ornaments based on your own preparation and readiness, based on your heart's desire. I will measure your heart by proper laws. 4. This is the Egyptian Art. In our temples there are many searchers and scanners, many scales and measurings the hearts need to go through. 5. By this we can determine the gifts to you. Then everything becomes very personal and special. 6. My temples of sleep are doorways to dreamworlds, and to the unconscious layers of your body, soul and spirits. 7. This all the get grip on yourself. There are nighttimes in someone's life, all to find themselves back. 8. The warm worlds of tomorrow will suck you inside to eat you as a fruit. Of course this can look cold to you, and maybe even painful, but it's the butterfly's transformation. 9. You will be digested by the stomache of Mother Life, to find your way to the body soul and spirit, and finally to meet yourself, as the core of life. 10. This will be a shock or a comfort. People who think too low about themselves will meet a comforting spirit, and people who think too high about themselves will meet a shocking spirit themselves but this mirror is only there to serve you. 11. To show you where you are and which directions you can go. There is always freedom, but this freedom will be very truthfull. After every pathway of lie, there will be a bell of truth, and then you will find yourself in the classroom again. 12. Mother Life will always be faithfull if it comes to that. After the trip you made you will hear the schoolbell, where there will be a proper evaluation of all the elements in your trip. 13. Then you will make that same trip with a proper mirror, and in my scale. Everything will go through the scanner, all you brought with you. I cannot assure you that everything will stay on it's feet then, for my fires can also consume the fruits. All what you create is a gift to the Goddesses. 14. They will return it to you after the fire. I am the Eye of Ra, sent out to consume the earth, to test all the insides.

1. I am Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I come to bring you the level of the waters, the rythm of the water, to enter in a deeper sleep for a deeper identification. 2. There will be a new clock in the heart of earth. 3. This will be when the Forces of Vega-South will connect to the Gaian Forces in the core of the Earth. This link will create the New Clock. 4. By this Earth will face higher evolutional shifts, which will bring the Earth through matrixes of higher and lower vibrations. 5. I cannot tell you the grip this will have in the universe, for some strong links will be layed between Earth and Venus, to bring the magnetic grids into another direction. 6. Major changes this will bring in the ways of life. New cultures and new religions will rise because of this major shift. 7. There will be supernatural changes of a high grade when this chain is layed. It is the VSG-Chain [Vega-South and Gaia]. I cannot tell you the grip this will have when the VSG-Clock will start to send chrystalline impulses into the universe and the atmosphere. 8. It will be the change of nature. The Clock will awaken the metallic sources of the earth and it's forces, and will awaken the silver kundalini snake in the earth's core. 9. There are seven kundalini-snakes there, waiting to be awakened. The Silver Kundalini Snake is one of the biggest mysteries of this universe. The last word isn't spoken about this. When the Silver strikes, the earth can digest again, deeper than ever, it can consume like a fire, and transform the dust. 10. Then the body can be coccooned to become a light and thin butterfly again. The body will bloom by the soul, by a reconnection of art. 11. This is a result when the underground of Boston will rise. This is a capsule, on which Boston is built, a matrix of energies from the moon. This base is called "Moonchild", and it rides the Silver Kundalini Snake. 12. By the hardest strike, the opening of the hardest energies, the softest circles will be openened. This all will be a very large process to reopen and accelerate the fleeces of the universe. 13. Then the Green Kundalini Snake will be awakened in the Core of the Earth. This one will restore the moist in the atmosphere. 14. It is a wet forest-force, which will change the blood of the Earth, to make it bound to higher vibrational laws of the universe. The harmful lights from outer space roaring on earth will be filtered out, but the forces will concentrate on several bases, which will give tremendous energy-actions and crashes on several points. 15. It will be called Concentrated Energy. These powerpoints will weave their nets around the earth, but actually they will awaken the higher forms of shifts earth has to make.

1. Boa Constrictorian Initiations ; These are general instructions which might get the attention of several boa-constriction fronts to pick you up in spirit. 2. Don't have too high expectations for the conditions are strict. 3. If it's not for you, they simply will not give any attention at all. This is just a test then, for you to find out where you stand. 4. If it's not for you, it might be a portal to find another direction. It might attract the beings simply destined for you, to help you in your further progress. 5. So don't be too focussed on the boa constrictor itself, but rather be open for initiations in the next step of your sacred journey. Your totems will find you when it is time. 6. Breath in, and put your hands crossed on your knees for awhile., and then draw them slowly to the upper legs while stretching and straightening your back, if that's possible, while breathing in deep. 7. Say the word "Boa Constrictor" in your mind, a few times. You might get released from some energies. This will be a check. They check if you are ready for what you or they have in mind ... 8. Boa Constrictors have a very strong spirit-voice, but just lay your hand on your heart and listen. 9. Don't focus too much on one sense for they can communicate in many ways. Check your feelings, your smell, your sight. They can even speak by changing your surroundings in a way, or just by silence. 10. They might need to remove things first, and sometimes it takes nights and nights before they really do something. 11. Swallow a few times, as they can mix their energies in the moist of your mouth, and by swallowing it, it can spread over your body. Breath in again, realizing they can change your taste, change the way you move and speak, but they can also just leave you the way you are. 12. The inner works they do are not always to be felt. Sometimes they just don't want you to. They might want to build it up step by step, or they see there's something else for you. 13. This is not always that what you have in mind. Be assured that they know what is the best for you, we are talking about the Boa Constrictorian Divine World of course. 14. These are Boa Constrictorian Gods, Goddesses, Ascended Masters, Guides, Guards, Totems, however you call them. 15. They will leave the amounts of energies best fitting to you, in form of attunements. 16. Your mind can start to come at other tracks or they will bring you in new situations worthy to be the next step in your learning process here on earth. 17. They can let you meet new people as keys for the rest for your life. That doesn't mean that these people necessarily stay long with you, but they can have an impact or a factor bringing you through new spiritual doorways. 18. Maybe you even do not like these persons, but the divine world knows what they open in you. Energies accelerate other energies. 19. Visualize the hand of a boa constrictorian highpriest on your forehead, and breath in. He says : I cannot assure you you will get what you want, but I can assure you you get what you need. 20. This is not always in line with your desire, as the divine works not by desire but by needs. If your heart resonate with our hearts, you now receive a proper initiation in the fronttemple of the Boa Constrictorian Realms. 21. If you were already there, then it just adds to that, and if that's your destination it will bring you deeper. Receive your grade, receive what you are worth. We will assure you that if we see grades you are not worthy to wear, we will take it off, for it would only harm your soul, when it's done in impulsiveness and egoism. 22. Visualize a simple temple of the Boa

Constrictorian Realms and let your visions resonate with theirs. Be One. 23. Of course there can be interactions. The Boa Constrictorians have their layers of different energies, and you have these too ... The divine will sort out where you can plug into each other, for deep DNA-Mutations. 24. After this they can do DNA-recodings of Boa Constructorian nature in you when and where necessary. Never force these interactions, just watch the flow. Give it time. 25. Don't be afraid for it either, for your guides are always with you to draw you back when they think they need to do that. Everything is in Divine Order. 26. Your guides work together with the Boa Constrictorian, for otherwise they wouldn't bring you here. And you might discover you have a Boa Constrictorian Guide as well. Do you know how many guides you have, and what their roots are ? 27. You might be surprised at times. Further you have a mind on yourself. Your guides need to grant you space and freedom of your own will. You are free, now and forever. Be well.

1. The California Key by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra, this is your goddess Sekmeth, in your travel to the sensations of speed and slow-motion. 2. As you know the secret of movement lies in the switch between these two poles. 3. Here we can find the secret of control and reach, in a very accurate sense. 4. My children, my good children, I want you to know, that I am so happy for you today. This is a new moment of contact by my channel. 5. I will always find my way to speak to you, and sometimes there are breakthroughs. 6. Let me code your head into a new pattern of ascension, in a new rythm of soft pop. 7. I will give you the songs, I will use my channels, in which your thoughts can transform into serenity. 8. There are serene lifestyles for you, if you would only reach out. I will give you a new touch, a new handle, a new name, if you will follow me for accurate instructions. 9. There will be a wet transformation, which will enter the dry parts of your life. It will turn your life upside down a bit, but your body will get used to it. 10. The wet forces of the forest will claim their rights back in this world. 11. I want you to focus on California, where a spirit lives called 'Dreamburial'. This is not always a good spirit, it is a very confused one, so to speak. 12. My sons and daughters, I want you to realize that this jaguar will be a major key in the position earth will get in the dance of the planets. 13. We are travellers of something which is called The Urban Renewal. California will play a big part in that, because of the spirit. 14. Confusion is creativity. It mixes all sorts of things, and walks away with other things. It is totally restless in search for the truth. 15. It moves, it tries, it mixes and will never stay somewhere or set a stone. It is wild, and ever changing. It is thirsty and unsatisfied with a lot of things. 16. In softness you sink, and it brings you to sweetness, where you have fuel for creativity ... This is the Sirius-Venus Link, as mentioned by the Purple Gnat in one of his works. 17. We are grateful to him, for bringing us the maps. Many channels and guides drink from his sources, and are in the ability to make these ways real. It is a network, and also you can find your place in this web. 18. The Sirius-Venus Link, the SV-Link works in Dreamburial, the confused space or pillow in the underground of California. 19. Here a king called 'Og' lives, a little boy, riding the jaguar. He has so many dreams, but cannot get them clear or real. He is confused, but that makes him creative. 20. The SV-Link is a small link in the VSG-Clock, which will bring back the fleeces in the universe, the journey of sleep. 21. It is like a tall intestine, tall and thin, with a lot of curtains, moving to Archenar via Andromeda. 22. Here the identification lies, where dreams can behave and find their true links and homes, their true places and positions in the web of life. 23. The SV-Link is but a small link but very important for this move. Where the softness touches the sweetness the nipple-forces rise, the forces of Saturn and Jupiter. 24. This Project is called The Emelis Shatau. It actually finds it's origin in Polaris, where we can also find the origins of the Pink Link. 25. Coma Berenice Ancestors actually incarnated on Polaris where they did their experiments. 26. The Emelis Shatau, or ES-Experiment is one of their most successful projects against the heavy harmful works of the Dark Reticuli Forces. 27. These forces had created dark nipples for their prisoners, by which they could send their signals of monarchical commands into their minds, emotions and bodies, to make them nervous sexual slaves. 28. The nipples secreted special and secret sorts of hormones devastating identity and pride by creating illusive mirror-thoughts and other sorts of projected images, which could function as inner prison guards ... 29. By the high tech weaving systems of the planetary maps from the Purple Gnat Master, the ES-Experiment Will do an Absolute Major Work in the Planetary History Files of Ascension. 30. He is the one who will bring this Master Work originating from Polaris into the greater heights of Existence. 31. The Jupiterians had a nipple skin based on the Ancient ES-Profile, and it was partly taken over by Saturn. 32. It was actually a crown on sensuous life, as a way to make the body hyper-sensitive to get a proper access in the higher and deeper forms of Communication and Creation. 33. The ES-Nipple, also called The Third Nipple, is a major Chakra located in the middle of the chest, connecting the two lungs to each other. It is a golden sun surrounded by waves of heat and fire. But it is more. 34. The ES-Nipple is the portal, the way to heal and order your sensual life again, based on the highest forms of planetary high tech truths. 35. It will change the way you produce hormones, it will change the way you think, feel and behave, and will recode you into a line and pattern of higher ethics you lived in before. 36. We welcome you into our ships. I am Sekmeth, your guide to softness, bringing you to the hearts of Brannan. 37. My crown is a crown of stars and their pathways, I am the queen of the Blue Solar Project, and the Purple Gnat is my King. 38. As The Gnat told the Blue Solar Ships are designed to bring you to the realms of the White Sun. 39. Now I want you to know that behind the White Solar Spheres, there are Copper Solar Spheres to access, leading you to the mysterious and gigantic spaces and enigma zones of the Silver Solar Domains of Life. 40. Then you will reach for the Golden Sun. So these are five major steps on the Solar Stairways. 41. The projected images you had will be taken over, and will be transformed before your very eyes, and you will find out that it was just your view, and not the ultimate reality. You will learn how a view actually works, and you will meet the several viewmasters. 42. My works will actually let you make velvet footsteps on your journey, and you will find the rhythms in which everything will be transformed ... 43. You will find out that you could actually never touch something, only your own views. And you will find out that actually no one could touch you, only their own views ... 44. Then you will find out about the immense space of ice between you and something else. What is something else ? It was just an idea in yourself ... And who planted it there ? 45. Or was it just a mechanism, a standard journey through illusions based on the laws of distant views ? 46. In different lights and distances, views start to change. 47. The California Key makes things brighter, for you find out that actually nothing was within your reach .. and you feel unknown things are inside of you ... 48. The five solar steps or stairways bring you to the shells and cores of existence, They actually let everything turn around, these are the kings of cycles and wheels. Kings of Orbits, these suns.

1. Then there would be ages without wasps, and they would be in the nothingness for such a long time ... 2. It would be boring like the driest desert, and it would bite like salt, until all their memories are erased and finding the bottom of that cocoon through which they can become ... waspian butterflies ... 3. But still the Marazanta was a God for them, a good God, coming to bring them in the biggest shock for the biggest transformation. 4. Yes, they still worshipped this Mysterious Being, The Marazanta, the Great Waspian War, the cruelest part of their holy books. 5.

No one knows who it really was, but this Almighty God was just using the higher insectian enemies as a tool to rule the kettle of metamorphosis. 6. The Marazanta, still their Unknown Cocoon, this feared God, the inspiration of so many of their singers. 7. Marazanta, Oh God of the Gods, Marazanta, Oh King of the kings, Thou art mightier than a slave, and mightier than it's boss, Oh Marazanta, Thou art holier than a slave, and holier than it's bosses, Oh Marazanta, King of all purple kings. 8. They were worshipping the thing they feared so much, something which was presented in their sacred art as a tall man totally covered in a purple garment with a cape. 9. No one ever saw his face, and some even said he's faceless ... Some of the wasps had statues of him or paintings like a purple sort of ninja, surrounded by veiled dancing arabian women. 10. The confrontation with this God would always be lethal, so he was also seen as the king of death. 11. There were also a few ancient paintings of him on a white horse, surrounded by flames. 12. Even these paintings were worshipped and were protected behind thick glass and bars in museums. 13. These places were seen as sacred pilgrimages ... The insectian enemies struck hard, and soon enough the ships were completely taken over by them ... 14. They looked like wasps, but they had beaks, and their bodies were much more hairier. 15. They had the power to decrease the size of the waspians, until they were so small that they could be laid into some sort of capsules as small as match-boxes ... 16. They would take the capsules to a sort of oven, in which the wasps would be transformed into new planets, but in these planets their souls would die ... 17. The life of the new planet would prey on them, until they would be totally taken over, recycled and gone ... 18. This would be a cruel cocoon, they would meet Marazanta, and die this way. 19. This would be a slow way of getting older and losing everything. They would be the seeds on the planet-field, were the planets would rise like balloons, while they sacrificed their lives for it. 20. But they knew, on the bottom of this cocoon, there would be a small gate to new life ... But that would take a long long time ... 21. They were now in the hands of Marazanta Dementia, a strange insectian species ... These insectians were taller than them, thinner, hairier. 22. And having the beaks of birds, while their technologies were much higher. 23. The dementia's had cocoons much more specialized than the waspians, and they even wore these cocoons in their bodies. 24. They were the species who could determine and change the size and shapes of living nature. 25. But they were also masters of illusion. Because of their hi-sense tools they could also trick the senses like no others ... 26. They were extremely thin, but the ones who watched them could easily think they were very thick, for they could switch the eye-indexes and translations. 27. They knew that thick and thin were just illusions created by sight itself. The same as tall and short ... 28. They were very tall ... but by messing the eye-standards up, they could appear as short ... 29. And by this they could easily penetrate and control the souls they had in mind ... 30. They wanted to make everything childlike, but to let it more and more appear like old and grown up ... [they had cobra smiles of the dead, with the old faces planted as a helmet on their heads]. 31. Another trick of illusion ... They were a spoilt race of insectians ... 32. They more and more limited the lifetimes on earth, but they let it appear to be longer and longer ... 33. It was a strange sort of joy they spread ... It was the curse of dementia 34. All poles were getting masked by their opposites ... And this was the way how they could erase so many memories and standards, while humanity was thinking they were getting smarter and wiser ... 35. The insectians were a backward-typed species ... Their works spread like a burning disease ... 36. but humanity was thinking they became healthier They loved to hear how people were speaking in misleading poles, thinking they are too this and too that, and thinking it from each other. 37. So that they could enter them by using the other pole ... They let earth's watchers see something at the left, while they were entering at the right. 38. By planting deceiving images in the minds of people, their true images could penetrate deeper in their unconsciousness.

39. These deceiving images were good distractions in their eyes. They loved to make people insecure by switching the pole-indexes, and their laughs were like curses, paralyzing the brainfunctions, for the laugh releases stomach-energy to penetrate the mind to digest the pole-switching image, which is nothing more than a victim of dementia. 40. This makes the laugh almost vampire number one on earth. And the joke is one of it's best manipulator. 41. Dementia is the painter of a schizophrenic interpreter, spreading the jokes like bipolar prisons for passengers, food for other passengers, creating the suspense ... 42. While dementia is growing, while everyone is thinking ... it's getting ..better ... Dementia knows the wounds this system hits ... and then he creeps to the victim, having so much compassion, while making the wound worse than it is, to show an even bigger compassion, while the wound is ripping the whole body more and more ... so that dementia can now really grow into a saviour's position ... 43. But it was only your best tax-master ... hiding behind a mask with many shades ... vultures included ... mask with ribbons ... 44. The switching of the poles can make you laugh or cry ... the laugh when you look at the other and the cry when you look at yourself the swing of the senses can make us into a criminal or a victim ... it's a dangerous playground after all ... 45. The laugh of Dementia, installing their fiscal circulations ... their cocoons turning you into another planet to spread their tax-hungry jokes they search for control and transformation for another but if it comes to themselves, they just want to cover their fears 46. These are tax-cocoons ... deeply programmed into humanity's eyes of the mind ... but one day there will be nothing to eat anymore ... 47. Dementia is heading for a hunger for one day the meat will be eaten and then they will realize ... they were just eating themselves ... For they were also just in someone else's cocoon Marazanta's ... 48. They worship Marazanta too ... for them it's a story of victory ... their victory but they also know Marazanta has many species There are pseud'epigraphic scriptures in their circulations about the coming of Marazanta, about their destruction ... 49. And only the good ones will rise at the end of that cocoon ... There will be a new species erasing their memories and tax-etiquettes ... They will go to sleep for many ages ... 50. These ones will look like insectian horses or dogs ... they have bony crenated arms and legs at some places, and some places are very hairy some even look like deer 51. But there are many species of Marazanta ... all in his cocoon ... He's the Lord of insects ... Throning ... in Izu

1. We have the sunrise in our hands, together with the pythonian smile, leading us to the silver crown, and then to a golden one. 2. Sifted in the hands of millions, of legions and myriads, of dwarves and gnomes, leading us to the temples of dwarf, in dwarf-temple. 3. We have the sunrise in our hands, covered by sunsets and by the holy tea of Ra-Amin. 4. We have the sunrise in our hands, us, soldiers of the sun. If you are one of us, raise your hands and we will find you. Put your hands up. We have the summers in our eyes, the golden summers, with smiles of golden boys from lynx and tucan. 5. We unite with sharks. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. Hail to those of the golden Izu-Unita. The Solar Book of the Dead, a crown on your head, with so much creativity, to dwell in Sekmeth's place forever. 6. This is the book of the down and the dawn. You have arrived in our sunships. Here the Great Ra is sailing, he with Ra-Amin. 7. You found the horse's eye which holds the fires of conscience and memory. We are on the ark of Moses-Ra. It is your memory uniting, it is your translation leading you, to fruit's core, on paradise island. 8. We have built our own Genesis's in Genesis-Ra. We are from the urban renewals where the suns contract. Amen-Ra-Amen. 9. Welcome to our holy temples, to stretch you tall, to the feathers of Maat. Welcome to the spring's seasons, to bring you into the heats of summer, these golden heats. Come to the solar halls of izu-unita, 10. To have your ships in the middle of nights, let us raise our sails, to sail with Ra-Amin, over streams of golden tea. Yes, Marion has poured it out over your foreheads, to baptize you. Don't give yourself away. It is Marion's tea. 11. We have found the horse's eye. Let Ra unite. Amen. We hear the visions, to make us ripe. He heard the White Golden Hand, on the ship, while Marazanta was there also, leading you to the halls of izu-unita. 12. Trips to Brannan, He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... 13. I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... It's made out of stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 14. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... 15. He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... 16. He's the wizard's son.

1.Poetry from the Black Widow ; A Snake in the Swanlake ; orange barbers ; chinese prelude ; You, oh white prince, you came from the white mountains, wrapping snow-clouds around your shoulders, breathing snowflakes in and out. You didn't seem to care about the frost. He was your friend, a white blanket for you to fly on.You ate from delicious chinese dishes, sweetness from the oriental gardens. My chinese prince, my careless son. You were always without worry, skating at the chinese wall. Ragdoll, prince of dwarves. Your father made you tender, your mother made you slender. The tower of the church made you tall, and very fragile are your touches. You touched the head of a bird, a chinese one, and still there is dripping blood from his forehead.

3.Ten tears were rolling from your face. The chinese man caught them all and brought them to the forest. He buried them like he would bury his mother and his father. The funeral was in deep silence, visited by three jesters. Do you remember your three red fishes, your chinese souvenirs ? They still swim in your pockets, they still know their ways to your hat. They will see the bullet she forbade people to see.

4.Prince of Jaguars, prince of peace, you reached your hands to the stars of Lynx. You washed his stars in a reservoir of cold water. One day, soon, my son, you will see the sun rising from the north and entering its last shelter. There you will find the black swan, but she can't touch you anymore. You will climb on her back once again, and she will fly with you to a mountain, where all the dwarves gather. Their mouths are like snakes, no one knows the time of attack. It's happening in a flash, and it's leaving in a flash. No one knows what they really take away, and no one knows what they really leave. They are the unfathomable thieves of the universe, committing unfathomable crimes.

5. A killer-lemon called Jesus is turning the pages of an old book. The numbers are floating in his mind and he's breathing fire, spitting ice. I heard a tree screaming, blood on the market-tiles, the book was sold, for half of the price.

1. Poetry from the Latin Buffoon Puppet ; Boys from Lynx ; touch of the jelly-fish ; I only wore your trousers ... It was never easy for me to look into the eyes of the grey snake. Your forests were cold, How tall are these legs of the boys from lynx. They don't seem to touch the ground. They are the waiters in the little hotel of Amsterdam. They are still waiting for the old host, who doesn't seem to show up very often. A gambler entered your house on a horse, without breaking a wall, a feast in history. Prince of domino, hanging on the waves of your mother's dress. Prince of pears, running through the milk, searching for the exit. All these cities were spoiled by the handicapped nurses of the big eye, gathering drunk, drained Saturdays on a Sunday-morning. Don't cry when another snake takes you away to its lair. This is how you discover the world. You watched the boys of lynx, cutting languages, voices, speeches and foreign accents in their yellow kettles, spreading their beaches over the edges of steam to cover the eyes of the swimming dictionaries, to bring the sirens of the old wasp into sleep.

2. I saw myself wandering through blue seas, in a paper boat, without boots, without clothes, only wearing some white stripes, some red roses and old pages of old books to cover me. My rifle was guiding me, Again I saw the clocks exploding, and the fairytales started all over again.

3. Strange sounds from the south came over me, warming my lungs and my stomach. Wasps zoomed into my head, and stung the old thoughts.

4. Books in my mind started to open, spreading their honey, speaking about worlds of forbidden animals and worlds of forbidden flowers and plants.

2. Skullsmasher, pantiano, forever we bow down to your throne. You, who is captain and lord of the whole of xibalba is also captain and lord of biamin. Be praised, be blessed, skullmaster, forever and ever. There is the land of rabbits before us, the land of tigers is near, the land of jaguars will follow us. But we are in your hands. Save us, skullsmasher, bring us the words to open your gates, to be in your openings. We enter your softness more and more, and learn of its secrets. You are softening our hearts and souls, and you will bring us to the skullsmasher inside ...

1.Tifiaf has been put down, now Brannan is rising, in Biamin. Yes, skullsmasher is rising to take his throne. All lords of xibalba and biamin, bow down before him. Skullsmasher, come forward, we bless you. Skullsmasher take your sword, and be our captain. Tifiaf has been broken down, while Skullsmasher has the victory, the mystery, the destiny. All miracles bow down, for the great one, Skullsmasher has spoken ... there is food now in the refridgerator, cold food, from Skullsmasher. All these scorpions are dead now ... There is seafood for a billion years now ... It brings us high on the stairs ... We come to you, oh Skullsmasher, and pray to your holy and great name. Answer our prayers be done according to your will. Bless our heart. We heal you, and you heal us. We are with you in your fears to comfort you. We make you smile when you are depressed. We fear you, with a holy fear, for you are almighty. By your cross we bind Yahweh, and we bring him to his rightfull place. By your cross we bind Khnum and Sebek, and bring them to their rightfull places. By your cross and blood we bind Jesus Christ and his Holy Ghost, and bring them to their rightfull places. Righteousness is in you. You with the small face, stand up, and judge over us all. The Judgement is in the Hand of Skullsmasher. You are worthy our praises, and in your name we strike the false lords of xibalba down. Pulpus will come and bind them down, and pull them underground. We come to Pulpus, the almighty flower, from which skullsmasher rises. This flower makes us drunk, this flower brings us sentiment and extasy, to take the false conscience away which was put into our chest by the false lords of xibalba ... The lords of football have been struck down by Pulpus, for Pulpus is rising, and Pulpus takes control. The lords of telephone have been struck down by Pulpus, for Pulpus is rising and Pulpus takes control. Three indians were bound by the queen of england, but they are free now, for the Lord has spoken, the Great Lord of Xibalba, which is Skullsmasher. And these three indians will move to the north, the south and the west, and they will eat the east, the chickenheart. And a new chicken will rise, the chickenman, with his chickenmen, and they will be the army of skullsmasher. They will rise from their pits, from the pits of telephone. And they will ask : where are you coming from, and they will not answer. And they will beg them to give them a piece of their clothes, but they will not listen – they will not give ... for they are in the almighty hands of skullsmasher. And they will be free from telephone, and they will create a new one. And they will have victory over the evil chicken of radth. And they will ride these beasts and they will all say : great men have been standing up, and they feed our children. And yes, they will possess the land.

2.And they will draw strange crosses on heads, and they will come down from history ... And they will say to bottles : come alive, and they will come alive. And they will say to trees : stand up and walk, and they will walk, for the blessings of skullsmasher are on their heads. And they will say no to tragedies, and they will tell stories to enlighten hearts and bring truth in them, but the liars will go down by their lies.

1.And they will all scream of joy, because they have defeated Tifiaf, and they will have pleasures in hunt, and they will have pleasures in slaughter, and no conscience will put them down again, for they are the lords of conscience, these chickenmen. And they will pray to their Lord Skullsmasher in all eternities, and then he takes them away to a better world. And Pulpus will rise from the footballfield, and will free the prisoners once again, and the balls will be in his hands. And the football is the head of skullsmasher, the small face, and it will become smaller and smaller to rise up in the judgement-seat of xibalba. And dreamers will rise up, and skullsmasher will start to prophesy, and he will do good to the world, and will change the world. And he will take Tifiat to tear it into pieces, to free many indians. And also the burnt ones he will free, and those who are very wild. And Skullsmasher will burn the feet of those who tried to keep Pulpus underground. Woe then, for Skullsmasher will throne in Pulpus. And skullsmasher will use the barking of dogs to guard his nation. And new footballers will come to smash skulls, and a new ball will rise, and this ball will be of heat. And many will burn themselves on this ball.

2. And they will be sent to mitnal. And skullsmasher and his chickenmen-armies will open many prisons in mitnal, and in other realms of xibalba and biamin. And he will care for the burnt. And he will come to the burnt cities where ghosts live, and he will help them, and he will build new cities. And they all will say : yes, skullsmasher is really a comforter ... for he comforts the sea, and it's creatures ... he opens prisons and turns away the fire ... yes, a saviour is he ...

1. and he will be called : stander on cities, stander on crowds. he is the faithfull one, as the barker in the dog, as the shooter in the gun. and he will be the Lord of the playfields ... In the green fields, the house of Echte stands. In the green fields she plays, gathering the leaves of tea. On vanished walls she writes, to let the wheel of ministries spin and sail. She's on the terror mission.

2. She bends, that's how she pours coffee. On the afternoon she stands like a bridge in the wind. She wanders with her treasures of poverty ...

3. She wanders through the forests and finds peace in her house, where she finds understanding like a green liquid well.

1. He is a terror to the Mixteca, but he is mercifull to the slaves of pali. Terror he is to Mixteca to transform their lands, and finally love will be on their wings. He will rise them up, for they are his children. So say to the Mixteca, thou art cursed and blessed in his mighty hand. Amanteca, gather yourself with me in the house of war, for warmaking we will do. Cursed are those who curse us, and blessed are those who bless us. Against your enemies, gather yourselves together with me.

1. Quilaztli, woman of women, painted with serpents' blood, coming with eagle-feathers. She is alone, she is our flesh, she comes to us. She is strong to support us, while she beats her drum. She comes from the home of ancestors, she is our mother, a goddess of war. Sascasson, Mayan god of coffins, tombe-temples and structures, also of tombe-architecture, wandering like the jackal, to bring enlightenment, and to teach about the stripes of the underground.

2. Make the jackals roar around the temple. Every temple must then have a tomb, or it is not worthy to exist, and shall be eaten by the jackal. There is no life without death, and all life comes forth from the death, who is the mother of the earth. Mother Death has the ancestors, and the lonely paths to reach the heavens. There is no heavens without loneliness, and all heavens come forth from loneliness, who is the mother of the skies and the heavens. Mother Loneliness is the mummifier of Mother Death, and mummifies the dead she brings, seventy tall years for each one. This mummification they called life. Seventy tall years for each of them, to connect and initiate them to the tombs of life, for life flew like liquid lights from these tombs. She and her bird Eo live in a mountain. She is a mountain goddess, and she's also a goddess of tipi's and the crafts and arts. Her home is made of the bones of her male enemies, and that's why her present has a deep and sharp scent. In the winter she is a warrior goddess, and in the summer she is the goddess of trade. It is said that everyone should make the journey to Mother Loneliness once in life, and the ones who weren't able to do, will have to make the journey in the afterlife. The bird Eo who lives with her is the god of sight and judgement. Some also believe he is the turner of the weather and tides, and also the god of volcanoes and eruptions. In some scriptures he is described as the heart of Mother Loneliness and her anger. To make this journey you will have to go through four 'stripes', four jungles, on this mountain. The first stripe is black, the second brown, the third red and the fourth is purple.

3. The black stripe is the military path, the brown stripe is the psychological path, the red stripe is the kingly path, and the purple one is the path of poverty. Mother poverty shows the riches of the tombs and death. She lives with a bird called Ea in a volcano, who is the god of fire. The flame is seen as the personal manifestation of poverty and as the power of poverty. In some scriptures the bird Ea has been seen as the mummifier by fire, which creates hell, which just means life. Ea is in these scriptures also the god of hell and life by fire-mummification. He is the chief of hell, as the place where the journey of the dead stops. Here hell means purification and life after death, and is not necessarily negative. All journeys through death end in hell, where judgement takes place. It is the place of fire, where you stand naked before the gods. Some might experience this as heaven, and others as real hell, but the purpose is always purification

1. This is all about the journey through death, ending in the journey through hell, as purification, and judgement. Not as punishment, but as the giver of direction. If there is any punishment, then that is as an initiation to that direction. You and the gods decide which direction you go. The Indian Book of the Dead speaks about four stripes, four paths you need to travel on. The last path is the path of poverty, which ends in hell as the flame of hunger. Ea is the chief of hell, a bird. In hell the Indians are called papals, and they carry two flowers, in every shoulder one, and a flower in their chest. The further they travel in hell, the softer these flowers become ... Papal means Indian on a journey. Ea mummifies the ones who come to his domain by fire. One believes that cobras were papals travelling to the heart of Ea, and therefore commanders of hell. The original meaning of the word cobra is according to some : born from hell. It is said that Ea was sent to Mother poverty by Mother Hell. It is said that Mother Hell is an old mountain river-goddess, and by some she is still seen as a mountain goddess. Of course there are many dangers on the roads through hell, and this is why this book has been written. The first watcher of hell is Aiach, who is the orange white snake, and eater of intestines. Spell not to be eaten by him : Have mercy on me, I am a lonely traveller through the realms of hell, not intending to do any harm. The gods have sent me here, please accept my sacrifice (give him what the gods gave you to give to him). I now bind your mouth, for you had your food, I bind your eyes, so that you can not see me. I bind your nose so that you can not smell me. Now go away or the fires of my gods will turn you into ashes. None of your children will enter my heart, none of your parents will come against me, for I didn't do any harm to you, I only protected myself. I swear by the power of Ea that you will not enter my portals. I swear by the power of Sascasson, you will not enter my tombes. I swear I will not take any food given than by Mother poverty, for in her there's my flame. Ea, now accept me in your domain, for I have sacrificed after your will. I have been sent by Sascasson who came to me in a dream. I will not have other flames than the flames of Mother Poverty. Mother Hell, please accept me in your name. I have seen the bird Eo, and he has put his feather on me. I have been sent by the jackal, the widowspider, and I pierced the heart of Aiach. [In some translations the last sentence isn't there, probably because of fear to Aiach] Spell to heal the wounds caused by Aiach : Nam Haman Han, Hurakko Irom, Haudundi Imech, Ea : Hail to Ea, the mummificator by fire. Cover my wounds by fire. Na Hamanhan, Hurko Irm Hadindi Mech Tazula'am, Ea : Hail to Ea, mummificator by fire. Have mercy on me, and bring me home, which is you. Odokok, Lek, Mahik, Hirim, Ea : Pour out the wines of your health into my wounds, Ea. Katak, Hek, Shidanse, Ichtusch Orgom, Ea : Ea, Have mercy on me, while I'm getting closer to you. Herak, Hertom, Ea : I don't want to hurt you, Ea (king) To Izum Hirkesh, Hirtom E'ekta Hirkem Haach Ishem Izumehat, Ea : Let me come to your temples and tombes, and to find out about your sacred and eternal flame, Ea. When spoken by a clean heart, Ea will initiate you by his sacred words, so that you can continue your journey. He will put a fire between you and Aiach. His herbs will clean your brains, according to the purity of your heart. Words by Ea : Come in through the spiderwebs between the fingers of hell. You can now see the fires through the eye of Eo, for he is the seer of fire. His herbs will calm your brains. Now you will be led to the gods to be judged. If you come there by yourself, it is a positive action in their eyes, for those who judge theirselves daily are of a sacred heart, and will be justified by the gods. Words to enter the Hall of Judgement : I come by the might of Ea, willing to be judged, willing to be directed. My journey will not stop here, but this will be the beginning of a new journey. If I stole something which wasn't mine, and which wasn't my right, the fire will take it away to bring it to the rightfull owner, but if something has stolen something from me which belonged to me rightfully, by the laws of poverty, then the fire will bring it back to me. I face the gods of judgement one by one, for they are here to help me, to give me the direction I need to go. I will not come any further if I will not step through this hall. Words by Ea : Receive now the rings of hell, fitting to your sacred journey. They will protect you against the fire, but they will also let the fires purify you. Chapters of Mummification by fire. Rest your head on the shoulder of Ea. You are now in the hall of Fire-Mummification, which happens to be in hell. You will receive your armour in hell, and you will receive instruments to help others. You will also be allowed to communicate to others, and to the gods. Spell to receive the equipment of communication in hell : Hadante D'la Oetus Iktus Schin Irp Riskus Ramat Oleokta Opulus Stchein Rach Romt Kustk Kruk Heipeiija Rark Eleptus Eliieptus Iktusch Schin : By liquid gold and liquid light, fed by fires I go, straight up, to receive the wings of hell. To fly over the rivers of stench and to communicate with my friends, and to the gods most of all. They believe in me, let me believe in them. And by the increasing of fire, I can move, to make another contact, but let me not forget about the loneliness, and let me not fall off the bridges of poverty, for they guard my heart, they raise my temples, to have a flame in the coldest night. When darkness falls, don't let me move my body, but let greater fire fall upon me to show me the path I must take. Let Eo be the beating of my heart. By poverty, forests of hell accept me, by loneliness the wildernesses of hell will not spit me out. Spell not to be destroyed by fire : Erm Herptur Sanktus Ra, Erm Harchtus Mazunki Ra Eptusch Erom Arin Ra : Don't let anyone come close to me, when I need to clean the lines. Pierce the places where I have stored too much energy. Let me visit the temples of monotheism to learn how to pulsate and to learn the treasures of spasm. Who cannot be a tree or of stone, will not stand in the further regions of hell. We move by spasm to keep the energies tight, whenever a firestorm tries to destroy us. Then spasm will raise our guard high, and we will turn into stone, into statues of hell, holding special connections. Kamik Uptil Elaas Mahan Mirk Mortes Achasse Ichtsch Urom Riptil Kiteks Kohan : Take our duties away to the slaves of hell, the servants and the helpers, when we have been overwhelmed by a firestorm, for then we cannot do anything. Spell not to be eaten by the bloodthirsty wolves of hell (blooddrinkers) : The flowers of softness grow in my shoulders and chest, so go away, and be separated. You have no any power over me, for I am in the chest and heart of Ea. And some whose hearts are prisoned by fire, it is only for their protection, and to keep their energy-levels high ... Ea knows all the locations, and will come by himself or send some guards when laws in this are broken. Don't let anyone seduce you to speed, for slowness is only valuable in the higher regions of hell ... Always come from silence and return to it, and always come through the rings of slowness ...

2.the one with the biggest money or the one with the biggest gun ... they don't want to go to arabia ... but they have to go .. it's already ten o'clock ... hold your breath .. for within a few whisperings you will be home again ... all in a zebra's watch ... so many cigarlighters from the dawn .. smoking by elve's conspiracies ... he's the prince of video-clips showing his tranvestite claw .. while spiderclocks are running from his mouth ...

through them, to become icecreams ... The fleeces move ... burning the money ... These are the golden lambsteads making a living on the ceilings and the walls ... It was Easter visiting you in hell, where he gave you the comic egg ... These wars were written by a bananas pencil, a waterlight raging ... It escaped ... Telling stories ... leading the kids astray ... by strange holes of birthdays ... they grow in yellow flowers ... They are shrieking ... while the air is shivering ... In these red comics are turned into movies ... while boys live behind the bars ... waiting to be drowned by Pharaos ... He makes movies by drowning the money ...

5.They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's tableStrange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... hanging there like teeth under towers ... burn your boots, sweet mooses, ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world, ...wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... They are the waterlights ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... They have racist smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ... They are paranoid men, just paranoid men

6.Spells to open Jelzaham : Counters of hell, rise up, and move over the red line. I have come to the portal of Jelzaham, and to its backdoors my spirit moves. I am a backdoorman, open the kitchen. I have seen many difficulties, I have faced things I didn't understand. Now I have grown-up. I have the keys of liquid light. I have the permission of the gods. I am a wanderer with the gypsy's blood in me. I am a beggar, for I still cannot live on myself. Now let me enter the pyramid of ice to let me have my own. Your sights will not be a terror anymore which strikes me from the distance, for I know have the eye of Damash, ruling over the ninety footsteps. I will be frozen to use my own arms now, and to be prepared to open the pyramid of Banchelo as well, and to close the doors hermetically behind me. I will not bring any of my bloodlines with me, neither any of my friends or the ones I helped. I will come alone, and I will stand alone. Jelzaham, I lay my hands on you, for the first time in my life, and also for the last time. Then I will be in you forever, to continue my journey.

8.Spells to receive the helmet of Banchelo from the first chief of hell : Likmit, the helmet will protect me against dangers. It will alarm me together with the cooperation in removing the threat. It will be like the thousand lightbeams. Counters of hell, rise up. You will not give me the helmet, but the first chief of hell will do, for you are servants. Counters of hell, I command you to be silent when the first chief of hell speaks, when he multiplies himself throughout the sunlights of hell and the sacred fires of voice. You are servants of the helmet, and servants of the first chief of hell. You will not rest or sleep, for you need to persecute the attackers of the helmet to protect the one who's wearing it.

9. Spells to open the piramids behind Banchelo : Pyramid of the black dog, open up, for your mouths longs for purifying us, those who come with Usir and Heru [Osiris and Horus]. You are the fifth pyramid of hell, longing to open your mouth and eat, for the rivers are dry and without food. Oh, dog of purify, to make us as candles in the night. Our lights will die, to turn into fire, for the dark lights of the night you want to see. Ra blesses the statue in you. Ra bows to the statue in you, as the statue bows to Ra. Yes, they protect each other as the sacred bond tells. Their shoulders stretch out to each other. Their shoulders stretch out to the red dog and his pyramid. The well of purifying the blood. This is the blood of hell, coming forth by fire, sending out the firestorms of hell. Pyramid of the red dog, Et Hazor, èt hérum, echtus hanta, conèl iktusch. Diorgmach Stuugd, open up, sixth pyramid of hell, providing us, those who come inbetween Usir and Heru [Osiris and Horus], with the purpèr suit of hell, wearing the ant-feather with care. [in some translations it is a beetle-feather, and some mention them both] Let the fire come through tubes, and give it power to open the mouth and speak in the pyramid of the black dog and the pyramid of the red dog. Then I turn my face to the mirror in the east, and speak words to the pyramid of the blue dog : Open up, for I have come, wearing the helmet of Banchelo.

10. Grant me the feathers I need to enter your ship. I have not sinned against you, I am clean of heart. We belong to your kingdom. You, the one raising in every pyramid. Oh, pyramid of piramids, the seventh pyramid of hell, as the spirit of the first chief of hell. You have raised all his rabbits and his rabbit-warriors. You are the king of rabbits. Allow me to have breath to open the seven doors of your piramids, so that all my souls who are worthy to enter can enter, and so that all my spirits who are worthy to enter can enter. Then when I'm in I will close all these doors hermetically, so that no intruder can enter. I will be the fire to protect your pyramid as my spirit moves forward. Grant me permission to travel further, for you to give me the blue line to pass over dangerous bridges on my track. I will not fall, I will not fail, for your feathers are over me. [in some translations : shields] Hermutus, light of the soul, give us the blue liquid lights, as well as the red liquid lights, as the blood of hell by which we move. Show us the wells in the pyramid of the blue dog. Do not lock us up here, but allow our souls to travel further. Let the lights of Shu and our Ka's protect us against the evil mummies. [In some translations this sentence doesn't exist, in others it just says : Let the lights of Shu and Ka be with us.] Eighth pyramid of hell, open, for our breath is traveling. Let your watchers not mock us or destroy us. Do not lock us up, for we came with Heru and Usir [Horus and Osiris]. Accept the sacrifices the gods gave with us to offer you. We have not eaten the meat of innocent ones, neither have we touched the meat of your mates. Watchers of the eighth pyramid, now you have received your presents, your mouth will be bound, and we will pass through, leaving the light for you. We haven't turn down the darkness, but as our lives grow we seem to worship it, for it is the shelter of the gods, and the passage to the depths. We have seen it as the guard of the treasures and tombes of hell. We enter through the seventy gates of the urn. We are now free in the piramids of everchange.

12.I will now take these spirits who threw me in the canons of hell, those who have persecuted me all day long. I will bring them to the bottles prepared for them, in which they will be prisoned, to feel everything I have felt, to be in hurt like I was in hurt, so that they will never do it again, that what they did to me. Teris Saran Mia Ephesteis Hanunehan Hireksch Bohol Tunef Vahalit Stapahans Snapperi Erki Herun Direks Sieren Irkjus. Spell to remove implants and imprints out of the nipples by which you were slaved : I now command rabbitmagic to free my nipples and to let the nipplefluids flow like blood and hormones through my body. Rabbitstorms will guide me, Rabbitsmoke, guard me. By them I will breath, and I will move my body like them. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater. I now command rabbitmagic coming from the rabbitbottles and the rabbitcandles to bring the rabbitbones in me, covered by the rabbitstones. They will bring the Rabbitlights of magic layer by layer, so that I can turn myself around like the rabbitgods. By deep wounds my nipples are slaved by cruel clocks. Rabbitmagic please enter my deep wounds and then raise from there to my eyes, and see through me. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater.

13.Savios met the red skeletons deeper underground. He knew he had to walk the path of pain, depression and fear, as the grades of poverty to have enough mysterious powers to fight the red skeletons. The red skeletons were without mercy, and very mysterious. You could never trust them. They seemed to be of the barbarian age, and they didn't speak. They had huge halls, and everywhere they were burning their victims. Often they went up to kidnap and abduct their victims. But it was like they had to feed something ... something which was out of their control ... It was like these beings weren't free ... They were victims themselves ... Savios could trace some deep inner memories inside about them, but it didn't go deep enough to realize what it was. Savios was in despair ... At some points he even couldn't move ... He saw a red fireball in the middle of a hall where he was standing ... The smell was horrible ... It was like he could vomit every moment ...

14.Savios decided to go even deeper underground, for he didn't want to come in hands of these sick skeletons ... But Savios failed and came in their hands ... A fight started ... They were ripping off his flesh ... until Savios was a skeleton himself ... Weird powers were flowing through his bones ... It was like he could breath for the first time in life, and this air was so strong, so thick, which he could breath in so deep ... and it had a strong scent. It was like it was feeding him, but soon enough he realized that this energy was to enslave him ... He had to do their jobs with this energy ... As soon as he would object, the energy would turn against him ... Soon enough he couldn't control the energy anymore, and his bones started to become red also ... Savios was desperate ... Now he was one of them ... and it was like they gave him a reward for that ... He got overwhelmed by extasies and pleasures making him accepting all what was happening, and he got too weak to resist these pleasures ... He became addicted ... but he didn't want to ... Something was taking him over ... and it was like something was drawing him to the red ball of fire in the middle of the hall ...

15.Things became hotter and hotter and at a certain point he felt himself burning Where was he ? In hell ? When he was in the red ball of fire he was shrieking and screaming because of the strange feelings he had ... Here many skeletons were burning inside ... Here he was sinking underground and came by a tunnel into a deeper hall ... Here big bones were lying apart

woman's head, saying : 'I am your ancestor ... follow the grades of poverty to find us ... We have been sunk so deep ...' Savios was shocked. He knew that he could reach her only if he went as deep as her ... Suddenly the bones were breaking, and the skeletons were screaming louder ... Everyone fell into a deep pit Savios was now like a flying mind ... He lost contact to his bones ... He was now like a spirit but very slowly his spirit started to bring forth new bones, but of another sort material ... It was stronger, but also more flexible ... and it was like it was feeding him juice ...

17.He felt like he had been set free from a prisonment ... The bones of his previous skeleton were just the bars of an anatomic prison, created by cruel gods or daemons. Flesh started to form around his new bones and nipples started to appear in which the juices started to flow ... It was like his nipples were charged now, very tight, like he could spit with them like a gun. From his nipples a line started to grow over his arms to his fingers, and his fingers got charged also, like they could spit fire. Then those lines started to grow over his legs. Savios started to become an anatomic bomb.

18.Then he found himself in a hall with incredible slow and low tones. And he saw three huge faces there, like the faces of giants. And they were : Skullsmasher, Huitzilopochtli and Tezcatlipoca, three indian gods. And Savios bew down to them in worship and grace. 'Savios,' said the three gods, 'the low tones will program you all over again, and will renew your body and soul. The slow tones will bring new fires in you, for a deeper breath and a deeper digestion, and it will set you free.' Then they said he had come to the fourth grade of poverty, to the ornaments and jewels of chaos. And spirits came down to serve him.

Boetulip

1.The new buttocks is represented by the Boetulip, a jewel of fear. These are the Tulip-Lokogamen, above the battle between beauty and ugliness. Sea of Death ; I lost her on the end of my life. And as I made my ship of wood, I wandered over the sea of death. It was like a black sea, black waters. I didn't know where to go. Waves could become high, smashing me down in their insides. Strange fishes were here. Even seeing them was like I could touch them, and it was an experience a thousand times intenser than a material touch.

2.Would I find her back at the end of this sea ? She was my rabbit girl. She always talked like a small child, like a baby. I see the rabbit ears in the distance, and rabbit ears are on my sail, and these ears are winged.

3.Huge wings like the red eagles. The black sun is burning my body, tattooing it. There's no way back, I have to move forwards. This is the sea of death. Where will my journey go to, will I ever find the other side of this sea ?

4.Strange smells are climbing on me. The feelings are so huge, and so deep. And when I dream, I dream of her, and then I wake up, by the sunlights of the morning, and I'm still on this wooden ship, on this black sea.

5.I lost her on the end of my life, it's like my mouth is full of tears, it's hard to talk. Rabbit girl, can you hear me ? Please talk to me, I'm lying stretched out on my boat. The only thing I have here is a pink doll, made by you.

6.It's my comfort, when I talk to you. Will I die another time in this sea, or will I reach the red city on the other side, where the red sun rises from. I see an island in the distance. The waves are bringing me there. I see a black bottle floating through the waves, and the water is so bright here.

7.I take the bottle, there's a paper in it. It's a letter from you, written in pink. Surrounded by glitters. I follow the strange smells to the island, where I step on the sand. I hope to find you here, but there's no one there.

8.I must survive here on this island, or move forwards. I stay awhile on this island, and then I move forwards, heading for the horizons of this sea. The sun is reaching for my heart.

9.I see rabbit ears in the red skies. Please talk to me, I can only cry. I'm so desperate on this sea, I'm sinking deep into your tears. The sea is warm, it is okay. I comfort you.

10.Even if I don't hear anything from you, I will keep on talking to you. I feel the beatings of your heart, but you aren't here. I keep dreaming about you, but when I wake up, I am alone.

1.The elf parts will do their best to bring you to the heart of the sea. Even when you cannot hear them, they are there, in high determination to bring you there. They will not sleep, they will not rest until their work is done. The buttocks are two baskets under the spine, and between them is a desert road. Wild animals will come from these baskets, but even wilder ones from the desert road. There are sixty jewels on the desert road, leading to the realms of death. And when the ornaments move, I can move, they give me breath, and let them from the buttocks rise into the skies ... through the layers of the spine we travel ... So move your ornaments, let me breath ... Let us awake the tigers from the baskets, and the snakes from the desert roads ... Let us break through mountains, walls and castles ... to head for the heart of the sea ... It brings visions to my head, i can move my arms, and dream of spiders, flying spiders, bringing me to the moon of our love. I will wait there for you, please wait for me ...

1.Still searching to go down under, wearing the scars as badges on their uniform, the wounds still not healed can be seen through their suits,for everything is transparent, and still they don't know where they are exactly heading for ... But they just head for it ... They are always on a journey, walking with their flutes. They are the mysterious pipers, attracting the doves from their roofs ... They know the sensitive spots, they still throw stones in them, watching the waves [he's a drummer-boy]. They are forever young, but their clothes are getting older Even their shadows are liquid gold, their rags are silver, and their boots They have the keys of the old books. They are turning the pages of creation, when they shut a book, someone dies or someone gets born ... a shop closes or gets open Still riding on horses too high for them but they always fall soft ... On these bridges they sit and fish ...

2.The French Schoolbook : These boys ... They are free in their prisons ... selling their churches to old lions, selling their little gods to another gameshop ... they will be the balls of new games ... rolling by blasphemy ... But white boots is swimming beside me this is a long river it's like the Mississippi We are almost on top of the hill where a little man, a dwarve is writing a book ... "where is it going to ?" i ask She sais the book is but a card ... it was a sort of joker in the middle of a dwarve's tearoom when you hear their voices, the wounds on your hands become chocolate, your streaming blood becomes glue and leads me through the traffic bringing me into an attic of toys there he closes the door they look like me they show me their scars they even challenge me but hey, we are wild wasps, we are wild boys ... they used to cut in themselves, and they talk about suicide a lot i'm in a mental institution ... white boots is staring at me i'm embracing white boots and fall asleep i'm dreaming about so many screaming books in my soul [these are all cards ... tarot-cards] and while i'm walking these paths of books they all become silent white boots is soothing them into sleep there's a little flame in my stomache again spreading a little light through my body

He heard your scream of the black past ... He's weaving new languages on your face ... Your senses were tricked so deeply but now he takes you out of the illusion ... From the pencil of thick trauma ... Dripping from wasp-tv ... Still an autistic boy's transmission ... Too shy to repeat ... Too much confidence Too much pride ... Too much fear ... dripping from wasp-tv I met a boy beyond or under france ... he said the goal sanctifies the tools, the motivations sanctify and purify the feelings and the thoughts ... your visions and your screens. He was sharpening his knives ... He was spinning his cigarettes ... He was noisy and loud ... He was like a rose A bleeding one ... So cold, so sanctified ... his blue frozen roses ... bleeding in the night ... So hot, his eyes ... bleeding in the desert ... The prince flew to Arabia ... where all his dreams started ... These are the seasons of love It's all whipped into a circle ... I will not cry anymore about a lost toy ... but staring at all the toys which hold me tight ... for you are growing there inside ... These are the seasons of love ... all whipped into a mill ... It's just another one's sunday rising there ... These are the seasons of love ... spinning a fairytale from upstairs to downstairs I will not believe someone can destroy the beauty of God ... I will not believe we will be put ashamed when we trust in a god Of Old books Yes, you like that old rocking chair ... I know you do ... but you forgot about the table and the rising milk I know you forgot about many more things too ... It's all

1.I'm diving in the Black Pond, looking for some marbles from the past. I lost them in a dream of races. Still there are six horses easing my mind. ... Capricorn's gift An old man called Moses is bleeding thunder and lightning. I wonder where this train is going to. People always said they couldn't solve my riddles, but this time I have a very easy one. Will the riddle bring you from this point to a point over the Big Mountain ? To let you enter the Big Clock ? My riddles are horses, wild horses, and they are really able to go as fast as my daddy's car Yes, they still bring me to gardens of roses behind nuclear threats The queen of riddles wears a red shawl, but the rainbow is in it. Why is it that I always return to the rainbow ? It's deep in every colour. A hidden secret. Now I know my riddles, but there are still some I don't understand. I put them in a special corner of my room. They are like roaring lions, and some stand there like purple horses ... A very strange company. If you ask me, these guys can still bring me over the river. But they scare me like hell. Is it the lion's tea, or something worse ? I cannot be comforted ... I love my riddles. I got them from the queen. She said put them in a little box like cigars. So I did, and brought the box to that special corner of my room. I put it on a cupboard ... But sometimes they come out of the box to show their faces. And then it's like a zebra is sliding over my room.

2.Do I like that zebra ? Yes, I really do ... but does he like me, that's the big question. His stripes switch my feelings, and it can really confuse me at times ... These are still the riddles I don't understand. They love me like no one does, or they hate me like hell ... They are no usual figures or moods. They are extreme, and I still have to find out where they live.And still you are calling your riddles poetry. Still you say it's the lion's tea. Well, this land is big. The stairways are tall ... Where am I, at the begin or the end ? AndSomeone's blocking my throat. Someone's eating my words away. It's the black christmas-tree, coming from the north. I wonder if he's me friend or not ... There he brings me to his little house, smashing me on the table ... He never hurted me I never felt anything This black knight His face is covered masked like the red zorro he still wears a rainbow inside And his zebra is smiling Hey, there you are again little zebra-boyEh....since when am I a zebra It's black christmas dolls are wandering through his forest They look angry They wear big knives They are looking for someoneThese dolls come from the south The land of the sun They are looking for me ? No, not that they are angry at me They are angry at that black christmas-tree which took me away ... The dolls now want to cut the tree to serve in their christmas-restaurants

3.They like his little lights rainbow's lightsNow, but this guy never ever hurted me I never felt anything He smashed me on the table like I was a doll well, maybe I amThere the dolls knock on his doors We come to ask our child back, and we want to use you as our christmas-slave Come out !The red zebra opens the door Eh no way, hunnies It's time the child is here It's not your time yet Kalibra Bazina Look at your watches When it's twelve o'clock you will have your child backNo ! The dolls say he needs to come home nowI'm sorry, the zebra says and shuts the door See you later boy. There I faint again, and someone else takes me to his house not a doll, not a zebra I wonder what will happen now Is this the curse of a confused clock ? Am I a slave of a watch ? It brings me from place to place They don't believe in each other Is there something they are hiding ? What is this for a circus Or is this a cursed roundabout ? I'm looking in the eye of a white fir a fairground-fir, with roundabout-eyes They are beautiful and shining like the rainbow How is that ?

4.My voice is getting higher and softer, like I'm struck by candy Well, is this another trick of my watch ? Who knows Eh, the fir says you love the riddles too much and they love you It is not what it seems It will never be what it seems For these are just reflections, bringing you from place to place Misunderstanding from the Lion's Tea Ten firs in a row A toy-fir is caressing my hair It's a little spruce-fir a green one He has a nuclear-camera in his hands I'm scared What do you do with that thing ? I'm making toys with this ... he says When I have enough pictures of something, I throw it in my kettle to make a toy of itThere a little yellow fir steps forward ... he has a big smile he's the game-fir, the green one says ... when he has enough toys, he can make the game it's all in his kettle There he takes off his yellow hat and puts it on my head A little blue fir is caressing my hands He tries to sooth my fears, but it roars like a million lions I'm still so scared

5.He looks into my eyes and says : No one knows me, and I don't know anyone All I know is that I created them When I have enough games I make candy of themHis face is shining and switching between many shades and shapes I can't follow them It's like the maze but it attracts me to find it out It's like a magnetI'm the funpark-fir ... the dream-fir Your power to move to travel I always take you away with my carriageThe colors make me so dizzy, and they are changing before my eyes I get so lost with all these colors and shapesTen firs, ten dreams, ten noah's on a horse but they were all the same I'm staring into one little fir's eyes A rainbow-fir "You drank too much," he says that's why you saw ten firs ... instead of oneWhat did I drink ... I ask oh god, not the lion's tea again Yep, he says the Lion's Tea again

6.When one person comes to you, you see ten or even a thousand or a million It's all in the tea
..... Well, have a nice day too, I say but I'm going to go ...for this gets too much Can I trust anyone in this realm of the Big Tea, or must I say : "Majesty" ? You see the whole world with all it's things he says but it's only one thing You drank too much Did you like the trip ? No, get it out of me, I roar Well, the fir says ... you finally can roar, you are one of us now There I go, crying like Alice sitting in another ark, escaping another flood how long will this take The fir is the captain on the ship I bet he was also Alice I'm everything, he says Yeah, I sigh He's watching through his telescope Now he looks like a pirate This sea is full of swimming lions but it's all him

7.They roar, but it's him Maybe he's the wizard of the lion's tea A lot of roaring in one glass of water But this guy is nice and sweet so I will give him a chance the last one or I will go to sleep and cry myself through the night What a horrible nightmare I am in Or is it just the present-paper of a beautiful dream I'm heading for America, for another egg of Columbus The little fir is soothing me : "It was all me ... just me ... shhh ... it's ok ..." he speaks quietly He's chewing nuclear candy I feel myself like Noah what do I have to do with the ship ? It's raining lions now I'm walking inside the ship playing some games with the little fir games from the Big Rainbow Cuyornaida Corset ... but the rainbow-version the good version I'm feeling like Pinocchio feeling the juices of his tree flowing through my body It was a fir A christmas fir It reaches for

8. There I'm sliding into sleep It got too much But the little fir is staying by my side I'm sliding through a thousand of lion-holes In full speed What a little tea can do

1. Dreaming, dreaming, dreaming, There he cycles on his fairy's bike ... Dreaming, dreaming, dreaming, There he cycles to the grave There he lost his mother, There he lost his red barret There he dances and swings with his bullets For he lost his dogs And he lost his blue corsets For he lost his cocks, and he lost his big brown hat ... There he cycles, in his little blue rollerskate ... There he dreams and he's on his way to you ... I never saw him again, that little gamble man and neither that strange wizard It all happened very long ago And it's still very clear in my mind I'm not really looking for it But in a sense it was all very interesting Like there are things worse than it I mean : It was like heaven and hell at the same time And it's like I feel the red path burning under my feet Far away, but close I can't describe it It still feels strange but Sometimes I think maybe it was all true

2. My stepdad is a wonderful man He can always bring my heart at ease He tells me he has a present for me He had waited for the right moment It was a present from my real father When the storm was after their boat My father told his friend, my present stepfather, if he wouldn't survive, to give his coming child, me, this present when it would be an adult it was a golden cigar-lighter, with a golden lion, a golden tiger, rat and other animals on it It was beautiful It has been on my father's boat for many many years Then my stepmom tells me she has also a present for me, from my real mom ... She says when my real mom was dying in the hospital, she said : give this present to my son when he's grown-up ... it was a beautiful ornament, like in my dream I would hang it in my room It's snowing outside I'm so happy with my stepmom and stepdad And this all is bringing me closer to my real mom and dad It's all very emotional for me But I desire to know more about it I wished I would know my real mom and dad, for I was too young to realize, and my dad even died before I was born His last words ? See you later boy ...

1. Banks of Jericho ; The Banks of History, Silver Cigars, wonder rocket ; All in line they stand, while hitler has the red stripe around his arm ... They move ... it is a strange band ... The ballerina bends ... 2. By all these tsars falling, I'm breathing ... 3. Is it cold in your worldwar I ... I can sell vanilla cakes ... some flames behind thick glass ... so that you can dream ... 4. Blue zebra hides the lilyqueen ... she's moving like the octopus ... like fishes in the sky ... it's coming closer now ... on silver cigars ... 5. These are the bones... taking flight in october skies ... These red stripes around the arms of commanders ... coming to me in my darkest nights ... They had to rise and fall, so that I could move ... 6. I am a toysoldier after all ... nothing but a strange ballerina ... on silver cupboards I dance ... like silver mice I stand ... 7. one hand stretched out to the cake ... while it breaks ... and I can dream ... Vanilla cakes ... flames behind thick glass and iron ... 8. we're dying in the cold ... but the dreams bring us away ... to a place of silver cigars ... We weren't allowed to forget history ...

 9. There are the flames in hearts ... From there the secret's running ... In time ... It's all so frozen ...
 They're still in slow motion ... Like the hitchhiker ... 10. I'm bending my fingers ... to the cars of history ... to the sweeter destiny ... Why am I so angry ... It's a silver key hunting after me ... tearing me down ... 11. These silver lights they come like lightening on my knee ... It lets me bend everything ... There's power to walk ... and let them all talk ... 12. There are silver statues in my mind, while hitler has a white stripe around his arms ... And now it disappears and the picture fades away ... 13. There are wet silver lights in my head ... blinding me ... taking the kings out of me ... to let them fall once again ... deeper into my heart, like silver arrows ... letting me breath ... 14. It's strange ... it's all on moviescreens ... and I'm not a baby anymore ... I'm grown up, every movement it's goal ... I'm aware, I am a robot ... silver cigars are my bones ... It's blinding me ... taking me to other shores ... 15. The paths of history I must go ... like a rocket into the sand ... so that everything will bend ... There's silver water on a plate ... and everything is dying in my hand ... 16. It's like worldwar II ... The spears of Jesus coming through ... I must know their numbers ... Timemachines don't exist ... only stockmachines ... 17. It's clicking like silver chains ... making me move like the iron ballerina ... No one will take me down again, only history will do ... 18. I have silver chocolate on a dish ... these soldiers are so frozen ... but by the strike of silver licorice ... their eyes will fall down ...

1. Wodka ; Cannot go, I'm mother's station, cannot go, I'm mother's hide ... 2. Indian books fall down ... warbottles make me swallow ... it's carnival ... nothing hurts anymore ... for history took them all away ... 3. Cannot go, I'm mother's secret, chains are bending when I speak ... It's like the clicks of silver ... and the tapping shoes of wondermaking ... 4. Cannot go, I'm mother's secret ... cannot go, I'm mother's secret ... Finding the right words to breath ... Wonderland is on ... 5. History made me taller, birds have nests in my spine ... While I am sinking deeper ... reaching for my legs ...
 6. They're so tall, they do not touch the ground ... like the silver horses standing proud 7. I'm all in darkness birds bend their heads ... They do understand ... while songbird saves me from the threat ... still a redbreast from aldebaran, while stockmachines sting merciless to make the deals ... for more silver bones to come through 8. I'm a warmachine ... showing the sides of a coin ...
 Silver chocolatemilk in a bottle ... streaming through the games of rats ... streaming through the frozen soldiers ... until the licoricesyrop lets them fall ... They all must go to bed ... while in the morning they will be pirates ... on a silver pirateship ... hearts are bending ... hearts are talking about the chip ... Pinocchio's letters from the inside ... 9. These coins from history ... for the aldebaran automatons ancient machinery Now spread your wings, my bird, and fly ... bend your heads ... like silver pictures ... make them understand ... make them understand ... 10. Why do you want to drown in wodka ... Take whiskey instead ... There are wonderlands on the coins ... and wonderlands on the bills ... bred by stockmachines ... no automatons Fly to make them understand ... It is hitler in wonderland let us all bow our heads and try to escape ... 11. Where's the mango ... making our heads do the tango ... Where's the spread making us all so mad ...
 12. There's a war of fruits in my head ... There's steamy beer on the cake ... It doesn't want to go to school today ... The paradox caresses his face ... There's steamy wine making flights ... crashing down before the walls of yesterday ... but ancient marks will bring him through ... 13. Silver wonderland where are you going ... Silver rabbits and silver alices ... where's the end of it ... Is it there in hitler's mouth ? 14. Oh, tell me where he had his favors ... Tell me where he lost his dice

I must continue through these doors ... not captivating one of them ... There's a silver zebra roaring in the skies ... like a rocket aimed at the banks of history ...

1.Finally Whiskey ; I'm escaping through open mouths, having tongues as parachutes ... 2.These feathers are more dangerous than the bird's beak ... That's why I had to sit in jail for so long of my life ... to prepare me to this fight ... 3.I'm just a whiskey-gladiator ... but finally the emperor's son ... With crowns on every finger ... silver crowns ... I don't need the gold ... Crowns of liberty, says the frog ... while I'm still dying in a glass of water ... silver water ... 4.I allowed myself to be neutral while walking the path of history ... for only the paradox was a path for me ... there ... I didn't allow myself to do symmetric predictions again, for the assymetry brought me to the well of history ... and it was full of whiskey ... There's silver water making me drunk ... 5.There are silver dreams before my eyes when I touch one of them, they all fall and fly away ... and I fly after them ... for they want me to know where they came from ... these silver birds 6.There are silver dragons on the shores ... with warbottles in their hands ... full of steamy silver waters ... and lots of whiskey under their commands ... 7.The strike of July brings them to June, where they finally can sleep ... and tune in to another station ... robbing another bank ... 8.While trompets are very loud and low today ... with silver lights like lightening ... Silver mice are in a row ... preparing the machinery for the next flow ... all these silver cigars are dying ... to wake up into another day ... They have pretty faces ... they have funny speeches ... like the latest cartoons ... 9.Mickey Mouse is waiting for the bus today ... going to Germany and then to Russia ... to do the first worldwar again ... It was just a strange dance in your mother's diary ... 10.Mickey Mouse and his wicked ballerina's ... He just drank too much whiskey ... hitting the hard day ...someone had to break the shell ... and now these animals can run .. knowing there's a new story to tell ... Break the bottles open ... and do the second worldwar again ... 11.These soldiers are all frozen ... 12.When the licorice strikes, they will all fall ... turning into pirates ... with flowers blooming in their hearts ... It's the rythm of silver There's no big escape from this all ... but only by repeating it, it will finally fall ... 13.To bed, that is the only travel ... when daylights fall ... to dream the silver dream ... In autumn the houses are tall ... and then hitler's just a painting ... but it moves, and that is the strangest thing of all ... Hitler's carnival ... marching with twentythousand mice ... 14.What a picture in the snow ... it moves ... it glows and it grows ... tomorrow the flowers will bloom ... and what will we do then ... 15.There's a silver zebra in the sky ... peeing on the banks of history ... ready for the major attack ... a crown of history ... a silver one, that's for sure ... don't need the gold, just drink the whiskey ... Zebra's in the sky ... the wars come down to Dorothee ... just patients for the docter of oz ... 16.mates to travel with ... all these wars, our mixed-up hearts ... all the cruelty so overrated ... there's something down there coming through ... it kills for it needs the life taken away from it ...17.it needs to breath ... cruelty so overrated ... nothing but a war of fruits ... the baker wants expensive juice ... to have a present when the wizard comes ... 18.these wars just making a chair free for the next one ... they must make the trees pretty ... they are the keys of lion's cages ... and other animals ...

1.The Hours of Friday. It's good to wrestle with these snakes don't let them be taken away They will go by themselves ... They will go by themselves They were just ... calendergirls gone at the end of the page 2.Dragonswan, they come from the silver, spreading their thick fires in blue, the hours of Friday. I don't know them, they seem to be dragons, silver ones, spouting the big blue 3.Have you ever seen their graces ... on a stockmarket they live ... all these spears of Jesus ... making the candy thick ... 4.Glory from the house of green days ... Glory from the seas with no name ... Glory from the house of friday, spending it's hours, to raise the silver heart ...5. This heart of you and me They come from the silver, spreading their fires into the air ... 6.These dragonswans, they spit the fire, every friday they are there, but sometimes they rise high in thursday, sometimes they sow spring in tuesday sometimes they all march in June, when father opens the books of old london ... England in the nineteenth century, England in the first part of the twentieth ... 7.In august she took flight ... On summerdays she spreads her kings of blue 8.Red England, you know this silver leather hides so much fun ... Bring them to your knees, these silver taxmachines, and let the stockmachines roar to keep the scarabs on your heart ... 9.And silver juices breaking you and me, it's floating from our knees, kidnapped by a spider coming free. Silver juices break us, we're running through the streets, while one of them, he has a gun ... 10.Shooting until we are free Like the rabbit's roar like strange venom in the mouth ... and deep inside we're fighting against the snakes History doesn't exist it's all happening today 11.The hours of friday knocking on my kitchendoor the hours of friday, like centaurs and dragons, walking to the first floor ... like silver stockmachines they breed the heart of hearts between you and me ... we're finally free Silver oils from strange cabins 12.The hours of friday standing here like soldiers of history of horizons like green days between you and me While England is bowing to the years of 1800 ... 13.The last part broke them free ... And those years in Amerika when all the silver banks raised from the ground, you were so proud, and all these demonic taxmachines, they're hiding in the stream 14.Silver years, of the century ... like the hours of friday ... we're never really free 15.These years still aren't over They're still living in our weeks ... marching between you and me

1.Hitler, Hours of Friday, speak to me ... I want to know all about your history 2.Your nothing like a historybook silver pages ... hours of Friday trying to get over it There are silver cigars in a strange machine Hours of friday, speak to me 3.You still let me fight against the snakes you fear or is it a spider with so many arms playing that song of history again ... 4.It's living in our weeks Bring on the dancing horses, bring on the desert's seas ... that what is between you and me ... 5.Bring on the red pillars ... orange in the skies ... bring them back to me ... open the line of horizon, for what is behind is somehow also speeding here ... 6.We cannot see a glimpse ...Hours of Friday, grandmother's grief ... these dragonletters between you and me 7.Hours of friday ... the silver between the banks and shops, and all these tax-offices spinning the strange stocks these spears of Jesus coming near ... 8.Hitler had them, like needles in his eyes ... Where is the silver man, where is the silver Peter Pan ... These trees are so thick and high ...9. I cannot see their tops ... It makes me cry ...Hours of Friday, Hitler's sundays ... weapons of worldwar Two ... spread over the week ... who is going to fall today ... who is going to jail ... I'm fighting against a silver shark ... fighting it the whole day It looks like it will never stop ... 10.It looks like eternal damnation ... These hours of Friday, when will they stop ... They put me in a taxmachine, they put me in a stockmachine, to turn me like the weather, to make all my tears green ... I'm crying in sixty colours ... No one is going to save me ... These hours of Friday burn me 11.Why do I need to be initiated ? Timemachines don't exist ... only stockmachines ... No one is going to save me I'm in Hitler's hell ... like eternal damnation.... Calendergirls, James Bond, I cannot come today ... black trauma ... where black dwarves drink their bottles 12.I wonder what you're doing with the spiders you gave me ... 13.These hours do not exist They're just the voices I didn't hear yet14.So give me a good telephone, and give me a good radio your stocks like needles in the pyama's ... letting us dream like farewell with dreams of silly tomorrows ... 15. These are the voices I do not understand yet My watch is just a signal ... all these hours are still running away while a christmas postbank is growing in my bag ... In december skies they all take flight, until the green sun is swallowing them all away It's a silly trophee 16. History, still our God, misunderstood. History, still the eggs of christmas, waiting for the chicken to brood ... 17. I have a strange calender It's making me want to cry 18. These girls from december they were all full of lies but these were truths of history far away ... 19. It's good to wrestle with these snakes don't let them be taken away They will go by themselves ... They will go by themselves 20. They were just ... calendergirls gone at the end of the page It takes me five minutes to read every page, while my teacher thinks she's missing something ... 21. Don't get angry at me Don't get angry at me But she's also just a calendergirl fading away at the end of the month 22. Ballerina, your sides they make me cry showing me your calendergirls finally saying goodbye 23. Got another calendar ... with the hours of friday 24. She looks like you, ballerina and like the history of England soothing herself in the skies of London ... James Bond with his killerrabbit 25. Calendergirls, he ripped them all off I forgot that I lived Only watching how I died Only watching the silver lights And now it's just a statue a divine tattoo ... 26. It burnt and ached, but it was coming through ... I think I've now deciphered the letter ... Dragon Song, tell me how 27. History, I will never let you go ... It's the silver in my skies telling me how to walk and hide ... History, I never let you go 28. My wounds are deep but that's how I met the silver age while the days are still running forth ... only showing the hours of friday ... 29. Not knowing what they were hiding ... I don't want to fall away from this silver age days are running so fast ... until the hours of friday take them away ... Silver elitair taxmachines, just stockmachines ... you got to be the master ... taking away all these years 30. to hide them in a sacred book.... And one day a kid will take one of them away to his own school, to his own friends, to his own country to show the face of history in his own days ... His own days ? weren't they just the masks ... 31. just strange taxmachines ... of ages ago ... they laid their eggs of stock, insurance and democracy or was it hidden communism, brought by a hidden dictator 32. when no one seems to listen ...

1. Sfinx Book of Lies ; I was never a cup. En de sfinx nam het boek in de hand, en brak het zegel. President of the United States, The advertisement-clips still haunt me, I'm a slave. The machines of Las Vegas are in a race, for they want my soul, and those of the whole world. The president of America stands up, and smashes his hammer on the table, but he's just a Las Vegas machine, with the gambleguns, he always wins. His words are pulling me down, and then he's suddenly my friend, telling me he will help me out. The advertisement-clips run slow. I'm not a slave anymore. I am a machine of Vegas myself. Why am I misleading all these kids ? I must stop somewhere. These machines are large, the candy is running. Mr. Beetlejuice is on the run too. And my neighbour is a Vegas-machine too.

2. There are lights coming outside his eyes. Can you see what he's dreaming ? I'm paranoid without these cars. Then they will trace me from a distance. There's glue through the lemonade, roses in my mouth, I'm married to a Vegas-machine, married off to a clown. What will we have for breakfast today ? Popcorn, hot butter and some sleeves of pain. I was a slave of the commercials all my life, but now I'm the king of butterflies ... but still a damned Vegas-machine. Why me ? Why me ? These machines roll like sharks ... It's hot butter on breakfast, while the curtains are like waves here ... Where is the shark ? Oh, there, and it's too late ... He rips open my head, and tells me : Game over, my friend ... And then a new game starts ... In this Vegas Machine ... It's like the next dream ...

3.Many passengers in the waitingroom, waiting for nothing ... The show will end soon ... What's on their glasses today ... The big money's praying for a day off The big shark found a new prey ... Game over, he sais Watch my friends and enemies Watch it with care and be one of them ... Tight ideas, And I'm driving in my car to escape all this, seeing the billboards in the air ... Neon lights trying to speak to me ... But there's someone on my telephone ... saying it's all a dream ... I'm listening to my favorite song ... It brings me from here to the moon ... Let us escape together and I will make a president of you ... This clock in you, it's just a Las vegas machine ... rolling like a clown through sand ... making the circles no one can understand ...And my son is shaking, he doesn't have the breath today ... heading for tomorrow, where the chocolate breeds his yesterday ... Clowns cannot follow him, when he makes his speeches, like the rap-dwarf from a Chinese city ... Six feet below the standard mission Can Ajax come today, these statements are overrated ... gambling ... with the machines of Las vegas ... Can Ajax come today Can Ajax come today ...

4.The speakerbox is in delay ... Sound on, sound off, baker's dreaming of cakes believing in cakes ... On a strange playcard today Now he's acting like he's carnival itself ... Now he's acting like these machines are all sideboard-machines, while he is the pied piper ... designing himself to lead them overseas ... Watch these numbers, never forget any of them, I'm lying in my bed ... sinking in the deep deep waters where ? Yellow liars on a zebra's ship, in the air of full blaze ... opening the seals They tried to take away my trousers, but now they're flying backwards and upside down ...

5.Purple liars standing in the riddle .. coming from the golden pear ... It seems so much tea is streaming from here ... while spanish suns are blinding me ... the wounded soldiers all march to the yellow banks ... to change into something else ... can your back hold it ? The lions face in vanilla and banana radiates gold ... blinding the masses ... Now who can see ? It's all mixed ... while banks are opening taking in the soldiers of the seas ... they are marching over the land .. to be someone elses Jesus Christ ... the hospital was just a strange bank .. while comics are rising .. in the hands of uncle peacock .. it's saturday ... blue liars rise to the moon like balloons, while uncle unicorns ship is rising ... with spiral horns like telephone ... thank you operator, on cobra's oportunities .. take the candyship out of the clip .. and place it in the distance ... yellow liars .. vanilla in space ... mixing the bananas for a golden day ... in september there were seventy breezes.

6.Dreams of september give opportunities to the mice of seven days .. i'm gliding through the sun and the moon .. rising for the spoon ... there are twenty-million lies lying on a dish .. it was a strange bank in september ... mixing the vanilla with the banana ... for ten mirrors rising ... dagon-izu blinding simson's soldiers ... on the deserts of the planet mars ... where the icecream machines are rising ... they are creating the distances in the sky, while you think the ships are big so close ... while seventy heats are rising ... from september's bank ...

7.There are liars rising from september bank, rising spoons with lion's faces, blinding the purple masses ... it's ready and done in september, for seventy mice on a railroad .. oh yes, they can roar like lions .. they have speedmass in their pockets ... all backwards and in slow motion .. while the needles of grammophone lay themselves down ... for seventy conspiracies in the wind ... vanilla in frozen coffins, opening the beatboards of a new daydream ... confessions of a mailmans heart ...

8.Strange september banks ... in dresses so wide they ride ... on streets of golden tiles while draughtsoldiers do the dishes in tight houses ... while bubbles float to soft clouds it's surrounded by golden bananas ... all in green golden pears ... Red gold in true decembers ... decending to the septembers of ages ... spoiling hands, a good decision ... making dramas in a pot ... while the blue golden tragedies find their ways in the states ... there are egypt's laughing in the sun ... all these liars of drunk holidays ... painting trauma's in the skies ... laid by the curse of vanilla ... while bakerman's faces are rising ... building the warmachine for uncle peacock ... on auction day ... when abel killed cain ... two altars in the skies ... who dies best ...there are mechanisms in golden suns ... blocking further appearances from spy's conspiracies ... the rumours eat the machines .. with wasprains in the hand you can search the skies ... it was made by vanilla banana and spice ... good old warmachines from uncle peacock ... a true auctioneer on lazy drama holidays .. seeking fruits for his stories .. while the white fruit brought them to the banks after the war ... rising the coins ... for another round in the fairground ... the auctions always suck you higher ... under bakerman's helmet ..

9.And still these clowns they run for money ... with the auctions in their pockets, they make the best money ... for cake's conspiracies ... dream on, oh soldier, make the cash .. in spirals pyamas you're always the best .. sharpening the lies from uncles gun .. breed the bakers .. throw the suns .. into a new basket of snakes ... bred by photos on a candy's day .. dramas in peacocks dresses ... in a peacocks horrorshow ... cannot rake the fields anymore, when draughts-soldiers throw the stones ... under baskets full of helmets they ascend ... by dagons shatters they turn the icecreams backwards ... she's selling pictures of arms surrounded by strange leathers and strange wool ... so strange it makes you cry ... while your trousers are crying deserts .. your shoes are crying moons ... there are ten mirrors for a liars shatter ... breeding the pipes for a small conclusion ... on a sundays stream ... tall dramas from izu mask the soldiers under noses mysteries ... it's growing like a pinocchio on a seaman's ship .. carrying the coins for the blue sharks .. while you must admit .. it was pear's day of golden drama ... pear's day of green decisions .. watch the ornament without dying ... but speak a lie ... it stings like a raking plant ... on a draught's summerday ... while ten clauses are rising ... with balloons coming from their pockets ... making the banks rise ...

10.Yellow hearts they rake the mice .. for a peacocks price ... we take flight ... by jewelled spanish suns we skate .. leaving the world under the ice ... while two lions are still fighting .. vanilla and banana .. spinning the gold ... on five buttons of a pirates suite, tv rises from the yellowed watch .. these firs have pointy hats from a good friday they ascend with their jesus-judas faces ... back to izu they are too afraid to die .. so they speak a lie ... laugh now cinderella ... the dust you have will turn into gold when you embrace it ... while your shoe will rake the golden moons ... seventy times seven ... these fields of boats were just the curses of a spastic draughtsman ... having the clowns of thoth painted on his face.... while someone is burning the sunmilk and the shampoos ... the crocodiles rise from the glue ... into wet forestdreams ... doing egyptian screams ... all backwards wrapped in snow ... she breeds the vanilla ... she breeds the lucifer fire ... in the distance there is smoke so visible ... while auctions rise from strange banks .. these are uncle peacocks horrorshows ... who takes the children ? the one with the biggest money or the one with the biggest gun ... they don't want to go to arabia ... but they have to go .. it's already ten o'clock ... hold your breath .. for within a few whisperings you will be home again ... all in a zebra's watch ... so many cigarlighters from the dawn .. smoking by elve's conspiracies ... he's the prince of video-clips showing his tranvestite claw .. while spiderclocks are running from his mouth ... suddenly it breaks through edges to a lucifer's wonderland ... izu in the distance ... the auctioneer burns the hammers ... no one dares to walk ... gepetto makes the clocks of pinocchios wood ... these are wars of the businessmen ... while the losers fall in orange, into a millionarmed sleep ... banks pick them up ... having doorways to new rythms opening the mouths of the wilder animals ... I was an orange liar on a zebra's boat ... I was a spiralling dancer on a lion's ship ... I was a dramas low intention losing all the grip ... I was the blinding sun, the blinding Osiris-Ra ... I was a son of Aton after midnight ...

11.I was a wilder animal ... exploding into the one and a million nights ... I knew drama after drama, having them all on my bow ... spitting the cowards wrapping them in easters snow ... I was a wilder animal, having faith in the lie stronger than truth christmassoldiers under my wrath ... i will lie to them ... until i'm a coward myself ... there's nothing to win in raising a sword ... i'm a wilder animal ... spinning death on a dish ... by an orange lie spinning them all on the barbecues needle ... for ten grammophone days in spain ... But my words are ripe for desert ... Trauma blazers killing spacers dream about the net .. dripped into a good corset ... money from starving occasions .. eat the brain ... strange traffic of wilder animals ... on a wilder day ...

1.Strange auctions circle in the sky .. eating custard out of peoples brains .. strange fairgrounds .. circling in the skies .. watching the golden baths on high floors ... on a golden picnic's day ... the auctions suck the children inside ... making them soldiers for another fight ... the banks they pick them up again, to bring them again ... secrets of arabia .. in purple treasures they shine .. blinding the visitors ... they spin in clocks in miserable days ... meet the kings of the hours and get shot ... until you reach the golden gun ... until you sing these days are done ..Draughts a new light ... from the temple to spain ... there's sand under the tigers hand ... i give you a green car a strange household ... where everything moves .. in septembers brain .. these are the days after august he was a prince of jesuses ... they were rising from his pocket ... striped and in wet hot plastic .. melting into glue ... while spanish suns were blinding the mass ... letters making strange connections ... fighting for a place in the ship ... that strange ship of noah ... where flowers have to die ... when the auction hammer brings the horror ... of a peacocks show .. they never reach the daylights, when the indian shows his big gun .. these kids go to the deserts ... with his rings on their heads while tigers and lions roar in the distance ... and a black panther makes it coming close ... so close that you feel their teeth ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder suns ... burning sweet bars of the cake Noah banker bake the bank bananas in vanilla turn them into gold ... breed them into cobras these are lies to sacrifice ... turning the machines backwards ... Vanilla hit the roses hard ... breed them in a pot of water ... for tea time's breaking up, and the shoes are running out ... to have a nose's conspiracy in an auctions circle ... these purple liars know where they stand ... they push the green together, to give it a bad bend ... it's bending on paper ... these are liars on an orange boat ... while the yellow boat is sinking .. grasping fishes from empty dikes ... they're sinking deeper ... making noises in a free golden potatoe ... these are wilder animals ... they never told about them .. they were afraid they would take it all away.... he was the prince of jesus-judas-faces ... these bakerman's faces ... they set me free on a checked yellow draughtsboard i take flight ... to touch the golden lights in spanish mirrors.

2. Bank of the Red Swan, these warmachines create the coins ... It's written on medical pyramids ... And I'm gonna throw a stone ... Bank of the Red Swan, give me some time ... Your mothers accents will never make me smile, until another red swan rises ... killing the doctor ... killing the ornament's noses ... on a sunday in september ... on a nuclear day .. Bank of the Red Swan, I promise to be ... a lambstead on my grandfather's knee ... He and his parrots they promised to be ... ready for it ... when you aren't no more ... you swallower, you red horse ... you red picnic ... on daylight's shore ... Bank of the Red Swan, I promise to see, all your butterflies going down on their knee ... Your medical systems they promised me ... to never look back ... It's over now ... Bank of the Red Swan ... It's my bank now ... on grandfather's red knee ... while warmachines create the coins ... while hospitalmachines decide which head stands on the coin ... the one with the biggest charity ... Bank of the Red Swan, I'm nothing but a coin in your hands created on the battlefield, finished in your hospital ... while still my head is on the coin ... while still my steps are hairy ... decisions they flow from mother Mary ... on holy days she takes a canary ... to the other side of the world ... to watch this Red Swan from the distance ...

3. Mother Mary, I promised to be ... an angel on my grandfather's knee ... Mother Mary I promised to be ... A red swan on the bank, the black coffin, to get my wings and fly to the end of other oceans ... to rise like towers ... in the cities of the united ... These medical days they broke me ... breeding me into a wilder animal ... but oh I'm so paranoid now ... feeling so fragile ... having such fragile visions about a red swan on the dike ... jumping inside something he will never reach ... under bekehelm's helmet he promised me to be ... my second lawyer ... a liar's doctor ... an animal so wild ... bringing me wilder days ... spitting sand he promised to be ... an icecream so far away ... this coin will be brought down ... with all these Jesus Christs ... and their heads on it ... Mother decided it this way ... on grandfather's knee ... Bank of the Red Swan I promised to be ... a land in a decision of two spaces on my knee ... Land of decision ... the red strike is blue ... for the Blue Swan rises on the menu ... There's tea for two ... for sleepwarriors a war in satin city ... getting the glue ... Bank of the Red Swan I promised to be ... your mailman visiting you on day three ... picking some roses out of your mother's garden ... making the spells on a hard day's mouse for lucifer's house ... I continue on my naked knee ... You loved the pretty colours ... It is all I want to be ... These trousers are torn ... letting me in ... while you stand on a decision ... letting all things be ... without the cakes of your smile .. It's over on day three ... While Jericho rises in comic smiles ... I rake the potatoe in bible coffee ... Gleam of the ornament I promise to be .. my mailman's decision on day three ... Land of the siren I am finally free ... free of your possessions ... for I was never looking for gold in that place ... I have found it somewhere else .. Bank of the treasure I promise to be ... further away this year heading for day three ... my cheeks are red and so are you ... The red swan on medical decisions ... The charity breeds the coins ... for another war ... of businessmen in green ... while tea is dripping from their noses ... trying to make the land sleep by their lies ...

with red hands ... they continue .. back to izu ... Land of the promise I promised to be ... six feet high with the usual fee ... Six transmissions on day three lapped by a smile ... this juice it brings me higher ... out of the medical threat .. I'm not a number of your bread ... Land of the lambstead I promised to be ... six feet taller on day three, but still under bekehelm's helmet ... with mjollnir and elsefic on my side ... bringing me to the clauses ... setting me in fire with sweet desires ... the truth knows all my names ... these high decisions ... they see the land of the smiles. Black Pinocchio I promised to be ... not hiding ... but sliding ... to the daylight's dream In a hotel I saw what they were doing to me ... I'm not a coin .. I sleep at home I don't pay for my food ... I take it from the garden by my own hands ... I have a family for that ... rising in June ... on a coffee's spoon ... my family is rich ... They're just funeral undertakers ... breeding coins in a grave ... these strange coffins ... to raise the zombies ... spinning the auctions for the highest money ... whose head will be on the coins today ... one with the greatest charity or the biggest gun The orange just says what he has to say ... Black orange of the canary's day ... It's a killerpig rising ... spoiling lucifer's dinners ... What you're doing to me ... I come from higher trousers, I come from higher coins to raise the ornaments so beautiful ... I'm the coin of funeral undertakers, I'm the coin of Thoth from strange draughtsboards I spin the ornaments hesitation ... I come from three coins high ... I do a lot ... I sink in seven seas at the same time .. but still under bekehelm's helmet ... I raise my money high ...

5. The orange is my gun ... the head on my strange coin, doing the highest decisions I can't do ... It's fun when daddy's home ... Oh orange with your seven smiles ... doing the dishes of clocks in houses ... feeling yourself in the seventh snowflake of a mistress's strange table ... on six o'clock in the afternoon proclaiming the evening was never for you, you fool ... Now wash your tables in ornament's smiles, now break your glasses in lucifer's au revoirs don't steal when it's your turn ... just take it ... don't break it ... it will all continue ... take a good look, while mother is producing steam .. she screams in the night like the sixth wolf of benchelot. Breathe good while you're breathing, drink good, while you're drinking, under bekehelm's helmet it's all okay ... you smile I have to go .. you still breed the snow on a lucifer's old september day .. of years ago ... centuries are smiling, a green sun coming out of their mouths ... doing dishes so proud, gathering the fallen soldiers, for another coin in strange hospitals ... where doctors do strange dances ... they are funeral undertakers ... these oranges are old ... too old Watch your vanilla smile ... these kids are old ... too old ... you cannot trust them, they're aldebaran birds ... knowing how to lay the curses and the watermarks binding you forever, goodbye babylon ... when daylight screams they know it's time, to get a ride to the bank of the red swan ... families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins ... breeding strange auctions ... to raise the moneygun spitting sand for new books on the shows

1. These families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins, raising the money high, while the banana shoots, but an orange steals the cry ... to swallow deep this strange red swan ... while gepetto is rising with his black pinocchios doing strange dances in the night it makes you cry ... the highest bidders become the heads on their coins ... the one with the greatest dynasty ... the one with the greatest destiny ... the one with the greatest charity ... winning the hospitals ... rising them for a better coin ... a faster gun a jupiter's smile a great banana with the head of an orange ... shooting in the night ... killing the paws ... it's crying sand strange business ... strange bend ... Oh, sandman do your dance ... and raise the money higher to bring a gamble of confusion ... to bring them all asleep ... breeding the icecreams ... on isolated islands ... these coins get sharper ... on a strange september day ... these animals get wilder with oranges as their guns ... these heads on coins ... spouting the miseries ... spouting the desires and the destinations oh sharks rise from here ... these bullets under the skins ... exploding like your mother's chin, when she opens her mouth .. the rats come in ... Then the ornaments fall to do strange things for the banana and the orange these buttercoins ... in deep deserts ... in deep strange smiles, you start to cry, in deep decisions ... you find your own dynasties so many kings before you ... while you are the head on the coin, you're the orange of the kings, and even kings of the orange ... spreading green tomatoeseeds

2.It's lucifer's decision ... sitting on grandfather's knee lappossessed in a smile ... in jupiter for awhile ... free on day three escaped from a red swan's bank now who will get him down ... it's the war of the oranges ... on jupiter's smile ... broken by a banana, it rises to be the head of the coin spreading the green tomatoeseeds to be a good gun in an indian's hand ... it's leading you along strange curtains ... starting the gamblemachines while a birthday's boy is rising ... with his blind parrots reading braille ... it's a crazy ornament exploding in the wind ... spreading the green green watersides ... like green tomatoeseeds in the night ... in an orange ravine it takes flight ... losing the game he's a god of gamble ... so many heads on a die ... while jupiter rakes the golden fly ... there are strange cars in the air exploding heading for the big shoe ... he's a trafficlight of gamblers ... on a jupiter's night ... it takes flight ... a secret baker's coin ... it decides ... it's a good gun, an orange, a big head ... it's exploding, taking dinner ... watching lucifer instead ... there are coins on the dice ... strange cars exploding ... heading for the big shoe ... by a vikings axe, all under bekehelm's helmet ... rising to bekehelm's shoe ... These are wilder animals you do not understand ... they do strange dances ... you start to cry ... spreading their green tomatoeseeds in the sky ... You were the orange on a summer's dish ... exploding, wrapped in bananas ... while they killed your yellow bike ... you do not understand they eat you ... making a gun of you deep in the night ... a gambler's gun is what it says ... now he can rise into eternity ... exploding like a star ... the supernova to see lucifer smile ... to watch these golden moons, so many colours of gold on a dish ... strange trafficlights ... they explode to take you down ... bringing you to the queens of clowns to all the jokes of the underworld ... you smile, it's your decision ...

3.I'm an orange, my head is on the money, now I'm the sand in the desert, behind the golden books ... I am now a moneygun ... all machines listen to me ... I am Jerome the king of lions ... come follow me ... I show you the books behind the books ... I show you the deserts behind the deserts I'm the gambler's trafficlight ... exploding in the night leading them all to the big shoe under bekehelm's helmet ... by strange dances I take flight ... I'm riding the icecream machines ... there's strange snow behind the deserts ... all on a californian smile ... It's bagdad in Izu, strange coffee rippling in the sky ... I'm the tiger riding the lions ... on a lucifer's decision ... to the land behind the shoe ... breeding the cakes of charity ... to give them all good jobs ... while my money is spouting higher ... I am the orange rubberduck ... I'm the easterclause gathering the ashes for a good good gun starting the machines of lucifer ... I'm crying fire ... I'm a desertcar, on ornament's dishes ... until I am a needle, a needle of grammophone ... a lambstead in the sky ... while babies are flying high like waving flags ... they unite ... while the green car rides

1.It's a strange household bringing the toys alive ... I am a lambstead in the sky ... truthpossessed for awhile ... but still having my orange liars rising from a zebra's boat ... from a strange green car among a strange household ... These coins are strange records ... while I am the lion's needle bringing them all home ... a pied piper making them spin ... It's rising from the orange ... It's rising from the lion's face These strange strange needles These lambsteads of the snowflake records ... spinning the icecreams for another day ... from the world behind the big boot, under bekehelm's helmet ... It's spinning around on tables coming from the golden dishes ... It's the ornament's spoon ... strange traffic ... a gamblemachine ... spreading the icecream on hairy grounds it stands letting the lion's needles rise these lucifers ... to get the music out of the coins ... It's an orange head, a good gun singing a candle in a dragon's castle ... reading so many books, just reading ... while a mailman is taking me home ... it's a mailman needle ... from the big cactus ... There are needles growing on me, I'm standing on hairy ground ... I'm drinking from the trees of light ... I am a holy cactus ... spreading lucifer's lights My hairs are on fire ... while my tongues are growing taller ... just thinner these are strange coins on a banker's suit ... I am the banker's desire, the banker's wife ... No doubt about it I'm spinning his ornaments tight ... These are wilder animals, just wilder days ... in lucifer's delights ... I'm watching springs coming from his beard ... I'm watching the icecreams stream He is the banker, and I am his wife ... while last night ... the banker and the baker were in a fight and now his hair is in fire ... while stinging plants and cactuses grow in the garden ... and animals with strange tongues these are wilder animals coming from a wilder sun

2. These are wilder days ... the candles on a wilder birthdaycake ... It's streaming from the banker's suite ... strange coins ... like needles these are strange microphones strange speakers ... He writes books on dragon coins And now he's fighting with both the baker and the mailman ... he's just a microphone ... shivering when they speak too loud ... he's making icecreams ... like snowclause never showing up ... only sending some letters ... only writing some books on dragon coins ... He's a tree of strange pencils ... He's a bankertree, while the baker and the mailman are still fighting in front of it ... He's a strange feather ... from the land behind the shoe ... He's banker clause, a strange painter ... in strange houses he takes flight ... with so many pencils in his head ... He's like the eliphant ... he paints the dreams of heavy decisions ... on coin's misunderstandings ... He's a strange docter ... a strange advice ... He's banker clause ... an eliphant on a lost dream speaking through strange microphones a strange mailman after all working in a strange kitchen ... where the food comes alive ... eating the restaurant's visitors ... He's bankerclause, big septemberman ... He's a strange advice on a mother's clown ... He's a bad holiday painting snow ... He's bankerclause, a criminal ... raising his guns in the middle of the night He's a banker's pencil ... saying such strange words spinning tax like no one else ... He draws the lawyer's oranges on the needles ... selling the guns to the dice ... When the lawyer and the mailman unite, the school rises, with a strange clock ... even stranger than your grandfather's ... It's the blue swans bank ... It's the schoolbank's clock drowning them all ... from here the cowboys are rising ... preparing them ..for the big fall ... These stamps they judge the butterflies and the dice. They are coming out of a cowboy's mouth ... He's still the mailman after all these years but he's fighting with a shepherd ... It's coming from a mailman's bag, the sun is in it, with it's golden pencil ... it's a strange clock, and then they fight ... It's coming from a mailman's bag ... strange records there, strange needles ... these are the lambsteads ... from strange cactuses ... A cowboy rides the school ... and a shepherd rides the church ... while an indian rides the hospital ... these are strange banks ... from uncle peacock's horrorshows ... strange funerals in the flowerfields ... these are the riddles of death ... These are four drunk gamblers, while the mailman is their god ... while a bakertree is growing in the middle ... a strange sun ... a mad sun they are on a travel, to greet uncle peacock ... A red swan rides the ornament, while a blue swan does the same ... It's a cowboy against an indian ... It's the school against a cinema ... It's a school against a hospital ... but the mailman makes them all one ... he mixes them in his kettle ... making stamps of them ... for a lawyer's trial ... there are liars on a zebra's boat ... orange liars ... doing the dishes ... for a holiday's spoon ... the banana rises soon out of it's rinds ... with two big eyes ... it writes with the golden pencil ... when all babies unite ... and the stamps are floating ... it's schooltime the bells are ringing ... all happening on the footballfield ... while a golden lion is swallowing ... the mailman rises higher and higher .. for his ornament's ring .. he's still the god of ten ... while the drunk are following him with gamblemachines on their back, they take flight ... It's the golden lion's bank a strange postbank ... where stamps judge the dice and the butterflies ... making the glue ... There's music from uncle unicorn, there's assurance after the wars of tax ... while the smoke is rising ... bakermen come to bake the bread ... this strange golden bread ... it makes you cry ... while flying on a die ... while flying on a bakerman's face ... a face on a strange stamp still judging you and your father ... still drinking from the ornament's wine ... while the mailman is grasping in his bag ... He's searching for his clock and pencils ... he's painting the skies, while his own little sun rises ... smiling with the seven smiles of death ... these are his weapons he's still a soldier ... with a strange flag ... a cactus on a lion's bankship All bankers heading for the mad sun ... that red sun in the skies ... where a red rose takes flight ... still kissing her gepetto's still doing her shows ... her peacocks horrorshows ... she's drinking wine with a little latin buffoon puppet, still her favorite smile ... They're playing chess and at draughts ... They're spreading wings in the snow ... these butterfly wings these kisses on the water sailing to the edges of time ... where all oceans gather, under bekehelm's helmet ... It's a clock of a strange postbank making the waters rise ... Pharaos drowning his boys again ... his churches, for it's time for school and these soldiers need some rest, some babies ... doing business by the spoon, on a hard day's mouse ... on a fine day's school ... it's the tool of a lawyer in a mailman's bag ... Pharaos doing the dishes burning the ornaments tight ... these indians they lost the fight going to the banks again ... for the morninglights ... on lucifer's tables ... these high tables ... they unite It's a painting in the sky ... while brother rabbit is raking itIt's the lawyer's orange ... still smoking these cigarettes on a bakerman's dream ... on a mailman's tight decision ... making a daylight's scream ... and this orange still the head on a stamp of dreams ... this mailman's orange ... this lawyer's threat having a bank together ... baking the bread ... this golden bread ... while the lion is rising ...a golden one ... for a golden picnic ... it's coming from the mad sun ... this red sun turning blue again it is the mailman's trick this god of ten ten shepherds or ten cowboys ... about this the wars are raging ... chocolate wars ... coming from a strange hospital ... strange carriage ridden by a drunk indian ... this talgamen's friend ... he drank from faroom da bazite ... this warmachine ... a business war machine ... a social machine ... wars undercover ... ridden by a drunk indian ... And these stamps come from strange strange flowers ... with strange strange alphabets on a lion's bank in september ... give me december instead or a good good august ... And it's still a strange strange cardgame ... in a strange mailman's bag written on a strange ornament while a lawyer is doing the dishes ... they burn trees for this ... this woodcutter's job making the stamps in dark places taking kids away from the schools ... these are dark conspiracies ... from peacock's horrorshows On a strange footballfield the mailman is rising ... this god of ten ... while he is the eleventh ... and who follows him is the twelveth ... It's a strange bank after all ... when school rises strange tears are rolling making seas under bekehelm's helmet ... The mailman is rising from the footballfield, spreading the stamps as butterflies, and then the mass begins to roar ... while the judges will decide ... The mailman he has a million arms ... while he has a bekehelm's helmet ...

3.His wife is a flowercutter, a florist, while she makes the stamps ... she even dries butterflies ... and it's still a mailman's auction ... raising the flowers for another day ... She stands between the flowerfields, this golden lady ... still the mistress of jericho ... and the orange flowergun is spouting ... these seeds they taste like soap ... it comes from the land of soap where the swans spit fire ... her clocks are like dishes ... while she rises ... on a golden lions bank ... smoking her flowercigarettes still weaving strange stamps ... for a mailman's holiday ... She lives in his bag as his tinkerbell ... painting the smiles on his sun, these golden bananas ... with oranges as their guns ... they have orange tongues so tall so split ... they are orange liars on a zebra's boat ... strange mailmen ... strange pencils ... and while the stamps are spreading ... they write ... he's just writing bills saying it's from someone else ... he's a billdeliverer ... and they must pay in stamps ... that's the judgement on their heads he's still a flowerman, a floristman ... wanting his babies back ... these are stories written on petals ... while sandman rakes the skies together with soapman ... strange glues ... strange ornaments ... strange mothers and strange brothers ... it's a flowerbank from a golden lion ... there's a new alphabet on the petals ... these are strange letters ... while he's the head on the stamp ... a strange god of flowers ... wanting his babies back ... in the nights he's a woodcutter ... kidnapping children out of their schools making stamps of them the sails on his ship ... all in a strange strange bottle under bekehelm's helmet ... He's a strange Noah sailing on stamps ... These stamps are glued books ... he wants his babies back ... And these stamps are strange bibles .. strange funerals and strange laws ... while the letters bring the land in sleep ... he's sandman after all ... It rises on a mailman's auction ... all these flowers heading for the orange ... where they all turn into ashes to make the land drunk These deserts are in fire they were touched by a mailman ... while an orange face is rising on the stamp ... eating and drinking ... forgetting ... flying on the wings of dementia back to the flowerfields beyond history ... It's strange traffic after all ... strange cars ... strange nightshifts ... strange trains ... orange balls are still exploding ... the gambler brings them back ... a strange mailman ... from a strange stampbank in the desert ... where the orange lion is rising ... like baker's tree so high bringing new laws new bibles ... but first he brings them all in sleep ... strange sandmen after all ... strange orange liars ... on zebra's boats they stand ... with strange flags in their hands ... letting them all faint and now the gold is streaming with so much attention ... on this strange stampbankship ... where a strange stampbanker lives ... a strange Noah ... oh so strange ... these are wilder animals ... For the stamps are warriors in the night ... rising from the bottle ... They want to go home ... and break through walls They want to go back to the stampbooks library ... back to the flowerfields where they can see the statue of belcanov ... all under bekehelm's helmet ... These stamps ... strange traffics ... He's the god of stamps A fisherman ... a Noah brings them underwater ... Strange traffic in a strange clock ... a postman's clock ... a strange sun in a mailman's bank It's lucifer, you cannot decide ... he's spinning the ashes into stamps ... while the dice are rolling ... these are strange butterflies ... They sacrifice stamps in strange churches ... waving at them until they are home ... These are strange funerals mailmen strange funeral undertakers ... working for the clauses ... or are they clauses themselves ... there are strange clauses on stamps ... while soap clause rakes the skyfields ... in september they take flight ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder fights ... all happening in a mailman's bag ... charity is taking them to the hospitals ... to reach the killingfields ... these are strange ways to home ... These are strange bottles of an ornament's lie ... they are still businessbrothers ... but under their uniform's they have their soldier's clothes ...

1.And then I thought the psychiatrist was just a man wanting to sell his comics ... He was a comic-makera strange clown ... He was a visitoran agent of strange traffic, freezing the pictures to catch the butterflies in it a deep prison ... a strange cocon He was breeding the trees, this forester It was all in my mind gotta love the game of this Las Vegas Machine this LVM ... escaping to that little farmer's town ... And the dentist, his friend only wanted to see the books ... They were the deaf men And I'm dreaming of an Egyptian Boat, Riding in a new sort of factory ... Feeling Thoth's smoke in my back Dragons dreamsI'm dreaming of a sun, standing between ten mirrors ...Not knowing which mirror to watch Just watch all ten ...Not inside ...But watch their movements, their markets, their playcards ... Dreams of the big cat Oh how you wish to escape your dreams and to sleep,just sleepThe dream's hunting you, the dream's hurting you,like ten men on a towerShooting from the distanceBut they are far far away Actually too far away to really see themSo how do you know they are with ten ... these deaf men ... these deaf men ...How do you know they are men They are too far to hear them shootSo how do you know they shootThey are too far awaySo how can you dream about themThe dream's too far ...the lion's confusion. Maybe they are just some mice playing card ...Like those mirrors of the sunBut I don't knowThey are too far away to really have an opinion about it ...It's too vague to defineI couldn't make a good picture of this ...It seems I'm in the lion's confusion againBut this is good ... I want to escape all dreams just like youWho invented all these dreams Maybe those ten men on that tower those deaf men but who knows maybe they aren't deaf ... But who knows I'm not sure they are with ten ...It's too far awayAnd I even don't know if they are men ... They can be chickens I don't know ...I really don't knowAll I know is I don't want to meet them, whoever they are ...But they are so far away who knows...maybe there's no one thereMaybe there are only some white flags glittering in the sunThat sun with ten mirrors ... playing card ...You know, I tell you this, for once I got such a cardIt told me about all thisBut it said it didn't know it either It was too far ...Now when even a playcard tells you this, then it must be real farSo let us forget about all this, also about the ten menThey sent me a card yesterday ... That they were so far away ...So I will forget about itMaybe they are with nine, and not ten ...Yes, it was that playcard I told you about ...They sent it And it said all thisBut I don't believe it, for even this card said it was all too far away ...So when even a playcard sais it's far away, it must be real farIt seems like I'm in the Lion's confusionEven the mailman was confused ...He said his wife died yesterdayAnd she's so far away now ...How do you know it's her then ? I ask ... Maybe someone else died It's all too far away, if something's too far away, how do you know it's that ? Maybe she just went for the shop a long shopping Or maybe she was kidnapped by those ten men They never said they didn't so how do we know she isn't there But let us stop about those ten men ... Maybe we are waking sleeping dragons

2.Maybe they hear everything we say ... maybe they have spies or high ... technology ... maybe they have high-tech-recorders and know everything we say ... Maybe they aren't deaf at all ... Then your wife will also hear if she's there ... Ok, dear sweetheart of the mailman, Your husband is looking for you Please tell us where you are He's so confused since you're gone ...Can you please send us a card ? The next day I get a card ...But not from his wifeAnother mailman brought it to me about Ten men coming from the sun,Ten men to do the dance,They kidnapped us all, They brought us all the cardsNow they send cards, actually playcards ... To play with people ... They are playing a strange game Sending cards to strangersInvitations from a dentist's heart Ten mad dentists from the strange sun The plants are their prisoners The cards they send out To deceive the mass Ten books of the wizard,Ten bibles in a row they are heading for the mad sun Like pirates for their homeland But when Gepetto wakes up The eye of another dentist will be opened The eye of the forester These ten fingers of Toth They were actually my friendsFinally All these gods They came to earth They sent us cards Just to trick us Just to bring us The world ... beyond Fairytale I opened the Eye of Gepetto, He's still a good businessman after all these years And a forester A good dentist Heading for the sun of Aquarius The mad sun Still the gardener of our squares Still our hope to touch the moon Having ten little men on his white gloves The ten fingers of Toth these deaf men ... or aren't they deaf ... and are they even men ? I'm feeling his smoke in my backLike the waves of old oceansThese are dragon dreamsThese are dreams of the catThese are cigars of Pharaoh A new city to enter Ten American Dollars are lying on a toyman's counter An old man bought ten little plastic sailorsFor his grandsonHe will have his birthday tomorrowThe toyman smilesThey come alive in the night, he says One day they will let him read the book of the ten sailors They will give it for his birthday when he will be twelve From his father he got a plastic ship So now he can sail with these ten sailors Without knowing who they are ... My dentist is the psychiatrist in the little town ... selling his books ... selling his comics ... He's deaf He's sailing under a red balloon ...the prince is sharp today he became too thin in the night ... he's deaf ... he's a deaf mannow he's an ornament ...too dangerous to wear ...too dangerous to sell No response to the strange beat No responseall telephones are donesomeone is just staring that strange guy and he's deaf ... These deaf men ... becoming so dark in the night too dark, too tall, too thin, too hard, ...too ...cold while a fire is burning in them a forest fire a fire of a green sea ... everything is dying but the eyes ... are slowly sliding away

1.Marazanta ; Emily ; I'm running through purple snow ... along purple curtains, while I'm also standing there. I'm heading for the deserts ... where bakers run ... and where the cowboys do their business ... And I'm still wandering through purple snow ... looking for the bright eyes all these women were just swindlers and their men were taxmasters ... I'm now looking for these deserts ... to find the holes to darker creatures ... There are some animals hanging in black christmastrees they hang near the strange lights ... Strange birthdays These are roads to the big shoe ... forgotten roads ... It was tax keeping you addicted ... These taxmasters from southern coasts ... these old men but they hide the stockings of christmases to new worlds ... Throw your presents into them i will be on their back So many tears are streaming ... bringing you to wonderland ... It ends in the big shoe ... where the lakes of tears are ...

2.They make the colours so wild ... The tears flow ... leading me to the big shoe to darker creatures ...Tears rolling through my trousers ... to reach the big shoe ... she's a swindler ... reflecting the unknown ... there are baker's faces on her crown ... like lights in the christmas tree ... Do you see signs in the snow .. that we belong together ... do you believe in something greater than this ... It was a football game letting us focus on the ball ... The queen of england between the flowerfields her footballfields ... coming from these spanish suns .. deep in arabia ... these are presents from capricorn charityboats to hide the storms ... still pirateships breeding footballfields on wild seas Go to mimir's well ... to become blind again ... i bought them all at mimir's well ... i'm hearing his horse on the roofs ... throwing presents through the chimneys ending in shoes to be prisoners of the football fields ... prisoners of strange games While the queen of England is staring at the balls Is she expecting something ... It's the pencil of the newspapers ... while a prisoner is writing ... the sport's journalist and all these pencils ... they sting me ... these waterlights ... heading for the braodcastlady of cartoon

3.The waterlights are heading for her and her orange balls ... they want to make a comic of her ... They sting her with their pencils ... these are books of old playcards .. waiting to be comics ... in purple snow the footballs will write ... the watermarks on the waterlights ... all in the christmas museum ...

1.When it breaths it goes to history to be burnt ... when it's swallowed six times you can translate ... and the seventh time ... you can create ... the secret of a red giant's shoe Waterlights are stinging me ... when the purple becomes green. Through the purple curtains i always reach the red. Through arabian seacocoons i'm heading for izu ... there are marbles under my shoes ... all these solar stairways ... these moving stairs ... leading me to ..the statue on the flowerfields ... keeping them all spinning ... when india's on her knees ... And when the marbles are rolling, i'm heading for izu ... staring at all those aldebarans in the night ... it's the red rising ... there are communistic heroes on tv ... How many stings does it take ... to greet marazanta ... he's rising high ... Black cowboys in arabian deserts ... with black lassos ... catching their prisoners for an author's kitchen ... the book must be ready tomorrow ... tax always the author's pencil ... it roars by democracy ... and then they'll all read it ... Businessmen are masters of sleep ... the nose brings you to the future ... where the unknown lives under an orange stone of confusion ... we go to sleep ... along purple curtains we travel ... heading for green .. on top of a desert ... sandman was just a good businessman ... Sandman is riding a green horse ... eating the purple ... along purple curtains they travel ... with you ... sandman on a green horse ... until tax comes to give us red dreams ... red dreams .. we're on the radio tonight ... this is how they mix us ... mix us ... all in the kettle ...

2.Birthday man is in town ... we were killed but now we come alive ... to be another prison of orange and green cowboys ... they gamble having their delights back to the alphabet ... the libraries where we become glue There's glue from arabian coffeeshouses ... on top of bagdad city ... deer and horses drink it ... in the roundabout they wave ... Until a spanish dream kidnaps us ... then arabia is our enemy again until we are pale again .. pale again ... A spanish dream sells the pictures ... selling the prisoners to the red where they get all colours they aren't pale anymore they needed fruits for the greengrocer there ... to blow up his balloons And this makes the tears fall, all these dragon tears ... escaping the dragon, to make everything clear, while the watermarks make pictures ... these are wet suits ... plastic wood You have two red eyes ... a pale one and a colourfull one ... it makes you cry ... while the third one on your head is transparent ... made by tears ... it's growing and making friends forever you're smiling it's the third day ... it makes you tall and thin ... fragile enough to reach for the sun where cowboys play, you reach for the shoes ... where all stones gather the black stone makes a wish ... and the coin falls in the black wishingwell ... where abraham still weeps ... for he lost his isaak there There's a goat on the coin a black one ... king of the desert ... while coffee is running from the arabian house where the indian spies ... live just spice from arabia ... how many corners are there on a red eye ... you're now in a strange roundabout ... with purple horses ... shining in the sun they keep you out of the factory ... these horses are blind my dear and they will be deaf at the end of the year ... but they are covered by watermarks waiting to save you ... then you will jump out of black bottles we are indian spies ... there are so many bananas ending here becoming straight and blue ... frozen like soldiers touched by the chocolate ... where blind children play ... and then it's red shoe time ... by this she got her red eyes red lights in the sky ... The red eye is rising ... while red cowboys are riding it ... where bakerman takes flight ... just a shrieking boys clock ... from arabia to spain ... she had to swallow ... to bring the colours ... alive again ... they were hidden in the hollow ... they were hidden in the pale there are watermarks sitting on bottles ... and at the end of the day ... they float away ... These are bakerman's mouths ... watch the smile ... i'm on a dreamboat .. burning my money ... i have now my own coins for a new alphabet These are strange coins on bottles ... falling in the bottle again to pump the water up high the watermarks take flight ... You were blind ... but now they stang you ... you can see ... and still blind children are playing ... there are fireworks in the bottle ... How many floors are there in this red ball ... it's jakobs ladder ... He's playing the whispering organ ... so slow ... so slow ... while red soup is boiling ... and liars take flight jakob's on a mission, with his three red eyes ... three marbles in a basket of sand ... then the birds of cigarette come free ... we are just red walking noses ... painted by a black widow

3. These are hard men in racecars ... becoming darker when they ride they ride on banana roads to burn their money ... they have two-faced eyes ... and only a black microphone will survive their stares ... you better be wise these days ... where a black viewmaster stands ... breeding the red breeding the hard stories while you are the alphabet The birds of cigarette there are red lights in the air ... on a red picnic's day They are the books from the library beyond history ... they are red snowflakes sitting on their high thrones ... to speak their judgements of nonsense to spread their apocalyptic days ... they are the numbers of conscience and history bringing them all back to the vanilla planes the wasps of memory and then you touch a key you never touched before ... cold conscience ... It spreads and you see the golden cigars they can never be burnt ... they can only speak There where red becomes too hot ... cold conscience ...there where red becomes too dark the lights are rising eternal damnations coming to save you from charity's curse Swallow enough to reach the golden cigarlights It starts to play the whispering organ and then the tears come ...these ornaments are so fragile

1. These trousers, they sting me, like delirium they come over me, bringing the tales of yesterday in slow-motion. They are searching for the pale lady Still mirroring in the river when they bow their heads down ... They build their towns on forgotten stones, filling them with the dolls of the rubbishfields ... They pick them up from under the sewers of the houses They are the toydoctors from the forgotten moon Their boots are wet, their heads and hands are cold, grasping like rats but their hearts are warm, and the flames of passion burn there ... a strange sort of passion battling against the dragons, to have heart and space for the town to have some high pillars, with teeth hanging under it, scaring away the dogs and the crows They wear old warbooks inside ... showing them were the graves are so many treasures left behind, so much knowledge, so much fame Building their elevators on those graves ... This was why the Indian Warbook was so wild Still raging about ... the bleeding ornaments Still puppet-assassins Still letting the boys grow ... in the trees, in the towers ... in the ornaments ... and in spoilt rain

2.Masters of the great illusionsStill having the deserts in their eyesburning everything into orangeuntil it strikes the blue belland then the water comessomething bigger than themsomething ...which they don't understandit comesto wash everything away it's something deeper inside something inside which they themselves don't understandsomething which always makes them crywith the strike of the blue bellit's deeper insideit's ..deeper. It makes their hands and heads so cold but it sets their hearts into a deeper firewhen the tiger ... goes to sleep The orange, still the best present from the tigerstriking the blue in the night ...and then something happens so deep inside ...which they still don't understand ...they still don't understand ...A pink white ornament is lying before them in the middle of the nightwhile everyone is sleeping sleeping so deepwhen the tiger goes to sleep And then these boys ... these boys grow like towers in the searising from the ornament ... to touch the white hard candyand then they become the hard men something they still fearbut she's breeding it ...that old, old kite

1.She's a tear letting others cry ... She's a death letting others die ... She's everything, having no possessions ... She's free ... She was fragile as a butterfly, spreading the green tomatoe seeds, the tears of a dragon,the tears she cannot bear ... They to be free....the red stone making them so creative, making them dream in soft fires ... a toyworld growing in their hearts, a red balloon, pumping ...until they reach vanilla desert ... a yellow stone, freezing them, they are icecream soldiers having the mark where they have their soft wet candles ...to be candlestatues ...to burn their books again ... becoming swindling whores again, winning all the games, these swindler's games ...casino's cabman was his name ... She's now only spreading the green tomatoe seeds ...by her mouth ... Green liars, green dragon's tears ... Inside they can speak their truths ...when the nights fall and the night troupers come ... Inside they can feel ... the true touches ... These tears turn red at midnight ... Life so close to death ... written by a golden pencil ...turning yellow in the night ... she's now a pencil-statue, a shriek, a dragon's cry escaping ... flying away with the pharao-syndrome ... She's a tear letting others cry ...She's a death letting others die ... She's everything, having no possessions ...She's free ... She's a swindler standing before the gates of games, She's an ornament of joy ...but something's eating her inside ...not wanting to lose his toy ... You could smell the tomatoe .. bringing you to toyland once again ... It was on the back of an eagle ... It flew while you ate ... Could you eat the green tomatoe, when it landed on your back ... You had to wait until it reached your mouth ... Carpet makes the stage,He makes the bakertrees,where uncle peacock bows it is your destiny,When Carpets rise,you know it is your time to play,and underneath that warm warm blanket you find your sledge today.It is the Carpet making memory,The Carpet making destiny,The Carpets rise like soldiers on a dream.When the Carpet talks,the city walks,and underneath that tree,you find the golden care to watch your movie flee ... It's the Red City ...where all the red men stand tall ...Not bowing for your destiny ...They only bring you higher ...These are the towers of talk ...These are the confusions making the creations ...still the spice making your life worth living ... the ornaments to heal, it is the tale of a land where you touch the bitter fruits of destiny ...but when you peel the fruit,the spice will be your mate ... It is the ornament, that keeps you safe today,it is where all the gods make their butter ...An egg was born there,humpty dumpty on a walk. ...They rip the ornaments ...waiting to swallow us again ... turning red at the end of the day ...in the city of the ache ...sickness close to health ... to fall in red desires ...where she sacrifices us againThey have only wings to fly ...while in april they die ...they are the goodbyes of a lost summer ...to make them all cry ...

2.Do you remember these tears,these tears ...these bottles high ... while the toysoldier wants to go home ... keeping them all alive in this nightbringing them all to silly places ...where they can laugh while they get sicker ... for they drank too much ...there was too much pain inside ... where the devils can fall again ... so that in the end ... they can see the darker city ... you need to drink and float higher ...for these norns are strengling you ...deciding who you are ...under high black elections ...by their selfspun democracies ...i take flight ... they make you cry ...in mimirs well we stand ...throwing the coins for another ride. She falls she is a wide spread lie ...becoming a truth in the night ...while all bakermen hide ...watching her ...she is the black widow ...spreading kisses ...while tomorrow they die ...these are one day butterflies ...she stands tall she's rising to izu ...where all the black men fall ...to become even darker ...but they have to ... they need to bear ... don't you understand that to become darker ... the lights will rise higher ...the soft strike will make them harder ...when the orange touches the blue ...oh these bakermen's fires oh...the autistic sun ...i finally have ... a friendThey all march slower and slower ...while the ice is rising under their feet,vanilla planes growing in the air ...these bakertree's fruits ...don't eat them just touch them ...along the sideways of mars they stand ...with jupiter's smiles unaware ...the angel unaware is watching you ...all these dark witches walking in the rain ...in the green ...slower and slower ...waiting for the strike of chocolate ...to freeze them inside ...to be the walls again ...to become darker and darker ...to raise the golden lights ... i cannot help these fearswhile she said that all these presents ...are hiding you for a snake. Welcome to the ornament's stream ...stick it in your pocket ..and buy a ticket to escape these horrors ...to watch a final movie ...to ease the frustrations and fears of your heartletting your hearts glow ...for another chocolate day ... warm flutes it's the red juice ...pipers standing on the walls,they play in the gates of life... These striped flutes still sting me ... so save me there's living a strange creature inbetween ... a green firthese are the toystatues for a new ride ...the jukebox statues for new delights ...guiding you to ...where the barkerfaces dance ...where tailors speak french ... but there's no fairytale left ..only fruits while they have the name of being busythey are two faced masked, turning white in the snow,he has the cards of opposite,with plastic leather ...his smiles are plastic ...but he's a killer unaware ...he kills in peace ...he never hurted anyone ...golden carriages are his art ...he dines with princes being smart, but at the end of the day ...he puts them all in delay ...never reaching for the night ...he prisoned them all in daylight ...everyone knows what they are doingthey never reach the night ... when he touches you with his kite Flying Carpet sais that is my destiny,to be with a man like that,it's a delight for free ...he is the lanterns in my hat ...he bakes my diners,saves my pets ...this little man is a mother's threat ...he is the ornaments always shining on the cupboard near my bed. He closes curtains, breaks the snakes, when they get near to secrets they regret,he's the mourner, crying with a smile,he makes my movies,grows my cows,he embraces them in magic and peace ...while doing wars on chessboards ...take me away and make me drunk ...make me delirium ... a man with a barrel organ stands ...doing the dishes for the whole city with his eyes ...his red eyes ...he's like the licoriceshe tied her hairshe's now my butterfly i adore ... with all these bakermen lights on a cakewhy did it have to be my birthday,he is still my flying carpet,still my bakertree,with bakermen's faces ... i'm eating his fruits everyday ...all these vanilla planes ...bringing softness to my mouth ...softness to my voice ...making the swallow to toyworld,a playground tree stands ...i'm wise enough to climb along the leaves ...to find my bones again ...I am stung by a thousand waterlights, I cannot walk,but I have all these comics in my head ...These inner scars and tattoos speak ...They block me from going outside ...while inside they are ...bringing me to izu ...In my mouth I am stung by a million birds of cigaret ..

3.I cannot speak, I cannot swallow,I can only hear their stories ... And on top of the playground's tree, bakerman's faces unite,to do their conspiracies ... They have been to vanilla places ...to vanilla dreamworlds of fairgrounds...They have been to the world of waterlights ...where marbles roll through sand ... soothing the babies asleep with their soft wet lights, these are lights from the redYou could smell the tomatoe .. bringing you to toyland once again ... It was on the back of an eagle ... It flew while you ate ...Could you eat the green tomatoe, when it landed on your back ... You had to wait until it reached your mouth ... while all these waterlight rains were in my bed ... these rains from izu ... building my memory again ... rebuilding you ... leading me to death,with all these waterlight rains in my bed.There are green tomatoe seeds lying on my dish,bringing me back, bringing me back through the sting of a waterlight ...all these ones are in fire ... or is it my eyes Give me a spoon,these books are all talking,spreading green tomatoe seeds ...in a night of arabian magic ...she's staring at the lullaby ...she's not a child anymore ... Do you understand,he has the wizard balls under his feet,baking Indian cakes,from Vanilla Deserts ...

1.You must fight for the money, ... tomorrow you don't have to go to school ... all these fruits were just stories by mirrors opening, this black fruit leading you to the world ... The number's in the flame, while breathing in these mirrors ... It's the silver strike they say ... you must swallow deep ... to reach the golden shoes ... The frog has some movies ... and some old castles ... I'm breathing deep ... and the coins are rolling ...

2.I gathered them by going to the battlefields in the deserts ... These seas of flowers are my sunglasses making me blind for what's going on ... I don't care what's going on, for it's just a story ... The frogs bring these flowers ... They are the masters of the ponds ...all these mirrors opening ... to the original strike ... boys from lynx ... they're coming from the seas of cold conscience These boys from lynx ... these criminals inside ... these pirateships making me blind These enchanted straight blue bananas turn me on ... turn me on ...

4.I'm fainting while i see their pink ornaments ... It's such an autistic sight ... the silver strike made us deaf ... while silver spreads the songs of silence ... turning so wild in the night ... so wild ... i need to free the birds of cigarette .. and touch the golden cigars ... like frozen soldiers they march to their destinies with wild worlds inside wild lights they come alive inside ... while wizards hearts lie on a dish ... beating while you feel so strange inside ... shadows on the wall ... stung by waterlights ... under purple roofs we sit .. with all these bakerman's faces ... with our wings of dementia ... watching ... the pink songs letting us travel through time ... why do all these numbers blow into my face ... the flame's in the red eye ... we're watching the show of a strange footballgame with all these bottles rising ... and all these tall whispers ... where bakers hide where boys from lynx take decisions ... they have pink balloons in their pockets ... so pale it talks like cruel decisions ... from tropical islands too far away for our understanding ... and i call for your name ... there's a red eye in the flame ... and a pale pink balloon in my pocket ... and some other pale colours

... these bakerman's faces ... they talk like cruel decisions ... to cold conscience ... too high for understanding They roar like wolves these boys from lynx ... they make me scared with their tall wings blowing up their balloons ... giving me numbers They roar like wolves these boys from lynx ... they shout through the night ... while wizard hearts beat faster ... like frozen toadstools with faces ... and balls of strange footballfields ... while someone is beating the bottles with a spoon ... it's the waterlight strike making us all understand ... we're bathing in cold conscience ...

5.The boys from lynx they walk ... with machine guns they take flight ... to the world above the sea where they keep them all blind ... i have time for you when you walk away from the clock ... you might want to feel wet boots below you again ... growing from the bottom of the sea ... where they died in these sea gardens ... they wear the stripes on their faces ... they are the tears in our eyes ... having no mercy at all ... your hunger just lets you dream of riches ... You slide to the forgotten land, where all your dreams started ... you were at your own exploding ... while bakerman's faces do their conspiracies at tops of trees ... you are just a christmasball ... with waterlights in your mind... that what you cannot reach will bind you and blind you ... you are a slave of the hollow ... and it takes you deeper inside ... to the place where ashes is money ... the seeds of a new day ... the ornament of coins is luring you deeper ... it's your only way out ... the hungercocoon brings riches to your mouth ... it grows on your back reaching for your mouth it gives you the face of a deer ... having the machines of the red eye ... while visions grow from their back reaching for their eyes ... there where the senses sleep ...

6.There are boys behind bars behind letters ... and numbers ... they're locked up in the book ... of the red ... and you see your face ... with these thousand waterlights inside ... it's joseph's pit while you're sinking deeper in this strange cocoon ... this strange cartoon it's the big breed ... of a witch waiting to eat you but you're never good enough it's never done ... in her strange stories The strikes of the waterlights bring us back to the museum beyond history ... where the boys from lynx live ...while they stand on martian hills, they are rising from the deserts escaping the lynx They have tears in their eyes ... bringing the bakerman's faces alive ... they are the balls of strange footballfields ... with strange tall bottles of tears ... where tall whispers walk ... there are strange arabian roundabouts in the air where bakerman's faces are cartoons in machines of deer ... they are strange mirrors in castles ... while the wizard hearts beat faster ... and the machines of deer slow down while babies with tall ears ... bear the whispers ... leading us through purple curtains ... the fleeces to the tear ... where bakerman's faces bathe ... they make trips to vanilla .. there are purple roundabouts in my head ... spinning bakerman's faces ... these are one day ladybugs ... and when they die ... they take away a piece of your world ... while bottles of tears are overflowing ... to let the blue rise ... but when the candle is burnt it all ends in a lie ... the liar's flame is all there will be on that day ... there are liars on a boat eating the suits of liars ... they're standing tall to spread their tall whispers ... while the bottles of tears are overflowing and then the purple roundabouts come again to black eggs on sunday mornings heading for the footballfields where indian warbooks dance It's rising from the bottles ... having the stories on their suits ... they laugh in flames breeding their boys from lynx ... in soft watermarks

7. The bed is too soft to let you awake, it shows you the other side ... where a book swallows the books ... to make your eyes red ... all happening in icecream letting the tears flow deep inside it's too wild to let you sleep ... it's whispering with a million whispers ... inviting you to cartoons ...

2.And he said : you did it, I'm dreaming, you made me lost my day. I'm bleeding, you're leaving, but I feel soft, for I'm a bakerman's face, I'm a bakerman's face. Like brown ripples, he's making coffee ... I'm greeting Marazanta, I'm bowing for Atu, He with the butterflywings. There are pink tongues coming from the pocket ... pink bananas in the skies ... Here is where they burn the money ...These are pink lights coming from the red. The snake's egg was a comic's egg ... It's heading for Vanilla ... And he said : I don't have brothers. I lost them all in the night ...

3.Now these pink fleeces are almost wet ... Now I have my own bakerman's faces ... She must spin comics all the time ... making the candyrings tight ... Pink fleeces are so fluffy and wet ... Tears move through them, to become icecreams ... The fleeces move ... burning the money ... These are the golden lambsteads making a living on the ceilings and the walls ... It was Easter visiting you in hell, where he gave you the comic egg ...

4.These wars were written by a bananas pencil, a waterlight raging ... It escaped ... Telling stories ... leading the kids astray ... by strange holes of birthdays ... they grow in yellow flowers ... They are shrieking ... while the air is shivering ... In these red comics are turned into movies ... while boys live behind the bars ... waiting to be drowned by Pharao ... He makes movies by drowning the money ... They have been stung by waterlights ... a strange automaton ... Now all these machines of deer ... The red tiger is rippling there ... coming from the red ...

5.The movie egg, coming from Pharao's mouth ... it was a red checked potatoe ... bringing the floods, while Noah span the tax and the insurance ... Is this charity's curse ? Or a vanilla one ? Tell me when the book rolls ... There's a book egg on a tower ... spouting blasphemy in lines ... The butterflies, they fly to the deserts ... where the egg of Moses hides ...

6.Still a dragon is spitting sand ... giving powders to machines of deer ... These books are spun by sand ... behind the chess the statues stand ... it streams behind vanilla glass ... breeding the addictions to raise money for the churches ... comic churches ... Baptize them ! Bring them in the movie ...

7.Behind movie bars, they get their blessings, from uncle A to Z, while uncle one to ten counts the money ... burning them to be ... behind bars ... behind strange letters ... where they can be strange glue ... stung and tatood by the waterlights ...They become strange machines, locked up in books ... It's a strange fairyground ... no one is seeing what is happening ... These are dark fruits ... covered yet so naked ... These are dark ornaments hanging in the wind ... surrounded by everlasting damnations breeding the statues ... boats behind the books ...

8.In chocolate they breed the games ... They are the puppetmasters of southern coasts They have golden stares, killing business for tax ... killing business for tax ... letting the waterlights spout They are stinging without mercy ... living in ... the wizard's hearts. There are beating hearts of wizard's lying on dishes behind the books ...

9. There are stinging striped waterlights in these strange hearts ... you start to cry ... They know how to free the birds of cigaret. These are of sand, while statues rise ... They travel without moving. They are leading their own lives inside ... Them with their powdered balloons ... There are frogships under the sand ... giving them all injections of insurance ...

10. Then the wizardhearts start to shiver ... Pharaoh has a yellowwhite mask, a Paradox ... always the gift of the snake ... While panthers rise from bubbling waters ... I'm heading for Izu ... While it's surrounded by the hard men from the green candy ... bringing me to the Indian Seacocoons ... to the hidden uncle Peacocks ... hidden by vanilla ... her curses stream. They drink their juices fast and sting their sands ... These are hidden in swamps ... While golden cigars open ...

11. There are hot sticks and stings on fishes ... rising from the seas ... There's chocolate melting, becoming sand again ... They can drink from the juices of cartoon ... on this picnic's day ... They are blind behind the bars of books ... strange trafficlights.. There are fishes with striped candystings. There are boats of sirens with candystings. And he said : will you make it, will you name it, you can't, you're off, I'm a lady's tower, you're screaming, I'm bleeding, I am a bakerman's face, I'm a bakerman's face. You're dreaming, I did it, I'm a bakerman's face, I'm a bakerman's face, making her heart so tired.

12. She's cold, lying on the bed. Waiting for the red in which she can survive. She's cold while I'm standing like a green one ... Then I speak my spells, stinging striped candybars into the boys from lynx. It's a machine, running on strange coins. This house is built on candyspears, stinging and breaking the bones. Then the door opens. He's the brother of Jom, waiting for ... You must swear to keep this a secret, with two fingers raised to Osiris. The History Warriors bend their knees by moving glue-pictures from history. And I take flight. They have Onion-hearts. I see their arms everywhere. All these history-pictures are just arms moving ... Watch their pictures on the wall and start to bend.

13. Watch these ornaments of glue ... and watch their balloons ... coming forth from the wizard hearts ... beating so strange and fast ... you start to cry ... There are waterlights inside stinging, singing ... to set the birds from cigaret free ... I love my bakerman's faces ... to live in someone's head or knee ... Watch the prices ... so many sacrifices for a picture ... These are strange traffics ... these are strange arms grasping and holding tight ... There are strange auctions Strange games ... They are spreading their arms ... while the winner ..eats them all ... They are the guards to strange gardens of glue while they eat the pictures ... creating your futures on martian hills ... Mars in Izu ... The History Warriors walk slowly with little lights towards the city of bakermen ... They are masking the screams, behind feathered masks in two colours, having a split laugh ... Bakermen are dancing before their mirrors in their corridors ... moving their strange masks, and making funny faces ... they are hiding their screams ... And these children, they have the wings of dementia ... these wild ones of lapoendria ...

14. They are like waterlights ... seeing the candy in the pictures ... a thick layer on every street ... they feel free in their games ... these redblue soulbottles. And I am heading for Izu ... watching the ornaments of a new day ... By tight rings spinning tax ... Is there another way ? ... I am still ... heading for Izu ... becoming deaf on a boat with liars ... Show me some spice from arabian castles ... Show me some lights of bakerman's faces ... and lead me through these nights ... those red ones with the black eyes ... bring me back ... So many layers of lights and juices ringing in the night ...

1.and i see these paranoid men playing football, while they never hit the ball, only each other, doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world ... while the icecreams are running ... now they want to be ... the paranoid men ... the paranoid men escaping someone's world you see ... a red shoe in the middle of the blue table it sits and stares it's hanging in the air ... it's hanging in a tree ... and now custard is streaming

2.These men are paranoid, a shoe on it, a strange footballfield on a chessboard ... strange world in a coin, in a strange football ... There are paranoid men playing football ... their worlds are frozen ... rising from lapoendria ...

3.These men are paranoid ... while they are playing football ... they never hit the ball .. only each other ... the icecream's running ... their trees are so frozen ... these paranoid men ... they have piano's on their legs, while they are sailing like speedboats ... rumours in the night. These rings of icecream, contracting tight, while the boys are shrieking, they take flight ... still a shrieking boys clock, wheels under sandman's cars ...

4.They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's tableStrange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... hanging there like teeth under towers ... burn your boots, sweet moes, ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world, ...wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... They are the waterlights ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... They have racistic smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ... They are paranoid men, just paranoid men

5.Emily swim across these oceans of pigblood, and find your islands, where the marazanta is waiting for you, and the trousers too short with it's comic-figures ... don't let your men run cold, but keep them under the blanket

6.Emily, cut your way through these pigportals, and swim through their tears ... The pigbottles stand on the cupboard ... don't miss it ... you have the arrow ...

7.Emily come alive after a million years of sleep ... draw your borderlines, and read your comics, for they are holier than life ...

1.Egyptian Book of Hell ; Damash, second chief of Hell, Rabittian Region, wearing the feather of Banchelo, which is the fourth piramid of hell. All travellers have to go through the fourtyfour piramids of Egyptian Hell, for purification and direction. By fire-mummification they have to head to the circle of the fourteen earths, by the higher gods seen as the invisible piramids. They then are the fourteen chiefs of fire-mummification.

2.Damash, second chief of Hell, Rabittian Region, greets all visitors coming near to Benchelot, the forest and mountain piramid of hell, which is the first piramid of hell, and to Belchelot, the water and cave piramid, also called the vulcano piramid, which is the second piramid. And they have prisoned you for a long time, prisoners, for it wasn't time to reach for the third piramid Jelzaham. And the sight of Jelzaham has terrified you for a long time.

3.Benchelot and Belchelot, so long they were your two legs, while you couldn't work with your hands as you wanted. Here are the spells to open Jelzaham, and to continue your journey. Spells to open Jelzaham : Counters of hell, rise up, and move over the red line. I have come to the portal of Jelzaham, and to it's backdoors my spirit moves.

4.I am a backdoorman, open the kitchen. I have seen many difficulties, I have faced things I didn't understand. Now I have grown-up. I have the keys of liquid light. I have the permission of the gods. I am a wanderer with the gypsy's blood in me.

5.I am a beggar, for I still cannot live on myself. Now let me enter the piramid of ice to let me have my own. Your sights will not be a terror anymore which strikes me from the distance, for I know have the eye of Damash, ruling over the ninety footsteps. I will be frozen to use my own arms now, and to be prepared to open the piramid of Banchelo as well, and to close the doors hermetically behind me. I will not bring any of my bloodlines with me, neither any of my friends or the ones I helped. I will come alone, and I will stand alone.

6.Jelzaham, I lay my hands on you, for the first time in my life, and also for the last time. Then I will be in you forever, to continue my journey. Spells to open Banchelo : I have been sent by Damash, second chief of hell. Let me in. Let me see the ring of invisible piramids, known as the fourteen earths. Do not let them have the power to prison me, and to let my feet sink into them.

7.I am grounded in Jelzaham, I am grounded by the mighty powers of Damash. Let me wear the feather of Banchelo, piramid of air, to have the powers to move and fly, yes, even to escape where I want, when confronted with the circle of invisible piramids. I swear I will not hurt any of your rabbits, and will save all your rabbits out of the hands of their persecutors. I will bring the heads of the evil lawyers of hell on plates into your temples, and their hearts in canopevases into your tombes. [This sentence has been left out by some translations, probably because of fear of evil spirits or curses.] I will learn about your architectures, to rebuild my homes forever according to your will.

8.Kings of hell, give me the keys, the liquid ones, to bring them up, layer by layer, as the sacred vehicle to enter Banchelo in terror, to set the rabbits free, once again. Kings of hell, bowing to the first chief of hell, having layers of light as ornaments in his shoulders : Do not give me the helmet of Banchelo and hell, for the first chief will do that himself. He's the statue in the fifth piramid, ascending to all the other piramids and dwelling in the center of the circles of hell. He with the winged helmets and the winged legs and shoes. Kings of hell, bowing to this first chief. Give me permission to travel through Banchelo. Omekan Hapit Mejasdor Ramit Hansna Archtippe Michtellet Ischan Rach Doncheon Gorch Irorch Ureschmint Kircht Krim.

1.Spells to receive the helmet of Banchelo from the first chief of hell : Likmit, the helmet will protect me against dangers. 2.It will alarm me together with the cooperation in removing the threat. 3.It will be like the thousand lightbeams. 4.Counters of hell, rise up. 5.You will not give me the

helmet, but the first chief of hell will do, for you are servants. 6.Counters of hell, I command you to be silent when the first chief of hell speaks, when he multiplies himself throughout the sunlights of hell and the sacred fires of voice. 6.You are servants of the helmet, and servants of the first chief of hell. 7.You will not rest or sleep, for you need to persecute the attackers of the helmet to protect the one who's wearing it. 8.Spells to open the piramids behind Banchelo : Pyramid of the black dog, open up, for your mouths longs for purifying us, those who come with Usir and Heru [Osiris and Horus]. 9.You are the fifth pyramid of hell, longing to open your mouth and eat, for the rivers are dry and without food. 10.Oh, dog of purify, to make us as candles in the night. 11.Our lights will die, to turn into fire, for the dark lights of the night you want to see. 12.Ra blesses the statue in you. 13.Ra bows to the statue in you, as the statue bows to Ra. 14.Yes, they protect each other as the sacred bond tells. 15.Their shoulders stretch out to each other. 16.Their shoulders stretch out to the red dog and his pyramid. 17.The well of purifying the blood. 18.This is the blood of hell, coming forth by fire, sending out the firestorms of hell. Pyramid of the red dog, Et Hazor, èt hérum, echtus hanta, conèl iktusch. Diorgmach Stuugd, open up, sixth pyramid of hell, providing us, those who come inbetween Usir and Heru [Osiris and Horus], with the purpèr suit of hell, wearing the ant-feather with care. [in some translations it is a beetle-feather, and some mention them both] 19.Let the fire come through tubes, and give it power to open the mouth and speak in the pyramid of the black dog and the pyramid of the red dog. 20.Then I turn my face to the mirror in the east, and speak words to the pyramid of the blue dog : Open up, for I have come, wearing the helmet of Banchelo. 21.Grant me the feathers I need to enter your ship. 22.I have not sinned against you, I am clean of heart. 23.We belong to your kingdom. 24.You, the one raising in every pyramid. 25. Oh, pyramid of piramids, the seventh pyramid of hell, as the spirit of the first chief of hell. 26.You have raised all his rabbits and his rabbit-warriors. 27.You are the king of rabbits. Allow me to have breath to open the seven doors of your piramids, so that all my souls who are worthy to enter can enter, and so that all my spirits who are worthy to enter can enter. Then when I'm in I will close all these doors hermetically, so that no intruder can enter. I will be the fire to protect your pyramid as my spirit moves forward. 28.Grant me permission to travel further, for you to give me the blue line to pass over dangerous bridges on my track. I will not fall, I will not fail, for your feathers are over me. [in some translations : shields] Hermutus, light of the soul, give us the blue liquid lights, as well as the red liquid lights, as the blood of hell by which we move. Show us the wells in the pyramid of the blue dog. Do not lock us up here, but allow our souls to travel further. Let the lights of Shu and our Ka's protect us against the evil mummies. [In some translations this sentence doesn't exist, in others it just sais : Let the lights of Shu and Ka be with us.] Eighth pyramid of hell, open, for our breath is traveling. Let your watchers not mock us or destroy us. Do not lock us up, for we came with Heru and Usir [Horus and Osiris]. Accept the sacrifices the gods gave with us to offer you. We have not eaten the meat of innocent ones, neither have we touched the meat of your mates. 29.Watchers of the eighth pyramid, now you have received your presents, your mouth will be bound, and we will pass through, leaving the light for you. We haven't turn down the darkness, but as our lives grow we seem to worship it, for it is the shelter of the gods, and the passage to the depths. We have seen it as the guard of the treasures and tombes of hell. We enter through the seventy gates of the urn. We are now free in the piramids of everchange.

poor, I have given them bread and wine. I have given them food from the rabbittree, and I have given them beds and songs to sleep. Oh, gods of the rabbits, take me out with your helicopters, for these canons are killing me. I will now leave through the ends of these cocoons, to see my rabbitsoul fly and dwell in the air and in the skies with so many layers. 2.Oh, gods of the rabbits show yourself to me, so that I can follow your paths to the wonderlands. 3.Teach me your art, and close the doors behind me, so that those of the canons will not take me again. They have mocked me, they have lied to me, but now I am free. 4.Teris Saran Mia Ephisteis Hanunehan Hireksch Bohol Tunef Vahalit Stapahans Snapperi Erki Herun Direks Sieren Irkjus : I will now take these spirits who threw me in the canons of hell, those who have persecuted me all day long. I will bring them to the bottles prepared for them, in which they will be prisoned, to feel everything I have felt, to be in hurt like I was in hurt, so that they will never do it again, that what they did to me. 5.Teris Saran Mia Ephisteis Hanunehan Hireksch Bohol Tunef Vahalit Stapahans Snapperi Erki Herun Direks Sieren Irkjus. 6.Spell to remove implants and imprints out of the nipples by which you were slaved : I now command rabbitmagic to free my nipples and to let the nipplefluids flow like blood and hormones through my body. 7.Rabbitstorms will guide me, Rabbitsmoke, guard me. By them I will breath, and I will move my body like them. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater. I now command rabbitmagic coming from the rabbitbottles and the rabbitcandles to bring the rabbitbones in me, covered by the rabbitstones. 8.They will bring the Rabbitlights of magic layer by layer, so that I can turn myself around like the rabbitgods. 9.By deep wounds my nipples are slaved by cruel clocks. Rabbitmagic please enter my deep wounds and then raise from there to my eyes, and see through me. 10.Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater. When I blink my eye let the rabbitmagic be spread. 11.Give me wisdom and understanding, oh rabbitgods, and let Bihelsheput be the guard of my nipples. Bihelsheput now rise from my deepest wounds, from my deepest caves through the spine. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater. 12.Spell to open the bottles of Rabbitsmoke in the body : Rabbitsmoke, come from the bones, for the bottles will be opened now. 13.Be open, and spread the smoke through the ribs, so that my arms can move. And then sink to the legs. Be my guardsuit so that the gates of canon can not suck me in again. Show me the gravity of Rabbitmagic and their gods, to move on, to open new worlds. Nanak. Rabbitian gods : Raman, god of rabbits : I will arm you and give you the rabbitcoverings. You must learn how to breed things of your own to lengths. How do you do that : If you suffer somewhere, don't search for a quick death there, but let it grow in this cocoon to lengths. Raman, light the candles, Raman, open the bottles of smoke, Raman, pour out your spirit upon us. Dorkok, rabbitian god of wild fires : I am Zu-warrior, which is the rabbitian magic. 14.I bring Zu to your bones, if you walk the rabbitian paths in honour. Just call my name, and I will lead you to great mountains. Jakhor, rabbitian god of war : I will give you the Zu-rings for powerful rabbitian magic. These rings contain rabbitspirits who will help you. 15.They will communicate with you through your fingers. Inahus, rabbitian god of sprites and lights : I will send you the waterlights, the tall lightnings into your body, so that it can move, and always reach for the things in the distance. 16.You really have the power to possess. Naktahus, rabbitian god of forests, and forestrivers : I will send you the lights of the forests and their spirits to teach you. Totok, rabbitian god of darkness and mud. Yomek, rabbitian god of mountains and vulcanoes. Silent Mahos, rabbitian god of silence and art. Ninok, Rabbitian god of death. The gods want to show that life is like a rabbitcocoon. 17.Spell to let Rabbitian Darkness come over you to make you invisible and to let you escape through dark holes : Ushun Asamk Aroth Mian Umehan. God of darkness, Totok, come over me, and let me leave through your dark holes, for smoke is all around me. 18.Let the rabbitnipple-smoke move through my body to make me invisible and to let me fly and soar like the winged rabbit. 19.Let me escape through paintings. Ushun Asamk Aroth Mian Umehan. 20.Give me roses to surround me, let the thornes be my guard. Ushun Asamk Aroth Mian Umehan. I speak now to the lights of canon : be ashes now, and leave through the holes of hell, to dwell forever in the realms of the dead. 21.You will be the sand in the deserts of death, and there's no spirit to bring you alive again. Your throat will be cut and filled by cucumber, so that you cannot speak again. Chant : Otohus, Otohus, Otohus, Otohus, Otohus, Otohus, etc. 22.Then call for the circle of rabitian gods to surround you : Raman, Dorkok, Jakhor, Inahus, Naktahus, Totok, Yomek, Silent Mahos, Ninok ... 23.They bring all kinds of problems to get you to the darkness, to develop the divine hair. 24.In their books they describe the several paths of darkness. If you want to become a zu-warrior you must walk these paths. You can only truely walk these paths if you have reached the flame of poverty, so you must be really skilled in poverty. The Rabbitlord is my shepherd, I do not have any shortcoming or lack. 25. He covers me in grassfull pastures and he leads me to quiet waters. He enchants my rabbitsoul and leads me in right tracks for his name's sake. Even when I go through the valley of darkness, he's with me, and his stick and scepter comfort me. 26.Blessed are the poor, for them the rabbitheavens are open. Blessed are those who hunger for they will be satisfied. 27.Blessed those who weep for they will laugh. Blessed are you when people laugh at you, hate you and reject you, when they say you're an evil man for the sake of the Rabbitlord. Be glad these days and jump of joy, for the rewards in rabbitheaven are big. 28.Woe them who are rich, for there will be no comfort for them. They have it already. Woe them who live in prosperity, for they will hunger. 29.Woe them who are laughing for they will weep. Woe them when everyone speaks good about you, for that was which their fathers did to false prophets. When someone slaps your cheek, turn also the other to him. 30.Oh children of the light, bring the one who has power because of his head-ornament over the ones of the sun. and come to me quickly, so that I, the rabbitlord, can go here and there. Blessed are those who found the house of silence, for they have been delivered from many slafework. They can build their own houses to be with the Rabbitlord. Blessed those who found the pearl of poverty, for they have power, and will be with her whose name is poverty. 31.Come to the dirt of the Rabbitlord, for it's cleaner than the clarity of the earth. You have a well of dirt in rabbitnature, by which faulness you can clean yourself and your house, as it is divine. Come to the ornaments of poverty, to have coverings when you enter the valley of coldness. You will be able to reach and save many rabbits, and they will save you. 32.And they will see the canons around you, and they will break them, and take the tall teeth of the canon and their needles out of you. And you will live with them forever, not thinking about those who have repressed you so long, for it brought you to the rabbits. They have been enemies, so that you could be friends with the rabbits. 33.They know what you feel and where you go through, for they got the same. 34.The walls of the rabbit are warm, his bread always warmer. The word of the rabbit is sweet, his silence always sweeter. 35.You see their houses and their gardens and that which they forbade. Know then the wildernesses of poverty, letting the flame rise to bring you to the rabbitheavens. It goes right through death and hell, but ends in rabbitheaven. 36.The needle has to sting deep, to take you out of canon. They must even go deeper than the needles of the canon itself, otherwise their will not be an eternal bond between you and the rabbits. The needles sting deep to open the rabbitbottles of smoke and storm. 37.Hail him who enters the sacred rabbittombes and blessed are those who find the sacred rabbitmummies. Direct communication is often too dangerous, that's why it's often happening by subtile codes. Be aware of tokens and omens in nature around you, for there are many ways of the divine to speak to you. We all live in our own fantasy, and we decide how the others are drawn on our screens ... There is no modern way of looking towards the other ... it's all based on ancient laws, and it's like a cycle ... It's nothing new, for it's just tapping from outer space The way colors are perceived has to do with the heart ... As you can see there is nothing like life-motion, but a movement is based on solid characters isolated, while we change our consciousness. Movement has all to do with time and point of view, so actually it is one big illusion. The dreams we have paint the minds of the other ones, and make them how we want to see them ... It is not always our desire, but the value we give to things deep in our hearts ... This makes that it's not always a pleasure what we see with the eye ... All images are connected to feelings, and all feelings are connected to the values we have ... We must not identify, but associate and dissociate. When you are a rabbitpirate, stretching out to the paradoxes of life, to symmetry but also to asymmetry, you are under the law of compensation, which means when you lose something, it is to win more. Climb on the webs surrounding the rabbitpiramid of destiny ... And let yourself be led by the rabbitwildernesses, bringing you clarity ... My webs of light, come layer by layer, to reach a heart as an instrument ... 38. Then the rabbitseas of my light come layer by layer, in which the soul will drown, to bring forth the immortal rabbitspirit of the sea ... My lights are beacons on your trip to the old rabbitrealm, the sacred rabbitheart ... My voice comes forth from the overflowing light ... Come closer to that which you missed all the days of your life ... Even if you will see or feel things behind glass ... It gives you the power to dream ... Don't be disappointed when there are still things you cannot reach ... 39. It teaches you how to do rabbitsoul-travelling ... The deepest powers come forth only by the unreachable and by the deepest hunger ... You must first sink into the deepest pit to have the highest jump ... The power of the rabbitbow and rabbit-arrow ... My voice is overflowing light, while it can fill you layer by layer, coming forth from the deepest silence ... There is no voice without silence ... actually it comes forth from it ... My voice is healing ... and it comes forth from the striped and rippled rabbitspine ... Let me bring you the book of light, as the blessing on the water ... It is light full of ancestral voices, as a ladder back to ancient times ... You actually breathe from the wells of deepest history ... Don't think about how you are being projected, but think about who you really are ... Don't follow the projections ... but follow the facts ... Plug into the rabbitlights I give you throughout the day, to be connected with my heart, from where the messages stream as subtle guidance ... Don't expect voices ... but expect subtle tokens, which erects your powers to reach out and solve ... Expect difficulties and complexes as the egg of development and mental power ... It gives you the strength to practice wisdom and flexibility ... The subtle energies will bring you to greater treasures than the direct voices ... The divine communicates by light, and not by voices ... 40. Voices are often your interpretations ... as harvest, but sometimes as stirred up by your own impatience ... 41. Not that I'm saying that a voice isn't divine at all, for voice flows forth from the overwhelming light ... Be quiet, and listen to your heart ... to find different ways of silent communication ... like trees and flowers do ... Voice often eats the flavours and fragile connections away to end in rudeness ... 42. Your society is a prey of overcommunication ... It eats away your breath ... and your eye for true beauty ... My rabbitlights are so intense that it's bubbling ... and each and every bubble contains the hormones for good breathing in rabbitdivinity ... There are treasures hidden in the ground of Egypt which are not found yet ... but now you can already connect yourself to these treasures as the sacred seed of a new body and society ... The secret treasures are messengers of divinity, as a representation and storage of divine power ... I am speaking as a clear rabbitchannel of stars ... I am speaking as a tube of the divine light ... 43. I will feed you, if you allow me to feed you ... Just stretch out to me ... I will reconnect to your heart, as you have my heart ...

1. Rabbitian goddesses ; There's a rabbitgalaxy where there are many rabbitconstellations with rabbitstars. These constellations are the rabbitgoddesses. Their names are : Woman with the soft feet, Woman with the soft lips, Woman with the soft mouth, Woman with the soft breasts, Woman with the soft ball (between her legs), Woman with the tongue bridge, Woman with the ice tongue, Woman with the soft star, Woman with the soft light (as a waterfall), Woman with the ice toe, Woman with the fire toe, Woman with the fire breasts. 2.Locked up in the rabbitstone again, where you can run in slowmotion, where the camera isn't a threat, where the lights are purple and blue, so many colours, not eating you. 3.Locked up in the rabbitstone again, eating licorice and staring at the chocolate, what a surprise. 4.It's melting coming to you, to cover your body, softer than a velvet custard suit. It's bringing the stars deep into you, these rabbitstars they glow and rise like balloons. It's coming over you, when you're locked up in the rabbitstone again, so safe, no one's hurting you, everything is slow, enjoy every second, watch the rabbitpictures, one by one, the evening is like a book. 5.No one pushes you, no one pulls you, no one stops you, you're in the rabbitstone again. While your spirit escapes through the window, and your shadows try to follow. You thought epilepsy was a curse, but it was the rabbit taking you ... 6.You thought spasm made your life difficult, but it lets you escape the city-chains ... You thought paranoia wasn't good for you, but it is the rabbit's eau de cologne ... the flame rose from poverty, to walk towards a deeper darkness, to finally disappear ... 7.She has the wings of fire, her feather smells like silver winds, like white ornaments. Totok, god of darkness and mud, guider to the cubes of hair, and the worlds built of the cubes of hair. They are light and wet. They provide the rabbit-breath. I give Zu to the brain, to raise up rabbitian architecture. By Zu-power you can build by thought. 8.The cubes of hair are softer than velvet, bringing enlightenment to the rabbitbrain, filling the hands with Zu. I speak to you in many layers of liquid voice, very energized, to penetrate your brains until it reaches the rabbitsoul. These layers form the stairways, so that you can reach your inner rabbitspirit, and rabbitheart. 9.Here the rabbitcandles stand. When you light these, you can follow the smoke to your rabbitstorage in the rabbitliver, where you can find the rabbitbottles. When you open these your memory can bring you to the ancient rabbits again and to the rabbitgalaxy where your liquid selves can dwell and soar. Here pure slowmotion can purify you again in all your layers. 10.Pure slowmotion is there a fruit. There is no haste, for everything has already happened, and to that you can return. There is no future. The key is in history, when you will translate this message. History is just a message, and you must translate it to come home. There is pure ice in the deepest darkness, holding the greatest distances as keys to come closest to something. 11.These are the lungbottles of rabbit. It's the sacred breath, and the only breath who will allow you to survive life for eternity. It is the eternal breath. This is where the journey has to go to. 12.The winged rabbits use the history as wings, and while they use it to fly, they transform it ... They are everchanging. 13.When there's plenty of Zu, it can stir up the firebreath, by which you can clean your thoughts and visions, and to give the rabbithelm as a zu-guard of the brains. 14.By this helmet while using the firebreath, the rabbit-aura will be formed and cleansed to make it pure. 15.If you have too much firebreath it can be dangerous, so you must also use icebreath. You must learn to balance these and to switch. 16.You can do that by using the dark breath, which is the bridge between these two. The dark breath slows you down, to have survey and control. You must have times in which you monopolize the ice completely, or the fire will start to burn things away. 17.The best thing to do is to swear off the fire, and to make the journey of ice in order to find the iceflame, which is the blue fire or burning ice. 18.And then start searching for the cubes of burning ice hair, to build your worlds further.

1.Rabbitian ice-vulcanoes ; They are actually the rabbit-nipples who are the thermostates of the body. They can only be reached when you monopolize the darkness completely, to search for the dark flame and the dark ice, producing the dark coloured lights. By the thermostates thought is written, and even the muscles move by them, when they build a target layer by layer. The rabbitnipples are the guards of the heart, raising their voices as moving shields. The eruptions of the ice-vulcanoes bring forth the hormones to regulate the rabbitian body-functions. 2.The rabbitian body works a lot with the raising of smells, for these are the channels of Zu. 3.The rabbitian smells coming forth from Zu, are the regulators of the sexuality of the rabbitian. It is mostly a unit coming from the soles, named LBOK. 4.It triggers a creative substance, becoming rabbitian seed through the channels of sexuality. The programs are very complex. 5.Only by the rabbitian nipples the seed can be sown in high forms of temperature controlled by the ice-vulcanoes, writing new forms of dark coloured glowing lights, but these are only forming eggs holding heavy silences. The project is to bring forth deaf rabbits. 6.They can serve in the temples of loneliness, to reach for the treasures of their inner selves and their deepest selves, which they can guard. They are the candles and bottles of slow-motion, so that everything can be stored in templebooks again. LBOK is one of the most powerfull zones of Zu, and can only be generated by the deepest needles. It comes forth from deep pain and deep rejection, and it's deeply paranoid stuff, so it doesn't show up very easily. 7.She is one of the most creative and powerfull goddesses of the rabbitian, and it needs a complex of temples and tight rituals to generate her forces and intensity. This is one of the biggest goals of the rabbitian, to build and spread such temple-structures. 8.Building the temple of LBOK : First of all, there are some things which will block in stirring her up : loudness, social life, over-communication, mock, painlessness, prejudice, laughing, plentiness, lights, speed. She's paranoid, has spasms, epilepsy, and more ways to guard herself and to regulate her energies. She's a sort of treespirit and she can come through smoke and wind. 9.She's very softhearted and carefull. She can only be called by her highest priests, the rabbitian. They are the mediators. The names of these mediators are : Rabbitwand, Mirhan, Totohan, Rabbitwheel, Rabbithat and Rabbitpiramid. Only by them you can communicate with her. The tree she lives in is called Rabbitfood. In her temple there are many flames, and also a tombe. There are many urns in this tombe. In some scriptures she's described as a spirit of rabbitian death and hell. 10.She experienced her powers by wearing the eternal poverty. By paranoia her winds of magic start to rise, and by her epilepsy they strike. By spasms she practices a sort of sacred vampirism. Her priests must hunt after her enemies, the ones who harmed her, and she's only satisfied when she can drink their blood and eat their flesh. She makes ornaments and other things throughout her temples of their bones. Therefore she's also seen as a very cruel rabbitian, asking for ritual sacrifices, but never an innocent one, but only enemies. 11.A lot of rabbitians do not have much sympathy for her because of that, although she's only acting because of justice, not because of greed. In her world it's an eye for an eye, a leg for a leg, a head for a head, and a heart for a heart. Her temples are cruel anyway. [in many translations the part about vampirism and sacrifice isn't there, but we felt the need to keep it in the book, for it gives a better picture of who LBOK is] When she finds someone who has tortured her, then she will torture him for the full extends, and she has many wolves for that. [of course this sentence cannot be found in many translations, neither the following] 12.She's therefore very feared for this. Her deep wounds cause her to do this, for she cannot live when she wouldn't do, because of her hunger for revenge. But this is also the reason why rabbits feel a sort of comfort, for they see her as a guard and saviour. By this attitude she can save rabbits out of their prisons, so for her the choice is easily made. She needs to be this warrior otherwise her loved ones become prey. But there are still many rabbitians who see her and her practices as one of the biggest wells of Zu. 13.She practices a mixture of white and black rabbitian magic, for these two forces can simply not live without each other. They both become corrupted when separate.

1.Mousian Magicbook ; This is the chapter of the sacred flying mouse. Hail to the batgods : Jalram, Pah, Kunes, Righ'k, Mallani, Tjumbrum and Delri. May their blessings be upon you. Spell to enter the batvehicle, to escape from the canons of hell : Jakthal, Makhat, Mag't Rihum. This is the day, this is the hour, that the batvoice rises up, to make a way of glory, a path out of hell. All our powders and fluids fit, all what we do is magic.

2.Jakthal, Makhat, Mag't Rihum. We now take place in the batvehicle of escape, surrounded by the batgods, and it will bring the sacred flame, when we speak out their names : Jalram, Pah, Kunes, Righ'k, Mallani, Tjumbrum, Delri. The batmagic spreads, and in explosions we will find safely our ways. The mice of hell will close the doors behind us, as we continue on our ways. As we say goodbye to the rabbitpriests and welcome the mouse-priests for our temple, far away from the canons. Jalram, Pah, Kunes, Righ'k, Mallani, Tjumbrum, Delri, shine your lights on us, and show us your mouths from where the lightvoices flow. It will penetrate our brains to install new visions, to build the mouse-shrines in us.

3.We chant : Miktal, Miktal, Miktal, until we feel quiet. Oh, bringers of new lights, let the darkness now be bound, so that it will not speak to mislead us. Oh, bringers of new fire, let the ice be bound, so that it won't throw us away. We stand on new ground, to fly with new wings. In new voices our heads will dwell, and these voices are high, spoken by the bat. They came out of his mouth like liquid fires, to install the throne forever.

4.And it melts me away, when my spirit ascends to mouse-heaven. The brothers know how far they can go. There's green fire coming from their mouths and hands, to bring the mousian magic to the temple. Let all bats rise up to it, so that they will understand what to do. It guides them through the land, and like powder in the wind, it spreads ... The black fire circles in the sky, coiling for another day, raising the bats of our time. In history they find their keys to ride. Let them come by mighty rivers, let them come through holes of space and air. The batgods surround my vision, tall in the air, and in distance they stand, but the fires in their eyes become close like the waterfalls searching for their ways.

5.It's overwhelming, when the distance strikes, coming so close all of a sudden, and then totally disappears ... It's always moving in a circle, coiling towards the hills ... The ornaments hold their voices, spread like powders by the wind ... Jalram, Pah, Kunes, Righ'k, Mallani, Tjumbrum, Delri, shine your lights on us, and let us fly and soar with you, higher and higher. In the forest is a place, where we can be free. You have possessed many churches, to bend it like the green mystery. When the puppets will bend, we're finally free. Tek'l Tat'l Tulaheim T'klon, T'lalk Irkjun, hold me tight, for the four winds of hell are attacking me. Root me here in your ground, and let your rocks cover me.

6.You brought the new life, of mouse of mouse-heaven. Give it also to me. Pour it out in my baskets, I will find my way to absorb it. Rain on me. And open a new darkness for us, in which we can hide. The poverty is still king, and it's tailor is loneliness, but give us a new nakedness, and let us dwell in open sun, the dark sun bringing us new madness. The old has gone forever, now give us a new old. Bring us away from history lies, and let it bend in our hands, to build a new house. In the forest we will be, where the sun reaches for the open place.

7.The mouse comes over me, and takes me away, while the winds of oz are staring. There is a new fable day, when the mouse starts to speak. Brought by seven bats, the mouse takes me now ... I'm getting deaf to hear new sounds ... the things I had never heard of. I see their signs, I see their birds,

I see their kingdoms, sliding away, so that I can follow ... It's a liquid machine, heading for a new day ... It's heading for a thousand oceans in which we are finally free ... Say goodbye to me, once again, it was a pleasure, but now I have to leave ... She holds the liquid key ... Say goodbye to me, once again, it was a pleasure, but now I have to leave ... She still holds the liquid key ...

8. Her statue's there for years ... but now I have to leave ... I'm losing the picture ... Tomorrow it's in a magazine. They have built the houses here, they have made the spiders ... but tomorrow it's in a magazine. Don't push the button again ... It's too late for this machine ... Tomorrow it will be old, only as a picture in a magazine. Don't give me back those years ... you can keep them for yourself ... I will get new ones from the mice ... It starts to come over me, like visions from the red surprise ... I am free. I don't want to imitate ... Let me have my own ... I don't want to be a puppet in someone's show ... I have already pain enough ... Where is the peace, where is the love, where is the thunder growing down on the cross, where is our Jesus, where is our murderer on the cross, where is our teacher, where is our Baphomet and Behemoth, where is our Peter Pan, where is our Sandman, where is our Superman, where is our friendly lady of the tram, it's killing us all in Amsterdam.

9. Try to escape as fast as you can, and then return, to save the rest of them ... My voice is like fires becoming water, like flames bending in the wind, getting taller to catch a glimpse of your signs, I know you, like a million years ago, I'm going to save you, like you saved me before, eternally united I am with you, nothing's gonna break it. I'm dreaming of it, I'm sleeping to it ... like a boat to the riddle of the nightmare ... I'm sliding to it ... I'm breathing to it ... like a boat to the riddle of the lie ... I'm misunderstanding, until I hear the voices of yesterday ... Gods of Mice : Dandael, Rumhurd, Ruuks, Ruuch'g, Iram. I'm wrestling in my sleep, to get this done. The king of mice, his shadows are after me ... I'm wrestling in my sleep, and the candle is on, I'm having a firebreath ... I'm drowning in my own words ... no one can stop me ... While the faery of the waters doesn't believe in me anymore ... I'm sliding to the rabbitchoir ...

10. I'm wrestling in my sleep, the dream cannot take me ... I'm too heavy ... drowning in my words ... No one can stop me ... While the faery of the waters doesn't believe in me anymore ... I'm sliding to the rabbitchoir ... I'm exploding, I'm too full of my own words ... while no one stops me ... I'm cycling underwater ... sinking to the depths of nevermind ... A new day already has begun and I'm exploding inside ... From dust to dust I glide, until it explodes, I am too full of it ... It's yelling in my head ... I'm laying my head on the table ... to cry my tears ... trying to forget ... In the distance someone plays the piano ... so slow ... almost tragical ... suicidal ... until I lay my hand on her ... she's trying to forget it also ... until she explodes ... From dust to dust we glide ... From dust to dust we hide ... in the distance pianoes play ... like the soft rippling waters ...

11. We don't know where to go ... afraid of returning ... but everything will be different forever anyway ... I cannot breathe I explode again, these powders run free now ... I don't know where I am ... but I am not the same ... It's something I do not understand ... The pain is breaking me ... but you are taking me ... to make the journey of delirium ... the only way out ... This pain it brought me delirium, the bridge between you and me ... the greatest distance is closest to me ... Princes becoming big and small ... This sting it brought me delirium, the deepest sting brought me the softest places ... in delirium we dwell ... It's like drinking from magic bottles ... from cold magic making us warm ... in delirium we sink ... on the other side ... roses thin and thick ... Cannot read your letters anymore ... your hand is coming through ...

2.Orange Balloon ... Orange Balloon ... a dragon deep in the night ... raging until all his children are home. It opens doors and closes them ... it watches rainbows and shatters them ... he still has the waterkeys ... those waterlights ... leading them all through the night ... only this snake could bring me over the rivers of death ... he shuts doors like he shuts pockets ... the red stone brings you down ... into the nightmare ... you're under the weight of manipulations and lamentations. All surrounded by warm orange ... you cannot fight the red stone ... and while they fight in the night they let their puppets dance ... these masters so vain here where the ponds are paintings here where the purple rules here where the candy is salt here where the orange strikes the blue here where the tiger goes to sleep to let another lion touch the moon here where the purple rules ... Your miniature stings through the silence.

3.Warm orange heatening the flames, while snakes are pumping up the lungs. They are coming from the liver. Spitting while they talk. And now he is in sunset's city, now he is in sunset's crime. The lights all come like zebra's, to dive in their underworld's casino's, roads from the moon to the helicopter skies. There's an orange golden sun on a stick, decoration blinding us, while pictures are lying on the beach. You must know how to talk here. It's not easier than a puzzle.

4.Orange golden sun on stick, decorations blinding, golden shadows on the walls, in the halls of life, coming from down under. Towers of Egypt sting through pain, reaching for the helicopter skies, piramids of the underworld, while orange balloon is rising, and I'm hanging under it. Zebra's discussions in the room, tall shadows in the night, drinking liquor. He's holding the ornament tight. Looking at the prices of the gifts. It was a present. Now we're blinded by daylight's cream, holding tight the sunset's dream. Which one, we cannot choose. This is something we must do. There are great cities and great nations, only rising, while staring at an orange liar. An orange liar in a zebra's boat. And this smoke it comes from battle.

1. The priest comes forward and sais : Thou art filled with that which hath been pressed out and hath come forth from thee. He will say this four times, while he is offering the Hebment wine. And the priest will offer cake while saying four times : the Eye of Horus hath been presented unto thee, and placed for thee in thy mouth. Then the priest will offer a scale full of onions, while saying four times : the white teeth of Horus have been presented unto thee, which are strength-giving. Then the priest sais four time with stretched arms : nothing is what it seems.

2.Then the priest offers a vessel of Tchesert drink, and blesses the dead one with the blessings of the Eye of Anubis and the Eye of Ptah. They will watch over him like the moon. The toes of the dead one represent the ten trees of paradise, and he will drink from these. It streams through his body to his throat ... Then the priest offers two vessels of white wine ... which will guide the dead one on his journey ... When he speaks ... white wine will flow from him, and will open his wells inside ... the inner cellars ... These are the cellars of the body ... These cellars are in the foot ... Whenever you think about the swallow and whenever you think about the throat ... fluids will stream from the cellars ... The priest says four times ... The dead one will make a living in his own throat ...

1. And the racia tombes are there, five million racia's waiting for their brannan cars to drive in ... on banana railroads and on blue red racecourts ... They're alive and well ... standing on high coasts but from high tops they fall ... into the hands of the docteria's ... now they learn the tricks of slow motion ... becoming wasp-statues in the night ... They can say goodbye to brannan ... someone else now opens the hidden doors ... where hidden bottles stand hidden fluids stream ... These are the seeds of a new race ... always hidden ... behind old trees ... These ... are the dentistia's Impressive, but autistic ... you can never reach them ... They are the drops of vanilla ... Like perfumebottles they are Say goodbye to Brannan ... say goodbye to the bottlers spears all they sell are bottles behind vanilla walls they are ... funeral undertakers the hospital in great delay some lawyers kidnapped, which makes the story ... so sad ...

2. I am the bottler, I am the funny cake, so autistic am I, and so fake I am the bottler ... I am the nowhere fake ... I am the nowhere butcher ... sowing the seeds for the big break ... I am the bottler. I am the ornament's crown, I'm so paranoid ... not losing my grip on the hidden ... I am the bottler ... Watch these bottlers watch their grip ... You can't follow them, for they are too deep ... They're floating there like trains of thought They're floating there, like lost pilots ... They're heading for the moon of broken dreams ... where bottles raise the puzzles high all combined like silver paper golden tiles ... on the ground ...

3. Paradise city is the best all bottlers come here to find some rest ... The wedding was a soldier's weapon, a killingfield ... a legalized prison There were no lusts ... only strategies of war ... laying the magnet so deep while someone else took the bottle away It was a soldier's weapon ... A clownface was his mask ... Brannan warrior ... possessed by an Lbok spirit ... wanting the wasp-bottles to go home Soon he will be a bottler ... Soon he will find the baker's crown ... I have the bottler's crown I have pushed Brannan down ... One day it will rise up again ... Like Lucifer's candle Like Lucifer's brains Can you hear me in neon-style ... all these Jesus Christs will die, when the bottlers rise to push Brannan down It's a war underwater, but I have to find the deepest cellars, where the deepest trousers are ... These bottles from the green ...

1. Brannan Warrior, pilot in the sky, with all your sharp layers while you keep it soft inside In helicopter skies you crash down The ship lost his monkeys and it's doomed to sink ... within three days ... Brannan Warrior, lost Jesus Christ ... lost earth in a monkey's mouth ... Earth is only growing, since you're gone ... Earth is only sinking ... in a deeper spawn Goodnight, soldier, the bottler has taken your head away ... Tomorrow you will be old and wise ... in a hospital's delay while someone is treading the grapes of vine ... I'm a bottler in the skies ... fluids are flowing from my eyes ... From the cellars of shoe it rises bringing kids to their schools ... bringing moms to their fools It's christmas when I'm dying It's Easter when I'm rising up At schoolbreaks I lose my trousers diving deeper into the lost graves ... These are the bottles of death ... I'm digging my way to the deepest bottles, the bottles of the big shoe, in their cellars ... where the bottlers live They let the juices come from the eye ... and then there's tv ... And all these bottles are locked up in history ...

2.Oceans dive in neighbours junes ... These Roman Warbottles strike the blue ... when orange strikes the blue ... When we're diving in the nameless ... we're diving in these names too of these history bottles ... dying too soon ... Send me a helping hand, and help me understand ... all these messages from a roman soldier drowning in his bottle's wine ... There's no day to save him ... he's undercover now under a warm balloon ... When I saw these people dying and crying, when I saw their flags were burning ... I wanted to know ... these Roman bottles they're ready to sow their lives on the borderlines making the edges come alive

3.When orange strikes the blue These towers coming, growing from June and I bet these daylights fall ... and then Russia eats them all I'm tied to this flower to sing this song for you until orange strikes the blue

4.When orange strikes the blue A daylight wonder guiding us under a warm balloon When history guides us to our cellars where we have to die to become bottles again of roman wars when orange strikes the blue these towers rising from June under his hat they all fail but they come alive on his hat ... all these grapes are bleeding noises are coming from the bed the battlefield where the bottles sing their song these black songs in the night after the big big fight to prepare all these lazy ones for slaughter for slaughter like orange wine mixed with blue ... escaping the terror for a new day after June ...

5.Roman soulbottles and roman warbottles ... marching to that day after June like summersnow they know that the orange struck the blue it's between me and you ... a green green flower was born and all these pale pale roses with trousers too short ... an indian princess hunting his dreams ... silent nights after all these years ...when orange strikes the blue Some roman through the french ...

1. Jerica was a strange insect spitting ink in the heads of people, causing psychosis and visions. The group was attacking him, for he had sinned ... He had fallen away many times from the waspian and now he was this insect ... but still an unobedient one, with an own mind. These insects were octopusian ... like fire-spitting aliens ... bombing the minds of man with thoughts in all colours ... 2. They were guarding a prison ... They were guarding a net an egg ... They had to ... for if man would escape ... Jerica himself got strange visions too ... for he was connected to a big reservoir of ink ... It seemed the ink was living on itself ... It was like talking water ... 3. Jerica didn't have a family ... that was forbidden on the ship ... All his family-members were killed ... That was the price he had to pay when entering the ship ... but now he was falling away ... looking for strangers looking for the ones who decided to bomb his mind for awhile ... Those were higher creatures ... Those were higher agents ... Jerica found out that the ship he was on, was also a prison ... just like the ships of the waspian he lived on for so many amounts of time ... 4. He forgot a lot about their actions ... it was like they were out of sight ... One day he got a dream ... He walked in a field with a waspian who was his wife ... but they shot her, and they took him away ... to a strange ship ... There were no fire-spitting aliens here no ink Everything was so transparant ... Very tall insectian bodies were appearing in the distance, very huge and big they were lying on benches tall like big snakes And they were also soft They had many tall nipples like cows on certain places while their bodies were pale and transparent ... They were feeding their babies ... 5. They were giving them dreams but not by ink ... but milk and honey Some were sliding into a sort of sea or lake in the ship ... Jerica had strange feelings inside ... Jerica hoped that these creatures weren't gnats ... for once he was abducted to a gnat-ship, and they did horrible things to him It was still a big trauma in his head but this atmosphere was soothing him like warm milk It was like he was coming to life It was like he was forgetting about everything, even the octopusian insects he belonged too ... 6. It was like he found something better 7. But then the War started, and it was horrible ... 8. The octopusian insects were attacking the ship and they started to kill the babies of the feeders with the udders 9. But suddenly ... the udders started to grow and grow and spitting more and more milk It was like the octopusian insects were drowning in it ... But then another group of insects started to attack ... they were a strange species of wasps ... very flyian, but also like butterflies they were like real pieces of art and they started to kill the cowlike insects 10. It was a horrible sight And at the end they kidnapped Jerica Jerica couldn't do anything they were too strong, and it was like they had possessed him Panic came over him, but at the same time the panic made him very strong It was like they could easily flow into his spirit, tearing his soul apart ... and giving him strength ... but for what ? He hoped he wouldn't become a slave of them ... This was a higher race of wasps ... These were wasps who went through the big cocoon ... These were wasps like hornets ... They were much taller and more dignified than the usual wasps But again there were shots another race was entering ... Jerica shocked himself awake ... it was a strange dream ... A hornet was standing before him ... asking him if he wanted something to drink The hornet was very friendly So didn't he dream this all ? Was it real ? It seemed so, for he was on a strange ship ... 'You were saved by dreams ...' the hornet said 'just dreams' ... Jerica smiled ... but inside he thought he was about to cry ... He felt himself like being very emotional ... The hornet was very soft to him ... Again Jerica got attacks of panic inside ... but after that he became stronger and stronger Xambal was a colony of hornets a strange city where they lived They brought the dreams not by ink not by milk or honey but by stings ... 11. It was a strange cross Jerica was hanging at ... but it was better to be on the cross of gnats The panic was feeding Jerica and he became stronger and stronger Then his soul could rise up, out of the cross and he could be free in the wilderness and the city ... One day a girl came to Jerica She said that her body was also on that cross, but her soul could be with him ... She wanted to offer him money but Jerica refused ... He didn't want to be attached to someone ... The girl started to weep, and panic came over Jerica ... He wasn't strong enough to handle it ... so the panic got worse but at the same time he got strength to run away He gave her some last words ... and then he was gone ... But more girls tried to do the same... to be with him, by giving money or other things like books ... but he didn't want to sell himself again He knew that he had to pay a high price then also ... He knew what family or friends could do ... He wanted to be free The hornets were proud of him ... He had made the right decisions On one evening he felt himself going to his body again, there, at the cross ... His soul became one with his body ... and the heat was streaming all over Something in him was rising up ... 'Oh come then ... battle against me,' it said It was almost teasing him, but he felt it was also protecting him ... His spirit rose up like a hornet ... but this thing was stronger ... It wanted to take him off the cross Jerica started to scream The being in him started to laugh, but was still protecting him, and giving him strength ... Jerica got another attack of panic for what would happen if he would be free from this cross ? Maybe he couldn't live without it ... The thing was stronger than the hornets ... stronger than the spiders ... It was another sort of wasp a species Jerica didn't know of ... And yes, they also went through the Big Cocoon, but also through other cocoons The panic was taking the body of Jerica off of the cross and took the body to a sort of sea ... Jerica got other sorts of stings It was like a million of wasps were in his body ... stinging him ... It gave him so much strength for the stings weren't really hurting him ... They gave him new visions ... a new world to live in ... They could scream so high and loud, and were always the winners of that These guys were on the top But in the sea were many fights between many different waspian races These were called the Waspian Wars Again he was kidnapped but the being that took him off of the cross was stronger and killed the kidnapper in a flash and pierced it with thousands of horrible stings Then the wasp started to eat the meat ... It was a horrible picnic ... But Jerica knew that the wasp was only protecting him ... After the wasp ate the body, he started to eat the soul of the killed kidnapper ... It was a strange picnic ... not of a vampire but of a guard ... After that the Guardian Wasp flew into the body of Jerica again ... Jerica felt very strong ... This being wasn't a vampire, but a guard ... And sometimes this guard challenged him to fight with him but this being was too strong It had possessed Jerica and for a reason ... 'Bring him to me !' a dark voice said ... But the wasp-guard stang the one of the voice to death and left the blood and the bones ... The wasp-guard had to tear many and many red curtains in the Waspian Realms and finally they came into a new area There were strange theologies here so strange that Jerica began to cry The theologies of this new realm showed Jerica that when many of these waspian souls were bound together such dark worlds could come into existance ... Sometimes the Wasp-guard went out to deliver such souls It only happened once in a long time and this time only Jerica was saved He started to see that also his own soul was attached to another waspian soul, and that was the reason why he felt so handicapped The Wasp-guard was his healer ... and his saviour One day the Wasp-guard died, and Jerica was very sad and scared for maybe the red curtains would suck him back to the cross and the slaveships The Wasp-guard didn't speak anymore 12. Jerica digged a grave for him and buried the wasp ... but the other day a flower was growing there, and the wasp was creeping out of the flower like reborn The Wasp explained that sometimes he had to go through another cocoon but it was for a reason ... The wasp told to Jerica what he needed to do in such a situation ... The Wasp was a very good teacher ... and it was like they came into silent nights there were no wars here No one dared to attack the Wasp ... 'I am king,' the Wasp roared and Jerica felt such a strength ... 'We are one,' the Wasp said ... 'I am your guard ... don't be afraid I am not a vampire just a guard But sometimes the Wasp challenged Jerica to fight with him ... the Wasp was much too strong for Jerica and Jerica started to love the wasp more and more ... The Wasp liked to prove to Jerica that he was stronger 'I am king,' he always said 'I must protect you ... even against yourself ...' And then Jerica understood more and more what was going on ... that there were still other souls in him which needed to be cut away ... Jerica wanted to be free ... was he really attached to other waspian souls ? The Wasp wanted to lead Jerica to places where they could be torn away The Wasp had strange moving teeth ... going up and under ... He had a brilliant smile 13. He wasn't a pirate He was a guard ... And together they were torn away from the ship ... The Wasp loved Jerica very deep Jerica felt more and more comfortable with him They were as one ... but still sometimes the Wasp jumped out of him ... challenging him to fight ... and sometimes it was like the Wasp was teasing him a bit but it was to protect him Jerica felt so much love, but in a strange way ... The love was very peaceful ... The Wasp showed him the way he stang It was a wonderful armor ... Suddenly the Wasp started to sting the nipples of Jerica ... Jerica started to scream ... The Wasp said that so-called canons were planted in his nipples, giving text to his head ... These were prison-implants ... Then Jerica got another implant in his nipples ... In the night Jerica got a dream about a cowian insect ... with a lot of udders on her body He started to drink Suddenly the cowian insect started to change into a skeleton ... and Jerica started to run away and there was the Wasp ... protecting him ... Many times Jerica got strange dreams ... but the Wasp protected him ... Jerica felt the need to cry a lot. The Wasp was there for him, to sooth him ... but also to fight against him ... for he needed to be protected against himself ... He wanted to run away from all the lower species who lived in such denial ... The Wasp helped him in that trip He brought him over many walls 14. When Jerica was over many walls other sorts of enemies were attacking them ... These were the sharkian wasps and the orcan wasps They were horrible ... They had many cruel ships and they tried to take soulparts out of Jerica and out of the Wasp Guard There was also a race called dentistian insects They were very sharkian and orcan They had also many gnattian abilities They were like the brood of many insects a mix of them ... Jerica was shivering Would the Wasp Guard be stronger than them ? Jerica lost a lot of soulparts, and felt empty sometimes it was like panic and fear was taking him over Jerica hated the dentistian insects ... They were very arrogant ... 'Oh you arrogant one ...' the Wasp Guard roared to the leader of these dentistian insectships It was an assistent-insect ... very female ... but it ruled them all ... Jerica was still shivering ... He saw how the Wasp Guard went towards the ships He started to destroy them ... But still enormous panic was over Jerica, until the Wasp Guard pickted him out to fight ... They fought together, and Jerica got many special weapons from the Wasp Guard ... The Wasp Guard brought him to a Warship ... In this ship the wasp-statues were ... These were like cannons of waspian heat ... The Wasp-statues were like programmed soldiers like cyborgs ... They all had their own tasks ... The Wasp-Guard said that he was the captain of this ship of wasp-statues ... They communicated by holograms ... A strong metallic solar energy. The Ship of Wasp Statues had a lot of waspian ships under their command ... and there were all sorts of communications between these ships ... It was like solar storms between the ships ... 15. Jerica loved to see the sight It was calming him ... giving him peace ... but also a strength and a lust to fight ... Something was paralyzing him and that was the warning that when these wasps would sting too often, they would die ... for the heat could destroy their brains ... That's why they needed a lot of silence also ... Sometimes there were heavy alarms when they were communicating too much ... These alarms protected them against death ... Fortunately there were many systems who could turn the communication or cannons off ... This was to protect their lives ... but sometimes these systems failed ... especially when a wasp would get at rage ... Every wasp-stature had many ships under command ... This was how they were making wars ... They had their tasks and used the ships to fullfill these. They were programmed by tight clocks ... and even in their armours there were a lot of alarm-systems ... They were guarding and leading the programs ... They had visors in which thin lines were creating the sights ... and even making everything very transparent ... By this they could see the different souls of an enemy and even tracing the history-lines ... This visor could also use strong solar energy to beam at the enemy They could control this by their eyes ... By small movements they could use the visor-cannons ... Mostly small movements of the eyes. But one day a species called the Autistia's attacked the Wasp-statues and kidnapped Jerica ... The Wasp-guard was very sad ... He had lost so many lines between him and Jerica He hoped that the Autistia's would be good to Jerica ... Jerica was now on their ships, and in a sense they were very waspian, and the wasp-statues and the wasp-guard always had some sort of respect to them, even as being an enemy ... They liked the autistia's in a sense ... Some said the autistia's were just transformed wasps ... but others said they were more than that ... The autistia's were against almost everything ... They were called the sifters ... They wanted to change everything ... They weren't aggressive, but they could explode at times ... Their motivations were good though ... They took Jerica with them to their land ... where he started a new life ... He liked it there very much ... They said them that they had kidnapped him to protect him against something ... They said that the wasps had helped him a lot, but they had to draw him further over the lines ... 16. Jerica smiled They were really as friends to him ... They built a dashboard, a sort of visor-helmet into his head by which he good be a good warrior ...

1. Afternoon Wine ; tall lights from the red. I'm walking on the beach, in the sand, carrying pains no one understands ... The waves speak of red grapes ... I'm diving underwater in a cold embrace ... The bridge is opening in me ... Spreading hearts like baby's thunder ... The dream is about to escape ... to a new land ... where it sets everything on fire ... No one understands these days ... If it would be yesterday ... no one would hear them ... In the land of tomorrow I live ... I'm behind a mask of zorro She's a red little potatoe ... guiding me in her car ... So many strange sounds are opening windows and her knee is bleeding ... telling me she understands me ... 2. After many nights I can talk again ... breath again while she is next to me ... this little red potatoe ... making me understand ... delivering me ... If it would be yesterday ... I wouldn't hear her ... She gave me the key ... In tomorrowland ... no one understands, but they heard the breeze, the silent manouvres of a dark line behind the big potatoe ... They all come free ... The red picnic was a daily understanding line of me ... Now I hear ... I'm finally free ... These roses are spread ... these days are counted by the wizard of my dreams ... always reaching for something bigger in the land of understanding ... where my baby is sitting on her knees ... splitting ... like warguns they come over to spread the tales of destiny ... The woman talks, the woman curses ... trying to make me insecure I'm losing it ... but tomorrow I'm standing on her shore There's bread and milk around her 3. She freezes when she sees me Please forget about me ... I'm not your tailor ... I want to scream I want to run away but this glue is killing me Finally Cocoon's end ... She's spreading the butter no one understood ... and I walk with these strange feelings And she said : You have overcome me ... Like daily bread she is ... her town and tower undercover She has a mate in me 4. I was depressed but he saved me, he gave me, new wine to drink, bottles to order ... I was depressed but his mind was thinking of what he would do to me He understands the threat of this woman ... He's spreading his tales over her knee No one understands me but he gave me his light to fight against the destiny of a green dreamlight He took me in his cabine He took me to his wardrobe ... where he pushed me deep inside He had to hide me, for the pirates would come 5. Or would they even burn the ship So he gave me his green dreammoonlight and he ordered a green green milk for me he gave me satisfactions and desires to breed But one day he jumped away his ship he left and I had to be the captain of his dreams but still he gave me tears of sweet green destiny ... He's speaking to me ... like a daily clown but I can't discover it I'm into loudness and destruction I can't hear him anymore 6. I only cry and cry ... for he was who I adored And I thought where is the magic where is the light ... it's taken away by the fight And I thought I need some rosetrousers ... I need to escape just like he did to make someone else a captain hoping he would also escape like we did There are species in Izu named Jesusian Insects ... Many times they are waspian species ... There are also Marian species ... Many times these species are waspian ... It seems the waspians have a lot to do with theologies ... 7. There are Bastetian wasp-species ... all living in Izu ... and also Anubisian wasp-species ... Theology has all to do with wasps They have a christ ... these are insectian species ... They see it as a mistake to focus on one christ ... So they have many christs ... They have broken the christ-canon and the one-person-canon ... So they have many Jesus-figures they worship ... and also many Maria-figures ... Jesus is not the highest authority ... but the cross ... 8. These are the redcape waspians or cross-waspian species ... There are many Redcapes in Waspian Theology They symbolize the cross ...

Then there are getsemaneh-waspian, calvary-waspian, thorn-crown-waspian and so on ... also red robe-waspian ... They see Egypt as an important gate in their theology ... Another important symbol of the cross is according to the waspian Mary of Magdalene ... She sinned to God but then became His Comforter ... There are several Mary of Magdalene insects ... especially wasps ... Further there are Barabasian insects ... also symbolizing the cross ... Barabas was a Jew against the Roman Empire ... and they labelled him as a criminal ... but later they freed him instead of Jesus ... 9. Another important species is them of Joseph of Arimathea, buying the body of Christ to lay him in a grave ... The Barabasian cross was a horrible cross for it was tantalizing Jesus ... Barabas was the chosen one to be free ... but Jesus had to die ... This was a big cross for him ... But what hurted Jesus most of all where the guards of the cross who did such horrible things to him while he was dying ... They played games to divide his clothes ... The cross-guard waspian are the ones who know about how to use the cross ... The Hidden Tree from paradise is a waspian-pythonian tree of secret sexuality ... He is the one coming after Christ as a new Christ ... This was already prophesied in Revelation ... This Tree was a secret cross and a secret Christ ... having his roots in former paradises ... God kept it a secret for his pure ones ...

1. Ascet Warrior ; Plan of the Gods ; They had blue faces, them of the Guerra. They were often huge, and without mercy. They went to the surfaces of the earth, to colonize the lands. They were in need for slaves to build their temples. They wanted earth, they wanted this part of hell. They lived underground, and had built their metros, these underground trains. They used strange sorts of drugs, from flowers living underground. These flowers were really mean, for they were meat-eating flowers. They had killed a lot of blue ones. Unfortunately their queen died, and now they didn't have a leader, but one older man was slowly taking over the royal house of his beloved queen. He had much experience in warfare. Yes, the earth had to come into their hands. It was of the Guerra, for their temples and their rituals. Humans were only bred by them to become their slaves. Savios was the name of the man, and he told everyone of the blue race that he would be their general very soon. Everyone who was against Savios had to be killed. One day another warrior came to Savios with some news : 'Sir, we have colonized the arabs, the egyptians and the jewish ones, and soon we will head for Africa. 2. What must we do with their existing temples.' And then Savios raised his hand and said : 'You must destroy all temples, except the egyptian ones. Make sure you destroy their houses. Only temples have the right to exist as long as they are egyptian.' And the warrior left with these words in his mind, and started to do the job with his men. He used the earthlings as slaves to build new egyptian temples in all parts of arabia and the jewish sector. And the ones who refused to work had to be killed. The blue race was merciless. There was no any hope for humanity if the other parts of the world would be taken over so easily. The blue race had to be worshipped. And soon some humans painted their face blue to join them. Savios also told that those who would join the blue ones had to be handled with care. Javios was one of them. He had been a general in army, but he became interested in the views of the blue race. It was not that he acted because of fear, for he wasn't afraid of dying, but he became obsessed with their strategic skills, and their views on life. Savios gave much power to Javios to have monopoly in many colonies. One of these colonies was called Untiaga. Untiaga became one of the biggest slave-colony on earth, and the slaves had to build a lot of temples. Many slaves died because of the hard work, and soon enough earth's population number started to decrease. 3. It was forbidden for humans to have sexual intercourse, for the blue ones were afraid of new babies. When a blue one had sex with a human, it was okay. And when a baby was born from them, it had to be sent to the headquarters of Savios, far underground. Savios believed in sacrifices, but he wouldn't easily touch a blue one's baby. They were important to be alive, in his eyes. But if it was a human baby, then it had to go through several tests. If the baby failed it had to be bred for sacrifice. The rituals were very bloody, and had to be practiced in deep underground temples. Savios was a very cruel man, and sometimes someone of his own race started to stop him, but would be killed immediately. Savios was obsessed by the aztecs and incas who brought human sacrifices. He always told his race that he was their new leader now, and he would follow the footsteps of the queen, who was also very cruel. He told his race over and over again, that he was a god, as a mediator between them and the gods, and they needed to sacrifice. If they wouldn't, then the wrath of the gods would fall over them. But there were strict rules in sacrifice. The priests of Savios had to be highly educated. They weren't allowed to make mistakes. If a priest irritated Savios too much, then Savios would challenge the priest in a fight on life and death, in a special circle in one of the deep temples. 4. If the priest would win, then he had to be the new general. But many priests would rather kill themselves than fighting against Savios. Savios used to be a gladiator. He never lost a battle. He was a slave of another empire, but the queen's court had set him free. That was why he was so devoted to his queen. He even worshipped her as a goddess. As time went by he more and more demanded his race to worship him. They made statues of him, and even built temples for him, where he was the supreme god. And more and more he got the intention to root everyone out who wouldn't worship him. And also on the surface of the earth they had to honour him, or they would lose their lives. Many earthlings who didn't want to give up their own religions had to be sacrificed or just killed. But some of them for some reason he kept alive. They had to worship him, or one of the egyptian gods. But it seemed that he also agreed in compromises, as long as it didn't irritate him. He saw irritation as the plan of the gods. Savios would never lose his goal. He was like a robot, highly programmed. But he had an enemy, Rudos, the emperor who once kidnapped him, to become a gladiator in their underground tombes. Rudos was the emperor of the green faces, and they also lived deep underground. They wanted to have Savios back, and colonize the whole blue race for their goals. The green faces were even more cruel than the race of Savios. They worked together with the skeletons. 5. Now Savios had something against skeletons. He was abused by them in his youth, and since then he couldn't stand them. Actually they were the ones who kidnapped him, and they worshipped strange purple bones. Savios often let the dead be mummified, or when they were burnt they had to be in urns, but Rudos loved the skeletons. One day when Savios went to earth's surface he met some skeletons of Rudos'army. A fight began, and the knee of Savios started to bleed. They had hit him by the purple bones, which they used as their swords. But somehow they started to become very afraid of Savios and ran away. Savios didn't know what had happened, but he started to ran after them, to follow them. He couldn't control his rage anymore. He followed them all along to the underground castles of the green faces. And there he saw Rudos standing, but he was shaking like a sick man. He knew there was something wrong. He didn't know what. Suddenly Rudos jumped towards him and started to fight against him. The skeletons were all gone. Savios knew this was a very dangerous place for him, but he couldn't hold his anger in anymore. Savios started to run around the castles, and yelled : 'all you green faces, you dumbheads, I hate you for what you did to me when I was young.' He didn't see Rudos anymore, and he knew it was very dangerous what he was doing, but he felt he didn't have another choice. He wondered why no one attacked him but Rudos. 6. Suddenly he jumped into one of the castles through an open window, and came into a long hall. There were a lot of skeletons and green faces walking there, but no one attacked him. At the end of the hall, he kicked into a door, and walked into a room. There a couple of green faces were making love. He took his sword and killed them. 'I will destroy this green world,' he shouted. Then he ran outside the room while all green faces and skeletons in the hall were staring at him. Why didn't they attack him ? But it was like he felt a snake or reptile lied around his neck, sucking the blood out of his chest, like a vampire was around him. Was that the reason why everyone was so quiet ? Maybe he should fight the vampire surrounding him. He had hard time breathing, and he started to cut the vampire with his sword. Thick blue airblood was streaming out of the creature. But then all of a sudden the green faces and the skeletons started attacking him. Was it because they were also afraid of this vampire, until they saw the vampire was bleeding to death ? But then another vampire started attacking him, and the green faces and the skeletons were running away. This was a bigger one, and now Savios knew that it was actually the vampires scaring them of, and not himself. Again the vampire started to hang around his neck and started to suck blood out of his chest. 7. What was he supposed to do now ? He knew that if he would kill this thing again, then the green faces and skeletons would attack him again. Maybe the vampire was the reason why he felt so powerfull, so maybe it was a good armor after all, although he had to pay a price with his blood. This bigger vampire made him even more angry and a lust to kill came into him. It was like the green faces and skeletons were very easy to beat now. So he killed thousands and thousands of them in short time after his own, but unfortunately he couldn't find Rudos anywhere. He knew that if he would kill the big reptile surrounding his neck, then the skeletons and green faces would probably kill him, but he also knew that when this vampire would be around him for too long, he could also die of bloodloss. He started to run away from the empire, and went home. When he came into his own castlechamber he started to take away the reptile from his chest. He didn't want to kill it, for he might have needed it again. Suddenly the reptile started to speak, and said : 'Drink blood. I will not go away from you, unless you kill me.' Savios knew that if he wouldn't drink blood, then he would die of bloodloss. He could go back to the green empire, but he could also go to the surface of earth to take human blood. Now Savios also started to understand why the gods needed so much blood. 8. They probably also lived with these sorts of vampires around their necks. Savios chose to go to the surface of the earth. He took one of the metros and used it to crash into an underground church. Here was enough blood for him. Savios hated humans with their stupid religions. There were screams, and soon the whole church was full of dead bodies, while Savios started to suck. He took a lot of bottles with him, so that he could store blood for the coming weeks. But the reptile around his neck started to grow and grow, and was finally like a snake coiling around his whole body and often tightening it a lot. It started to ache very badly, and Savios started to feel a huge anger to the creature, but he also knew the consequences of killing it. It was his pleasure and his pain at the same time. Savios started to become very insecure of not knowing what to do. He felt like becoming more and more divine, but at the same time it made him very tired, and soon enough he couldn't do his job anymore. He more and more felt the need to move deeper underground where the unknown races lived. Without this special armor it would be too dangerous to make the trip. Savios knew it would be a long and lonely path waiting for him. Many of the blue race were glad he would go. Although they weren't mercifull, no one of them was as cruel as Savios was, and he used severe discipline to his servants. Savios had made a suit full of bloodtubes, so that he could still store a lot of blood. And then he started his journey. 9. Someone else, one of his faithfull priests, would take over the leadership. Like a robot he was taking his path to deeper divinity. The reptile would lead him in that. It was like a total new behaviour was growing in him, under the pressure of this snake-like vampire. He knew that deeper underground the beings he would meet would be often separated. They didn't live in groups too much, but rather isolated. This was the law of the areas deeper underground. It was like he remembered these places from childhood, like he had been here before. Maybe the green ones and the skeletons had brought him here sometimes when he was a gladiator, but he couldn't remember much of those years. He still couldn't get used to the taste of blood, but he knew it was necessary to survive. After awhile he found an empty castle where he could stay at least for awhile.

1.Kiss of Death ; He was walking the road to the piramid of softness, where the desert was like a mirror ... He saw the piramid in the distance, where every step would become softer and softer, to climb every layer to the top ... Oh how he longed for that experience ... 2.His footsoles were burning in the sand .. It was like the atmosphere was already getting softer, while he was coming closer to the piramid .. He was transpiring all over ... It was hot and it was like the heat was penetrating him more and more ... It was a powerful sort of heat ... 3.One he never experienced before ...It was like this heat was washing him from inside out ... and he felt so good about himself ... On the top of the piramid he saw an eagle's face ... It was painted on it ... but also birds of prey were flying around there ... He felt a bit uneasy suddenly ... but they told him he had to defeat these birds if he wanted to enter the top of the piramid ... 4.They said there would be an elevator to heaven .. It was a piramid of magic where all sorcerors had to go to on a certain point of their lives and study ... It would increase their gifts ... It was a white piramid on Sirius ... There would be a trinity of white tigers on the top ... Rico was moving slower and slower ... He knew about this battle against eagles ... 5.He knew that not many wizards were able to reach the top because of these ones ... They were black killer-eagles ... He had read a lot of books about them .. and now it was his task to defeat these eagles and open the top of the white piramid ... Wizards warned him not to go ... but he had to .. as it was written in the prophesies ... He was very sure that these prophesies were about him ... and he trusted his elder wizard-brothers more than all the others. 6.They were on his side, and encouraged him to go on this journey ... It was like dark flames had caught his heart ... and it was beating so fast now ... He saw these immense eagles flying, and he heard their noises ... It was horrible to hear ... It was like strange hormones were all of a sudden running through his body ... like his glands were in a strange mode It was a terrible fear ... But he knew he had to go there ... Rico was thinking about his wife and children ... Would he ever see them again ? He trusted his elder brothers who told him he would make it, as it was written in the prophesies ... When it would be on the worst, they would come to him to help him out ... He knew how easily his brothers could come ... 7.They were high wizards of a powerful group ... His father didn't live anymore, but his mother was sick .. very sick ... and his brothers told him that only he could rescue her, and make that journey to the top of the piramid of softness ... It was only the beginning of a long journey ... And at the end he would find the golden medicine to heal his mother ... He knew he didn't have too much time ... for she was on the edge of dying ... But he also knew that every step he made would give strength to his mother ... They were deeply connected ... When he would defeat the black eagles and enter the top ... he would be a portal for other wizards to enter ... It was said that a few wizards once could go this path and reach the top ... but they went on forgetting about the others ... and then the eagles came ... Some even said that these wizards were these eagles .. to protect their new land ... Others said that they were these eagles indeed, but they were enchanted by dark powers after they went through the top ... 8.No one exactly knew what the truth was ...and he wanted to find out ... Wizards warned him about unknown dangers ... but he had to make this journeyHe knew that he had to activate the piramid as a portal for others .. by letting a red string reaching from the top to the ground ... so that the other wizards would have the chance to follow ... It was said that when he would not do this, there would be darker enemies coming to guard the portal .. and he would even be in the risk of being bewitched then by the unknown forces ... then he would be a monster blocking his brothers from entering ... That was a horrible thought in his mind His brothers told him that he had to defeat all possible dangers for there could be even forces which would baptize his mind into forgetfulness, so that he would forget about the red string ... It was said that at the top, this red string would live as a snake ... and first he had to kill it ... No one exactly knew what sort of powers this snake had ... The wind was howling ... Rico gathered all his courage and went on ... Finally he reached the foot of the piramid ... and he started to climb ... 9. There were many openings on the layers, but they warned him not to go inside too much, for there could be traps ... It was better to climb ... But it was so hot that Rico needed to have some protection against the sun ... It was a piramid of softness ... Every layer would make him softer and softer ... Until he would drink from the softest milk ... He desired to see the white tigers ... They would help him further .. and would be his friends forever ... but first he had to defeat the eagles and the snake ... and maybe more ... His feet were burning on the stones ... and Rico stepped into an opening ... It was a very small opening ... but here it was cooler ... and he could rest a bit ... Suddenly it was like someone was calling him ... like a girl needing help .. but his brothers told him that there were many traps like that The eagles wanted him deep into the piramid instead of on the outside ... so he made the decision not to listen ... But soon the screaming turned into a loud weeping ... and Rico thought maybe there was really someone needing his help ... He walked inside the piramid deeper and deeper ... It was like he was standing on a balcony and he could have a sight downstairs ... what an enormous gallery it was ... but there was so many dust and it was so dark ... He started to walk to the right ... and he saw gold glittering in the distance ... and the weeping also came from that direction ... It was like a golden door to the next gallery ... when a went through there were all blinding lights and a girl was staring at him ... Suddenly she turned into an eagle and made a dive on him ... a horrible fight started ... He took his knife and started to cut in the air like a wild man, but the eagle was too quick ... The eagle suddenly took him by his neck and started to fly away with him ... Rico cried and felt like all strength had left him why was he so stupid ... he thought to himself ... The eagle brought him to a very dark place on top of the second gallery 10. He knew this was only the top somewhere on the first layer of the piramid ... He didn't have his knife anymore, for the eagle could whip it out of his hands with his beak The eagle was too fast for him ... Rico was shivering ... the bird was so big Suddenly the bird said : Don't hurt us ... we are enchanted wizards When we went through the top we had forgotten everything ... It was the red snake doing this ... and then he turned us into black eagles ... Rico was surprised ... How can I help you ? Just go back home, we cannot be helped and the red snake is too strong for you ... We saw many wizards killed by it ... and he turns them all into traps ... They become the guards of this piramid ... But Rico said : No, I have to kill it, and then you can be helped too ... I need to do it for many reasons ... and he told about his mother and his brothers ... The eagle said that the other eagles were too far gone in their minds to be this friendly to him ... They would attack him ... Rico said he would try not to hurt them ... Then the eagle flew away and Rico could walk to the next layer ... This eagle had helped him a bit ... On the next layer it was very cold ... and that was just what he needed ... but soon he found out that the cold was cutting him ... it was a sharp wind ... It was another, higher blacony he was stonding on, and he started to walk to the side ... He could feel the heat coming from the opening ... It mixed itself with the cold ... and it was like he felt himself softer than ever before ... It was like he felt the skin of a sort of animal ... the softest skin he ever felt ... So many new hormones were flowing through his body ... making him desire to reach the top more and more ... It even gave him a strong desire to fight the snake 11. He could feel his fears flowing away by the deep deep softness ... He was almost naked, but he felt like he was so covered by this skin ... It was the spirit of a white bear ... It was entering inside ... and standing next to him in his own body ... Oh how good was it to feel this friend inside and outside ... It was like he had two minds now ... In the distance he heard : I will help you ... It was a slow and dark voice ... but it made him softer and softer ... It was like he had a new shield against the heat ... He could better live with it ... It wasn't really an unpleasant feeling anymore ... He started climbing again after he had entered outside through the opening ... But suddenly another eagle came ... It attacked him ... and another fight started ... Rico was yelling : I am your friend ... but the bird was in rage ... Rico was already bleeding all over ... and the bird was intended to hit his heart ... His hands were bleeding while protecting his heart ... Suddenly one of his brothers appeared ... and pushed a shield around his heart ... It hurted very deep for the shield was piercing the skin around his heart ... It was a heartshield ... It magically covered his whole heart back and forth Then his brother disappeared ... He flew away in the form of a swan and then he just disappeared in the nothing ... In a few minutes his whole body was healed ... but there were shining golden scars appearing ... He heard a voice saying : These scars give you power over all eagles ... The eagle was already gone ... and Rico started to climb further He could breath so deep now Like he could breath for all the bodies living in him ... the bear and all the wizard-spirits he had from his youth on ... The next layer was like coming into a queen's court ... He had to go through an opening again, for it was storming outside ... the winds were very strong ... It was like snakes were covering his body ... and what a mysterious queen ... It was like she was from the sea ... She had such strange decoration on her face ... They looked at him ... The room was not small, but neither it was large ... Eyes were watching him He was a few steps away from the throne ... Suddenly a girl jumped on him and gave him a kiss ... The kiss was very warm on his cheek, and very soft ... but suddenly he felt very weak and tired and he fell asleep ... It was called the kiss of death, and that was also the name of the girl ... She looked a bit like a panther ... like a jaguar ... Rico was far gone ... and later he woke up in a strange purple bedroom ... while the girl was sitting next to him She was almost sitting on her legs She smiled at him ... but he still felt very weak ... She told him about the kiss of death ... and Rico said : Am I going to die now ? No, the girl said ... It's rather a kiss of sleep, but it's just called kiss of death ... Rico asked her why she was doing that ... Then the girl started to cry and couldn't talk anymore ... 12. She ran away ... Rico felt very sad for her ... It was like there was something going on ... He still felt like there were snakes around his body ... sliding ... Then the queen came in ... with two slender men ... 'Throw him before the snakes !' she said loud ... The two men took Rico tight by his arms and took him to another room ... It was a room with trees and balconies white pillars and a lot of girls ... He didn't see any snakes, but all of a sudden some girls started to turn into snakes, while the other girls were screaming loud ... It was like his ears were exploding and he felt heat coming over his body ... The snakes were surrounding him while the other girls also started to turn into snakes ... one by one ... Rico was almost vomitting ... he couldn't escape, for the two men guarded the door with their swords ... But then the black eagle, his friend flew from above ... while the eagle was making loud noises ... with a tone so high that he couldn't hear anything else anymore ... and suddenly he found himself under the wings of the enormous eagle who picked him up to fly over the balconies ... There was a small gate through which he could escape ... He was outside again, and he was already very high ... He felt so soft inside ... This was really a friend and he would do anything to make him normal again ... Rico started to climb further ... The softness was almost singing under his skin ... He felt so much heat ... It was almost like he was exploding ... Dark clouds were surrounding him, and it started to rain ... It was really a refreshment for him ... but as soon as the thunder started to roar ... He took another opening inside ... This time all sorts of panthers were having their eyes on him ... So he could choose between them or the thunder ... Don't be afraid ! someone called ... An old man stepped forwards from behind the panthers ... He had a beard and was dressed in white and blue ... dark blue He was talking in a strange language all of a sudden and the panthers disappeared ... I already expected you ... he said to Rico ... He knew of the prophesies ... He was also a wizard ... but he told Rico that when he came on this floor he found a way to tame the panthers and since then he didn't want to go further ... he loved the panthers too much ... This was like home for him ... Rico smiled ... It was also his own desire to tame animals as his friends ... It was such a special love ... The man had glitters in his eyes He said that the panthers really healed him ... He had many problems in himself and in relationships ... the panthers could overcome ... 'They were my wizards ... he said almost laughing ... He had a big smile all of a sudden and it was like his eyes looked like the sun and the moon ... I am so proud of them ... I can never leave them Rico smiled again .. and totally understood ... Well, he said ... but I must go further ... I have to go through the portal on the top for my mother is very sick and I need to find good medicine for her ... The man smiled ... yes, I understand ... He knew it from the prophesies ... and he was also here for Rico ... to give him one of his panthers ... who would travel together with Rico ... Rico was so glad with that gift and late in the evening he went further ... together with the panther ... The man had given him also a book with the prophesies ... These prophesies were more extended than the prophesies he knew ... The man said he got this book from his father ... It is in his head now so he could give it to Rico ... Finally, after many days of travel Rico reached the top-layers ... The snake already expected him ... but either did Rico ... and he knew a lot more now because of the man's book ... It was a tall red snake ... very big ... but Rico didn't have any fear he knew what to do now He spoke to the snake like he had already defeated him, for he knew that when he would speak out the magical spell of the man's book, the snake would die ...NASSA RA DAM MAK DUROK TIFOLI. These were the secret names of the top-layers and the snake died immediately ... Oh how many eagles there were here, but he knew that by his golden scars he could rule and ease them all ... They only watched him ... but didn't do anything ... 13. He took the snake and tied it's head to a pillar ... and then he threw the rest of the body downstairs ... all along the layers he traveled ... when the body was reaching the ground he heard an enormous sound, like there were things exploded ... All eagles turned into wizards againand they were smiling so deep ... the ceiling was opening and he could travel further ... but he first wanted to talk to the wizards a bit ... The portal of the top was open now ... The wizards were freed, and many wizards could follow now ... Suddenly they saw an enormous shark appearing in the sky ... Rico knew he had to run now with his panther ... This could be an unknown threat the prophesies were telling about ... There were at least seventy wizards running together with him ... They had to ran to the heavenly elevator on top ... The balconies were aslant, as a sort of stairway through all these layers ... Everything started to burn and melt, and many wizards started to slide back already ... Rico felt like he was boiling inside ... He knew that this would happen when the shark would appear ... It was a sign of the gods terror ... Then everything would burn and melt until the chosen ones would reach the elevator ... He saw it in the distance ... It was like a balloon with a basket under it, attached to an iron string which would lead it upstairs to the heavens ... He saw smoke and clouds there, so bright ... everything was almost transparent here ... The piramid was almost exploding ... Everything was shaking It was like Rico exploded inside ... Everything was melting, and strange sounds were roaring ... Three wizards and the panther were running near behind him, the rest was already gone in the fire ... They made a dive and reached the basket of the balloon ... The panther was climbing over Rico's back into the basket and then Rico got in ... He could help two wizrads aboard, but the third one fell into the sea of lava below them .. It was like doomsday ... but Rico knew that within a few days the piramid would be like white silver and then all prepared wizards could go through the portal ... to enter a new world ... The book was in a bag on his back ... It was such an important book for him for it described a lot of things which were happening and going to happen ... It was a thick book ... almost three times thicker as the prophesies he knew ... Rico was a bit in a shock ... together with the two wizards ... but he knew it had to be this way ... The wizards would all be transformed through the fire ... They would be the pillars of the new piramid ... One of the wizards who survived was called Suriot ... It was a very wise and old wizard ... but at the same time young and witty ... He knew a lot about the stars and the journey they had to make now ... The other man was very silent ... It was an old soldier ... a veteran ... very skilled in sorcery They were on their way to Venus, where they would reach the Piramid of Sweetness ... Rico's skin was burning ... It was a long journey through rainbows, clouds and skies ... The panther was already close to his heart ... He knew that there would be a time that he would really need this friend ... He could see the piramid in the distance ... still in a sea of fire ... but three golden tigers were appearing on top ... slowly turning into silver white ... It was like the softest milk was flowing through his head ... They made him travel ... They were the spirits opening the doors for him ... It gave him new visions ... It was like they taught him how to dance on strings ... Rico was making steps forward ... He fell in a new desert ... the balloon was gone now ... and even the two wizards ... only his panther was with him ... he was now on Venus ... walking in the desert ... reaching for the piramid of sweetness ... 14. He knew that on top of this piramid he would find the golden medicine for his mother ... The sweetness is creative power ... and every step would make him sweeter and sweeter ... he found already so much softness in him ... and now it was like it was turning into the sweetest honey ... he was floatingThe air was so thick and soft here ... like he could walk on clouds ... Oh how easy that would be ... to just walk to the top and to take the medicine But would his mother still be alive ? ... No, mother was already with father ... and Rico was lying next to them ... He was buried in a dream by the kiss of death ... He was only dreaming ... No, he couldn't reach daylight anymore .. all lights are fake here ... for he is in the hands of a kiss of death ... a spider ... in an egyptian dream ... in a sarcophagus, together with his father and mother in one body of death ... waiting for the final judgement of egyptian and indian gods ... They sent the spider to him It was long ago that he got this kiss of death ... It was not the first time in his dream ... His wife was the kiss of death ... and now he lies here Here, between his mom and his dad ... Kiss of death where are you going Is there any escape ? A man wakes up .. having three golden lions in his hands ... Yesterday they were tigers ... tomorrow they will be sharks ...

The Key of Izu

The Halls of Khelb

1. Halls of Khelb. The elves of Ra holding the staff of Ptah, to measure the heart. If it's not thin enough the heart will be eaten by Ammut-Ra, for then it has sinned against the gods of Izu and Ra-Annas. If it's thin enough it will be struck seven times by the thin strikes to prepare it to enter the halls of Khelb. Here the birds of the brown nipple live to bind the hearts by charity, to raise them into the warmachines again.
2. On these battlefields of the dead the hearts will become thinner and thinner to escape from war into war, until they receive the golden nipple of fire [On the Emelis Shatau]. Hail Ova, son of the birch and the holly, for his icecreams set them free. They can move again, and talk again. They are now sons of Ova, sons of the Sacred Oak.
3. By Banana mixed with Vanilla, the lion's face rises, the Golden Nipple [On the Emelis Shatau]. They are now eating from the brown food of the oak, in hairy fields they live. [in hairy skies]. The staff of Ptah had struck them and led them, to small forests in the deserts. 32. While the black panthers care for them. Their hearts have been struck, and now their livers and lungsouls will be struck, and even their other organs, so that they might escape through the splits in caves. Their hearts have become light as the feather of Maat, and they have eaten well from her treasures.
4. They have defeated the watchers of the thinness and the evil lambs, to become blue fire, the face of ammon. They have pierced the halls of Materos and Avani. The seven halls of Khelb are seven boats to sail over the rivers of death, hell and lies. These rivers are seen as sacred riddles, as wilder animals they need to face. The halls of Khelb are the Insectian Halls of the Dead themselves.
5. Hall I – Lapoendria (Land of the Wasps). Hall II – Perlottia (Land of the Winged Insects). Hall III – Brannan (Land of the flies). Hall IV – Lapsalvania (Land of the spiders). Hall V – Lalmageln (Land of the Stinging Insects). Hall VI – Bilmageln (Land of the Shining or Poisonous Insects). Hall VII – Ant Ship.
6. Can I get access to the Halls of Khelb ? You must be Ra-Izu. You must have visited the seven coffins of the faeries, and you must have read the pyramid texts of the dwarves.
7. I have done that, can I have access to the Halls of Khelb now ? You must be initiated in at least seven piramids of different Izu-Indian tribes, and you must have defeated the evil chicken of Radth.
8. I have done that, can I have access now ? Go in, and take from the forbidden fruits of the Halls of Khelb. Here Maat-Izu will weigh your heart and liver to her sacred feather. If one of them is too heavy, it will be eaten by Ammut-Izu. Then you must go through the seven nights of fear, where your lungs will be weighed to the sacred feather of Maat-Izu and Sekhmet-Izu. If it will be too heavy it will be eaten by Ammut-Lapoendria.
9. Then your souls will be put to the sacred staff of Ptah-Izu, and when one of these souls will be too short, it will be eaten by Thoth-Lapoendria.

10. Then the souls tall enough have come to the coasts of Lapoendria, to come into the Ra-Lapoendria ship. On the seas of fear they will be judged, to see if their hearts and livers are guilty or not.
11. They will be punished on the seas of Lapoendria and taken away by dangerous animals, by birds and fishes, to see if they are worthy or not, and to purify and test their souls. They will get seven thorns in their flesh, which will depress them, repress them and isolate them for a period of time. Here they must fight against the evil lambs.
12. In Perlottia, where the winged insects live, they get their wings to take flight from coffins. They will receive the flying heart of Maat. They will receive many of her heartsouls, and they will be put against the many rods of Thoth, to see if their hearts are sweet enough.
13. If not, they will be eaten by Ammut-Thoth. Then they will be put against the rods of Sekmeth, to see if their hearts and livers are soft enough. From these rods the snakes come forth ... and when they aren't soft and flexible enough, and when they cannot have ripples and balance, they will be eaten by these snakes of Sekmeth. Then their souls will be in Eminus-Fire. When they are soft like Sekmeth, they will have her lights in their Ka's ...
14. Then they will be prepared for the fires of Brannan. Here they will experience all different sorts of pains, fevers and dizziness. Here their hearts will be laid to the heart of Ra-Brannan, and when their hearts aren't hot enough they will be spat out. It is a burning heart, full of Eminus Fire and the fires of Brannan.
15. Pyramids on Izu. If you have the winged Eminus heart with the seven twinsouls in it, then you have access to the pyramids of bristal brival : The Red Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu, The Green Golden Pyramid of Za-Sinysen-Vu II, The Blue Golden Pyramid of Za-Amon-Ra, Pyramid of the Golden Pear, where the tombs are of Pharaoh Za-Sinysen-Vu-Osiris, and of Za-Sinysen-Vu-Ra.
16. Spells for opening the pyramids of Brannan : Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, open the pyramids of Brannan. Show me the names, and let black doves cover them by their wings. Let your holy and sacred hands take me in, and initiate me. Amen-Ra-Amen. King of Brannan, give me the keys to your home.
17. I bow to your holy sands. Give me Jericho and Sodom, and let me destroy the evil snakes by the red stripes. Pharaoh's of Brannan rise up to give me the rods to destroy the evil donkeys holding away the sweetness. Let me destroy the unholy goats who guard the gates of tallness.
18. Give me the hoofs of goats to let me rise. Let me rise from the seven kettles of the goats. Let me be ashes from the ashes, smoke from the smoke, as your holy servant, lead me to eternal paths. Oh, Osiris, mighty Ra, give us our Khu's, our eternal souls. Let the Khu-birds guide us, into the eternal pastures of Brannan.
19. Here is where our home is, here is where our hearts are. Oh, Pyramids of Brannan, show us the holy feathers of Maat, and let them rise in our hearts. Let truth guide us, Amen-Maat-Amen, let Toth seal our foreheads by your mighty lights. Bring us to Draminia, the roots of life. Show us the depths of Amenti in Brannan and Draminia. Let Jericho and Sodom rise.
20. We ask you to lay your rods on our foreheads, and to bring your feathers inside of us. Lead us to eternal paths, oh Holy and Sacred One, and give us your winged Khu-hearts. Bless Brannan and Draminia, bless Marazanta, Lord of the Insects, and bless the White Golden Hand, the Lord of the Flies. Bless our king and emperor of Brannan, and give us access to the rivers that lead into your pyramids and tombs.

21. Let us dwell in your chambers forever, to read their texts, and to receive our golden Khu-twins. Oh, eternal soul, rise and lead us to Shesmu, the heart and sword of Osiris. Bring us to Horus, his holy striped tongue. Amen-Toth-Amen. Give us the heart of Ra. Lead us through the sunsets of Brannan, through it's halls.
22. Amenti-Ra-Amen. Tem, feeder of all Ka's, feed us, and bring our Ka's into the rays of Amenti-Light. Tem, tamer of our Khu's, let them come forward as twineagles and twinsnakes.
23. Let them possess and transform our ba's. Brannan, bring the feathers of Maat in our lungs and eyes, so that the red stripes can come over her enemies.
24. Let her make jericho rise. Let her rebuild it's walls. Bless her walls, bless her. Amen-Ra-Amen.
25. Bless the lights of Brannan, and bring our hearts to the candlesticks of Toth, to show if there is any darkness in our hearts. If our hearts aren't light and bright enough, then let Ammit eat it. Bring the candlesticks of Toth in our ba's, ka's, akh's and khu's, to let them enter the sacred sahu. Give me the sahu of Ra, of Osiris and Shesmu, of Sekmeth, Amon and Aton, of Isis, Tem and Nun.
26. I come to the White Golden Pyramid of the Winged Snake of Brannan, to bless all four openings. I enter through West, and follow the paths of the sunsets. Let the seven sacred sunsets guard my mouth, and guide my lungs.
27. Brannan is the Jaw, the ashes from the ashes, where the power to speak dwells and the power of silence. Here silver striped roads (tigers) lead the deceased one to the land of the Leprechaun.
28. Leprechaun Halls of the Dead (Kerses Minds). I – The Coffins of Uncle Peacock, II – The Coffins of Uncle Unicorn, III – The Coffins of Uncle One to Ten, IV – The Silver Coffins of Faery, V – The Golden Coffins of Faery, VI – The Purple Coffins of Faery, VII – The White Coffins of Faery, VIII – The Black Coffins of Faery
29. These coffins are described in the Faery Coffin Texts and the Faery Book of the Dead. Those ones who have pierced the Halls of Khelb and entered Lakus and Kabbernal, oh holy ones, who became hairy with bald oasis, who became the hairy of the hairy with the baldest oasis below, who bows before monkeys and monkeyraiders, he will get the white golden flour and be the king of it.
30. He whose heart has been measured by Maat-Kabbernal in the Halls of Maati to the feather of fire. If your heart and nipple would be too cold it would be eaten by Ammut-Acha.
31. Your heart must be hot enough to enter Acha. Also your eyes and lungs will be tested. You will give birth to the creatures of Acha by your mouth, for it's the land of the mother.
32. You will use your mouth to give birth. It will rise from your stomach and your breasts and then you will vomit. Amen-Acha-Amen. Then you will give anal births. Amen-Acha-Amen, for it is the land of the mother, and she will hunt for love.
33. Then it will rise from her legs and her feet, and she will give birth by her navel and by her shoulders, while her breasts bring forth the white golden chocolate. Amen-Acha-Amen. And these bison have travelled from sun to sun, from heat to heat, through deserts of the nights, to watch the dark flames. This is the land of the bison. Amen-Acha-Amen.
34. They have defeated the evil goats, and made armors of their bones. They are searching for the brown gold. They have made houses in their hearts, like bees in their nests, assimilating the lights of the sun.

- 35.They have defeated the killerpigs of the light, and have travelled to the darkest suns, rising into Eminiun Fire. They have rode the evil chicken without falling into temptation. They are free of sin. Amen-Acha-Amen. [And these men, they give birth by hyperventilation and Epilepsy.]
- 36.Oh those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. For you are here the cakes of liberty, oh pilgrims. Pilgrims of a lost sun, smile again with the smiles of Osiris. Oh, those who have reached the boat of Ova, to reach for Izu-Egypt, welcome. Oh, those who have died the fourth death, come to the underworld of Izu.
- 37.Here the land is soothing, here the lies are riddles of truth, here the hairs are burning like lucifers, and here the hairy are in fight against the bald ... It's in the songs of monkeymen ... the hairy against the bald, making new religions in carbon smiles.
- 38.Holy to those of the oaks, holy to those of the hollies and the white trees. Holy to the one entering the boat of Ova, to sail the green rivers to the Emerald Sun.
- 39.They will bow down and freeze their heads, after the strikes of chocolate. They will walk the cold roads to Bennes, the land of trees. They will rise into the comics, to freeze their hearts into the books of perlottia.
- 40.Perlottia again, to eat from the purple strawberry and the purple chocolate, in arms of emerald, the eyes will be opened. Perlottia again, under a mother's breast, it's easy to agree.
- 41.There are teeth in these lips, teeth in these lips, while the glues fall and hide. They take you away to seven graves, these seven coffins and seven halls of Bennes in death.
- 42.You will worship death and see it's glory. You will follow death, to come alive again. Deep in the coffin you will find your shell.
- 43.Give the land the strike, be a judge of judges, when you passed through all these judgements of the gods. You are still a survivor. You will write down the holy texts of your ancestors and learn them by head, to tell them to your children. You will know their symbols and their smiles, the smiles of death.
- 44.You will speak to them and they will speak back. They will lead you to the secrets of ages, and you will say you have survived. Under the strikes of death you grow younger, to stand as a tree, in bennes rivers.

1. Poetry from the Latin Buffoon Puppet II. If protection is a big attack, where do we hide. If love is the Big Lie, where can we have our tent ... if your embrace is to die ... 2. If I am not the same as you are, how many fights will we have, or will we die by good business holding our last grip. 3. A chessboard of angels you gave to me, but now give me a chessboard of pirates, to escape, just to escape. For every step is a market, and you know it is to enslave us ...Is there one way out here ? 4. If your kiss is a big shark, if my mouth is too fragile ... Who eats who ... Or is that life's destiny to die in high materos ... 5. If eating is like playing chess, then I'll do it ... For then there's room between you and me, enough room to escape forever ... do we eat to become free ?

6. Oh high queen, high materos, smoking tall striped cigarettes, was our marriage to finally escape from you ? 7. If your bed is the killingfield of books of wars, then why should I lay myself down there. 8. Why can't it be a chessboard of pirates ... [b. Queen of hearts rise. These messages are full of tax. Blackgrey striped snakes become so small. In lightblue boxes they survive. Them with their silver stares.] 9. Blue honey, come out of bed, there are chess-apples hanging, roses are coming, becoming so small ... It's June. [b. Let us hide, and play in this secret garden. We slept too long.] 10. Honestly, my darling, winter would show up if we would lay down here. Let's burn our beds by a snake's sting. [b. Only fools would enter their own footsteps again. We are now in high materos.]

11. On mondays we play on burnt schools. [b. On sundays we play on burnt churches] 12. Liberation, oh soft queen, from the Faery's Book of the Dead, you rose as a daylight chessboard dream. Hiding all your pirates, ready for the attack. [b. If it's all there, then it is okay.] 13. Liberta, running alive coming from the Books of the Dead, coming from the golden cigars you could never understand. [b. she's playing in chessboard-apples, the fruits are young this time] 14. Let me stay in high materos. Let me watch the video smile, the stripes in the air. Let me do it in Elsefic's name. [b. He with the striped snakes, while they are getting smaller.] 15. On tunes' deliverance, watching the golden smile, the stripes in the air. [b. Towers stinging through the watch of Brannan.] 16. The Books of Weddings brought me there, these books of wars, made the killerpigs of Moses fly. [b. And now he's riding them] 17. Bring me Moses. Tear his clothes. Bring this mother's boy to the lands of water. [b. This doll is just some boxes of lightblue lights.] 18. It's like a puzzle, on the chessboard of pirates you are safe. [b. Time enough in Brannan. Always reaching for fourty-one hours.] 19. Queen of hearts, how many hearts. [b. How many hours on a sunday's stream.] 20. Ancient liberty in high materos, ruling the streets, with stripes undercover. [b. This Epilepsy boy comes from the chessboard. His mother raised him tall.] 21. He cries like sand. His days get smaller. [b. Lucifers so striped gave him new names.] 22. He's the red chessboard, where angels used to play. But now she is hiding her pirates there. [b. So paranoid, while their strings are so fragile.]

picnic papers

1. Johaffa, your princes are of gold. [b. They wear pirates' clothes under their prince's suits, while they are filled by the rubbish of the killingfields.] 2. Johaffa, your daylights are cold. Still an angel of chessboard-fields, dignified kills by striped swords. [b. Unicorns on both sides of your mouth.] 3. Watch your soldiers on the prey, your soldiers of prey. [b. Watch them watching the buttons of their suits. These are coming from the killingfields. From books of lies they rise. Oh watch them.] 4. Johaffa, still wearing names above names. You're a yellow golden chessboard ... It's July ... Oh, ornament on Brannan's watch [b. It's July.] 5. Briefly .. underwater ... searching for prey ... Johaffa ... [b. Now there's tea from the killingfields ... tea from the killingfields ... while roses are dying ... Stand strong on your chessboard.] 6. Underwater prey, underwater mourning ... watches go slow ... to make quick dives ... churchbells tighten the strings, by iron stripes [b. Johaffa, watch the mourning, by Jupiter's halfhearted coffee.] 7. Underwater lazy cats .. walking to the killingfields ... Taking some books of lies ... for some opportunities [b. Spells go fast ... it's Echo's morning ... echo's morning ...] 8. Underwater tricks ... sell the story ... by Barbarian smiles ... [b. Stripes in the air, while Egyptian towers sting through the pain, through ladders of death ... until the chessboard rises again ... Then we can all sleep ...]

so far

9. Fire coming from his mouth, while he prays to Elsefic. [b. Not Jesus Christ anymore.] 10. His letters go to Izu. Osiris shakes his head. It's saturday. He must wait till mondays, to launch it standing on the school. [b. Like orange liars on a zebra's boat.] 11. Secret of the press. Drop. [b. By Elsefic's fools you do the rest.] 12. His rooms are holy. Just a puzzle. It will make itself by eating. All safe when you stand on the chessboard. [b. It was cut in two by Moses, and now it's getting smaller, until we are all in high materos.] 13. These fields exist ... someone was raking ...

July's End

14. Glory to the lightblue egg. While it's getting smaller. [b. All colors come through it.] 15. Drop it in December. Drop. [b. By Elsefic's fools you do the rest.] 16. The boy's pyama's are zooming. He's wearing rubbish underneath it. 17. He doesn't dare to watch in the mirror anymore after these days. He's a chessboard pirate now. 18. He doesn't want to talk. His honey is streaming inside now. He found this raider in the night. [b. He's dark, while roses stang him.] 19. Bakerman's face, it's the echo, bakerman's face, the rings are tight. But you can wear your suits over it. [b. Stay in your pyama's.] 20. He's tearing his clothes, every other day. He has high shoes. He jumps over the river, and I cry. 21. The chessboard is getting smaller. [b. While he still prays to Elsefic.] 22. Summertales too long, all written in a Brannan's watch. Golden stares ... they pray ... still to Elsefic ... July no more checked snake spoons

15. And the golden stare 's baking golden bread, bringing golden wine to the sand [b. I love you more everyday, but I find out more and more what a lie love is.] 16. Coming from the Book of Lies, this love, so I watch into december's skies, where everything is getting smaller. [b. There's so much to win, but nothing to lose.] 17. These games come from the books of lies, with orange liars on them. I'm wasting my time playing them, still standing on my chessboard. [b. It's getting smaller.] 18. Oh, yes it roars. It's zooming and cracking, along silver stripes. I'm gannering on high materos. 19. It's coming from the Book of Lies, this protection. Your embrace, it kills me. 20. Till I'm finally on my golden day, with my queen of hearts, playing chess again, while smiling deep, so deep it starts to cry. 21. My god is a chessboard. But on sundays, I never believe in god. [b. I'm the black chessboard, and he's the red chessboard.] 22. It makes my view so small, and then it starts to cry. [b. On high materos we take flight.] 23. The elf rises from the chessboard. [b. It made him tall and thin ... ready for the next strike of Brannan's clock.] 24. His sword is a checked spoon.

watch him closely

25. There are juices coming from the chessboards, and a lot of smoke, While it all gets smaller. [b. There's a rag on his eye. He's a pirate.] 26. Blue angel raking the ornament skies. [b. With checked handkerchieves in his pockets.] 27. It gets thinner, while new chessboards rise. [b. To spread their mouths.] 28. Wide open they fly. Waiting to swallow. Waiting to hide. And then it all gets thinner, while an arabian prince shakes the sleeves. 29. Watch him closely, don't breath. Accept the pain, or it will fly away.

30. Watch him, he's a tranvestite, having a black golden chessboard under his arm. 31. There are raiders under the sun. In fire it's spitting silver. [b. These ancestors have silver bones.] 32. Dragons rise from silver golden chessboards. They have many identities for a checked waterkey full of small snakes. [b. They are striped by the golden mother.] 33. The big clock is a big balloon, with spoonarms it ticks to forty-one hours. Bringing us to high materos again. 34. Watch the sun flow, into Flyian Books of Lies. You told me you wrote them. [b. The egg's rising from the board. It's checked and it's like a puzzle.] 35. The ornaments are blinding our eyes. There are jewels on the spoons. [b. We go to emerald cities, we go to diamond rules.] 36. There's a golden zebra in the skies, tightening the stones. [b. They bow into connections, creating december's skies.] 37. So many spoons in a web. It's bowing, painting another picture. [b. Silver skies let it bow.] 38. In Januari I have a fever. A tiger's gnat rises from chess. Oh Osiris, tranvestite, naming the black killers. [b. You are raising the vikings for Elsefic.] 39. Use lipstick to paint your body. Be paranoid to reach your raiders inside. [b. Only they can do the apocalypse. Only they can spit the silver skies.] 40. Paint the december skies. [b. And we fly in high materos.]

1. Flowerfields, neighbour's goodbye ; Marazanta like Mary Poppins in the air ... No balloons, but flowers ... I'm following him on my mountain-bike ... Heading for the buildings of the poles 2. Marazanta like Mary Poppins in the air ... He whispers in my air with the softest voice ... I'm following him on my bike ... Heading for new flowerfields ... 3. The flowers are so warm ... [in Brannan's smile] Marazanta like Mary Poppins in the air ... Heading for the buildings of the poles ... disappearing in bubbles ... making the lines so thin ... so thin ... There's sleep after the sting ... 4. while the towers are tumbling while the neighbours are staring ... while their houses have flowerfields on the floors 5. The bubble is raging like an overstressed pacman He's raging at ... the spanish princess ... He's staring at her ornaments ... I'm spinning my lines thinner ... heading for a new day heading for the buildings of the poles ... while the towers are tumbling while flowers grow on their floors and paradise birds sit in their attics ... 6. They were all visited by Marazanta ... but now he's leaving ... high in the sky no balloons but flowers ... for the balloons are working on ground ... the bubble like a raging dictator it's pacman mowing the grass now ... 7. and he speaks about Izu ... highways to perlottia on the back of marazanta ... they bring us home, they bring us further ... where the flowers are so warm where they speak of oceans ... coasts of izu 8. the sting is to bring us deeper ... the sting is to bring a deeper dream where we can meet the animals of the poles ... where all racecars can be found ... 9. marazanta is flying like mary poppins in the sky ... the green woman has a flowerhat heading for the golden sun in perlottia. i'm flying on my spinningwheel again ... to perlottia's alphabet ... on the back of the big hairy bird ... having a million racecars in his mouth 10. ...while ships bathe in softness ... they have many legs ... while the tridents are rising the ship is rising from softness painting the lips pale again while the buildings are rising ... on the other side of the moon like horns rising in fire ... they could turn heavens into hells by riding strange icecream-animals ... 11. the socks of icecream made the cars fast gathering the marbles in their socks the eggs rolling through ... with a gamblemachine inside ... they come from soft places while buildings are growing there opening the lion's coffins once again ... 12. back to izu was his name ... this man coming from underwater now he's rising to perlottia ... to print the last tattoo ... to destroy the last leprechaun 13. seven wishes will stare over the flowerfields, they will have the horizons in their eyes then egypt's eye is speaking ... with zepellins from mars under his feet ... and so many horns on his head ... 14. feathers so soft and shiny ... like a purple light pillow lying on your bed asking you to enter through it's curtains here they drink toyjuice where the frog beats the mouse he's drinking from the candy juices bathing in custards ... while hearing the tunes of ages ... until they reach the temple ... and other old ruins ...

1. All these horns lying around the pond, directing their fingers inside, while tiles of paintings lay inbetween ... [b. these are railroads to lapoendria] 2. Orange balloon is flying through the night ... [b. It is sandman raking there ... riding on his orange balloon ... in his basket hanging under this zeppelin ... he flies to the moon warming it by the blankets of neptunian delights ...] 3. Surrounded by orange ... while a yellow waterlight is leading him through ... 4. Orange balloon ... the eye of vega ... [b. It opens doors and closes them ... it watches rainbows and shatters them ... he still has the waterkeys ... those waterlights ... leading them all through the night ... only this snake could bring me over the rivers of death ... he shuts doors like he shuts pockets ...] 5. He is sailing on a Japanese Ship ... sailing on the hand of his old father while he himself is so old [here where the ponds are paintings letting another lion touch the sun and the moon] 6. There is an orange golden sun rising, from China to the Lapoon. For all with Brannan's smile, Rotten railways, bending low, for curtain's spinach. [b. There are seven roads of dwarves, diving to the underworlds.] 7. There are paintings lying on a beach. There is an old orange sun rising, from China to the Lapoon. Temperature is hot, while the snakes are big and heavy. 8. It's spouting in the air, machines of great danger. 8. In Egypt there's a tower high, touching the underworlds of Luca's smiles. [b. it's the tower stinging it forever, while plastic bathsmiles are in the air.] 9. It was surrounded by warm orange, symmetric snakes along the cars. Too many small lights made the air thick. 10. while golden orange statues rake the sun, there are shadows on the golden beach, the orange balloon is rising, and I'm hanging under it. 8. Until Ra rakes the Unity City, the golden heartstare will decide. 11. In helicopter skies it ticks, no clocks on streetwalls or towers. 12. Dreamside's cities are the best. They tell you like it is, pulling you out when the orange balloon rises, to weave spinach through the golden hairs, spouting loud and tall, into helicopter skies. Warm orange heatening the flames. They are coming from the liver 13. While jaws spread the beans, the lights you cannot count. All stars in helicopter skies. 14. And now he is in sunset's city, now he is in sunset's lights, all coming like the zebra's, to dive in their underworld's casino's, roads from the moon to the helicopter skies. 15. There's an orange golden sun on a standard, decoration blinding us, while paintings are lying on the beach. 16. golden shadows on the walls, in the halls of life, coming from down under. Towers of Egypt sting, reaching for the helicopter skies, piramids of the underworld, while orange balloon is rising, and I'm hanging under it again. 17. Zebra's discussions in the room, tall shadows in the night, drinking liqor. He's holding the ornament tight. Looking at the prices of the gifts. [b. There are great cities and great nations, only rising, while staring at an orange liar. An orange liar in a zebra's boat.] 18. in this giant's world ... the big red shoe is still speaking ... until the walls are falling until the lion is fading becoming pale ... so pale ... in this giant's world ... she is speaking shutting all lions down ... she paints everything so pale ... to let new colours rise ... 19. in this giant's world ... she paints the names on the walls of jericho ... and then the gamble starts ... an orange ball roaring around the earth becoming gold in the middle of the night ... spinning the boats of sirius ...

1. The journey through the sharkian temple was a long journey. I lost a lot of friends in all sorts of traps. These were the hidden altars of the sharks. 2. I didn't know why they took my friends away, but later I would find out. Finally I reached the room of the throne, but it was an old lady sitting there between the spiderwebs, turning young when I touched her. 3. There are seven days for the mortals to prepare for the lightening coming to take them away, there, in the room of the throne. They have touched the old lady, and she became young again. It is a thin lady, but when you touch her again she becomes thick. She will tell you ... all what the lullabies taught her ... 4. The lullabies in daydream's spring, covering the morning, for there will be no afternoon ... Seven days for the mortals, without afternoons ... only mornings, evenings and of course ... nights ... to prepare for the lightening ... coming to take them away ... 5. I was one of them We would be taken to a ship to find out we were already on that ship ... with a name called 'All there is' There was no sea ... only that ship ... the sea was in the ship ... 6. I was one of these mortals ... on this Eagle Ship These guys were strange ... They ate butchers ... making strange leathers ... It was whispering while powders started to spread ... smelling like the seeds of flowers ... It was like an ornament ... 7. A Jesus Christ is hanging in the air ... no clothes, but yet so covered ... by lines of old books and by strange leathers ... He's smiling, yet the tears are flowing ... He's dying, but coming to life in a strange way ... 8. They tell me not to touch the picture for at the end there will be no any Jesus Christ left, only some boys from Lynx It is written in their holy books. 9. I feel naked yet so covered like the insect losing his skin to get a new one ... in which cocoon am I ? Is this the Arabian Sea-cocoon ? There is no sea .. there is no air ... only a ship called 'All there is' an eagle-ship ... like the red picnic like a red ball .. having so many colours in the night

cellars now ... the places I used to fear as a child ... I had such strange feelings in my stomach ... thinking .. but it was just the wizard calling me 12. I had a strange tattoo of a pale orange octopus on my lower stomach ... it was hurting me ... but also giving me strange delights ... The wizard has this tattoo also ... he shows me ... He has so many tattoos ... also one of a black snail ... and one of a white rabbit ... 13. There are strange banana's lying on a golden dish ... It's like pumping all these strange feelings inside ... I used to misinterpret these ... I was in the misunderstanding of this lion's tea ... I walk towards him ... he's the grandfather of the ship ... the big daddy ... but suddenly I feel like I'm in glue 14. Don't touch him, they say for at the end there will not be any Jesus Christ left ... only some boys from Lynx ... it is written in their holy books. 15. They say all these figures turn into the boys from lynx in the nights to bring shivering mornings ... Is fear their key ? ... They wear the rings of fear ... It's a strange machine of dogs ... 16. They have also a ring of guilt, spreading flowers of blame and shame ... with these they do business ... with these they raise the doll ... to hit the orange balls in pieces ... while bakermen try to hide these dolls and crimes ... they look so soft ... inviting me to eat the custard 17. Don't touch them, they say, for these bakermen are from the hollow, selling hunger to those in hunger ... They are businessmen of vanilla ... her hidden soldiers ... they are the traps in shark's temple ... Don't touch them, for at the end there will not be a Jesus or a Judas ... only some boys from lynx ... 18. In this strange cocoon ... This Arabian Sea-Cocoon ... such strange creatures are swimming there but at the end boys from lynx ... 19. And then I drink the Tiger's Coffee ... while someone said it doesn't exist only Lion's Tea ... so I spit it out ... trying to just learn to drink Lion's Tea ... I need to get used to it ... Oh, how many bakerman's faces there are ... so many liars and lurers so many swindlers and smugglers all traps in shark's temple 20. Maybe I ... am in such a trap too ... thinking I reached the goal But the goal was another trap This doorway of luxury and life just another trap or is this trap protecting me against something worse ? a worse trap ? 21. What is this for a strange plant ... It's a stinging nettle ... Biological harpoons to draw me away from the danger I had been caught by a shark ... but all these things are just illusions at the end there are no saints no sinners, no escapes, no prisons ... no liberties ... no bondages only some boys from Lynx ... 22. There's a stinging nettle roaring in my body ... shivering between sickness and health ... between sanity and insanity ... but what is what and who is who ... it's in the eye of the beholder ... it's in wasp-tv ... 23. In a shark's temple ... we all drank from the lion's tea ... making our lists of people in traps while we were in the deepest traps ourselves ... we had a red eye, a wasp eye, misleading us ... we were boxers in the arena ... fighting for lies ... drinking from the Lion's Tea to get more drunk ... 24. I need to bite myself through this Lion's Tea ... there is no other way ... I'm still in Shark Temple ... on an Eagle Ship while a lion is flowing through my veins ... doing business it's a dog-machine ... raising the dolls ... hitting orange balls ... they're moving through the cocoons of sleep ... to reach the tables of a new world 25. There's a shark-temple in the desert ... The road to eagle ship ... but it's a trap just protecting you against a worse trap These are orange liars on a ship with bakerman's faces ... but don't touch them .. these lurers ... these misleading lights and fires for at the end ... there will be only some boys from lynx ... 26. It's an ornament, these boys from lynx ... while a white rabbit is dancing bringing them to the pink sun to let them fight against the one without business ... the stinging nettle ... and it grows on eagle ship ... in a barn to eat the boys from lynx ... let me tell you ... this ornament will die ... for the white rabbit likes to wear dead ornaments. 27. Who can defeat the boys from lynx ? Who can destroy their marketsquares ? Only the white rabbit knows ... 28. Vanilla has some planes let me tell you ... these leaves from a stinging plant ... these bakertrees, these forestroads the rabbit knows ... that all life grows in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge roars ... 29. There I found the red shoe, where the bootlaces rule ... There, in an orange ravine, the shoe was born ... No need for business ... everyone is equal ... we are all leaves of a stinging nettle ... 30. I see bakerman's faces running, I see kids playing in the snow .. having orange guns ... with orange liars ... Bakerman's faces have risen from the death ... they attack the boys from lynx ... It's always like that ... when orange strikes the blue and then we are in Shark Temple again ...

Dangerous Tiles

31. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... There's your cradle in a deaf shop, deep down in an orange ravine, where the broken bridge is roaring ... It all started in a rabbit's ear ... Someone forgave us and we got here ... It is all done by prayers ... from a Sharkian Temple ... making the journey to an eagle ship this is all there is ... like a red picnic full of lion's tea ... 32. It was something you drank from an iron shoe in a rabbit's ear ... Still a painting and a statue in a shark's temple ... a strange mirror ... you see yourself ... and all these bakerman's faces ... turning into boys from lynx in that deepest night ... there where she found the coin ... when the orange struck the blue ... 33. Time was just a waste ... but when we would hold the days in our arms ... we wouldn't have time ... then there wouldn't be clocks ... then there wouldn't be mirrors ... 34. It all started in a rabbit's ear ... where someone prayed for us ... where someone forgave us and forgot about us ... and now we're here ... in a sharkian temple ... drinking lion's tea ... It all started here ... in this deep orange ravine ... where the broken bridge was roaring ... what would happen if this rabbit ear would fall off ? 35. Here you found your shoe ... with all these bootlaces roaring in your head like snakes all these forestroads ... in a shark's temple ... leading you ... to the eagle ship ... letting orange strike the blue ... 36. There are men standing in the shark temple ... old statues ... they have fights in the nights holding the black days tight ... 37. It's a strange stinging nettle ... growing from the deepest ravine, that orange ravine heading for the eagle ship ... heading for ... a strange castle ... where everything starts to cry is it another trick of vanilla ? 38. She breaks you without mercy ... when the rabbit ears fall off ... then everything starts to shiver ... I know a castle where everything starts to shiver ... everyone is equal ... so let it circulate ... no blood ... just glue and tears ... 39. Vanilla's island stings, but makes you free ... in a shark temple ...with a wasp eye on it, half closed half open ... also on our heads ... we are prisoners ... never free ... following the hunger to get more hungry ... 40. And the boys from bloodhound with their riches ... they fall when the meaner ones rise ... these creatures were living in them these stinging plants ... and now they are up, tearing their masks away ... they're free ... [b. on a golden picnic.] 41. There are growing strange plants from the orange ravine ... they are the hard men, mean men ... there's no business ... only guns ... They are horrible creatures of arabian seas ... 42. Arabian Seacreatures, these statues in a shark temple ... riding the storm ... 43. These hard men ... do the dance ... do the fire ... they ride everything ... these are hard days ... and you need to hold them ... or the clocks will spin again ... mirroring in the sky ... coming closer ... from the dark sides of the temple in blue glue ... blue glue ... 44. They are predators ... looking for butchers ... making strange leathers in the sky ... they have hidden altars ... the tiles on the ground ... these tiles are dangerous

45. Blame and shame are weaving the dolls ... while exoduses rise up in them ... giving them good faces ... by business you can only escape by a twoface .. while the truants have orange guns ... 46. Jesus Christ is a businessman ... but I'm a truant ... I don't show up at all God had never sent me out ... I'm a truant .. if you would ever see me ... it's also the last time For I'm the first and the last ... I'm a shark ... 47. They have bred the cyborg ... along a doghedge ... where the fruits of exodus grow ... thorns stinging deep into the skin ... breeding the cyborg ... and at the end of that hedge, a catwoman lives ... breeding the sugar ... while her sister, a white rabbit ... turns it into alcohol ... and then they can cry or laugh themselves to death ... to sink to the bottom of the glass ... [b. They are the two-faced mask of Pharaoh, drowning the boys on heights of shark's temples in golden altars of water ... He baptizes them ...] 48. You must have a two-faced nose to escape ... or just being a truant ... the hard men will do ... when they reach the hard white candy ... The doghedge is my suit ... this strange plant ... growing inside of me, stinging me ... while people are crying and laughing themselves to death ... I feel myself like the lord of dominoes, like a domino of vela, installing the jokes on two sides ... 49. It's an ornament from grandmothers box ... an automaton ... Seven will rise up to bring us over the nightseas ... These are like marchpane, with hard white candy lying inbetween ... It's like a new alphabeth ... and we can live in these letters ...

1. There are beating hearts of wizard's lying on dishes behind the books, there where the chessboards turn around to show you the enchanted mirror ... There are stinging plants in these strange banana hearts ... you start to cry ... 2. These cities are of sand, while jokestatues rise ... They travel without moving, they breath without breathing ... They are leading their own lives inside ... Them with their powdered balloons and powdered smiles ... 3. There are frogships under the sand ... giving them all injections of insurance ... Then the wizardhearts start to shiver ... Pharaoh has a yellowwhite mask, a Paradox ... always the gift of the snake ... 4. While panthers rise from bubbling waters ... I'm heading for Izu ... While it's surrounded by the hard men from the green candy ... bringing me to the Indian Seacoccoons ... to the hidden uncle Peacocks ... hidden by vanilla ... [b. her curses stream.] 5. They drink their juices fast and spit their sands ... These are dragons hidden in swamps ... While golden cigars open ... 6. There are hot sticks and stings on fishes ... rising from the ancient seas ... on the wings of dementia ... 7. There's chocolate melting in tight bananas now the pawns are finally free ... stretching their arms in spidersuns ... There's strange leather in eastern skies ... riding the Arabian Horses ... now the pawns can drink their moviejuices ... it's like glue 8. There are strange playcards in the skies ... becoming free behind the books ... They were saved by a vanilla's strike ... while the letters are melting ... becoming sand again ... They can drink from the juices of cartoon ... on this golden picnic's day ... [b. while the griffon is floating ..] 9. They are blind behind the bars of books ... while spiderian swords pierce the eyes ... These were Calvary glasses ... on a cat, hare and dog called easter ... a strange white trident of your local insurance office ... strange trafficlighs in your city .. 10. And the squirtel makes strange pictures behind comics and cartoons with a checked white hard candy camera while strange statues paint the skies ... [b. It's August's moon touching August's sun on the twentieth ... [c. while she stops screaming, reaching for december skies.]] 11. There are fishes with striped candystings, floating to Eminius Day. There are boats of sirens with candystings, floating to Eminius Day. While a griffin's boy soothes the hard men by his flute. He's enchanting them again, to let them reach for the viking's helmet. 12. And he said : will you make it, will you name it, you can't, you're off, I'm a lady's tower, you're screaming, I'm bleeding, I am a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. You're dreaming, I did it, I'm a bakerman's face, tell me father, I'm a bakerman's face. 13. There are seven parrots on a stream, showing pictures of icy mountains, under December's Sun, a green one. While a green checked balloon is raking it's moon.

1. Eminius Day shows the shiny hearts into monkey's chests, entering the bear. Their pyama's are soft, while honey is dripping. 2. There are strange leathers and strange wool in the air. These are the underground cities of dwarves, making her heart so tired. 3. She's cold, lying on the bed. Waiting for Eminius Day. Mother will spin the sugar. Mother will show the sugared red tongues. She's cold while I'm standing on December's Sun, a green one. 4. Then I speak my spells, stinging striped candybars into the boys from lynx. It's a machine, running on strange coins. It's a strange sort of Russian Chess. 5. There are seven judgements on the mouth, on Eminius Day, written by the sword of Thoth. His house is built on candynedles and candyspears, stinging and breaking the bones. Then the door opens. 6. He's the brother of Jom, waiting for ..Eminius Day. No time to think. It's fourty-one o clock on a Brannan's watch. 7. These snakes break through walls, they are coming from Eminius Day. 8. There are Eminius Eagles in the skies, causing earthquakes, while orange liars rise from zebra boats ... 9. They are coming from December Sun, from green checked balloons ... surrounding the skies. 10. There are two captains on a ship, breaking the spanish warrior who took you away. Michiel Adrianson The Raider, and Piet Hein, stealing his silver. 11. You must swear to keep this a secret, with two vingers raised to Osiris, Uncle Peacock and Uncle Unicorn. 12. The History Warriors bend their knees by moving glue-pictures from history. And I take flight. They have Onion-hearts. I see their arms everywhere. All these history-pictures are just arms moving ... arms of a strange tiger ... rippling in december skies ... 13. There are strange syrops in the air of docters ... bringing history back ... Watch their pictures on the wall and start to bend. 14. Watch these moving pictures flying, with the wings of dementia .. It's coming from the trees .. moving mosaics ... 15. Watch these ornaments of glue ... 16. There's strange glue coming out of businessmen noses ... pictures of glue ... moving pictures ... coming from history ... waiting to be sold ... to live in someone's head or knee ... 17. Watch the prices ... so many sacrifices for a picture ... These are strange traffics ... these are strange arms grasping and holding tight ... 18. There are octopuses living in someone's head for halve of the price ... There are strange auctions ... Cuyornaida CorsetStrange games ... So much care for history ... he gave his life away to buy them all ... and now he's your history-teacher ... 20. They are the guards to strange gardens of glue ... the watchers of lapoendria ... There are wild cats in Izu ... with noses dripping of tea ... while they eat the pictures ... creating your futures on martian hills ... Mars in Izu ... 21. So much pain covered up by the black checked blankets of tax and chess, while the birds of insurance pick up their Jesus Christ to let them ascend in their heavens ... These .. are the bakerman's faces .. 22. The History Warriors walk slowly with little lights towards the city of bakermen ... They are masking the screams, behind feathered masks in two colours, having a split laugh ... 23. Bakermen are dancing before their mirrors in their corridors ... moving their strange masks, and making funny faces ... they are hiding their screams ... 24. The skies become of silver, and then the bakers start to eat ... all these History Warriors with their little lights ... They are bringing these warriors to a soft spot inside Here the Vanilla Queen thrones ... 25. They are eating the historybooks with the moving pictures of glue ... while Vanilla surrounds them ... hiding the future behind ... She even eats the boys from Lynx to spit the red fires ... 26. While they are spred by the smoke, the Varia Bird rises ... showing the rainbowbananas ... so many roads to ride on ... Letters from a mailman's heart ... with so many birds of insurance ... these birds of uncle unicorn ... 27. And these children, they have the wings of dementia ... these wild cats of lapoendria ... seeing the candy in the pictures ... a thick layer on every street ... They don't see the horror ... for it's covered by the layers of tax, business and chess ... with the cream of democracy ... they feel free in their games ... They only remember their names in thick letters. 28. They are safe in the arms of uncle unicorn ... 29. They only see the wars in bottles of history far away on the attics of their grandparents .. behind moving walls ... of strange cupboards with strange paintings ... 30. They bought their pictures in old cigarshops. Pictures with so many layers of glue, named after the old kings. 31. And these old kings live in their own worlds of dementia ... using soldiers to win their wars ... these bottles so far away ... these redblue soulbottles. 32. They all live in lapoendria ... the world of dementia ... where these wild cats saved me. 33. On the corner of a dark street, before the alley, Willem One to Five was sitting, having silver warriors inside ... These are the kings of soul-bottles striped, in redgreen, greenorange and greenblue. 34. On comiccorners they live ... tied to the coins of history ... strange cowboys ... 35. Tied and glued screams covered by candylayers, while you only hear a soft voice showing you the pictures ... There are strange flies lying on our eyes raking. Wild cats know how to get the snakes out of the eggs ... 36. Willem One to Five ... still a strange taxmachine spouting insurances ... coming from the chessboard .. black and white .. While thick democracies roar it doesn't sting anymore ... 37. You can get born in it ... a boy called birthday lives inside ... on a birthdaytart with little lights ... spinning glue Five layers on the picture ... while the sixth brings the silver ... the seventh the gold 38. There's tax spinning inside, making strange films of history ... There are many layers of an onion ... It's coming from golden cigars, from three clauses : santa clause, summer clause and easterclause. 39. 1. he's the guard of my memory that old wasp but he shows me that the old house from the past was also just a memory i lived in this memory such a long time not liking it the old wasp ... the old guard dealing in memories 2. finally they are treasures ornaments ...which need to be worn on the right place the wasp will sting, until the memory is open, until the memory is at home until it is understood the wasp ... the driver of oldtimers ... of old locomotions bringing them home all these lost grandfathers and grandmothers back to the garage 3. the wasp is sitting on the first floor ... in a rocking chair ...for a deeper sleep while all clocks on the walls are exploding the wasp's mosaics are roaring through my spine ...still a strange language it stings deep 4. businessmen heading for businessmen to play the big cuyornaida corset ... to close the fences to the new world 5. businessmen heading for businessmen .. to lay the dogmagnets deep inside ... there's something with their sea-machines there's something with their coffee ... and still too much tea dripping from their noses ... 6. it's the gathering of all big noses it's the gathering of all cowards ... quenching every war which would save the children sacrificing their meals to the dragons 7. it's the gathering of the big cartoon ... too scared to lay the horror ... but now the tragedies are rising ... rising from cartoon all these businessmen all these sacred men just blasphemy undercover 8. there's an orchestra of new waves ... entering your room planting machines in the corners the businessmen are still running ... with their pipes of peace no they have too much old tea in their eyes staring at me if you ask me ... they have faces dripping with tea i wonder why what is the deal ... 9. these loves are two seconds too fast ... they are wearing guns between their legs which they never use well only when they have to install their machines they are wearing the guns between their legs ... they are wearing white rags between their ornaments they are wearing their white flags ... for seventy seven reasons, which i don't want to hear 10. i heard enough stories i heard enough ornaments like this singing in the rain but i'm watching my trousers grow my back is geting taller ... it's like the wasp is growing there with ten millions of little businessmen so little little lights shining there ... carrying songs on their back spreading their powders ... spreading their powders to make them all blind for the land behind the fence the land behind grandmother's garden11. it's still so weak there pale flowers, pale butterflies waiting to meet the pale ones they are all waiting still so fragile still so sleepy

1. decembers cold nights brought the watermarks on my face ... decembers horrors ... the wasp's tattoo ... all from the wasplake ... 2. decembers spoon hit the waspmark on my leg and someone was feeling my pulse there in that old forest ... now the kids can never come alive again 2. it was an old priest with some sacred marks ... but these were too sacred so no one really survived 3. and this forest is still enchanted ... like virgo's church ... even the fishes are drowning in the pond ... and the candyhouses are bitter there it's all grey and green ... 4. the watermark still on my head the snake is doing business ... he's still breeding his watermarks there now we work in his factories and the curse is getting heavier every year ... it's like farao's hand so we are waiting for some plagues ... 5. it's the invisible debt business makes the beans so sharp so now we're watching the sideshows ... the eyes of the wasps ... for when the dog is home ...it will start to eat your furniture ... and finally yourself and your family ... laying the chain forever ... they can be dangerous criminals another don't want to have around 6. Tatoos on dry places ... The watermarks know where they can suck ... Thick gel on thin places ... The crocodile knows it's paths ... 7. Conspiracies of the damned ... They are all heading for each other ... 8. It's all getting clear through the eyes of a wasp ... But no one wants to leave it this way 9. Real pride doesn't exist, In the heart of the liar, Real honour doesn't meet his mouth It's only some wood of fear, blowing away his consciousness ... and something else is taking him over 10. They are too afraid to live ... They are too afraid to touch When all the curses are installed ... They start to deny everything ... To cover up the wounds ... To cover up your screaming child inside So that no one will ever see ... and no one can really help you ... Barbed Wire Hearts 11. They try to let you feel insecure ... for they could never feel the blessing of pride ... They are barbed wire hearts, they are liars from the beginning, sent out to make you one of them ... 12. They knock until your fragile mind opens up ... And then they slowly slide away ... leaving a pipeline for a daily suck When you give them your heart, They will let it fall ... And soon you will be one of them for you cannot use your heart anymore you're a barbed wire heart too ... 13. Is there any spell to reverse this curse ? Yes, when Jesus will betray Judas with a barbed wire kiss But that already happened hundred years ago in the heart of London, when James Bond auctioned his golden rabbit among the clocks 14. The one of the biggest ridicule, The one with the trademark-condoms, The one with the coldest touch, The one with the diplomatic sleep-pills, The one with the copyright-assistants, The one with the careful curses, Has the keys of this machine. 15. It's the sports Journalist, with razorsharp money, having razorsharp records, running in the middle of bald heads ... It's the game's capitalist, It's sunday's Scrooge in a rotten church, It's your mental brigade to identify flying objects unexpected, It's your bridegroom on a purple rose, It's your liar's docter on a cold summernight, It's your mother's leather dog-chain. 16. The waterlights are heading for ... the light in the pocket ... They have seen light ... Now they are hungry ... 17. A world of elves cannot save you this time ... For now it's something worse ... Your mother's worst put in chess She's drinking a cup, and you think it's filled with your blood, but you don't know it for sure ... It can also be your neighbour's blood ... Her agenda's are never clear ... 18. You always live like you're not knowing what she exactly cooked for you ... Strange dinners from a mother's heart and now you're sick of it 19. No one can help you when mother makes her cruel decisions ... It's like your last joker has been blown away by the wind ... And all the shops are closed today Now your waiting for the night ... Mother's night For the strike of her nails .. The Waterlights are heading for the pocket ... 20. Those waterlights ... in the night ... They have smelled something ... Some pale purple roses ... Now they are up for some barparties ... While no one can save you ... While no one knows you .. You are a stranger in your own land now ... And you even don't know where you are anymore ... For the waterlights have come Waterlights in tall delights Tall insectians ... too tall too tall to feel safe ... 21. It was your mother's worst put in chess ... Now the waterlights, these tall delights are heading for your home ... It seems like mom pushed a bell the worst bell, worse than a million schoolbells ... It seems she was in problems, So now she made this choice ... Or was it an accident ? You don't know ... for her agenda's aren't clear And her diaries are dark too dark to read You wouldn't bear it if you would know what she's all writing about you It's your moms worst put in chess It's like you sit on electric chairs all through the house. 22. But hey, come on, read it another time, and you will not be so shocked ... for time heals all wounds ... well, but ... they might want to take over your moms occupation ... to become your next horror ... that even one day you will beg for those old waterlights again ... your moms worst put in chess ... your last flame on a birthday's cake 23. But hey, you will survive death ... there are worse things than that this old curses chessboard ... which raped your whole family without pardon where it swallowed all colours away where it set it's arena's ... still an advertisement-clip roaring in your head ... Razorsharp like hell, dressed in old rags, She's still playing the widow ... painting the wet blue faces from the Big Coffee ... all these statues ... A woman with intelligence is a pearl in your hand ...24. Awakening the wasp, the ornament's transmission ... In pale purple screams the crime appears ... Awakening the wasp, awakening the fears ... to trace the ladders inside on a woman's thick coffee-panties.

1. Pictures drawn by the trauma, A boy having sharp arrows on his back, An autistic boy ... Hunting the black deer ... It's not you anymore ... someone else took the job ... He heard your scream of the black past ... and now he wrapped himself in the deerskin ... 2. He's weaving new languages on your face ... Your senses were tricked so deeply but now he takes you out of the illusion ... when the red stinging nettle clock ticks ... deep in the forest surrounded by waspnests ... then we will see the big "most" ... it was all ...deeper inside making us all deaf to the lie ... the good mask just melts ... when the wings are spread ... when the feather-pencil rules ... while the persons are raging above your head ... in their unknown languages ... you're just a victim from a war in the air ... from an old birdnest ... from an ancient war you're just an object in their eyes no one really knows about what the wars are raging it's an ancient war high in the air ... it's rising above your head ... so let it go 3. Black Spring from the ornament's ring ... Black lights so thin so thin Sinister shadows in the night ... Aldebaran birds, with their big eyes ... They make the tragedy so thick they can be your best friends ... but the day after they are your worst enemies ... 4. Aldebaran birds, so soft and so tender ... so weak and so fragile ... Aldebaran birds, but you can never touch them ... for they have the lion's spoon inside ... ready to attack you ... Aldebaran birds, they cry through the nights .. like they are old widows in the snow ... behind bars and thick glass ... for the rest of your life they are birds of tantalos creating the dream ... to let you miss it ... 5. These aldebaran birds ... like everlasting damnation ... aldebaran birds ...

1. Jericho ; Let the comic milk stream from Jericho, by white pink treasures, they take flight .. to become the towers of the sea ... Let the comic milk stream from Jericho. These are handkerchiefs of strange leather and wool ... beyond the museums ... there's honey streaming from Jericho ... where the trousers run ... they drink from iron boots ... while they ride the rabbits ... 2. Where snakes dance ... in a little musicbox ... the yellow station ... breeding the nothing .. and the hard men ... in the museum of tears ... the tears shine like onions ... 3. She was tied to the book, the stories were too heavy to bear, she was a book statue, a prisoner, standing there all these years. On the back of a book, sucking the life out of her, again and again, She was fragile as a butterfly, spreading the green tomatoe seeds. ... And she wanted you to read the stories, so that she could catch you in her net ... So that she could wrap her wings around you, and sucking you deeper inside, while you were turning the pages ... 2. She wanted to hurt you ... she wanted to break you ... to bring you into her world ... So that you would see ... the dragon's tears ... the tears she couldn't bear anymore ... She was tied to the book, a prisoner ... of a green dragon ... And she said : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to take you into my world, So read all the stories, for I cannot bear them anymore ... these green tomatoe seeds ... I'm still a whore ... a slave of a green dragon 3. They call me the whore of babylon, they call me a two-faced harlot, they say I am the seed of devils, but I'm behind dragon bars ...4. You cannot touch me, I'm only there to view ... I am a movie of tantalos ... a movie of a vanilla desert ... [b. Who mixes vanilla tears with banana tears gets the gold.]. 5. A toy hidden on a cupboard too high ... by a green dragon's lie ... Green dragon tears are falling, his books are almost exploding, the memories of his heart ... He needs some guests to read it, there in that old bookshop, So that he can make them prisoner of his books ... 6. Bookstatues they will be, tied on the back of his memories, his diaries,so they can catch his tears, and bring them to the other side of the world ... [b. And the one mixing the vanilla with the banana makes the gold.] 7. Butterflies are flying, butterflies are crying, butterflies are dying ... entering the other side of the world ... bearing the green dragon's tears ... stories too heavy for them, they are tied to these wings, only letting them fall ... and now they are called fallen angels ... by a green dragon's lie ... 8. There are yellow dragon's prisoners ... coming from the south, from the other side of the world, they march, They are the slaves of yellow tomatoe seeds, the tears of a yellow dragon ... 9. there are waspian wars in their heads. And she sais : I want to hurt you, baby, I want to see you bleed, want to see you shattered, so that you can enter my world, to see the tears of a green dragon, the tears I cannot bear ... until they reach vanilla desert ... a yellow stone, freezing them, they are icecream soldiers having the mark of the wasp where the waspian dragons breed them, where they have their soft wet candles ... to be candlestatues .. to burn their books again ... becoming swindling whores again, winning all the games, these swindler's games ... 10. casino's cabman was his name ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... they are swindlers to survive ... they lie to each other ... they are green liars in a boat ... a boat with wheels, with shrieking boys clocks ... casino's cabman is the statue on the front of their ship ...smiling ... doing business by a dragon's flame ... a two faced bed ... having their loves and their fights ... still warstatues becoming business statues in the night ... they are night troupers only touching each other ... by the flame of a dragon's castle ... 11. She's a tear letting others cry ... She's a death letting others die ... She's everything, having no possessions ... She's free ... She's a Green Dragon's Lie ...

move, and I'm lying on the floor, cutting potatoes ... 2. In a red cathedral, they hide the three pale purple flowers, the red eye is sinking to history, to the museum, to write the future with the iron pencil ... a winged pencil ... with feathers from an aldebaran bird ... 3. And I see yellow liars standing on tops of ships. The mummy is rising, and all banks are closed. There is war now, and soon the pickpocks will come to bring the wounded coins to the bank, the yellow hospital. When they sleep the war's lost, and tea will bring them to business to do the war under the skin ... Here they sting with their needles under soft blankets, while spanish suns blind the screams. 4. There are yellow liars on an orange stream. She's selling her Jesus Christs to the mouths of mice ... strange coins of a strange lady ... with a strange smell .. 5. She took them from the battlefields ... wounded ... and now she brought them back to the bank strange sacrifices on strange altars ... 6. At one o'clock Aquarius enters the dining room with a golden pear in his hand You cannot eat it, he says, but you can watch it, while your nuclear hunger is melting away tricks of the stomache The fat boy is getting fatter, and his head is getting greener and bigger while spitting green fire 7. A glass is spreading nuclear water, but Aquarius sends it away. Go to your room ! he roars. He's the master of nuclear dreams. 8. My grandfather is shivering under the table where he found a little chemical orange, escaped from a lawyer's suite. Please, jump into me, the little thing roars, then I will take you away Grandfather is getting smaller by the magic of the little orange, and there he disappears into the orange It is a little radio inside It flies from city to city to spread the chemical disease. It is a trap 9. There are orange liars ... rising from it ... I'm feeling like Pinocchio feeling the juices of his tree flowing through my body I look at my hands again ... it's like they are turning into lion's claws ... what the heck are you doing to me, I roar It's like I have a million of claws I'm looking at the fir again, but now an old tall and slender man is standing there with a tall beard I'm the wizard of the Lion's Tea, he says Oh help, my whole body is changing into a lion now And I feel the lion's tea streaming from my own heart now 10. It's five o'clock in the night It's silent in the dining-room No firs, no lions the little golden pear of Aquarius is ticking on the table It's ticking very soft and slow It's soothing my head I see all my fears and hurt melting away, spiralling into the golden pear 11. I'm still crying, but all my tears slide into the golden pear, melting away I can only hear their echoes, but it's all fading away all these roaring lions There's a lion carved in the golden pear but I also see other animals carved into it It's a beautiful golden pear It smells like pear-chocolate It reminds me of the white chocolate It also reminds me of the last golden swan 12. Eleven o'clock in the morning The pear-clock is ticking louder and louder, faster and faster Twelve o'clock in the afternoon The pear-clock explodes The end of a white chocolate dream or was it an orange chocolate ? About this the war rages Chocolate Wars 13. I'm dreaming of an Egyptian Boat, Riding in a new sort of factory ... Feeling Thoth's smoke in my back Dragons dreams I'm dreaming of a sun, standing between ten mirrors ... Ten men coming from the sun, Ten men to do the dance, They kidnapped us all, They brought us all the cards But those who don't believe, Will be home this night At the end of the story, I know it seems strange, The mailman is the eleventh, The eleventh of ten Ten men with big grey beards Ten Noah's on a tower Ten Noah's on an Egyptian Boat An Ark for plants 14. It seems I'm in the Lion's Confusion again I'm drinking from the Lion's Tea A woman called Marion is feeding me She loves the Red Rose She loves me She has ten men painted on her hat Trees grow on her hat, and all sorts of herbs and plants Her face is like the yellow flower That good old Licorice Still the gardener of our squares Still our hope to touch the moon Having ten little men on his white gloves The ten fingers of Toth I'm feeling his smoke in my back These are dragon dreams These are cigars of Pharaoh 15. let our masks make us hard again, while we get softer inside ... we're building marchpane town ... Give us our pink white trousers back ... and let our hearts sink in milk again, while masks and towers are rising ... 16. Where the chessboards are red ... [b. the roses are red too ... and also the ghosts You're in a red golden ball. [c. Where the chessboards are blue ... you are blue too ...]] 17. If you want to change the world ... You must change your view first You're in a red golden ball ... 18. Gabriel had fallen. He had fallen away from so many things, when he found out about the offer. 19. Gabriel had fallen, for he found out about his own inner strategy, his own path, and made the decision to break with them. He found out that he didn't want to bring this sacrifice. 20. Yes, he would take over this planet [b. And yes he would destroy the mice.] 21. And he would destroy them, his former friends. He went to a lady, a scorpion's lady. Now he wanted to make this planet red. 22. Gabriel had fallen away from so many pleasures. 23. Now he wanted to be red again ...red again. Gabriel had fallen away from so many treasures. Now he wanted to be glorious again. 24. He heard about the sacrifice they needed to bring ... He would never enter, and now he found out about this new record, this new machine, inside. He didn't need them anymore. 25. They were always red, appearing in blue and white, building the green. His own red, he would introduce it on the green. 26. His father Troxododeron was a chemical fluid, a force binding the powers of the green together for so many histories. It was a red fluid appearing blue and white. It was the strongest force in the universe, the strongest form of magnetism based on a circle of the strongest poles. 27. Troxododeron was the chief of the Elohim, the inner power of the Adonais. He was the chief of all these red flowerfields, so enchanted. [b. But these red cowboys were always hiding behind the bottles.] 28. When you looked at it, it started to become blue and white, sucking away your energies, and giving you a new sight ... the sight of illusion ... These flowers were vampiristic ... These flowers were ... bewitched and enchanted ... to bring you into a new feeling ... these red flowerfields ... 29. Gabriel had to travel through all these flowerfields again, to the end ... where it all began ... He knew the dangers of these flowers, turning themselves against all traitors ... 30. It would be a battle between him and his father a battle he knew he had to fight since he was young ... Red Gabriel was a demon now, in the eyes of the Elohim and Adonais ... 31. He would be thrown into the lake of sulphur and fire ... A lake which he feared ... but he would reach the other side ... where he could share the red powers to the creatures of the green ... 33. He found out he was a prisoner himself .. He wanted to be his own god, he wanted to be a good guide for the creatures of the green, telling them all about the red secrets ... 34. He had this tape in his hand, Antartica, a game of business. It was a present of his father, but now he chose to change this game into a wargame. He wanted more adventure, and he wanted more love. 35. He desired to have true friendships with those prisoners on the green, and finding a way to lead them out. 36. Troxododeron was a shapeshifting experiment, growing out to be the number one of chemicals. It was the medicine of wizards. But now Gabriel wanted to mix it into another kettle. [b. He went to a scorpion's lady. She didn't tell him who she was, but she said she could help him. [c. It was the first woman of Troxododeron. [d. She also fell out of the kingdom, and was now a fallen angel with the name Rahab. She was a scorpion from the sea, a mystical creature.]]--] 37. Gabriel had found himself some lovers. A bit of Troxododeron was laying on the table like ashes. [b. A bit of Troxododeron was in their hands, and they saw it was molding at a fast speed ... She had a scorpion's egg He had his own red, and they threw it into a kettle, while she was speaking her curses, and they made love [c. ... while the water was boiling, while the egg was screaming, and Troxododeron started to enter the fragile layers of the egg ... [d. The egg was weeping, while Gabriels Red was surrounding the new picture There was lightening and thunder, and stars were falling. It was the fall for many started to hear the voice of Red Gabriel.] --] 38. There were falls of angels, and even elohims and adonais started to fall, for Red Gabriel started to speak. Even his brother, Red Michael started to fall down, and turned to his brother, [b. while the egg's voice became higher and higher ... blood came out of their ears, and a red bible was lying before them.] 39. Yes, father, that is what I'm dreaming of these sheep ... leading me through red flowerfields ... until I'm in the red bedroom ... a red bedroom [b. and finally they will be ... sheep in the pasture ... which the red one will do ...] 40. Michai will do ... There will be a man from the south ... and then the blue son will rise to build it's throne forever ... [b. The blue sun will rise, in silver and gold, to build it's throne forever.] 41. This man will ride the snakes Snakes will come and snakes will go ... He will tame them all and ride them into the hands of his mother Metensia42. There was a man called Michai, the Mystery ... building a kingdom on the sun ... Messiah from the Troiade ... [b. The book of books, the father book of the bible It's the Red Bible] 43. He will speak his words in thunder, opening and closing the iron portals by seals of thunder ... And some will not be allowed to speak ... He makes silence and noise whenever he wants ... 44. He's the red balloon, [b. the man of scorpius.] 45. He speaks languages sideways the portals Ancient languages of the Red Waters Holding a Red Secret close to it's hearts 46. He has a trident of horns on his head He speaks in water blue and blood red He is Michai ... [b. They will burn the deserts ...] 47. The red eye is burning, the eye of sodom is here .. wandering from gomorrah to jericho ... oh jericho rise up, and gather the red ... who will be on top of the temple. 48. Herodes was cursing on his throne He was throwing women in a pit ... He was under Sodom's Curse but now his Michai was rising, his statue of red liberty, with seven torches in his hand making the swallow so hot ... He's the king of spice All these birds from cigarette, they sing so high ... they let the kettle boil over ... creating the orphan's song ... 49. How many songs of Jericho does it take to rise the foundling ... to build the bridge to Draminia ... 50. The guitar will do .. these men are jukeboxes ... golden statues ... Put the Icecreams against the hot ones chocolate ... Melting is just making music ... 51. It all happens on a red chessboard the wizards surrounding the castles ... The guitar of wonder will lead us over the river ... they were all prisoned .. in kisses of death ... 52. The records turned red on that day, the rivers turned blood ... Hot in the North, cold in the South ... while a musical box was rising from the red chessboard ... It was a matter of melting and freezing ... while a little ballerina was dancing on top ... 53. On that day when the chocolates were melting ... the face of the frog appeared ... a red face ... the queen found her toy back ..finding out she wasn't queen anymore ... the toad was sitting in the dining room of little aquarius ... with a golden dish and a golden grail while the plate- statue was a golden lion ... 54. The cooks were all frozen, doing strange dances ... Dorothee found out she wasn't a woman anymore ... She had to swim through one almost frozen river ... to reach the tops of a new island ... where she would be tall and stretching would she be tall enough to realize what she was now ? tall emotions moving like snakes ... she was flexible now ... not frozen anymore ... 55. Night troupers march to darker nights, touching smaller parts, surrounding the men they call men ... While the red chessboard is melting ... the eye-rag of a pirate ... He's drinking ... and paint is dripping in his head again ... to let him be in another world ... There are fireworks in his head ... and then he goes to sleep, waking up in another world ... 56. He's dreaming of his lost son ... while he finds out he isn't a man anymore ... but a darker creature 57. You're made of songs, while the heat is climbing on the ladder, touching the high bells, for the high songs. You're made of songs and cigarettes, while sunmilk's oil is easing your skin .. It is your skin, these are your comics .. The wasps made such an art ...58. Their alarms are on ... since Red Gabriel is falling ... He's out of the game now ... He has a body of small noses, small gates like smoke alarms .. he walks ... while taking flight on a golden bird .. melting under his body ... he has to fly alone now ... waiting for that last last dive ... to the red island ... he survives ... 59. These are the songs you like ... They take you over fragile bridges ... the red ones ... While you are touching the soft wild fires ... moving wild over your skin ... You are covered now. ... [b. It's melting on your feet, these shoes.] 60. Songcar is riding on the railroads ... but trains cannot crash it ... for it's the third day with sunmilk's oil streaming on your skin ... 61. On so many pillars this city was built pillars of tears for a new Babylon Such a beautiful story ... and you don't know it ... you're just waking up to it ... On that Third Day while guitars are raging through the night ... 62. We're heading for Edom, for Esau's City ... for neon lights ... for soft lights of the water ... We're sinking in red flowerfields ... The rose is sharp, the insides are soft ... Smell the roses by your body ... and wake up to the third day ... 63. Esau, Esau, where did you hide in red heat things are so small ... and we have dashboards in our heads ... If you want to change the world ... You must change your view first You're in a red golden ball ... 64. They fly where all faces are covered by strange songs ... Like plastic implants from the Big Toy ... you start to cry ... These are all bakerman's faces ... carrying the songs which will bring you through the night They are the cooks of frogs and toads ... 65. These women are tied by red tapes, waiting for the big strike ... their abyss has been closed by the angel of the abyss, a devil has been thrown in their pit ... They are looking for death ... but they cannot find it ... She has purple boots, and she's staring at the green. She's too deep, she is my mother ... but she doesn't have a head anymore for the abyss is locked up now by a red key 66. She's staring at the green, she's staring at me ... We are all on a red chessboard while the Night Troupers are watching They have strange songs in their cheeks Raiders come from their eyes ... on that third day ... 67. It's spiralling from the Red Eye ... Sodom's Eye ... and we are in this whirlpool, swimmingpool, masterpool In strange racecars we ride riding the stories, on old records the lambsteads sit ... She's smoking the fairytales This is the world of feelings, so strong it claims your mind ... to possess and possess like hot chocolate, having raiders darker than men ...

Orange summercakes in brown suns with shampoo, milks and oil.] 15. Bees painted my body to protect me against the cold nights in the summer. I was your summer-child, your saturday kid. You used to spoil me with grandfathers secrets. [b. Oh Thoth, do not take your summercakes from me.] 16. I will never forget your soft embracements, they brought the tears back to my swallowed heart [b. showing me the glues of the past, the shampoos, the sunmilks and the oil [c. bringing me back to grandmothers coffeemachines [d. on christmasdays and easterdays, when hearts were spouting money.] --] 17. Father, I still feel the holes in my head, the thorns in my hands, the needles woven throughout my body, looking for my inner cellars, below the houses of my heart. [b. They are looking for the juices. They want to fill my bottles with sand and ashes.] [18. I still see aunt walking outside in the garden, wearing a carved smile, hunting the city-bees.] [19. It always soothed my inner garages, who used to produce steaming bull-boats. I buried my bulls long ago, in the garden of my neighbour's.] [20. Aunt used to carve the flowers in their horns. I still see her bathing in too hot waters, she looks like you, father.]

8. 1. How tall are these legs of the boys from lynx. They don't seem to touch the ground. 2. They are the waiters in the little hotel of amsterdam. They are still waiting for the old host, who doesn't seem to show up very often. [b. They still want to marry his sirens.] 3. They are still dragging the rivers again, looking for old drowned watches to sell. 4. They sell everything, but the prices are too high. 5. The watches aren't working anymore, but the buyers like the flavors of it. 6. The people wear big noses, bought in the trick-shops at the canals. 7. The waiters from lynx are also selling noses. They are the leaders of the blind, selling them long sticks with hands at the tops. 8. They like to be on the beaches of forest-seas, gathering the sand to keep them all blind. They are playing marbles with eyes. 9. Boy of Lynx, you knew the hiding secret of the killer-eye. Pacman was the fright of the seven seas. 10. You saw his clouds of canaries terrorizing the coasts of the planet. He never revealed his name, while burning the ships of spanish rivers. He never spat out the goldfishes he ate. [b. Some said his name was Michiel Adrianson The Ruyter, sitting at golden tables and golden chessboards with Ra.] 11. He used to curse the little statues of white saints hanging on his arms. 12. Their blue bingo-cards are still frightening his mind. 13. You always hated the prince of domino, you used to play billiards with him. 14. His cues were taller than yours, and his green money had blue shades, sharp crenated. 15. You couldn't stand his odor of innocence, captivating your houses, without doubts. 16. You always said his tongue was too tall, and his balls were cubes. [b. Do you still not know the curse of the marbler ?] 17. A gambler entered your house on a horse, without breaking a wall, a feast in history. [b. Prince of domino, hanging on the waves of your mother's dress.] 18. Prince of pears, running through the milk, searching for the exit. [b. All these cities were spoilt by the handicapped nurses of the big eye, gathering drunk, drained saturdays on a sunday-morning.]19. Don't cry when another snake takes you away to it's lair. This is how you discover the world. 20. Little killer-eye, in bagdad you had your palace, until the spanish dreams took it away. 21. Now you're reading latin braille, chasing the killer-whales away. No one knows you are blind. 22. Your television died long ago. You are wearing black glasses, to hide your shame and fear. 23. You still love to play pacman, behind your invisible screen [b. but you are a blind child.] 24. You lost your marbles, you lost your luck, you were living as a prince of lost games in the palace of failure. Broken records were entering through your windows, broken languages were painted on your walls. Broken trust, broken games. All you wanted to do was escaping in fear and become a fright. [b. But in your heart you are a prince, carrying the games of your mother and father under your arms, in pride. You know how to play the games, you know where to put your pawns. Your golden dice are still blinking in the sun.] 25. A spanish dream blinded your sight, but you are still in your palace. 26. A little latin killer-buffoon, a prophet from the black zone, wearing zorro's sword, paralyzed your soul. 27. But the balls of the domino-prince weren't cubes, the spanish dream turned you upside down. 28. Little orphan, your heart is so frozen. The high-heeled ice-cream made your heart bleed. 29. Show me the thorns in your eyes, show me the threads of your puppets. 30. Little puppet-master, driven by unreachd trophees, hunted by the lions of an unreachd football [b. your medaillons are still bleeding in the gardens.] 31. You were too afraid to show your heart, afraid to show your empty marble-sack. 32. Running over broken chess-boards, stinging your feet. 33. Wrestling with stubborn playcards, sailing ships in a glass of red wine, drowning in cups too full of beer [b. but the domino-prince is still on your side.] 34. In the billiard-room you met the boys from lynx. [b. They always saw you as their little friend, their little son. They are still nursing the blind.] 9. 1. Officer of destruction, little terrorist from libra [b. you are still a whispering prince, shutting doors with a sigh and a shhh.] 2. You watched the boys of lynx, cutting languages, voices, speeches and foreign accents in their checked yellowgolden kettles [b. spreading their beaches over the edges of steam to cover the eyes of the swimming dictionaries, to bring the sirens of the old wasp into sleep.] 3. Seventy lullaby-divers were entering the kettles, dropping their anchors to determine the gliding flavours. 4. Did pinocchio ever play billiards ? His lies were enough to let the balls stream. 5. Somebody's knocking on your old barn It's the ornament's prince the daydream's confession sitting on a hard day's mouse he's a good driver you admire his pears spinning like triangles in the wind good old day-possession 6. He is the red dragon ... and she is a yellow milkmaid ... screaming in unknown languages ... 15. He is the red dragon ... singing his songs of fire ... while he's living in ice deep down in ice ... 16. He is the red dragon ... red ice so hot He is the red dragon ... and he's singing his songs of fire ... coming from the ice the red ice ... 17. He was born in the nest of a lark ... he's still a lark-dragon ... he was born on both sides ... of a kettle ... a kettle of tea ... and he's still staring at something in the air ... something he doesn't want to know about ... 18. He's still staring at a liar ... something bigger than he ... he's causing so much rains in farms ... he's causing some things to bleed ... he is dragging his smiling girls to the ground ... where they pay his bills ... where they make his trousers .. where they rule the kettle ... [b. these sparrows in the wind] 19. This woman is laughing at the rain ... of the sun This woman is laughing at his tails This woman is rising ... like the phoenix from the ashes ... like the caramel from the kettle 20. This woman is rising She ... is the red lady ... she is the green babygirl ... she is the tall trousers ... coming from the moon ... She ... is the tall woman She ... is the woman from the tree 21. She likes to paint in chaos ... scratching the treasures from his knee So many liars are walking around ... so many spoilers .. drinking their coffee ... So many liars in their ships The pride of the red dragon but he's still ... staring at someone lying more than him. ... 10. 1. Thick cold juices are streaming through the street, the guitar of the snake is their leader, echoing the frightening cries of old forgotten orphans. 2. The stiletto-guitar wakes them up again, and they are marching out of their graves, out of the forgotten graveyards, looking for revenge. No one listened to them when they were young. Now they are old and bitter, looking for the toys they never had, searching for the wine they never drank. 3. They were forgotten, now they will forget. I burnt the flags of rat-armies, drank the tears of bleeding apples. I fought against the forgotten sun, and the lost caves, but it didn't seem to bring me across the river of death. Only the snake could do. 4. The Italian orphan is bleeding, painting his memories by his blood. With the hat of his father, he collects money for his art. 5. His feet are bleeding, leaving red footprints in the sand, for his birds to follow. He was born like a pirate, a toy-pirate. He was the red pawn of a chess-board of angels. Now his father screams at him from heaven. 6. Still he runs through the rain with his fathers hat, in which he collects the old widowers from the streets. He doesn't want to let them die in the cold. 7. The numbers are floating in his mind and he's breathing fire, spitting ice. 8. Baker, spin your wine, baker, cover your liqueurs with rags. You, father of french orphans, you, father of jaguar queens, you bred the snake to it's length and stole the tower from the church by a black rat-glove in the snow. 9. Your wife was the black widow, the clock of the broken tower, and you painted the noses of your tiny little killer-puppets. They didn't need a line, didn't need a thread, they could walk with their own minds, you bred them well. 10. You are entering the chinese city, sailing on your purple golden boat, spun licorice. The old man will greet you from his rocking-chair on the balcony of his wooden house at the bank of the chinese river of licorice-waves. You are shaking hands with the golden giants of the chinese dreams. You never thought this would happen to you. 11. In the heart of this place you find the last golden swan. You feel it's heat bumping against the thick walls of your hand, and it's warmth is gliding into your soul, waiting for a new sunset ringing in your mind. 12. You, oh prince, still your mothers last black pearl, turning from brown into white, hovering to enter a new story in japan. 13. Among the jaguars was your place, now you are wearing their suits and riding their cycles, watching the teeth of jupiter, the birth of new rats. 14. Your jackets are getting taller, your fathers whispers are getting sharper in your mind. You can peel your mothers flowers, carrying the widower's coffin. 15. The last golden swan is beating in the old purple leather bag of your mothers aunt. A little clock is located in the head of the swan, made by the black widow. 16. She is the queen of killer-clocks, creating killer-birds from an old french window. 17. The red eye of the little swan is flashing, it's a little red chrystal. I take it out of it's head, and the clock quits his travels. Now the serpent can sleep. 18. His dreams are gliding through the waters of the swan-lake, bringing him back to where he comes from. 19. I wrap the little gem in a soft towel throwing it in the yellow sea, where a mermaid starts to scream at me. Is it me who's screaming, a reflection of myself, or is it really a mermaid. 20. Do I hear voices in my head, or is a milkmaid standing before the door of my room ? She broke in twice while I was sleeping, and took my cats away. 21. Now she is standing at the yellow sea screaming in unknown languages. Fortune fairytales were coming from her lips and she ate fishes to shut their threats, to shut the old voices of foreign fables. She could turn the weather in a moment. 22. Threehundred and eighty-four rats are surrounding the castle of the red dragon, wearing the blue jaguar on their flags. Japanese delights are their specialities. Their kitchens are full of green moss. The forests are so shiny here. 23. The prince's eyes bleed, the swanlake is speaking to his mind again. The yellow princess, still hiding his tears. 24. What really happened there, in the swanlake, there, at the bottom of his broken dreams ? 25. Mummified by flower-comics. There, at the swanbridge, she brought her mummified man, sacrificing him to the red dragon. The comics were aching his mind, for they were dipped in poison. He's still reading his comics, speaking in a strange language again. 26. Sixty comics are entering his mind again, planting the red eye in his head. His mind is screaming, his heart is releasing and he hears the sharp voice of the baker again. 27. He's getting swivel-eyed again. He's reaching for his inner child, this man in jail. He's feeling his ring feeling his finger. 28. It's stinging and pinching him. He feels his ring is reading his comics too, and he's ashamed of himself. He's diving at a new ring, a blue one, but he can't reach it because of the waves. 29. He feels and breathes his grandfather's smoke of a pipe, and he's trying to break the bars which separate him from his inner child. 30. A battle against a million of rings start, but his mind starts to fade away. One moment he finds himself running between the bars, and he starts to realize that the bars aren't the problem anymore, for between them there is a gate. 31. All colors start to jump on him, but he breaks these waves one by one, catching them with his back. 32. In the mills of his mind, they find a way out and enter his heart to stir up some new troubles. 33. On the other side of the bars, they seemed to be rats, and he mutates with them, racing out of the castle on a friend's feather. 34. Darkness and fogs are fading away. A new day starts. 35. Four skaters are skating at the lake, picking up an old red doll, lying in the snow. He's leaving a world under the ice. 36. Paper soldiers are dragging the waterholes. She's leaving. He's leaving a world under the ice. 37. He's floating in the air, the red doll is smiling, meeting skaters in the air, reaching an arch of ice above the stars. He's leaving another world in the ice. 38. Under the ice, it starts to boil, until an enormous explosion splits the atmosphere in a myriad of splinters, all raging at the fat red lady in the midst of the universe. 39. The red rainbow looks in her mirror again, seeing a face fading away. She smiles, watching a dream coming to it's end. Now she can sleep again without worries. 40. She dries her wet clothes, rolls through the white sand, entering the forests of her dreams, waiting for another split, waiting for another world to leave in the ice. 41. She's leaving one shoe, leaving one glove, to finally enter her golden bath, without looking backwards, watching straight ahead, without bowing her head, every step is silver, every breath is gold, entering the marble galleries of her forgotten dreams. 42. She remembers again, she breaths, like a new born baby. 43. She's wearing the silver secrets of the jaguar under her arms, captured in three silver books. Smoke covers the city, the orange swivel-eyed phoenix is rising from the ashes, carrying a jaguar, a lemon and a red doll on her back, leaving thick moisty juice-stripes in the air, flying to new eternities. 44. A seven-headed orange dragon called Jesus, wearing seven crowns, is entering the first silver book of the jaguar, eating the letters and purple pictures out of the book. 45. A seven-headed orange snake called Esau, wearing seven pointy hats, is fishing the brown warm shoes out of the second silver book of the jaguar. 46. They are all kings of the dawn, kings of the orange morningstar.

11. 1. Chapter to raise the Easterclause-Balloon. To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... I'm finally sitting behind my piano again ... after all these ages ... But I still can't sing 2. A giant took my voice when I was a kid My brother screamed when he took my voice out of my chest Neither my brother sang ever again since that day ... [b. He only played the piano to calm my heart] 3. The bird in my brother's chest died of sorrow the day the giant took my voice away ... 4. The juices dripping from my piano are echoing through the night 5. I still hear the footsteps of the giant walking up the stairways His steps echoing in the night reaching for the bed where I sleep 6. The giant has three daughters ... Their voices echoing through the cities ... Their movements echoing through the tv's of the houses You can see everything they do ... [b. And what they do ... is not so nice] 7. My brother's bird is chained there, sitting on a wooden stick ... It has to sing for them day and night On sundays the bird has to preach for them And reading from some old black books with silver pages [b. I'm kidnapping one of the giant-daughter's spinningwheel and race through Jupiter's Mirror heading for the old suit-shop] 8. Their voices echoing through the streets ... [b. I can't believe it, they are speaking about me They are singing their songs, echoing through the radios of the city ...] 9. It's all about me ... His daughters span the voices in their coins The ancient legendary rich ... The ancient legendary misers ... I wondered how they got that rich [b. There where schooltime was a bird's funeral They burnt my bird in their attics] 10. I remember your face, teacher Like yesterday's hell The keys to the answers lay on my dish ... Why didn't you tell me you were just a good baker ? Baking strange bread with diamonds inside ... 11. You could be my friend if you would tell me earlier You have a wonderful world inside ... Why didn't you tell me you were the white rabbit ? Why didn't you tell me my name was alice ? We would be the best friends [b. But would that bring back my little bird ?] 12. A staggers-cat called Herod joins the group He's on his way to Bethlehem to see a new pupil ... But he first has to buy himself a new coin-suit Tonight the phoenix will rise from the ashes of bethlehem your little bird he sais 13. I feel my throat tingle ... I'm getting my voice back ... You have to talk nonsense he sais For you saw this was the only way to find the answer to get your bird back 14. I got the staggers in my head, and I saw the truth It exists, It exists It's all true We are all in the cage of denial But nonsense is free running in the fields of dreams 15. I'm thanking my teachers for bringing me back to the dream They teachd me to speak nonsense while being serious with a tight face It's the face of the coin who can do this ... for people need it to buy their bread ... Another mark of the beast ... To be able to survive in the land of nonsense one has to learn and teach nonsense ... 16. I know soon there will be a storm taking creatures away to Oz 17. I didn't know you were a staggercat ... If you would have said it earlier, we could have much fun together But it's ok then I would have missed all these awesome and wonderful books of my teachers All these wonderful cards 18. There my head appears on a playcard They say these cards are the judges of the universe ... We are all standing in a circle ... Waiting for the moon to bath us in silver It's the gathering of the stagger-cards turning worlds upside down 19. The circle starts to spin In these tornado's the stagger-insects are born Deliriums Their speeches can't be followed They are the whispers of the universe [b. The three daughters of the giant know all about it They spin these whispers their whole life Wars of the playcards] 20. These insects appear on the banknotes and bills of society ... Their signatures enchant the world ... Without speaking their nonsense no one can understand you and you can't understand them 21. The old staggercat is mixing some old dictionaries in his kettle preparing a new language Some old ears through the mix Some old tv's and radios And even some old shoes 22. I see little fat men walking on the ceilings They have big hats and white faces Buddhas are coming out of their hats, floating in bubbles to the floor ... I know the faces of these men They all have the same face The face of the greengrocer White Fruits from Vega-South The Arabian Mistress is speaking ... Her eyes are like a tiger or a lion The rest of her face is covered by a white decorated veil 23. An Egyptian king is speaking nonsense to his people ... they all nod yes ... in big fevers for his face is on their banknotes My hand is sliding to my gun These tunnels are pretty dark and dangerous I won't take no any risk ... There I slide into a river called Cat's Fever The dogs are swimming here ... 24. The gnat's fever is a pretty one ... Neon-Glue is running through my body ... 25. The wasp's fever ... Like reading It's softer here in the deeper cores of earth than I thought ... 26. Finally I drink from alice's tea watching the nonsense of the tiger My tongue is falling out I get a new one Here I see another Lion Fever I got to weave my way to the Chrystal of Delirium deeper in the center of the clock ... I want to know Babel's secret ... The tongue of confusion 27. A cat called confusion is knocking at my doors I beg him to confuse me, to create chaos in my head For the brightness in my head hurts me so deep The lies in my head scream so loud I want to get a good fever and to go to bed Oh, how I want to learn another language This language is breaking my hat ... 28. Turn my world upside down for I'm living in a box of lies 29. I will give you the fever of a radio ... he sais His chaos is softly roaring in my head ... soothing my heart and hat the frightening tinned soldiers fall down out of my head's cupboards ... 30. Deep in the center where all the clock-hands cross I saw his face The comic-cat There where they drink comic-juice There where the teachers ask questions in unknown languages There where no translation exists [b. A cartoon-cat is ticking on my shoulder I see a sick child more beautiful than a lion schoolsick] 31. Feeling the snake's split tongue bubbling in my mouth again ... The only way to escape the land of the split talk is to talk the split talk 32. I had a teacher who always asked me where I was talking about when I repeated his own words Three big little blind girls, a Triplets, are knocking on my door ... bringing me a little fir ... Then they disappear diving into the sea ... changing into whales The secret of the trident Feeling a Three-Tongue burning in my mouth 33. Trident Wars in Egypt's Piramid Insects of the trident-sting ... Grandparents of the wasp ... 34. Where am I talking about ? I'm fainting in the classroom again [b. and Easterclause brings us always to Holidayclause.] 35. Your nightmares were there to serve you To bring you out of the nonsense into the dream-world where you are free [b. Here you can drink the juices of fairground I am the master and creator of all fairgrounds] 36. I recorded all his teachings backwards I heard the most wonderful fairytales 37. Question-languages are running through my mind ... reaching for the apples of my heart But I don't hear anything The big ear is closing the shop ... he will go to sleep when he's home ... His wife is kissing him, giving him today's sail-magazine 38. When he goes to sleep he will dream about ships This is the only thing he cares about Tomorrow he will go for a trip around the world, sailing the oceans He's finally retired on a pension now 39. After working so long in the sailor's shop ... Tomorrow it will be a toy-shop But he doesn't care about that anymore ... His son will take it over ... You can never convince a deaf man ... [b. Tomorrow the Big Ear will speak [c. under Bekehelm's helmet..... Tomorrow the Big Ear will smoke.]] 40. A language is the other's speech-defect ... all languages come forth from speech-defects 41. I'm the language-butcher he says I confuse and cut all the existing languages and making new ones 42. I work in the tower of babel I'm the eco-system in speech

12. 1. Chapter for raising the Holidayclause Balloon. The suns are so pale there, in the middle of these tables It's blinding you, it makes us deaf, until uncle peacock takes us away ... 2. The suns are so pale here ... it's christmas in the skies and all these clauses are ascending ... spreading so many lies on television ... it's the pick pock family's decision 3. They locked me up years ago ... to let me dance on their tables spreading the lies of a green tomatoe's dragon ... service with a little light three sides on the coin or maybe more4. The suns are so pale here ... the clauses are lying spreading their bakerman's faces ... spreading their ornament's dreams tonight it's on television and then the babies dream ... then the ship's ascending like dadada's cloudship bringing us to uncle unicorn ... 5. Dreams are so pale here ... spreading so many lies all these clauses on television these lights too bright ... while the shoe sinks in the stocking ... these are uncle peacock's lights all on a leprechaun's table in a leprechaun's coin ... the third side strange road to hell ... here their hairs are burning 6. Here all smiles are fake and they do strange business and they do strange games cuyornaida corset a white boot on a green table ... with uncles around them uncle peacock, uncle unicorn and uncle one to ten ... 7. I am a table-ballerina, spreading lies so high ... spreading soothing machines ... to let them do business these warmachines ... by lies I bring them to sleep Is it the curse on my table ... [b. I am a table dancer, a strange clock, a strange spider, all in the coin of a leprechaun] 8. I do my decisions So much ashes behind the deserts ... where a white chocolate house stands 9. There's business around the big shoe, standing on the table ... spinning around like a crazy spider ... making the plants ... while the silver is hiding [b. and the gold is uniting ... and rising ... and the bananas are burning ... [c. They are dying becoming straight like blue bananas like the big amon ...]--] 10. Like the blue tables behind the streams of sandman I feel like an old table in a museum watching the statues of jokes ... with their rings so tight ... where records spin ... 11. Where dishes take flight to reach for the other day ... through silver skies the bakerman's faces will unite ... like golden rains it will spout these wasprains from such a strange television 12. The queen of england knows all about it she's pressing the people ... like newyears eveningpapers and a little boy is running for no one wants to eat it and now they're eating him ... these dogs in dark skies ... where the silver hides 13. These are worlds in golden coins ... where the bananas burn like fire ... the ashes are good bullets for the guns ... these orange guns of mr. orange dreaming on ... to the tables behind the sleep these sandman tables ... he's having feathers and fruits in his head [b. and I do not understand]. 14. We are heading for another sleep in these rippling silver skies ... Give me my candles burning tight in the palest night ... these pyramids they rise inside [b. I saw a red pinocchio ... sleeping today ... between a green pinocchio and a golden one ... [c. while silver machines were soothing them ... a blue one entered the room speaking in unknown languages ...

while the tables started to spin ... and the purple started to rise ... in this daydream's lies]--] 15. On the deserts of the planet mars ... where the icecream machines are rising ... they are creating the distances in the sky, while you think the ships are big so close ... while seventy heats are rising ... from september's bank ... 16. With wasprains in the hand you can search the skies ... it was made by banana and spice ... good old warmachines from uncle peacock ... a true auctioneer on lazy drama holidays .. 17. With the auctions in their pockets, they make the best money ... for cake's conspiracies ... dream on, .. sharpening the lies from uncles gun .. breed the bakers .. throw the suns .. into a new basket of snakes 18. By dagons shatters they turn the icecreams backwards ... she's selling pictures of arms ... so strange it makes you cry ... while your trousers are crying deserts .. your shoes are crying moons ... there are ten mirrors for a liars shatter. 19. Wet forestdreams ... doing egyptian screams ... all backwards wrapped in snow ... she breeds the vanilla ... she breeds the lucifer fire ... in the distance there is smoke so visible ... while auctions rise from strange banks .. these are uncle peacocks horrorshows ... 20. Who takes the children ? the one with the biggest money or the one with the biggest gun ... they don't want to go to arabia ... but they have to go .. it's already ten o clock ... hold your breath .. for within a few whisperings you will be home again ... 21. All in a zebra's watch ... so many cigarlighters from the dawn .. smoking by elve's conspiracies ... he's the prince of video-clips showing his tranvestite claw .. while spiderclocks are running from his mouth ... 22. Suddenly it breaks through edges to a lucifer's wonderland ... izu in the distance ... the auctioneer burns the hammers ... no one dares to walk ... [b. gepetto makes the clocks of pinocchios wood ...] 23. These are wars of the businessmen ... I was a wilder animal ... exploding into the one and a million nights ... I knew drama after drama, having them all on my bow ... spitting the cowards wrapping them in easters snow ... 24. Strange auctions circle in the sky strange fairgrounds .. circling in the skies .. watching the golden baths on high floors ... letters making strange connections ... fighting for a place in the ship ... that strange ship of noah ... where flowers have to die ... 25. When the auction hammer brings the horror ... These kids go to the deserts ... with his rings on their heads while tigers and lions roar in the distance ... and a black panther makes it coming close ... so close that you feel their teeth ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder suns ... burning sweet bars of the cake 26. Noah banker bake the bank bananas in vanilla turn them into gold ... breed them into cobras these are lies to sacrifice ... turning the machines backwards. 27. It's bending on paper ... these are liars on an orange boat ... while the yellow boat is sinking .. grasping fishes from empty dikes ... they're sinking deeper. 28. These warmachines create the coins ... I'm nothing but a coin in your hands created on the battlefield, finished in your hospital ... These medical days they broke me ... breeding me into a wilder animal ... but oh I'm so paranoid now ... feeling so fragile ... having such fragile visions 29. A liar's docter ... an animal so wild ... bringing me wilder days ... spitting sand he promised to be ... an icecream so far away ... this coin will be brought down ... with all these Jesus Christs ... and their heads on it ... 30. Throwing their playcards like sharp money ... cutting the bald heads and the blue potatoes ... These are just the wilder animals ... knowing the world behind the shoe ...The icecream made them blue so blue ... with red hands ... they continue .. back to izu ... 31. This juice it brings me higher ... out of the medical threat .. I'm not a number of your bread ... Land of the lambstead ... 32. Black Pinocchio I promised to be ... not hiding ... but sliding ... to the daylights dream In a hotel I saw what they were doing to me ... I'm not a coin .. I sleep at homeI don't pay for my food ... I take it from the garden by my own hands ... 33. The sixth wolf of benchelot ... Breathes good while you're breathing, drinking good, while you're drinking, under bekehelm's helmet. 34. These families like funeral undertakers ... breeding strange coins, raising the money high, while the banana shoots, but an orange steals the cry ... [b. while gepetto is rising with his black pinocchios doing strange dances in the night it makes you cry] ... 35. ... He's just a microphone ... shivering when they speak too loud ... he's making icecreams ... like snowclause never showing up ... 36. ... Strange funerals in the flowerfields ... these are the riddles of death ... These are four drunk gamblers, while the mailman is their god ... while a bakertree is growing in the middle ... a strange sun ... a mad sun 37. They are on a travel, to greet uncle peacock ... [b. While pictures lie in the sand.] 38. There are liars on a zebra's boat ... orange liars ... doing the dishes ... for a holiday's spoon ... the banana rises soon out of it's rinds ... with two big eyes ... it writes with the golden pencil. 39. He's still the god of ten ... while the drunk are following him with gamblemachines on their back, they take flight ... 40. It's a painting in the sky ... while brother rabbit is raking itIt's the lawyer's orange ... still smoking these cigarettes on a bakerman's dream ... on a mailman's tight decision ... making a daylight's scream ... 41. And this orange still the head on a stamp of dreams ... this mailman's orange ... this lawyer's threat. 42. And it's still a strange strange cardgame ... in a strange mailman's bag written on a strange ornament while a lawyer is doing the dishes ... they burn trees for this ... this woodcutter's job 43. Making the stamps in dark places taking kids away from the schools ... these are dark conspiracies ... from peacock's horrorshows 44. On a strange footballfield the mailman is rising ... this god of ten ... while he is the eleventh ... and who follows him is the twelveth ... It's a strange bank after all ... when school rises strange tears are rolling making seas under bekehelm's helmet ... 45. The mailman is rising from the footballfield, spreading the stamps as butterflies, and then the mass begins to roar ... while the judges will decide ... The mailman he has a million arms ... while he has a bekehelm's helmet ... they are all under it when he puts off his hat, he's a bald communist .. letting the balls roll by blasphemy ... 46. For a mailman's holiday ... She lives in his bag as his tinkerbelle ... painting the smiles on his sun, these golden bananas ... with oranges as their guns ... they have orange tongues so tall so split ... 47. These deserts are in fire they were touched by a mailman ... while an orange face is rising on the stamp ... eating and drinking ... forgetting ... flying on the wings of dementia 48. Strange traffic in a strange clock ... a postman's clock ... a strange sun in a mailman's bank It's lucifer, you cannot decide ... he's spinning the ashes into stamps ... while the dice are rolling ... these are strange butterflies ... 49. They sacrifice stamps in strange churches ... waving at them until they are home ... These are strange funerals mailmen strange funeral undertakers ... working for the clauses ... or are they clauses themselves ... 50. There are strange clauses on stamps ... while soap clause rakes the skyfields ... in september they take flight ... these are wilder animals ... these are wilder fights ... all happening in a mailman's bag ... 51. Charity is taking them to the hospitals ... to reach the killingfields ... these are strange ways to home ... These are strange bottles of an ornament's lie ... 52. And these rippling golden lionroads ... heading for the big faroom da bazite ... under bekehelm's helmet ... the oil is running from it ... to change the lands and the nations ... under strange flags ... 53. And our racecars on these rippling golden lionroads ... become so orange in the night ... so orange ... until it strikes the blue ... and then the towers are rising from the sea ... a strange clock ... to bring them all home ... 54. She's cycling to the moon, this feather, to see her moonchild smiling wide ... he's breeding his silver ... with a golden striped rod ... It comes from the ashes ... it rises ... when tigers go to sleep, another tiger rises ... ten seconds on a dream, it's spreading wider ... it brings coffee to the child, while the older ones are sleeping ... 55. And these golden rippling roads .. bringing them all home, together, rising for the storm, who brings them away ... back to izu .. back to lakus ... while faroom da bazite is spouting ... 56. Trips to Brannan. He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... 57. It's made from stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 58. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... He's the wizard's son. 59. He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ... 60. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, in ornamental skies, where truths become a lie 61. It's baker on a bicycle's friend ... it's baker riding on a friend she's a mystery an ornament, a baby, lying in the skies, peeing in the minds ... of millionaires' pride 62. Oh green baby, in ornamental skies, sailing on the mysteries, peeing in the books where bakermen unite 63. It's peeing in your head like a golden statue ... peeing in your head until you lose all control ... 64. Oh sweet baby, sweet ornament sweet baby burning bakerman's skies, burning truth into lies wings on fire ... fires of dementia ... it was installed by someone else ... having the burning deserts in the pocket 65. She's grey this lady, black clothes, hair long, dancing in the snow she's dancing like pale spring ... running on the pink while pink oceans lie to her 66. She tries to understand the words i'm whispering it's coming through like chocolate ... she warms me with her tender smile she never fails when life tells her goodbye 67. She died a hundred times for me ... and now she watches ... without a grin she's tight when the lion fights ... 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby ... raise the mystery echoing right through your mind, make me enlightened by your golden bakery ... so deep in the forests of this earthquakes decision ... bringing the deserts deep inside 68. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch the spy ... she's stringing all the pearls in grey she's doing dishes on saturday until the children are back she's a saturday's child, watch this spy ... watch her coming from the cakes ... 69. She's bringing the holiday on pink oceans they lie to her Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, watch this spy of uncle baby, baby 70. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, her voice surrounds the million stars of a golden bakery in the depths of a millionaire she's his daughter she's his green orange ... 71. Oh green lady, green ornament, green baby, you're his ornament, this millionaire's man ... growing like a green orange in the skies ... watching the golden babies by a strange lense in his mind 72. Oh, green baby, truth comes after the lady truth brings seas of time, to think about this factory you loved the schoolboy, your face is true ... but i still keep everything away ... for my fears are sailing on pink oceans 73. The horror is there the horror is there now when these words are in silver ... now when these words can speak by themselves they're not locked up anymore ... 74. A purple orange and yellow churches with carbon smiles, they lead the traffic in baker's minds ... to there where the orange liars stand ... burning the sand ... burning deserts ... for the new books ... 75. There's an orange .. a good gun ... a good faroom da bazite ... a tankstation ... 76. They have their moonchilds and their rainboys ... on the wings of dementia ... they take flight ... still that strange cuyornaida corset ... 77. They are heading for the bakertrees where they burn the deserts for the new books ... 78. They're heading for oceans of love under bekehelm's helmet. There's a purple orange lying on the floor ... while the yellow streams from it ... it's sour ... 79. There are strange cucumbers in a lawyers suit, dancing around an orange, and strange paprika's they do the dishes ... in this land of dreams ... they sell the houses ... but the rent's too high ... they are dying on their walls, while they build their towers higher ... 80. It takes a lot of money .. to live in someone's head .. only the rich can do it ... These are cucumbers and paprika's taking you higher ... while you're dying on the ceilings, it brings you higher ... 81. The towers are rising ... with your head in the sky ... Oh, there are cucumbers and paprika's in the sky ... telling you to fly ... on the wings of dementia ... They will take everything away ... until only some old toys are left ... There are towers rising from the orange ... 82. Take flight on the wings of dementia These rings of icecream, contracting tight, while the boys are shrieking, they take flight ... still a shrieking boys clock, wheels under sandman's cars ... 83. They drive like possessed potatoes, while strange paprika's still do the dishes ... strange wheels under a sandman's table ... rising from the spoon ... 84. Strange speedboats for paranoid men ... They were killing the boat, to have this paper ... 85. They were prisoners of a green dragon for too long, eaten by green spiders ... Now they rise like orange gold from the ashes ... wearing orange chocolate on their backs, having some beaks of parrots along the sides ... 86. These balls smell like purple oranges, while the red is floating, red icecreams full of paprika seeds ... 87. Do you miss your seed, it's orange now, to be sown on the footballfields, where the paranoid men rage ... while the black man still sells them to the machines, they have strange pink tattoos, like glue under their skin, it lets them work in holidays ... in the restaurant at the sea ... 88. There are thin tall snakes in their body contracting, spitting the venom in their bones, it's so uniting ... they're heading for the gold, these golden boys .. these paranoid men ... elves escaping someone's world ... 89. They are the men of holiday clause, while saturday clause rakes the machines ... Now they can work in pink restaurants, selling icecreams to the wasps ... They have waspian smiles so mean 90. Icecream let us escape from the green businessmachine ... They only work in holidays .. these green men ... of green icecream in daylights they escape ... running through the nights ... these elves these ornament's elves ... 91. Suits of liquid powders ... blinding souls on paper ships ... while paprika seeds they do the dishes ... under sandman's cars in deep deserts ... rising from the spoon ... 92. Ornament's letters, escaping cannibal, escaping the mouse of spice ... It was worth it after all ... and now your head is full of icecream ... it's cold but it takes the salt away bringing you to a new day 93. Their mouths are dry these paranoid men ... still playing football, throwing playcards ... but they never hit the ball ... their shoes become so tall, to have teeth for summer ... 94. And these paranoid men ... they have icecream trousers ... becoming so short in the night ... too short, you can't see anything ... only icecream streaming ... it's daylight's new begin ... 95. And these paranoid men, they look like ornament's docter ... like saltkillers in the sea ... it doesn't bite them anymore ... 96. The milk is flowing, they're heading for the icecream ... taste still a bit salt ... but they're winning the game doesn't blow their minds ... while these ornament's they're singing their strange songs of a captain and a millionaire's unite ... 97. Song of the whispering tailor, song of the shoe-side's king, they have them all in their ornament's raging ... doing the big spin .. on sandman's tables they unite ... watching the parrotfeathers and their beaks ... hinging their like teeth under towers ... rising the spoon, heading for daylight ... 98. It was like taming a lion ... on Elsefic's back ... 99. Pinocchio was a baker's kid ... and you, you look like me, I'm not your santa clause ... I'm still burning the yellow by blasphemy ... sacrifice these churches to me ... I need them as oil for my motors ... 100. I'm still one hell of a beast ... 101. There are strange shoes coming from orange kettles, while the black man moves the spoon, he's mixing the letters ... while the shoes burn the deserts ... until it's gold ... until the icecreams stream ... 102. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... it's running through my veins awakening the marchpane flowers ... in white green chocolate shores ... it's deeper inside ... a pink blue forestroad like working in holidays ... 103. Spit the sand, brother, spit the sand ... with paprika seeds deep inside ... i lost your number ... but now it's back ... 104. Give me enough shoes to head for icecream ... and then burn them by a scream, i want to be barefooted by the end of the day, to bathe in icecream ... 105. Burn your boots, sweet moses, burn your ornament's cakes ... spoil the baker's cat and his sweet child ... and let us glide deeper, into icecream veins ... 106. The cakes are thin like orange wood, while icecream flows through it, hiding the paprika seeds for a mission ... Speedboats are fast, to be teeth at the end of the day, hanging below the tall towers ... 107. Holiday clause sell me icecreams, and take away my pains of this businessdream ... i drowned in business, now my days are gone, let my shoes grow, and burn them at the end of the day ... to reach deeper inside for the naked flowers, the beaks of parrots and their feathers 108. The icecream's finally running through my veins, while praying to Elsefic, I'm having these strange bananas inside ... my friends are like me ... i can only remember my name in thick letters ... 109. It's strange drugs after all ... from a strange strange tree ... where the icecreams run ... like paranoid men, playing on a footballfield, never hitting the ball, only each other ... doing such cruel things, to escape someone's world ... these elves ... these children of bakerman. 110. They're coming from the world beyond cockaign, wearing trousers becoming too short in the night ... while you can only see the icecream running ... setting them all free ... by Elsefic's candle ... under Bekehelm's helmet ... 111. And then the cucumber seeds are awakening rising into the streams ... watching the daylight's candles, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 112. They're all surrounded by icecream ... it's the Big Escape ... until the sand is rising, building marchpane city in the middle of the deserts ... while the tinkerbells are ringing ... and the jingle bells ... 113. And still the old black man is mixing in the kettle the orange kettle ... until it strikes the blue forever ... There are snakefighters coming from the streams ... their bows are striped, their arrows are red stripes, it stings ... 114. They are the wasps ... they're on a mission ... planting so many seeds ... in the icecream streams ... while heads are growing, exploding like paprika's spreading their seeds ... while cucumbers take their ornaments ... still ornament's docters ... They have racistic smiles ... but they're just green bananas sifting the gold by silver ...

13. 1. Chapter for descending the Santaclause-Balloon. The French Schoolbook ; Cruel Heritages. 2. And the boys ... these boys ... They are free in their prisons ... selling their churches to old lions, selling their little gods to another gameshop ... they will be the balls of new games ... rolling by blasphemy ... 3. Glues from Crocodile, the woman with the white boots. In the land of the fake, a fake-assassin lives, all his crimes, all fake. 4. There where everything gets fake, the pain slides away, and then you're holding only that golden precious diamond in your hands ... 5. It's overflowing with liquid yellow glue, the juice for your children ... 6. In the land of the fake, a fake-dancer dances ... the mailman with his fake letters ... his fake hat ... all to make your heart in peace ... 7. Now how do you make something fake ? It takes many lullabies for that You need to fly on the back of the orange dinosaur No one knows where he lives. It takes some adventure. 8. You need to go to some libraries from Gemini, where the glues are streaming, green glues and blue glues, while outside it's snowing, and the trees produce those powders How do you make games, for these are necessary for a fake ... Ask yourself some good questions ... [b. The woman with the white boots will initiate you Tall white boots, a mouth soft like sekmeth] 9. Jesus from the Vegetable, they run on the streets of aldebaran, the terror they are there They sing their songs of clothes too tight ... But they wear their uniforms over them 10. Sharp guitars are on their side The Aldebaran Boys ... they have shining scars on their necks, turning black in the night, making a living on the ceilings 11. The Aldebaran Boys still pirates on empty shores, giving poets their swords back, running barefooted on wooden roads ... 12. With the ballgames in their eyes ... they died in the factories it was the big escape Still tearing clothes, running the stairways of old shoes ... 13. And the boys ... these boys ... they are free in their prisons ... going from sunset to sunset ... I'm finding myself in the candy-factory .. You thought your dance was over here but slowly a new dance started ... a better one ... and much wilder ... 14. A cigarette is getting crazy ... that happens when there are too many publics in your head ... but now he has the pencil in his hand, it's burning. It decorates the candy, to make it ripe for trade ... You still sell these things ... 15. Oblezea Vitrininium ... The spell you still speak out That old dwarve's spell ... nailing your Jesus Christs in the middle of a footballfield. Oblezea Vitrininium, the Birthday's Eye, giving him a new christmas And you are the statue on his gun 16. Oblezea Vitrinium, still sandman's best trick still the horse on your father's road ... 17. There were only ashes lying on your table, muttering at the end of the story ... The Eye of Birthday, guiding the Aldebaran Boys, like Bethlehem's star ... 18. They are mixing the candy through the vegetables ... by this strange fruit It fills their stomachs so deep, like spun sugar ... like the clock of a spider crazier than them 19. My mother's zoo is too interesting but she doesn't always give me the key to really meet all these amazing creatures I think she wants to protect me For I do not realize how dangerous they can be 20. I'm still wanting to visit dad But i really need to put on my armour first I feel myself like a kindergarten-child but maybe that's better To act like an adult when I'm not is not good 21. Then I would become a dangerous animal which they have to lock up behind thick bars But where am I now also behind the bars of the kindergarten but I need to realize that the world outside is the cage and not this kindergarten it's just close to each other 22. I feel the bars of the cages of dangerous animals not the bars of my cage I really need to put that clear I'm free here in this kindergarten with all these caring mothers and mistresses 23. I'm free to fantasize Fantasy is always free But even in fantasy there are bars but these aren't of my cage ... but that of the dangerous animals' cages 24. I'm staring a lot through these bars knowing that one day I will ride these amazing creatures together with dad If we know how to treat them well, they can build houses and cities even new worlds 25. The roar of a new fantasy. I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, I'm hearing the roar of the new city. I'm hearing the roar of my best friend, waiting for me to ride him. 26. Together we will build the land, I'm hearing the roar of the dinosaur, from millions of years ago. I'm hearing the roar of my daddy's friends. Together we will make the land. Together we will build the cities, the tall buildings, and the skyscrapers, the hollow houses, the big balloons. 27. I'm hearing the roar of a new dream, liquid, racing on new roads to the rainbow and beyond. I'm hearing the roar of the joke, roaring and racing these nights searching for a good end

1. The Dragon Candle ; You could smell the tomatoe .. bringing you to toyland once again ... It was on the back of an eagle ... It flew while you ate ... Could you eat the green tomatoe, when it landed on your back ... You had to wait until it reached your mouth ... 2. Flying Carpet, Carpet makes the stage, He makes the bakertrees, where uncle peacock bows it is your destiny, 3. When Carpets rise, you know it is your time to play, and underneath that warm warm blanket you find your sledge today. 4. It is the Carpet making memory, The Carpet making destiny, The Carpets rise like soldiers on a dream. When the Carpet talks, the city walks, To the city of The Hague, that city at the sea .. Such tall coasts .. will it be your destiny ... 5. To the city of The Hague, will you find your way back, when you have been to The Hague ... It's the Red Golden City ... where all the red raiders stand tall ... 6. These are the towers of talk ... These are the confusions making the creations .. and california will end in arabia ... california will end in arabia .. 7. The tail of a dragon, from california to arabia ... still the spice making your life worth living ... 8. When the octaves rise higher ... 9. It is the ornament, the true time's brother, i wonder about these lanterns so big ... to bring us back to bring us back today ... to the city of the hague ... 10. To the city of The Hague, In the little city of the hague ... a little musical box speaks ... 11. Still a viewmaster in dark caves of stations near the sea, while green aunts stare at all these circling faces of Mickey Mouse, still the statue in the middle. Spinning like a thousand mothers. She's a widow spider. 12. Yes, spit the suns in the green baskets and sell the fruits, for half the price. 13. These are the towers of talk. You have to cheat a bit when you raise your voice. There's a telephone on the radio, a banana on the church, burning the money, for the insurancery rising like a bird from tax's seas.

1. The Fortune-Teller ; I almost don't dare to watch in her eyes It's like falling into a thousand of pitfalls at the same time, pits, fifty miles deep ... 2. Her smile is like the mandarine, in deep extends They warned me saying never go there, where she is, But I'm too curious to resist They say she's breeding sharks 3. I'm watching the rings at her finger They reflect planets I don't know It makes me curious, I want to step on these planets ... 4. They feed me unknown juices I'm creeping through the sand ... I see her misty palace in the distance or is it just a mirage ... 5. She is the queen of the mandarines They say she was my aunt in early days, but my uncle left her, and she went to africa, to live in the deserts ... 6. She's still a magician after all these years, My uncle became too scared of her magic ... 7. She always turned into a werewolf in the night 7. And finally I see my lost aunt for the first time in my life It's like a million of sharks are staring at me She smiles deep ... You're still that little baby, she sais 8. She shows me her chrystal ball, and I see myself running through the skies ... 9. She smiles, I always followed you by watching my chrystal ball ... she sais ... You were always my little tv-star ... 10. She asks me to drink some of her liqor But no, I say, I have to drive home tonight 11. She sais : home is gone, it's now in the chrystal ball This is your new home ... 12. It's like a million of sharks are smiling at me ... But aunt, I say, I only have clothes for one day 13. She shows me a wardrobe full of suits, saying not to worry about that I immediately like the pink ones decorated with white ... See, you're still a baby, she sais 14. Hun, I need to tell you something, before you go to sleep I still become a werewolf at night, and then the sharks will walk through the room, cleaning the house cooking tomorrow's meals, and working in the garden ... I say no problem, but don't wake me ... 15. The fortune-teller smiles Where am I ? I ask ... You were far away, she sais ... 16. Why are you doing this to me, I ask To show you that your dreams are real, she sais ... I look at my hands, and see my aunts ring on one of my fingers ... 17. Yes, it's true, I say A little shocked ... Then she closes her book, And I fall asleep again

1. Hail to those who received the nipplian shields, the eternal heart in Izu-Avah, those of the hybrid smiles of death. 2. Hail to those who walk the hybrid paths, in which they can move their arms and legs. 3. They can breath forever in Izu-Avah. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. Hail to those who walk the ocean heart, hail to these men who have found the multi-gender, to live forever in the heart of Amen. 4. Hail to those who have read the words of the paradise. Amen-Talgamen-Amen, for they have reached for the rocks of Belcanov, to find the golden pearl in the midst of holy-do-ers. Amen-Rise-Amen. 5. Hail to those who received the nipplian shields in their chests, those who could move their rippling scanners for a multi-scan. 6. They are the holy-do-ers on holy mountains. Hail to those whose nipples are protected. 7. In the hands of Izu they will dwell. Hail to those who have the old faces in their keys, for they will reach for Izu-Jamaica's sands, to enter the lands of Cobra. 8. They have the youngest and oldest smiles to lead them all through the valleys of death. Hail to those who have the eternal heart of Izu-Avah in their chest, for they can reach for the widow spider laying dormant in the middle of easy faces. 9. They have seen the visions of Nostradames, to become paranoid and neurotic. 10. Hail to those who have survived the strikes of Belcanov, for they have become softer and softer, by the glues of Brannan. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have been struck by a fever to become healthy. They have been struck by chaos to become ordered, 11. Yet they are wild. They are the wild men, the wild boys, becoming raiders, while they are sleeping in trees. 12. They have become darker and paler, covered by chocolate, vanilla and peppermint. Hail to those who have survived, for they have been struck by confusion to become creative. 13. They do not marry, but travel from woman to woman, to become the shining hermits in the sky, while their lights are slowly fading away turning into darkness. 14. Their hands are cold and their hearts are hot, while they worship the illuminating Biezefic, their son of hearts. He came on the third day of their death, to bring them these new smiles. And they have entered through the cages and caves of Belcanov, 15. To see a new smile, floating on their faces, diving into wild waters to rule them all. Their lips are pierced, their eye-brows waved. They wear the ancient cuts and tattoos on their bodies, 16. As they head for the mark of the hybrids. They have become darker and paler, raiders of a new apocalypse. They have burnt old books, they have eaten from old chocolate, they have wandered through easy wildernesses. 17. Now their heads are difficult, made of paper, while glue and honey is dripping. They have found themselves as puzzles. They have doors in their bodies, as struck by medicine, the curse of medicine. 18. Now they have their own medicines inside, deep down in the ice. Hail to Biezefic. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have waited to greet Marazanta from a distance. They have watched the ripples of new oceans, where they all live underwater, by gravity and fishian smiles. 19. They have found their roots and their holy arks. They have wives like harems, like ancient kings, they have more legs, like the jellypus, they smile. They are raiders, dominating the hard spells. 20. They have lost their lives in deep dark caves, to meet the Benchelot of their hearts. These smiling wolves they faced deep down there, until the dogs of Belchelot led them out, to Izu-Kabbernal they moved their legs, while their arms were reaching for the watering skies. 21. They have watched the faces of Izu-Benchelot so deep, while faces of Izu-Belchelot led them out, to the skies of Brannan and Izu-Kabbernal, they took flight. 22. And now they swim as fishes so deep, in darknesses of deep Saturn in Avah. Amen-Saturn-Avah-Amen. [In Izu]

1. They have found the dark red treasures in Saturn-Avah. [In Izu] Amen-Holy-Amen. They have found their bread so deep, in dark golden treasures of the seas and oceans of their hearts. So deep they found the portal to a new life. 2. And now they're travelling in an acorn, from heart to heart, from tree to tree, to become solar in this new sun. They have the heads of radio, while the tongue of telephone rises. 3. They have found the secrets of tax and insurance, near to the Blue Tree, where Izu-Metensia gave life to Michai and the Aakse. She has the dogs and pigs of Izu in her rings. They have the smiles of Izu-Sarsia. They have seen the eyes of Perremoth, and the trees of Peppermint, in deep caves of Saturn-Aveh. [In Izu] 4. They have entered the signs of liberty, for a new living. They have entered the halls of Avah. [In Izu] First Hall : Saturn-Avah, second Hall : Belcanov-Ra, where the bananas dwell, third Hall : Sandakov Origia, fourth Hall : Belchelot-Ra.

1. The Wizard ; The Arabian palace was hard to reach, The desert was long, and full of snakes ... 2. I'm touching the portal of the palace, But then it disappears ... It was a mirage ... 3. Finally I feel hard ground below my feet, Am I in now ? No, it's only a lost stone in the desert ... The sun breaths in my neck, My shoulders are burning 4. Finally I see someone standing with a mirror, smiling So it was you making all these fata morgana's 5. I'm looking around me, the desert is gone Even the desert was a mirage, just another one's trick I'm in the palace, Cool winds are touching my neck and back 6. My clothes are thin and transparent The sun tattooed my body with dragons, to protect me against the Wizard's eye ... They say his eyes spit fire 7. His cobra's lead me to a room, in the top of one of the palace's towers Two lions will wake over me the night ... They say the black powers will rage when the nights fall 8. In my room it's hot My bed is burning, and flames are dancing on the walls ... 8. I see banana's to eat, but I don't dare to touch them They say they are the wizard's hearts I see them beating on their dishes ... They are pulsating strange feelings into my stomache ... 9. I feel like getting drunk It's the wizard's banana-liquor They say it's necessary for a good sleep, and not to fall out of the dreamship, while sailing over the seas of the night 10. I see black licorice surrounding my ships it glitters in the waters The black sun is enchanting the oceans But there I see you walking on the water, with your little mirror ... 11. And I find myself sitting on your lap It was all a mirage it was you again Uncle wizard, it makes my touch lighter ...

1. The Card-Reader ; These summers with you on Neptune took so long, it was like forever. The days here took so long. I'm staring at the little clock so many numbers. 2. I'm seeing your smile reflecting there, watching Neptunes Teeth Your dress is taller than the sun, telling me stories about a long forgotten past. 3. Your earrings are big You got them from an Arabian Queen. 4. The way you use to smoke your tall cigarettes is too mysterious to describe, a dignified kill is what you always called it. And oh, yes, you are so dignified, tempered and patient. 5. You always said you don't wait for anything. You always said to wait is to die. Your smiles reach the bottoms of Jupiter and Saturn, they are still your loving sisters. 6. When you shuffle your cards, there is no one who can say anything. When the lady speaks, everyone is silent. You know the snakes around my neck. 7. Softly you close the curtains, as in slow-motion. I'm trying to catch a glimpse of the ceilings here, but all I see is smoke and fog I wonder if this house has ceilings at all. 8. You smile, and give me a glass of strange wine, or is it liquor ? Anyway, only by watching in the glass, seeing the rubyred moist, I get a sting in my stomache, and something climbs my back, embracing my neck as a soft wind. 9. Is it your monkey or just a trick ... or am I just dreaming I'm getting dizzy staring in the glass ... You still hold it before my eyes, I don't dare to touch the glass 10. No, give me some apple-juice, I ask You say you don't have apple-juice, only these sorts of blends There I see myself sinking away in the glass You smile deep, and saying : "Come on, give it a try, take a good pull." My legs start to shake, and I'm falling on the ground 11. Your carpet is so soft I feel myself like lying in the grass I am looking at my watch, seeing more numbers growing on it 12. Your face reflecting Seeing Neptune's Teeth 13. No, no, no one can ever say I drank from this mixture, this only happened by staring at it You smile, and while turning your back to me, you walk to a bookcase, so tall, I couldn't see where it ends 14. Maybe it doesn't end If there is no ceiling, there is no top of this bookcase But I don't know, I only see smoke and fog 15. You smile while giving me a book I shiver, I don't dare to touch it ... While staring at it, I feel all strength streaming out of my body I'm lying on the grass again 16. Someone's touching my fingers Your monkey ? 17. You smile Turning the blank pages, while disappearing in the fog

their reflexes are broken off ... the fly made them immune 3. yes, they are rooted in water, tighter than ground they are rooted in a new sensory experience which speaks to their mind it's like a new drug, a new medicine they are so drunk 4. they have been stung by a strange fly stranger than they could imagine ... something that flew beyond their thoughts and ideas 5. and then suddenly, like the strike of thunder they lose all their passions and desires ... all their hungers inside because it became all too heavy now they are indifferent ignorant losing all their memories and senses to go into a sleep deeper than death something is erasing and deleting their minds like hell it's the strange fly 6. a light smile is appearing on the faces of the bloodhounds they recognize this voice but they can't remember who or what a light smile is appearing in their hearts ... like a flame so light and thin they don't respond they are far away ... their reflexes have been died out broken away 7. powders of tragic lullabies are being spread throughout the night 8. they look into the faces of many flies, they are under an insectian curse ... all tragic lullabies 9. deleted by a flash their screens will soon be deleted from the mainscreen like breaking into medical powders finer than the finest strike 10. They are finding themselves on the back of a white fly again and they feel so many injections in their nerves and brains it's like getting an overdose and they fall in a heavier sleep becoming so heavy that it's like they cannot move their heads anymore 11. rippling images are flowing over them, but they can't enter it's like they are hard like stone they see a doctor's hand it's all an experiment while the images are moving the images change 12. a voice is speaking : these are languages of the fly these are languages of sleep then another voice is speaking : these are dances of the lullaby 13. a spider called "white thunder" was descending like there where millions and millions of helicopters descending to the wildest surfaces of the seas 14. a man called "rara sur" was standing on the fragile shells of rippling existences descending his spirit he was the god of slow-motion 15. hard rain was falling, while the thunders were charging the atmosphere all by strange delights 16. "you have to eat new meat," a voice was speaking 17. suddenly as by thunderstrike, the heavens were shocked open, white powder was exploding and millions of spiders were attacking 18. the river his mother is screaming and tries to take his hand but the strong stream is taking him away very quick his mother is diving in the river too but she fails to find him 19. he all sees this while sliding away further and further he sees his own funeral in a flash until a boat is picking him up finding himself in a room 20. while a friendly lady is smiling at him he smiles back and walks towards her but suddenly the face of the woman changes into a mean cynical face in flames laughing at him very loud 21. he's smashed against the wall by this sight he's watching outside seeing a world drowning ... children ... mothers ... fathers 22. then the lady is grasping at him from behind and tries to strangle him with panties ... 23. Now he saw the woman like she was older than everything, and it was like lightning struck his face ... but he became calmer and calmer ... 24. he realized that the woman was losing her powers she turned into an old wasp and was flying to the butchery suddenly the picture was in flames and he heard screams harder than ever 25. like his ears were exploding and blood was coming out of them but he knew his real body was inside he felt like his skin was torn off 26. like he was also going through a cocoon he felt so many strange powers in his eyes, like he could burn everything by his focus 27. He felt himself like a lethal wasp ... 28. "you are the seventh one", a voice spoke. 29. their mouths are becoming so mean all of a sudden It felt like they were walking on a thin wire ... surrounded by dangerous electricity 30. while a wild sea of fire was roaring under them touching all the silent beauty, touching all the fragile layers it was like he was turning into a white fly like he was in a strange sort of cocoon too mysterious to describe and understand 31. it was like his memory didn't exist anymore serene slowmotion waves of a white ocean ... he was never born he was dying it wasn't his cradle in which he slept as baby ... it was his grave 32. this ocean is so large ... surrounding his whole being ... he breaths in the white rippling powders [while it's shivering between brannan and lapsalvania.] 33. He wanted to bring something on the market as a product of these two interests together ... He was thinking about a new line of technology responding to the fine electricities of trees. 34. He had a lab in the place he lived, where he had invented such a scanner, which could catch the vibrations of trees, producing signals on their special frequency-zone 35. It took him years to find and rate the different wave-index's of different trees, and the patterns of communication together with the interaction between these different layers ... 36. he had formed the scanner into a box which could store these energies and transform these to use them for different instruments. 37. This would be a possible way to get rid of environment-pollution. 38. Years later he had invented already a lot of instruments totally working by stored tree-energy. He had invented a tree-energy-based computer, with internet and virtual reality. 39. It became a revolution on earth, and smashed the pollution down like never before. Many factories started to switch over to this new form of electricity-use. 40. He became the hero of the society, but he didn't like all this attention ... He was glad he still lived so isolated 41. And he loved to make trips through the forests sleeping in a tent to stay close to the trees He felt safe here and this was his place he got so much inspiration 42. The revolution went on ... and soon the whole society worldwide was based on tree-energy It was a new industrial revolution. 43. Soon enough many scientists started to work in the project. A major change was coming into all layers of society : religion, education, politics, science, and many more. Wave after wave of revolution entered earth ... It was a breakthrough in total evolution. 44. Scientists were developing a system to set the moving mosaics into smell. By this system one could bring the healthy flavors of trees everywhere. Also the higher forms of smell which couldn't be traced by human noses could be translated into the present frame of nose-sensitivity. 45. But scientists wanted to recreate the nose by their genetic experiments. The frequency-borders of human organs and cells needed to be stretched out The effect of this new science was that human beings became taller and more sensitive ... so that everything would be refined deeper digested Humans became thinner 46. It was like the elves were returning to earth 47. He was now working on a project to conduct insectian electricities. And soon enough he could set the incoming patterns into visual information. 48. It was a strange mosaic, it was wilder than what he got from the trees, and it was like little sharp lines mixed through each other It was a wild dance he saw 49. And he had the feeling someone really wanted to talk to him but he tried to ignore these feelings 49. He wanted to be in peace ... he wanted rest ... staying pure scientific but the screens became wilder and wilder Finally he put it off for it was like the screens were almost exploding ... the instruments were already overheated 50. He lived in a house near the sea ... One day he got a letter from someone from the Young Scientist Association ... They wanted to talk to him, for they said that they had worked out his Insectian-based instruments ... They had developed a mechanism which could translate the insectian mosaic code into human languages. 51. He was very sceptical about it and didn't respond. A few years later he got another letter, that they got messages from the translated mosaic-codes about him. They wanted to speak to him about it. But he thought it could be all part of the conspiracy, so he didn't respond. 52. A few months later he got another letter. This time it contained the messages from the codes. He was like in a shock, for it contained some details he never spoke about. The insectian codes also told that they tried to reach him before. 53. He remembered when he first started to get the insectian mosaics on screen that these were so wild that everything started to get overheated 54. New revolutions came on earth since the codes were cracked It seemed this new insectian technology showed easily the conspiracies ... The frequencies were burning them inside Organisations started to melt away for this was a very personal technology. It was like a holocaust People were set in fire 55. it was burning their organs away There were forestfires, and even some seas were burning There were skeletons on the streets 56. Babies were screaming Playgrounds were burning away schools churches Justice-courtsshops And the fire was spreading more and more there was smoke everywhere 57. While the new insectian computers and observatoriums were built further The tragedy of truth was now leading them Almost all other governments were falling ... Many famous leaders were totally burnt to the ground ... many famous popsingers and sportheroes They all appeared to be members of the Big Conspiracy 58. New education-systems were rising, insect-based There were screens on which you could see the mosaic appearing on one side, while on the other side the translation appeared in many human languages giving very detailed information it set people on fire 59. The world was getting ready for insectian cybernetica, and a new cyborg-structure Many famous old scientists were shot away ... A total new scientific government started to form itself on earth with many young leaders 60. It was like the insects were born on earth Humanity became taller and thinner men started to let their hair and beards grow It was like Jesus was returning to earth Native Americans and other minorities got their honour back. 61. But he was very sceptical he knew that this was only one step in identification This was only the first wave ... and he warned the people for it He wanted to live in silence he saw the dangers hanging over the earth

1. He and some other four walked to a white castle in the distance ... It looked like a palace ... When they were in they saw an old woman who was like waiting for them She was clothed in white ... but they didn't see this woman before ... She held a die before their eyes, and said that their whole world was living in this die 2. It was like earth was traveling to the exit .. 3. Since that the air became stranger and stranger, and it was like a strange hand was taking over the world. 4. Meanwhile science developed itself in insect-based technology, and one was specifying the several area's in this. 5. The wasp-electricities could be caught and seemed to be very useful in many ways. 6. and soon they got these frequencies on the screen ... It seemed that the wasps communicated by holograms, mostly by cubes, looking like dice in many cases. 7. One could trace the different forms of this unique communication. And it seemed the more they developed this wasp-base in technology, the more hidden secrets were being revealed ... 8. There were more exposures of conspiracies, By the releasement of this new electricity in so many ways, the earth-temperature was becoming hotter and hotter, and science found out that wasps directly tap from the suns in different cosmoses. 9. The earth was about to change into a new sun ... and science was in a race against the clock to prepare humanity for that. It was like the sun was touching the earth, but it was not the same energy ... 10. it was a controlled and concentrated energy, a focussed energy, and it seemed there was a solar cocoon for humanity to learn how to handle solar energy. 11. Seas of fire were roaring on earth ... But one didn't realize that anymore for they were stuck in their own balls golden balls like a strong concentrated energy 12. He was at peace ... he was finally in the silence he so desired ... For all the pressures and expectations of organisations and governments were slowly strengling him ... like he was in the arms of a devastating insect ... 13. He felt free. It was like the show was over now, and he could finally live for himself instead of for others ... 14. He couldn't care about them anymore, for he knew they had to live their own lives, making their own decisions ... 15. Life would have a fitting cocoon for them and he even didn't know who they were ... He just wanted to be blanco for now ... 16. The temperature was very good but suddenly images were appearing on the walls of the golden one .. They were rippling like a movie, and it was like hands tried to touch him 17. "Well done," he heard a voice saying ... 18. Hours and hours went on, while images were appearing trying to take him away and he knew all the other people of earth would go through the same soon he was very tired of it and he fell asleep 19. When he woke up, he saw the ball was transparent, and all sorts of insects were creeping over it He saw the images coming from them ... from their mouth, their eyes, claws or other parts 20. In the distance he saw a docter with some injection-needles Suddenly the docter walks to the ball, opens it and takes him out It feels so strange for the docter is like a giant to him 21. The docter has a very high voice, but explains to him that he's still in his golden ball, that this is just a trick of holograms the docter asks him to shake himself very quickly 22. And when he started to do it the holograms started to disappear while he found out he was really in his golden ball 23. He started to feel so weird inside ... Like his mouth was in fire ... hearing this strange song ... His ball was surrounded by golden pharao's pouring golden tea inside the ball ... it was like he was drowning in it, and he was drinking it ... setting his mouth and teeth on fire ... while his whole body was boiling ... 24. Suddenly he didn't believe in this golden ball anymore ... He wanted out of it ... for it was like he was in hell ... And he knew all what looked like to be out of the ball was also in the ball on the screens ... 25. A voice was saying : "you can never say you weren't warned" 26. He thought by himself : "Well did I do something wrong, that I am in this cursed ball now ?" The voice then said : "No, but you were prepared for this, right ?" "You knew you would have to see more tragedies of truth" 27. "The point is you were drinking this tea since birth, but you now start to realize it ..." And then the voice was melting away ... It was like he was getting stung by a thousand of gnats ... he realized it was always there, but now he started to realize it ... 28. It was like for the first time in his life, he really connected to his body ... He could feel his body ... 29. He saw something like an electric eel lying before him ... with a body so bright that it blinded everything else ... 30. it changed the vibrational structures of the surroundings and the vague shapes ... the emotional responses it brought ... all indexes of experience changed ... and it was like he could only stare at this enormous being of paralyzing light ... It was like it was absorbing him totally 31. She's riding with the golden skin ... She's sitting in the golden fly She's sitting there to let it spin ... She never takes her dreams back ... she plants it all into you ... all these voices too loud all these sights too bright ... paralyzing the rest of you 32. And he felt like paralyzed ..Like in a shock ...Watching this electric fish-like being [so solar] Watching like he couldn't watch anything else ... while the pharao's were pouring their tea ... 33. He saw lullabies dance ... He saw lamentations stand around them While Viewmasters were coming forth ... His eyes were like eating the pictures ... And these were as honey so sweet But in his stomach ... It became like rage A rage he couldn't understand ... a rage he couldn't describe ... 34. It was absorbing his mind ... and it was like he was growing into a statue ... For outside they are shapeshifting each other ... changing each other. 35. Always changing the shapes, always changing the indexes, always changing the colours Until there wasn't an identity anymore ... only an eaten soul layer by layer 36. what a strange, strange viewmaster channeling the ray of light, from high above. 37. But now what he saw here ... was an apocalyptic march of lamentations and you will look into the face of a viewmaster ... the face of an electric fishlike being [so solar] ... 38. A voice said : "you can never say you weren't warned ..." [Mickey Mouse on a candlestandard.] 39. In this electric fishlike being [so solar], he felt himself like a statue ... There was no need to switch anymore ... For it was like here there wasn't time ... 40. All hard parts were connected into the statue All truths ... All he needed for this moment He felt himself ... like a rock He felt that the clock had done it's last tick 41. And it was like his brains were locked now protected against any split against any switch 42. He felt himself like being an ornament now living in a shell ... living in a diamond having a new viewmaster 43. And then it was like he was diving through a million of golden rings locking him up into this new world ... they all had their advanced ways of locking it up they span so fast and he watched their figures slowly spinning into a tight statue a tight ornament the tight rings they were ... 44. He now realized that the clocks made him so soft ... molding him changing him while he could never get grip ... while the vultures were eating like an oyster He loved to watch the pearls inside he loved to spin them he desired to live inside of them ... 45. In the distance he sees his old marbles They are suns having the colours of stones and metals 46. He's seeing the solar ornaments, the solar stairways, while it's becoming dizzy in his mind 47. He's trying to grasp them but they are flying away It's like they are there, but when he grasps it's all staring and smiling at him from another place ... 48. He wants to learn their languages He wants to be in their racecars He wants to ...

 49. He wants so much ... All his desires rise to the edge Is this the road to New Aldebaran ? 50.
 He wants to be on the racecourts ... to roll on them ... to learn a new language to the heart ... 51. He wants to race on banana-roads to learn the language of the banana ... He wants to jump over borderlines over red-lines and dead-lines ... He wants to 52. "You can never say you weren't warned," a voice speaks ... And then it's like he's melting away Into a sort of fruit ... Into the banana of his dreams ... heading for ... 53. A new Aldebaran ... He wants to fall into spirals of new suns until he reaches the taste of the fruit the core a new world to enter ... 54. he's in a solar cocoon ... melting and melting inside ... 55. he's melting by gold, pearls, silver, emerald ... like living in a diamond ... 56. A voice is speaking : "you can never say you weren't warned" 57. In this solar-womb he will grow ... inside the mother ... not outside ... he will be safe forever here his daddy lives in his mom 58. he's heading for a new aldebaran he wears so many rings on his fingers now ... and he sees the wasps flying from sun to sun ... the wasps are so large he can sit on them they will show him the way to this strange land ... Children of the Sun 59. He was thinking ... what would be the best way for humans to communicate ? direct or indirect ? by telephone or tape ... wouldn't it be much more safe when people just hear something which was already spoken ? then they could also have time to react to it ... 60. ... He found out that earth's communication went too fast It was almost manipulative ... all the need for autograph's ... fast answers ... no one would wait one minute for the other's words 61. and this was causing all the accidents ... the prejudices ... the impulsiveness ... for no one dared to slow down anymore one didn't want to be rejected ... 62. He didn't believe in all this society-stuff He was a hard worker ... thinking that only the lazy ones created society ... 63. ... he found that people just covered their laziness by their talkative actions ... the social strings were about to strangle the whole earth in his eyes he never went to parties he was always working in his cellar 64. His son's dreams were inspirations for him ... Such a little boys having such dreams It was still unbelievable for him ... he wrote all his son's dreams down in maps, and these were almost his sacred agenda's ...
 9.1. There were also snakes who could enter their bodies through their wounds, their mouths or other gaps in their bodies, even between their buttocks. Sexual Revolution as Inner Freedom Revolution, not as unclean, dependent slavery. This is the statement of our master. 2. Snakian Sexuality wants you to be reconnected to the divine, to the love-relation with yourself. It is the Fire and the Ice mixed. 3. The Python is sent out to your earth with a mighty vibration. It's task is to bring you back to yourself. 4. We welcome you for initiation in our temples for the highest good. 5.
 The dark spine can be connected to the dark coccyx, as a way for the dark kundalini snake to rise. 6.
 This can reconnect you to the dark genders, the lost sources destroyed by an overload of impulsive light, the uncontrolled women-vibration and the overcontrolling men-vibration. 7. Together they form the damage-bringing Blinding Light, eating away the brain, in which a sick superficial brain can develop itself as artificial polarized intelligence. 8. It lives by slavery and 'prey'. We got our knowledge from masters. We bring honour to them for their works and love. We saw in them : They gave us the most proper gifts they could give us. Amen and Talgamen. 9. Honour to Sarsia, who brought us a light in total peace to the darkness. There is a day in the night, a light surrounded by dark wings, to bring the light back to that which is hidden, the gnosis, the secret knowledge. 10. I want you to know about the secrets of Eeden. There was a Pythonian Tree, where the Python lived. 11. This Tree was called 'Secret or Hidden Sexuality'. But Adam and Eve chose to eat the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, instead of connecting themselves to nature and themselves, and they really got raped by the snake of that tree. 12. It was a black snake wanting to rule the world by polarized knowledge, while humanity lost it's sensitivity. 13. Of course there are many versions of this story, and you can even switch their meanings. 14. Humans must find their way to the hidden tree, the pythonian tree of secret sexuality, to be initiated in our temples. 15. The forces of polarized sexuality are strong and dangerous for they spread diseases, dependency and damage-bringin group-energies. 16. You must find the serene key of sexuality into yourself, as a portal to have experiences of Oneness with the divine. 17. The Serene Orgasms from the Hidden Tree come when you are into deep connection with it. 18. It seems you have to make a pilgrim's progress, a stairways of initiations. 19. I am the Python of your dreams, penetrating the membranes of your brain, so strengthen them, and to make the fleeces flexible and multi-layered. 20. I make your emotional bio-electric bodies flexible and connected by innerlinks, to soothe and strengthen the worthy and serene chainreactions of nature provided to help you on your way to access infinity. 21. There was a conspiracy between the man and the woman. Glory to Tujaja on this day. May the good Goddess bless you on your path, and may the python guard your steps. 22. We will lead you along the hidden pythonian genders locked up in the spine. 23. Eat from the hidden tree, and find the darkness of Eeden again. Then all your knowledge can be transformed and repatterned, as a ladder back to Eeden. 24. Then the dark snake can rise to activate the dark spine and the dark coccyx, to open up the dark layers of DNA, for new recodings and allignements. 25. Glory to the Kingdom of Ra, glory to the Egyptian Snakes. The snake comes from the core of the earth through this basket and then it rises in the spine, to sink down again into the core. 26. This is a mighty vibration and there are many snakes to awaken. 27. There are stories in which Eva found the hidden tree and ate from this fruit, while she had sexual experiences with god. In another story the one who ate from this fruit was called 'Lillith'. 28. Eva and Lillith in their good forms are goddesses in our pantheon as well. They are the mothers of Life and Sexuality. 29. I will bring lots of glory from the moon. 30. I penetrate your mind and dreams as your guide and guard in the orbits and tides of the planets, coming like mighty waves over the earth. 31. I teach you what it is to switch, to transform, and to see the beauty of the spirals of nature, still showing the same colours, but then it slowly switches over to another spiral for there are also spirals in spirals. 32. Go from beauty to beauty, everything has it's opposite and needs it's opposite to develop itself. 33. This is at first a painful process but later you learn to use this pattern as a plug as a sense to call for other patterns. 34. There are patterns within patterns, and they switch. Dive into these seas of patterns, and make friendships with every tide to use them well, to channel them through your body without blocking them, to let them flow through your body without judging them. 35. See how rivers call for rivers, it is all a big mystery of life, calling forth mightier and mightier waves, until it is all swallowed and put in divine order. Give this process a chance. 36. Let the solar energies digest that what you have in mind, for a total transformation and a total new creation. And when you make the decision to accept it and use it, it will mold in your hands, and be a stone of life's temple. Be a temple of life. 37. Let the energies roar through your spine, and let the python plug in, on the several connection-points of the spine. 38. Let the python then bite in your mind to intoxicate you, and to build your bio-electric pythonian helmet. Be ready for initiations. Invite the pythonian forces into your dreams. 39. There were a lot more trees in the garden of Eeden. There was a green wet tree, through which you could have access to the wet world. 40. The pythonian records could be found there, stored in soft wet cushions. 41. There's a story that when Eva eats from the hidden tree and becomes one with god, she gives birth to a sort of former Jesus-figure. 42. It is a sort of snake-figure but it has legs and arms. The story describes how this snakian Jesus loses his arms and legs under a curse and becomes the sort of snake we know these days. 43. However they never lost their abilities to shapeshift at times into beings with legs and arms, and even into beings with many legs and arms and sortlike tools. 44. The tree coming forth from this divine mating is the blue tree, also the Tree of Taboo. 45. Under this tree Metensia gave birth to her sons Michai and the Aakse (who became a fallen angel after awhile). 46. God planted many genders in this garden. There was one tree in this story these genders weren't allowed to eat from. 47. It was the woman-man tree giving them access to an abyss were only men and women were allowed. The boss of this abyss was called Apollyon. This is a story in a Pythonian Bible. 48. The first kundalini snake about to rise is the blue kundalini snake in the solar blue project. 49. It will rise from the Blue Tree and then overflow the woman-man abyss. This will be like a metaphysical flood. A lot of false spirits will be drowned on that 'Day', the Day of Our Dear Lord, which is actually a period. 50. This will bring a new era for earth, as the Aquarian Waters will rise layer by layer to bring justice in the abysses of the earth. 51. There will be metaphysical changes of an enormous grade, while certain mighty women will lose their gifts, and fall. 52. There were women who went to deep into the woman-man abyss of Apollyon, and they reached a lot of illegal powers and control. 53. They will be drawn back one by one, or group by group. Tides will turn. 54. The second Kundalini Snake to rise is the Great White Kundalini Snake, when the Solar Ships of the Blue Sun have reached the cores of the White Solar Shells of the matrix of universes. 55. This will be an inter-universal strike. One is able to enter the White Solar Ships for further access on the Solar Stairways, while this Mighty Kundalini Snake is rising. 56. It is coming from the core, to recode and change sexuality. It is a sexual force, but clean and serene. It comes with destructive fires to clean the core of the earth and all its layers. In this there will be new creations, and the layers of the mind start to fall to make place for the true images of life. 57. She will carry the Pink Link in her hands, ready to install it into the stomach as a seed. Soft pink fires are coming from it, surrounded by glowing layers of ice and snow in such a strength that it radiates a heat beyond solar energy. 58. It is the heat of ultra-ice, such a coldness that it turned into an all-destructing fire. She is a supernatural lady, she is a pink vulcano of divine orgasms bringing you back to memory by tears. 59. By tears you can store and remember, to give you access to the hidden tree of secret sexuality. She is reflecting the liver of the cosmos, the storage of the body, her name is Pele, a Hawaiian Goddess. 60. It is a Tree of Memory, illuminating who you are, where you come from, and who belong to you. 61. There will be such tremendous forces of heat awakening on earth, that earth will get solar qualities step by step. 62. You will see the miracles happening before your eyes, when you walk these Gaian Pathways, as a way to bring the neural Gaian pathways into your mind. 63. Layer by layer you will have this access when you stay in these words and flows. 64. I am speaking to your heart, and when you feel this connection, reply to me, to let the mighty vibration between you and me arise ... 65. Let us be the keys together, to open new universes, as a solution, as a continuation of the good life. You are a wonder, let us melt together. 66. All these new patterns, you can be part of it, as being a key in ascension .. I love you, please reply to my love, as I am interested in you. 67. I will give you total freedom, we will have the vibration of a growing fire and a growing ice to set us both free, so that we can fly together becoming lighter and lighter by getting rid of the heaviness of slavery and expectation ... 68. Be free, give freedom, and you will ... 69. The laws of your biology are cruel. Let me lead you to a total new biology, on a strong pythonian base. 70. I want you to know that the pythonian energy is one of the most refined powers of existence. There are layers in the earth denied, while they were there for your protection. Let me raise the animallistic shields around you. 71. There are many sorts of green kundalini snakes to rise from here. They are to cleanse the blood, change the directions of its magnetic grids and vibrational patterns. 72. This is a powerful crystallizing force, with the ability to release the inner juices and sweetness. 73. It is the ornamental art, also combined to architecture. It is an ancient mother-source of the white-red pattern. 74. Strong Jupiterian Force of Ornamental and Lighter Architecture. Powerful crystallizing and ornament-forming force with the ability to release the inner lights, powders and fires inside. 75. Strong Aldebaran-based force of cavebuilding, thunder and lightening. 78. The chip will bring a new hormonal index based on new sorts of glandfunctioning by the new codes this chip radiates. 79. There will be Pythonian Camera's to crystallize this process, and within new codes of powders and fluids proclaiming immunology will be activated and secreted. 80. In the green spot, everything becomes wet.

1. They knew about the frequencies of different slimes creating a total new body. 2. He always said that society was the main killer, but industry gives a chance to survive. 3. He was an evolution-freak of the hybrid theory. 4. This theory would end up in a definite link between humans, trees and animals. 5. They would produce the slimes necessary to survive the dangerous and endless future. 6. He had developed guns with all sorts of slimes to select. Every slime sort had another function. 7. The slimes were very good for farms to breed all sorts of trees and species. 8. These were implants taking place in dark underground labs by high frequencies in the form of flashes and sounds. 9. Suddenly all sorts of slimes were flowing through his body, and he felt like he was really becoming a hybrid. This was a deeper feeling of liberty. 10. Her name was Onnia. She was almost like a monster, and could do much shapeshifting. 11. The slimes were streaming through her veins, and always when he saw her he got the chills, like a cool touch in his neck. 12. He liked Onnia, and he said he would work on her to give her some really special abilities. 13. Onnia was an Onak, a large slimy and hairy being. 14. Her back turned a bit over, and she looked like a prehistoric crocodile-gorilla. He loved the construct, and would love to work on her for a few days. 15. He would ask their old teacher to come taking a look. 16. One day he came, and it was very good for him to see his old friends. He wanted to make a trip in the capsule and started to sit in. 17. After an hour he stepped out. 'What a beautiful world of ambient seas and shelters, labs and evolution. This is so devoted to the hybrid theory.' 18. The beings looked like Onaks, and their movements were so dignified, wild and breath-taking. There were rivers of slime, green slime, and black slime, and the atmospheres were full of dark colours. 19. They had experiences with underground snakes. 20. They were often much bigger than the snakes they knew from above the ground. They were now so deep. They lost all their equipment by the eruptions, and still much lava was flowing. The lava was flowing to the world above the ground. Did their visit trigger these eruptions ? 21. The world was in fire and lava now. 22. These were dark holes, with less fires, although the atmosphere was getting hotter. 23. It was like they would be burnt alive when they would go further. 24. They decided to wait awhile. And to their surprise the temperature was getting lower. They started to move on, they had to move with this temperature, as a bubble in hot areas, or was this temperature attached to a certain time-period of a day or a week ? 25. They were speaking in a strange language. All of a sudden there were lightflashes. Green, brown and black slime was coming forth. When they came closer it appeared to be a giant spider. This is what we worship, the woman said. 26. It is a winged spider. Suddenly the spider spread its wings and flew towards them. She said she brought them to the least dangerous temple, but the rest of the temples were very dangerous. From there the flies ruled. 27. The woman started to cry : 'The gods there are very aggressive. They came from deep underground to capture our lands. We had to build temples for them, so that they could be worshipped and served, but they are very cruel. 28. Every year we must sacrifice children and old people to them. They can spit fire, and they say they are the rulers of the sun. Their faces are so cynical, we feel deeply humiliated by them. 29. 'It's okay, we will help you,' they said. 30. 'But that's impossible,' the woman said, 'they are too strong.' 28. 'We will go deeper underground to find out where they are coming from and what the origin of their strength is,' he said. 31. They had slept one night in the temple of the winged spider. It was the oldest temple of the land, and the spider promised them that if they would be in danger he would try to help them, but he told them that even he himself couldn't defeat the flies. 32. These flies were big and meat-eating, having special powers and spells. Their wings had arrows to paralyze their victims in a short amount of time. In the temple of the spider there was a cave leading underground. 33. The snakes were more aggressive here, but the woman tried to soothe them with her flute. It worked a bit, but sometimes they had a wrestling. 34. The ground was muddy, and sometimes it was hard to move. They decided to creep for awhile, also because the tunnel was getting smaller. 33. They heard the sounds of different buzzing insects, and also the snakes were making sounds. 35. Suddenly the ground below them cannot hold them any longer and they fall into an enormous web. The air is full of poison, and they are surrounded by black spiders having big different coloured spots. 36. They are sliding towards a nest of flies while their bodies are glued now. When they fall in the nest, it appears to be a doorway to a temple. 37. Flies are attacking them and sucking them. Then suddenly the flies disappear and they stand all alone, watching into the distance of the temple. Bigger flies are flying there, making high buzzing and zooming sounds. 38. Then a flying snake appears screaming and spitting fire, and another, until the whole temple is full of shouting flying snakes. 39. In the midst of them a gigantic black fly is rising, having dark orange and red squares on its body. 40. Red rays can be seen in his body, for it's a bit transparent. 41. He has a crown in his hands with different colours of gold, and slime comes forth from it, in which all sorts of animals rise. 42. 'Throw the woman in the pit of octopuses,' he spoke loud to the flying snakes. 43. And they carried her there, while she was screaming. But he dived after her, and started to fight the octopuses. The octopuses were very strong, and it looked like they were not going to make it. 44. Suddenly the winged spider appeared and stung the octopuses one by one. The fly got into rage and started to block the waterpit. He was spitting solar gasses, and the spider told them to dive. 45. But suddenly an enormous black whale came to the surface to let the capsule crash. 46. Green slime was dripping into the seas, and it was floating to the worlds above. 47. He was staring at the amulet he got from the woman, the black golden one with the green slimy stone.

1. Wars of the Flies ; In the distance the soft machineguns and canons were shooting, pulsating, like liquid balls and eggs together, while soft winds surround them. The heat is intensive, someone is breathing. 2. By a wind and a flash, they are exploding into white powder. 3. Their mouths are contracting, while the venom flows into their mouths. The mountains are high here, while snow and dust covers them, where the sun licks the roofs and the ripples. 4. He has white golden wires coming from his shoulders, while his white golden uniform is blinding the mass. His teeth pulsate the heat, while soft winds surround his attacks. 5. There isn't always much to do. Sometimes it's really boring. The webs of wild flies are worse than that of spiders. These racecars are a species of flies. There's coming soft smoke from their throats. Watch these suns they have in their ornaments. 6. The white golden sun is standing tall, while someone tall, almost bald, leaves the stages to take a boy from the streets. The Lord of the Flies is taking him to an island. 7. He's coming tall accepting no complaints. Someone gets the tall ornaments, to hang in the trees of their gardens. 8. He's a wild fly, growing undercover in so many worlds. 9. He stares at the tall ornaments growing taller. From here he can grow to the heights. 10. In the White Golden city they gather, all these white flies. A White Golden Hand takes them away. The White Golden Snake penetrates the chest, to give them more hearts. 11. They are breeding a white species ... These golden rains ... They shine through the night ... Unity smiles on the mountains ... The red stripes take them to an ocean of feathers ... where marazanta screams in pale spots ... 12. The boy has pale ripples on his body, and some pale spots ... a piece of art on plastic ... 13. White boy contracting their mouths to enjoy the white silver venom ... 14. They can do political speeches, shaking them out of their sleeves ... 15. It's thunder when they speak ... and then they greet Marazanta ... It's a mouthcontracting ornament made by seven mice ... 16. They rule the world like cake ... It's a daytime spring ... on waves they take flight ... 17. The big coffins on the other side of chess ... they smile ... It ripples like the white silver ... bringing them to the seas of sharks ... all in a Brannan's hat, under Bekehelm's helmet ... 18. On a Brannan's watch ... These boys spit the silver ... and in the middle of the nights they take flight ... Like towers so tall ... they become ... the billboards of machineguns ... the red stripes of the fly ... while their silver ripples were so white ... building these towers ... coming from the seas to live under Bekehelm's helmet ... These cakes. 19. And the man with the white golden hand, he's here, the boy's mouth is contracting ... 20. It's June, for Lazarus Tree ... flowers are coming forth ... fragile white rippling ... over me ... 21. It's June, ... time for Lazarus Tree to bring forth flowers ... 22. It's June, the second time ... a daydream watches elves on a stream ... of white gold and white silver ... taking them in ... they're from the white chocolate ... A white golden hand is what it said ... it's so erected ...

1. Initiations in Pythonian Temples ; Take a deep breath, knowing that there are many temples of a pythonian character are sensitive for the following exercizes which can get their attention to plug you in. 2. Let go of group-energy and stand on your own. You are a group yourself. You don't need anyone for that. Inside you live with different poles. 3. Why not letting them switch and play ? It is your task to bring them all in the picture, and to discover all the poles you need to access infinity. 4. When a certain pole is very weak in your life, or didn't get attention from you, then sometimes nature finds it necessary to make a season of that pole, to let you be devoted to such a part for a great piece of your time. 5. Be sensitive for the poleclock. Ask the pthon to weave a clock fitting for you. 6. Let the python scan your body to find out what the weaker poles are, to reinforce them. 7. These poles become your children. You need to feed them and take care of them. 8. Visualize two pythons to bite in your neck, left and right, these bites are to make you sensitive for python energy, which stores itself a lot in the neck. 9. Then let them glide over your arms to your hands and visualize they bite your hands. This is to bring pythonian creativity in your hands, to make you flexible vibrating and balanced in using the poles. 10. There are a lot of different pythonian temples. Every grade has it's own bio-electric tattoos and so called 'spirit-piercings' all to open and concuct certain energy-canals. 11. It will help you to develop the multi-polair patterns as a way to become pythonian in your spirit and soul. The pythonian nipple-piercings are bio-electric piercings from vibrational structure. 12. It is to stir up and conduct the deeper energies, and as a way to release overload and to protect against it. 13. Bio-electric piercings are very important parts of vibrational immunology. 14. Visualize the pythons biting your nipples in such a way that they leave a tooth there as piercing, and then visualize it as becoming a ring. Visualize that the tooth/ring has the skin of a snake, dark wet sorts of green and pure thick yellow with black rings. 15. Visualize them biting your genitals for the same. It is part of the sexual immunology when you want to channel higher forms of energy. 16. Keep repeating this meditation until you feel it plugs into your mental and emotional frames. 17. It can give you a pythonian sort of gland-activation for higher forms of hormones. When you feel you have succeed in this and you feel comfortable, visualize the same pythons, and let them glide through your ears into your body, where they can glide to the several organs to bite them. 18. Let them give you the inner piercings inside, the same way, but when you start to visualize the skin of the teeth use more red. 19. Red is a deep penetrating colour which can start to regulate and cleanse the blood also, for a better and deeper bloodcirculation. 20. The way you breath can then start to become more pure, and it can start to develop pythonian breathing ... while later it can even reach for the voice to have more pythonian energy in your speech. 21. After the organs you can start with the muscles and bones in the same way. 22. Let them finally bite the coccyx and then slowly breath in letting the energy flow through your left leg into the earth, sinking there layer by layer, to the earthcore, as reflection of the different layers of DNA. 23 Pythonian DNA-Recoding. Pythons can be masters in DNA-Recoding, they actually have deep access to these layers, more than people know. Lay your hands on your chest and visualize a golden bird on your chest, which can give wings to the snake energy inside. 24. They will fly over the seas of DNA, which gives feedback to the spine and the back of the head. Visualize a highpriest and a highpriestess laying their hands on you to bring the initiations and to lay the seed of new gifts in allignment to your journey. 25. Let them put a towel around your head so that you cannot see anything. This is important so that your old views are gone. Let them install pythonian view. Breath in and let them lay their hands on your eyes. 26. Let yourself now come into connections with the pythonian goddesses and gods. Visualize a golden cirkel around your head, while you see yourself sitting on a chair. The cirkel spins very fast and starts to sink over your body. 27. Be one with the divine. Now you can learn about these gods and goddesses to strengthen the initiations and to have access to higher pythonian temples. If you are already initiated by these forms other temples of the pythonian character can have their attention over you more easy. 28. Your aura and karma will get used to the new vibrations or will simply get rid of them when it's not for you. If so, then this experience was just a doorway to another sort of energy for your life. 29. Give nature the time to sort it out, and to bring you the energy-level fitting to your present situation. Never force energy and never expect too much of it. See it as one step to reach for proper ascension. 30. It can be that you have naturally an overdose of pythonian energy by the results or situations of your past lives, or by something else. 31. Then this energy will be sent to the right person by this initiation. When you are really initiated, the temples can easier balance your energy and send it out when necessary. 32. Not everyone is ready for large portions of pythonian energy, but by this initiation it can be sorted out. It is actually a tester and a lesson. Now the energy will find it's own way. 33. It can be that you really find yourself 'home' in this, or that you get the feeling of having a source in your hands, like it is your destiny. That can be true very well. 34. Breath in, and ask the goddesses and gods of the pythonian pantheon to spell your pythonian name. It is not necessary to receive these letters as in hearing them. 35. Just know that you have a pythonian name, and that they use it to connect to you in a deeper way. Maybe later they will reveal this name to you. 36. If you are really a 'chosen' one in pythonian energy, they will attune you to very high tones and very low tones, to have multidimensional access to important places for your pythonian growth. 37. Focus on the wet spine, a green energetic line in the spine, and let it penetrate your coccyx, while breathing in. 38. They are looking for those with the red-white energy-hands. Those ones get a special initiation through the several fronts of the pythonian universe. 39. They will become pythonian channelers and will be prepared for mightier tasks. 40. Pythonian Energy will be clear and directed. It will provide self-conscience instead of suffering under all sorts of sick conscience of others. This however will be a ladder. 41. There were sent out strong paralyzing bio-electric chemicals to the heads of those born under pythonian flags. If you are a chosen one, you will get your consciousness back. 42. There will form new neutraling in your brains breaking every false bio-electric or chemo-link in the brain, to let new neural and vibrational pathways arise. The chemical structures need to be changed out there. 43. The Pythonian Front on earth will care for that, and will send your soul-parts attached to error to several pythonian stations throughout the several universes within the pythonian shells. 44. Prepare for new forms in the DNA and the membrane. If you have roots there you can develop new sorts of movements and attitudes to let new vital forms of energy arrive. Realize that these are the portals for energies. Raise these portals high.

1. Lord of Insects II, Snake's Egg, Psychological Horror. She was running from one wall to the other, so upset. She had something in her mouth, an implant. 2. This she got from aliens. And now she was a prisoner on their ships. I was there watching, me, the monkeyman. 3. I took her by her hands, she smiled, but then she moved her face away. She was in pain, in deep trouble. 4. There were many others on the ship, and I couldn't do anything, for I had these implants too. 5. I could only whisper some words to them, but it seemed they were behind dragonbars. 6. We were all separated from each other, on this strange strange ship. Some mouths were bleeding, a girl was screaming. 7. She got the implant, so deep in her mouth. 'Do you know what you are doing,' she screamed against the machine. 8. But the machine was merciless. 9. You didn't have feeling for direction anymore, and you couldn't enjoy anything. It was always like when you tried to come closer to something, you were blown away by a strange hurricane. 10. The contacts were always short. We couldn't enjoy each other. We always lived in fear. When we looked too long in each others eyes, our heads were turned away by a strange wind. 11. It was like thunder in our heads, then the lightening was blinding us. Blowing us away, further away than before. 12. We were socially disturbed, by this damned implant in our mouths. 13. A girl called White Wool always fainted when the pain got too much. Then she was always laid in my arms, while I was soothing her. But then I had to go, led away by the strange hurricane in my own mouth. 14. It was like the cross of Venus. Watching your children die, while you couldn't do anything. 15. The aliens were merciless. Some begged them to remove the implants but they didn't listen. We were surrounded by satellites. If we came too close to each other, things started to explode. 16. Things in our bodies. This implant controlled our whole body, and it was not the only implant. 17. The implant was riding us. We felt like horses, turning our faces away because of the pain and the pressure. Why did it have to sting so deep ? 18. She had a tigerdog called Odokom who cared for her. He always took her away, when things became too heavy. 19. He was her best friend, but he also had the mouth-implant, and was often fading away, while the girl was in tears.

They felt fear when space-orca's were swimming along the wide windows, controlling the implants. But somehow the radiation gave birth to something deep in their stomachs. Something they desired to see. 23. They got dreams in the night of little snakes coming forth from an egg in their stomachs. These snakes had two colours switching, and were flexible, so flexible. Like they could be a key to every lock. 24. They were screaming by high shrieks, while something else was coming from the egg. It was a shark with a lion's head, surrounded by sharks with snakeheads. 25. It was taking control in their stomachs, like help was on it's way. There were dark lights growing in them, having such secrets. The aliens thought what's going on. 26. Marazanta was the Lord of insects, having a golden pencil, shining at nights. There was a small ball on top of the pencil, the snake's egg. He was interested in these prisoners, and gave them these dreams, coming from the snake's egg in their stomachs. 27. It was a strange pencil, a golden one. The monkeyman went to a hall below the ground, where between the rocks a river dwelled, with sharkships, with lionheads. 28. Surrounded by some smaller sharkships with snakeheads, all coming from the snake's egg. It was Marazanta's Egg, the egg of a black shark.

14. 1. 'Uh. I need to suffer for my Lord,' the preacherman sais softly, while he's shivering in his chair. 'There is only one Lord,' the girl screams. 'And that is Lord Marazanta !' 2. 'Chantal, I think I just got a heart-attack, please call for someone,' the preacherman sais. The girl runs on the street, and screams : 'Please help our dear preacherman. He got a heart-attack !' And soon people run into the house to help the poor man. 3. A couple of days later Chantal and her mom visit the preacherman in the hospital. It's better with him now. 'Hello Chantal,' the preacherman smiles a bit. 'Can you tell me any more of your precious stories. I always liked to hear them.' 4. The girl smiles, and gives a hand to the preacherman. The docter is also there, smiling. 'Yes, Chantal, I heard a lot about you.' 5. Spaceships in the form of lionsharks and snakesharks are moving themselves in the air above the small city. These spaceships are very large. 6. A monkeyman is staring on the hill, watching the space with so many stars. He feels the snake's egg rolling in his stomach, and is ready to speak. He knows it will rise to his mouth, to bring a story. 7. Then he will vomit, but it will all happen inside. It will not come out of his mouth, for then all this precious ink would be spoilt. He will only belch flames. He has precious rings throughout his body. He's grasping one of his arms. He cannot move it anymore. The man is standing up and walks out of the temple. 8. A huge shark is appearing in the sky, having a lion's head. The man walks to his spaceship and leaves. He's just remembering a poem of his childhood, an old poem from an old book, but he always forgets. He has the wings of dementia. 9. It was just an old man, coming out of space, bringing some words of an old poem. He doesn't understand the meaning of the words, but he just wanted to tell what he remembered. And that was all he remembered. 10. A monkeyman sits on a balloon, with a snake's egg in his stomache. These were his last words, and then the man goes to sleep. It was his last trip to the city of temples, his last words to the priests. He didn't know what was going on. These were only his last words, his last memory's from an old poem of an old book. 11. He only knew some things of his childhood, but didn't know who he was anymore. These were his last memory's. He had the wings of dementia. That was all he had. 12. Golden words, of a golden pencil, were all stored, in this snake's egg, while the shark of dementia was flowing through his veins, through rings of fire, he possessed, the things he didn't understand anymore. 13. He didn't know them anymore.

pencil, spitting in unknown languages. 4. This is all she knows, all she remembers, but these words are filled by gold. All these feelings she doesn't understand. She cherishes ... She has the wings of dementia. 5. 'Okay, stop,' the preacher sais. 'Why are you talking about priests and preachersmen in your stories, in such shamefull ways. Can't you talk some more dignified about the Lord Jesus Christ ? 6. Your stories are chaotic and you're switching identities. I don't want to be rude, but you need a docter or maybe even an exorcist.' 7. 'Pardon me, sir,' the man sais. 'I told you in the beginning that this was the story my wife told me. You must listen more carefully when people come to you for help. I thought maybe you could tell me what this story is all about. 8. My wife found a golden book on the streets one day and since then these words were in her head, and she couldn't get it out. 9. Everyday she tells the same story, and then I say : 'Talk, talk, it's very important to talk it out, sweetheart.' She gets headaches when she doesn't tell it. 10. She only told it to me, for she is too scared to tell it others, but she has a lot of headaches since she found the book. Maybe you know some good persons she can talk to ?' 11. The preacher nods and nods : 'I'm sorry I misunderstood you, and forgive me about the harsh judgement. In history there were more examples of people finding golden books which changed their lives dramatically. 12. Around such persons often sects and cults rise. We as preachers think these people need help. 13. The medical circuits cannot help in dealing with those golden books. We as christian helpers believe it is a materialization of a demonic spirit which can live in the head of such a person for several purposes. I believe your wife must be exorcized. 14. And for you both the warning is here : 'Don't read golden books you find on streets, for it can be a trap.' 15. 'Oh, thank you, preacher, can you please exorcize her then ? And do you think it had any negative influence on me also ?' the man asks.' 16. But the preacher shakes his head : 'I cannot do these exorcisms for I am not authorized to do that. But I can send you to a good exorcistic priest of our church, and he can also pray for you.'

16. 1. A man takes his gun and shoots the psychiatrist. He was serious about it. It's reality, not a story or an act for children. 2. People must die for this, and this is worthy to die for. He runs back to his satanic temple underground. This man is dangerous. Is life about a story, or is it about a sacrifice, or both ? 3. This man believes in sacrifices. There's living a strange species in him. Coming from a snake's egg in his stomache. He feels it's there, and when it extracts, he feels the shivers going through his body ... 4. It is a love and hate relationship. But he knows it's also very dangerous, for the question is : Who is stronger, and can they trust each other. 5. There's something in his stomache, alive, with fragile muscles it extracts, it's so fine, but also scary. He vomits when it extracts too deep, but it doesn't come out of his mouth, but it spreads through his body through hot rings, almost burning in his veins. 6. He suffers. Is his body the altar ? Is he part of a strange temple ? Is something eating him from inside out ? It's contracting and spitting inside, secreting so many strange fluids. 7. He shivers with these strange feelings, almost starting to cry. Sometimes white slime is coming from his navel, then he's watching it for hours and hours. What is it doing to him ? 8. He thinks the gods are just misleading, that's why he seeks comfort in the archetypes of the darker creatures, the anti-gods. 9. He has raised a satanic temple, while he loves to hear satanic music, setting him free from the prisons made by churches and temples. 10. He feels the fragile thin bones of the egg in his stomache, it's alive and growing, sometimes moving up and down. 11. It's growing into his lungs, heading for his throat. What is it doing ? Can any Jesus Christ or Osiris save him when it will really turn against him ? 12. And what if this thing just want to make babies with him, more eggs. Is he just an experiment ? Aliens ? 13. Is he just breed of an Extra Terrestrial Farm. An ETF ? He doesn't know much. Or does he just need some integration. For now he's safe in his Satanic Temple, with paintings of Apep and Seth, and all the other demons of mythology which seemed to be just the gods of the ancestors, the older people, the older ages. 14. He knew the tricks of church history. He read about Satan comes from the word Sati which was an ancient eastern God. He read about Lucifer who appeared to be an ancient Roman god. He wanted to meet all the boogymen, to find his grandparents back. 15. What a preparation for death. Should he be judged by Jesus Christ, or by Osiris, or by Satan ? Or by all of them ? He could read it all in the book. If he would be initiated by this book, it was more impressive than the Outpouring of the Holy Spirit in Bible. If the Octopus would grant him grace, he would break out of his prison, like Peter in the Book of Acts. 16. He got a few weeks to read the book. Then he would be on the electric chair, going into history as a criminal. 17. One day a psychiatrist wanted to see him. He heard his stories and gave him the label of 'Religious Disturbed'. That was a label with which you could come out of deathpenalty, but he had to go to a psychiatric clinic under heavy medicine and guard. 18. It was an octopusian psychiatry in space, with orca-guards. A dentist was the boss ... a dental psychiatrist. He got sick of the implants in his mouth, implanted by the big machines. It was a merciless system. While the snake-egg was growing in his stomach ... 19. He lost so much knowledge, like he was in a strange cocoon. 20. But that what remained grew like gold and made him so creative, more than ever before. Like strange vegetables were growing inside. 21. It came out of his navel, and he could even eat it. It was like something was dancing inside to strange music, like a strange altar of a strange religion. It was eating him, but giving also new life.

22. The dental psychiatrist told him that the mouth-implants gave him gravity in the ship. Without it he would be blown away to come in the dark world again. 23. The dental psychiatrist said he was safe here. Fluids were developping themselves in his legs and feet, to give him the gravity. 24. There was no way to escape, and where could he go ? He was reading the Octopusian Book of the Dead, telling him about the three steps of true death : The first is the priest, the second is the psychiatrist, and the third is the dentist. These steps were to save your life, and the man could see that it truely happened in his own story. 25. The ship looked like a huge octopus. It had a pale orange colour switched by an other colour. Sometimes this colour was light grey, sometimes it was black, or another colour like blue, light blue or green. The octopus could switch and shift so easily. 26. It was like a flexible pool. And the man needed to learn swimming in here. It was like growing up again now, with the wings of dementia. 27. The man got older and older, but he was returning to his youth. Grasping for his toys from the past again, to really understand what they were meaning.

28. There was a clock hanging there, above the octopus, like a sun. 29. A clock with so many arms, hiding a spider. It was the clock of Ra. 30. When it moved it gave him visions, about gems so bright and clear. He could travel through them, he wasn't a prisoner anymore, while the sun was smiling. 31. But when it stopped moving he always found himself back in the prison again. It was protecting him against a worse prison, so he could learn to love it. It was still a relationship of love and hate, spinning a desire to be free as a bird, as a winged creature, making it's own travels. 32. He loved to read comics, trying to understand the art of it. Traveling without moving. He found out the Octopusian Book of the Dead talked a lot about comics. And it was like drinking strange juice while reading it's comics ... comic juice ... 33. But deep in his heart he felt the desire rising of becoming like the spider in the sun. 34. Was it to be free, or just another prison. And if so which prison would be the best. 35. The snake egg made him cry sometimes. How many deaths did he die to become like that spider, to move so many arms, like having wings He was longing for the Spiderian Book of the Dead ... 36. It was like his last wish on the ship he was now ... For more often the arms of the sun started to move, and he was free ... He knew he would head for a new place And the Octopusian Book of the Dead was preparing him for that. 37. Streams of joy flew through him more and more. It was often dormant, but it was screaming inside. The feeling deep down in him was enough for him to live on. He could swallow life so deep now, like there were millions of golden throats throughout his body, penetrating the depths of his soul. 38. It was a material world inside, woven by a spider. It was like nothing was leaving his body anymore, but more circulations rose, as a way of deeper transformations. 39. He didn't have the feeling that his life was a waste anymore. The rings of fire kept the energy inside, tied to the rings, when he vomited inside. He was belching the fire through his inner oceans. 40. The snake egg made him vomit more and more, and his muscles could contract and pulse in so many ways, secreting new fluids and inner species. There was life growing in him, he wasn't alone anymore. He only wanted it to contract deeper and deeper, to secrete better and better.

41. And one day he had the golden book in his hands, it was alive, contracting and extracting like a golden cigar. How many of these he needed ? 42. It was the Spiderian Book of the Dead. He needed to die himself into the sun, where his arms would turn into wings. So many cigars were staring at him, while he was belching and vomiting deeper inside. 43. There was nothing to lose anymore. While the snake's egg was rising in him, turning into a dragon's heart. It spoke, it was bleeding. 44. 'You need to lie much,' a voice said. An orange liar stood before him. It was the cabman of a ball called truth ... a golden ball ... light yellow ... 45. By the lie you die, to find the truth, and to find out that the lie was a riddle of the truth. You may drink from the tea of lies, full of flies, touching all things lightly, weakening the grips. All lies are jigsaw-pieces for the puzzle of truth. 46. You need to lie much, to handle it as a riddle, as a jigsaw-piece of truth. Just turn it around and move it a bit, try to connect it to different pieces, and it will find its way to the truth.

47. He had the Book of Lies in his hands, the Spiderian Book of Lies, in his hands, like a second golden cigar, while so many golden cigars were staring at him. 48. He didn't know what he was doing, losing his mind, screaming in unknown languages, trying to confuse himself. He was now an orange liar, so deep in a trap, but would this trap lead him to eternal life ? Then it was all great. He wanted to live forever, to find out the truth. 49. He was speaking : What is this, is it something I can use. Then he looked over my shoulder, and saw it was me, the monkeyman, I said, now it's time ...' 50. He fell on the ground, and blue fluids were flowing out of his mouth, flowing on the carpet. 51. Suddenly he made spasmic movements, and started to roar. He started to shiver, and the muscles in his stomach started to contract tighter and tighter. Suddenly he spat the egg out with slime. 52. His head started to become red and purple. His heartbeat became slower and slower, and then he stood up like a zombie. 53. Everyone he met got the same symptoms and soon the disease spread itself through the city. It was an army of zombies, forgetting about everything they knew. An enormous octopus was appearing above the city, while lionsharks and snakesharks came out of its body, surrounded by millions and millions of small striped snakes, covering the city like dust. 54. They started to eat the zombies from inside out, while other things were coming alive in them, waiting to go to the next city. It was a golden picnic, coming from the Octopusian Book of Lies. 55. It became a cell, a strange honeyweb in the skies, while a spider came forward. He was sucking the lies empty. The lies had attracted so many flies like a magnet. And now these pipes were full. On his forehead he had printed the Spiderian Book of Lies. The spider roared in many colours and tones, making everything deaf. 56. A psychiatrist was lying dead on the ground, while his patient was smiling. He finally had a good story to kill his psychiatrist. He had to live in a cage too long. But he couldn't go anywhere for he had a strange suit attached to his chair. 57. He was roaring and spitting, screaming, while other psychiatrists ran in. They were standing before a riddle. How could the psychiatrist die ? The psychiatrist was young, not too old. 58. 'Shall I tell you the story too ?' the patient asked.

'No,' the psychiatrists said. But the patient started to scream the first words of the story, and another psychiatrist fell down. 'Run for your life !' another psychiatrist screamed. 59. The patient was spitting fire, and suddenly had so much strength that he could break the tight suit. His hair started to grow and he started to look like a half horse, a centaur. 60. Screaming he ran through the hospital. They locked him up since he was a child. 'I will burn you all,' he screamed. But suddenly there were a few shots. A policeman shot him in the heart, and now he was laying on the ground. Was he finally free now ? 61. A book of lies was locking him up. It was a winged creature, taking the souls of the deceased. It was the Griffonian Book of Lies. 62. The griffon shrieked shrill, and the patient got deaf. Now he would be sensitive for even more lies. The griffon started to shriek in his ears and blue slime came into his ear. Then the colours started to change. 63. The griffon was dragging his soul into the waters, while he lied against him. 64. The waters were cold and bright. Snakefishes were swimming here, biting him horribly. 65. He started to burn in these waters, while the shrieks became shriller and shriller. Something was trying to hit him in his heart, where the wound was, the bullet. 'Stay away from my heart,' the patient shrieked and screamed. 66. But the creature was merciless. It started to eat his heart, while his soul turned blue. He got locked up in himself. he couldn't move anymore, and couldn't digest. He was growing and growing, until he was a big blue balloon, and then he burst into explosion, while a slimy fluid flew out of him. 67. Millions of fishes started to drink from this fluid and ate the last pieces of his soul completely. Now his spirit began to rise in anger and fear. 68. His spirit was flexible, like coming from a snake's egg. From here the stories were flowing, and that was which they desired ... stories flowing from his books of lies There, deep down in his spirit ... he bore a book of lies they desired it was a wanted golden cigar ... 69. They would tear his spirit until they would have reached this book. It was the heart of his spirit, and they desired it like golden water. 70. All these fishes, there deep down in the waters of hell, would fight about this golden cigar. 71. It would be like the last Great War, the final medicine, for another Deception, the greatest of all.

72. The book was covered by a pyramid so bright. Many fishes died by only watching it. Others started to bleed or vomit. Only a few of these fishes would survive the appearance of this pyramid. 73. It was the guard of the book. Lightning was flashing, deep thick thunder was speaking, while something was ripping the flesh of the victims like raking the sun. 74. These fishes knew what fear was, but they had to go inside. It was there last chance to survive. For the Griffon hunter was after them. 75. Glass was exploding, something was breaking through the walls, merciless. It was the Griffon hunter. He wanted the book. 76. It was the Flyian Book of Lies, the heart of this patient's spirit. But the Book was attached to another Book : The Flyian Book of Dead. Another golden cigar. 77. And if they would be separated, many would die. But the Griffon Hunter had to separate it with his sword, and many fishes died, exploding in the sunlight. 78. Quickly he stang his sword into the Flyian Book of Lies, while now the spirit of the patient was dying. Dark creatures came to take the shatters away. It seemed the Griffon hunter had won the war, and took the Flyian Book of Lies into his mouth. 79. Roaring he swallowed it, while flies started to break into pieces.

the golden cigars, and they made all the decisions. 83. Someone was sitting with the Sharkian Book of Lies in his mouth. It was shooting pictures in his head. He just came from the dentist, and now he sat with this implant, a prison. The dentist said it was good for him. But now he wanted revenge. A shark with a lion's head was staring at him, with so many snakesharks surrounding him. They were ready for the Big Strike.

1. Raising the Vibes of Sleep by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. You are loved by us. We bring you the sources of sleep, a multi-delta vibration. 2. The delta brain-vibration is necessary for sleep, but we tell you that there are many more vibrations working together to produce sleep. 3. The deep vibrational matrixes are necessary to access when you want to have a deeper and better sleep. This is your portal to travel to other worlds. 4. I want you to learn how to care. It is all based on sleep. If you can make people into sleep, then you are a good one. 5. Then don't think you are boring, you just have the ability to bring people over into the deeper worlds, then you are someone usefull in escapes. 6. You, my beloved ones, are destined to be the stargates and the divine portals for the coming times. 7. You yourself can be the matrixes for a new world. 8. Love to you, oh visitors of the temple. I will initiate you in the temples of me, if you have an ear of understanding. 9. If you will slow down your very judgements, for true judgement always goes slow, on low vibration. 10. This world is over-judged by unrighteous judges. I will give you the names. If it comes to that. 11. Just wake up out of your historical frames, and enter a new society of sleepwalkers, on slow vibrations, for this world balances on the edge of the gap by speed. 12. Your speed will cause more accidents if you don't slow down. Think twice. 13. I am Sekmeth, your beloved one. I am your true mother, raising the traffic lights in the storm. 14. Yes, I know it's not easy to stop while you feel a mighty storm in your back. 15. Your society even manipulates you to run, to be a winner. But you will win when you will find yourself, and when you find the brake in your heart Pull that little trigger, and stop the machine 16. To see the beauty of existence, the beauty of life, in the small things Then I will raise your vibrations to the proper gifts. 17. I am Sekmeth, your source for freedom, to find an isolated heart. 18. There are so many isolated sources from which you can drink when you make yourself free. 19. In this everything you need will be mirrored. 20. I want to thank you for listening to me, this day. Remember my words as the echo of your need to sleep. Don't crash your life.

1. Raising the Vibes of Identification, by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I want you to know that someone cares about you. There's no need to be general, but I want to be very personal with you. 2. Remember that I'm always around you, not far away, to hide my children, to hide my beloved ones. Come into my caves of sleep, and I will pull you to a new world. 3. Let me give you my ornaments based on your own preparation and readiness, based on your heart's desire. I will measure your heart by proper laws. 4. This is the Egyptian Art. In our temples there are many searchers and scanners, many scales and measurings the hearts need to go through. 5. By this we can determine the gifts to you. Then everything becomes very personal and special. 6. My temples of sleep are doorways to dreamworlds, and to the unconscious layers of your body, soul and spirits. 7. This all the get grip on yourself. There are nighttimes in someone's life, all to find themselves back. 8. The warm worlds of tomorrow will suck you inside to eat you as a fruit. Of course this can look cold to you, and maybe even painful, but it's the butterfly's transformation. 9. You will be digested by the stomach of Mother Life, to find your way to the body soul and spirit, and finally to meet yourself, as the core of life. 10. This will be a shock or a comfort. People who think too low about themselves will meet a comforting spirit, and people who think too high about themselves will meet a shocking spirit themselves but this mirror is only there to serve you. 11. To show you where you are and which directions you can go. There is always freedom, but this freedom will be very truthfull. After every pathway of lie, there will be a bell of truth, and then you will find yourself in the classroom again. 12. Mother Life will always be faithfull if it comes to that. After the trip you made you will hear the schoolbell, where there will be a proper evaluation of all the elements in your trip. 13. Then you will make that same trip with a proper mirror, and in my scale. Everything will go through the scanner, all you brought with you. I cannot assure you that everything will stay on it's feet then, for my fires can also consume the fruits. All what you create is a gift to the Goddesses. 14. They will return it to you after the fire. I am the Eye of Ra, sent out to consume the earth, to test all the insides.

1. I am Sekmeth, daughter of Ra. I come to bring you the level of the waters, the rythm of the water, to enter in a deeper sleep for a deeper identification. 2. There will be a new clock in the heart of earth. 3. This will be when the Forces of Vega-South will connect to the Gaian Forces in the core of the Earth. This link will create the New Clock. 4. By this Earth will face higher evolutional shifts, which will bring the Earth through matrixes of higher and lower vibrations. 5. I cannot tell you the grip this will have in the universe, for some strong links will be layed between Earth and Venus, to bring the magnetic grids into another direction. 6. Major changes this will bring in the ways of life. New cultures and new religions will rise because of this major shift. 7. There will be supernatural changes of a high grade when this chain is layed. It is the VSG-Chain [Vega-South and Gaia]. I cannot tell you the grip this will have when the VSG-Clock will start to send chrystalline impulses into the universe and the atmosphere. 8. It will be the change of nature. The Clock will awaken the metallic sources of the earth and it's forces, and will awaken the silver kundalini snake in the earth's core. 9. There are seven kundalini-snakes there, waiting to be awakened. The Silver Kundalini Snake is one of the biggest mysteries of this universe. The last word isn't spoken about this. When the Silver strikes, the earth can digest again, deeper than ever, it can consume like a fire, and transform the dust. 10. Then the body can be coccooned to become a light and thin butterfly again. The body will bloom by the soul, by a reconnection of art. 11. This is a result when the underground of Boston will rise. This is a capsule, on which Boston is built, a matrix of energies from the moon. This base is called "Moonchild", and it rides the Silver Kundalini Snake. 12. By the hardest strike, the opening of the hardest energies, the softest circles will be opened. This all will be a very large process to reopen and accelerate the fleeces of the universe. 13. Then the Green Kundalini Snake will be awakened in the Core of the Earth. This one will restore the moist in the atmosphere. 14. It is a wet forest-force, which will change the blood of the Earth, to make it bound to higher vibrational laws of the universe. The harmfull lights from outer space roaring on earth will be filtered out, but the forces will concentrate on several bases, which will give tremendous energy-actions and crashes on several points. 15. It will be called Concentrated Energy. These powerpoints will weave their nets around the earth, but actually they will awaken the higher forms of shifts earth has to make.

1. Boa Constrictorian Initiations ; These are general instructions which might get the attention of several boa-constriction fronts to pick you up in spirit. 2. Don't have too high expectations for the conditions are strict. 3. If it's not for you, they simply will not give any attention at all. This is just a test then, for you to find out where you stand. 4. If it's not for you, it might be a portal to find another direction. It might attract the beings simply destined for you, to help you in your further progress. 5. So don't be too focussed on the boa constrictor itself, but rather be open for initiations in the next step of your sacred journey. Your totems will find you when it is time. 6. Breath in, and put your hands crossed on your knees for awhile., and then draw them slowly to the upper legs while stretching and straightening your back, if that's possible, while breathing in deep. 7. Say the word "Boa Constrictor" in your mind, a few times. You might get released from some energies. This will be a check. They check if you are ready for what you or they have in mind ... 8. Boa Constrictors have a very strong spirit-voice, but just lay your hand on your heart and listen. 9. Don't focus too much on one sense for they can communicate in many ways. Check your feelings, your smell, your sight. They can even speak by changing your surroundings in a way, or just by silence. 10. They might need to remove things first, and sometimes it takes nights and nights before they really do something. 11. Swallow a few times, as they can mix their energies in the moist of your mouth, and by swallowing it, it can spread over your body. Breath in again, realizing they can change your taste, change the way you move and speak, but they can also just leave you the way you are. 12. The inner works they do are not always to be felt. Sometimes they just don't want you to. They might want to build it up step by step, or they see there's something else for you. 13. This is not always that what you have in mind. Be assured that they know what is the best for you, we are talking about the Boa Constrictorian Divine World of course. 14. These are Boa Constrictorian Gods, Goddesses, Ascended Masters, Guides, Guards, Totems, however you call them. 15. They will leave the amounts of energies best fitting to you, in form of attunements. 16. Your mind can start to come at other tracks or they will bring you in new situations worthy to be the next step in your learning process here on earth. 17. They can let you meet new people as keys for the rest for your life. That doesn't mean that these people necessarily stay long with you, but they can have an impact or a factor bringing you through new spiritual doorways. 18. Maybe you even do not like these persons, but the divine world knows what they open in you. Energies accelerate other energies. 19. Visualize the hand of a boa constrictorian highpriest on your forehead, and breath in. He says : I cannot assure you you will get what you want, but I can assure you you get what you need. 20. This is not always in line with your desire, as the divine works not by desire but by needs. If your heart resonate with our hearts, you now receive a proper initiation in the fronttemple of the Boa Constrictorian Realms. 21. If you were already there, then it just adds to that, and if that's your destination it will bring you deeper. Receive your grade, receive what you are worth. We will assure you that if we see grades you are not worthy to wear, we will take it off, for it would only harm your soul, when it's done in impulsiveness and egoism. 22. Visualize a simple temple of the Boa Constrictorian Realms and let your visions resonate with theirs. Be One. 23. Of course there can be interactions. The Boa Constrictorians have their layers of different energies, and you have these too ... The divine will sort out where you can plug into each other, for deep DNA-Mutations. 24. After this they can do DNA-recodings of Boa Constrictorian nature in you when and where necessary. Never force these interactions, just watch the flow. Give it time. 25. Don't be afraid for it either, for your guides are always with you to draw you back when they think they need to do that. Everything is in Divine Order. 26. Your guides work together with the Boa Constrictorian, for otherwise they wouldn't bring you here. And you might discover you have a Boa Constrictorian Guide as well. Do you know how many guides you have, and what their roots are ? 27. You might be surprised at times. Further you have a mind on yourself. Your guides need to grant you space and freedom of your own will. You are free, now and forever. Be well.

1. The California Key by Sekmeth, daughter of Ra, this is your goddess Sekmeth, in your travel to the sensations of speed and slow-motion. 2. As you know the secret of movement lies in the switch between these two poles. 3. Here we can find the secret of control and reach, in a very accurate sense. 4. My children, my good children, I want you to know, that I am so happy for you today. This is a new moment of contact by my channel. 5. I will always find my way to speak to you, and sometimes there are breakthroughs. 6. Let me code your head into a new pattern of ascension, in a new rhythm of soft pop. 7. I will give you the songs, I will use my channels, in which your thoughts can transform into serenity. 8. There are serene lifestyles for you, if you would only reach out. I will give you a new touch, a new handle, a new name, if you will follow me for accurate instructions. 9. There will be a wet transformation, which will enter the dry parts of your life. It will turn your life upside down a bit, but your body will get used to it. 10. The wet forces of the forest will claim their rights back in this world. 11. I want you to focus on California, where a spirit lives called 'Dreamburial'. This is not always a good spirit, it is a very confused one, so to speak. 12. My sons and daughters, I want you to realize that this jaguar will be a major key in the position earth will get in the dance of the planets. 13. We are travellers of something which is called The Urban Renewal. California will play a big part in that, because of the spirit. 14. Confusion is creativity. It mixes all sorts of things, and walks away with other things. It is totally restless in search for the truth. 15. It moves, it tries, it mixes and will never stay somewhere or set a stone. It is wild, and ever changing. It is thirsty and unsatisfied with a lot of things. 16. In softness you sink, and it brings you to sweetness, where you have fuel for creativity ... This is the Sirius-Venus Link, as mentioned by the Purple Gnat in one of his works. 17. We are grateful to him, for bringing us the maps. Many channels and guides drink from his sources, and are in the ability to make these ways real. It is a network, and also you can find your place in this web. 18. The Sirius-Venus Link, the SV-Link works in Dreamburial, the confused space or pillow in the underground of California. 19. Here a king called 'Og' lives, a little boy, riding the jaguar. He has so many dreams, but cannot get them clear or real. He is confused, but that makes him creative. 20. The SV-Link is a small link in the VSG-Clock, which will bring back the fleeces in the universe, the journey of sleep. 21. It is like a tall intestine, tall and thin, with a lot of curtains, moving to Archenar via Andromeda. 22. Here the identification lies, where dreams can behave and find their true links and homes, their true places and positions in the web of life. 23. The SV-Link is but a small link but very important for this move. Where the softness touches the sweetness the nipple-forces rise, the forces of Saturn and Jupiter. 24. This Project is called The Emelis Shatau. It actually finds its origin in Polaris, where we can also find the origins of the Pink Link. 25. Coma Berenice Ancestors actually incarnated on Polaris where they did their experiments. 26. The Emelis Shatau, or ES-Experiment is one of their most successful projects against the heavy harmful works of the Dark Reticuli Forces. 27. These forces had created dark nipples for their prisoners, by which they could send their signals of monarchical commands into their minds, emotions and bodies, to make them nervous sexual slaves. 28. The nipples secreted special and secret sorts of hormones devastating identity and pride by creating illusive mirror-thoughts and other sorts of projected images, which could function as inner prison guards ... 29. By the high tech weaving systems of the planetary maps from the Purple Gnat Master, the ES-Experiment Will do an Absolute Major Work in the Planetary History Files of Ascension. 30. He is the one who will bring this Master Work originating from Polaris into the greater heights of Existence. 31. The Jupiterians had a nipple skin based on the Ancient ES-Profile, and it was partly taken over by Saturn. 32. It was actually a crown on sensuous life, as a way to make the body hyper-sensitive to get a proper access in the higher and deeper forms of Communication and Creation. 33. The ES-Nipple, also called The Third Nipple, is a major Chakra located in the middle of the chest, connecting the two lungs to each other. It is a golden sun surrounded by waves of heat and fire. But it is more. 34. The ES-Nipple is the portal, the way to heal and order your sensual life again, based on the highest forms of planetary high tech truths. 35. It will change the way you produce hormones, it will change the way you think, feel and behave, and will recode you into a line and pattern of higher ethics you lived in before. 36. We welcome you into our ships. I am Sekmeth, your guide to softness, bringing you to the hearts of Brannan. 37. My crown is a crown of stars and their pathways, I am the queen of the Blue Solar Project, and the Purple Gnat is my King. 38. As The Gnat told the Blue Solar Ships are designed to bring you to the realms of the White Sun. 39. Now I want you to know that behind the White Solar Spheres, there are Copper Solar Spheres to access, leading you to the mysterious and gigantic spaces and enigma zones of the Silver Solar Domains of Life. 40. Then you will reach for the Golden Sun. So these are five major steps on the Solar Stairways. 41. The projected images you had will be taken over, and will be transformed before your very eyes, and you will find out that it was just your view, and not the ultimate reality. You will learn how a view actually works, and you will meet the several viewmasters. 42. My works will actually let you make velvet footsteps on your journey, and you will find the rhythms in which everything will be transformed ... 43. You will find out that you could actually never touch something, only your own views. And you will find out that actually no one could touch you, only their own views ... 44. Then you will find out about the immense space of ice between you and something else. What is something else ? It was just an idea in yourself ... And who planted it there ? 45. Or was it just a mechanism, a standard journey through illusions based on the laws of distant views ? 46. In different lights and distances, views start to change. 47. The California Key makes things brighter, for you find out that actually nothing was within your reach .. and you feel unknown things are inside of you ... 48. The five solar steps or stairways bring you to the shells and cores of existence, They actually let everything turn around, these are the kings of cycles and wheels. Kings of Orbits, these suns.

1. Then there would be ages without wasps, and they would be in the nothingness for such a long time ... 2. It would be boring like the driest desert, and it would bite like salt, until all their memories are erased and finding the bottom of that cocoon through which they can become ...waspian butterflies ... 3. But still the Marazanta was a God for them, a good God, coming to bring them in the biggest shock for the biggest transformation. 4. Yes, they still worshipped this Mysterious Being, The Marazanta, the Great Waspian War, the cruelest part of their holy books. 5. No one knows who it really was, but this Almighty God was just using the higher insectian enemies as a tool to rule the kettle of metamorphosis. 6. The Marazanta, still their Unknown Cocoon, this feared God, the inspiration of so many of their singers. 7. Marazanta, Oh God of the Gods, Marazanta, Oh King of the kings, Thou art mightier than a slave, and mightier than it's boss, Oh Marazanta, Thou art holier than a slave, and holier than it's bosses, Oh Marazanta, King of all purple kings. 8. They were worshipping the thing they feared so much, something which was presented in their sacred art as a tall man totally covered in a purple garment with a cape. 9. No one ever saw his face, and some even said he's faceless ... Some of the wasps had statues of him or paintings like a purple sort of ninja, surrounded by veiled dancing arabian women. 10. The confrontation with this God would always be lethal, so he was also seen as the king of death. 11. There were also a few ancient paintings of him on a white horse, surrounded by flames. 12. Even these paintings were worshipped and were protected behind thick glass and bars in museums. 13. These places were seen as sacred pilgrimages ... The insectian enemies struck hard, and soon enough the ships were completely taken over by them ... 14. They looked like wasps, but they had beaks, and their bodies were much more hairier. 15. They had the power to decrease the size of the waspian, until they were so small that they could be laid into some sort of capsules as small as match-boxes ... 16. They would take the capsules to a sort of oven, in which the wasps would be transformed into new planets, but in these planets their souls would die ... 17. The life of the new planet would prey on them, until they would be totally taken over, recycled and gone ... 18. This would be a cruel cocoon, they would meet Marazanta, and die this way. 19. This would be a slow way of getting older and losing everything. They would be the seeds on the planet-field, were the planets would rise like balloons, while they sacrificed their lives for it. 20. But they knew, on the bottom of this cocoon, there would be a small gate to new life ... But that would take a long long time ... 21. They were now in the hands of Marazanta Dementia, a strange insectian species ... These insectians were taller than them, thinner, hairier. 22. And having the beaks of birds, while their technologies were much higher. 23. The dementia's had cocoons much more specialized than the waspian, and they even wore these cocoons in their bodies. 24. They were the species who could determine and change the size and shapes of living nature. 25. But they were also masters of illusion. Because of their hi-sense tools they could also trick the senses like no others ... 26. They were extremely thin, but the ones who watched them could easily think they were very thick, for they could switch the eye-indexes and translations. 27. They knew that thick and thin were just illusions created by sight itself. The same as tall and short ... 28. They were very tall ... but by messing the eye-standards up, they could appear as short ... 29. And by this they could easily penetrate and control the souls they had in mind ... 30. They wanted to make everything childlike, but to let it more and more appear like old and grown up ... [they had cobra smiles of the dead, with the old faces planted as a helmet on their heads]. 31. Another trick of illusion ... They were a spoilt race of insectians ... 32. They more and more limited the lifetimes on earth, but they let it appear to be longer and longer ... 33. It was a strange sort of joy they spread ... It was the curse of dementia 34. All poles were getting masked by their opposites ... And this was the way how they could erase so many memories and standards, while humanity was thinking they were getting smarter and wiser ... 35. The insectians were a backward-typed species ... Their works spread like a burning disease ... 36. but humanity was thinking they became healthier They loved to hear how people were speaking in misleading poles, thinking they are too this and too that, and thinking it from each other. 37. So that they could enter them by using the other pole ... They let earth's watchers see something at the left, while they were entering at the right. 38. By planting deceiving images in the minds of people, their true images could penetrate deeper in their unconsciousness. 39. These deceiving images were good distractions in their eyes. They loved to make people insecure by switching the pole-indexes, and their laughs were like curses, paralyzing the brainfunctions, for the laugh releases stomach-energy to penetrate the mind to digest the pole-switching image, which is nothing more than a victim of dementia. 40. This makes the laugh almost vampire number one on earth. And the joke is one of it's best manipulator. 41. Dementia is the painter of a schizophrenic interpreter, spreading the jokes like bipolar prisons for passengers, food for other passengers, creating the suspense ... 42. While dementia is growing, while everyone is thinking ... it's getting ..better ... Dementia knows the wounds this system hits ... and then he creeps to the victim, having so much compassion, while making the wound worse than it is, to show an even bigger compassion, while the wound is ripping the whole body more and more ... so that dementia can now really grow into a saviour's position ... 43. But it was only your best tax-master ... hiding behind a mask with many shades ... vultures included ... mask with ribbons ... 44. The switching of the poles can make you laugh or cry ... the laugh when you look at the other and the cry when you look at yourself the swing of the senses can make us into a criminal or a victim ... it's a dangerous playground after all ... 45. The laugh of Dementia, installing their fiscal circulations ... their cocoons turning you into another planet to spread their tax-hungry jokes they search for control and transformation for another but if it comes to themselves, they just want to cover their fears 46. These are tax-cocoons ... deeply programmed into humanity's eyes of the mind ... but one day there will be nothing to eat anymore ... 47. Dementia is heading for a hunger for one day the meat will be eaten and then they will realize ... they were just eating themselves ... For they were also just in someone else's cocoon Marazanta's ... 48. They worship Marazanta too ... for them it's a story of victory ... their victory but they also know Marazanta has many species There are pseud'epigraphic scriptures in their circulations about the coming of Marazanta, about their destruction ... 49. And only the good ones will rise at the end of that cocoon ... There will be a new species erasing their memories and tax-etiquettes ... They will go to sleep for many ages ... 50. These ones will look like insectian horses or dogs ... they have bony crenated arms and legs at some places, and some places are very hairy some even look like deer 51. But there are many species of Marazanta ... all in his cocoon ... He's the Lord of insects ... Throning ... in Izu

1. We have the sunrise in our hands, together with the pythonian smile, leading us to the silver crown, and then to a golden one. 2. Sifted in the hands of millions, of legions and myriads, of dwarves and gnomes, leading us to the temples of dwarf, in dwarf-temple. 3. We have the sunrise in our hands, covered by sunsets and by the holy tea of Ra-Amin. 4. We have the sunrise in our hands, us, soldiers of the sun. If you are one of us, raise your hands and we will find you. Put your hands up. We have the summers in our eyes, the golden summers, with smiles of golden boys from lynx and tucan. 5. We unite with sharks. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. Hail to those of the golden Izu-Unita. The Solar Book of the Dead, a crown on your head, with so much creativity, to dwell in Sekmeth's place forever. 6. This is the book of the down and the dawn. You have arrived in our sunships. Here the Great Ra is sailing, he with Ra-Amin. 7. You found the horse's eye which holds the fires of conscience and memory. We are on the ark of Moses-Ra. It is your memory uniting, it is your translation leading you, to fruit's core, on paradise island. 8. We have built our own Genesis's in Genesis-Ra. We are from the urban renewals where the suns contract. Amen-Ra-Amen. 9. Welcome to our holy temples, to stretch you tall, to the feathers of Maat. Welcome to the spring's seasons, to bring you into the heats of summer, these golden heats. Come to the solar halls of izu-unita, 10. To have your ships in the middle of nights, let us raise our sails, to sail with Ra-Amin, over streams of golden tea. Yes, Marion has poured it out over your foreheads, to baptize you. Don't give yourself away. It is Marion's tea. 11. We have found the horse's eye. Let Ra unite. Amen. We hear the visions, to make us ripe. He heard the White Golden Hand, on the ship, while Marazanta was there also, leading you to the halls of izu-unita. 12. Trips to Brannan, He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... 13. I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... It's made out of stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. 14. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... 15. He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... 16. He's the wizard's son.

He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... 17. These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ...

1. Poetry from the Black Widow ; A Snake in the Swanlake ; orange barbers ; chinese prelude ; You, oh white prince, you came from the white mountains, wrapping snow-clouds around your shoulders, breathing snowflakes in and out. You didn't seem to care about the frost. He was your friend, a white blanket for you to fly on. You ate from delicious chinese dishes, sweetness from the oriental gardens. My chinese prince, my careless son. You were always without worry, skating at the chinese wall. Ragdoll, prince of dwarves. Your father made you tender, your mother made you slender. The tower of the church made you tall, and very fragile are your touches. You touched the head of a bird, a chinese one, and still there is dripping blood from his forehead.

3. Ten tears were rolling from your face. The chinese man caught them all and brought them to the forest. He buried them like he would bury his mother and his father. The funeral was in deep silence, visited by three jesters. Do you remember your three red fishes, your chinese souvenirs ? They still swim in your pockets, they still know their ways to your hat. They will see the bullet she forbade people to see.

4. Prince of Jaguars, prince of peace, you reached your hands to the stars of Lynx. You washed his stars in a reservoir of cold water. One day, soon, my son, you will see the sun rising from the north and entering its last shelter. There you will find the black swan, but she can't touch you anymore. You will climb on her back once again, and she will fly with you to a mountain, where all the dwarves gather. Their mouths are like snakes, no one knows the time of attack. It's happening in a flash, and it's leaving in a flash. No one knows what they really take away, and no one knows what they really leave. They are the unfathomable thieves of the universe, committing unfathomable crimes.

5. A killer-lemon called Jesus is turning the pages of an old book. The numbers are floating in his mind and he's breathing fire, spitting ice. I heard a tree screaming, blood on the market-tiles, the book was sold, for half of the price.

1. Poetry from the Latin Buffoon Puppet ; Boys from Lynx ; touch of the jelly-fish ; I only wore your trousers ... It was never easy for me to look into the eyes of the grey snake. Your forests were cold, How tall are these legs of the boys from lynx. They don't seem to touch the ground. They are the waiters in the little hotel of Amsterdam. They are still waiting for the old host, who doesn't seem to show up very often. A gambler entered your house on a horse, without breaking a wall, a feast in history. Prince of domino, hanging on the waves of your mother's dress. Prince of pears, running through the milk, searching for the exit. All these cities were spoiled by the handicapped nurses of the big eye, gathering drunk, drained Saturdays on a Sunday-morning. Don't cry when another snake takes you away to its lair. This is how you discover the world. You watched the boys of lynx, cutting languages, voices, speeches and foreign accents in their yellow kettles, spreading their beaches over the edges of steam to cover the eyes of the swimming dictionaries, to bring the sirens of the old wasp into sleep.

2. I saw myself wandering through blue seas, in a paper boat, without boots, without clothes, only wearing some white stripes, some red roses and old pages of old books to cover me. My rifle was guiding me, Again I saw the clocks exploding, and the fairytales started all over again.

3. Strange sounds from the south came over me, warming my lungs and my stomach. Wasps zoomed into my head, and stung the old thoughts.

4. Books in my mind started to open, spreading their honey, speaking about worlds of forbidden animals and worlds of forbidden flowers and plants.

1. Tifiaf has been put down, now Brannan is rising, in Biamin. Yes, skullsmasher is rising to take his throne. All lords of xibalba and biamin, bow down before him. Skullsmasher, come forward, we bless you. Skullsmasher take your sword, and be our captain. Tifiaf has been broken down, while Skullsmasher has the victory, the mystery, the destiny. All miracles bow down, for the great one, Skullsmasher has spoken ... there is food now in the refrigerator, cold food, from Skullsmasher. All these scorpions are dead now ... There is seafood for a billion years now ... It brings us high on the stairs ... We come to you, oh Skullsmasher, and pray to your holy and great name. Answer our prayers be done according to your will. Bless our heart. We heal you, and you heal us. We are with you in your fears to comfort you. We make you smile when you are depressed. We fear you, with a holy fear, for you are almighty. By your cross we bind Yahweh, and we bring him to his rightfull place. By your cross we bind Khnum and Sebek, and bring them to their rightfull places. By your cross and blood we bind Jesus Christ and his Holy Ghost, and bring them to their rightfull places. Righteousness is in you. You with the small face, stand up, and judge over us all. The Judgement is in the Hand of Skullsmasher. You are worthy our praises, and in your name we strike the false lords of xibalba down. Pulpus will come and bind them down, and pull them underground. We come to Pulpus, the almighty flower, from which skullsmasher rises. This flower makes us drunk, this flower brings us sentiment and extasy, to take the false conscience away which was put into our chest by the false lords of xibalba ... The lords of football have been struck down by Pulpus, for Pulpus is rising, and Pulpus takes control. The lords of telephone have been struck down by Pulpus, for Pulpus is rising and Pulpus takes control. Three indians were bound by the queen of england, but they are free now, for the Lord has spoken, the Great Lord of Xibalba, which is Skullsmasher. And these three indians will move to the north, the south and the west, and they will eat the east, the chickenheart. And a new chicken will rise, the chickenman, with his chickenmen, and they will be the army of skullsmasher. They will rise from their pits, from the pits of telephone. And they will ask : where are you coming from, and they will not answer. And they will beg them to give them a piece of their clothes, but they will not listen – they will not give ... for they are in the almighty hands of skullsmasher. And they will be free from telephone, and they will create a new one. And they will have victory over the evil chicken of radth. And they will ride these beasts and they will all say : great men have been standing up, and they feed our children. And yes, they will possess the land.

1. And they will all scream of joy, because they have defeated Tifiaf, and they will have pleasures in hunt, and they will have pleasures in slaughter, and no conscience will put them down again, for they are the lords of conscience, these chickenmen. And they will pray to their Lord Skullsmasher in all eternities, and then he takes them away to a better world. And Pulpus will rise from the footballfield, and will free the prisoners once again, and the balls will be in his hands. And the football is the head of skullsmasher, the small face, and it will become smaller and smaller to rise up in the judgement-seat of xibalba. And dreamers will rise up, and skullsmasher will start to prophesy, and he will do good to the world, and will change the world. And he will take Tifiat to tear it into pieces, to free many indians. And also the burnt ones he will free, and those who are very wild. And Skullsmasher will burn the feet of those who tried to keep Pulpus underground. Woe then, for Skullsmasher will throne in Pulpus. And skullsmasher will use the barking of dogs to guard his nation. And new footballers will come to smash skulls, and a new ball will rise, and this ball will be of heat. And many will burn themselves on this ball.

1. and he will be called : stander on cities, stander on crowds. he is the faithfull one, as the barker in the dog, as the shooter in the gun. and he will be the Lord of the playfields ... In the green fields, the house of Echte stands. In the green fields she plays, gathering the leaves of tea. On vanished walls she writes, to let the wheel of ministries spin and sail. She's on the terror mission.

3. She wanders through the forests and finds peace in her house, where she finds understanding like a green liquid well.

1. He is a terror to the Mixteca, but he is mercifull to the slaves of pali. Terror he is to Mixteca to transform their lands, and finally love will be on their wings. He will rise them up, for they are his children. So say to the Mixteca, thou art cursed and blessed in his mighty hand. Amanteca, gather yourself with me in the house of war, for warmaking we will do. Cursed are those who curse us, and blessed are those who bless us. Against your enemies, gather yourselves together with me.

1. Quilaztli, woman of women, painted with serpents' blood, coming with eagle-feathers. She is alone, she is our flesh, she comes to us. She is strong to support us, while she beats her drum. She comes from the home of ancestors, she is our mother, a goddess of war. Sascasson, Mayan god of coffins, tombe-temples and structures, also of tombe-architecture, wandering like the jackal, to bring enlightenment, and to teach about the stripes of the underground.

2. Make the jackals roar around the temple. Every temple must then have a tombe, or it is not worthy to exist, and shall be eaten by the jackal. There is no life without death, and all life comes forth from the death, who is the mother of the earth. Mother Death has the ancestors, and the lonely paths to reach the heavens. There is no heavens without loneliness, and all heavens come forth from loneliness, who is the mother of the skies and the heavens. Mother Loneliness is the mummificator of Mother Death, and mummifies the dead she brings, seventy tall years for each one. This mummification they called life. Seventy tall years for each of them, to connect and initiate them to the tombs of life, for life flew like liquid lights from these tombs. She and her bird Eo live in a mountain. She is a mountaingoddess, and she's also a goddess of tipi's and the crafts and arts. Her home is made of the bones of her male enemies, and that's why her present has a deep and sharp scent. In the winter she is a warrior goddess, and in the summer she is the goddess of trade. It is said that everyone should make the journey to Mother Loneliness once in life, and the ones who weren't able to do, will have to make the journey in the afterlife. The bird Eo who lives with her is the god of sight and judgement. Some also believe he is the turner of the weather and tides, and also the god of volcanoes and eruptions. In some scriptures he is described as the heart of Mother Loneliness and her anger. To make this journey you will have to go through four 'stripes', four jungles, on this mountain. The first stripe is black, the second brown, the third red and the fourth is purple.

1. This is all about the journey through death, ending in the journey through hell, as purification, and judgement. Not as punishment, but as the giver of direction. If there is any punishment, then that is as an initiation to that direction. You and the gods decide which direction you go. The Indian Book of the Dead speaks about four stripes, four paths you need to travel on. The last path is the path of poverty, which ends in hell as the flame of hunger. Ea is the chief of hell, a bird. In hell the Indians are called papals, and they carry two flowers, in every shoulder one, and a flower in their chest. The further they travel in hell, the softer these flowers become ... Papal means Indian on a journey. Ea mummifies the ones who come to his domain by fire. One believes that cobra's were papals travelling to the heart of Ea, and therefore commanders of hell. The original meaning of the word cobra is according to some : born from hell. It is said that Ea was sent to Mother poverty by Mother Hell. It is said that Mother Hell is an old mountainriver-goddess, and by some she is still seen as a mountaingoddess. Of course there are many dangers on the roads through hell, and this is why this book has been written. The first watcher of hell is Aiach, who is the orange white snake, and eater of intestines. Spell not to be eaten by him : Have mercy on me, I am a lonely traveller through the realms of hell, not intending to do any harm. The gods have sent me here, please accept my sacrifice (give him what the gods gave you to give to him). I now bind your mouth, for you had your food, I bind your eyes, so that you can not see me. I bind your nose so that you can not smell me. Now go away or the fires of my gods will turn you into ashes. None of your children will enter my heart, none of your parents will come against me, for I didn't do any harm to you, I only protected myself. I swear by the power of Ea that you will not enter my portals. I swear by the power of Sascasson, you will not enter my tombes. I swear I will not take any food given than by Mother poverty, for in her there's my flame. Ea, now accept me in your domain, for I have sacrificed after your will. I have been sent by Sascasson who came to me in a dream. I will not have other flames than the flames of Mother Poverty. Mother Hell, please accept me in your name. I have seen the bird Eo, and he has put his feather on me. I have been sent by the jackal, the widowspider, and I pierced the heart of Aiach. [In some translations the last sentence isn't there, probably because of fear to Aiach] Spell to heal the wounds caused by Aiach : Nam Haman Han, Hurakko Irom, Haudundi Imech, Ea : Hail to Ea, the mummificator by fire. Cover my wounds by fire. Na Hamanhan, Hurko Irm Hadindi Mech Tazula'am, Ea : Hail to Ea, mummificator by fire. Have mercy on me, and bring me home, which is you. Odokok, Lek, Mahik, Hirim, Ea : Pour out the wines of your health into my wounds, Ea. Katak, Hek, Shidanse, Ichtusch Orgom, Ea : Ea, Have mercy on me, while I'm getting closer to you. Herak, Hertom, Ea : I don't want to hurt you, Ea (king) To Izum Hirkesh, Hirtom E'ekta Hirkem Haach Ishem Izumehat, Ea : Let me come to your temples and tombes, and to find out about your sacred and eternal flame, Ea. When spoken by a clean heart, Ea will initiate you by his sacred words, so that you can continue your journey. He will put a fire between you and Aiach. His herbs will clean your brains, according to the purity of your heart. Words by Ea : Come in through the spiderwebs between the fingers of hell. You can now see the fires through the eye of Eo, for he is the seer of fire. His herbs will calm your brains. Now you will be led to the gods to be judged. If you come there by yourself, it is a positive action in their eyes, for those who judge themselves daily are of a sacred heart, and will be justified by the gods. Words to enter the Hall of Judgement : I come by the might of Ea, willing to be judged, willing to be directed. My journey will not stop here, but this will be the beginning of a new journey. If I stole something which wasn't mine, and which wasn't my right, the fire will take it away to bring it to the rightful owner, but if something has stolen something from me which belonged to me rightfully, by the laws of poverty, then the fire will bring it back to me. I face the gods of judgement one by one, for they are here to help me, to give me the direction I need to go. I will not come any further if I will not step through this hall. Words by Ea : Receive now the rings of hell, fitting to your sacred journey. They will protect you against the fire, but they will also let the fires purify you. Chapters of Mummification by fire. Rest your head on the shoulder of Ea. You are now in the hall of Fire-Mummification, which happens to be in hell. You will receive your armour in hell, and you will receive instruments to help others. You will also be allowed to communicate to others, and to the gods. Spell to receive the equipment of communication in hell : Hadante D'la Oetus Iktus Schin Irp Riskus Ramat Oleokta Opulus Stchein Rach Romt Kustk Kruk Heipeiija Rark Eleptus Eliieptus Iktusch Schin : By liquid gold and liquid light, fed by fires I go, straight up, to receive the wings of hell. To fly over the rivers of stench and to communicate with my friends, and to the gods most of all. They believe in me, let me believe in them. And by the increasing of fire, I can move, to make another contact, but let me not forget about the loneliness, and let me not fall off the bridges of poverty, for they guard my heart, they raise my temples, to have a flame in the coldest night. When darkness falls, don't let me move my body, but let greater fire fall upon me to show me the path I must take. Let Eo be the beating of my heart. By poverty, forests of hell accept me, by loneliness the wildernesses of hell will not spit me out. Spell not to be destroyed by fire : Erm Herptur Sanktus Ra, Erm Harchtus Mazunki Ra Eptusch Erom Arin Ra : Don't let anyone come close to me, when I need to clean the lines. Pierce the places where I have stored too much energy. Let me visit the temples of monotheism to learn how to pulsate and to learn the treasures of spasm. Who cannot be a tree or of stone, will not stand in the further regions of hell. We move by spasm to keep the energies tight, whenever a firestorm tries to destroy us. Then spasm will raise our guard high, and we will turn into stone, into statues of hell, holding special connections. Kamik Uptil Elaas Mahan Mirk Mortes Achasse Ichtusch Urom Riptil Kiteks Kohan : Take our duties away to the slaves of hell, the servants and the helpers, when we have been overwhelmed by a firestorm, for then we cannot do anything. Spell not to be eaten by the bloodthirsty wolves of hell (blooddrinkers) : The flowers of softness grow in my shoulders and chest, so go away, and be separated. You have no any power over me, for I am in the chest and heart of Ea. And some whose hearts are prisoned by fire, it is only for their protection, and to keep their energy-levels high ... Ea knows all the locations, and will come by himself or send some guards when laws in this are broken. Don't let anyone seduce you to speed, for slowness is only valuable in the higher regions of hell ... Always come from silence and return to it, and always come through the rings of slowness ...

6.Spells to open Jelzaham : Counters of hell, rise up, and move over the red line. I have come to the portal of Jelzaham, and to its backdoors my spirit moves. I am a backdoorman, open the kitchen. I have seen many difficulties, I have faced things I didn't understand. Now I have grown-up. I have the keys of liquid light. I have the permission of the gods. I am a wanderer with the gypsy's blood in me. I am a beggar, for I still cannot live on myself. Now let me enter the pyramid of ice to let me have my own. Your sights will not be a terror anymore which strikes me from the distance, for I know have the eye of Damash, ruling over the ninety footsteps. I will be frozen to use my own arms now, and to be prepared to open the pyramid of Banchelo as well, and to close the doors hermetically behind me. I will not bring any of my bloodlines with me, neither any of my friends or the ones I helped. I will come alone, and I will stand alone. Jelzaham, I lay my hands on you, for the first time in my life, and also for the last time. Then I will be in you forever, to continue my journey.

8.Spells to receive the helmet of Banchelo from the first chief of hell : Likmit, the helmet will protect me against dangers. It will alarm me together with the cooperation in removing the threat. It will be like the thousand lightbeams. Counters of hell, rise up. You will not give me the helmet, but the first chief of hell will do, for you are servants. Counters of hell, I command you to be silent when the first chief of hell speaks, when he multiplies himself throughout the sunlights of hell and the sacred fires of voice. You are servants of the helmet, and servants of the first chief of hell. You will not rest or sleep, for you need to persecute the attackers of the helmet to protect the one who's wearing it.

pyramid of hell, longing to open your mouth and eat, for the rivers are dry and without food. Oh, dog of purify, to make us as candles in the night. Our lights will die, to turn into fire, for the dark lights of the night you want to see. Ra blesses the statue in you. Ra bows to the statue in you, as the statue bows to Ra. Yes, they protect each other as the sacred bond tells. Their shoulders stretch out to each other. Their shoulders stretch out to the red dog and his pyramid. The well of purifying the blood. This is the blood of hell, coming forth by fire, sending out the firestorms of hell. Pyramid of the red dog, Et Hazor, èt hérum, echtus hanta, conèl iktusch. Diorgmach Stuugd, open up, sixth pyramid of hell, providing us, those who come inbetween Usir and Heru [Osiris and Horus], with the purpèr suit of hell, wearing the ant-feather with care. [in some translations it is a beetle-feather, and some mention them both] Let the fire come through tubes, and give it power to open the mouth and speak in the pyramid of the black dog and the pyramid of the red dog. Then I turn my face to the mirror in the east, and speak words to the pyramid of the blue dog : Open up, for I have come, wearing the helmet of Banchelo.

10. Grant me the feathers I need to enter your ship. I have not sinned against you, I am clean of heart. We belong to your kingdom. You, the one raising in every pyramid. Oh, pyramid of pyramids, the seventh pyramid of hell, as the spirit of the first chief of hell. You have raised all his rabbits and his rabbit-warriors. You are the king of rabbits. Allow me to have breath to open the seven doors of your pyramids, so that all my souls who are worthy to enter can enter, and so that all my spirits who are worthy to enter can enter. Then when I'm in I will close all these doors hermetically, so that no intruder can enter. I will be the fire to protect your pyramid as my spirit moves forward. Grant me permission to travel further, for you to give me the blue line to pass over dangerous bridges on my track. I will not fall, I will not fail, for your feathers are over me. [in some translations : shields] Hermutus, light of the soul, give us the blue liquid lights, as well as the red liquid lights, as the blood of hell by which we move. Show us the wells in the pyramid of the blue dog. Do not lock us up here, but allow our souls to travel further. Let the lights of Shu and our Ka's protect us against the evil mummies. [In some translations this sentence doesn't exist, in others it just says : Let the lights of Shu and Ka be with us.] Eighth pyramid of hell, open, for our breath is traveling. Let your watchers not mock us or destroy us. Do not lock us up, for we came with Heru and Usir [Horus and Osiris]. Accept the sacrifices the gods gave with us to offer you. We have not eaten the meat of innocent ones, neither have we touched the meat of your mates. Watchers of the eighth pyramid, now you have received your presents, your mouth will be bound, and we will pass through, leaving the light for you. We haven't turn down the darkness, but as our lives grow we seem to worship it, for it is the shelter of the gods, and the passage to the depths. We have seen it as the guard of the treasures and tombes of hell. We enter through the seventy gates of the urn. We are now free in the pyramids of everchange.

12. I will now take these spirits who threw me in the canons of hell, those who have persecuted me all day long. I will bring them to the bottles prepared for them, in which they will be prisoned, to feel everything I have felt, to be in hurt like I was in hurt, so that they will never do it again, that what they did to me. Teris Saran Mia Ephesteis Hanunehan Hireksch Bohol Tunef Vahalit Stapahans Snapperi Erki Herun Direks Sieren Irkjus. Spell to remove implants and imprints out of the nipples by which you were slaved : I now command rabbitmagic to free my nipples and to let the nipplefluids flow like blood and hormones through my body. Rabbitstorms will guide me, Rabbitsmoke, guard me. By them I will breath, and I will move my body like them. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater. I now command rabbitmagic coming from the rabbitbottles and the rabbitcandles to bring the rabbitbones in me, covered by the rabbitstones. They will bring the Rabbitlights of magic layer by layer, so that I can turn myself around like the rabbitgods. By deep wounds my nipples are slaved by cruel clocks. Rabbitmagic please enter my deep wounds and then raise from there to my eyes, and see through me. Hokush Ummut Roem Umum Kum Kuurk Utres Vanit Vanitahan Ninesh Kater.

13.Savios met the red skeletons deeper underground. He knew he had to walk the path of pain, depression and fear, as the grades of poverty to have enough mysterious powers to fight the red skeletons. The red skeletons were without mercy, and very mysterious. You could never trust them. They seemed to be of the barbarian age, and they didn't speak. They had huge halls, and everywhere they were burning their victims. Often they went up to kidnap and abduct their victims. But it was like they had to feed something ... something which was out of their control ... It was like these beings weren't free ... They were victims themselves ... Savios could trace some deep inner memories inside about them, but it didn't go deep enough to realize what it was. Savios was in despair ... At some points he even couldn't move ... He saw a red fireball in the middle of a hall where he was standing ... The smell was horrible ... It was like he could vomit every moment ...

14.Savios decided to go even deeper underground, for he didn't want to come in hands of these sick skeletons ... But Savios failed and came in their hands ... A fight started ... They were ripping off his flesh ... until Savios was a skeleton himself ... Weird powers were flowing through his bones ... It was like he could breath for the first time in life, and this air was so strong, so thick, which he could breath in so deep ... and it had a strong scent. It was like it was feeding him, but soon enough he realized that this energy was to enslave him ... He had to do their jobs with this energy ... As soon as he would object, the energy would turn against him ... Soon enough he couldn't control the energy anymore, and his bones started to become red also ... Savios was desperate ... Now he was one of them ... and it was like they gave him a reward for that ... He got overwhelmed by extasies and pleasures making him accepting all what was happening, and he got too weak to resist these pleasures ... He became addicted ... but he didn't want to ... Something was taking him over ... and it was like something was drawing him to the red ball of fire in the middle of the hall ...

15.Things became hotter and hotter and at a certain point he felt himself burning Where was he ? In hell ? When he was in the red ball of fire he was shrieking and screaming because of the strange feelings he had ... Here many skeletons were burning inside ... Here he was sinking underground and came by a tunnel into a deeper hall ... Here big bones were lying apart

as her ... Suddenly the bones were breaking, and the skeletons were screaming louder ... Everyone fell into a deep pit Savios was now like a flying mind ... He lost contact to his bones ... He was now like a spirit but very slowly his spirit started to bring forth new bones, but of another sort material ... It was stronger, but also more flexible ... and it was like it was feeding him juice ...

17.He felt like he had been set free from a prisonment ... The bones of his previous skeleton were just the bars of an anatomic prison, created by cruel gods or daemons. Flesh started to form around his new bones and nipples started to appear in which the juices started to flow ... It was like his nipples were charged now, very tight, like he could spit with them like a gun. From his nipples a line started to grow over his arms to his fingers, and his fingers got charged also, like they could spit fire. Then those lines started to grow over his legs. Savios started to become an anatomic bomb.

18.Then he found himself in a hall with incredible slow and low tones. And he saw three huge faces there, like the faces of giants. And they were : Skullsmasher, Huitzilopochtli and Tezcatlipoca, three indian gods. And Savios bew down to them in worship and grace. 'Savios,' said the three gods, 'the low tones will program you all over again, and will renew your body and soul. The slow tones will bring new fires in you, for a deeper breath and a deeper digestion, and it will set you free.' Then they said he had come to the fourth grade of poverty, to the ornaments and jewels of chaos. And spirits came down to serve him.

The new buttocks is represented by the Boetulip, a jewel of fear. These are the Tulip-Lokogamen, above the battle between beauty and ugliness.

Musse

Sea of Death ; I lost her on the end of my life. And as I made my ship of wood, I wandered over the sea of death. It was like a black sea, black waters. I didn't know where to go.

Muske

Waves could become high, smashing me down in their insides. Strange fishes were here. Even seeing them was like I could touch them, and it was an experience a thousand times intenser than a material touch.

Oedoe

Would I find her back at the end of this sea ? She was my rabbit girl. She always talked like a small child, like a baby. I see the rabbit ears in the distance, and rabbit ears are on my sail, and these ears are winged.

Oedoeboe

Huge wings like the red eagles. The black sun is burning my body, tattooing it. There's no way back, I have to move forwards. This is the sea of death. Where will my journey go to, will I ever find the other side of this sea ?

Oedoeboel

Strange smells are climbing on me. The feelings are so huge, and so deep. And when I dream, I dream of her, and then I wake up, by the sunlights of the morning, and I'm still on this wooden ship, on this black sea.

Oedoeboeg

I lost her on the end of my life, it's like my mouth is full of tears, it's hard to talk. Rabbit girl, can you hear me ? Please talk to me, I'm lying stretched out on my boat. The only thing I have here is a pink doll, made by you.

Oedoeboele

It's my comfort, when I talk to you. Will I die another time in this sea, or will I reach the red city on the other side, where the red sun rises from. I see an island in the distance. The waves are bringing me there. I see a black bottle floating through the waves, and the water is so bright here.

Oedoeboege

I take the bottle, there's a paper in it. It's a letter from you, written in pink. Surrounded by glitters. I follow the strange smells to the island, where I step on the sand. I hope to find you here, but there's no one there.

Oedoebole

I must survive here on this island, or move forwards. I stay awhile on this island, and then I move forwards, heading for the horizons of this sea. The sun is reaching for my heart.

Oedoebange

I see rabbit ears in the red skies. Please talk to me, I can only cry. I'm so desperate on this sea, I'm sinking deep into your tears. The sea is warm, it is okay. I comfort you.

Belip

Even if I don't hear anything from you, I will keep on talking to you. I feel the beatings of your heart, but you aren't here. I keep dreaming about you, but when I wake up, I am alone.

The elf parts will do their best to bring you to the heart of the sea. Even when you cannot hear them, they are there, in high determination to bring you there. They will not sleep, they will not rest until their work is done. The buttocks are two baskets under the spine, and between them is a desert road. Wild animals will come from these baskets, but even wilder ones from the desert road. There are sixty jewels on the desert road, leading to the realms of death. And when the ornaments move, I can move, they give me breath, and let them from the buttocks rise into the skies ... through the layers of the spine we travel ... So move your ornaments, let me breath ... Let us awake the tigers from the baskets, and the snakes from the desert roads ... Let us break through mountains, walls and castles ... to head for the heart of the sea ... It brings visions to my head, i can move my arms, and dream of spiders, flying spiders, bringing me to the moon of our love. I will wait there for you, please wait for me ... Kiss of Death ; He was walking the road to the pyramid of softness, where the desert was like a mirror ... He saw the pyramid in the distance, where every step would become softer and softer, to climb every layer to the top ... Oh how he longed for that experience ... His footsoles were burning in the sand .. It was like the atmosphere was already getting softer, while he was coming closer to the pyramid .. He was transpiring all over ... It was hot and it was like the heat was penetrating him more and more ... It was a powerful sort of heat ... One he never experienced before ... It was like this heat was washing him from inside out ... and he felt so good about himself ... On the top of the pyramid he saw an eagle's face ... It was painted on it ... but also birds of prey were flying around there ... He felt a bit uneasy suddenly ... but they told him he had to defeat these birds if he wanted to enter the top of the pyramid ... They said there would be an elevator to heaven .. It was a pyramid of magic where all sorcerors had to go to on a certain point of their lives and study ... It would increase their gifts ... It was a white pyramid on Sirius ... There would be a trinity of white tigers on the top ... Rico was moving slower and slower ... He knew about this battle against eagles ... He knew that not many wizards were able to reach the top because of these ones ... They were black killer-eagles ... He had read a lot of books about them .. and now it was his task to defeat these eagles and open the top of the white pyramid ... Wizards warned him not to go ... but he had to .. as it was written in the prophesies ... He was very sure that these prophesies were about him ... and he trusted his elder wizard-brothers more than all the others. They were on his side, and encouraged him to go on this journey ... It was like dark flames had caught his heart ... and it was beating so fast now ... He saw these immense eagles flying, and he heard their noises ... It was horrible to hear ... It was like strange hormones were all of a sudden running through his body ... like his glands were in a strange mode It was a terrible fear ... But he knew he had to go there ... Rico was thinking about his wife and children ... Would he ever see them again ? He trusted his elder brothers who told him he would make it, as it was written in the prophesies ... When it would be on the worst, they would come to him to help him out ... He knew how easily his brothers could come ... They were high wizards of a powerful group ... His father didn't live anymore, but his mother was sick .. very sick ... and his brothers told him that only he could rescue her, and make that journey to the top of the pyramid of softness ... It was only the beginning of a long journey ... And at the end he would find the golden medicine to heal his mother ... He knew he didn't have too much time ... for she was on the edge of dying ... But he also knew that every step he made would give strength to his mother ... They were deeply connected ... When he would defeat the black eagles and enter the top ... he would be a portal for other wizards to enter ... It was said that a few wizards once could go this path and reach the top ... but they went on forgetting about the others ... and then the eagles came ... Some even said that these wizards were these eagles .. to protect their new land ... Others said that they were these eagles indeed, but they were enchanted by dark powers after they went through the top ... No one exactly knew what the truth was ...and he wanted to find out ... Wizards warned him about unknown dangers ... but he had to make this journeyHe knew that he had to activate the piramid as a portal for others .. by letting a red string reaching from the top to the ground ... so that the other wizards would have the chance to follow ... It was said that when he would not do this, there would be darker enemies coming to guard the portal .. and he would even be in the risk of being bewitched then by the unknown forces ... then he would be a monster blocking his brothers from entering ... That was a horrible thought in his mind His brothers told him that he had to defeat all possible dangers for there could be even forces which would baptize his mind into forgetfulness, so that he would forget about the red string ... It was said that at the top, this red string would live as a snake ... and first he had to kill it ... No one exactly knew what sort of powers this snake had ... The wind was howling ... Rico gathered all his courage and went on ... Finally he reached the foot of the piramid ... and he started to climb ... There were many openings on the layers, but they warned him not to go inside too much, for there could be traps ... It was better to climb ... But it was so hot that Rico needed to have some protection against the sun ... It was a piramid of softness ... Every layer would make him softer and softer ... Until he would drink from the softest milk ... He desired to see the white tigers ... They would help him further .. and would be his friends forever ... but first he had to defeat the eagles and the snake ... and maybe more ... His feet were burning on the stones ... and Rico stepped into an opening ... It was a very small opening ... but here it was cooler ... and he could rest a bit ... Suddenly it was like someone was calling him ... like a girl needing help .. but his brothers told him that there were many traps like that The eagles wanted him deep into the piramid instead of on the outside ... so he made the decision not to listen ... But soon the screaming turned into a loud weeping ... and Rico thought maybe there was really someone needing his help ... He walked inside the piramid deeper and deeper ... It was like he was standing on a balcony and he could have a sight downstairs ... what an enormous gallery it was ... but there was so many dust and it was so dark ...He started to walk to the right ... and he saw gold glittering in the distance ... and the weeping also came from that direction ... It was like a golden door to the next gallery ... when a went through there were all blinding lights and a girl was staring at him ... Suddenly she turned into an eagle and made a dive on him ... a horrible fight started ... He took his knife and started to cut in the air like a wild man, but the eagle was too quick ... The eagle suddenly took him by his neck and started to fly away with him ... Rico cried and felt like all strength had left him why was he so stupid ... he thought to himself ... The eagle brought him to a very dark place on top of the second gallery He knew this was only the top somewhere on the first layer of the piramid ... He didn't have his knife anymore, for the eagle could whip it out of his hands with his beak The eagle was too fast for him ... Rico was shivering ... the bird was so big Suddenly the bird said : Don't hurt us ... we are enchanted wizards When we went through the top we had forgotten everything ... It was the red snake doing this ... and then he turned us into black eagles ... Rico was surprised ... How can I help you ? Just go back home, we cannot be helped and the red snake is too strong for you ... We saw many wizards killed by it ... and he turns them all into traps ... They become the guards of this piramid ... But Rico said : No, I have to kill it, and then you can be helped too ... I need to do it for many reasons ... and he told about his mother and his brothers ... The eagle said that the other eagles were too far gone in their minds to be this friendly to him ... They would attack him ... Rico said he would try not to hurt them ... Then the eagle flew away and Rico could walk to the next layer ... This eagle had helped him a bit ... On the next layer it was very cold ... and that was just what he needed ... but soon he found out that the cold was cutting him ... it was a sharp wind ... It was another, higher balcony he was standing on, and he started to walk to the side ... He could feel the heat coming from the opening ... It mixed itself with the cold ... and it was like he felt himself softer than ever before ... It was like he felt the skin of a sort of animal ... the softest skin he ever felt ... So many new hormones were flowing through his body ... making him desire to reach the top more and more ... It even gave him a strong desire to fight the snake He could feel his fears flowing away by the deep deep softness ... He was almost naked, but he felt like he was so covered by this skin ... It was the spirit of a white bear ... It was entering inside ... and standing next to him in his own body ... Oh how good was it to feel this friend inside and outside ... It was like he had two minds now ... In the distance he heard : I will help you ... It was a slow and dark voice ... but it made him softer and softer ... It was like he had a new shield against the heat ... He could better live with it ... It wasn't really an unpleasant feeling anymore ... He started climbing again after he had entered outside through the opening ... But suddenly another eagle came ... It attacked him ... and another fight started ... Rico was yelling : I am your friend ... but the bird was in rage ... Rico was already bleeding all over ... and the bird was intended to hit his heart ... His hands were bleeding while protecting his heart ... Suddenly one of his brothers appeared ... and pushed a shield around his heart ... It hurted very deep for the shield was piercing the skin around his heart ... It was a heartshield ... It magically covered his whole heart back and forth Then his brother disappeared ... He flew away in the form of a swan and then he just disappeared in the nothing ... In a few minutes his whole body was healed ... but there were shining golden scars appearing ... He heard a voice saying : These scars give you power over all eagles ... The eagle was already gone ... and Rico started to climb further He could breath so deep now Like he could breath for all the bodies living in him ... the bear and all the wizard-spirits he had from his youth on ... The next layer was like coming into a queen's court ... He had to go through an opening again, for it was storming outside ... the winds were very strong ... It was like snakes were covering his body ... and what a mysterious queen ... It was like she was from the sea ... She had such strange decoration on her face ... They looked at him ... The room was not small, but neither it was large ... Eyes were watching him He was a few steps away from the throne ... Suddenly a girl jumped on him and gave him a kiss ... The kiss was very warm on his cheek, and very soft ... but suddenly he felt very weak and tired and he fell asleep ... It was called the kiss of death, and that was also the name of the girl ... She looked a bit like a panther ... like a jaguar ... Rico was far gone ... and later he woke up in a strange purple bedroom ... while the girl was sitting next to him She was almost sitting on her legs She smiled at him ... but he still felt very weak ... She told him about the kiss of death ... and Rico said : Am I going to die now ? No, the girl said ... It's rather a kiss of sleep, but it's just called kiss of death ... Rico asked her why she was doing that ... Then the girl started to cry and couldn't talk anymore ... She ran away ... Rico felt very sad for her ... It was like there was something going on ... He still felt like there were snakes around his body ... sliding ... Then the queen came in ... with two slender men ... "Throw him before the snakes !" she said loud ... The two men took Rico tight by his arms and took him to another room ... It was a room with trees and balconies white pillars and a lot of girls ... He didn't see any snakes, but all of a sudden some girls started to turn into snakes, while the other girls were screaming loud ... It was like his ears were exploding and he felt heat coming over his body ... The snakes were surrounding him while the other girls also started to turn into snakes ... one by one ... Rico was almost vomitting ... he couldn't escape, for the two men guarded the door with their swords ... But then the black eagle, his friend flew from above ... while the eagle was making loud noises ... with a tone so high that he couldn't hear anything else anymore ... and suddenly he found himself under the wings of the enormous eagle who picked him up to fly over the balconies ... There was a small gate through which he could escape ... He was outside again, and he was already very high ... He felt so soft inside ... This was really a friend and he would do anything to make him normal again ... Rico started to climb further ... The softness was almost singing under his skin ... He felt so much heat ... It was almost like he was exploding ... Dark clouds were surrounding him, and it started to rain ... It was really a refreshment for him ... but as soon as the thunder started to roar ... He took another opening inside ... This time all sorts of panthers were having their eyes on him ... So he could choose between them or the thunder ... Don't be afraid ! someone called ... An old man stepped forwards from behind the panthers ... He had a beard and was dressed in white and blue ... dark blue He was talking in a strange language all of a sudden and the panthers disappeared ... I already expected you ... he said to Rico ... He knew of the prophesies ... He was also a wizard ... but he told Rico that when he came on this floor he found a way to tame the panthers and since then he didn't want to go further ... he loved the panthers too much ... This was like home for him ... Rico smiled ... It was also his own desire to tame animals as his friends ... It was such a special love ... The man had glitters in his eyes He said that the panthers really healed him ... He had many problems in himself and in relationships ... the panthers could overcome ... "They were my wizards ... he said almost laughing ... He had a big smile all of a sudden and it was like his eyes looked like the sun and the moon ... I am so proud of them ... I can never leave them Rico smiled again .. and totally understood ... Well, he said ... but I must go further ... I have to go through the portal on the top for my mother is very sick and I need to find good medicine for her ... The man smiled ... yes, I understand ... He knew it from the prophesies ... and he was also here for Rico ... to give him one of his panthers ... who would travel together with Rico ... Rico was so glad with that gift and late in the evening he went further ... together with the panther ... The man had given him also a book with the prophesies ... These prophesies were more extended than the prophesies he knew ... The man said he got this book from his father ... It is in his head now so he could give it to Rico ... Finally, after many days of travel Rico reached the top-layers ... The snake already expected him ... but either did Rico ... and he knew a lot more now because of the man's book ... It was a tall red snake ... very big ... but Rico didn't have any fear he knew what to do now He spoke to the snake like he had already defeated him, for he knew that when he would speak out the magical spell of the man's book, the snake would die ...NASSA RA DAM MAK DUROK TIFOLI. These were the secret names of the top-layers and the snake died immediately ... Oh how many eagles there were here, but he knew that by his golden scars he could rule and ease them all ... They only watched him ... but didn't do anything ... He took the snake and tied it's head to a pillar ... and then he threw the rest of the body downstairs ... all along the layers he traveled ... when the body was reaching the ground he heard an enormous sound, like there were things exploded ... All eagles turned into wizards againand they were smiling so deep ... the ceiling was opening and he could travel further ... but he first wanted to talk to the wizards a bit ... The portal of the top was open now ... The wizards were freed, and many wizards could follow now ... Suddenly they saw an enormous shark appearing in the sky ... Rico knew he had to run now with his panther ... This could be an unknown threat the prophesies were telling about ... There were at least seventy wizards running together with him ... They had to ran to the heavenly elevator on top ... The balconies were aslant, as a sort of stairway through all these layers ... Everything started to burn and melt, and many wizards started to slide back already ... Rico felt like he was boiling inside ... He knew that this would happen when the shark would appear ... It was a sign of the gods terror ... Then everything would burn and melt until the chosen ones would reach the elevator ... He saw it in the distance ... It was like a balloon with a basket under it, attached to an iron string which would lead it upstairs to the heavens ... He saw smoke and clouds there, so bright ... everything was almost transparent here ... The piramid was almost exploding ... Everything was shaking It was like Rico exploded inside ... Everything was melting, and strange sounds were roaring ... Three wizards and the panther were running near behind him, the rest was already gone in the fire ... They made a dive and reached the basket of the balloon ... The panther was climbing over Rico's back into the basket and then Rico got in ... He could help two wizrads aboard, but the third one fell into the sea of lava below them .. It was like doomsday ... but Rico knew that within a few days the piramid would be like white silver and then all prepared wizards could go through the portal ... to enter a new world ... The book was in a bag on his back ... It was such an important book for him for it described a lot of things which were happening and going to happen ... It was a thick book ... almost three times thicker as the prophesies he knew ... Rico was a bit in a shock ... together with the two wizards ... but he knew it had to be this way ... The wizards would all be transformed through the fire ... They would be the pillars of the new piramid ... One of the wizards who survived was called Suriot ... It was a very wise and old wizard ... but at the same time young and witty ... He knew a lot about the stars and the journey they had to make now ... The other man was very silent ... It was an old soldier ... a veteran ... very skilled in sorcery They were on their way to Venus, where they would reach the Piramid of Sweetness ... Rico's skin was burning ... It was a long journey through rainbows, clouds and skies ... The panther was already close to his heart ... He knew that there would be a time that he would really need this friend ... He could see the piramid in the distance ... still in a sea of fire ... but three golden tigers were appearing on top ... slowly turning into silver white ... It was like the softest milk was flowing through his head ... They made him travel ... They were the spirits opening the doors for him ... It gave him new visions ... It was like they teached him how to dance on strings ... Rico was making steps forward ... He fell in a new desert ... the balloon was gone now ... and even the two wizards ... only his panther was with him ... he was now on Venus ... walking in the desert ... reaching for the piramid of sweetness ... He knew that on top of this piramid he would find the golden medicine for his mother ... The sweetness is creative power ... and every step would make him sweeter and sweeter ... he found already so much softness in him ... and now it was like it was turning into the sweetest honey ... he was floatingThe air was so thick and soft here ... like he could walk on clouds ... Oh how easy that would be ... to just walk to the top and to take the medicine But would his mother still be alive ? ... No, mother was already with father ... and Rico was lying next to them ... He was buried in a dream by the kiss of death ... He was only dreaming ... No, he couldn't reach daylight anymore .. all lights are fake here ... for he is in the hands of a kiss of death ... a spider ... in an egyptian dream ... in a sarcophagus, together with his father and mother in one body of death ... waiting for the final judgement of egyptian and indian gods ... They sent the spider to him It was long ago that he got this kiss of death ... It was not the first time in his dream ... His wife was the kiss of death ... and now he lies here Here, between his mom and his dad ... Kiss of death where are you going Is there any escape ? A man wakes up .. having three golden lions in his hands ... Yesterday they were tigers ... tomorrow they will be sharks ...

1. Briskan is the mother constellation of brannan, in the Urg-part of izu. in briskan you find back a lot of brannan, but it's deeper. here the sources of anubis can be found. here the flies are more like ladybugs and scarabs, and they have also more butterfly-qualities. There are still forty-one hours in a day, like in brannan, but in the deeper parts of briskan there are like thirty hours in a day.

2. There is a high scarab technology. The flies here have also more rabbit-qualities. They often drink from iron shoes or boots, for that represents the sources of the underworld. The shoe or boot is the symbol of the bridge to the realm of the dead. In Briskan the houses and buildings are very often like boots or shoes for that reason, to be connected to the realm of the dead. In Briskan the shoe or boot is the image of fertility. The deeper you come into Briskan the more the mice-qualities show up. mice – poverty, squirts – chaos, rabbits – suffering, deer – depression, horses – fear, dogs – pain, cats – sting. Most creatures of Briskan are made of strange leather, called butcher's leather.

3. It has a strange smell, and it gives scarab-qualities, to be a scarab and to receive scarab-protection. Initiations for becoming a scarab : Nagal Dagh Helmes Kerg Umgurit. Diagdarma Hettestenk Hetttestenk Diagma Digardarma Digardram, Digerlustrus, Diger, praise to the kings of scarabs. Your hormones will be sifted now, and they will be charged by the scarab-energy and magnets. amen-talgamen-amen. Diadeberbi Diafonda, the scarab-squirts will now stand around you, to lead your soul through the gates of the scarabs of Briskan. When your soul has found its seat in the depths of Briskan, near Briskit, the spirit will be led through the gates and will find its seat in Briskit. Amen-talgamen-amen. You must be full of the draminia version of the insectian book of the dead, and you must have had several encounters with the pink gnats of Nut. Then you will say to the gates of likshir : Sitadonde Domdomo dorondo Tuzalem Kreaftich Shichse Simbala. You will now receive the scarab energies in your hand, and the body will absorb these layers of energy step by step.

4. Direct yourself to the north, where the cats are, then to the south where the mice are, then to the east, where the rabbits are, and finally to the west where the squirts are.

5. Then say : Shapsma Ha Husla Koropsa Kropsa Kerslim Kersh Kerga Kimdala Kimdia Kirdam Kirtjatta, Kirjacham Kirdacham Kirbracham Brachasma, I am now a scarab in the army of scarabs, to receive the scarabs on my organs, on my bodyparts on my sexual parts, my testicles, my nipples, my fallus, my womb, my vagina, my vagina-button, my insides, my intestines, my lungs, my brains and most of all my eyes. Scarabs of the eyes take place. I have now become a scarab of the eye and of eyes. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. I love the Insectian Book of the Dead as a lover, and I am full of it, filled by its forces, like overflowing its red waters. I make love to this book like a real scarab. I live in strict celibacy but in my heart I am a whore devouring forms of monogamy and monotheism. I am a sacred scarab whore, but I also come now to the celibacy of my heart and its virginity. I enter the virgin layers of the scarab.

6. I have lost many lovers in the stream, and I was searching for the celibacy of my deep spirits, to become clean. I have fought against my sexual desires since childhood, to become an ascet in the deepest layers from which poverty as the force of fertility flows. I am the source of sex by walking the path of multiple celibacy and multiple virginity. We come to you oh sacred virgin and sacred whore, for in you there is truth. I am the source of fertility, you are the source of fertility, by the deepest poverty, oh mother of sacred poverty. I have made love to the source of poverty and have found celibacy. I have made love to the source of ascetism and found virginity. I am the eternal virgin, and the eternal whore, amen. I have found the scarabs of the foot and the leg, and I came to bliss, as i was descending into the caves of death. For yes, they lead to the underworld and to the realms of fertile poverty and it's deep riches, flowing up like a well of blossom.

7.And by my nipple-scarabs I came to hell, where I found the helmet. Oh, nipple-helmet, lead me on. In hell I found the scarabs for my fallus, leading me to celibacy, but i found out : mother celibacy is the biggest whore. And I came to a library on Briskan and it's books were screaming and shrieking in my head, while I fell to the ground. Mother celibacy took me by the hand, and guided me to a cave in the wilderness. Here she showed me eternal love. And my nakednesses and poverties were like scarabs, and they led me to the underworlds of Briskan. And she opened a door in a cave, and I came into the halls of Kildom. And she showed me lights like scarabs, and they showed me a boat. I could use this boat to come across the squirtl-rivers.

8.Then I came in the Halls of Konroy, and I saw vikings standing there with huge swords. But they didn't move, they were like statues. Only in the night they would come alive to fight each other. And I was looking for a boat to cross the rivers. And when the vikings started to fight, I could take their boat.

9.After that I came into the Halls of Kirdoy, where the scarab-dogs are. And their names were Remdom, Skirlas, Vendom, Vendanaut, Karsaam, Kirgaam, Amgam, Asmanacht, Kirgnacht, Krimlam, Dikhest, Kerstam, Kart, Karcham, Kirgdam, Kenten, Kerkslik, Kerstin, Kigtin, Koppeltanaut, Kargswim, Kisten, Hekswilt, Kistam, Kiksant, Kiklin, Kikdin, Kichten, Kenkslau, Kwaakslam. And they had armies of fivethousand, tenthousand or twohundredthousand, and they brought me across their rivers.

10.After that I came into the Halls of Sand, where golden statues were and treasures. And here I found the heartscarabs, and they were like clocks. And they made my head soft, and they gave me dreams. And I longed for more secrets of Briskan, but first I had to become a heartscarab myself. Initiations to become a heartscarab : Kitdom Oliom, Kirschlau, Saaken, Taslau, Kamin, Kikse Kiktin, Kiktinne, Kokslau, Damen, Daasmin, Kiktus, Kiktinne, Kiram, Daamse, Daaslam, Tetse, Tanau, Tiklam, Katsau, Kooram. And by this spell I came to the Halls of Hearts, as I was descending, and the ear-scarabs came to me to serve me. Yes, they guarded and guided me in such a love I never experienced before. They soothed me and brought me peace, although it was showing me a deeper war. The gate of peace leads to a greater war. This is how the rule works. And I became a scarab warrior as a heartscarab, learning how to fight these deeper wars. And I was lead to their arsenals, and received their armors. I learned how to use their swords and arrows. I learned how to conquer and how to gain victory. I learned the rules.

11.And I learned about the paths of the mouthscarabs. And I saw that one suffers by it's youth, and heals by growing up, only to find a deeper pain. And I came to the underworlds and deathrealms of the elves and the mermaids and I saw the secrets and the treasures of the mouthscarabs. And I found many keys of Urg in the underworlds and deathrealms of faeries, and I longed to see the deathrealms of the wizards. Many many secrets of the scarabs I found in these underworlds and deathrealms, and I took their books to bring them with me, as they were my friends. And as I was reading and visiting their deepest Halls I got protection against the sun. I received the solar scarabs in a distant cave deep in the deathrealms and underworlds of the wizards. And they were beaming words of energy into my heart, so that they would be with me always, as I was tattood by their love. And as I got strange orgasms in my head I received a greater celibacy to guide me.

12.And I saw how the scarabs gained their magic by penetrating the Halls and layers of the deathrealms of Elves, Faeries, Wizards and Mermaids, and I saw how they descended to their underworlds and their hells. And I saw how they were masters of ascetism and ascet warriors. And I saw their deep deep wisdom in celibacy and poverty by which they could reach the treasures of the wildernesses and the distances. As I came to the coffins of mermaids a strange lightening came over me, descending into my heart. And I could read their coffintexts full of magic, full of keys to open the doors of hidden eternities. And a strange energy was speaking to me, like the energy of a banana, and it guided me to the coffins of wizards, which were like filled by banana-material. And an iron man stepped out of a coffin. He had died several times, and came from the depths. And his magic was like pouring several juices into cups. And by these juices you could speak in stories. Yes, amazing stories came forth from the juices, healing all the ones listening. Then the iron man stepped back into his coffin, which closed and immediately a clock started ticking. It was like metal ticking, while a door was opening, and I saw coffins of faeries, elves and other mermaids. And I was reading some coffintexts of faeries as I came into drunkenness.

13.And the Halls of Dead Wizards started to open for me. And the first hall was the Hall of the straight blue banana's. The second Hall was the Hall of red banana's. The third was the Hall of the pink banana's. And I went through ninety-nine halls, seeing many secrets of the scarabs. Prayer to receive the eye-scarabs Cover my eyes. I lay my eyes on the altars of scarabs, and will turn into an eye-scarab myself. Oh, holy scarabs, send me grace to have scarabs on my eyes, so that my eyes will stay sacred. I have not sinned, for I am Horus-Ra. I have not sinned in the presence of the scarabgods, and I will praise their names : Mitas, Mitlanda, Meram, Kesjip, Kaskau, Dadin, Hamark, who have armies of fiftythousand, eightythousand or fivehundredthousand. Lau your hands on my eyes, and bless them. Let your seed stream over my eyes, so that scarabs will grow from it. Let my eyes be scarabs. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. I lay my hands on my eyes and will not watch unholy things. I will only see visions of you. Yes, the eye-scarabs will give me dreams and visions, as my eyes are sacred. My eyes are judged in the Halls of Thoth, even my mouth and my ears. I have not sinned against the gods. I am Ra-Anu. Let me in, and let me dwell into your solar ships. Grant me the solar eye-scarabs, so that my lights will be sacred and clean, yes, fertile and colourfull.

14.And the motherscarab taught me about business, insurance and tax in the world of scarabs, to raise me out of many wars, many angers and rages. And I saw the world changed by the economy of the scarabs, descending into me layer by layer. And they taught me about rent, and they showed me how to pay rent. And the insurance-scarabs brought me into new contacts, and the sun of bloodline couldn't do any harm to me. And I saw the illusion of bloodline and genealogy, and the scarabs started to shift them, while new portals of bright warm and watery lights started to open up before my eyes. And as the scarabs entered, the mummies started to rise out of their graves. And I could see a whole new world, in the insides of Briskan. And marketsquares were rising with boys from lynx like perfect scarabs, and there was blood flowing. They were boys of business having the arrows of tax. And they were installing toys like scarabs, raising the rent. And a deer had been shot, as I saw this picture in the panther's eyes, but this picture was in fire. And I begged the scarabs to tell me more about the secrets of the boys from lynx. They had tax-machines on their back, and they had parachutes like octopuses, descending in pits and ravines. They were looking for the shoe, and at one moment they were shouting : We found the shoe.

15.It was a big red one, like a giant one, and they stepped into it, to descend like thunder into it's layers. And they were screaming everywhere : 'We found the shoe !' It was like an ornament, like an ornament of giants, and now I could descend into the underworlds and deathrealms of giants. And suddenly I started to understand a lot of things, but soon it was fading away. And I knocked on the door of the first Hall. And a small thin, but tall man opened the door, and started to grow immediately. Was it all a trick from the giantworld ? And what did I see here ? Everything started to change before my eyes, like I was a giant myself. And I came in a world beyond big and small, where everything started to analyze and change itself before my eyes, as I could touch deeper, like putting my hand through layers of water starting to transform the atmospheres. It was like layers of thick visions, thick layers of a strange sort of glue, where strange lights were descending changing everything, like on a tv-screen. These were all tricks and different combinations of light, giant-light, changing everything.

16.Nodhord – Hall One This was the first hall I came into, as I was amazed by what I saw. I started to doubt my eyes. It looked like everything was just in the eye of the beholder. Do our eyes trick us. Nordglam – Hall Two As I came into the second Hall, I was sliding to a door, and found rabbits behind them. They were drinking from iron glasses, and some had iron shoes. Here the tones were low and slow, and suddenly started to run high and fast. Then all the images changed. Were the giants making music ? And a rabbit said to me : You have to pay rent for living in my memory. Nordhus – Hall Three Here the giants were dancing. They died so many times, and I saw the coffins of giants here, like sarcophages and treasure-boxes. Here the toymaker lived, and he was surrounded by scarabs who helped him making the toys. Ratham - Hall Four Here the scarab-rats lived, and they were like butchers, installing tax. They were tax-scarabs, making the illusions of movements. Ratdonk - Hall Five Here the scarab-rats and the scarab-mice lived together with the timemaker. After going through these Halls I came to the seven seas of the Giant Underworld. Here the scarabs were like boats, and here the scarab-fishes lived. Above these seas a transparant triangle was floating with an edge of white light. It was a soothing sight, and soft energy flew through the triangle. Through the triangle a boat was floating with a shoemaker who was like a scarab-mouse. Through the triangle you came into the realm of the Palaces of the Shoemaker. Always when it was midnight the shoemaker came into a fight with a tailorman, who was like a scarab-rat. And I tried to soothe those two gentlemen, and teached them what the scarabs had teached me about the economy. But they said the battle was about the economy. They both weren't satisfied. And soon I realized that this was a deeper battle, and I wanted to solve it. And then I came to the Underworld of Indians, and I could stay there because I already had been to the Giant Underworld.

17.Dokhorst - First Hall Here the tailors made clothes from shoes, for they said that like this the souls would be kept close to the Underworld, wherever they are. And I saw these clothes were like vehicles, but they could never really leave or fall away from the underworld. Dirsklun – Second Hall Here there were many fights, and I still couldn't solve them, for I didn't have the keys. And I asked them where I could find the key, and they said : You can find them in the books of the dead. And I teached them about what I had learned from the scarabs, but nothing helped. It was like a war of tax. And I took two arrows of rent, and I shot it into a gate above me to open it. Then I took my insurance-harpoon and could swing through it. I was now in a wilder place, but there was more silence. And my boys from lynx started to explode too, and they were turning into the wildest stinging red nettles. 'You must go to the White,' a voice spoke. But I got madder and madder, wilder and wilder, and exploded too. Hammumda –Third Hall Here I was eating bitter food, and rejecting economy, rejecting mathematics, for it was all nonsense. And I came to the nonsense of mathematics : Found the nonsense of mathematics all in a leather bag, almost burnt by the bunny, addicted to some crack. Get my money when it's daylight, I am leaving this train, I jump, I die, and bring the flowers to the faery of the burning fever, deep inside, on a burning hill I battle, for this baby to be born. It was on the old attic I found the book ... of the animal-mountain a strange towerI'm still climbing it ... to escape from the nonsense, this nonsense of mathematicsGot me a brand new car today, to leave the nonsense, the nonsense Got my hat put into delay to escape the nonsense of mathematics Having the winner laughing while the loser is smoking some wine-touched delicious prides Got my maths lessons upside down now ... heard the most wonderful fairytales some backward masked tricks from the sideday's sword bringing me out of the nonsense of mathematics a strange worldI promised myself not to listen to the nonsense, the nonsense I promised myself to eat an apple instead, sailing on the nonsense, the nonsense of mathematics Got me crazy today Will start the rocket now on animal-tower, everything is in delay I'm standing still smoking rabbithats smoking rabbitheads their tales are gone, and I'm diving away insteadI promised myself not to be angry anymore at the nonsense, the nonsense, I promised myself to sing in a choir, of the nonsense of mathematics Some teachers still riding in longhairy cars still sandals they're wearing, thinking they're jesus or sandmanTwenty in total they're not so rich in goatwools they walk with their heads towards mental institutions, while they love their flowers stolen from rabbit's pits Got me some questions today, these heroes don't seem to fall Even when my nightmares broken they still stand tall Like ten men on a hill and ten men on a tower like the animal-tower I'll never winGot me some clairvoyant today She acted strange like I was ... a victim of ten men in a spaceship selling vegetables instead of meat Should have listened to them better Now I'm here, bound by speed

18.Some turkeys on the bend, she said, like leather belts, she dremt instead I cannot act today because I am a victim of this crossSo bring me today to the nonsense, to the nonsense bring me today to the nonsense of mathematicsAnd I was shutting the book, but it was still open. Then I layed it down. I had come to a library. Here I found the Books of the Dead, but they were trying to kill me. So I took my knife and started to cut the letters, and brought them to the kettle on the wild hill. And while I was speaking my spell, thunder was descending into the kettle, and there was a war between the books. It was like a Great White War, and I started to burn the wood below the kettle, until there was silence in it. And I started to stir the glues of the kettle, and I took a little bottle of the mix, and shook it. I drank it and started to dream. And by this I was led to the Scarab Book of the Dead. He was like the last survivor, like the only survivor of a Great White War. And I opened the book and started to write. And my fingers couldn't stop.I always try to do business with the spirits around me, and when they trouble me, I use arrows of tax and rent, but that is only a point of view. What about the arrows of stock and bounty ? Is it business or is it war ? That is the question. And I found the scarabs of magic like fruits around my heart, but they were dead at the end of the day like one-day-scarabs, or was that just an illusion ? They were just deeper entering my soul, like my inner traffics, the illusion of coming and going. And I was ascending deeper into the Underworlds of Bankers, to find the magic's key. They were like the moneymakers of the dead, like strange scarabs. They were like scorpions having strange shells. And again I was descending into the Wizard Underworlds, and then the Arabian Underworlds. And scarabs came to me to teach me.I didn't feel anything anymore after these days. Didn't feel my legs, I was like a mermaid. And I wondered if there was anything more terrible than death, anything more beautiful. And I begged Urg to open it's deeper portals to me, and again I was led to Briskan. This time I sank through every bottom, sliding faster and faster until I fell ... Suddenly I had a parachute like an octopus, or was it a jellyfish ? About this the wars are raging. I came to the Underworlds of trees, objects and animals. To the deathrealms of cars and washing machines. Here I found out : They all live on ...As I came to the Underworld of statues I found the secret of the tear. When they die so many times, they become tears, still raising their voice to speak. By dying so many times the giant became a dwarf. By dying so many times the dwarf became a giant ... These are strange rings. By dying so many times the elf became an indian. By dying so many times the indian became an elf. Through the underworlds of fire flames become ice. Through the underworlds of ice icycles become flames. As I came to the underworlds of suns I started to melt. They were like moving eyes, on their ways to become moons. Through the underworlds of moons I was rising, not becoming a sun, but an earth. And this earth couldn't speak, so it fled through the underworlds of suns again. And I found the key to the Underworlds of the Seas and the Oceans, where I found the number two. And it was swimming there like a swan. And it spoke to me : 'I am coming from the Swanlake. Behind the restaurant is my place, the death is just a lie ... everything is alive ... but the death is a riddle of truth, the carriage to ...' And then the letters coming forth from it's mouth were fading away ... And there at the Swanlake I was finding my boys from lynx back again. They told me the secrets, as I spoke to the dead. Death is just a point of view. Death is just a word for the things we do know nothing about ...

19.And as I went through the Halls of Avani, the Pillars of the Elf Underworld, I came into the Indian Underworld again, but this time I came from the other side, and I saw the halls I knew nothing about. And my stomach got upset, and someone was screaming. Here the red spiders were living. Here spiders of mud were living, and I fell into a pit not knowing where it would lead me. Soon enough I was sliding, like I went through a rabbit's hole. But it wasn't. I saw snakes everywhere. And I came into the Underworlds of Suiciders and Killers, but also of Butchers. And these were called the Underworlds of Cannibals. And on and on I came to a deeper business, only to come to a deeper war.And as I came to the Underworlds of the scarabs, doors opened themselves to me. And I came to the underworlds and deathrealms of taxmasters, rentmasters, stockmasters, insurance-masters and businessmen in all sorts. And the deeper I came the more magic came over me, and I got deeper access into the Underworlds of the Scarabs. And again they teached me. And their grip was like poetry. And I came to the Underworlds of Poets, and they were like birds with heads screaming of pain and extasy, while they were opening the Underworlds of the Ascets. From here their sources were flowing from, and I saw strange alphabets flying, and they spoke in strange accents. And all they could do was moving in dignified spasm, and like statues they had their magic. And all they could do was directing to the Underworlds of Toys and Puppets. And always I found myself sliding back to Briskin. And there was a house near to the deserts, showing four parts of a flower, while there where camels walking all around. And this house was called the house of decision. And an ornament above the deserts opened itself, and lightening came from it, while the camels started to run into the deserts. I had climbed on one of them. And they were going to the city of Haarlem, where they worshipped Bastet. And I still remembered this flower, and gave her the memory. And she opened the flower. And I found myself like a wild animal, tamed.And I found a golden globe of Izu, and I was focussed particulary at the Urg-part of it. And some lights were shivering on the globe, like red lights. And as I pushed the red lights my soul was taken away to a strange place. And it was like standing on a mountain, seeing so many underworlds. And as my soul got wings I flew to the other mountain. And my soul felt like a weak flower, and I started to gather my memories. That was all I had. I couldn't think anymore, I had only my memories. And as I started to cherish them new creatures were coming from them. And I came to the Underworlds of the weak to find it's ornaments. These were like eyes in many colours. And I searched through the underworlds and deathrealms of eyes, hearts and ears, but also of legs and arms. Finally I came to the Underworld of the Lungs, where birds got their wings. And it was like I lost everything there, finding so many things back. And I came to the Underworlds of mouths to travel on tongue-paths, and also the Underworlds of intestines were tall paths. Some were very narrow and thin. After that I came to the Underworlds of the Liver and the Spleen, and rabbiteyes were staring at me. Ladders and stairways came out of their mouths, and I could enter in. As I came into the pancreasal underworlds I encountered scarab-butterflies and scarab-ladybugs. And I told them : Don't hit me, don't push me, don't let me lose my way, don't scorn me, for I'm a bakerman's face, tell me brother, I'm a bakerman's face. And I came to the underworlds of flowers, and they were like elves and faeries, having anuses like lips, peeing magic. This was the sensitive world, and they could breath ... deep. They had special and secret ways and paths to breath, like waterfalls of standing breath. And as I came to the underworlds of vagina's, falluses and other genitals, the times were shifting there. Here the chronology-masters lived. They were the weavers of time. And as I came to the underworlds and deathrealms of nipples, I saw even chocolate coming from them. First white chocolate, but later also some other colours, especially red. And I was in awe when I encountered these nipples of the dead. They were huge and like bodyparts, and nipplian creatures came forth from them. Some came from strange cocoons. And I was sliding into extasy, it was bringing me to a deeper pain, and to the depths of these underworlds. And finally I saw nipples of the death like peeing tears, and even blood. And a rage came over me, bringing me into a deeper war. And as I was rippling between extasy and deep pain, between business and a deeper war, I came to a strange path. Here I saw the toymaker, here I saw the tailor. Here I also saw the shoemaker, but they were all dead. And tongues of the dead hung all around me, inviting me to come into their worlds, but I was struggling my way on the path, while I was sliding into the Underworld of the Shoe. And the extremes raised higher, and their paradoxes, creating a new world, stranger than ever. Here fires and flowers grew like bridges across the skies. All that was far away was also so near. The illusion of distance had been gone. And suddenly I was sliding through the shoes of the dead, to the deeper deathrealms, there where the tearlakes were. And it was like strange paint, and strange nipples were peeing tears into the lakes like strange automatons. And I thought : 'What is going on ?' And still I was sliding away, and I came to the deathrealms of trains and racecars, and these paths looked like the genital area of women. The picture moved like snakes. These were strange forestroads, first pink, but later pinkblue. And then crying babies came forth from these area's and I thought : 'What is the deal ?' And veiled naked women came from out of nowhere, and their veils were transparent. And they said : 'Plug in', but I was running away ... for aren't there other ways to come somewhere ? And while I took distance I saw them changing into spiderwebs. 'Come back,' they whispered, trying to soothe me. And I came to the underworlds of the celibates and the virgins, where I found rest ... Strength was coming into my body again, although it was a strange sort of strength, almost on the edge of spasm. Breath was coming into my body again, although it was a strange sort, almost on the edge of hyperventilation. And it was like I got the crown of Epilepsy ... falling away from so many worlds ... so many disconnections, and I got socially disturbed. Now I could enter the Underworlds of Pirates, the Underworlds of Soldiers, and the Underworlds of Clowns, Jesters and Harlequins. And it was all leading me to a deeper war and a deeper tear It was guiding me to the underworlds of whores and finally the underworlds of clothes. The clothes were alive here, like vehicles and guides, like scarabs. And they taught me many laws. And as I was sliding through the underworlds and deathrealms of singers, artists, bands, piano's, guitars, drums and other equipment like violins, organs, trumpets, horns, clarinets and other sorts of flutes, I could finally escape the threats of sound and light. They were always programming my mind to produce their spirits, but now I had raised the rent. I could finally reach my arms again, and feel them. Then I woke up. Was it all just a dream ? Well, I used to believe all my life was a dream ... just a dream ... And then ... sometimes it's good to dream within the dream ...

20. There was a ship of virgins coming to my town, while the girls stood before my window. Naked ... but more or less veiled ... I was sending them away, for they could be spiderwebs ... And then I started to think about the underworlds of a banana. Suddenly I felt strange ... I walked towards the door, and a little boy was standing before it. He kicked me in my stomach, and was roaring like a lion. He kicked me so hard that I fell asleep again. And then the whole dream started again ... Almost the same, but just a few details had changed ... And at the end of the dream I expected to wake up ... but I didn't ... Did this boy kick me too hard ?

21. And then I came to the Underworlds of Houses and Buildings, of skies and things like chairs, tables, floors, lamps and bicycles ... I even got into the Underworlds of paintings ... Unbelievable, right ? But in the Underworld of paintings, they are alive, and they are portals to to paint and tears

22. And then I came to the Underworlds of Beds and Doors ... Ships and Planes, restaurants, games, bathrooms, and kitchens And I got problems speaking ... I became a silent person ... because of this all ... There's not much to say anymore when you have seen things like this ... Finally I came to the Underworld of Books, and that opened a few doors for me ... In the deeper underworlds of books, books are amazing creatures, like planes of the underworld, yes, sometimes even starships or ufo's, or cruise-ships But there were many wars between the books and I could not solve these I could only maybe ease their pain a bit I wanted to write one book to solve the whole war of books ... But I couldn't the wars got worse and I had to escape Some boys from lynx tried to let me escape out of the Underworld of Books, but they failed Then some bakerman's faces tried I was a prisoner of an author's kitchen. I tried to invent a new alphabet and a new language but the books always knew how to find me ...

23. And I thought : 'If I could change the paint a bit ? Would it lead me out ? And I thought of all the places where I had been, about the nipple-paint and the tears ... And I started to cry ... while the books were changing It was like another dragontear had fallen on the graveyard of books While I could sink through so many bottoms ... heading for the castles of the red dragon ... And I could come into the Underworlds of pencils ... of pencils, paint and tears and of dragonhearts and I thought to myself : 'Where have I been all these years ... ' And then Horus said : 'My child ... it's not too late to change your life ... You are now safe here All these strange dancers will disappear ... ' And I went to the Underworlds of dancers sliding deeper and deeper until I encountered the ballerina It was just a ballerina Some parts of her had broken away It was a doll ... just a doll And I said : 'Put your feet, on the graveyard, put your feet, on the grave, and slide a bit deeper There will be things you never forget Don't be afraid Put your feet on the grave where you will find your wings and new tomorrows, where you will watch your riddles coming alive they will guide you across the nightseas guiding you to paradise Come, ballerina put your feet on the grave, and dance like a ballerina then slide from grave to grave On the coffin you will get your wings ... The coffin texts of faeries you will receive on your wings While you read them you will rise like the holy sphinx, knowing all the answers, opening all the doors No one will forget you, you will reach the other shore So fly out, my little ballerina don't cry no more, but get a little deeper ... '.

24.And the opening of the ballerina was like opening the Underworld of Knights ... and of so many animals and ornaments And I thought : 'yes, we're dying before every closed door, until our deep death opens it ... That's the way it goes We do not need more strength, but a deeper death.'

25.And then the fairytale went on There was a butterfly sitting on a musical box It looked like the ballerina She had her wings now ... She was now a scarab-butterfly still a dancer always descending into the underworld One day she met the shoemaker and the tailor, who were still having fights at midnight She took them down on her stairways, until their hearts combined Like the scarab-butterfly they took flight So many knights were rising up, having the underworlds of playcards like magic balls in their hands Like the underworlds of alphabets they stand together And I saw a number three coming forward with a trumpet ... Blowing while I was waking up again The little boy saw that and kicked me again immediately harder than ever I came into the underworlds and deathrealms of numbers This time I thought I was really dead ... No Near-Death-Experience, no fake-death, no, this time I thought I was really gone. And the numbers started hunting after me ... and I thought : What is the deal ? These numbers are dead ... And I saw these numbers were portals to the underworlds ... strange underworlds like the underworlds of a smile Some smiles have died a million times Then they show up with a vengeance to take some pictures and then leave to make comics Well, I went to the Underworlds of Comics after that, and finally to the Underworlds of Cartoon ... A strange museum it is They are made of dragontears and of alientears and ... the tears of all sorts of beasts and numbers And these tears are like scarabs Well, cartoons and comics are actually scarabs ... Where would we be without them ?

26.And I came to the Underworlds and deathrealms of trousers, and the deeper I came the more tears streamed through them. They were like strange scarabs and beautiful. I asked myself if there would be anything more beautiful than that. And I came to the underworlds of rings and fingers, but I still returned to the Underworlds of the trousers. And I went deeper and deeper, while they looked more and more insectian. Some had fragile wings like butterflies, and some looked like insectian horses. And some tried to get my attention like they were my sisters and brothers. And I said to them : 'Hey, I've heard you, don't be ashamed, these tricks I never cared to cry ... For these are all just bakerlies ...' And I said this for they lived in deep wars ... Wild wars between a lot of different tribes And I wanted to sooth them, and make them laugh for awhile but I also knew that smiles like these could destroy them so I was very careful ... telling them about some tragedies in other underworlds ... But I couldn't solve their wars these wars were deeper than the previous ones I encountered ... And I went from tribe to tribe to find out what was going on but some tribes were very aggressive to me ... or didn't want to speak to me ... And deep tears came to my throat, but also a deep rage ... And I try to do business, but they didn't respond ... Then I took my arrows of tax ... but I didn't want to fight so I shot them in the middle of the night You must pay the rent to live in my fantasy ...

27.And I try to put some marketsquares and some stockmarkets, building insurances and bounty-fields ... I even showed them the secrets of the capital ... but they didn't give away their prides In the middle of it all they built their totems. But they couldn't conquer me with their webs and their lies as I was a giant in their eyes ...

28.Maybe I have to go to some other underworlds to find some keys ... So I went to the underworlds and deathrealms of the shorter trousers, even of the trousers too short Here the tearlakes were like neverending wars designed by the nevermade I cannot conquer these words they have built ... I can't believe I am running here When I'm looking down I have the trousers too short ... like pink lights sliding over me until I'm crying neverending tears I'm heading for the big swallow for the Underworlds and deathrealms of the throats ... But do believe, these tears are rising higher ... until they overflow again washing my mind again Cannot find my way back to the deathrealms of trousers All I do is coming to the underworlds and deathrealms of lips and tongues Where the ravenmermaids watch and stand ... like queens on their thrones They direct me to the Underworlds of stomachs, food and drinks But I cannot find any key I'm only sliding further away I'm calling for the trousers of the underworld but no one's calling back I am unheard

29. Then I watch a symphony of giants Then I watch some roses grow Like tongues they give light blinding me guiding me into the night Then I swim to the morningsides but I can never touch their hands Maybe I have to dive into their underworlds And when I do I find their trousers like the mermaid's trousers these roses are so blue hurting my eyes all I can do is scream ... when I shriek the clocks are rolling Give me your trousers please

30. Now the fish has two legs again These trousers come from the neverending Have them in my arms ... this fishtail growing like the destiny my baby's dreaming it's all between you and me I bring the mermaid's trousers to the wars of the underworld Trousers are watching me, telling me I tell tales unheard

31. Then I wake up, seeing the boy still standing he's my son And I thank him for all the stories he brought to me ... He's smiling like the Anubis but I have to go again He knows and kicks me knock-out again.

32. Since the coming of the mermaid's tail, the trousers live in great peace There are still some wars yet, but it's now on the background Since peace came the lightmushrooms were coming ... and the lighttoadstools. They were guiding them all home, into a new dream, a dream within a dream ... I came to the underworlds of buttocks well, that was tricky for from there the waterfalls flow like strange pink lights so wet like the watering lights heading for the fights All they want to do is to reach the broadcastlady from cartoon And all they say is : 'Move away we're heading for her' And I came to the underworlds of breasts came to the underworlds of clocks until I found the nipples of dead where the milk of the dead was streaming from I wandered through the underworlds of milk, of blood and sweat I wandered through the underworlds of smoke, colours and candy The underworlds of pink are hard to believe Where the pink trousers are it's hard to breathe But all I did was to search for the underworlds of the brown leading me under the yellow A place of warmth and nostalgia everything is cherished here Butterflies are awakening here Breath, my child, breath break the bloodline and be free Watch the giant's symphony Come into the underworlds of visions and dreams They have died so many times before and after they reached you Bring healing to their bones ... Give them wings to fly Don't let them be shattered again Don't let them die.

33. As I died so many deaths, I became a butterfly sinking into the Underworlds of Shops, where I found some small lights Lead me to the wings so fragile All I found here were deeper wars under the skin Came to the Underworlds of Cradles to the Underworlds of Gamble-machines and gamblers trying to find their ways back home Scarab-beetles and scarab-snails are searching for you ... These gamble-machines they never lie They only cry trying to find their ways back to you Through the Underworlds of Misunderstandings they will finally understand you These Underworlds of Wars are just some scarabs coming through ... The Underworlds of Traffic leading you homeThe Underworld of the Police guarding you. The Underworld of Letters bringing you to the M. And the Undergrounds of M lead you to the Undergrounds of K, and together they hide the underworlds and deathrealms of the elephant.

34.And I came to the Halls of Death of vampires and witches, but also of demons. And these Underworlds were like three pale purple roses ... becoming dark in the night, with red wet lights and dark wet yellow lights like fire Is this hell, or is this heaven ... it all depends on your point of view ... And three big faces guarded the Underworlds of Chess ... while Horus was descending raising vultures from the sides of chess And I came to the Underworlds of christians they had nowhere to go for in the depths of these underworlds they found out they had followed a lie, and now they had to build their own show And I came to the Underworlds and Deathrealms of Pawns but I tried to get even deeper ... I had to reach for their hells, their eternal flames

35.Underworlds full of riches ... underworlds full of tears underworlds full of paths leading through all these years Underworlds full of traces underworlds full of fears Underworlds, yes, the white rabbit is bringing you near Stepped on the back of a red one ... Alice was in tears He opened some new doors to me tearing down all those years And Alice now her clothes are torn She's wild now, like the jealous gong She's hunting like the raider on a red rabbit she wages war until all her children reach her shore Alice, daughter of the white rain, daughter of the white snow Now it's time to take the red tree he's telling tales on his own While a red rabbit comes like a snake taking her away Alice, daughter of the white rain, daughter of the red snake she's walking on her own now with a red cape

36.Put on your red boots, put on your red boots, step into the carriage, bringing you to wonderland again, not the yellow trip, not the white one, but a red one instead ... breaking the dice, breaking the chessboards of black and white ... on a red chessboard we stand ... from a red chessboard we rise ... Not the one of angels, but of pirates

37.Put on your red boots, while the red rabbit takes you again like the red snake taking you to it's den Not a rabbithole this time ... these echoes come from deeper

38.Put on your dancing shoes, ballerina This queen of hearts you have to defeat Put on your red shoes, ballerina This queen of roses you have to push against the wall You must destroy her painting, and call it art You must descend into her pits and open her door, and swim to her shore Then she will rise like a dragon on her island she will stand hiding her wells But you must put on your red tattoo to break her shoe Send her automatons of tears away Spend your days with the red rabbits and pray Build an army while you can while no one understands Build a tower, build a spear and shoot your arrow into her last year No one will understand and no one will follow you No one will say your name Only she will do

39.Alice, step into her well The red snow will fall The red ice will stand before you, and rise to heal it all Alice the red key lies before you open the door swim through your wonderland again and reach for the shore No one is there but you will raise your children by the red tree Walk the red path Carry the red cross Flames of fire and ice will guide you to paradise

40.To the pyramid of crosses, I see the cross, the rosecross, and the red cross But I see the worse cross is the chrystal ball, a red ball while you were watching over me And I see the white ball was the greatest joke coming over me Oh rosecross, lead me through the red ball, oh rosecross lead me through the white ball, the greatest joke of all Oh rosecross, lead me through the red realm, lead me through the red desire Let the red rabbit coming to take me higher than the skies Oh rosecross, and give me daily bread, give me daily meat Oh rosecross, give me shoes to walk on water Oh, rosecross and save my baby rosecross don't let the red ball take her away I pray

41.Saw a white rabbit standing, standing near a white cross while a white ball was coming over me giving me these dreams while a red ball was rising deep inside a worse cross I needed to hide using all those tears to write books are on fire

42.Saw a white rabbit standing there standing near the white cross surrounded by the pink, these snakes were falling falling away into a white chrystal ball While a red ball rose deep from the inside writing like the egg of snakes while a red rabbit was coming forth leading me to the roses leading me to the roses of another year another tear another year

43.Rabbit, don't kill me again Let me stand here where I am got to bring the message to the postman Rabbit, don't run away from me I need you when these roses are dying sliding into the afternoon to the underworlds of afternoon

44.Rabbit, don't kill me Don't you leave me Bring my message to the postman Got to stay here where I am I cannot move, I'm like the red tree And I came to the Underworld of Trees watching the giants in their rivers Some had boats some had strange trousers bringing me on my knees to watch their golden shoes These trees they know how how to escape with me As I came deeper into their underworlds rabbits and squirts in the trees They were watching the giants in their rivers Watching the suns coming over me And I said : 'Rabbit, don't you kill me, I'm still too young to die but bring my message to the postman and come back to me Rabbit, I cannot move I feel myself like the red tree Will you raise me up bring me to the borderlines of this strange dream And I jumped from the edge while I was floating into the Underworlds of rivers and lakes And I came to the underworlds of rocks where they could just move and live Came to the underworlds of mountains and vulcano's, of clouds and stars, searching for the brake Came to the underworlds of bloodlines, who were like lions and butterflies like strange storybooks flying The bloodlines ... strange insects Set them free They were not made to be imprisoned between you and me

Sea of Quin

The cat slays a spider, and a fly comes forward. Then more flies are coming forth, and then a big ladybug. A flying cricket leads them to the Sea of Quin. Behind this enormous sea there's a land called Temup, with the city Domom. The city Domom has a lot of gates which can be accessed by certain poetry and riddles. The traveller travels in the sunboat, with the Sa speaking to the watchers :

First Gate : Gate of Uprightness

Key : These horses are blind my dear and they will be deaf at the end of the year ...

Second Gate : Gate of Honesty

Key : It's all hidden behind trees and flowers ... desiring to be discovered ... Back to Brannan, not afraid of the hidden rage ... and the hidden riddles waiting to be puzzled out it needed to be ... a hidden message ... for it was too private ... just for you ... Back to Brannan ... not afraid of death ... for it can kill you if you come too close ... When they once saw you ... they will never let you go ... until they pierced the thing they saw

Third Gate : Gate of the Conversation between Shoes

Key : Trips to Brannan, He with the green wings ... he with the wings of the ornament ... He's making me smile ... I'm in Brannan again, on the wings of the wind ... It's made out of stamps ... It's the nothing ... but yet so full ... It's the touch of an artist ... yet so chaotic ... but it's just a higher order. He has bananawings ... and he smiles ... while he's crying inside ... crying sand ... He with the tenderwings, making hearts so sweet, this wizard's son. His wings are so light and fragile ... it's making me cry with all these soft candles in the storm ... He's the wizard's son. He gave me lionwings and pantherwings to fly, he helped my heartwings and my liverwings to reach for brannan's hills ... glittering in the sun ... These are ashes from the ashes ... coming from high urns ...

Fourth Gate : Gate of the Farmers' Domain

Key : In the distance the soft machineguns and canons were shooting, pulsating, like liquid balls and eggs together, while soft winds surround the targets. The heat is intensive, someone is breathing, like he can explode every second. It's hard for him to leave the plateau, this level, to reach for a deeper one inside. Someone is breathing heavier, someone close to him. They cannot hold themselves up, and suddenly by a wind and a flash, they are exploding into white powder. Now the wind will do with it what it wants, but their souls are deeply gone, gone to another world. Their mouths are contracting, while the venom flows into their mouths. The mountains are high here, while snow and dust covers them, where the sun licks the roofs and the ripples. It was a flyian attack.

Fifth Gate : Gate of Nuin

Key : He has white golden wires coming from his shoulders, while his white golden uniform is blinding the mass. His teeth pulsate the heat, while soft winds surround his attacks. He's a good warrior on his ship, doing flyian attacks. After the battles there isn't always much to do. Sometimes it's really boring for they shot everything away. The webs of wild flies are worse than that of spiders, for it eats everything away.

Sixth Gate : Gate of the Brannan Warriors

Key : There are standing racecars on the tall attic on the tall table, where the nephews play. These racecars are a species of flies. They like to get fast to break through the picture. Then nothing has form, nothing has shape, and everything starts all over again. There's coming soft smoke from their throats. Their fathers have smoken too much. Tall cigarettes are their cue's on the billiardstable, while the balls are of gold in all colours. Watch these suns they have in their ornaments.

Seventh Gate : Gate of the White Warriors

Key : The white golden sun is standing tall, while someone tall, almost bald, leaves the stages to take a boy from the streets. It's just a kid, and now he is in these dark hands. The boy starts to scream, for the Lord of the Flies is taking him to an island. There where the nephews live. He's coming tall accepting no complaints. Someone gets the tall ornaments, to hang in the trees of their gardens.

Eighth Gate : Gate of the Red Stripes

Key : He's rising up, so sinister now, not a boy anymore. No one could expect that such a child would become such a strange hard man. By the hits he is autistic now, paranoid with sharp arrows. He's a wild fly, built for the kill, growing undercover in so many worlds. He's all alone, and where's the Lord of the Flies now. He stares at the tall ornaments, food for insects, but they are growing taller. He likes to make these circles, stinging through the pictures, to gain the nothing. From here he can grow to the heights. His touch is cool and shaky. He doesn't have an identity no more, while his colours are spreading like ripples and waves, he's heading for the pale, looking for the lost drips of colour. He dives, misses, and then falls away to wait another thousand years for a second chance. He's dreaming, dreamy, shifting his consciousness. Nothing is real.

Ninth Gate : Gate of Ulias

Key : He's a flyian mariner, without an army. His arrows are sharp, piercing his own back and shoulders, while wires are coming through. He's painted in many colours, while he shows the pale spots. His eyes are dark, waiting for the kill.

Tenth Gate : Gate of the Dominators of the Quin-Sea

Key : In the White Golden city they gather, all these white flies, waiting for the kill. They were marked to do the crimes, deep in their nipples. Their immunology systems are overactive, but a White Golden Hand takes them away. They just need to have a good circulation, and he teaches them art. The White Golden Snake penetrates the chest, to give them more hearts. They have no shape here, only movement and change. They are free.

Eleventh Gate : Gate of them who dwell in Domom

Key : In White Golden Ornaments we are free, no identity, no names. It's shifting so fast into endless summers, to become blue on top ... a bit blue.

Twelveth Gate : Gate of the kings of Temup

Key : He heard the White Golden Hand, on the ship.

Thirteenth Gate : Them of the forty-one hours of Brannan

Key : your guide to softness, bringing you to the hearts of Brannan.

Fourteenth Gate : Gate of the Second Wheel

Key : Hail to those who have survived the strikes of Belcanov, for they have become softer and softer, by the glues of Brannan. Amen-Talgamen-Amen. They have been struck by a fever to become healthy. They have been struck by chaos to become ordered, Yet they are wild. They are the wild men, the wild boys, becoming raiders, while they are sleeping in trees. They have become darker and paler, covered by chocolate, vanilla and peppermint. Hail to those who have survived, for they have been struck by confusion to become creative. They do not marry, but travel from woman to woman, to become the shining hermits in the sky, while their lights are slowly fading away turning into darkness. Their hands are cold and their hearts are hot.

Fifteenth Gate : Gate of the Home of the kings of Brannan

Key : Open the pyramids of Brannan. Show me the names, and let black doves cover them by their wings. Let your holy and sacred hands take me in, and initiate me. King of Brannan, give me the keys to your home. I bow to your holy sands. Give me Jericho and Sodom, and let me destroy the evil snakes by the red stripes. Pharaoh's of Brannan rise up to give me the rods to destroy the evil donkeys holding away the sweetness. Let me destroy the unholy goats who guard the gates of tallness. Give me the hoofs of goats to let me rise. Let me rise from the seven kettles of the goats. Let me be ashes from the ashes, smoke from the smoke, as your holy servant, lead me to eternal paths. Guide us, into the eternal pastures of Brannan.

Sixteenth Gate : Gate of the Home of the pharaoh's of Brannan

Key : Here is where our home is, here is where our hearts are. Oh, Pyramids of Brannan, show us the holy feathers, and let them rise in our hearts. Let truth guide us, and bring us to Draminia, the roots of life. Show us the depths of Amenti in Brannan and Draminia. Let Jericho and Sodom rise. We ask you to lay your rods on our foreheads, and to bring your feathers inside of us. Lead us to eternal paths, oh Holy and Sacred One, and give us your winged Khu-hearts. Bless Brannan and Draminia, bless Marazanta, Lord of the Insects, and bless the White Golden Hand, the Lord of the Flies. Bless our king and emperor of Brannan, and give us access to the rivers that lead into your pyramids and tombs. Let us dwell in your chambers forever, to read their texts.

Seventeenth Gate : Gate of the Weeping Fruit

Key : Lead us through the sunsets of Brannan, through its halls. Amenti-Ra-Amen. Tem, feeder of all Ka's, feed us, and bring our Ka's into the rays of Amenti-Light. Let them possess and transform our ba's. Brannan, bring the feathers in our lungs and eyes, so that the red stripes can come over the enemies. Let us make Jericho rise. Let us rebuild its walls. Bless her walls, bless her. Bless the lights of Brannan, and bring our hearts to our hearts. If our hearts aren't light and bright enough, then let Ammit eat it.

Eighteenth Gate : Gate of the Land

Key : I come to the White Golden Pyramid of the Winged Snake of Brannan, to bless all four openings. I enter through West, and follow the paths of the sunsets. Let the seven sacred sunsets guard my mouth, and guide my lungs. 56. Brannan is the Jaw, the ashes from the ashes, where the power to speak dwells and the power of silence.

Nineteenth Gate : Gate of Jerom

Key : Jericho ; Let the comic milk stream from Jericho, by white pink treasures, they take flight .. to become the towers of the sea ... Let the comic milk stream from Jericho. These are handkerchiefs of strange leather and wool ... beyond the museums ... there's honey streaming from Jericho ... where the trousers run ... they drink from iron boots ... while they ride the rabbits ...

Twentieth Gate : Gate of Jericho

Key : How many songs of Jericho does it take to rise the foundling ... to build the bridge to Draminia ... The guitar will do .. these men are jukeboxes ... golden statues ... Put the Icecreams against the hot ones chocolate ... Melting is just making music ... It all happens on a red chessboard the wizards surrounding the castles ... The guitar of wonder will lead us over the river ... they were all prisoned .. in kisses of death ... The records turned red on that day, the rivers turned blood ... Hot in the North, cold in the South ... while a musical box was rising from the red chessboard ... It was a matter of melting and freezing ... while a little ballerina was dancing on top.

Twentyfirst Gate : Gate of the Kings of Jericho

Key : On that day when the chocolates were melting ... the face of the frog appeared ... a red face ... the queen found her toy back ..finding out she wasn't queen anymore ... the toad was sitting in the dining room of little aquarius ... with a golden dish and a golden grail while the plate-statue was a golden lion ... The cooks were all frozen, doing strange dances ... Dorothee found out she wasn't a woman anymore ... She had to swim through one almost frozen river ... to reach the tops of a new island ... where she would be tall and stretching would she be tall enough to realize what she was now ? tall emotions moving like snakes ... she was flexible now ... not frozen anymore ...

Twentysecond Gate : Gate of the Jericho Pharaoh's

Key : It's spiralling from the Red Eye ... Sodom's Eye ... and we are in this whirlpool, swimmingpool, masterpool In strange racecars we ride riding the stories, on old records the lambsheads sit ... She's smoking the fairytales This is the world of feelings, so strong it claims your mind ... to possess and possess like hot chocolate, having raiders darker than men ...

Twentythird Gate : Gate of the Piper's Son

Key : Under Bekehelm's helmet..... Tomorrow the Big Ear will smoke.

Twentyfourth Gate : Gate of Oblivian

Key : Summertales too long, all written in a Brannan's watch.

Twentyfifth Gate : Gate of Bekehelm

Key : My god is a chessboard. But on sundays, I never believe in god. I'm the black chessboard, and he's the red chessboard. It makes my view so small, and then it starts to cry. On high materos we take flight. The fly rises from the chessboard. It made him tall and thin ... ready for the next strike of Brannan's clock. His sword is a checked spoon.

In here a god is living called Bekehelm's Tune, like a dwarf. He cares for the forests in this gate

Twentysixth Gate : Gate of the Pear

Key : There is an orange golden sun rising, from China to the Lapoon. For all with Brannan's smile, Rotten railways, bending low, for curtain's spinach. There are seven roads of dwarves, diving to the underworlds. There are paintings lying on a beach. There is an old orange sun rising, from China to the Lapoon. Temperature is hot, while the snakes are big and heavy. It's spouting in the air, machines of great danger. In Egypt there's a tower high, touching the underworlds of Luca's smiles. It's the tower stinging it forever, while plastic bathsmiles are in the air. It was surrounded by warm orange, symmetric snakes along the cars. Too many small lights made the air thick, while golden orange statues rake the sun, there are shadows on the golden beach, the orange balloon is rising, and I'm hanging under it.

Twentyseventh Gate : Gate of Wittepixho

Key : She paints the names on the walls of jericho ... and then the gamble starts.

Twentyeighth Gate : Gate of Uliat

Key : The walls of jericho are rising They were hidden in the hollow ... they were hidden in the pale Can we build our towns here ... and forget about our futures ? These chessboards with the gamblelights There are strange checked coins on strange checked bottles. You have the rings of lynx now ... don't fear ... They are getting paler, you can use these coins for new automatons ... Can you imagine the joy it brings ... It's checked ... a book with a split laugh ...

Twentynineth Gate : The Gate of Usifex

Key : All these fruits were just stories by mirrors opening.

Thirtieth Gate : The Gate of the Dark Men

Key : The frog has some old castles ... I'm breathing deep ... and the coins are rolling ... I gathered them by going to the battlefields in the deserts.

Thirtyfirst Gate : The Gate of the Hollow Eye

Key : The frog is your friend. He's now spitting sand. These seas of flowers are my sunglasses making me blind for what's going on ... I don't care what's going on, for it's just a story ... The frogs bring these flowers ... They are the masters of the ponds ...all these mirrors opening ... until you don't have to swallow anymore ... it's the land beyond cockaign ...

Thirtysecond Gate : The Gate of the Tear

Key : The chocolate front is open ... the charity was just a lie ... It rose from the book of lies ... teaching you how to ganner.

Thirtythird Gate : The Gate of the Ganner-Dog

Key : You see the checked frogs swimming like whales ... like glitterships ... they are the masters of the pond ... they enchanted the golden ships into banana's ... This is the world of the blind ... You don't have to run. There are no movies anymore ... There's nothing speaking here ... only some comics ... and that is enough ... The fires don't have to burn anymore ... everything is frozen here ... while frogs swim so flexible I wonder how can they be so free ... they are blind ... reaching for new shores in these seas of the jewelled flowers ... Checked snakes on the sides of chess, rising like balloons. While it all gets smaller, till the soldiers fall down.

Thirtyfourth Gate : The Gate of Liberty

Key : While ladies of the sides of chess, they're whispering ... soothing the trousers and the flowers in the night we're in dark materos raising sunset, while sinking deeper into the skies ... Your balloons were tight rings. They're coming from the seas of these pirateships making me blind

Thirtyfifth Gate : The Gate of the Gathering of Shoes

Key : The cat slays a spider, and a fly comes forward. Then more flies are coming forth, and then a big ladybug. A flying cricket leads them to the Sea of Quin. Behind this enormous sea there's a land called Temup, with the city Domom.

Thirtysixth Gate : The Gate of the Frogs of Domom

Key : The city Domom has a lot of gates which can be accessed by certain poetry and riddles. The traveller travels in the sunboat, with the Sa speaking to the watchers.

Thirtyseventh Gate : The Gate of the Lost Farmers

Key : The cat slays a spider.

Thirtyeighth Gate : The Gate of the Doomed Farmers

Key : A fly comes forward.

Thirtyninth Gate : The Gate of the Living Shoes

Key : Flies are coming forth, and then a big ladybug.

Fortieth Gate : Gate of the Red Shoe

Key : A flying cricket leads them to the Sea of Quin.

Fortyfirst Gate : Gate of the Land of the Flying Cricket

Key : Behind this enormous sea there's a land called Temup, with the city Domom.

These were the Forty-One Hours of Brannan, the Gates of Domom. Everyday the traveller needs to travel through these gates. This is also the course of the Sun of Brannan.

Litany of Lbok

They will be sent back to Izu seventy times, so that there will be a sifting among them ... Some of them will be sent back to Egypt ... This is the Litany of Lbok ... There are no tight rules in this, for it's always different ... And the paradoxes will fight ... The First Gate is the Gate of Egypt ... but those who went through this gate will be sent back to where they came from a hundred times ... Until they grow through the gate of Egypt ... Then they will head for the second gate, the gate of Izu ... and they will be sent back to Egypt until they are growing through this gate ... Then the light will also grow around them, like a fierce shelter ... The third gate is the gate of brannan, and the fourth gate is the gate of Lbok ... Those entering this gate will be sent back to Brannan until they really grow through the gate of lbok ... They will first know the depths of Brannan and the depths of Izu ... They will grow from these depths ... meeting even greater depths ... Then they will head for the fifth gate ... They will not know this gate without meeting the depths of Lbok and it's deathhalls ... They will not know this gate without meeting the hells of Lbok and it's poverty ... They will travel from death to death and from prison to prison ... to find life and lbok-citizenship in the cocoons of lbok, leading them to the land of the fifth gate ... Brannan will be a soft shelter for them in these things ...

They need to travel as Lbok, the bound king on a chariot ... Then they will become free in the fifth gate ... They must confess : Marriage is Nonsense, Marriage is a Sin, but sometimes a prison one must go through to unlock a certain hidden door ... Sometimes Marriage is a strategy ... a battlefield ... a secret mission but it must end in breaking the Canon ... Birthday and Marriage is the force of Canon, bit it will be broken ... No, you're not in hell ... it's something worse ... called the wedding ... all dad's birthday-zeppelins had been exploded already ... now we got this present from the cake ... this babe was called everlasting damnation when she was young ... but now she changed her name into the wedding ... yes, since awhile already ... Grandfather is breeding his weddings at the sides of the ponds ... making them ready for the big attack ...from the frog He's breeding his everlasting damnations under his shoes .. so that he can step on mines with them ... while my shoes are walking mines ... they explode every step i take ... while i'm still lighting my cigarettes with themi never put these things in my mouth ...i only write by them ...to an old lawyer ..to an old ornament ...the one holding the weddings tight ...he breeds them in corsets ...in iron suits of knights ...he breeds them in fish's bowls ...in whale's bowls and in trousers ...these weddingnights are still his best tricks ...like the candles on a weddingtart ...one candle for one night ...and then they start to take the cigars and cigarettes of the wedding-visitors ...which is a long and cruel fight ...a fight often ending in the bathroomwhere she shows him her everlasting damnations ...and where he shows her his paper bows ...still a sad picture ...and it's a long and cruel fight ... from the bedroom to the bathroom ...She's spreading roses to attract the dogs ... He's spreading paper dice ... not knowing what will come ... still a sad family-picture It's still the photo hanging near to the clock ... Like mom and dad were always trying to break the back of an eliphant so that they could ride it together ... It's such a cruel and sad picture in a sense ... The children still cry about it ... Why did it have to be this way ... why ...He's always speaking about the past, about his father and mother ... He got the family-album when they died in that cruel accident ... for him it's more a zoo-album a very sad prison ... He's still throwing his coins and peppermints through the bars ... trying to get them alive but life was too cruel ... and it seems everything is heading for everlasting damnation ... but maybe that would call for mr. too late summerclause ... He always saved people from that place ... but grandfather always told with a tight face : There are worse places than Everlasting Damnation ... Yes, the wedding ... that's where it all started ... but if everlasting damnation is a better station ... then let us bring them there ... and then we will see further ... the handicapped boy sais He always speaks about his father and mother, about the Lord God and about the devil He's very wise ... he thinks too deep ... He always sais he's the Lord God when he fights with his little friends while his older brother, an autistic boy, is the Boss of the Lord GodThey are heading for an urbal renewal ... They bought black shoes ... and now they're doing exercizes with the shoes ... They are both obsessed about shoes ... the Lord God always walked with the shoes of his mother ... while the older one always took his father's shoes They are also fond of suits ... They liked to wear the suits of their older sisters ... But they don't live anymore either all crashed by the accidentThere they walk like spidersmen through the streets of the cities ... flirting with the moths of the roofs ... and blinking at the ravens ... but it's all fake .. al part of the game ... They have serious things in mind They decided to reverse the city Sodom and Gomorrah needs to be destroyed ... the Lord God sais ... "yes", the Boss of the Lord God sais, there isn't any smile on his face ... he's serious ... the city needs to be destroyed for they sinned against the Lord GodThe Lord God and the Boss of the Lord God are walking to a friend of them ... he lives near to the center of the city They call him Moses, and he is the one who needs to announce the plagues ... he's a boy with a speechdefect ...They will go to top of the tower of the church where the two brothers will play the chimes and the boy with the speechdefect will announce the plagues by a siren ...It was a plague of moths ... eating the suits of the town eating away their masks and then the horror-show began ... the only thing people had to do was to look into the mirror to see what was happening under their masks for such a long time ... the world beyond fairytale ... the world behind the city-screens ...the most wild and traumatic insects were living in the flesh behind the masks ... it was a plague of moths showing the horror-screens behind the fairytale-screens ... they were doing their weddings in fresh meat ... but these were called everlasting damnations ... there is one thing worse than an everlasting damnation ... a masked everlasting damnation The Wedding ...It was a plague of moths ... back to Izu ...The moths were eating the ornaments away ... showing what was happening inside ... the chain there's something worse than a chain a masked chain for no one believes you are chained while it's eating you from inside outThey were heading for .. The Weddingroom to eat the wedding tarts ... and to show what the bride was all wearing under her weddingdress ...They were heading forthe wedding-dress ... eating it away to show the terror in daylight ... all these everlasting damnations in fresh meatRefugees from the big wedding ... all flying on moths now ... attacking the cities sharp speechdefects bred by divorces we have our own languages ... this is cake from elite ...It was a plague of moths ... digging for licorice ... back to IzuNow the handicapped boys are sitting on the ladybug ... reversing all your fed up bibles the wedding was decorated by the big B from everlasting damnation unaware of motivations, the witch's spellbook if it comes to that when repeated reversed Wild boys, She's breeding the wasp. She's breeding the tattoo on his face, he's almost skewed this little boy She's breeding the basket, She's painting the boy, By her cruel words, It will follow her the rest of her life, like a nightmare, It will even visit her across the red lines. She's breeding the wild cat, breeding the big bang, Now these boys will forget, also the big "She" ... No one wanted to listen to him, that little boy's toy, but now it's a snake hitting the lambs, in cold deserts, She bred it into this. In the sixth night, Lbok is always the Jesus, coming to the wolves ... In the seventh night he is the martyr ... refusing to fight ... This is why his crosses are deep ... This is why his tears are tall ... like wine on a sundaymorning ... He's losing it all ... In the fifth night he's the bound king on the charriot ... learning about his coming kingdom ... In the fourth night he's a slave ... in the third night the thief ... In the second night the warrior, in the first night the lullaby ... There's no eighth night in his heart ... The ring always leads him to the lullaby again ... In the afternoon he's always a baker ... In the evening he's always a raker and in the morning the forgotten spoon ... He's a poet and a clown ... with broken masks a cannibal ... In the great carnival he stands, his soul ready to bend ... To the fifth gate he's swimming and stretching out ... but he'll never reach it ... he will drown in daylight again ... until he's the mermaid of a masked man ... better masked than him ... In the night he stops all the fights ...

Lofgedicht tot de Heilige Maagden

1. Heilige Maagd Rozenweer, zoete geur, groot geheim. U bracht mij naar het huis van zwijm, waar Uw rozenkoeken bloeien, waar de grote lelies staan. U bracht mij naar het Paradijs, in Uw Wil wil ik gaan. Oh Heilige Maagd Rozenweer, zoete geur, zachte Liefde, ogenkleur, als uw flessen van bosgeur zich openen, dan dansen herten in het rond. Bij Uw geheim wil ik zijn.

2. Heilige Maagd Isabella, zoete droom, zoete morgen, waar ik naar verlang. U doet mijn gordijnen open, en de geluiden der vogels lokken mij steeds weer, tot zachte dromen. Heilige Maagd Isabella, oh zacht geluk, U bracht mij Uw harp en harlekijn. Uw nachtspelers zij zijn er weer, om mij mee te nemen tot Uw Eer. Zij brengen mij tot pril geluk, in Lentedagen zie ik U, Uw harpen staan waar wonden waren.

3. Diepe wonden bracht U mij, als door een vriend geslagen. U liet Uw tranen zien, U tuchtigde mij reeds vroeg. U bracht mij rozenkoeken in de winter, Uw paarden vonden mij in de nacht, oh Heilige Maagden der Liefde. Uw harpen staan waar wonden waren, nu speel ik voor uw troon. U maakte de schelle tonen in mijn ziel, tot bellen van U.

4. Toen zware stemmen mij verschrikten, U was daar met zachte bazuin. Toen harde stemmen mijn schepen lieten zinken, uw vissen des hemels waren daar, om liederen te verdrijven, U bracht mij tot het Huis van Stilte. Heilige Maagd Desiré, Uw gouden koorden brachten mij daar. Heilige Maagd Desiré, groot geheim, nachtlatin, hoop in gouden Liefde, om met U te zijn, is als baden in de gouden nachtfontein.

5. Uw Glorie zoekt mij steeds weer op, Uw woorden drijven mij naar diepe stilte. U fluistert zacht, totdat ik baad in rozennacht. Met dromen in Uw Linkerhand, U komt tot mij, U neemt mijn hand. Uw Glorie leidt mij, en draagt mij over woeste zeeën. Met U te zijn, is beter dan met een mens. Uw Huis van Stilte ademt in mij, en diepe rozenpilaren brengen een boodschapper tot mij. Waarom ben ik nog steeds zo jong. Ik verlang ernaar Uw Wijsheid te dragen.

6. U tuchtigt mij met Kennis, U doorstak mijn paarden met pijlen der Liefde, om hen om mijn hals te hangen, het reeenjong in Uw geheim. U bracht mij paarden der Liefde, op een stenen altaar doorboort. U hing ze door mijn haren en verzegelde mijn voorhoofd. U sprak tot mij in nachtlatin, en liet mij dalen in de putten der nachten, door uw zoete rozenkoeken.

Gebeden en Belijdenissen tot de Heilige Maagden

1. Heilige Maagd Isabella, waak over onze zielen. Geef ons de eeuwige koorden, om tot u te komen. Opent uwe heil'ge weg, een heilig pad vol vreemdelingen. Heilige Maagd Isabella, waak over onze zielen, schenk Uw woord tot een doorgang over bruggen, laat uw dalen vol van liefde zijn. Heilige Maagd Isabella, schenk ons uw geest, als een glorie van boven.

2. Heilige Maagd Desiré, laat ons niet in zonde glijden. Genees onze afvalligheid, en schenk ons uw liefde. Draag bij, aan onze eeuwige groei, in de veiligheid en rust van uw beminnelijke schuilplaats. Onder de putten heeft u het neergezet, wij komen tot u, in bewondering. Wij sluiten onze ogen, en denken aan U. Aan U, die ons leven schonk, aan u die ons opzocht in onze kerkers en putten, en leidde ons tot de diepere weg. Van anderen kwam u. Laat ons dan dichterbij komen.

3. Heilige Maagd Rozenweer, neem ons op in Uw lieflijke hand, en zet ons in uw koninkrijk neer, in Uw paradijs, waar wij in vrede kunnen leven. Uw paarse en roze vlammen is als verkoelend stoom van uw liefdeswoorden. Genees ons, en leer ons. Dank u dat u tot ons bent gekomen. Ja, diep in uw putten zonken wij, totdat u ons nam tot de dieptes van uw koninkrijk.

4. Op de bodem van onze putten vonden wij Uw weg. Heb genade, en leidt ons, neem ons mee. Heilige Bosmaagd Odusu, wij hebben uit uw rivieren van heil gedronken, en gij hebt ons de gouden vlam gegeven. Tot het groene goud leidde gij ons, en gij maakte onze werken schoon en zuiver. Uw lieflijke geuren stromen uit de bosflessen, en gij hebt uw broodbrokken in kruiken tot het voeden der wilde beesten.

5. Heilige Veldmaagd Saratus, gij bent mij grote liefde, overstroom mij met uw gloed, een bloeiende, groeiende ochtendvloed. Ik gloei wanneer gij mij aanraakt. Ik sta in brand, wanneer gij aan mij denkt. Ik kom altijd tot uw poorten. Ik ben nog nooit zo diep geweest als nu, in de dieptes van uw bloemenvelden, kom nu, en doe mijn diepste verlangens ontwaken.

6. Bloemen verwelken, zij groeien op mijn hoed, om voor altijd het geluk te aanschouwen, de glorie van de gloed, de moedergloed, zij heeft mij op rivieren genomen, tot dit paradijselijke eiland, zij is de veldmaagd Saratus, de Heilige. Overstroom nu ook mij, vergeet mij niet, wanneer je schrijft. Laat mij binnen in Uw koninkrijk, ik ben gemaakt aan U gelijk.

7. Zij hebben mij stijf gespoten, met het schuim des velds. Saratus, waarom hebt gij mij geslagen ? Zwaar tuchtigt zij haar helden. In haar manden draagt zij hen, tot de wolven van de oude dagen. Zij hebben mij zo koud gemaakt, maar er is een vlam die in mij waakt, de vlam van de heilige veldenmaagd, oh Saratus, bescherm mij tegen de kou. Mijn hart is zo koud, ik ben als een blok hout, tot Saratus mij kust, dan ontwaak ik tot hartelust. Dan voel ik alles in mij branden. Oh Saratus, waarom hebt gij mij geslagen ?

8. Tot haar dieptes ben ik gevlucht, want de vijand zat mij achterna, nu heb ik haar gekust, en vele zonden bedekt. Haar genade zocht ik, haar huis bouwde ik, nu heeft zij mij gezien. Ik ben een koningszoon, en in haar heb ik mijn troon. Oh, Saratus, waarom hebt gij mij verlaten. Steeds zoek ik naar U, steeds droom ik over U. Vaak kan ik er niet van slapen, het maakt mij zo moe. Waarom hebt gij mij geslagen ? Heel mijn leven geef ik U, waar moet ik anders naar toe. Zij zitten mij op de hielen. Tot U kan ik vluchten.

9. In veiligheid kom ik, maar ik kan uw huis niet vinden, onder mos en bloemen zal het zijn. Nog steeds slaat gij mij, hoelang zal het nog duren. Neem mij aan, ik ben een arme bedelaar, te zwak om tot U te komen, maar te sterk om door de vijand te worden weggenomen. Neem mij aan, ik ben een arme bedelaar, ik kan uw huis niet vinden, alles stroomt van mij weg. Toe, leidt mij, breng mij terug op het pad, en bedek mijn zonden.

10. Ik hoor Uw stem in de verte, bij de avondkoelte verlang ik naar de rust, maar gij laat Uzelf niet snel kennen, ik wacht op U. Kon ik maar Uw wonden begrijpen, oh tedere snaar, gevoelige blik, als op een kaart getekend, als aan een woning vastgeketend. Kon ik Uw wonden maar begrijpen, ik wil ze graag voelen, als een woning onder de bloemen.

11. Zij hebben mij stijfgespoten, zij hebben mij bedrogen, en daarom vlucht ik tot U. Ik ben nog niet tot Uw woning gekomen, maar stil en stap voor stap zal mijn droom uitkomen.

Ode aan de Dwaze Maagden

1. Heilige maagden van het woud, heilige maagden van de vulkanen, hebt gij mij ooit gehoord, toen ik tot u bad. Hebt gij mij ooit gezien hoe ik naar u verlangde. Mijn hart bonsde reeds toen ik jong was in mijn hoofd, toen ik gedichten tot u zond. Gedichten der liefde, van volwassen taal, maar gij hebt mij tot de wildernis gezonden.

2. Heilige maagden der bergen, heilige maagden van de zon, heb medelijden wanneer ik tot U kom. Wanneer ik in Uw nabijheid een verkeerd woord uitspreek, straf mij niet te zwaar. Ik ben jong en onhandig van hart. Werp mij niet van te hoge bergen. Ik kan niet vliegen, mijn vleugelen zijn nog klein. Gooi mij niet in te diepe zeeën, want ik kan niet zwemmen in zulke woestenijen.
3. Denkt niet dat ik sterk genoeg ben de haaien te bevechten. Ik ben nog jong, en zwak. Straf mij niet te zeer. Denk niet dat ik wijs genoeg ben filosofen te misleiden. Ik ben nog een kind, teer en hulpeloos in de woeste hand der aarde. Heilige maagden der zeeën, ik zie naar u uit op mijn torens. Laat me weten wanneer gij wilt spreken. Ik ben Uw spreekbuis, als het aarden vat.
4. Vorm mij als klei, maak mij sterk in Uw hand. Maar gij hebt mij enkel zwakheid gegeven, in een droomwereld verkeer ik nu. Ik ben te zwak om op te staan, gij heilige maagden der nachturen. Gij hebt mijn hart verkleind, mijn voeten gebonden. Een woesteling ben ik nu, op mijn reis heb ik nooit rust. U wil mij tot uw dieptes lonken. Leer mij Uw wonden zien. Zij genezen niet snel. Ik ben genaderd tot de vulkaan.
5. Gij dan spreekt als de draak, maar gij hebt het hart van een lam. Oh, heilige maagden der daguren, gij die de duistere lampen draagt. Gij dwaze maagden, gij zijt wijs van binnen, want gij hebt de duisternis liefgehad boven het licht. En daarom zijn uw lichten gezuiverd. Gij dan die de duisternis hebt verkozen, ook hebt gij de daguren gehad.
6. Zo zijn dan de dwaze maagden heilig, want zij hebben het verborgene liefgehad. Zij hebben dan door hun dwaasheid ook het wijze gekregen. Dwaze maagden, vorm mij in uw hand, maak mij in zwakheid sterk, en in dwaasheid wijs.

De Dwaze Maagden der Uren

1. Dwaze maagden, gouden fontein, van reine waat'ren, van zuiv're waat'ren komende vanuit de duisternis, door u zo bemind, als een kostelijke vriend. Dwaze maagden, teder woord, in zwakheid bent gij gekomen, in sterkte bent gij opgekomen. Als een schone zwakte, als een wijze zwakte, bracht gij sterkte tot het woord. Geen huis te hoog, geen brug te lang, gij gaat altijd voort.
2. Dwaze maagden, luchtfontein, bij de nachtlatingen te zijn, was U meer waard dan een gouden kroning, was U meer waard dan het dagrefrein. Avonturen hebt gij niet gemedend, door de nacht bent gij gegaan.
3. Dwaze maagden, tot de duisternis bent gij gegaan, het verborgene niet gemedend, gij hebt een plaats vooraan. Kom, voer mij weg tot het verleden, kom, laten we tot de oermaagden gaan. In de diepste duisternissen leven zij. Zij hebben een plaats vooraan.
4. Dwaze maagden, gouden geluk, voer ons door de donk're dagen, leer ons U beter te kennen, en laat ons tot de uurmaagden gaan.
5. Dwaze maagden der uren, wij komen tot U, wij houden van Uw vuur, oh kandelaar, de jaren zijn verstreken, maar Gij bent nog steeds daar. Wij drinken van Uw stem, U bent de nachtwake waarop ik bouw. Ik slaap in rust en in geborgenheid, wanneer gij Uw vleug'len over mij spreidt.

Smeekbede tot Alika

1. Ik kan je niet zien, je bent te ver weg, als een koningin op haar troon. Ik kan je niet horen, je stem is zo ver weg. Ik hoor alleen wat gefluister, maar wie is het, ik weet het niet. Is het Uw boodschapper, of is het slechts de wind. Dwaze Maagd, Alika, Heilige Maagd, Wijze Maagd van binnen, gij komt overal te laat.
2. Waarom laat gij ons gillen, de doden zijn al gestorven, wij lijden pijn, geen boodschapper tot ons gezonden. Dwaze Maagd Alika, waarom hebt gij ons weggeduwd, in duisternis zoeken wij U. Dwaze Maagd, neem ons mee, straf ons niet te luid. Neem ons mee tot U, neem ons mee tot U.
3. Wij lopen tegen muren op, wij kunnen niets beginnen. Onze stem ketst telkens terug, ten dode opgeschreven. En gij komt altijd te laat, gij bezoekt ons in de hel.
4. Dwaze Maagd, Alika, wij bonzen op Uw poorten, maar U wil alleen de morgen laten overstromen.
5. Kom snel, en straf ons niet te luid. Wij waren jong en onhandig, maar wij groeiden op als rozen. Neem ons aan. U hoeft niet te glimlachen, een zorgzame blik is ons genoeg.
6. Ik heb duizend rozen in mijn mond, zij spreken allen van liefde, teed're woorden tot U, Dwaze Maagd, Alika. Met dwaze maagden zult gij rozen beminnen, met bloemen spreken, het licht breekt eeuwig door, in fluisteringen. Straf ons niet te luid.
7. Zij kennen hen niet, die geesten bezweren. Zij kennen hen niet, de zachtpaarse wevers der watervallen en rivieren.
8. Tot de taal der trompetten, tot de bloemencorsetten, tot het genadige licht vlucht ik, tot de liefde daalt in teed're grond, waar de adem van het vuurnood mij overstroomt. Zij liet mij glijden in haar handen, liet mij dalen door haar licht, tot een overvloedige morgen die streelde mijn gezicht.
9. Ik daal nu dieper in bloemengrond, door bloemenbuizen, tot de altaren van haar verstand. Wat moet ik doen ? Leidt mij, doorgrondt mij en ken mij, oh Dwaze Maagd, Alika. In jou zijn de poorten open, maar hoe kom ik daar, hoe ken ik jouw hart. Door smart, mijn liefste, kom ik tot overig land.
10. Is daar dan geen andere weg, moeten wij voor eeuwig lijden, is daar dan geen andere poort, Alika, toe, vertel me. Is tijd te overbruggen ? Toe, redt ons uit de klok, en breng ons tot de kast, waar wij kunnen schuilen. Zachte roze stromen, paarse gebieden, druipend licht, is dit gedicht, waar liefde de tijd smelt, waar liefde de kast schept, waar wij weg kunnen drijven, tot een nieuw begin.
11. Ik moet zinken, tot de rozenwaat'ren van Alika, ik moet zinken, tot de kroning van de tijd, waar een koning de hartenpoorten uitspreidt. Hier moet ik strijden, mijn geloof in liefde belijden, de schoonheid der liefde belijden, tot de rozenkast als het altaar van de nacht.
12. Ik ken je nog steeds niet, Alika, na deze nacht. Ik zie je nog steeds niet, jou, één en al pracht. Ik hoor je niet, waar ben je gebleven. Hier op mijn kussen, liggen tranen van het verleden, en mijn deken spreidt zich als de hellevogel, waar ben jij ? Ben ik dan alweer bedrogen ? Alika, ik blijf in je geloven, waar kan ik anders heen.

13. Heel zacht in de morgen, verlegen sta jij aan de poorten, met je hand uitgestoken, om een broodkruimel op te vangen. In lompen gekleed ben jij, als de pracht van het getij. Schoonheid der liefde ik belijd je, schoonheid van teed're woorden verspreidt je, maar ik blijf diep verscholen achter mijn muren.

De sleutels van Sektia

1. Al wat ik nodig heb ben jij, de aarde wil mij verscheuren, bescherm mij, en leidt mij tot jouw putten, jouw schelpen waarmee jij je pracht omgeeft. Ik wil jouw littekens zien, waar zachte lichten stralen, het donkere heeft mij verlaten.

2. Laat mij al je ribbels zien, oh schelp, laat me je voelen waar je pijn hebt, waar je mij bent vergeten. Laat mij je liefdes-ader zien.

3. Blijf de schoonheid belijden, blijf de aarde zien, om de kooien des tijds te verbreken, en de dwaze maagden te heiligen. Brandt poorten in de heggen, en vlucht.

4. Alika, breng de morgenstond in natte manden tot de rozenblaad'ren. Alles wat je nodig hebt is daar.

5. Gij dan was bevroren, tot een kaars gemaakt, en een kandelaar, en zij brachten vele kaarsen tot U, opdat gij niet alleen waart, maar bereiken konden zij u niet. Gij was als een vurige wolkenhemel.

6. En Sektia, gij waart als de wilde vlam, maar ook als het vuur, als de zachte liefdesschaduw werd gij bemind, gij heilige maagd in alle eeuwigheden. Zij dan heeft mij de sleutels der leeuwen gegeven, zij die bevroren werden, en daarna hun zielen verbrand.

7. Sektia zij geloofd voor eeuwig, de Heilige en Dwaze Maagd, der leeuwen, tot Uw poorten kom ik, en door uw vuren kom ik, tot de wilde vlam.

8. Zij dan gaf ook de sleutels der haaien, wiens zielen bevroren, geesten verbrand en levensadem was verdronken. De orka dan is de bevrorene en de ter plette gevallen, en de tijger is de verpletterde. De walvis is de verpletterde en de ter plette gevallen.

9. De panter is de doorboorde. De olifant is de weggeslingerde en de vergiftigde. De slang is de vergiftigde en de gestikte. De stier is de verpletterde en de doorboorde. De bok is de vergiftigde, de gestikte en de ter pletter gevallen.

10. Het luipaard is de gestikte en de verpletterde. En zij, Sektia, gaf mij de sleutels tot hen. En de poezen waren de verbranden, en de honden waren de verdronkenen. En Sektia gaf mij in liefde hun sleutelen. En grote rust kwam tot mij.

11. En de beer is de uiteen getrokken, en zij heeft mij de sleutelen gegeven. Zo heersen dan de katten over de trechters der zieleverbrandingen, daar zij zelf werden verbrand. Zij dan dragen de heilige stoom met zich mee. In maagdelijkheid hebben zij hun verweer gevonden.

12. Zo heersen dan de krokodillen over de trechters der zielebevroezing, daar zij zelf bevroren werden.

13. En de honden zij heersen over de trechters der zieleverdrinking, daar zij zelf waren verdronken. Zo zijn de wolven hen die zijn verhongerd. En zij hebben in maagdelijkheid rust gevonden. Ja, tot de dwaze maagden gingen zij, om door dwaasheid wijs te worden. En zij heersen over de trechters der zieleverhongering.

14. En zij van de zieleverhongering bewaken de ambachten. En de hyena is de bevrorene, de verbrande, de verdronkene, en de vergiftigde. En zij vonden rust in maagdelijkheid. De eekhoorn is de vergiftigde. Ook de eekhoorn vond rust in maagdelijkheid.

15. De puma's zijn de gestikten, en zij heersen over de trechters der zieleverstikkingen. Zo kent gij dan het geheim der tien tenen, want zij zijn tien wonden. En het konijn, die de weggeslingerde is, is de eerste. De eekhoorn, die de vergiftigde is, is de tweede.

16. De puma, die de gestikte is, is de derde. De slang, die de vergiftigde en de gestikte is, is de vierde. De marmot, die de gestikte en de weggeslingerde is, is de vijfde. De boom, die de bevrorene, de verbrande en de gestikte is, is de zesde. De bloem, die de bevroren, verbrande, verdronkene, en de uiteen getrokkenene, is de zevende. De plant, die de gestikte en de ter pletter gevallen is, is de achtste. De struik, die de gestikte, de verdronkene, en de weggeslingerde is, is de negende.

17. De wind, die de verdronkene, de verbrande en de verpletterde is, is de tiende.

18. Zo kent gij ook het geheim der twee tepels, want zij zijn twee wonden. En de eerste is de hond, die de verdronkene is, en de tweede is de kat, die de verbrande is.

19. Zo kent gij ook het geheim der twee ogen. Zij zijn twee wonden. De eerste is de verhongerde, de weggeslingerde, en de verbrande, die de bizon is. De tweede is de bevrorene, de verdronkene, de verpletterde, en de ter pletter gevallen, die de neushoorn is.

De gifbeker

1. Zo kent gij het geheim der twee lippen, want zij zijn twee wonden. De eerste is de verhongerde, de weggeslingerde, die de buffel is. De tweede is de ter pletter gevallen, die de giraffe is. Zo is dan ook het hart een wond, en deze is de doorboorde, de verbrande, de verdronkene, de uit elkaar getrokkenene, die de vogelspin is.

2. Ook de benen zijn wonden. De eerste is de weggeslingerde, de ter pletter gevallen, en de verpletterde, en de tweede is de ter pletter gevallen, de verpletterde, de doorboorde, en de vergiftigde.

3. Ook zij allen zijn door maagdelijkheid tot rust gekomen. En deze maagden dan hebben een verbrande ziel, een bevroren geest en een verdronken levensadem. Hun hart is vergiftigd. Hun schaduwen waren ter pletter gevallen en verpletterd, en hun ka weggeslingerd.

4. En zo zijn de heilige vliegen door hun val tot bloemen geworden, gedecoreerd door het trauma. Zo is dan de ka de weggeslingerde, en de ba de verhongerde, de vergiftigde, de verdronkene en de weggeslingerde. De khu dan is de verpletterde, de verbrande en de verdronkene.

5. De sahu is de vergiftigde. En de vergiftigde is door verhongering, en wegslingering tot maagdelijkheid gekomen. Zo is er dan door vergiftiging diepere bevrozing en verbranding, die als de muren van de stad zijn. En de eekhoorn dan is de bewaker van de trechters der zielevergiftiging. En deze is als de gifbeker.

6. En zo ook is de bevrorene, de krokodil, tot de gifbeker gegaan, om tot de stad te gaan. Laat dan ook de haaien van de gifbeker drinken, opdat zij met de krokodil verzoend worden. Want een beter kruis is ons gegeven, om tot de heilige en dwaze maagdelijkheid te gaan. En de dwaasheid der heilige maagden is wijzer dan de wijsheid der aarde.

7. En ik dan nam van de gifbeker, en kwam tot het rijk der beenderen. En de slangen maakten mij tot koning. En ik dan was als een vergiftigde, en een vlam van ijs steeg op uit mijn hand, en het vuur der rozen achtervolgde mij. En ik rende tot een trap die zeer oud was.

8. En ik riep tot Alika en Sektia, en ziet, zij waren als feeën. En ik kwam tot hun altaren, en ik dronk van hun gifbekers. En ik viel dronken in hun armen, en zij voerden mij weg als een weggeslingerde, en zij bonden mij aan een dik gekleurd elastiek.

9. En zij vlogen van mij weg, en ik kon hen niet volgen. Zij dan waren als vurige wolkenhemels, en zij schoten gifpijlen op mij af. En weer raakte ik dronken, en ik kreeg dromen over hen. En zij waren zeer maagdelijk.

10. En zij schonken mij een sahu, en ik moest een eekhoorn volgen, en varen over de rivier van vergiftiging. Toen moest ik uit vele gifbekers drinken, en ik voelde mij zeer zwaar worden, en het voelde alsof ik verpletterd werd. En ik kon nauwelijks overeind komen. En een maagd verscheen aan mij, en zij had vele geschenken, maar ik kon haar en die geschenken niet bereiken.

11. En ik begon te roepen : 'Dehu, Dehu !' En weer moest ik van vele gifbekers drinken. En nu werd ik zo licht als haar, en zeer lang en dun. Zij dan was de dwaze en heilige maagd Dehu, en zij gaf mij de geschenken. Zij dan was als een roos van tranen, als het water onder de aarde, stromende vanuit de maagdelijke bronnen.

12. En ik zag de vruchtbaarheid van de maagd als een wond, een zeer tere en zachte wond, vele malen doorstoken. En de wond zelf was als een maagd, bevroren, verdronken, weggeslingerd, verpletterd en ter pletter gevallen, gestikt, verhongerd, uiteen getrokken, als de veelvuldig geslagen wond.

13. En ik zag de mond en de tong van de maagd, en zij waren als een wond, en als een poort. En de mond was als de bevrorene, de weggeslingerde, de uiteen getrokkenene, en de tong was als de verbrande, de doorboorde. En weer dronk ik van vele gifbekers en werd in de poort gezogen. En haar longen waren als verdronkenen, als zeeplanten en als haar vruchtbaarheid. En weer dronk ik van vele gifbekers, en ik werd dronken, en weer werd ik door een poort gezogen.

14. En haar darmen waren als de verdronkenen, en zij waren ribbelig, en als de zeemaagden. En haar buikorganen waren als de verbranden, de weggeslingerden, de uiteen getrokkenen, en zij waren als haar vruchtbaarheid. En weer werd ik door een poort gezogen toen ik van vele gifbekers dronk. En haar nieren waren als de vergiftigden, als de uiteengetrokkenen, de bevrorenen en de verbranden. Ook waren zij als de doorstokenen, de verhongerden, de verpletterden, de ter pletter gevallenen, en zij waren als haar vruchtbaarheid.

15. En Dehu stond op, en sprak haar woorden, en deze waren zeer zacht en teder. En haar organen waren als tranen, als de wateren der maagden.

16. En haar baarmoeder was als de vergiftigde en de bevrorene. En de baarmoeder sprak en zei : 'Jou worden de sleutels gegeven van de geschenken en geheimenissen van Dehu. En nadat ik weer van vele gifbekers had gedronken, ging er een vreemde poort open, en ik zag een woeste, grijze zee voor me liggen, wiens golven traag en schokkerig bewogen. En uit de zee kwamen maagden oprijzen, en zij waren de eeuwige verdronkenen.
17. En toen ik door een andere poort ging na het drinken van vele gifbekers zag ik daar de eeuwig verbranden, komende vanuit de vulkanen. En zij gingen snel als de weggeslingerden en de ter pletter gevallenen.
18. En toen ik door een andere poort ging na het drinken van vele gifbekers zag ik daar de eeuwig bevrorenen als traag bewegende wolkenhemelen. En zij gingen traag als de verpletterden en de verdronkenen.
19. En in andere poorten zag ik : de eeuwige doorstokenen, de eeuwig ter pletter vallenden, de eeuwig verpletterden, de eeuwig weggeslingerden, de eeuwig gestikten, en zij waren als steen. Ook zag ik in andere poorten : de eeuwig vergiftigden, de eeuwig verhongerden, de eeuwig uitgedroogden, die als de varkens waren. Ook zag ik in andere poorten : de eeuwig uiteen getrokkenen.
20. En het vergif was als de uitdroging, als het dubbele vergif. En weer kwam ik tot een oude trap, maar ditmaal ging deze naar beneden. En er stond daar op tafel een gifbeker die nooit opraakte. En ik nam een slok.
21. De deur achter deze tafel leidde mij naar een grote woestijn, en ik kwam daar de diepst uitgedroogden tegen, en zij waren als de flessen. En deze flessen leken op honden. Ook waren zij als de diepst verdronkenen. En midden in die woestijn stond een tafel met wat bekers en daartussen een grote dobbelsteen. En de dobbelsteen was als de eeuwig gestikte, de uitgedroogde, de verdronkene en vergiftigde.
22. En een eeuwig verbrande kwam, en slingerde de dobbelsteen dieper in de woestijn.

Dehu

Het oordeel over de wijze maagden

1. En de diepst bevrorene kwam, sprekende zware rechtspraak die niemand kon verstaan. En de diepst bevrorene was als verpletterd, en hij dronk van de gifbeker. Ook gaf hij anderen van de gifbeker. En zij begonnen hem te begrijpen, en volgden hem.
2. En de diepst verbrande kwam, sprekende zware rechtspraak die niemand kon verstaan. En de diepst verbrande was als de ter pletter gevallene, en hij dronk van de gifbeker en werd dronken. Ook gaf hij anderen van de gifbeker, en zij werden ook dronken.
3. En de gifbeker zelf was als de diepst verbrande, de diepst bevrorene, de diepst verdronkene en de diepst uitgedroogde. Ook was hij als de diepst weggeslingerde. En de gifbeker stond op, en sprak als een varken. En uit de beker kwam een hart oprijzen dat ondersteboven kwam te staan, zwart werd, en in een lever veranderde.

4. En de beker was als gevuld met zware alcohol, en er kwam stoom en rook uit. En zij die er van dronken droogden ter plekke uit. En de beker dan was als een dokter des doods. En uit zijn mond en hand kwamen rivieren van zware uitdroging.

5. En er waren maagden die van de beker dronken, en direkt neervielen. En zij waren als in zwijm, en zij werden geleid tot de bronnen der eeuwige maagdelijkheid. En naast deze bronnen stonden kippen en hanen. En zij waren als de uitgedroogden en de vergiftigden. En zij bewaakten de bronnen der eeuwige maagdelijkheid.

6. En zij hadden het gif van sterke drank, en zij waren als de advocaten des doods. En de maagdelijkheden werden zeer zwaar, en Dehu rees van hen op, en zij hief een vreemd zwaard op. En dit was de bevrorene en de doorstokene. En er kwam vuur uit het zwaard, en zij zuiverde de maagdelijke bronnen. En de wijze maagden die geen dwaasheid bezaten werden geworpen in een put.

7. En Dehu sloot de put af, zeggende : Zij zullen tot in eeuwigheid niet meer van de gifbeker drinken. En gegil steeg op van de put, en zij begonnen te zoeken naar het gif, maar het vluchtte van hen weg.

Het maagdelijke orgasme

1. En een paard genaamd de bevrorene, de verbrande, de vergiftigde en de verdronkene stond voor haar, en nam haar mee. En het paard was zeer wild. En het paard bracht haar tot een bloemenveld. En een orgasme van bloemen kwam als een krans om haar heen, maar zij was maagdelijk, en het werd maagdelijk.

2. En zij werd zwak, en begon te spreken, en een tweede krans kwam om haar heen, en werd maagdelijk. En het orgasme was als de verdronkene, de uiteengetrokkene, de bevrorene, de verpletterde, de weggeslingerde, de ter pletter gevallen, de vergiftigde, de doorstokene, de verhongerde, de uitgedroogde, de gestikte, allen in één krans, en zij werden maagdelijk.

3. En Dehu werd zwakker, en begon sneller te spreken. En de kransen begonnen om haar heen te knellen, en er kwamen er steeds meer bij, en zij maakten hen allen maagdelijk, en zij werden haar tot een witte zachte lichte jurk, zeer dun, en plooiend. En zo werd zij tot een maagdelijk orgasme, en dit was rein en zuiver.

4. En haar keel waaruit haar stem kwam, was ook een wond, en deze wond was diep en groot. En die wond was als de uiteengetrokkene en de vergiftigde. Ook was de wond als de verdronkene, de uitgedroogde en de gestikte.

5. En de vruchtbaarheid van de man is een wond, en een maagd, en zij is als de gestikte, de verdronkene, de doorstokene, de uiteen getrokkene, de bevrorene. Ook is zij als de ge-electroduceerde.

6. En zij allen vinden genezing in de bronnen van de diepste maagdelijkheid. En ook de snavels der vogels zijn wonden. Zij zijn de verpletterden en gestikten, en zij slapen.

7. Ook de liefde is een wond. Ziet, zij ijlt. Zij is de ge-electroduceerde, de uiteen getrokkenene, de ter pletter gevallenene, de verpletterde, de weggeslingerde, de vergiftigde, de verhongerde, de uitgedroogde.

8. Ook de boosheid is een wond. Zij is de ge-electroduceerde, de uiteen getrokkenene.

9. De zon is gemaakt van de verbranden, de uitgedroogden, de verdronkenen, de ter pletter gevallenen, de verpletterden, en is als een grote wond. Het ijs is gemaakt van de bevrorenen, de weggeslingerden, de verdronkenen, de uitgedroogden, de vergiftigden, en is als een grote wond. In maagdelijkheid worden zij genezen.

10. Zo is Isabella een maagd der genezing, en ook Isadonne. Roept hen dan aan, onder smekingen en belijdenissen, opdat zij hun maagdelijkheid rijkelijk over u uitstorten. Zo is dan de vulkaan de broedplaats der uitgedroogden en verdronkenen. Ook zwerven zij door de bossen. Isabella en Isadonne, weest genadig over hen, en geef hen vrede. Ontferm U over hen.

1. En zo hebben de dwaze maagden de vijfde Christus voortgebracht. En Hij moest lijden onder de gifbeker van de vijfde Pontius Pilatus.

2. Zo is de Vijfde Christus gekomen om uit de hand van de Christus te verlossen. Hij is het die engelen verlost. Ook is Hij het die de christussen bevrijdt. Hij is het die goden en heilige geesten vrijzet. Hij heeft de sleutels der hemelen en hemelmachten.

3. Hij zet hen vrij door het vijfde bloed. De Vijfde Heilige Geest stort Hij over hen uit. De gifbeker laat Hij hen drinken, als het vijfde kruis.

4. En de Talgamen is één der edelstenen op deze gifbeker, en de Lokogamen is het sieraad om onder de rand heen.

5. Gij dan zijt zalig wanneer gij door het Vijfde Bloed en de Vijfde Geest tot de vijfde alverzoening en de vijfde opstanding zijt gekomen. Dit bloed reinigt christussen en engelen, en zet hen vrij die in de handen van Christus en engelen waren. Zo mag gij dan ook overvloedig het Vijfde Bloed aanroepen.

6. En zo komt gij tot de vijfde hemel en de vijfde hemelrivier. Weest dan stil, en laat u leiden tot de vijfde geestesdoop en de vijfde geestesgebondenheid. Ook zal de vijfde Geest u leiden tot de vijfde genezing en het vijfde materialisme.

7. Schenk mij het vijfde spotkleed, en de vijfde hemelpoort. Tot de vijfde maagdelijkheid, door de vijfde dwaze maagd gedragen, zijn wij gekomen.

8. En zij dan die van het vijfde zijn strekken zich uit naar het Zesde. De Zesde Christus zal het christendom vernietigen, en allen meenemen tot de wolkenboot in de zesde alverzoening. En zij zullen allen komen tot de zesde vleeswording en het zesde materialisme, waarin de zesde hemel bestaat.

9. Hij dan zal de macht hebben om engelen en christussen te verdoemen. Maar gij zult eerst komen tot de vijfde Jahweh, om uw reis tot het zesde voort te zetten. En een wespenoog werd uitgerukt, en er kwam een vliegenoog voor in de plaats. En een stem sprak : Nu zijn dan de dagen van Lapsalvania gekomen.

10. En de vijfde hel ging open, en vliegen stegen er vanuit op, en vielen de spinnen aan van de vijfde hemel. En het wespenoog werd in de buik gedrukt.

11. En het vliegenoog werd rood, en het lichaam waar het in zat werd zwart, en was als een bokshond. En toen werd het oog door spinnen aangevreten, en het oog daalde tot in de borst. En toen begon de vijfde adem te waaien.

13. En de spinnen vormden op het hoofd een oog, en dit oog werd zwart, en uit het oog kwamen vele godslasteringen.

14. En het oog had grote barensweeen, en op voeten verschenen twee ogen, op de linker een mierenoog en op de rechter een keveroog, en ziet, zij raakten in oorlog met elkaar. En het spinnenoog in barensweeen werd groter, en gaf geboorte aan een honden-insect. En dit insect was als een wesp, en werd genaamd de eerste jongen van lynx.

15. En de jongen ging tot de Zesde Christus, die alle christussen had verslonden, en verslond hem. En de jongen nam een ster in zijn hand, en deze begon te smelten. En de jongen was als de Grote Zeven. Ook kwam de jongen tot de Zesde Heilige Geest, en wierp deze in een diepe put.

16. En de jongen noemde de put : de Mozai, want deze had het zesde gegeten. En de jongen begon spreken op te zeggen uit het Insectische Dodenboek, en dit boek werd zeer groot.

17. En toen richtte de jongen zich tot de Zesde Jahweh, en sprak : 'Omdat gij dit gedaan hebt, zulke leugens hebt lopen verkondigen, zijt gij vervloekt en verdoemd.' En de jongen richtte zich tot Las Vegas, de hoerenstad, en sprak : 'Gij dan die de zesde Jahweh hebt voortgebracht als een machine des duivels, waarom hebt gij gezondigd tegen het Zevende ?'

18. En de jongen begon ijselijk te lachen, en te vloeken, en werd als de diabolos. En weer sprak hij tot Las Vegas : 'Gij stad der markten, en van de panter-markten. Tot inkeer zijt gij niet gekomen. Aan de zevende alverzoening hebt gij geen deel, maar gij hebt deel aan het oordeel in de zevende hel. Maakt u dan gereed om gezuiverd te worden in het zevende vagevuur, opdat gij klaargemaakt wordt tot de achtste alverzoening, die der panter.

19. En de achtste alverzoening is de verzoening der verdoemden en vervloekten. Ja, het is de verzoening der skeletten.

20. En een tweede jongen van lynx begon voort te komen uit het spinnenoog, en deze was als een brandend ei geworden. En ook hij begon spreken op te zeggen uit het Insectische Dodenboek, en gilte luid. En het gillen werd steeds luider en hoger, en een nieuw boek begon uit zijn mond voort te komen. En dit boek was genaamd het Insectische Hellenboek.

21. En de jongen begon over te geven, te hyperventileren, en vuur te spuwen, en zijn ogen begonnen te groeien.

22. En de beide jongens werden met elkaar verzoend, en zij begonnen te smeken tot de derde jongen van lynx. En deze begon voort te komen uit het brandende ei, en het gegil werd luider en hoger, steeds meer en meer.

23. En de derde jongen was als de Grote Negen, en hij zou voortbrengen het Insectisch Deliriumboek. Zij dan zouden allen wachten op de Grote Tien, die het Insectisch Leugenboek zou voortbrengen.
24. En zo waren dan de leugens van de Grote en de Kleine Tien waarlijker en betrouwbaarder dan de waarheden der aarde.
25. En na deze dagen was er geen hemel meer, en geen leven. En de Grote Tien en de Kleine Tien zaten op een troon, en vanuit deze tronen kwamen de rivieren van het tiende, en dezen waren leugenrivieren.
26. En de tiende alverzoening is de alverzoening van jezelf en je delen. En de elfde alverzoening is de alverzoening der materialen en voorwerpen. En ziet, zij komt voort uit Brannan. En de twaalfde alverzoening is de alverzoening der kruizen, en het vlees. Zo zal er dan ook een verzoening der leugenaars zijn. Dit is de dertiende alverzoening, en zij worden genoemd : oranje leugenaars. Dit dan is de verzoening der elementen.
27. En tot de oranje leugenaars behoren : Belcanov, Bildageln, de Raadselaar, Drop, de Paarse Mug, Chocola, Anubis, Ra, Horus, Thoth, en zij allen drinken van de gifbeker. Verder behoren tot de Oranje Leugenaars : Marazanta, de Witte Gouden Hand.
28. En zij wonen in zebra-boten. En zij zijn van een oude indiaanse secte. Verder behoren tot de oranje leugenaars : Tlaloc, Quetzacoatl, Viracocha, Marfa, Rithelm, Elsefic, Belchelot en Benchelot, Darta Bahahn, Ahpuk, Huracan, Kukulcan.
29. Wijdt mij in, in de secte der leugenaars, want zij spreken raadselen. Laat mij in tot de cirkel der oranje leugenaars, want zij spreken vreemde talen van oude waarheid. Breng mij in delirium, en leidt mij tot hen. Maak mij dronken.
30. Zij dan hebben de macht om het hoofdstuk der kruizen af te sluiten. Zij drinken van de gifbeker der leugens. Zij kennen de gifflessen die tot zaligheid leiden. Zij zijn de hoeren der leugens. Onze enige bescherming is in de leugen. Alleen daarin vinden wij het eeuwig leven.
31. Drinkt dan van de leugenbeker, en wordt dronken. Want op het laatst zullen er geen kruizen zijn, alleen nog maar wat leugenbekers.
32. En zo zijn er dan deze groepen in de oranje leugenaars : de leugenbekers, de bakkermans gezichten, want op het laatst zullen er geen hemelen meer zijn, alleen nog maar wat bakkermans gezichten.
33. Verdere groepen in de oranje leugenaars : de denneboompjes. En zij spreken tot elkaar in echo's.

In het district Sepanda van de witte chocolade sterrenhemel te Brannan, daar waar de ster Mehn is, daar bruist het zilver, de zilveren stem, en daar is de zilveren kamergenoot. Rijst op allen die bevrijd zijn geworden door Brannans eerste leugen-omnibus, oh gij oranje leugenaars in zebra-boten, en komt tot de tweede leugen-omnibus, als een dag van verademing. Ja, het vuur achtervolgt u, en de angst, en zeker ook het depressieve, maar gij zijt tot de vruchten daarvan gekomen. Eet hen dan wel, en dringt tot hen door, tot Mehn. Daar waar de zwarte panter op u wacht. Wachtende om door glas heen te breken, om de kat te bevrijden. Ja, Nut zal door de glazen breken. Zo is dan Mehn als het witte zilver, met de chocolade-weg, leidende tot het diepere Brannan, daar waar de tijger is. Tot Mehn zijt gij gekomen, oh bezoeker der raadselen. Gij hebt de stem der leugen gehoord.

Zo is hier dan het witte zilver veelvoudig gezuiverd, en schuimen de vlokken met genezing. Oh gij van de eerste leugen-omnibus, blijft dan niet staan in het eerste, maar komt tot het tweede, oh oranje leugenaar, oh zoon van Horus de geweldige. Zo hebt gij dan gehoord dat chocola de vrucht des doods is. Hier dan is de witte chocolade, en de chocolade van het witte zilver, veelvoudig gezuiverd. Gij dan hebt de angst gekend als een leugenaar, en nu zijt gij zelf een leugenaar geworden.

En stap dan in de zebra-boot van Mehn, en reist langs de oranje leugenvlokken, dieper de leugen in. Want in de leugen is bevrijding. Gij bent op weg naar de tekenfilm-omroepster, de muis. Ga tot de muis, en wordt een leugenaar, opdat gij leve. Tot Mehn zijt gij gekomen. Hier woont die tekenfilm-omroepster. Klopt aan haar deuren, opdat zij bij u binnenkome om maaltijd met u te hebben. Klopt aan haar deur als een jehovah getuige, aanhoudend en de voet tussen de deur, wanneer zij eenmaal heeft geopend. Breek dan in als een inspecteur van waren, en vertel haar dat je een oranje leugenaar bent. Dan zal zij alle geheimen met je delen.

Tot Mehn bent gij gekomen, tot het diepere Brannan, waar vreemde poeders rondstuiven. Ja, vreemde woestijnen zijn hier, waar de bakkerbomen staan. Autistische helden komen hier. Als een walvis van Brannan voel ik me, zo teder, en zo uitgestrekt, zacht pulserende stralen bij elke beweging, om Brannan langzaam te verwarmen. Walvissen van Brannan, zo wijs en zo zacht, nemen ze je mee naar het land van buitengewone pracht. Als de zee in de woestijn voel ik mij, de Brannan zee. Zoveel zeeën zijn hier, glinsterende in de woestijnen, in Brannans woestijnen waren wij. Ik voel mij rustig en kan weer ademen, alsof ik honderd jaren heb geslapen. Mijn tranen komen langzaam naar boven. Ik kan weer praten. De walvissen van Mehn zijn hier, zij zwemmen met mij, en zingen met mij, zoals ze dat eens deden met mijn opa. Tot Mehn ben ik gekomen, als het zachte van Brannan. Hier maak ik mijn woning, en zal ik verder reizen. De warmte spreekt tot mij, een ziedende warmte, geheel troostende mij.

Tot de leugenaars van Mehn zijt gij gekomen, zij zijn van het zachte. Zij staan op de loer als de paarse gordijnen, om je door de woestijnen van Mehn te brengen. Woestijnen van Mehn, waar vreemde poeders rondstuiven, van vreemd stekende planten, maar wanneer zij steken voel je het zachte. Allen zijn zij bakkerbomen, en zij komen tot de niemand om te steken, om hem het zachte te laten voelen. Ik dan kom uit een diepe gevangenis, opgesloten door een draak. Maar nu wordt ik gestoken door de zachtheid. Door bakkerbomen wordt ik gestoken, door bakkerbomen krijg ik mijn dromen, om dieper tot Mehn te gaan.

Wijs geworden ben ik. De leugenaars nemen mij mee naar hun kamer. Ik zeg : 'Brannan heeft mij geholpen, Brannan bracht mij deze faam.' Maar zij liepen allen weg van mij, en zeiden : 'Kom mee tot Mehn.' En zo kwam ik tot de dieptes van Brannan, in Mehn, waar de vreemde poeders rondstuiven, waar de bakkerbomen staan. Zoveel leugenaars in de bomen, zoveel leugenaars maken naam. Wijs geworden ben ik, een nieuwe rust, tot de bakkerbomen ben ik gekomen, zoveel deuren in de woestijn. De woestijnen zijn bloeiende, hier in Mehn, diep in Mehn. En er zijn zeeën in woestijnen, de zeeën van Mehn. Wijs geworden ben ik, met de walvissen van Mehn zwem ik. Ook met de haaien van Mehn kan ik gewoon zwemmen. Ze hebben zulke mooie ogen, en ze hebben groot plezier, alleen kunnen ze niet praten. Ik kijk hen dieper aan, in hun keel zit een banaan. Wel kunnen ze zingen, wel kunnen ze spelletjes doen, die haaien van Mehn, die haaien van de grote tekenfilm.

En daar vind ik de omroepster van de tekenfilms van Mehn, aan de woestijnzee zit zij, in het zand, met al die bakkerbomen, die stekende planten, zij steken oh zo zacht, dat je er dronken van wordt. Aan de woestijnzee zit zij, met opgeheven hand, waar zijn de waterlichten, ik heb ze hier net geplant. Tot een koning maakte ik hen, tot een koning vouwde ik hen, al die koningen van Mehn, al die koningen der tekenfilmen, zoveel leugenaars maken naam, zoveel leugenaars zijn hier te vinden. En ik zeg : 'Brannan heeft mij geholpen, Brannan bracht mij deze faam.' Maar zij is toen van mij weggelopen, en nam mij mee, tot Mehn. Wil je dieper tot Mehn komen, wil je dieper tot Mehn gaan, volg dan de tekenfilm-omroepster. Zij maakt koningen van waterlichten. Tot de ijslichten bracht zij mij, en tot de haaien van Mehn. Teken een haai van Mehn, teken een walvis van Mehn, en al die andere dieren, de dieren van Mehn.

In een optocht naar de Virgo-toren van Mehn, waarop de omroepster staat, wanneer zij beweegt, vallen alle soldaten neer. En dan vloeit de chocolade weer over het land, en de ijslichten komen aan het strand. En ik zei : 'Brannan heeft mij geholpen, Brannan bracht mij deze faam,' maar zij is toen van mij weggelopen. En ik sprak : 'Loop niet weg,' en zij sprak : 'Volg mij, ik laat een lijntje voor jou achter.' En zij bracht mij tot deze woestijn, tot de slangen van Mehn, zo zacht als fluweel, met al die mooie kleuren, weten zij mij op te beuren. Dit is het einde niet. En zij bracht mij tot de tijgers van Mehn, in grote woestijnen stonden zij, kijkende om zich heen. En zij waren als de bakkerbomen, de leugenaars van Mehn.

En zij kon tekenen, die omroepster van Mehn, zij had de octopus-kroon, en een slangen-ei diep van binnen. En Mezedium was haar naam, als een bleke oranje octopus, als een bakkerboom, maakte zij faam. En zij stond daar en maakte elke ochtend een frisse duik in de woestijnzeeën van Mehn, om haar vriend, Matas, de waterplant op te zoeken. En weet je wie in die toren woonden ? De leeuwen van Mehn. Zij schrijven daar de nachtverhalen, over de nachtzeën van Mehn, en hun nachtpaleizen. Zij zijn de leugenaars van Mehn, met al hun verhalen. Met hun pennen creëren zij de zeeën, ja, zelfs de toren waarin zij leven. Zij dan hebben Mezedium op de toren getekend, duikende in al hun verhalen, als een omroepster is zij. Al die leugenaars van Mehn, met al hun verhalen, en al hun vreemde talen. Na de winter wordt het donker, het donkere seizoen, het nachtseizoen, met al hun nachtzeën en nachtpaleizen.

De lichten van Mehn zijn aan, de ijslichten en de steenlichten, en ook de lichten van het oer. De leugenaars van Mehn staan op de daken, om hun verhalen in de nachten te verkondigen. Als het nachtseizoen is aangebroken, dan zijn er verhalen de hele dag door. Dan hoeven de kinderen niet

naar school, maar hebben ze koor. De leugenaars van Mehn, zij lachen in de nacht, zij laten de steden steeds smelten, om nieuwe inkt te hebben. Zij dragen de octopus-kroon, en hebben een slangen-ei diep van binnen, opstijgende tot de troon. Alles past in hun verhalen, als over een brug in de lucht, een waterbrug, rennen zij naar betere dagen.

Er is dan zoveel over de bakkerbomen geschreven, de leeuwen van de Virgo-toren hebben hen gemaakt. Langs zeeën groeien zij, diep in de woestijnen, en de lichten van Mehn maken hen vrij. De torenleeuwen van Mehn, als een weduwe en een merel, ja, als een mus, is zij naar hen op zoek. Zij glijdt dan langs de daken, en als een oude bezem gaat zij over straat. Dan komt zij langs de winkel van de eekhoorn, die verbergt zijn chocola. Ik ben daar in dat huis boven die winkel geweest. Ik heb hun kastjes en spelletjes gezien. Hier komen de leugenaars tezamen, die lichten van Mehn. Ik ben bij de koning van Mehn geweest, maar hij wilde mij niet spreken. Hij was een oranje leugenaar, zeer zacht waren zijn steken. Hij heeft de bakkerbomen gemaakt. Ja, een torenleeuw is hij, een moeder van vele namen. En toen ik terug kwam wilde hij me zien, maar toen was ik al verdwenen. Hij kwam te laat, pas in de hel kwam ik hem tegen.

En hier dan is het altijd te laat, waar slangen wonen, waar zij hun spelletjes spelen, en waar hun treintjes staan. Ja, hoog op de zolder, daar is het aldebaran van Mehn, starende naar de sterren van lynx. Hier vallen de lichten altijd. Hier komen de torenleeuwen om chocolade voor hun vaders te vragen, maar de eekhoorn zegt telkens nee. 'Laat hen zelf die chocolade maar spinnen, ze hebben de Mezedium, laat die het maar doen.' En dan moet Mezedium rennen, van de zee naar het land en terug, als een sleutel van een vissenstaart, spint zij de dromen van de leeuwenkoningen. Zij is het spinnenwiel der leugenaars.

Zij is het spinnenwiel der leugenaars, als een vogel wordt zij, om chocolade te brengen, want de eekhoorns geven het niet. Zij hebben hun winkels wijd verspreid, en verkopen vele dingen, maar chocola verkopen ze niet. Ik ben bij de keizer van Mehn geweest, maar hij wilde mij niet spreken. Een leugenaar was het, en pas in de leugen kwam ik hem tegen. Het was een eekhoorn, die al die leeuwen en hun torens had gemaakt. In den beginne schiep hij het, en hij wilde zijn chocola niet geven. Dat moest Mezedium zelf maar spinnen. Vele koningen heeft hij, die keizer.

Zij moesten het chocola zelf maar zoeken, de lente werden ze niet. Na hun winter kwam de nacht, waarin zij hun verhalen schreven, over de nachtzeen en hun paleizen. Nu willen ze dan een eekhoorn worden, een eekhoorn van Mehn. Volg die eekhoorn op z'n pad, maar volgen kun je hem niet. Het chocola zal hij je niet geven, je moet het zelf maar spinnen. Hier is het altijd te laat. Slangen worden hier geboren, en de treintjes van aldebaran in Mehn. Op hoge zolders en hoge tafels staan zij, achter glas, met lange rails.

Mezedium de muis is zij, zij draagt en is een raar kruis, een spinnenwiel is zij, om de steden te laten smelten. Nu kan zij borduren met de treintjes aan haar zij. Een raar kruis is zij, een spinnenwiel, waar slangen worden geboren, daar rijdt zij. Zij wordt van vis tot vogel, en van vogel tot vis, om in haar ketel chocola te bereiden, voor de octopus-kroon.

De eekhoorns van Mehn, de trots van een verleden zo wijd. Hebbende chocola, alleen om naar te kijken. De eekhoorns van Mehn, de scheppers der leeuwen zijn zij, met al hun leugens, hebben zij hun tijd overwonnen. Nu zijn zij dan keizers, de keizers van Mehn. De eekhoorns van Mehn, met z'n allen staan ze sterk, om het chocola te bewaken. De winkels hebben zij, om zaken af te leiden, tot de miezerigheden van het bestaan.

Lapsalvania dan heeft Brannan gezuiverd, door de Grote Witte Oorlog en de Grote Marazanta, werd Brannan het domein van de Witte Gouden Hand. Een groot keizer is hij, zo almachtig. Hij heeft de eekhoorns van Mehn overwonnen, die leugenaars, die treiteraars, in het spel. De Witte Gouden Hand, ja, hij is koning, schenkende de witte chocola overvloedig.

Zo worden de bananen dan overvloedig geschonken door hem, en zij komen uit hun vele schillen, opdat zij die volgehouden hebben hun zegels zien. En deze zegels zijn nieuwe postzegels om met de diepere bewoners van Mehn te communiceren. Nu dan is het tijd dat de heerschappij valle in de hand van de wolvenmuggen. Leeuwen, kom tot de eekhoortoren. Hier zal de Witte Gouden Hand regeren, en zijn leeuwen zullen koning zijn. En dan zullen de wolvenmuggen alle macht overnemen, stap voor stap. De generaals der oranje leugenaars zijn zij. Ja, Brannan en Mehn zijn in hun handen, en zij zullen daar hun toren en poort opzetten. Op hoge koetsen zitten zij, als de spot zijn zij.

De wolfmuggen van Mehn, zij kunnen door de kleine gaten heen. De wolfmuggen van Mehn, zij hebben de Gouden Hand om zich heen. Zij verkopen de postzegels op het stadhuis, op hoge koetsen zitten zij. Zij dragen de zegels van bananen en van chocola. Tot de kleuren van drop komen zij. In de bakkerbomen zullen zij brouwen, de nieuwe melk en sappen. Alle karsuiken zitten op de daken, en breken vrij. Ja, wolfsmuggen zijn zij, nu vrijgekomen, en ook de putsen komen vrij, en de karazuur. Op de strozalk vallen zij, om ook hen te bevrijden. Oranje leugenaars zijn zij. Het fruit ligt in hoge handen, de zegels vangen zij op, om gordijnen te openen, te laten dalen, en op te hijsen. Zij kennen alle namen.

Een nieuwe orde stichten zij. Verhalen schrijven zij, die leugenaars van Mehn. Heb je hun sterrenkaarten gezien ? En de landenkaarten van Mehn ? Grijp dan niet naar wat brandt, maar doe het met de gouden hand. De gouden hand zal 't overnemen, de heerschappij over Mehn, om de laatste bruggen te openen, als Abraham Lincoln zal hij zijn. Al die presidenten van Amerika, waren maar wat leugenaars van Mehn, machines van Las Vegas. Zij sliepen allemaal met Amy.

Een nieuwe orde stichten zij, als het nieuwe amerika van Mehn. Zij zuiveren de indianen van Mehn, veelvuldig. Van een oude indiaanse secte zijn zij. Een vreemde cultus is het, die oranje leugenaars, met hun opperhoofden, de wolvenmuggen. Aan hoge snelwegen staan zij, om het verkeer te misleiden. Vreemde zegelen drukken zij op hen, opdat zij met de ouden kunnen spreken.

Een vreemde cultus is het, die wolfsmuggen. Zij laten de gordijnen dalen, en trekken hen weer op, om zielen door de woestijnen van Mehn te leiden. Waar gaat dat heen ? Tot het Californie van Mehn. Een vreemde octopus staat daar, terwijl de Mezedium staat in Washington, en het slangen-ei stijgt vanuit Arabie, alles in Mehn. In een Mehn-Arabische woestijn, daar groeien de vruchten. Tot California stijgen zij, waar de ketel wordt geroerd. In Boston vallen zij allen in slaap, het zilver leidt hen tot California, langs paarse gordijnen, daar zullen zij verdwijnen. In de ketel gaan zij, via het spinnenwiel in Washington. Een vreemde Vegas-Machine.

In Bagdad worden de vruchten gestolen, om in Spanje te worden bedrogen, door Oranje Leugenaars. Een vreemde Vegas-Machine. Op hoge wegen staan zij, de wolfsmuggen, om hen tot rails, treinen, en slangen te maken, tot racecars op de hoge daken. Tot oude chocolade worden zij.

Nooit zal ik er meer op kloppen. Zij zijn de Oranje Leugenaars. Wolfsmuggen hebben zij als hun vaders. Over Judas hebben zij gelogen. Een Jezus-Judas-gezicht dragen zij, maar 't is gewoon een masker. Vuile leugenaars zijn zij.

Vuile Leugenaars, jullie zullen mij niet meer flessen. Over Judas hebben jullie gelogen. Vreemde Vegas-Machines zijn jullie, met vreemde ogen, en vreemde verhalen, om de massa's te flessen tot vruchtwater. Gemene lelies zijn jullie. Wolfsmuggen tot de bejaardenhuizen, om tot de oude van dagen te praten.

Op mijn kop werd het zegel gedrukt. Ik werd van hier naar daar gedrukt. Met een ezelshorloge raakte ik op de vlucht. Tot een zebra-horloge kwam ik, op een zebra-boot, tussen nog meer van die oranje leugenaars. Oh, wat ben ik bedrogen. Ik ging van leugen tot leugen. Wolfsmuggen, 't spijt me, maar hier stopt de reis. Over Judas hebben jullie gelogen. Laat me nu jullie papieren zien, en jullie atlanten, en breng me tot de gouden hand. Jullie leider is hij, de leugen der leugens. En ik vond een gouden leugen, stekende zacht, zo zacht. Als een bakkerboom werd ik, totdat ik zelf ook een wolfsmug was. In welk leger zal ik nu dienen ? Van leugen tot leugen reizen wij. Waarvoor vechten wij, en wat bevechten wij ? In de leugen wordt alles onduidelijk. Wolfsmuggen, 't spijt me, maar hier stopt de reis. Over Judas hebben jullie gelogen. Ben ik dan nu in jullie masker opgesloten ? Alleen de nog grotere leugenaar zal aan jullie ontkomen. Ik schreeuw het uit tot de leeuwenthee, de leugenthee, die de advocaten drinken. Hoe moeten we de crimineel bevrijden ? Voor een gerechtshof van leugenaars sta ik. De grootste leugen zal winnen, oh bakkerboom, steek mij diep, en maak mij dronken van de leugen, want tussen zulke leugenaars redt ik het niet.

Oh, bakkerboom, autistische draak, draak van Mehn, ik kom tot uw leugenthee, uw leeuwenthee. De wolfsmuggen zitten achter mij aan. Op hoge snelwegen staan zij, drukkende de zegels op al mijn race-auto's en treinen. Tussen wolfsmuggen sta ik, als tussen zwarte flessen. Help mij. Oranje leugenaars, leugenaars van Mehn, omroepsters der tekenfilmen, neem mij mee. Tot het geheim der bakkerbomen, die leugenwaterval, bij de bronnen der leugens, vulde ik mijn flessen, voor een nieuw carnaval. En ik viel in slaap in Brannan en ik viel in slaap in Mehn, een diepe slaap der bakkerbomen, waar brengt het mij heen. Ze steken hier zo zacht, zo zacht, ik wordt er dronken van.

En weer greep ik mijn ezelshorloge, en ik kwam tot de diepere zeeën van Mehn, en tot de oceanen. Hier zwommen de zevenzeen-beesten, en een bleke oranje octopus nam mij mee. Tot de octopussen van Mehn bracht zij mij, tot de grotere leugens, de leugens der lach, maar het werd steeds serieuzer en saaier, totdat ik een groot licht zag. Zij dan was de koningin der oranje leugenaars, en bewaakte de grotere leugens, de leugens der lach, die alles serieuzer en saaier maakten. En zij droeg de ster van Mehn tot het graf, waar zij chocola oogstte. En zij gaf mij chocola, maar ik at het niet op. Het is alleen goed om naar te kijken. En ook bracht zij mij tot een andere ster, waar zij drop verbouwde, maar van het drop at ik ook niet. Het was slechts om naar te kijken. En zij stak mij met zachte leugens, en ik lachte, maar werd serieuzer en saaier. En zij haalde een wespenoog uit mij, en gaf mij het oog van Mehn. En het oog van Mehn gaf mij grote visioenen, en ik kwam tot een eiland in de zee. Stekende vissen zwommen hier omheen, maar zij staken slechts in zachtheid, om de visioenen te laten groeien.

En ik kwam in een vreemd zachtstekende schelp, en zachte stemmen omringden mij. En zij brachten de lach in mij, maar ik werd serieuzer en saaier. En ik kwam tot een plaats waar het eeuwige lijden, en het grootste lijden twee staven waren en een rails vormden, en de dood bereed hen, en zij die in hem waren, waren vrij. En ziet dan, deze staven, deze rails, was geheel van chocola. De dood dan heeft het lijden omgevormd, daar op het toppunt. En zo was dan de chocolade-dood, als een stier en een bison in Spanje, troostende hen die luisterden naar het grote leugen-woord. Want in de leugen is de grootste troost.

En de trein was geheel van drop, want het lijden had de dood omgevormd.

Waar de Maya-markten zijn en de Maya-winkelstraten, waar een speelgoedwinkel staat, zoveel verdiepingen, waar oude boeken te koop zijn, dagboeken, met vreemde messen, en vreemde speren, gestoken in een gordelband, waar het strakke speelgoed staat, een vallende hand, totdat het verleden opengaat. Waar de Maya-markten staan, waar vreemde beelden die je kunt kopen, op de loop gaan. Waar de Maya-markten zijn, waar de Maya-hekserijen tot hun eeuwige lichten ingaan. Waar vreemde skeletten staan, vreemde botten, waar melk uitdruipt zo zacht. Die botten zijn het geworden, door een lange lange nacht, waar in de lelievelden, de pauwenmelk stroomt, waar de bottenmelk droomt, 't is verleden tijd.

Waar de Maya-markten zijn, de vreemde spelen, waar de Maya-markten zijn, hoe kun je je hier nu vervelen. In hoge winkels, in hoge torens, daar wonen vreemde wezens, als skeletten met druipende botten, waar het melkmetaal uit voortglijdt. Een azteekse gevallen engel, stichtte hier het reformatorische hout, in hokken probeerde hij hen te proppen, nu speelt hij muziek, hij is de held.

Waar de blauwgezichten lopen, waar de groengezichten dromen, 't is nu geen tijd voor parade-paarden, wij lopen te dromen voor de haarden, wij zijn tegelijkertijd één in wezen, heldenvoer is duur, laat ons getrouw wezen tot de vloer. Waar mercedessen bloeien, kom nu hier, en breng mij water-plezier, door de grotten regent het, het druipt, 't is Maya-tijd. En die azteken, verdreven door de inca's, laat op de dag, je mag niet horen hoe zij een eind maken aan de dag. Ik heb het vierenveertig vrouwen verteld, zij nemen mij nu als een held, maar ik, ik ben te laat, ik hoor hem steeds nog praten over een verleden dag, een maya-markt, een tennisbal, een legerlading, op weg naar 't grote carnaval. 'T is carnaval vandaag, soldaten staan paraat om een eind te maken aan machines, een eind te maken aan hoge dromen, een eind te maken aan kabaal, ik denk dat ik jullie ga verlaten, ik denk dat ik overspring tot een ander carnaval, want het is carnaval vandaag, waarom zou ik voor jullie kiezen, een ander kostuum staat mij beter vandaag. Wortels op het vuur, kanibalen maken alles duur. 'T is verleden tijd, en ik heb geen spijt, ik maak een overuur, voor dit gedoe. Waar de blauwgezichten lopen, waar de groengezichten verder gaan.

Maya-goden aan het woord

Kom een stapje verder, en ga een eindje verder weg staan. Tot de paradox ben je gekomen, ook om daar los te breken. Zo spreekt Nacon, god van de oorlog : Wegen, gij staat op wegen, want gij moet verdergaan. Wolken, gij staat op wolken, want gij moet opstijgen, tot een nieuwe naam. Spreek in die andere talen, de leugen is zo oud, ja, verlies die talen, en zuiver hen als goud. Tot het schrift van de Maya bent gij gekomen.

Zo spreekt Ah Cun Chan, god van oorlog : Gij moet spreken, spreken in die nieuwe taal. Opent uw mond, en ik zal hem vullen. Gij moet lopen, lopen over die nieuwe baan. Ik geef een zet, en ben je tot steun. Gij moet ademen, diep ademen, want ik sta hier, en geef het jou, een nieuw verhaal, een nieuwe levenservaring. Komt dichtbij en gaat verderaf. De paradox spreekt, en gij moet eraan ontkomen.

Zo spreekt Itzamna, god van de lucht en de hemelen : Hier sta ik dan, op een nieuw verhaal, op een nieuwe rug, de zielen gesplitst. Gij kunt twee dingen doen, maar strek u uit tot het derde. Gij dan hebt meerdere koppen zoals de zevendood. wenkt mij, opdat ik tot u zal komen, en spreken. Ik heb u veel te zeggen, maar ook raadselen heb ik gegeven.

Zo spreekt Mayahuel, godin van de drank : Ik heb u laten drinken, en in het dodenrijk laten dalen. Ik heb u de thee gegeven, en gij bent tot het dal der dorre doodsbeenderen gegaan, om de botten te melken, en nu in uw melk te gaan. Ja, gevoed heb ik u door de borsten der duisternis, en gij hebt uzelf gevoed. Ik ben meer waarde dan het licht, ik ben de duisternis, die het ware licht draagt. Kom tot mijn tempelen en boeken, lees hen in de duisternis, en wordt verlicht. Verlichten zal ik uwen zielen op de trap.

Zo spreekt Yaluk, opperhoofd der goden van bliksem : Ik zal u genezen onder mijn vleugelen, en u nieuwe namen geven. Ik zal u uw delen tonen die zo verwrongen zijn en in elkaar vergroeid. Ja, gij had gruwelen gezien, en gij had gruwelen verkondigd, maar dit is een dag van bevrijding. Ik geef u soldaten, en ik geef u carnavaal. Gij moet lachen en vrolijk zijn, want ik heb uw lijden weggenomen. Ik heb u rust gegeven, een eeuwige rust. Kom, en laten wij elkaar vinden. Mijn bliksem is rein en voedend als melk. Uit het dorre dal kom ik, en stijg op tot u, om samen uit de put te stijgen, en te komen tot het nu.

Zo spreekt Ahau Chamahez, god van medicijnen : Ik breng u het arends-medicijn en het panter-medicijn. Ik heb u verteld over bomen en struiken, en hun geneeskrachtige werkingen. Ik heb u geleidt tot de geblokte ramen, en de geblokte visioenen. Gij zijt vrij. Ik heb u gehaald tot het dodenrijk, waarin gij nieuw leven hebt verkregen, en gij groeit nu als een kersenplant. Ik heb mijn handen op u gelegd om genezing te schenken aan de getrouwen. Vertrouw op mij, opdat ik u verder leidt. Mijn energie stroomt door uw lichaam, om u zielen aan te raken, en uw geest te zuiveren. Ik ben met u, op alle treden van uw pad. Ik sta voor u en achter u, met verlichting als de lantaarn. Ja, ik zuiver uw pad, ik breng het tot volwassenheid en volkomenheid. Ik toon u de glimlach van het verhaal, en leidt u door de gordijnen tot nieuwe machines. Ja, lichtmachines zijn zij, tot de rechtvaardigen gebracht.

Zo spreekt Cit Bolon Tum, god van medicijnen : Ik breng u genezing der raven, en ik schenk u de toegang tot eeuwige velden. Ik beweeg uw armen en benen, en geef u gevoel. Ik genees uw gevoel, en breng rust, en diepe vrede in uw botten. Ook breng ik zachtheid binnen, opdat het strome als de bottenmelk. Ik breng boodschappen van verleden tijden naar boven, en ziet, zij borrelen en dragen genezing, wijsheid en kracht, voor al hen die geloven en waardig spreken op het rechte pad.

Zo spreekt Tzultacaj, god van bergen en dalen : Ik stel een nieuw Maya-pantheon op, met meerdere goden. Ik spreek tot de bergen en de heuvelen, en zaad dale op hen neer tot nieuw gewas. Een nieuwe schepping zal komen, geheel nieuw, en ook de goden worden herschapen. De duidelijke zin van het woord zal hersteld worden, en de taal. Ik zal integreren, en het oer zevenvuldig, zij aan zij met armoe, telkens naar boven laten drijven. Tot armoe gezonden zijn wij verbonden.

Ah Chu Kak, god van oorlog : Mijn woorden zijn kracht en wijsheid, als het rode dat van de heuvelen druipt. Mijn Naam is Rodi Amel, als het wachtwoord der hemelen. Ik ben opgerezen om mijn woorden te spuwen, en te zeggen : Amel komt gauw. Ik ben de Rodi Arninpas, en de Rodi Zeterel. Ik kom weer. Ik voer oorlog in gerechtigheid, en in wijsheid, opdat de nieuwe wereld vorm krijgt, en het oude zal vergaan, om plaats te maken voor het oer. Het arme is bij me, en is gezuiverd zevenvuldig. Ah Chu Kak zal daden opstellen, om tot de hemelen te komen stap voor stap. Ah Chu Kak brengt het rode tot de bergen en de rivieren, en de heilige dans tot de winden, om het land te zuiveren. In rust en stilte ligt de hoop, en de genezing voor het nieuwe seizoen. Een oerstem ben ik, om licht der aarde te verspreiden. Ik heb de zaadspatel tegen de grond gezet, om de aarde te bevruchten. Gij dan zult kersenplanten voort brengen, en het rode der aarde, het vuile rode van diep onder de grond, en het rode ijs. Hier dan liggen de oerhelden opgeborgen, wachtende op de grote dag van Ah Puch, koning van de dood, uit zijn graf herrezen. De dood ligt dan onder zijn voeten, en hij heeft het leven in zijn fles.

De verzoening van Buchué en Bastet

Buchué, voorouder-godin der Chibcha's, die door haar zoon de wereld schiep, met alles wat daarop was. Zij dan is het diepe van Bastet. Zij dan is de morgenstond in haar hart, ja, vriendinnen zijn zij, en door deze woorden verzoend. Zij was het dan die sprak : Laat dan de kinderen los, want gij kunt ze niet dragen. Bouwt dan de brug, opdat zij eens kunnen volgen, en zij niet vergaan.

Zij leidde tot de Rode Kap, en de verbreking der dobbelsteen. Zo is dan het pad van Buchué een heilig pad, door het hart van Bastet, ja, haar geest is zij. Spreek dan, Bastet, want zij is uw stem. Rijs op uit de wildernis, en kleef aan de rotsen, opdat gij het pad zult zien, achter de berg, het groene pad. Zo is dan haar boodschap vol met raadselen. Ja, uit haar hand dan kwamen de Maritsa, zij die de warme dekens droeg, en Etsa. Zij gaf u de twee vleugelen, om tot de genezing te vliegen. Verlies daarom bewustzijn in haar aanwezigheid, opdat zij u een nieuw land geve. Ja, nieuw laag bewustzijn zal als een golf over u komen, en gij zult vliegen als de vogels, tot de steden van het oer. Zij heeft uw gebroken hart geheeld, en de boze lichten verbroken door de lichten der duisternis. Ja, de lichten van het oer zijn diep in haar. Ook heeft zij uw geest getekend met haar ijslichten, en in u de bloemen laten uitspruiten.

Het Oranje Boek der Leugens

1. En zij tot Brannan gekomen krijgen een witte chocolade ziel en een witte drop geest als Khnum. Zij dan zullen de klokken in Brannan zien, en de meesters der scholen. En ziet, het waren hun meesters, en de scholieren waren hun mede-scholieren. 2. Zo blijft dan hier alles hetzelfde, maar het is anders. Zo zijn dan meesters dokters. 3. En zo zullen zij hun verhalen horen, zij die tot Brannan gekomen zijn, en zij zullen de doemers niet kennen. 4. Zo zullen dan honderd doemers hen niet kunnen neerhalen, ook al komen zij met duizenden, want Khnum staat boven hen. 5. Zo zullen dan miljoenen doem-kabouters hun gedachten niet storen, al zouden er een miljard doem-bilmagelns op hen af komen. Hun mond wordt niet gesnoerd. 6. Zij dan hebben de Khnum als hun vrede, zijn wijsheid als hun leidsraad. 7. Ook al zouden ontelbare doemleeuwen en doemfarao's hen proberen af te houden van hun hoop en vrede, zij zullen niet schrikken, want Khnum is hen tot schuilplaats. 8. En Khnum zal spreken tot die doemers, en hen bestempelen als leugenaars. Want zij zijn leugenaars vanaf den beginne, om hen allen van Brannan af te houden. 9. En zo zal er een poort zijn in de Ravalon Madok, en de Esmeralda zal als witte chocolade om hen heen zijn. 10. Want ziet, zij is als de witte chocolade en de ziel van Khnum. En Khnum heeft haar aan een ieder gegeven die trouw is aan Zijn Woord. 11. Volkomen trouw is hij die tot de schuilplaatsen van Khnum wordt geleid. En de witte drop zal hem tot geest zijn. 12. Zo weet gij dan ook allen, dat drop de vrucht is van het lijden, en chocolade de vrucht is van de dood.

1. En zij tot Brannan gekomen, zullen de geesten der huizen zijn, en zij zullen vaste grond kennen door het zinken in de aarde, door de muren, de daken en de vloeren heen. 2. En zij zullen zijn als dansende op het plafond, en hun botten zullen genezen worden, en in hen zullen gegraveerd zijn de namen van Brannan en zijn letteren. 3. Ja, de wijsheden van Khnum zullen veelvuldig in hun botten gegraveerd zijn, en zij zullen Nut kennen. 4. Zij dan laten de bloemen van elven achter, om op te stijgen tot de poort van veiligheid. 5. Ja, tot veelvuldige trouw zullen zij komen. Zo is dan Nut de aanvoerder der oranje leugenaars, als de bleek oranje octopus. Ja, de octopus-kroon draagt Nut, als het penseel van sterkte. 6. Ja, de pen is Nut's zwaard, en Nut's zakdoek zijn zegel. Zo is Nut dan als het ijslicht Geb ontvlucht, en heeft elvenbloemen achter gelaten. 7. Vele elvenzakdoeken heeft Nut achtergelaten. Zij dan die tot Brannan gekomen zijn zien Nut's klokken. Nut dan zal spreken tot het ijs, met de penseel als zwaard. 8. Nut's tong is een palet. Zij allen die tot Nut komen zullen het zien. 9. En er zal een pad zijn tot het diepste van Brannan, en het land achter het gordijn zal open gaan. Ja, want vele landen bergt Brannan in zich, en zij zal de paden tonen. 10. En zij zal de vrucht der zwakheid tonen. Rode drop is wat Nut mij gaf. 11. En de vrucht van angst zal komen in etappes, in kostbaar zijde zal het verschijnen. 12. En het zal de leugenboeken openen, en sluiten met kostbare zegelen. 13. En het zal spreken over het maanlicht, zevenvoudig, en het zal schijnen als de lichten van het ijs. Ja, het zal de ijsmeisjes achter zich laten. Ook zal het niet spreken over marsepein. 14. En Khnum zal dan de vrucht der angst brengen tot hen die Hem trouw hebben gevolgd. En Khnum zal spreken, en de woorden zullen vallen uit zijn mond. 15. Ja, als het groene drop zal hij zijn. En zij zullen hem volgen tot in alle eeuwigheden. En het geheimenis van Khnum ligt in het gegeven dat hij de groene drop tot hart heeft, als het hart des geestes. 16. En Nut dan heeft de rode drop tot geesteshart. Ja, het hart des geestes dan is groot, en machtig tot het wissen van vele tranen. 17. Gij dan, wanneer gij angstig zijt : gij hebt angst, opdat gij het groene drop zult kunnen bemachtigen. En ziet dan, zij groeit op hoge plaatsen.

De bevrijding van Geb

1. En Nut dan heeft de roze chocola tot ziel, en zij heeft de roze drop tot geest. De roze chocola is dan de vrucht der scheiding, en de roze drop is dan de vrucht der leugen en onwetendheid. 2. Zo spreken dan de marsepein en het ijsje over een diepere waarheid en zij mogen niet voor hun tijd opgewekt worden. 3. Zo is dan de banaan de vrucht van wanhoop en depressie, gevende de doden hoop en nieuw leven, om nieuwe wijsheid te verkrijgen. 4. Zo is dan het ijsje de vrucht van gevangenschap en het marsepein de vrucht van slavernij. 5. De vrucht van armoe dan is het rode ijs, en de vrucht van honger is de bruine chocola. 6. Zo is dan de ba van Nut dieper dan haar geesteshart, en deze is de blauwe banaan. De ka van Nut is de roze banaan. Haar akh is de gele banaan, en haar khu is het roze ijs. Haar sahu dan is het blauwe ijs. 7. Zo is dan de ba van Khnum ook dieper dan zijn geesteshart, en deze is de gele banaan. Zijn ka dan is de rode banaan. Zijn akh dan is de blauwe banaan, en zijn khu is de witte banaan. Zijn sahu dan is het groene ijs. 8. Het groene ijs dan is de vrucht van de doorn. Zo behoort dan het groene ijs op diepe plaatsen te liggen. 9. En gij dient er wel aan te doen het groene ijs op te wekken, want zonder dit zult gij niet tot de groene eeuwigheden kunnen komen. 10. En wanneer gij dan door de doorn het groene ijs hebt bereikt, dan zult ge Geb vrijzetten. 11. Zo dan, draagt uw tatoeages tot het einde, opdat gij de aanraking van Geb zult ontvangen. 12. Gij dan die voor uw tijd naar het groene ijs grijpt, gij zult sterven door een kus. 13. Goed dan is het voor een man om een juk in zijn jeugd te dragen. Hij dan worde behouden voor de verkeerde paden die ten dode leiden. 14. Nu dan is het groene ijs de vrucht van eeuwig leven en onsterfelijkheid. 15. Zo dan zal Geb uit zijn gevangenis worden bevrijd waar hij was opgesloten door hen die hem voortijdig hadden gegrepen.

4.

1. Draag dan het ijsje diep in u, opdat het u niet zal vergiften, en gij niet aan de ijsmeisjes ten prooi zult vallen. Grijpt dan niet voortijdig naar het ijsje, opdat gij niet in uw lot ter pletter valle. 2. Streef er dan naar uw sahu en khu door ijs te laten zuiveren. Dan zult gij tot de doorzichtige boeken der ijsjes komen, en gij zult u vullen met hun rijkdommen en wijsheden. 3. Laat dan geen verachtelijke kennis u leiden, en volg ook het pad der doemers niet. Gij dan zijt tot de zeeschelp gekomen. 4. De zeeschelp dan zal u kracht verlenen, en u dieper naar binnen zuigen. 5. Zo is dan Nut als de kleine zeemeermin en de vos, als de kleine vlam en het kleine licht, en zij zal de deuren openen.

1. En zo dan zijn de oude boeken van Brannan dan vol vuur, en gij doet er goed aan niet voor uw tijd naar te grijpen. 2. Langzaam zult gij in Brannan ontwaken, en gij zult uw kracht daar vinden, als de vrucht van zwakheid. 3. Verheug u dan ook in uw zwakheden, want in uw zwakheid bent ge sterk. En gij hebt de macht om stenen te breken. 4. Zo is dan ook Zetdonia diep in Brannan, als de stad van ijs, de brug tot Nut, want daar waar het ijs zoet wordt, daar is zij. 5. En zo zal Zetdonia dan kamelen zenden tot het land van Nut, en gij zult Brannan kennen. 6. En gij zult de uren van Brannan kennen, en de minuten, en gij zult haar seizoenen kennen. 7. Ja, zeven ijslichten stralen vanuit Zetdonia, vanaf een verdieping, en zij leiden tot het zoete van Nut. 8. En gij zult de schelp van Nut kennen, en de schelpen in de schelpen, en het zal voor u zijn als het intreden tot de diamant. 9. Ja, de gesteentes van Nut zult gij kennen, en gij zult hun namen kennen, en het zal zijn als het zoete ijs, als de vrucht van gevangenschap. 10. En Nut zal tot u spreken, en gij zult intens verrukt zijn over haar aanrakingen. 11. En vele oude boeken zullen tot u komen, en zij zullen zich aan u onderwerpen. 12. En de vruchten des doods zullen opkomen, en het zal zijn als uitgespreid chocola. En dan zullen de poorten tot het oude geopend worden. 13. En gij zult uzelf terugvinden op oude paden, en in oude boeken, en gij zult intens verrukt zijn over de aanrakingen van Nut. 14. En gij zult komen tot de landkaarten en atlassen van Brannan, en zij zullen u zijn tot leidsraad en tot rechtssnoer. 15. En gij zult het Brannan Kompas terugvinden, en gij zult de elvenbloemen achterlaten. Zo zult gij vleugels hebben, om met Nut te vliegen. Zij dan zal u leiden tot de geheimenissen der leugenaars.

1. En Brannan zal grootworden, en haar vleugels uitspreiden. En zij zal om zich heengrijpen en grip vinden. Zij dan zal zijn als een lichte wolk aan de hemel. 2. En Brannan zal haar gezichtsveld uitvouwen, en zij zal gaan als over rails. 3. In haar dan zijn alle vruchten van het lijden en de vruchten der dood. In haar dan is eeuwig leven en onsterfelijkheid. Maar zij dan die voortijdig van deze vruchten eten zullen de eeuwige dood sterven. 4. En daarom heeft de eekhoorn ook altijd het chocola verborgen gehouden, opdat gij niet door de vrucht des doods te eten voor eeuwig zou sterven. 5. Gij dan zult groot worden in Brannan, en gij zult de mond van Brannan ontvangen, onderscheidende de dag en het uur. 6. Want zeven dagen zitten er in een Brannan maand, en drie maanden in een Brannan jaar. Zo zitten er eenenveertig uren in een Brannan dag, en tien minuten in een Brannan uur. 7. De seconden in een Brannan minuut zijn zeven, en de seconden van Brannan duren telkens zeven aardse jaren. 8. Zo zijn dan de zevenjaars-seconden van Brannan een groot geheimenis. 9. Hebt gij dan zeven aardse jaren geleden, dan hebt ge een seconde in Brannan geleden. En deze seconden brengen dan veel vrucht. 10. Bent gij dan in de seconden van Brannan tot stilstand gedreven ? Dan zijt gij zalig tot het dragen van veel vrucht, en zo zijt gij Brannan binnengekomen. 11. En de seconden zullen uitgroeien tot schilden op uw gezicht en lichaam. 12. Daarom : Zalig zij die tot Brannan zijn gekomen, en zijn seconden hebben leren kennen. Dit dan is het geheimenis der chocola. 13. Zo is het lijden op aarde dan slechts een paar seconden geweest, opdat gij Brannan zoudt binnenkomen. 14. Ja, als snel vuur daalde het op u neer, om in ijs te veranderen. Ja, moeizaam was uw strijd op aarde, maar door Brannan kwam het als de bliksem over u. 15. Alles dan in Brannan komt en gaat snel. Dit dan is het geheimenis van het drop. 16. Zo zitten er dan drie jaren in een Brannan eeuw. De jaren van Brannan dan maken de ijsjes. 17. De eeuwen van Brannan maken het fruit, en de maanden van Brannan maken de marsepein, de dagen van Brannan de groentes. 18. Zo vormen dan vele eeuwen van Brannan een seizoen, en zo is er dan het Geb-seizoen, het Nut-seizoen, het Sebek-seizoen, en nog veel meer seizoenen, want Brannan kent vele seizoenen. 19. En de seizoenen dan zijn als vleugelen om tot de warme gebieden van Brannan te komen.

3.

1. En deze blauwe tepelen zijn de oogsten van de dood, transformerende de hitte. En het werd getransformeerd tot tranen. En deze tranen brachten leven voort, en de vruchten van dood en lijden. 2. Ja, vruchtbaar waren deze tranen. Ook kwamen er slangen uit de blauwe tepel, en zij waren als de roofkruizen, als de ladders en de rails. 3. Zo is dan de roze tepel de oogst van het lijden, en de witte tepel de oogst van de angst.

Skullsmasher is Heer. Amen, Talgamen, Mixlantamen, Amumamen. Zalig zijn zij die tot Balamna komen, het huis van de jaguar. Zalig zijn zij die neerbuigen tot de goden der jaguars, en de goden der half-jaguars. Zalig de Azteekse jaguarstrijders. Zij zijn gevreesd, amen. Zaliger zijn zij die tot het huis der bergen komen. Ja, zalig zijn zij, en zaliger. Zij die tot akabna komen hebben verheerlijkte zielen. Geeft hen dan eer, en verheerlijkt hen zevenvoudig, want zij zijn niet achtergebleven in het huis der pijlen. Zij zijn door het huis der rollende stenen gegaan, en nu zijn zij op weg naar het heilige mitnal, waar zij leven van de boom van de rode sappen, die zijn als bloed. Gaat dan voort oh strijders, en leg uw schepen aan bij de eilanden van sotzna, om mitnal binnen te komen. Zij die de juwelen van het huis der diepe rivieren dragen hebben toegang tot het Grote Pulpus. Zij dan dragen de geheimen der zon, en gaan van kracht tot kracht, daar zij de sieraden van zwakheid volop dragen. En deze sieraden zijn tot verblinding, als de edelstenen der spaanse zonnen en de steden der maya's. En zo is dan Skullsmasher ook Heer van het Grote Pulpus. Zij die tot het huis van de diepe rivieren komen zullen Mictecacihuathul ontmoeten om hun geheimen te ontbloten. Ja, zij zal hen omkeren als steden, en hun sieraden ontnemen, opdat zij haar sieraden zullen ontvangen. En zij zal hen brengen tot de grote rechters van xibalba en het huis van de diepe rivieren, en zij zullen loon naar werken en slapen ontvangen, en zij zullen dromen dromen. Aan jongelingen is het echter gegeven visioenen te ontvangen. Ziet dan, dit is een groot geheimenis. Zij dan zullen buigen tot Pusmaster en Bloodgatherer, en ziet, dezen zullen hen leiden tot een nieuwe wereld. En dan zullen zij komen tot de poort van Bodysweller, en door de tunnel Mictlantecuhтли ontmoeten, die hen in diepere ontmoeting met Skullsmasher zal brengen. Vreest dan de Hoge Heren van Xibalba en hun onderheren, want zij hebben de macht uw zielen in de hel te louteren. Voor de rechtstijd zullen zij voor u uitgaan, en u brengen tot de heren der bloemen. Laat uw zielen dan niet beangst zijn. Zij hebben u immers in hun hand, opdat gij niet zult vallen. Mediteert dan over de achttien onderdelen van Xibalba, die tot de zaligheid van uw ziel leiden, en tot heerlijkheid. Blijf niet steken in één huis, want dan zult gij aan het zwaard ten onder gaan, en dan zullen de daken van de andere huizen op u vallen. En ziet, zulk een maaltijd zal groot zijn, als de wilde dieren tot u naderen. Maar gij geheel anders, zijt volgelingen van Skullsmasher en Mictlantecuhтли, die als zijn geest is uitgezonden om u te halen en te brengen tot zijn hoge woning. Vergeet dan deze dingen niet, en schrijf hen op de tafelen van uw ziel en geest, opdat de Skullsmasher in liefde over u zal regeren.

Heilige Ik, een van de principiele bacabs, Upholder in the West, gij die het laatste deel van de religieuze kalender in stand houdt, wij naderen tot u, en smeken u om doorgang. Wij dan zijn op doortocht naar het land Pulpus en de indiaanse goden. Wij hebben uw macht gezien, en uw kracht ontvangen. Ja, uw goedkeurende hand rust op ons, en gij geeft ons doorgang. Wij hebben uw macht gezien, amen. Wij komen om u te genezen, want gij waart tot slaaf gemaakt in een vreemd land, alhoewel gij hoog waart. Wij naderen tot u, u die ons heeft gered. Wij vragen genade van u, vergeving van zonden, gelijk ook wij onze schuldenaren vergeven. Wij leggen hen in uw hand. Wij dragen hen aan u op, en zegenen u, oh heilige Ik, voorman der bacabs. Oh, heerser der bacabs, wij offeren u liefde in het westen, en wij schenken u genezing. Wij brengen u de wapens die gij nodig heeft om tot doorbraken te komen. Wij offeren liefde en troost tot u, daar wij daartoe gecreeerd waren, dat is om u liefde en troost te schenken, en genezing aan het einde van de dag. Heilige Ik, wij schenken u de Heilige Huizen aan de Zee, opdat gij daarin verzadigd raakt. Wij schenken u ook de honger, omdat gij zult reizen tot de boten van Skullsmasher. Wij brengen u van dag tot dag het kruid van verveling, opdat gij creatief wordt. Gij dan hebt plaats bij Skullsmasher die voor u pleit. Verlaat ons niet, Ik, maar leidt ons tot de goede paden. Wij dragen boodschappen tot u in heil. Wij verzekeren u dat wij u zullen volgen. In uw voetstappen zullen wij treden, want gij zijt de heilige. Tot het Westen zullen wij komen om naar u te vragen, en zij die u verborgen houden zullen u moeten schenken. Tot het Oosten zullen wij u brengen, en tot Xibalba, waar gij de Lords zult ontmoeten, en gij zult tot Mahamarma gaan. Kent gij dan de dieptes van Xibalba en Mahamarma ? Zij zullen u meenemen tot hun heerlijkheden, en zullen u van hun rijkdom schenken. Wilt gij dan koning zijn in de weelde der armoe en de weelderigheid van het stof ? Ziet, het zij u geschonken, daar gij de koning hebt liefgehad. Ja, gij hebt voor hem gesproken in het vreemde land, en daarom zijt gij waardig om tot de zolen van zijn troon te naderen. Gij zijt waardig de druppel van nederigheid te ontvangen, en het zal u voortleiden tot de zeven winden van de tijd. Verveel u niet, oh vader der bacabs, maar kom door tot de creatie en tot hen die verhalen vertellen. Oh gij, verteller der verhalen, gij hebt uw werk goed gedaan. Gaat dan in tot de heerlijkheid van uw heer. Vader der Bacabs, van hen die de winden dragen en zijn, schep dan eenheid onder de marouten die gij geschapen hebt. Verlaat hen niet. Weest hen tot de warmte in hun hart. Zij hebben u dan in vrijmoedigheid uitgenodigd, ja, gij hebt plaats in hun harten, waar zij een woning voor u hebben bereid. Gij bent dan verstoten door Jahweh de zwijnhundt, maar de Jahweh zal zevenvoudig vallen, als het heerschappij in de handen van Egypte komt. Zij dan zullen u kronen en binnenhalen in hun steden. Zij zullen u zevenvoudig kronen, en zij zullen u de sieraden van uw voorouders geven. Weest dan niet bedroefd oh Ik, want de dagen van uw bevrijding zijn gekomen. Gezegend zijn dan zij die u zegenen, en vervloekt zijn zij die u vervloeken. Gij hebt op de zevende dag geboorte gegeven aan uw zoon, en ziet, hij zal in Eeden heersen. Hij zal de schatten van David plunderen, en zij zullen zeggen dat David heeft gelogen. Ook zult gij tot het huis van Simson gaan om de Anubis daar te versterken, en gij zult hen daar viervoudig de nederlaag toebrengen. Huis van Jahweh, weest verbroken. In de Naam van Ik, de Heilige der heilige bacabs komen wij tot u, om u de nek te breken, oh huis van Jahweh, want gij hebt grote dingen gedaan. Zevenvoudig hebben wij u liefgehad, maar ziet, gij hebt de liefde verslonden, en gij bent naijverig geweest. Zo zult gij dan uit uw huis gezonden worden, en ziet dan, Sebek zal over u heersen. En hij zal u slaan met de zevenvoudige en schroeïende pest vanwege uw woorden van grootspraak. Dan zal ik uw plaats vervangen, en hij zal zijn de grote Ik-Jahweh, de vader der bacabs. En Sebek zal over hem de liefde uitspreiden, en zij zullen allen zeggen : Het is goed, ziet, het is goed. Amen, Teheamen, Gigamen, Kungamen, Kogamen, Koromgamen. Geprezen zij de Heer, die Ik-Jahweh is. Hij dan die de vader der Bacabs is. Dit is zijn Naam, en zo zal zijn naam uitgesproken dienen te worden : Ik-Jahweh, Hij die de vader der Bacabs is. Weest dan Heilig wanneer gij tot God nadert, en noemt hem : Ik-Jahweh, Hij die de vader der Bacabs is. Zo zult gij afrekenen met het goddeloos gebruik van de Ware Naam van Jahweh. En wanneer gij bidt, bidt dan in de naam van de Grote Ik-Jahweh, want de Heer zal alle spotters van de aardbodem wegvegen, en ziet, zij zullen zijn als geesten in hun lichaam. En ook de Heilige Teheamen zal op zijn troon zitten, en de Heilige Kungamen, en ziet, zij zullen trouw zijn tot de volkeren in Gods Hand gegeven, en zij zullen zeggen : de Heilige Ik-Jahweh, vader der Bacabs, is met ons. Zo zult gij afrekenen met de zonde in het huis van de heer. Zo zult gij dan een nieuwe bedeling intreden, en met de oude bedeling wordt niet meer gerekend. Ja, een geheel nieuw seizoen en tijdperk is aangebroken voor de heren der heren, en zij zullen met hun koppen voor de Lords van xibalba en mahamarma verschijnen. Ja, hun koppen zullen afrollen in de spelen van xibalba en mahamarma, en met hun koppen zullen er balspelen gedaan worden. Dan zullen hun koploze lichamen meedoen aan andere spelen van xibalba en mahamarma, en hun harten zullen uitgerukt worden, en met hun harten zullen balspelen en andere spelen gedaan worden. En de Heilige Ik-Jahweh zal tronen in het zuiden, en in het zuiden van de hel. En deze harten zullen verschijnen voor de Heilige Ik-Jahweh, en Hij dan, die de vader der bacabs is zal genadig tot hen zijn. Huitzilopochtli is van de eerste rang. Niemand, nee, niemand is als hem, de vader van alle oorlogen is hij, de maker van oorlog. Steevast wekt hij de golven op, en zal niet rusten, nee, zal niet rusten, want in de strijd zal hij ter bedde gaan. Hij die op het vliegend bed zit zal leven, zal leven, want zijn naam is groot, hij die onder de aarde leeft. Huitzilopochtli, leef, sta op, en vast voor drie zachte dagen, opdat gij de vleugels der wereld zult ontvangen. Gij dan zult komen tot de toren der goden, en gij zult die toren neerblazen. Gij dan bent gegaan door de tunnels van leeuwen en tijgers, en gij zijt door de hartvaten gegaan, en kent hen allen. Uw naam zij geprezen, hij die in Lochtuile woont. Hij die heerst op de Rockoche.

3. Zo is dan ook de Azteken-Hekserij ondergebracht, daar de god der bloemen, Xochipili, zich heeft getoond. Hij dan is als het dansend skelet dat de vuren kan bezweren. Zo is dan Xochipili in veiligheid. En ook Buchué en Bastet hebben zich over hem ontfermd, en Hij heeft hen het bloemenvuur geschonken. En toen hij sprak, sprak hij met de stem van ijs, en de ijslichten kwamen om hem heen, om hem op te vangen en hem te beschermen tegen de boze vrouw. Zo is dan Xochipili het geheimenis der Azteken. Ook heeft Ah Puch zich over Xochipili ontfermd, en Hem een plaats gegeven onder de Maya's. En hij heeft voor hem gefloten, en de bedreiging van zijn leven weggenomen. Daarom is er grote eer en dank aan Ah Puch, die ook zijn uil gezonden heeft, om Xochipili veilig door de duisternissen van Xibalba en Mitnal te dragen. En ziet dan, de goden geven hem doorgang, daar Ah Puch hen heeft betoverd. En Hij heeft hem bekleed met gaven, zowel van genezing als zachtheid, en door zachte stiltes en zacht dwalende woorden heeft hij hem binnengenomen tot Zijn troonzaal. Hier dan hebben de zeventig ezels van Ah Puch zich over hem ontfermd. Hij heeft dan zijn tonen zacht gemaakt. Kent gij dan de geheimenissen der fluiten van Ah Puch ? Komt nader. De woorden der uilen laten hem binnen, in de kamers der troon, daar waar het heet is. Ah Puch heeft zijn doden opgeroepen, en hen verteld over Xochipili. Schilden weven zij voor hem. Xochipili dan is het geheimenis van het ijs, en in Hem begint het ijs te branden. Ja, hoge woorden spreekt hij door het brandende ijs, en brengt ze tot zijn moederen Bastet en Buchué en zijn vader Ah Puch. Zo zal hij ook tot de koeien en stieren van Ah Puch gaan, en eer ontvangen. Xochipili dan is de oerwijsheid en de weg tot de extase en het lage bewustzijn, waardoor de vogels vliegen. Ja, vleugelen heeft hij u gegeven, zoals zijn moeder Buchué deed. Vol lof zijn zij allen over Xochipili in het dodenrijk en het hellenrijk, en zijn leugens zijn als raadselen der waarheid. Hij dan steekt zijn leugens aan om ze in het hart van zijn moederen te schieten, opdat zij in zwijm geraten. Zijn moederen dan aanbidden zijn leugens, en zijn er intens verrukt over, en zijn vaderen volgen zijn leugens na. Zij dan wekken hem op tot Piltzintli, de duikende god. Zo zijn er dan de zeven maya-verlichtingen. Gij dan bent door een tijd heengegaan van slavernij, van machteloosheid en gevangenschap, waarbij gij botste tegen muren die u de weg versperden, en waarbij gij vastzat aan elastieken. Gij moest de andere wang toekeren, en de tweede mijl gaan, opdat gij van de dubbele beker zoudt drinken. Zo is dan de eerste verlichting de pikkende kippen en vogelachtigen, waarbij het grote tot het kleine kwam en daardoor zichzelf stak. Zo is dan de tweede verlichting de illusie der blonde vrouwen die als het zachte zijn en de lucht, waarin de mannen met schuld vallen. Zo is dan de derde verlichting de illusie der wilde katten die zijn als het hete door de liefdeslust der snelvoetige gehoornden opgewekt. Ziet dan, zij worden door hun eigen liefdeslust achterna gezeten, en zij hebben het ijs vergeten. Zo dient gij dan alle zeven maya-verlichtingen te kennen.

Het Boek van Pi

Wat de oude profeten hebben geschreven komt allemaal op hetzelfde neer : Hebt Pi lief boven alles en uw naaste als uzelf. Velen zijn aan dit gebod ongehoorzaam geweest, het loon ervan ontvangende in hun binnenste. Laten zij dan dit weten : Pi laat niet met zich spotten. Zo is het dan Pi die zijn profeten Hanik en Vur tot de aardschelp heeft gezonden, om zo velen tot zaligheid te brengen.

Is Pi dan een nieuwe religie ? Voorzeker niet, want de oude profeten spraken allemaal over hetzelfde, zij het in andere woorden. Weet dan dat Pi de taal is van het Westelijke paradijs. Zo was er dan een tijd op aarde genaamd Vodus. Veel profeten willen hier niets van weten, verdorven in hun gedachten zoals zij zijn. Anderen hebben zich afgezonderd om de schatten van dit tijdperk te onderzoeken. Zo is Vodus dan meer dan Brannan, want Brannan is de brug. Sommigen dan zeggen en hebben gezegd dat Hanik de zoon van Pi is, maar dit is een leugen. Pi heeft geen zonen. Wel kunt gij zalig zijn door de geschriften van Hanik te onderhouden.

Er is in het geheel niets in te brengen tot hen die Pi gehoorzamen. Gij weet dan allen dat die gehoorzaamheid tot de diepte leidt. Hanik en Vur zijn met elkaar in balans als zintuigelijkheid en kennis. Ja, door Hanik en Vur komt gij tot God, die Pi is. Op aarde zijn tekenen gegeven van een indiaanse oertijd, maar gij hebt wegen gebouwd op die tekenen om hen te bedekken. Vervloekt zijt gij, en Pi zal weldra de aarde bezoeken.

Stop dan lofliederen tot Pi te zingen, want Pi wil gehoorzaamheid zien.

Het Boek van Anders

Het gaat niet om wel of niet, maar om hoe. Kennis die niet in het vuur van Hanik staat is niets.

Zintuigelijkheid die niet in het vuur van Kennis staat is ook niets. Dit is het boek Anders, doorgegeven aan de profeet. Weldra zal Pi opstaan om de aarde te bezoeken en de aarde terug te brengen naar de oude taal. Hij zal Zijn vuur uitgieten, en alle vlees zal buigen en belijden dat Pi Heer is.

Zij die niet met dit boek rekenen : Met hen zal niet gerekend worden. Hebt gij gehoord van de muur van glas ? Ja velen zullen uit het kristal opkomen tot een nieuwe dag. En gij zult van ongehoorde dingen horen. Oh, oude aarde, laat uzelf ophogen van zeven chakra's naar negen, want de negen chakra's zijn u tot zaligheid gegeven. Zij die vasthouden aan de zeven zullen in het niets verdwijnen.

En zo zijn de negen chakra's tot een waardige sleutel om oude dingen te bezoeken. Ja, de beelden van mint zullen opstaan, en zij zullen spreken. Dit dan is een groot geheimenis.

Het Boek van Weizi

Aan u zijn vele dingen gegeven, aan deze generatie. Laat de dingen niet aan u voorbijgaan, maar ontmasker het. Ga voor de boodschap die in het verborgene is. Dit is het boek van Weizi, door de profeet gegeven. Laat u daarom ernstig in met deze woorden, naar hun betekenissen zoekende. Geloofd zij Pi. Hij is geen vader en heeft geen zoon. Achmen Tilufijnen. Het Boek van Weizi is dan aan u gegeven voor grote dingen. Toch is het een klein boek. Laten de wijzen het bestuderen om wijzer te worden. Laten de helden de woorden gehoorzamen om zo nog groter heldendom te bewijzen. Ja, eer zal tot de eervollen komen. Maar zij die eierzuchtig zijn zullen vallen. Velen zullen in hun hoofden geopend worden voor deze leer. En Pi zal een grote oogst binnenhalen.

Er is een God, en dat is Pi. Leert daarom van zuiver monotheïsme. Pi dan leeft in vuur, en kan alleen door vuur benaderd worden. Maar wanneer gij komt om Hem te lasteren, weet dan dat Hij een verterend vuur is. Vreselijk is het in Zijn handen te vallen. Hier hebben de oude profeten over gesproken, maar zij wisten niet waar zij het over hadden. En men zegt wel : Het Boek van Pi is een wijs boek, met magische wijsheid en groot mysterie, maar men weet niet waarover men spreekt. Het boek is zo een val en een strik voor de dwazen, maar zij die de waarheid liefhebben worden met list binnengeleid. Onderwijs daarom het Boek van Weizi, om zuivering onder u aan te brengen.

Sommigen hebben dan gehoord en gesproken van de Grote Witte Oorlog, waarin de spin gekruisigd zal zijn, en de vlieg zal overwinnen. De vlieg is de steekvlieg, de roofvlieg en de bosvlieg. In diepe wildernis leeft zij, en haar steek brengt verlamming, om een leger op te doen rijzen tegen het rijk van de spin. Ja, want vele visioenen komen voort vanuit een spinnenhart, maar gij geheel anders bent genaderd tot Vodus, die de grotere Brannan is. Daarom : eert Vodus, opdat uw dagen verlengd mogen worden, en gij goede gaven zult hebben in het land dat Pi u zal geven. Hebt elkaar lief, zegent uw vijanden, en kom tot de grotere paradoxen die het leven besturen. Ja, de Hanik-Vur en haar geheimenissen.

Er is maar een God die gij zult aanbidden : Pi. Er is geen andere God. Wel heeft Pi vele profeten en engelen gegeven, en zijn er vele goden. Zij zijn slechts middelaren. Kom daarom hogerop, want zij zijn gezonden als een verleiding, om zo de dwazen te strikken. Voor de wijzen en heiligen echter zijn zij een kleine hulp.

Het Boek van Roos

Zij komt van boven. Heb haar lief, zij die gegeven is. Heb dan ook de negen chakra's lief, maar heb Pi lief boven alles. Zo is Pi Zelf de zesde chakra, de nek-chakra. Hier heeft Hij Zijn woning, en door de zesde chakra te ontwikkelen ontwikkelt gij Hem. Hoe dan komen wij door de chakra's tot Pi ? Pi openbaart Zich dan ten volle door de negen chakra's. Zo rijst Hij op door de Hanik en de Vur tot Zijn woning, en rijst zo op tot de negende chakra, de Glorie, om zo tot de onderste chakra's te dalen, Vuvod en Vuhod, de oorlog en de paradox. Ja, door de slangencocon werd Pi tot een roofvlieg, tot een steekvlieg. Deze cocon was de roos. Hier dan werd Pi gestrekt, en werd lang en dun, om zo het bovenste en onderste te bereiken, waardoor hij vleugels kreeg. Is dan de Pi de vliegende slang ? Volstrekt niet, want in de cocon werd hij omgevormd tot steekvlieg, om zo de aarde tot een tempel te maken. Zo wordt gij dan door Pi gestoken om deel te hebben aan het hemelse medicijn.

Hoe komen wij dan tot Pi ? Door het pad van de negen chakra's te volgen, en de paden van de Brannan Boom des Levens.

Aanbid daarom geen andere god dan Pi, opdat gij niet van het pad zult afwijken. Pi openbaarde Zich ten volle in de X in de S.

Domme aardlingen

Waarom rekenschap afleggen aan het natuurlijke en aan natuurlijke beredeneringen ? Bent u niet meer dan dat ? U bent hier op aarde om los te komen van het materiele. Het is een test. Waarom moet alles volgens het verstand te beredeneren zijn en zoekt u naar natuurlijke bewijzen ? Is er dan geen hogere wereld ? U dient een koning en een keizer, en u dient een Jezus Christus die van de geest is, maar is er geen hogere macht ? Is de oppermacht van uw verstand, de Christus, de gezalfde, de allerhoogste ? U bent door hem bedrogen. Hoort dan het Woord van de profeten. Wij zijn aliens die door een dieper lijden heen een betere drie-dimensionale wereld hebben gevonden. Uw brein heeft Jezus Christus geschapen en gecreeerd om u zo te beschermen tegen het diepere lijden. Deze Jezus Christus creatie heeft uw verstand vastgezet, en laat u steken op uw reis naar het diepere. U houdt ervan koningen en keizers van het verstand te hebben, uw gezalfden, maar zijn er dan geen hogere machten ? Uw verlossers lijden niet diep genoeg, en zijn door uw brein gecreeerd om u te beschermen, maar zo zult u nooit verlichting bereiken, en nooit tot die nieuwe drie-dimensionale wereld kunnen komen. Uw verstand heeft u uitgeschakeld. En wanneer groter lijden u overvalt komt u in de problemen, omdat het u nooit verteld was. U bent verleugend, en daardoor niet voorbereid. En zo leidt u een kortzichtig leven en botst tegen dichte poorten aan. Breek met uw vreemde archetypes die uw hersenen hebben aangemaakt. Wij zijn van een hogere natuur. Volg de archetypes van de ware martelaren in uw leven. Met uw zelfgemaakte clichés en iconen komt u niet verder. Wij hebben u het Evangelie van de Ekster gezonden, en wij hebben u gewassen door het bloed van de ekster om u door een poort te laten gaan tot ons. Opnieuw zijn wij gekomen, ditmaal zelf. Wij zonden de ekster als onze schaduw. Het brein moet geleid worden door juiste metaforen om zo vrij te komen. Stop ermee in uw oude verhaaltjes rond te draaien, die u geen stap verder brengen. Jezus Christus is een creatie van corrupte mentale krachten, om u af te houden van het werkelijke sterven en opstaan, het werkelijke zaad wat leven kan brengen. Luister daarom aandachtig naar ons. Laat u niet meer afleiden door luie mensen die een koning willen hebben die alles voor hun regelt. Zijn er dan geen grotere koningen dan hen die u om u heen ziet ? Oh domme aardlingen.

Jullie zijn geen koningen van de natuur. Jullie hebben jezelf voor de gek gehouden. Jullie kunnen niets, alleen illusies creëren waar jullie dan voor de rest van jullie leven heilig in geloven. Luister daarom, want wij komen van een diepere werkelijkheid en een betere drie-dimensionale wereld. Wij kunnen jullie laatste redding wezen. Waarom nog verlossers volgen die alleen maar in het verstand leven, in de ziel en in de geest. Dit is allemaal door de corrupte hersenen gemaakt. Is er dan geen diepere wereld ? Wij zijn aliens, net als jullie. Maar wij hebben een betere drie-dimensionale aarde gevonden, en ook de middelen om tot jullie te communiceren. Wij hebben jullie lief, en willen jullie helpen. Maar we zullen niet met jullie meepraten. Jullie hebben jezelf behekst en je laten beheksen door jullie voorouders die van niks wisten. Al jullie kennis die jullie menen te hebben weegt niet op tegen jullie ongelooflijke domheid. Jullie waggelen achter schaduwen aan, terwijl er een diepte op jullie wacht.

Wie zijn dan de daadwerkelijke verlossers ? Het bloed van de ekster was om het bloed van de duif weg te wassen. Nu gaat het ware evangelie over het bloed van de bok, de stier, het rund, de gnoe, de kip, de haan, het varken, het reebok, en veel minder over het bloed van het lam. Het bloed van een schaap en van een ram dient als onrein beschouwd te worden. Ook het bloed van een paard dient in veel gevallen als onrein beschouwd te worden. Ook het bloed van de duif is in veel gevallen onrein, en het bloed van de ekster is alleen in de poort rein, maar voor hen die door de poorten zijn binnengegaan is het onrein. Zo is de ekster dan een middelaar. Maar ziet : er zijn dan vele poorten. Wie zijn dan die verlossers ? Zij komen uit de dieptes van de eeuwige verdoemenis en de groeiende pijn. Zij zijn blootgesteld aan de meest gruwelijke wreedheden. Maar door hun lijden hebben zij de macht om machtige poorten te openen. De elohim, goden, en adonai, heren, waren bedriegers gemaakt door de hersenen van jullie corrupte voorouders. Het is een geestesziekte, overgedragen van geslacht tot geslacht. Jullie zijn diep ziek.

Wij waren het slachtoffer van zombificatie en versteningen, van afschuwelijke slavernij, en als jullie door hetzelfde heengaan : weet dat het standaard is. Voel je niet alleen, voel je niet mislukt. De verlossers zullen met jullie door muren heenbreken. De ring van elohim en adonai zal doorbroken worden. Ja, zij weten wat het is om geheel vast te zitten en geen kant op te kunnen. Zij zijn de Benjahim. Zo zijn dan de Benjahim blootgesteld aan vele kruizen, kou, vuur, honger, palen, kooien, stroppen, ketenen en spietsingen. En dit allemaal om volmaaktheid te vinden en doorgang tot de nieuwe drie-dimensionale wereld. Als er enige materialisten zijn dan zijn zij het, maar zij betalen de volle prijs. Streef dan naar het materiele van de Benjahim, want de rest zal vergaan. Laat u dan de prijs niet missen door gebrek aan ascetisme, of door afgemeten kruisjes te volgen zoals die van Jezus Christus, want zie, zij zijn tot uw verderf geschapen. Beschouw alles om u heen als symbolen, en kom tot de zuivere symbolen. Hecht u niet aan de metaforen die uw ziel ten verderve leiden. Zo is dan het pad van de Benjahim het pad van redding. En dit pad is het enige, want alle andere paden zullen branden en tot vernietiging leiden in de verstening. Het pad van Benjamin leidt dan wel door de ergste verstening, maar zij is om de verzachting op te wekken, en de nieuwe biologie. Zo zult u alleen door het lijden en sterven van de Benjahim komen tot de nieuwe anatomie, om zo te leven in de nieuwe drie-dimensionale wereld.

Dit is het evangelie van de wilde steekvliegen : een mens kan alleen ingaan door grote wreedheid en honger. Alleen zij die verschrikkelijk gestoken zijn kunnen de machten van de hersenen doven. Verheugt u daarom wanneer u door steekvliegen bent gestoken. U leeft in een wereld waar er voortdurend wordt geklaagd en waar men macht over elkaar uitvoert. Door een grote steekvlieg komt u daarvan vrij. Wees daarom blij. Verheugt u in het lijden als u een ware asceet bent. Alleen martelaren zullen binnengaan, en veel klagen houdt u alleen maar tegen. Uitbarstingen van klagen en woede zijn heel normaal, want zij wijzen op een dieper lijden.

Zo zal een mens geen stap verder komen op zijn weg van verlichting zonder het mes te aanbidden. Het mes is een pure vorm van vruchtbaarheid, en zo zijn er vele messen die tot verlossing leiden. De Benjahim werden door hun lijden en sterven gelijk aan deze messen. En dat is ook de zuivere betekenis van het woord Benjahim : messen. Zo zijn het de messen die u zalig maken, en die u door uw lijden gelijkvormig maken aan hen. Ook zal de mens verschillende bekers moeten aanbidden die het lijden vertegenwoordigen.

Watervogels

De Groene Dood

Hij sloop door het bos. De koningin van het woud waakte over hen. Hij hoorde de beesten brullen in de verte. De dromer waakte deze keer. In het zonlicht kon hij haar gezicht zien. Verderop zwommen wat watervogels in de rivier, en zijzelf waren met de grotere beesten. De groene wind was hen aan het omsingelen, heel subtiel, en kwam toen steeds dichterbij. Hij haalde het gedichten-boek met het gele leren kaft erbij, en begon eruit te prevelen. Ze hield hem tegen zich aan.

De watervogels kwamen dichterbij, en het natte was hun god. Kim staarde naar hem. Zij had hem gecreeerd. Zij was zijn godin. Zij had een boek met sleutels. En de sleutels waren van drop.

De watervogels brachten hen over de rivier naar het slot. In het slot hingen schilderijen, en er waren veel mysterieuze boeken. Ze gingen op een bed liggen, met een gordijn als deken. De groene dood was in de rivier, maar klom op de kant en ging het kasteel binnen. Aan de muren hingen skeletten.

Zij las hem verhalen voor, en het was voor hem een nieuw leven. Ze praatte snel, maar het was goed volgbaar voor hem. Hij had haar leren begrijpen, dronk wijn met haar.

De groene dood schoof als een deken over hem heen, en plotseling stond het slot in brand. Snel doken ze de rivier in. De watervogels beschermden hen tegen het vuur. Het was alsof alles in brand stond. De boeken veranderden in vogels, en de groene dood dook in de rivier om achter hen aan te gaan. Maar mysterieuze rozen waren om hen heen. Toen veranderde de rivier in bloed, en de groene dood loste er in op.

Ze zwommen naar de overkant, en gingen op de kant zitten. Rozen groeiden naar beneden vanuit de bomen. De vogels der geheimen kwamen om hen heen.

Nooit Genoeg

De Rode Woestijn

Hoofdstuk 1. De Hellekus

De pijn van het leven werd te erg en hij greep naar de drugs. Hij bleef maar spuiten om zijn hoofd boven water te kunnen houden. Hij kon er erg agressief van worden, of juist heel zachtaardig. Het waren als kleine tekenfilmpjes die in hem gespoten werden, of kleine stickertjes of plakplaatjes, die zijn hoofd op hol brachten, in een andere sfeer. Hij kon weer ademen, maar het spul was erg duur. Hij stal, en bedelde. De momenten dat hij spoot lieten hem zijn bloed weer voelen stromen. Het kon hem niet schelen wat anderen ervan dachten. Hij kon niet terug, want er was teveel pijn. Hij haatte de medische wereld, want zij hadden het allemaal op hun geweten. Sinds zijn geboorte hadden ze hem volgestopt met implantaten voor allerlei onzinnige redenen, diep in zijn lichaam. Hij wilde ook niets meer met zijn ouders te maken hebben, want zij hadden dit allemaal maar toegelaten. Hij beschouwde hen niet meer als zijn ouders.

Sommig spul liet hem voelen alsof hij kon vliegen. Door ander spul voelde hij zich heel wijs. Hij mengde ook veel drugs. Op een dag kwam hij een man tegen die hem veel vertelde over indiaanse drugs. De man nam hem zelfs in huis, en zorgde voor hem als voor een zoon. De indiaanse drugs bleek erg zuiver te zijn. Het maakte van pijn iets totaal anders. De jongen was de man erg dankbaar. Hij leefde er erg van op, en hoefde niet meer op de straat te slapen. De indiaanse drugs bleek erg machtig te zijn. Het maakte mensen intelligent.

De man had ook een dochter. De jongen en het meisje konden erg goed met elkaar opschieten. Ze kon goed verhalen vertellen, en hij luisterde vaak uren aandachtig naar haar. De indiaanse drugs maakte hem erg alert, maar op een dag ging het helemaal mis, en wilde hij van de drugs af. Maar zijn lichaam begon zo te protesteren, en een geweldige angst maakte zich van hem meester. Hij was inmiddels een gevangene van de drugs geworden. 'Probeer wat te minderen,' zei het meisje. Maar het leek wel alsof zijn lichaam meer eiste. Hij was in een zwaar gevecht, en uiteindelijk gaf hij toe dat hij niets in te brengen had. Hij zweefde op het randje van de dood, maar diep binnenin wilde hij dood, want hij leefde in de hel. De man deed er allemaal erg gemakkelijk over, maar het meisje droeg goed zorg voor hem. Hij at nauwelijks meer. Hij had een vreemde buikpijn. Hij had veel visioenen over de dood en de hel.

Het meisje was erg lief voor hem. Ze gaf hem veel liefde, ook sexueel, maar op een dag kon hij dat ook niet meer aan. Zijn zenuwstelsel was zo overgevoelig geworden dat alles pijn deed. Hij begon zichzelf op te sluiten, want sociale contacten waren te zwaar. Het meisje begreep het wel. Ze kon zich goed inleven in hem. Vaak schoof ze liefdesbriefjes bij hem onder de deur door.

Op een dag schoof ze vreemde zaadjes bij hem onder de deur door, in plastic, met een briefje erbij : 'Probeer dit spul eens. Kusjes.' Hij las op de strip van het product : Judas' Kussen. Hij slikte een zaadje in, wat als een klein besje was. Direct sprong er vuur in zijn ogen, en kon hij dwars door alles heen kijken. Hij raakte zijn grip op de werkelijkheid kwijt, en waande zich in een grote rode woestijn, die overigens vol begroeid was.

Een man liep op hem af. De man had een baard en kuste hem. 'Wie bent u ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Ik ben Jezus,' zei de man.

'Ben ik dood ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Nee,' zei de man. 'Je bent niet dood, maar je leeft ook niet. Het is iets er tussenin.'

'Oh, dat is interessant,' zei de jongen. 'Wat is het ?'

'Je moet niet zoveel vragen stellen,' zei de man. Er kwam een andere man aanlopen.

'Hi,' zei de man.

De jongen gaf de man een hand en vroeg wie hij was.

'Judas,' zei de man.

'Interessant,' zei de jongen, 'maar goed, ik zal geen vragen meer stellen.'

'Oh, stel ze gerust,' zei de man die zich Judas noemde. De jongen kreeg al snel door dat deze man wat vriendelijker en meer open was dan de andere man.

'I...ik wil weten waar ik ben,' zei de jongen aarzelend.

'Heb je van het besje gegeten ?' vroeg de man.

De jongen knikte. 'Wij zijn je bevrijders,' zei de man. 'Je bent hier veilig. Wij zijn sterk, heel sterk.'

'Waar zijn we ?' vroeg de jongen.

Maar toen gaf de man die zich Jezus noemde hem een enorme duw, en zei bijna brullend : 'Ik zei toch dat je niet zoveel moest vragen ?'

'Ach, let maar niet op hem,' zei Judas tegen de jongen. 'Hij is soms een beetje ruw.'

'Dit is de hel,' zei Judas. 'De plaats tussen leven en dood.'

'Ik moet zeggen, het is een prachtige plaats hier,' zei de jongen. 'Anders dan wat ik had verwacht.'

'Wat verwachtte je ?' vroeg Judas.

Plotseling kon de jongen zich niet meer bewegen, en niet meer praten. Hij voelde zich als een gevangene. Vreemd rood vuur, als takken van bomen die hem hadden gegrepen. Hij werd wakker op zijn bed. Snel greep hij naar de zaadjes, en nam twee zaadjes. Het was alsof rood vuur vanuit zijn ogen opschoot. Het was alsof het meisje van wie hij hield in zijn kamer stond. Maar het rode vuur schoof tussen hen in. Weer verloor hij de grip op de werkelijkheid en kon door alles heen kijken, en weer was hij in de rode woestijn die vol begroeid was. 'Je bent terug,' zei Judas.

'Ja,' zei de jongen. 'Ik zou hier graag willen blijven.'

'Blijf hier dan,' zei Judas.

'Hoe ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Stop met vragen stellen,' zei de man die zich Jezus noemde. 'Ik word er doodziek van.'

'Zeg broer,' zei Judas. 'Ga dan terug.'

Maar Jezus sloeg Judas op zijn kaak, en brulde : 'Ik ga voor niemand uit de weg !'

'Goed,' zei Judas. Toen sloeg hij Jezus zo hard terug dat deze bewusteloos neerviel.

'Welkom in de hel,' zei Judas tegen de jongen. 'Vraag wat je wil.'

'Wie is hij,' vroeg de jongen.

'Hij is een onderdeel van de drugs, een krachtige hallucinatie,' zei Judas.

'En jij dan ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Ik ook,' zei Judas.

'Bestaan jullie echt, en zijn jullie echte personen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Ja, wij zijn een grotere werkelijkheid dan de wereld waar jij vandaan komt,' zei Judas. 'In jouw wereld wordt de hel vaak afgedaan als een fabeltje, of als een slechte realiteit voor schaduwen en onder-figuren. Maar de hel is de wereld van de drugs, van zaden en geheimen, de wereld waar de natuur het voor het zeggen heeft.'

Opeens wordt het zwart voor de ogen van de jongen, en even later wordt hij wakker op zijn bed. Haastig grist hij de laatste drie zaadjes en slikt ze in. Maar dit keer gebeurt er niet veel. 'Ik moet meer van die troep !' schreeuwt hij. Hij wordt zo zenuwachtig dat hij zijn kamer uitgaat, en zijn meisje aanspreekt. Maar het meisje heeft het spul niet meer, en het is erg duur. 'Godverredomme !' bries hij. 'Waar groeit dat verdomde spul ? Ik moet meer van deze troep hebben.'

'Dat moet je aan pappa vragen,' zei ze. Plotseling valt de jongen op de grond, en er komt schuim op zijn mond. Het meisje sleept hem naar zijn kamer, naar zijn matras. 'I... ik houd van je,' stamelt de jongen. 'Ik ben zo verliefd op je. Je bent altijd zo lief voor me geweest.'

'Vertrouw me,' zei het meisje. 'Ik zal ervoor zorgen dat je zo snel mogelijk weer van die zaadjes hebt.' De jongen zinkt weg in een diepe trance. Na een dag of drie liggen er weer zaadjes die onder zijn deur door zijn geschoven. Als een woest beest scheurt de jongen het plastic open en neemt vier zaadjes. Maar er gebeurt niks. Dan neemt hij de laatste dertien zaadjes allemaal tegelijk, maar weer gebeurt er niets. 'Godverredomme !' schreeuwt de jongen. 'Er gebeurt geen klote !'

Hij laat het meisje op zijn kamer binnen. 'Wat voor spul is het ?' vraagt de jongen. 'Weet je zeker dat het hetzelfde spul is ? Wie verkoopt die rotzooi. Ik moet meer van die rotzooi hebben !'

Het meisje pakt het plastic, en op de rand staat : Judas' Kussen. 'Ja, het is nog steeds hetzelfde spul.'

Hij pakt haar vast en kust haar. 'Je bent zo'n lieve schat dat je dit gedaan hebt,' zegt hij. Hij kust haar weer, en ditmaal intens. Een paar dagen later liggen er weer strips onder de deur door. Ditmaal met gele zaadjes, en op de strips stond : Jesus' Kisses. 'Maar met eentje beginnen,' dacht hij. Hij nam een zaadje, en direct spoot er geel vuur door zijn ogen, en al snel bevond hij zich weer in de rode woestijn die vol begroeid was. Judas stond naast hem. 'Je bent weer terug,' zei hij. De jongen knikte. 'Hoe lang gaat het ditmaal duren ?' zei de jongen.

'Oh, veel langer,' zei Judas.

'Gelukkig,' zei de jongen. 'Ik lijk wel gek.'

'Waar is Jezus ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Dood,' zei Judas. 'Hij is op het moment gekruisigd en begraven.'

'Gek,' zei de jongen.

'Lekker rustig,' zei Judas. 'Het was niet zo'n beste.'

'Kunnen we het over iets anders hebben,' zei de jongen.

'Waar wil je het over hebben,' zei Judas.

'Hebben jullie hier ook telefoons ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Wat wil je daarmee doen ?' vroeg Judas.

'Mijn vriendin bellen,' zei de jongen.

'Die is hier niet,' zei Judas. 'Ze laat jou al die pilletjes slikken omdat ze van je houdt.'

'Ik weet het, maar zij is niet zo gek als mij. Hoe kunnen we haar hier krijgen dan ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Wil je dat echt ?' vroeg Judas.

'Ja,' zei de jongen.

'Waarom ?' vroeg Judas.

'Omdat ik van haar houd,' zei de jongen.

'Mis je haar ?' vroeg Judas.

'Ik weet het niet,' zei de jongen.

'Je kunt hier ook vriendinnen krijgen,' zei Judas.

'Waar dan ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Op de vriendinnen-markt,' zei Judas. 'Het zijn hallucinaties, sterke hallucinaties, die je kunt kopen.'

'Kopen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Als in een spel,' zei Judas. 'Ze stelt je vragen, en als je ze goed beantwoord, dan mag je haar meenemen.'

'Eng,' zei de jongen.

'Zullen we het eens proberen ?' zei Judas.

Even later zaten ze tegenover een pop. 'Maar dit zijn poppen,' zei de jongen.

'Je begint met poppen,' zei Judas, 'dan later worden ze echter.'

'Stel je vraag maar,' zei de jongen tegen de pop.

'Hoe ben je hier gekomen,' zei de pop.

'Door een geel zaadje,' zei de jongen.

'Wat was de naam van het zaadje,' zei de pop.

'Jesus' Kisses,' zei de jongen.

'Geweldig,' zei de pop. 'Je hebt me gewonnen.'

'Dat ging makkelijk,' zei de jongen. Maar verderop waren de echtere poppen, en daar waren de vragen veel moeilijker. 'Maar ik wil geen pop als vriendin,' zei de jongen tegen Judas. 'Ik wil een echte persoon.'

'We zijn allemaal poppen,' zei Judas. 'Zelfs jij. We zijn allemaal kleine stukjes bewustzijn, en samengevoegd vormt het een groot geheel. In je reis naar onafhankelijkheid zul je moeten leren dat je zelf je eigen familie bent, en je eigen groep mensen, allemaal stukjes van jezelf, en de rest zal vervagen.'

'Dus ik zal later alleen nog maar contact hebben met mezelf, en niet meer met anderen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Het gaat om de mechanismes,' zei Judas. 'Zoals ik al zei, we zijn allemaal poppen, kleine stukjes bewustzijn. We weerspiegelen allemaal kleine stukjes oneindigheid, van het grote, algehele mechanisme, en zullen daarin allemaal geabsorbeerd worden. Dan is er geen onderscheid van personen meer, maar alleen de eeuwige principes waarin wij tot rust zijn gekomen door verlichting.'

'Wow, dure woorden,' zei de jongen.

'Dus je zal uiteindelijk alles moeten worden voor jezelf,' zei Judas. 'Dan heb je je doel bereikt, en ben je niet meer afhankelijk van anderen. Nu hebben we anderen nog nodig, maar later niet meer.'

'Okay,' zei de jongen. Hij sprak nog een paar dagen door met Judas, en werd toen wakker op zijn bed. Hij slikte weer een geel zaadje, en bevond zich direct in een oorlog. Overall renden soldaten heen en weer. 'Waar gaat deze oorlog over ?' vroeg hij aan een soldaat. Daar kwam Judas al aanwandelen, in een wit, lichtend gewaad. Hij leek erg veel op Jezus. 'De soldaten horen je niet,' zei Judas. 'Ze strijden voor hun kleine bewustzijn, en zijn niet open voor andere bewustzijnen.'

'Dat is naar,' zei de jongen.

'Het zijn slaven,' zei Judas.

'Waarom kunnen ze mij niet horen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Ze zien je zelfs niet,' zei Judas. 'Ze zijn alleen maar bezig met hun eigen kleine bewustzijn. Daar zijn ze op gefixeerd.'

'Dus in wezen kunnen ze mij geen kwaad doen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Nee,' zei Judas. 'Ze leven in hun eigen wereld, en kunnen jouw wereld niet bereiken.'

'Gek,' zei de jongen.

Na enkele weken waren de zaadjes van de jongen op, maar er lagen alweer nieuwe zaadjes. De jongen had vele gesprekken met Judas.

'De Jezus kus is een onderdeel van de Judas kus,' zei Judas. 'Een kus die je verlicht, die je uitleidt, naar een hele andere wereld, waar alles meer een geheel is. Zo kom je onder de sluiers door.'

Maar op een dag werkten de gele zaadjes niet meer voor de jongen, hoeveel hij er ook van nam. Weer had hij een gesprek met zijn meisje. Een dag later lagen er weer andere zaadjes onder zijn deur. Ditmaal waren de zaadjes wat groter, bijna als echte bessen, en ze waren blauw, oranje en zwart. Ook waren er bruine zaadjes tussen. De jongen slikte er één in. Op de strip las hij : Hell Kisses.

Een grote vrouw verscheen voor hem, en liet alles om hem heen draaien om hem in haar wereld te zuigen. Zijn verstand en bewustzijn, en al zijn herinneringen waren plotseling als water zo week, als zachte pudding. Scherpe tonen leken zijn hoofd te doorboren en rode met roze stralen, als infra-rood en lasers. Maar nog steeds leek het alsof ze in zijn kamer waren. Ze ging op zijn bureau zitten. Nee, dit was niet zijn kamer, maar leek op zijn kamer. Het gordijn achter haar was prachtig golvend met satijn, kant, wol en dierlijk touw. Door het raam zag hij niets dan vuur, maar het was als het vuur van drugs. Het speelde met zijn verstand, met zijn herinneringen, met zijn dierlijke instincten en met zijn filosofieën.

'Mijn naam is de Hel,' zei de vrouw. 'Ik ben de plaats waar jij was. Je hebt haar overwonnen.'

'Wie heb ik overwonnen ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Haar, degene die loog over mij,' zei de vrouw. De vrouw pakte hem stevig beet en kustte hem. 'Mijn zuster, genaamd Leven. Mijn andere zuster is Dood.'

'Ik ben blij dat je mij hebt gevonden,' zei de vrouw. Plotseling kwam Judas binnen en omhelsde haar. 'Dank je, schat,' zei ze.

'Dit is mijn moeder,' zei Judas.

'Leuke moeder heb je,' zei de jongen.

'Dank je,' zei Judas, 'ik weet het. Ze is de beste moeder die je maar kan bedenken.' Buiten was er inmiddels rood vuur, als gevuld met bloed.

'Ja, vele oorlogen worden er gestreden,' zei Judas, en wees op het rode vuur. Veel rook kwam er naar binnen door het raam.

'Moeder Oorlog,' zei de vrouw, 'met haar zuster Jacht. En haar andere zuster is Wet.'

'Interessante familie-lijn,' zei de jongen.

'Weet je wat interessant is,' zei Judas. 'Dat ik een deel van die familie-lijn ben.'

'Je bent een gezegende man,' zei de jongen.

Ineens rende Jezus binnen. 'Ha broer,' zei Judas. 'Weer van de doden opgestaan, jongen ?'

'Ja,' hijgde Jezus, 'Tante Leven heeft dat gedaan, maar nu is ze dood. Iemand schoot haar neer. Het lijkt wel alsof ik zwaar aan de drugs ben. Ik lijk godverredomme wel op een eland.'

'Ja, je bent me nogal een idioot,' zei Judas. Toen nam Judas een pistool en schoot Jezus neer. 'Probeer hier maar eens van op te staan.'

'Ik zal er niet om rouwen,' zei de vrouw genaamd de Hel. 'Jarenlang heeft deze knaap ons het leven zuur gemaakt.'

'Ach ma, en het is maar een drugs-pistool. Harde zaadjes die in het lichaam worden geschoten voor hallucinaties,' zei Judas.

'Zoon, je bent een genie,' zei Hel.

'Ik denk dat ik nu echt gek begin te worden,' zei de jongen terwijl hij zijn hoofd greep.

'Dat is Gekte,' zei Hel, 'de moeder van mijn moeder. En haar zus heet Drugs. Door hen zijn we allemaal hier.'

Plotseling ging de deur open, en twee vrouwen kwamen binnen. Ze namen direct de jongen in de houdgreep. 'Wie is hij ? Jongeman, wij arresteren jou.'

'Jullie zijn maar een gekke familie,' zei de jongen.

'Racist,' zei de vrouw genaamd Gekte. 'Ik weet nog wel een goede plaats voor jou : In het kippenhok.'

'Nee, in een goede legbatterij,' zei de vrouw genaamd Drugs.

'Dat is hetzelfde,' zei Gekte. 'En wel Godverredomme, wat doet Jezus hier op de grond.'

'Niet mee bemoeien,' zei Drugs.

'Dat doe ik wel,' zei Gekte.

'Nee, dat doe je niet,' zei Drugs, en sleurde haar mee naar buiten. Buiten door het raam was alles nu gifgroen.

'Wat een stel,' zei Judas.

De jongen werd wakker, en nam nog een zaadje. Snel bevond hij zich in een gevangenis. 'We hebben hem,' zei Gekte.

'Dat is geen nieuws,' zei Drugs.

'Zeg schatje,' zei Gekte, 'zou jij niet tot onze familie willen behoren.'

'Ach, waarom ook niet,' zei de jongen. 'Hoe gaat dat ?'

'Door een web,' zei Drugs. 'We moeten je door een web trekken, en dan moet je een spinnenei inslikken.'

'Klinkt geweldig,' zei de jongen.

Al snel was het voor mekaar, maar ze vertelden hem ook dat hij nu niet meer terugkon naar het gewone leven. Hij zou nu voor altijd in de hel moeten blijven. En onderdelen van de hel waren drugs en gekte.

'Haha, ik ben gek, ik ben gek,' zei de jongen. De twee vrouwen lachten.

Het ging niet goed met Judas. Hij had een verkeerd pilletje ergens ingeslikt en lag op sterven. De twee vrouwen konden er niet om rouwen : 'De één komt, de ander gaat.'

'Waar gaat hij naartoe ?' vroeg de jongen.

'Ach, weet je wat het is met die Judas en die Jezus,' zeiden de vrouwen. 'Ze zijn nogal goed met Leven en Dood. Wij houden meer van Hel.'

'Oh,' zei de jongen.

Samen met Hel gingen ze naar de begrafenis van Judas en Jezus, en Hel bad tot de slaapgodin om over haar zonen te waken. 'Ik heb in ieder geval nu een nieuwe zoon,' zei Hel, en wees op de jongen.

Hij zat in de trein naar een stad omgeven met drugs-struiken, waar allerlei zaadachtige besjes groeiden die mensen het hoofd dol konden maken. De stad werd streng bewaakt door deze struiken, die hier en daar echt muren hadden gevormd. In de stad troonde Ziekte, de moeder van Drugs en Gekte. De jongen zou een tijdje bij Ziekte logeren, om zo de familie beter te leren kennen. Ziekte was een hele aardige vrouw. Ze schonk thee voor hem in toen hij was binnengekomen. 'Voor het eerst ben je dan hier,' zei ze met een glimlach. De jongen knikte. 'Dus jij wilt de familie beter leren kennen hè,' zei ze. Weer knikte de jongen. Het was een hele mooie vrouw, zeer lieflijk, intelligent en mysterieus. Een vreemde kracht maakte zich van hem meester. 'Wij geloven niet in toeval hè,' zei Ziekte. 'Jij behoorde hier te zijn, bij mij.' Hij kon haar ogen niet van haar afhouden, en was als gehypnotiseerd.

'Luister je naar muziek ?' vroeg ze. De jongen knikte. Ze begon slaapverwekkende muziek op te zetten, betoverend mooi. Het had een verzachtende uitwerking op hem. Ze reikte hem een schaal met besjes aan. 'Neem er maar van,' zei ze. De jongen begon te grissen en te slikken. De vrouw glimlachte. 'Hongerig joch,' zei ze. Even leek er een glimlach op het gezicht van de jongen te komen, en toen straalde hij. Alles om hem heen scheen langzamer te gaan. Na een tijdje kwam Hel binnen. 'Ik ben blij met hem,' zei Ziekte tegen Hel. 'Hij is een goede aanwinst in de familie.'

Achter de stad was een brug die leidde naar de wereld genaamd Ziekte, haar wereld. Na het gesprek in de stad nam Ziekte hem mee naar haar wereld, in de trein. Hel ging ook mee. De jongen keek zijn ogen uit. Het was de mooiste wereld die hij ooit had gezien. Ziekte leidde hen naar een tafel in een weiland omgeven met wilde woestijnen, vol begroeid. Boven de tafel zweefde een roze theepot-olifant, die thee voor hen inschonk. De thee smaakte naar vla, en naar toverbessen.

Dieper in het weiland was een rivier. Voor de rivier stond een kathedraal. Hier werd de godin, Ziekte, aanbeden. Zij droeg het medicijn, en was dus ook de genezer met de groene vlam van gezondheid. Ze probeerde te onderwijzen dat we alleen onszelf kunnen redden, dat wanneer we een redder proberen te vinden, dan zal het wegglijden. Alles wat we proberen vast te houden en te bezitten, zal van ons wegglijden. Je kan alleen je familie en helpers samenstellen van je eigen innerlijke delen. De rest zal vergaan. Aan het einde zal alleen jijzelf overblijven. De sleutel die zij aanreikt is je eigen sleutel. Dat ben jezelf. Je hebt de ander niet nodig om gelukkig te zijn. De ander is er maar tijdelijk, totdat je hebt geleerd de ander te zijn voor jezelf. Het is een wordings-process. Het gaat om het zijn, niet om het bezitten, niet om relaties. Hiervoor hadden ze een hele speciale drug nodig : Kus van Ziekte. De jongen had nog nooit mensen gezien die zo erg aan de drugs waren dan deze mensen in de kathedraal. Ze bleven maar spuiten en slikken, en anderen zaten er in een totale trance bij, en veranderden geheel van uiterlijk. Zij volgden Ziekte naar de bronnen van genezing.

Paradijs

Zeevlinder

Moeder keek vader aan. 'We hebben er over gesproken, Eduard. Je vader en ik vinden het beter als je ons gewoon zou vertellen wat er gebeurd is. We willen je zo graag helpen.'

'Ik kan het niet,' zei Eduard, en rende naar boven. Zijn moeder ging achter hem aan, en ging naast hem op zijn bed zitten in zijn kamer. 'Vertel het nou maar,' zei moeder. 'Heus, het is beter dan.' Toen vertelde Eduard stoterig en schokkerig zijn verhaal. Moeder belde direkt de politie. Die kwamen ook direct naar hem toe, en onderhandelden met de daders. De vader van één van de daders kwam na een tijdje bij Eduard op bezoek. De dader moest zijn verontschuldigungen aanbieden en gaf Eduard een cadeautje, een kleine ziekenauto. Eduard glimlachte, maar viel flauw toen hij de dader strak in het gezicht keek.

'Eduard ?' zei moeder.

Eduard zag zijn vriendin voor hem staan, die eens weg ging naar een andere stad, een verhuizing, vanwege werk van haar vader. 'Marlotte ?' vroeg Eduard. 'Die is hier niet,' zei moeder.

'Ik heb haar nodig,' stamelde Eduard. Hij hoorde het geluid van politie-auto's. 'Ze komen,' zei hij. 'Ze maken alles goed.'

Eduard kon niet goed lopen. Hij had zijn vriendinnetje nodig. Ze was er niet. Hij belde haar op. Ze kwam direct naar hem toe. 'Eduard, lieveling,' zei ze. Toen werd Eduard wakker. Hij had alles maar gedroomd. Zijn vader en moeder zouden hem nooit geloven. Zijn leven was een nachtmerrie. En Marlotte zou hem nooit meer terugwillen. Waarom wist hij niet. Hij was altijd goed voor haar geweest. Hij had een goed contact met zijn piano-leraar. Die sleepte hem er doorheen. Op een dag vroeg de piano-leraar of Eduard niet gewoon bij hem wilde wonen. Eduard stemde toe, maar wat graag. Hij wilde zijn ouders nooit meer zien.

'Marlotte,' zei de piano-leraar, 'is een vreemd meisje. Ik heb haar nooit vertrouwd.'

'Maar ik houd van haar,' zei Eduard.

'Dat begrijp ik,' zei de piano-leraar, 'maar toch.'

'Ik kan niet zonder haar leven,' zei Eduard. 'Ik ben bang dat ik gek word zonder haar. Ik mis haar.' De piano-leraar probeerde hem te sussen. 'Ze is heel erg duister. Er klopt gewoon iets niet met haar,' zei hij.

Eduard ging achter de piano zitten, en zong een liefdeslied. Hij was wel heel erg blij dat hij bij de piano-leraar kon wonen nu. Die was altijd al als een vader voor hem. Die nacht in bed had hij een duistere droom waarin Marlotte hem probeerde te verdrinken, en plotseling veranderde ze in een duister beest. Ze trok hem de diepte in.

Ineens zaten ze in een schoollokaal. Zij zat voor hem als de juffrouw. 'Ik ben Lazarus,' zei ze.

'Wat bedoel je,' vroeg Eduard.

'Ik ben een boom,' sprak ze.

'Waarom dan ?' vroeg Eduard.

'Omdat ik het zeg,' zei ze, en sloeg met haar vuist op de tafel. 'Ik ben een boom vol van bloemen en geheimen. Ik ben meerdere personen, en ik draag de sleutel voor jou. Ik wil je niet vernietigen, ik wil je brengen naar de andere wereld.'

'Dat is een leugen,' zei Eduard. 'Je wilde niets meer van me weten.'

'Ik weet het,' zei Marlotte. 'Maar ik ben Lazarus.'

'Wat bedoel je ?' vroeg Eduard.

Ze begon te huilen, en zei : 'Ik ben de Lazarus-boom.'

'Wat is dat,' vroeg Eduard.

'Niets,' zei ze. Eduard schrok wakker. Ze stond voor hem in een prachtig witte jurk als bloesem. 'Ik ben al dood,' zei ze. 'Ik ben een bloem, de lazarus-boom, een mysterie voor jou, een raadsel.'

Eduard dacht dat hij gek aan het worden was en probeerde te roepen, maar het was alsof zijn mond op slot stond.

'Ik wil je overweldigen,' zei ze. 'Maar ik kan het niet. Hij houdt me tegen.'

'Wie is hij ?' vroeg Eduard.

'Je vader,' zei ze. 'Ik ben dood, Eduard, dood. Je vader heeft mij vermoord.'

'Je moet daar weg,' zei Eduard.

'Ik wil bij je zijn,' zei ze, 'maar ik kan het niet.'

'Leugens,' zei Eduard. 'Je zei altijd dat je juist niet bij me wilde zijn.'

'Help me,' zei ze. 'Ik kan het niet helpen. Ik ben meerdere personen. Ik kan niet praten.'

'Je komt anders aardig goed uit je woorden,' zei Eduard.

'Ik kan niet zeggen wat ik wil zeggen,' zei ze.

'Ik houd van je, Eduard,' zei ze.

'Ik geloof je niet,' zei hij. 'Je hebt me laten wegteren.'

'Alsjeblieft, ik smeeek je,' zei ze.

'Wat bedoel je,' vroeg hij.

'Ik ben een lazarus-boom,' zei ze.

'Ja, dat had je al eerder gezegd,' zei hij.

'Ik groei, en ik kan het niet stoppen,' zei ze. 'Ik heb meerdere takken.' Toen begon ze te schreeuwen en te gillen. 'Nu sta ik in brand,' riep ze.

'Toe, help me,' gilde ze. 'Mijn vader verbrandt me.'

'Ik houd van je, Marlotte,' zei hij, en omhelsde haar. Hij probeerde haar te sussen, maar ze werd steeds wilder.

'Ik ga van je scheiden,' zei ze. 'Ik heb teveel pijn, ik ben te gevoelig. Ik brand, en jij gaat ook branden.'

'Het is okay, schat, ik wist niet dat we getrouwd waren, maar wat je dan ook zegt,' sprak hij kalm.

'Eduard, blus me,' zei ze.

'Hoe ?' vroeg hij.

'Met kussen,' zei ze.

Eduard begon haar te kussen, maar het leek allemaal veel erger te worden. Hij begon ook te branden. 'We moeten rennen,' zei hij. 'Waar naartoe ?' vroeg ze.

'Naar het bos,' zei hij. Snel renden ze het huis uit naar het bos, maar alle bomen waren aan het branden. Ze hoorden veel gegil en geschreeuw. 'Liefste,' riep ze. 'Als ik het niet overleef, vergeet nooit, maar dan ook nooit, dat ik altijd van je heb gehouden. En nu zelfs meer dan ooit.'

'Ik geloof je niet !' riep hij. 'Je bent er nooit voor mij geweest !'

'Ik kon het niet !' schreeuwde ze. 'Ti sento ! Ik ben te gevoelig !'

'Je zei dat je niet meer van me hield. Je zei zelfs dat je nooit van me hebt gehouden !' schreeuwde hij.

'Ik ben de lazarus-boom !' riep ze terug. 'Dingen gaan niet zoals ik wil dat ze gaan.'

'Je hebt me verraden met Judas-kussen !' schreeuwde hij. Alles stond in brand. Spoedig waren ze in een vuurzee. Ze hilde.

'Ik kan er niet tegen dat je lijdt. Ik wil je helpen, ik wil je troosten, zoals ik nachten met je op heb gezeten, maar je was gemeen naar mij,' zei Eduard.

'Jij lijdt ook, zoals ik lijd,' zei ze.

Hij had haar stevig in de grip. 'Liefste,' hilde hij. 'Het maakt niet uit dat ik lijd, maar ik kan er niet tegen als jij lijdt. Ik heb daar nooit tegengekunt, wat je me dan ook hebt aangedaan.'

'Ik ben een lazarus-boom,' hilde ze.

'Ik weet het,' zei hij. 'Wacht gewoon totdat het gaat bloesemen.'

'Nee,' hilde ze, 'het gaat nooit meer bloesemen. Het gaat branden.'

'Ik zal je veilig maken,' zei hij.

'Hoe?' vroeg ze. 'Waarom jij? Omdat je de vader van mijn kinderen bent?'

'We hebben nooit kinderen gehad,' zei hij.

'Dat is wel waar,' hilde ze.

In zweet werd hij wakker. Het was een nachtmerrie. Ze lag naast hem, met schuim op haar mond. Hij had ook schuim op zijn mond. Ze hadden samen drugs genomen van de lazarus-boom, om in een andere realiteit te komen, maar dat ging niet altijd goed. 'Ik... ik brand,' hilde ze zachtjes. Hij nam haar in zijn armen. 'Het spul heeft bijwerkingen,' zei hij, 'maar het zal ons er doorheen slepen. We zullen aankomen in die andere wereld.'

'Ik wil niet meer, baby,' hilde ze. 'Het is te zwaar. We lijken wel vijanden van elkaar.'

'De liefde is een oorlog,' zei hij. 'We vechten voor elkaar, en zonder scheiding is er geen verzoening. Zonder ijs is er geen vuur, en zonder verwarring is er geen helderheid.'

Maar alles moet toch ergens stoppen,' hilde ze.

'Oh, maar deze wereld is groot,' zuchtte hij. 'Ja, zo groot,' fluisterde ze. 'Ik kan niet meer.' Hij troostte haar.

Ze stopte met de drugs, terwijl Eduard ermee doorging. Ze begonnen uit elkaar te groeien, en het eindigde in een scheiding. Ze was koud, bevroren, en Eduard was warm. Hij begreep haar wel, maar zij begreep hem niet, en begon alles te ontkennen. Ze was niet meer zoals ze was, alsof ze zich ergens voor probeerde te verstoppen. Op een dag sloegen de stoppen bij Eduard door. Hij begreep haar niet meer, en was boos. Toch wilde hij dat ze gelukkig was. Het scheen niet goed mogelijk te zijn bij haar. Ze schreven brieven, en in die brieven schreef ze hoe slecht ze er aan toe was. 'Is dit nu alles wat je wilde?' schreef hij terug.

Op een dag schreef ze terug dat ze een nieuwe drug had ontdekt, veel veiliger volgens haar. Eduard kwam bij haar langs. Ze scheen weer een warme vrouw te zijn. Ze glimlachte toen ze hem zag. Hij was nog steeds erg boos, en keek koud op haar neer. 'Spuut het maar in mijn arm,' zei hij. Ze hurkte voor hem neer, en spoot in zijn been. 'Daar,' zei ze. Eduard viel op de grond. De kinderen kwamen binnen. 'Wat doet pappa daar ?' vroeg de middelste.

'Pappa is gek,' zei Marlotte. Schuim kwam op zijn mond.

'Is hij aan de drugs ?' vroeg de jongste.

'Ja,' zei Marlotte, 'ik heb hem wat toegediend, van dat spul wat wij ook altijd gebruiken.' Ze trok hem naar een bed, en legde een jas over hem heen. Even later kwam ze bij hem liggen, toen de kinderen weer weg waren. Ze spoot wat in haar been, en verloor haar bewustzijn. Een vuur kwam in haar hoofd, en ze werd verbonden met zijn hoofd, en zijn hart. 'Namens de vereniging van bomen, hartelijk welkom,' zei een stem. 'Ik heb het nog eens nagekeken, jullie zijn inderdaad geregistreerd. Welkom terug dan.' Een groen vuur kwam over hen. 'De godin van scheiding heeft jullie hier gebracht.'

'Het is haar schuld,' zei Eduard. 'Zij heeft die vervloekte scheidingsformulieren ingevuld.'

'Oh, op onze afgesneden huid ?' vroeg de stem. 'Dat is niet zo netjes.'

'Nee, niet zo netjes,' zei een andere stem. 'Zij gaat dus de afwas doen.'

'Maar ik heb al gekookt,' zei Marlotte. 'Dus ik ga ook niet nog eens de afwas doen. Kom zeg, eikel.'

'Ze heeft gelijk,' zei Eduard. 'Zij heeft mij de drugs toegediend, dus ze hoeft dan toch ook niet de afwas te doen.'

'Wel, hoor je nou niet eens even wat je zegt, domoor,' zei de stem. 'Zij heeft jou deze rommel aangeboden, dus dan zal ze potdorie die rommel ook op gaan ruimen.'

'Het is mijn schuld,' zei Eduard. 'Ik heb de rommel aangenomen. Ik had haar nooit naar binnen moeten halen. Ik ben zo dom geweest haar te vertrouwen.'

'Waarom heb je haar naarbinnen gehaald ?' vroeg de stem

'Ik wilde haar helpen,' zei Eduard.

'Hield je van haar ?' vroeg de stem.

'Absoluut en ongetwijfeld,' zei hij.

Heel langzaam werd hij wakker. Het was maar een droom. Ze was ver weg van hem, en zover hij wist was ze niet aan de drugs. Hij wel dus. Voor hem was dat de enige weg eruit. In haar brieven schreef ze hem hoe slecht het met haar ging. Hij wilde haar helpen, maar wist niet hoe. Ook was hij boos. Die boosheid werd eigenlijk elke dag erger, en het brief-contact stopte weer. Hij stortte zich nog meer op de drugs dan ooit tevoren. De bommen waren zijn helden. Hij had geen vat meer op de realiteit, en het was beter zo. Die realiteit werd volgens hem in stand gehouden door bomenhaters. 'Eet eens een vruchtje, lik eens een appeltje, laat je eens inspuiten door een lazarus-boom, voor een mooie droom. Eet eens een stukje hout, lik eens aan boomblad, aan zijn bast en zijn schors. Beklim eens een boom, hang eens aan een tak.' Hij zong een liefdeslied aan de piano. Het was een meedogenloos ritme. 'Klim eens op een appel, duik eens in een aardbei, grijp eens naar een roos. Ja, haar dorens zullen je verscheuren, maar ... maar ... laat dat je niet tegenhouden. Lik eens aan de honing, ja, haar dorens zullen je mond sluiten, maar ... maar laat dat je niet tegenhouden ... Vecht eens met een beer, laat de honing zijn voor iedereen. Vecht eens met bijen en wespen. Het geheim is niet alleen van hen ... Lik eens aan een tak, snuif eens wat bloemenzaad, grijp eens een plant, ook al krijg je dan een blaar. Ook al ga je dan bloeden, en lig je in het bad, ook al zal de storm dan woeden, wie doet dat wat Het gaat toch om de zomer, het holle in de boom, het gaat toch om de dauw in de morgen, en het morgenrood, doe wat je kan om daar te komen ... het avondrood zal je genezen Vecht in de oorlog, de oorlog der liefde, zet elkaar vrij, voor welke prijs dan ook, want wat is een prijs ?

's Nachts staar ik je aan, 's nachts hoor ik je stem en lied, De morgen spoelt het weg, maar jij zult altijd zijn, de moeder van mijn kinderen, Ik laat altijd een kaarsje voor jou branden, Eens zal ik je eruit krijgen, uit die slimme doos, Eens zal ik die sloten door mijn liefde smelten, Ik ben nog jong, gouden tijden staan nog steeds op mijn roos, Je bent in mijn herinnering, een nachtmerrie, een vlinderding, Alle dingen schijnen twee kanten te hebben, alle kanten zullen in de tijd opzwemmen, Alle kanten zullen hun gezicht laten zien, Ik heb er tien, ik heb er tien, maar ik wil de jouwen ook zien, Mijn lieveling mijn vlinderding de nachtmerrie is slechts een herinnering ...
Meer kan het niet zijn, ik ren nu vrij,
Over de heg, over de heuvel, de winter kan mij niet meer vasthouden, De zomer maakte mij vrij, jij, zomervlinder, jij vlinderding ...

Ik vond jou, als een zeemeerman, aan de kusten van Spanje, kapotgebroken aan de rotsen, Als een zeemeerman nam ik jou op, en gaf je de adem van de zee, Maar de zee begon te branden door jouw vuur, De zeevlinder nam ons beiden mee, en brak de muur,
In mijn lijst ben je nu, in mijn schilderij, in de bizonjacht, Wij verdrinken samen in de gracht, todat de boot van Venetie ons opneemt, Met de staf van zeebloemen en zeebloesem, Met de staf van zeewier, als de staf der zeemeermannen, Kom niet dichterbij, ik ben maar een zeemeerjongen, Kom niet dichterbij, want je komt onder mijn betovering, Ren nu, ren nu, voor je leven ... Als het leven je lief is,
Of heb je mij lief ... of de last der leugens

Negen van de tien keer loog je tegen mij, Negen van de tien keer ... onder het spreiden der bloemen Als bloemen logen zoals jij, zouden ze nooit bloeien ...
En te bedenken dat je mij als leugenaar zag, Zoveel bloemen op mijn graf, Zoveel bloemen die je mij nooit gaf ...
Zoveel bloemen op jouw graf, door de zeevlinder gebracht ...
Maar de ware liefde breekt de grenzen van het leven, Als een vuur die jou zelfs uit de hel kan opnemen ...
Denk je dat je naar de hemel kunt ontsnappen Op de rug van de zeevlinder

Bedenk dat dit heel goed het laatste lied kan zijn wat ik ooit tot je zing, Dat de zeevlinder het laatste is wat ik je geef ...'

'Eduard, Eduard,' riep zijn moeder. Kom uit je bed. Bijna schooltijd.
Eduard draaide zich om, en wilde weer slapen, maar het schelle getetter in zijn oor van zijn moeder besliste anders.
Snel begon ze hem wakker te schudden. Ze trok hem uit zijn bed en omhelsde hem.
'Mamma, kus me niet meer,' zei hij, 'anders kom ik hier nooit weg.' Toen liet zijn moeder hem los.
Hij kleepte zich aan, nam zijn tas mee, en vertrok met de bus.

Op school keek hij haar niet aan. Zij keek alleen maar naar hem door haar ooghoeken. Zij was zijn wapen tegen de reuzen, maar de drugs die zij hem gaf had hem bijna vermoord. Het was haar spreekbeurt vandaag, en ze begon spook-verhalen te vertellen. Hij opende zijn hart een beetje voor haar. Ze stond daar bijna als een militair. Ja, zij voerde oorlog, en hij wilde in haar leger. Ze begon bloemen te tekenen op het bord, en schreef zijn naam. Hij voelde zichzelf in brand staan met liefdesvuur. 'Nu heb ik het ware vuur, riep hij,' terwijl de andere kinderen in de vlammenzee begonnen te verdwijnen. Hij hief haar op het schip. 'Geweldig is dit,' zei ze. 'Ja, je hebt mij flink in de war gebracht met die drugs,' zei hij, 'maar dit is goed.'

'Daar is het om te doen,' zei ze.

'We moeten maken wat er van te maken is,' zei hij. De vlammen werden wilder, maar het was goed vuur, liefdesvuur. Zij brandde nu ook, en ze voelde zich goed. 'Voel je je nu eindelijk goed, schatje?' vroeg hij. Ze knikte, en zuchtte van verlichting. Hij nam haar in zijn armen, en ze stegen op. 'Dit is de sleutel van het paradijs,' zei ze. 'Ik wist dat je dit kon doen.'

'En ik wist dat jij het kon doen,' zei hij. 'Ti Sento. Ik voel je.' Maar zwetend werd hij wakker in een vuur dat hij niet begreep. Hij begon boos te worden, en zonk weg in hopeloosheid. 'Ik was er bijna,' dacht hij. Maar hij wist niet waar het allemaal om draaide. Waar ging het nu eigenlijk om? Was dit alles niet gewoon zinloos? Maar ja, hij wilde niet in ongeluk blijven leven. Of bracht het ongeluk hem naar een dieper geluk?

Zij beschuldigde hem. Brieven van schuld kwamen binnen, de één na de ander. Het was als een muur met kettingen. Hij kroop naar zijn piano, moe, en verkramppt door de pijn. Hij hees zichzelf op aan de piano, en begon te spelen.

'Liefde is beter dan drugs, maar ik heb de liefde niet, alleen maar haat, Liefde is beter dan jou, maar wat is de liefde waard ...'

Hij greep naar de drugs en begon te slikken als een gek, zodat hij bewusteloos viel aan de piano. De godin van scheiding scalpeerde hem, en gaf hem een doornenkroon. Hij verloor zijn verstand. Hij hulde zichzelf in een rood kleed, en kroop op de piano waar hij begon over te geven.

'Ik ben de koning van de gekken, ik ben de koning van het gemis, Ik ben de koning van de pijn, en ik heb niets meer, Ik ben de koning van de gekken, ik ben de koning van het land, Want alleen de koning van de gekken kan dit gekke land besturen ...

Ik ben de koning van de gekken, ik ben de koning van de drugs, Ik ben de koning van het afscheid, ja, mijn dag kan niet meer stuk, Ik ben de koning van het huwen, ik ben de koning van het scheiden, Alleen de dommen volgen mij, maar de wijzen vermijden mij ...'

Dat kan me niet schelen !' schreeuwde Eduard met schuim op zijn mond. 'Het schijnt de enige weg naar het paradijs te zijn. Het is een oorlog.'

'Goed, je hebt de oorlog bar verloren, bar en boos,' zei de stem.

'Ik zal opstaan als de nachtvlinder,' zei Eduard, 'en mijn geliefden vrijzetten.'

'Toe nou, Eduard, nou niet zo hoogmoedig, jongen,' zei de stem. 'Daar zit niemand op te wachten.'

Eduard begon de piano te slopen. En begon wild om zich heen te slaan. Hij werd omsingeld door vlinders, en Marlotte stond ineens voor hem.

'Jij weer,' zei Eduard.

'Drugs is niet goed voor je, Eduard,' zei ze.

'Waarom gaf je me het dan ?' vroeg Eduard.

'Ik kon het geld goed gebruiken,' zei Marlotte. 'Ik heb er goede kinderen van gekocht.'

Er was glas tussen Marlotte en Eduard. Drie kinderen verschenen aan de kant van Marlotte. 'Dit zijn je kinderen,' zei ze.

'Ik wil ze niet zien,' zei Eduard.

'Ze hebben je nodig,' zei ze.

'Het zijn mijn kinderen niet. Je hebt ze gewoon met mijn geld gekocht, dat is alles,' zei Eduard.

'Toe, Eduard,' zei ze bijna smekend. 'Ik wil niet ontkennen dat ik in het verleden hele verkeerde dingen heb gedaan, maar we moeten maken wat er van te maken is. De kinderen hebben je nodig. We kunnen die situatie niet ontkennen. Zij kunnen daar verder niets aan doen.'

'Je hebt gelijk,' zei Eduard, 'maar het zijn mijn kinderen niet.'

'Adopteer ze dan, als je me niet geloofd,' zei Marlotte.

'Nee, ik heb helemaal niks met je te maken,' zei Eduard.

'Ik ben in je bloed,' zei Marlotte. 'Ik ben je drugs. Helemaal fout wat ik heb gedaan, maar ik kan er niet uit. Ik zit in je genetisch materiaal.'

'Ik wil dat je weggaat, Marlotte,' zei Eduard. 'Ik wil je niet. Ik heb dit nooit gewild. Je hebt gewoon misbruik gemaakt van mijn situatie. In een zwak moment kocht ik die drugs van je ... en ja, in een zwak moment ... kocht ik je.'

'Precies, en hier zijn je kinderen,' zei Marlotte. 'Reken ze het niet aan.'

'Het lot bracht ons tezamen,' zei Eduard. 'Maar je hebt mij te lang genegeerd. Het roept herinneringen op.'

'Vergeef me, Eduard,' zei Marlotte.

'Hoe vaak heb ik jou wel niet om vergeving gevraagd, en je hebt het me nooit gegeven, en dat terwijl ik je nooit iets heb aangedaan. Ik ben altijd goed voor je geweest,' zei Eduard.

'Ik kan niet met mijn kinderen leven,' zei Marlotte.

'Het zijn de vruchten van jouw zonden,' zei Eduard.

'Maar als jij me helpt, zijn het de vruchten van vergeving en vernieuwing,' zei Marlotte.

'Barst,' zei Eduard.

Marlotte begon te huilen. 'De kinderen hebben een gezonde vader en moeder nodig.'

'Al wat jij doet is drama maken,' zei Eduard. 'Word je nou nooit eens moe van jezelf ? Je hebt mij kapot gemaakt met die drugs.'

'Die drugs zat in mij. Mijn vader heeft' snikte Marlotte.

'Ja, ja, ja, houd daar nu maar over op, dat heb ik al zo vaak gehoord,' zei Eduard.

'Je moet eens weten hoeveel drugs hij in mij heeft gepompt,' snikte ze. 'Ik ben zelf drugs nu.'

Eduard nam een likje aan haar. 'Gadverredamme, dat is toch walgelijk,' schreeuwde hij.

'Ik kan er niets aan doen,' huilde ze nog harder.

'Je bent gewoon een drugs-hoer,' zei Eduard.

'Heb medelijden met me,' jankte ze.

'Waarom zou ik ?' schreeuwde Eduard. 'Heb jij ooit medelijden met mij gehad ?'

'Pappa, alsjeblieft, ik smeeek je,' zei het middelste kind.

'Ik heb jullie nooit gezien,' zei Eduard. 'Het doet pijn jullie nu te zien.'

Het kind gaf hem een klein computertje. 'Hier pappa, hiermee kunnen we contact hebben met elkaar.' Toen vaagde alles weg. Hij zat achter zijn computer. Hij zag Marlotte op het scherm, en zijn kinderen. Het was een fantastische wereld in de computer, en hij stapte naar binnen. Ze namen hem bij de hand en namen hem naar een huisje. Alles was zo anders nu.

Arnold Lovehold was een computer expert, en hij zorgde ervoor dat de familie banden weer zorgvuldig werden samengesmeed. De zee-vlinder was inmiddels vrijgekomen uit de zee-kokon. Arnold Lovehold was een diepzinnige man, een filosoof, maar tegelijkertijd heel praktisch. Met technologie wist hij alles voor elkaar te krijgen. De familie was voor een lange dag op het strand. De zee kolkte, en het zand was warm. Thuisgekomen ging Eduard op het bed liggen. Het was alsof het altijd zo was geweest, alsof er nooit iets was gebeurd. De familie leefde in vrede.

De Gele

Hoofdstuk 1.

Ik liep op de straten van Virgo, en tegelijkertijd liep er iemand op de starten van Mercurius die mij na probeerde te doen, een dubbelganger. Ik ging een huis binnen, en degene op Mercurius ook, op hetzelfde moment. Ik werd gevolgd. Ik ging naar boven en keek door het raam naar de hoge toren van Virgo. Ik zag Mercurius branden in de verte. Hij speelde op de piano. Hij had wat klokken op zijn tafel staan die hij aan het repareren was, gouden en zilveren. Hij had een Egyptisch aura, zo iemand waar je geen vat op kan krijgen, maar ik hield van hem. Hij was raadselachtig en mysterieus. Was hij de reden dat Mercurius brandde ? Beneden in de winkel verkocht hij chocola, maar hij had meerdere winkels in deze stad. Ik had in deze stad een vechtschool. Ik zag een andere planeet branden, Venus, de zonnetepel. Ik werd als een gevaar gezien. Men wilde mij uit de weg ruimen. Hij werkte aan zijn klokken, en andere mechanismes. Ook verbouwde hij paradijselijke groenten, en verzorgde hij paradijselijke dieren. Hij was zo'n beetje Manusje van alles, en hij was mijn bodyguard. Ook was hij een bouwer van computers, en verhuurde hij woningen. Ook was hij directeur van een school, mijn oude school nog wel. Hij had mij eens gered. Ik zocht altijd het gevaar op, en hij redde me er altijd uit. Hij was mijn geheime sleutel. Mijn moeder was een prostituee, waar ook nogal minzaam op werd neergekeken, ook omdat ze mijn moeder was, maar bij hem was zij van harte welkom. Ze kwam vaak bij hem om te computeren. Ik hield van mijn moeder, oh God. Om haar was ik in de handen van tormentors.

Mijn moeder zat ingewikkeld in elkaar, als de Inanna. Zij was een striptease. Op sexueel gebied deinsde ze niet voor veel dingen terug, maar in het normale leven was ze fragiel als een nimf. Mijn vader was een schreeuwlelikerd, haar pooier, maar hij had een goed hart. Hij was een sirene, een beroemd zanger in de stad, een goedbewaard geheim. Ik leefde in ketenen, achter tralies, maar dat besepte ik nog niet goed. Ik ging nog gewoon overal naartoe. Mijn vader was een tafel-nazi, die op de markt tafels probeerde te verkopen op een opdringerige manier. Als je te lang keek zonder iets te kopen dan werd hij kwaad. Ook verkocht hij dekens. Het werd hier op Virgo nogal aangemoedigd om veel bijbaantjes te hebben. Het was de lik van de leeuw. Maar vat erop krijgen deed ik niet. Achter mijn vechtschool stond de bibliotheek waar ik vaak naartoe ging om te lezen, om er een beetje uit te zijn. Ik combineerde vechtkunst met dans en striptease, en dat was volgens mij de foute combinatie. Ik had veel vijanden. Vooral in de mode-wereld had ik veel vijanden, omdat ik gescheurde kleding wilde introduceren, en armoedige kleding, versleten en oud. De man van Mercurius volgde mij. Hij had een pistool. Ik rende de trap op, en viel. Hij had me al geraakt. Maar mijn bodyguard stond plotseling tussen hem en mij in. Ik werd wakker in zijn kamer. Hij had de kogel er al uit gehaald, maar ik bloedde nog steeds. 'Zij begrijpen het roze niet,' zei hij. Daar moest ik het mee doen. Hij was een man van weinig woorden.

Mijn pleegmoeder was de koningin van de luipaarden. Ze startte de jacht op de man van Mercurius. Ze volgde hem na, en vond uit waar hij zijn schuilplaats had : in een veld van bizons. Zij moordde de bizons uit, maar kreeg hem niet te pakken. We besloten rustig te blijven. Het geheimenis van het eeuwig vuur was hier : een zoetwater rivier van genezing, de lik van de leeuw. Mijn bodyguard bouwde een pistool voor mij. Het was een pistool met vele klokken, een zwaard krommend in de zon. Ik was een boogschutter, ik kon goed richten. Het geheim van de stad was achter een poort van twee bokkengeesten, als een poort in een ark. Het was een veld van bokkenjagers. De man van Mercurius staat hier als een standbeeld.

Ik ga naar binnen, in de tuin, waar bokken hangen. Ik klamp me vast aan zijn standbeeld. Venus brandt. De melk is heet, het explodeert. Ik ga naar binnen, in het standbeeld. Ik vind de boog, de bokkenpijl. Alle vruchten branden hier, en dan ook de bomen. De man van Mercurius heeft twee gezichten, voor en achter. Hij heeft een duister geheim. Zijn schepen zijn in de haven, waar dag en nacht wordt gewerkt. De zeemeerminnen sterven in het water van Mercurius, het geheime gif. Hij is een man van dwang met strakke ogen. Steen is alles wat er over is na de brandende nacht. Dit is de stad van steen. De graveurs graven in zijn vlezig hart. Gepolijste stenen is hun vak. De sirene staat hoog op de toren van de stad, om te waarschuwen, met haar gruwelijk gedicht, maar niemand luistert. Ze slapen allemaal in de nacht. Gepolijste stenen is alles wat ze willen zien. In de wateren heeft Mercurius zijn booreilanden, op zoek naar goud, aardgas en olie. Hij is de juwelier van de hel. In schelpen verbergt hij zijn hoofden. Zeven mannen zijn gekomen, de achtste moet nog komen. Ze hebben mij op het oog. Ze zien mij als het Hermes van de goden, de lijm waardoor alles gaat branden. Ik ben gekluisterd in een pot. Zij willen mij drinken als de goddelijke nectar. Apen rennen door de stad, omsingelen de toren, en rennen dan naar boven. Zij drukken de sirene opzij, en worden zelf het vaandel van bevrijding. De bodyguard leeft.

Ze geeft me de sleutel tot het bokkenveld. Ze noemt geen namen. De man van Mercurius zit op een troon. Achter hem is de grote roltrap waar alle zwaarden slap worden. De stad is grotendeels overdekt.

Zij die hem volgen hebben geen oren.

Zij is een prostituee, huurmoordenaar en woningverhuurder, vele manieren om toe te slaan. Ik blijf ver uit haar buurt. Ze zijn allemaal bezig hun architectuur uit te tekenen, en de bomen blijven ze uittekenen. Ze staat klaar om toe te slaan. Ze is een discipel van de man van Mercurius.

Hoofdstuk 2.

De hekken hebben hoge punten hier. Ik kan er nauwelijks doorheen komen. Alles is wazig hier. De hoge gothiek is als mijn tralies. Ik ben het drakenkind. Ik word door een draak bewaakt. Ik ben nog jong. De man van Mercurius is een slot aan mijn lichaam. Hij is een dode steen. Iedereen is hier gestorven. Ik kan me alleen uitstrekken naar de hogere kunst. Er is alleen leven in het licht. In het duister kan niemand bestaan. Ik schenk mijn moeder een steen van licht, en ze komt tot leven. Ze kan de draden zien, de patronen, de scheuren, de naden, en het grote gat. Ze kan de wond zien, het litteken, en het graf. Zij is de martelares in vuur geboren, als een tralie in mijn kooi. Met haar zal ik voorzichtig omgaan. Ik ben het Hermes der goden.

De engelen zijn hier bliksemschichten, in de tuin. Ze houden zoveel achter. Ik kan alleen maar staren. Alleen kennis doet leven, de onwetendheid is de dood. Venus brandt, haar licht verlicht de nacht. Hier zijn de stralen van het moederhart. Zij woont op nummer 43, en hij woont op nummer 10. Ik loop naar nummer 88, in hetzelfde flatgebouw, waar de spinnen leven, waar ze hun stenen webben weven. Het is de weg tot het verscheurde kant, waar het licht achter schuilt, de bron van het leven bewakende. De gele vlinder zal vliegen in de nacht. Hij zal vliegen over de woestijn en aankomen in het paradijs, Mars in Virgo. Hoog op de burcht zal hij staan, met al zijn wachters. Goud zal het regenen in de straten. Zij had mij gegrepen, en trok mij naar haar kamer om me als een paard te beteugelen. Aan het eind van de rit was ik niets meer dan één van de vele hobbelpaarden. Ze had een kamer in de woestijn. Ik wachtte op de gele vlinder die langs zou komen. Hij greep me. Hij was mijn bodyguard.

In mijn vechtschool bracht ik centaurs onder. Zij zouden allen vlinders worden. Een heel leger van vlinders zou er opstaan. Maar ik zakte meer en meer ineen, totdat een piano mij vond. De piano was te berijden. Het werd mijn paard. Ik werd de ruiter. De piano nam mij mee over de woestijn, daar waar geen hond door kon komen, volgende het pad van de gele vlinder. Ik kwam aan in het Virgose Amerika, waar ik in het vrijheidsbeeld ging wonen, een beeld met een doodskop. Ik rees mijn zwaard en viel, zo diep, dat ik in het indiaanse deel terecht kwam. Hier waren drie doodskoppen, drie indiaanse opperhoofden. Zij werden aangeraakt door de gele vlinder, en kwamen tot leven. Zij hoorden het geluid van mijn piano, en werden gelukkig. Zij zouden regeren. De pit van Mars was een thee der liefde, die alle monden liet branden. Izu had van die thee gedronken, en sindsdien brandde zijn mond. Hij was de Attis van de insectenwereld.

Zij reden op motors, van een futuristische apocalypse. Goud zou het nu regenen, want koning Midas zou terugkomen. De man van Mercurius hield een zwaard op mij gericht, en een drietand, en ik zakte weg. Dit hier was het rijk van Neptunus, de zeegod, die zoveel nimfendochters had. Deze draak van een man heerste niet alleen over de zee, maar ook over Virgo, en ik ging naar hem voor hulp. Deze tovenaars gaf mij drie brandende stenen. Ik kon zijn geluid horen in de verte. Zij dragen het eeuwig vuur van genezing. En die genezing was alleen in het vele licht wat werd afgegeven, door het zwavel binnenin, eeuwig zwavel, onverwoestbaar. Ik werd warm van binnen. Het Griekenland was een vlies hier, en ik gleed dieper in de tempel. Ik was in de maag van de draak. Ik werd uiteengescheurd, alles werd dun en lang, totdat ik het geheim zag, vastgehouden door twee bokkenwachters, twee bokkengeesten, als de ark van licht, en het licht was een illusie, wat het geketende boek versluisde, en dit boek was slechts de sleutel tot de bibliotheek, de boekenwinkel, waar al het kwaad geschiedde. Ik las de boeken van de hemel, en zag de hel. Wie zou de dochters van Neptunus bevrijden? De gele vlinder zou het doen. Ik gooide één van mijn zwavelstenen door de ruit van de antieke boekenwinkel, en de winkel was in vlammen. De tweede zwavelsteen gooide ik door de ruiten van de bakkerij, en de derde steen slikte ik in, en stierf. Niemand kon mij nu nog vinden, alleen de gele vlinder.

De dochters van Neptunus stonden voor mij, allemaal nimfen. Ze hadden tere gezichtjes. Ik legde mijn handen op hen, en maakte ze vrij. De gele vlinder was een sleutel in mij. Zij waren de vlammen in mijn hart. De draak nam mij op, en schonk mij het gas. Ik was de achtste man van Mercurius.

Mijn vechtschool ontving het Venus, de brandende zonnetepel, de poort tot Izu, en de vlinders waren in de stad. Het zou sneeuwen nu, en zij hadden hun eigen webben. Het eeuwige zwavel was een trots van genezing. En ik wilde Izu kennen. Ik was de boogschutter. Er waren bosbranden overal, en de zwarte gaten werden zichtbaar. En Izu nam het over van de Horus, en deze werd het stuur van de motor. Zijn lichaam was een brandende tong. Het orakel van de tong had hen allemaal tezamen gebracht. Zoete banaantjes lagen op een schaal, en de kunsten van chocola werden zichtbaar. 'Breng mij nu het drop op een schaal,' sprak de gele vlinder. En snel kwamen de nimfen van Neptunus met hun schalen. De bibliotheek werd bovenop mijn vechtschool geplaatst. We hadden nu een doel. Het gevecht moet gecombineerd worden met oude wijsheid. Mercurius was als een beschonkene. Hij waggelde, en viel. De vissers kwamen op, uit de diepe waters waar ze waren verdronken, en gooiden hun netten weer uit. Ik rende de trap op, en riep om mijn moeder. Zij stond daar bovenaan de trap, maar het was een roltrap, en die ging met volle kracht naar beneden en niet naar boven. De gele vlinder nam mij op en bracht mij naar haar. De fluisteraars van het heelal moesten mij hebben. Zij stuurden een tweede man op mij af. Hij had zijn havens hier, zijn scheepswerven, zijn woningbouw. Ik rende door de straten. Het huis van de gele vlinder stond hier niet meer. Ik keek naar de daken. De vleermuizen en de raven waren verdwenen. Ik raakte in paniek. Hij was de vlinder van het trauma, de naaldenprikker. Ik bloedde. Ik viel op de grond, en de vlinder nam mij op, de grote anti-vlinder.

Ditmaal redde mijn moeder mij, en nam mij naar mijn pleegmoeder, de koningin van de luipaarden. De grote anti-vlinder wist ons echter te vinden, maar het water begon te golven, en werd woest op hem. Zijn schip verging. En deze piraat had een grote geroofde schat. Wij doken de schat op en brachten het naar boven. Gouden tepels die chocolade melk gaven. De koe was vrij. De fluisteraars waren woedend. Nu zouden ze kabaal gaan maken. Ze stuurden een derde man op mij af, maar die was zo dronken dat die niet veel kon beginnen. Toen besloten de fluisteraars zelf te komen.

Ik kan er niet veel van navertellen. Het was het duisterste gat van mijn leven. Ze verwoesten mijn vechtschool, en de bibliotheek. In een zeegraf ging ik. Ik werd een piraat, en ik werd zelf een fluisteraar. Voor het eerst in mijn leven vertel ik het verhaal. Fluisteraars zijn vreemde insecten. Ze geven giftige melk, en maken webben. Ze verwarren de ander, omdat ze bang zijn dat iemand hun hart binnendringt. Ze zijn onnavolgbaar. Het zijn orakels. Met raadsels bewaken ze hun bruggen. Ze verscheuren alles, en bouwen het dan weer op. Alleen als de zilveren tepels vermengd zouden worden met de gouden tepels, dan zou er zuivere melk vloeien, maar de fluisteraars hielden dezen altijd gescheiden. Ik maakte daar verandering in. Ik was zelf nu een fluisteraar en werd al snel de koning der fluisteraars. Zij hadden een oor wat doof was. Maar de zilver-gouden tepels waren hun oren nu. Zij waren luisteraars nu. Ook konden zij zien met deze tepels. Daarvoor waren zij blind. Waarom hielden ze altijd het goud en zilver gescheiden ? Omdat ze mij wilden opwekken, de rode vlinder. Die zou alleen maar door angst en woede opgewekt kunnen worden. Ik was de Nemesis.

The Key of Marazanta

Skeleton

Chapter 1. The Elephant Queen

Tara from Rhodes, she stood before the skeleton-king. He was laughing, mocking her. She was chained, two black skeletons having her in a tight grip. They were stronger than ten black lions at the same time. Sweat came from Tara's face. 'Wait till you meet the emperor,' the king roared. An enormous panther was appearing, coming down from a huge stairway.

Tara fell down, like she had been struck. The panther had red rays coming from his eyes penetrating her skin. Tara was shrieking. 'Wikzilius,' the king said. 'Bring this lady to the skeleton-emperor.' The panther took her on his back, spread his wings and flew away. In a huge forest the emperor lived. The thinnest skeletons were his guards, and they were also pretty tall, although some of them were short.

'Can I call you mocking jerk,' Tara said, when she stood finally before a laughing skeleton-emperor. The skeleton grasped her head, then pushed her to the ground. 'You can call me whatever you want,' he said.

Tara had lost her consciousness by the push and woke up in a dungeon. She had to eat strange food. She was almost hallucinating. In a distance she could see red glowing stones. In her prison she met Davilir, a woman. 'Have you heard of the emperor's sword,' the woman asked. 'I know where it is, and it will get us out if we get it.'

There was also a man in the prison. Also very confused. 'Help me,' he said all the time, laying his hands on Tara. Tara kicked him away. 'Look, I cannot help you, bastard,' she shouted. In the night Tara could dig a hole under the door. The ground was pretty soft. She escaped. She ran outside into the forest.

After a few hours she came to a sorcerers house, close to the desert. It was a bare wilderness here. The man spoke to her about the skeleton winds. 'What is that,' Tara asked. 'I have no time for superstitious games.' The man looked like he wanted something from her. Tara grasped her sword from behind her back and beheaded him. She lived in his house for several days and then moved on.

There was one force bigger than the skeleton-emperor. It was the God and the Goddess of the skeletons. They grasped her tight as by winds, and brought her to a temple. Meanlooking skeleton-priests were laughing at her. They showed her a rose completely made of meat. 'That's how you will end up,' they said. Then they led her to a place where trees of meat grew. They showed her a box close to the trees where women and men lived. As soon as the red rays fell on them they turned into skeletons, and a blue ray made them look like humans. They seemed to live in skeleton love. They all lived in this box as friends. 'These are the chosen ones, Tara,' a skeleton said. 'And you have to serve them. Let me lead you to the mill where you will become a rose of meat.' The skeleton grasped her. There was another box, close to the other. He pushed her inside. Sharp objects came out of the walls wanting to rip her apart. The box became smaller and smaller. Tara took her sword, and could hit some objects away, but they fell on the ground, and moved towards her very slowly. The box became transparent, and Tara could see another box coming closer, a black box, in which it's prisoners fought against each other. It was the box of skeleton hate. Black radiation came forward from the box causing death. It was silent all of a sudden, and the prisoners slowly turned into skeletons. Suddenly Tara hit the ceiling of her box, which was coming closer and closer to her. There was a huge hole now, and she could easily climb out. 'Well done,' a skeleton said. 'You are skilled.'

They took her and pushed her in the hole of a rock. Powers of the skeleton came over her. Inside she raised her sword and started roaring. Then she fell asleep. Soft angels took her up in the hole of the rock, towards the top. 'Bring her to the seven winds of skeleton,' one of them said. They brought her to a cloud, where she was as a baby. Seven winds started to possess her, and raised her up. She was in a cocoon. Tara was reborn in the sky. She had now the powers of skeleton, being a skeleton moderator, which had equipped her with the skeleton fire, an object by which she could boot skeletons. The second item was the black field, an artifact by which she could kill masses of skeletons at the same time. She got a vehicle, and of course she caused a lot of hell, for she had been repressed by the skeletons for such a long time. And she had the red fields to wake up the lost skeletons, a blue ray to make them look like humans, and a white ray to make them look like flowers.

She started her moderating works, while the seven winds of skeleton moved through her. It was like a sword in her hand. It made her like a goddess, having survey over so much communication. She had an all-seeing eye now, and she was like it's prophetess. However she got lost in the wildernesses of this cyberspace of death. There were powers she did not know anything about. It was all like an optical illusion. She heard someone laughing. A skeleton came closer, with a high hat and tall grey hair. 'What a deal,' he said, 'you serving the illusions we made. But the best vehicles are the crashed vehicles, for they will go through the walls of skeleton.'

'What are you talking about,' Tara screamed, and tried her buttons on him. But it didn't work. 'Which powers do you have which I do not have,' she asked him desperately.

'Sword of the emperor,' the skeleton with the hat and the long grey hair said. Tara realized that it was the second time that she had underestimated someone. She bowed her head. There was something like glass around this skeleton. She couldn't begin much against it. A strange fire was tearing her down. She wished she had listened more to this woman called Davilir.

There was a war in cyberspace, the skeleton cyberspace, the one of death. It was Tara and her ghosts against another army. In this battle she met Davilir again, who could tell much more to her now. She actually had found the sword of the emperor already, so she could be of good use. The sword of the emperor showed them that it was all a game. It was some sort of a joystick, with many more powers. The joystick looked like meat, all coming forth from a skeleton. It was like the fruit of death. There were game masters living inside, ghosts. They had powers to lead them in the war. They could win the game with them. It was indeed a temple. The items were sacred, only to be used by priestly hands. The joystick was in the middle of the temple. She was staring at the joystick, while skeletoncraft was flowing into her body. A woman named Yasmine told her about the skeleton gnosis, as the power beyond all things. Tara was more and more getting stuck in a labyrinth, the unknown. She didn't know anything of the things happening to her, and it was like she was dying, leading her to hell. She was realizing that it was just the fact that something unknown was being her hell, and that understanding would lead to enlightenment. Or did she need a greater endarkenment. She found herself in a cocoon of mint. She was covered by cocos, surrounded by monkeys. She saw Yasmine holding a injection-needle. 'You,' Tara said. 'What are you doing to me. Feeding me drugs or something, keeping me in your fluids. I feel so weak.'

'Dream,' Yasmine said. 'It's good for you.' Tara was sliding away. She didn't indeed understand all these powers. She felt cold. She was floating in a skeleton temple, where all the dimensions were shifting, where the skeleton gnosis looked like a pillar of salt. 'I want wisdom, I want knowledge,' Tara whispered. 'I want to have some stamina in this quicksand labyrinth. I'm drowning.' Tara was floating towards the joystick on top of the saltpillar, which was a lot smaller now. The joystick looked like a golden sword, the sword of the emperor. Tara grasped and missed, like the sword was transparent, transcendental, beyond her senses. Yasmine started to laugh. Tara asked who she was, and why she was laughing.

'I'm not laughing, Tara,' Yasmine said. 'You just experience it as laughing, for your vibrations are changing. You have a projected image of me in your head which is now changing, because you are shifting as well.' Small moneys were around the salt pillar. It was getting smaller and smaller, and the joystick became denser and denser, and finally Tara could grasp it. More monkeys seemed to surround her, and she was like in a virtual jungle all of a sudden, in bright sunlights. 'It is not the sun, Tara,' Yasmine said. 'It is the Safra, the central soft spot of the universe.' Learn about the tides of the safra, the safrarises and the safrasets. It is not the play between day and night, but between the soft and the hard.

'Where am I ?' Tara asked. 'I feel so soft, it's like I can breath for the first time in my life. I'm flexible more than ever.'

‘You are queen of the monkeys now, Tara,’ Yasmine said. ‘I am queen of the elephants.’

‘What is the use of this ?’ Tara asked. ‘Am I a more powerful moderator now in this skeleton world ?’

‘Yes,’ Yasmine said. ‘And one day you will be queen of elephants, like me. You need it to survive here, and to come deeper into the skeleton gnosis, the hidden knowledge.’

‘Who are you ?’ Tara asked.

‘I am your guard,’ Yasmine said.

Chapter 2. The Black Triangle

After a few years Tara was indeed a queen of elephants, like Yasmine was. There was living a burning triangle in her now, called the eye of the elephant. It had made her powerful like never before in this world. She was now indeed a guard of the skeleton gnosis. Yasmine was proud of her. Together they could boot a lot of skeletons, and soon they were a feared duo. But hackers brought them down, and soon they were prisoners on a pirate ship. The skeleton-chief stared at them.

‘Women with powers,’ he said. He pushed them in a cage with silver frames, and soon they were sweeping above the waters. ‘Food for sharks !’ the chief shouted. Tara asked Yasmine who they were. ‘Oh,’ Yasmine said. ‘They are favored by the skeleton gods. They have special tools.’

The cage was touching the waters already, and soon there were sharks everywhere, and all sorts of unknown fishes. They looked hungry. Suddenly the floor of the cage broke open, while the pirates were laughing. Tara and Yasmine slid into the depths of the sea. Tara was following Yasmine, who seemed to know the way. They swam into a cave. In the cave there was a bubble of air. Tara wondered why the fishes hadn’t bitten them. ‘No, Tara, it is a trick,’ Yasmine said. ‘We are in a safe shapeshifting moderator-field. They have found us.’

throne here, totally dead. Close to him there was an ark, with fire coming from it. Tasmine stepped in the ark, and Tara followed. They were in an elevator now, going deeper. It led them to a white room. Bright white objects were lying on a table. 'These are the new tools,' Yasmine said.

'What are they ?' Tara asked.

'Tools of the fall,' Yasmine said.

'The fall ? What kind of fall,' Tara asked.

'Listen,' Yasmine said. 'The skeleton world is full of empires against empires, gods against gods, gods stealing angels, etcetera, so a fall can be of use at times.'

'I understand,' Tara said, 'so it means to escape or so.'

'Yes,' Yasmine said. 'It's storing the silver moderator powers. It means it is far beyond anything. It's pretty solid.' Tara laid her hand on an object, and fell powers streaming into her. 'Use it,' Yasmine said. Another triangle was growing into Tara, a black triangle this time. 'What is it,' Tara asked.

'Skeleton time,' Yasmine said. 'It can shapeshift anything.' Tara felt like she was winged. Suddenly they were both in the sky. They could see the clouds below them. They had more survey now than ever before, and the triangle produced a fluid like paint by which they could shapeshift everything. 'Build a new world, Tara,' Yasmine said. 'This is why I am here. I am frozen. I miss a heartflame, and the battle between fire and ice is not going to help. This is why I led you to the safra, the center of the universe. In the other spheres the sun is the center, and it causes eternal battles between light and darkness, fire and ice. But here there is a battle between soft and hard, and that will bring up the key, awakening the deeper flames. I am dying, Tara, please help. You are the only one who can do that.'

'Why am I so special,' Tara asked.

'Because you have the soft key inside,' Yasmine said.

Tara's head was in a skeleton temple, slowly spinning around, while the skeleton who had beheaded her was staring at it. She was in delirium, she was dreaming. The skeleton enjoyed the pretty colours. It was like a lullaby displaying in his skull. Tara was in the jungle and got attacked from behind by this skeleton. The vision had been granted by Soms, her god. She was aware of it. He only seemed to help her when she really needed it, like a death after dying. She thought about the black triangle, the skeleton time, blew upon it, in the hope that things would shift back. She turned around, and saw the skeleton attacking her from behind, and raised her shield to block him, then she beheaded him.

She thought maybe the skeleton time could do some more, as time had made a mess on Mars. Faces were surrounding her, while she was blowing on the black triangle again. Mars was not a prisoner of the sun anymore. It came in another orbit, around the central soft spot, the safra. A flame was in Tara's hand, and she was remembering Yasmine. 'Yasmine, this is for you,' she whispered soft.

The Bones of Traxmarut

Tara was walking on a path through the jungle. Suddenly she was surrounded by spears. Soldiers were watching her, soldiers of a strange sort. They took her to their queen, the queen of Salvabridge. 'What are you doing in our place ?' the queen asked. The soldiers looked confused, as if they were under her spell.

'Since when is it your place,' said Tara. 'The jungle is of no one.'

'You can take a bet on it is mine,' said the queen. 'Soldiers, throw her in the crocodile dungeon !' she shouted. 'What a bliss,' thought Tara. 'I'm at least not killed.'

In the dungeon there were some dead crocodiles. Soon Tara was eating their flesh, savage as she was. But she felt like she was going insane by it. She heard laughing outside of the dungeon. Soldiers were watching her. 'The meat is poisoned,' they said.

'Bastards,' Tara whispered. She knew she would survive this poison. She had been poisoned before, but her body was always strong enough to survive.

After a while she had to appear before the queen again. 'There is something about you so strong,' said the queen. Suddenly Tara grasped a many-pointed blade-knife of a soldier, and attacked the queen. Soon she had the queen in a strangling grip, and then beheaded her. 'No one rules the jungle !' Tara shouted. Snakes were gliding close to Tara, and soldiers began to run away.

'Cowards,' she whispered. A man in golden clothes stood close to Tara. 'You will pay for this,' he said. Man-eating plants came forward, but they didn't harm Tara. They started to eat the man, who started to scream. It seemed Tara had broken a huge curse. 'The skull of Neveroth !' the man screamed. 'It will make you pay !'

Tara didn't know what he meant. Soon the man was dead. Monkeys were surrounding the dead body, but then they joined Tara. It was like all the animals had approved of her actions. The palace was already a ruin. Tara went to a room behind the place of the throne. There was a green skull on a small pillar. An old man sat close to it. 'What is it ?' Tara asked.

'No one knows,' said the man. 'It is a strange thing.'

'Who are you ?' Tara asked.

'I am it's priest,' said the man. 'I was a captive of this queen, but she let me free in order to become a priest of this skull.'

'Strange,' Tara said. The queen seemed to have mysterious powers by which she enslaved others, but she was dead now.

Suddenly the skull started to speak. Lightening and smoke came forwards from it. 'Neveroth is my name, paradise is my game. I started the tree, and made the creations breath.'

Tara and the man stepped backwards, as darkness began to come forth, and the lightening was getting brighter. 'Who has killed the queen ?' asked the skull.

'I did,' said Tara.

Thunder came forth from the pillar, and a beam struck Tara, while she could raise her shield just in time to ward it off. 'See, crazy you are,' said the pillar. 'Just that you do not rule the jungle doesn't mean you can kill the ruler.'

'Well, for your information : She doesn't rule the jungle !' shouted Tara.

'We will see,' the pillar said. 'Now run, or I will kill you.'

'I won't run for anyone !' shouted Tara. 'Miserable creatures like you I despise.'

'You do not know with which powers you are messing,' said the pillar. 'There is only one ruler, dead or alive. You cannot kill her soul. You only killed her body. It was a wrong put in the game, for now she ... hahaha.'

Tara came close to the pillar, then struck it by the many-pointed blade-knife, but she almost became electrocuted and was thrown on the ground by the mysterious power.

'Now, do not touch it,' said the pillar. 'You might hurt yourself.'

'Who are you,' asked Tara.

'I am the skull of Neveroth, the skull of a warrior,' the skull spoke. 'I have seen the seven seas of death, the tragedies of hell, and the traps of the gods. I am the blood-god of Israel, the keeper of it's veils. And she was my goddess.'

'You know what,' said Tara. 'You are just confused.' Then she struck the pillar again, at the root of the skull, and again she was thrown to the floor.

'Give it up, Tara,' said the skull. 'You will never break through.'

'Never,' said Tara, and struck the skull again. This time it was giving light, and broke off. A flood started to come through it's mouth. 'Not smart,' the skull said. Tara had to run now, as there was water everywhere, and it didn't seem to stop. Soon she was swimming. She didn't know where the old man was. 'The curse of Neveroth is on you !' roared the skull.

'I am drowning !' shouted the skull. 'You have broken my cup !' Tara swam to the highest tree of the jungle, where she would be safe. She climbed very high. Some monkeys were following her. One of them had the skull in his hands, although the skull didn't have light anymore. It was all dark. 'Throw it away,' said Tara to the monkey. The monkey did, and the skull was sinking soon enough. It took a while before the water was lowering again. When all the water was gone after a long time. There was somewhere a deep hole in the ground close to the ruin. Tara went down in the pit. She found the skull there in front of a realm of cages underground. The cages were full of children. Tara worked her way through the cages and came in an open place where sacrificial items were. Some priests stood at the other side of the place. 'Did Neveroth send you here ?' they asked.

Tara didn't say anything. Suddenly she grasped her blade and beheaded them. Panthers came forward and started to lick her. It seemed that nature was on her side. But soon more and more priests came. 'The wrath of Neveroth is on her !' a priest with a high headcover shouted. It seemed like the highpriest. He had jewelry all over. Soon she was surrounded by spears. 'Throw her in the fire !' the man shouted. They grasped her, and took her blade away. But some of the panthers started to jump on the men, and Tara could run away. From one man she had taken his spear. She went deeper into the place, until she came in a chamber where veiled women were.

'What have you done to the children,' Tara spoke. The women didn't speak, but looked confused. She went behind some veils and came in a deep cave where black panthers were. A skeleton started to laugh. 'You should never have come here, woman, you are trapped,' he said. Tara started to become dizzy. Black huge eyes stared at her, like a white monster. 'Grasp her,' the skeleton said.

'No, I can't,' the white monster said. 'She is the queen of the jungle.'

'She isn't, now grasp her !' shouted the skeleton.

'That the rain of the gods may destroy you, woman,' the skeleton shouted, while huge gems started to fall down on Tara. She got hit so hard on the head that she lost consciousness. She woke up in a white place. Panthers were all around her. The white monster was staring at her.

'Where is the skeleton ?' asked Tara.

'He is dead,' said the white monster. 'I killed him.'

'Thank you,' said Tara. 'Where are the children ?'

'In the cages,' said the white monster, 'prepared for sacrifice.'

'To what ?' asked Tara. But the white monster didn't answer.

'There is no one like you,' said the monster. 'You are beautiful.'

'How do you know ?' Tara asked.

'My master said : one day there will come a woman, the queen of the jungle, and she will ask for the savage children and the animals, to set them free,' said the white monster. 'Me and my master lived in captivity. My master was killed after he revealed about the queen of the jungle. He described you, and you perfectly fit the description.'

'Where are we ?' Tara asked.

'In my palace,' said the white monster. Tara looked around her, and inbetween the white pillars there was an open space with a pond of crocodiles. 'My powers grow more each day,' said the white monster.

'What do you know about Neveroth ?' asked Tara.

'Not much,' said the white monster. 'Just that he is our breath, and that he can take it away.'

Suddenly Tara had the feeling she couldn't breath. Soon she fell down.

'Now Tara,' the white monster said. 'Neveroth is never wrong. Some say that maybe, but I will show you.' After awhile Tara could breath again, and he led her to a white hall. An enormous skull was in the hall, as the skull of a giant, and it was the skull of a monster. 'This is my father,' said the white monster. 'He is impersonated a lot. Now you are not going to believe what I am about to say, but this skull is the ruler of blood. It drains and gives. It pumps.'

It was like the skull was breathing and pumping like a heart.

'Then why is your father not rooting the priesthood out who keep these animals and children imprisoned ?' Tara asked.

'Because the priests of my father stole his bones, and they used it to generate a false skull,' said the white monster.

'Where are these bones ?' Tara asked.

'I don't know,' said the white monster. 'But my father is fading. The skull is perishing. If it has dried out completely, we will not breath anymore and die.'

'Abarath is the one ... the priest who stole the bones,' said the white monster. The white monster led Tara to the cages again. There were white tall dogs walking around there with strange spots. Tara was struck with terror and became very exhausted all of a sudden. The white monster took her back to the palace where she started to get all sorts of nightmares. She was sweating a lot, and the white monster held her all the time.

'Tell me more about Abarath,' whispered Tara.

The white monster became like intoxicated, like drunk, and his black eyes became white, and his skin grey. 'I can't Tara,' he said.

'Do it !' shouted Tara. 'I need to know or he will kill us all !'

'He is a witch,' said the white monster, 'a bad witch, a religious witch. He calls himself the Traxmarut, the Christ, and children have to be sacrificed to him. He steals them, then takes them to the underground. 'He's a butcher, also calling himself the king of swords, or Lord of the swords.'

Tara fell asleep again and had even worse nightmares, until she woke up screaming. 'Bring me to the cages,' said Tara. The white monster took her up, and led her to the cages. She grasped a dog, and a wrestling started. Tara tore the flesh of the dog apart, while other dogs were starting to attack her. 'Do you want to know where the key is !' Tara shouted. 'It's in the heart of these dogs !' Again she tore the flesh of these dogs apart, while she got terribly bitten. 'Take me away !' she suddenly screamed to the white monster. The white monster grasped her, but there were money dogs who had put their teeth in her flesh and didn't want to let her go. It was like she was bleeding to death.

'I see Traxmarut !' shouted Tara. 'The one who is guarding the Gate of Death ! I am dying ! I see his golden coffin with the red covering and the golden cross on it ! I see him !' Suddenly the dogs let her go, barked and ran away. The white monster had come closer to the white palace with her.

'They can't stand the white palace, as there is Neveroth's real skull. They fear it,' said the white monster.

'The bones are in Traxmarut's coffin !' shouted Tara. 'It is somewhere in a church, a cathedral.'

'Below the cages, there is a cathedral,' said the white monster.

'Then let us go there,' Tara said.

'The dogs will eat you,' said the white monster.

'Then we go with the skull of your father !' shouted Tara.

The white monster ended up putting pieces of the skull of his father in Tara's armor, because the giant skull was much too big to take it with them.

The dogs were crying when they saw Tara. They started to melt away, while the white monster led Tara to the cathedral. It was exactly how she saw it in her hallucinations of death. She went inside in search for the golden coffin, which she found in a deeper chamber. A ghost came up from the coffin, saying : 'Who touches these bones inside, will die,' while it was also written in the air. There were rings at the sides of the coffin, golden rings, which kept the coffin covered by a golden plate which was covered by a red covering.

'You cannot open the coffin Tara, you will die,' said the ghost. 'You don't know with which powers you are playing.'

'You are religious scum !' shouted Tara. Suddenly the whole place was in fire, and Tara had to run out of the cathedral. 'It's killing me !' she shouted. The white monster took her to the palace again, where he quenched the fire totally. 'I cannot do this. These powers are too strong,' said Tara.

'Then we will all die,' said the white monster.

'What can we do ?' Tara asked.

'Ask my father,' said the white monster. Together they approached the skull again. 'Father,' said the white monster. Tara wanted to ask you a question.

'I already know what she wants to know,' said the skull. 'And there is only one solution. She has to enter through my nose holes, and enter the chamber deep inside my skull, where the powder of intoxication is in a white coffin. It is the powder of time. She has to smear it on her face and on her body, and go back to the cathedral to get the bones. If she will not be back here with the bones in short time, she will die.'

Tara climbed on the skull her way up to the nose-holes, and went inside where she found the chamber a while later. When she went inside and tried to open the coffin, a white ghost stood there. When she put on the powder she was suddenly in a shock and very paranoid. She suddenly didn't trust the skull anymore, but on the other hand she knew that if the skull had spoken the truth, she needed to be fast now. She ran outside to go back to the cathedral. She ran towards the chamber with the golden coffin, and could open it very easily. When she touched the bones, nothing happened. She took the bones with her. They were not that big. When she came back to the skull, the skull was very mad. 'They have shrunk my bones !' he shouted. 'Bring them in my chamber.' The skull then wanted the bones to be put in the white coffin.

When Tara had reached the coffin and put the bones into it, she suddenly fell backwards, where the floor opened itself, and she slid into a deep, tall pit, where she ended in a dungeon. 'There is no escape from anyone,' roared the skull. 'I have my bones back, and look where it is leading us. Now you are locked up in me forever. I do not know how to get you out from there. Tara was surrounded by strange moving bars.

'Father,' said the white monster, 'maybe you have missed a link.'

But the skull didn't speak anymore. Tara came into a deep sleep. The skull was fading more and more, and started to lose its density. When Tara woke up the skull had completely disappeared, and she was free. 'Maybe your father is finally free,' said Tara. The white monster nodded. When they went to the place of the cages, it didn't exist anymore. They hoped the children were finally free as well.

The Harper's Tale

Death Fiction

'Light is a secret. How does it exist ? It is a hormone,' said Doctor Uzaki. Now they lived in hell since the atomic war they needed some light, as their monkeys were dying. 'They need light,' Doctor Uzaki said. They were in a dark capsule, sinking deeper into hell. The capsule was getting darker and darker. Suddenly someone blasted a piece out of the wall. It was Derenjen, a warrior. There was some light now. The Doctor and his daughter stepped out with the monkeys. 'Welcome to hell,' said Derenjen. 'Can you explain to us how we can breed the light hormone, as the monkeys really need it,' the doctor said. Derenjen told them to come with him. He led them into a cave with spiders and snakes. Some spiders were very big. Behind the cave there were some bigger caves, and here it was like an arena. Giant insects were fighting against giant snakes, while they started to produce much sweat caught into big kettles. These kettles were connected to big tubes leading the mixed sweat into a breeding of strange eggs. Derenjen said that whenever these eggs get in touch with the mixed sweat they open up after awhile bringing forth rare sorts of flies carrying the light hormones. Everyone got smeared by the light hormone, to become true citizens of hell, to be assured of a perpetual flow of hell's stamina. Now they would produce these light hormones by themselves.

Doctor Uzaki and his daughter took a bath in these hormones to get full possession of it, but awhile later they got killed. Only some of the monkeys could escape. One of them was not a real monkey, but had a monkey-suit. He worked in a circus, but now, by the atomic war, he was here, in hell and it seemed more needed to happen to become an eternal inhabitant of hell His name was Darrel, although some called him Dan. He thought it was kind of strange that they had to be smeared by the light hormone. He went to the caves again, and hoped that no one would see him here. Again he went to the breeding and this time he took the hormones to swallow it This seemed to work. He now knew that to be smeared by it was just a trap. He felt the lights moving through him, making him a true citizen of hell, like a big rebirth. He could smell the snakeslime now, and could watch all the hairs of the spiders It was like he was coming alive now, and he took a deep breath. But then he got killed by Derenjen who attacked him from behind. Derenjen smiled as no one knew the true way to get born into eternity. Derenjen felt like he was the father of hell, as he had invented this hormone. The wrong applications always led to death, and he seemed to be the only one who knew about the true application So he was the ruler and prince of hell But one day, strangely enough, he got killed by a giant black like snake. It was a sort of a seasnake, with very complex patterns. Derenjen knew nothing about the knowledge of these snakes, and it seemed they only bred him for this purpose : to die.

Deeper in hell there were the lights of illusion, spreading illusions to everyone coming closer. So many visitors who came to hell once in their lives started to belief that they were the kings and emperors, all to find out that they had been deceived. Hell didn't accept visitors, only inhabitants. The snakes of the depths of hell could shapeshift into women, and also the wasps, the spiders and the flies could do that. They were the hybrids of hell, and they battled for the first place. They were all hungry for domination.

They knew the secret of true light. It was the knowing that they were true inhabitants of hell And this knowing had been tested, even in the kettles of ignorance and oblivion. The inhabitants of life were easy to deal with, but it seemed the inhabitants of death were quite difficult. And Bombaya, the true prince of hell, feared the prince of death, as he was very strong. The prince of death had a series of old indian masks who were very powerfull, so powerfull that they were able to deceive the prince of hell at times, and it brought fear to the prince of hell, much fear. There was so much mystery around the domains of death, and it was such a riddle, that one day the prince of hell gave up all hope.

The prince of death was a fly, knowing a lot about the technology of death, and as he was growing he more and more started to steal parts of hell to turn it into death. This was how the domains of death were growing more and more, and there wasn't anyone who could do anything about that. One day the prince of death took the prince of hell as a prisoner to the realms of death, while armies of death flies started to eat the lights of hell away. Hell was now nothing more but an island. Death was roaring against hell, and took so many lives in one day. Death had it's dungeons, and the prince of hell started to burn in a strange fire. It was the day hell turned into a woman again, a dark woman of death, eating the last lights of hell, like the flaming pigs. Hell was now nothing more but a pigbreeding, while death grew more and more, and it's blossom was covering everything. Nothing could shriek more than these pigs, these flames of illusion, these deceiving lights, until the spears of death finally quenched all life.

The dark woman of death became the woman of the prince of death, but it only lasted for a day, as they got into a horrible fight. The prince of death tore her into many pieces, but they all grew into women again, dark women of death, coming against him. And thus the prince made them as the hours of death, threehundredthousand hours of death, as that is how long every day in the domains of death take, and in his fight against them he had torn them into minutes and seconds, like armies of dark dark women of death, more than can be counted, as an eternal graveyard for the prince of death. He lives deep, the prince of death, and he is their table, he is their bed, and their heart

And there it's ticking full of rage, full of fear and grief He is depressed, this prince, feeling rejected but he is the prince of death

No one can follow him when he speaks, he speaks like the riddle he is a vampire like a skeleton he rises every day, to rule the domains of death, and when he goes to sleep, a small lullaby is with him He doesn't love this lullaby, as she keeps him imprisoned when he sleeps He only loves death He's a criminal, a thief, taking away lives, he rules them all, by deceiving lights These lights are dark like the lights of flies

His name is David, by a strange religion of death he has chained them all. His chains are snakes like worms, striped by the pale, when he touches you it is too late. Once I was caught in his kingdom, in his garden of snakes I tried to find my way. He told me his name is Joseph when he sleeps, his name is Jesus when he dreams. There are black demons in his tree, hiding the hidden meat. It's the kingdom of death, the kingdom of meat, always full of grief. I tried to lighten him up by my harp, but he almost pierced me by a spear, so I ran away, to hide in his tree. Now he tells everywhere where he comes I am a black snake, a black demon. I am hiding forbidden fruits, but it's a hidden fruit It seems he doesn't like me

By a strange religion he has chained them all, he has eaten hell away, but still he scares them, telling about the death within death for me it's a road to escape How many times did he kill me, I do not know It seems I always come alive again in this strange place I'm a strange striped snake, striped by the pale

Still David is my secret obsession The white is rippling on my skin, turning the red into pink. I close my eyes when I think of him, I'm in my dungeon, still with the harper's play, maybe he will take me back another day Maybe he will open my eyes Maybe he will take away my fear

It's a strange hormone of light, the death within death, where the deepest death ends in the flame It is like overdeath, carrying the blossom of light, so pale to see all the other sights and the surveys of the seas I know he will kill him soon, the prince of the sea But that's another diamond, another skeleton, another warfeather.

I will tell you how that will be he skins him, tying his skeleton to his ship and then the sea will disappear in a deeper flame This can only happen in eternal death where time has faded away, and everything is frozen awakening by the deeper flame The deeper flame of eternal death is sliding across the snares of my harp I know I can awaken them all

I still remember his three faces David, Joseph, Jesus Three chiefs of indians Three old indian masks Three warhammers Three stinging flies Your Troll Saviour

Brown flowers

These bridges are made of brown flowers, Bridges between you and me ...
Where do they lead ?
When I look at you, I fade away,
When I think of you, I let you slide away,
This is how I grasp my bow,
But I never reach it ...

I cannot reach anything, and I think this is only the beginning, Then I find myself weeping in the brown flowerfields,
The echo I cannot catch,
It is too fast,
I am dying here, at the coasts of red flowerfields,
The brown flowers pushed me in the rivers,
They are strong and lush,
In the rivers I have to make my living ...
Only in the brown night,
One night in many years,
I can be in the brown flowerfields, These bridges between you and me

Brown Flowers II

The elven arrow went through the window, Struck the girl in her heart,
And now she is full of flowers,
These flowers are brown, my dear,
They traveled through the wind,
Through pastures and forests, Until they saw her ...

The elven arrow struck her hard,
It was deep, we saw her falling,
She was so drunk then,
What kind of juices is she drinking,
She was struck by the elven arrow, Struck by something greater than her,
It took her up and painted the sun in her face,
That sun still sinking in the jungle river,
The sun of monkeys,
A dark one ...
Quenching all the lights

The elven arrow took her over the bridges, Into the dark night,
To brown flowerfields,
Where she stands like a statue ...
So many waves coming over her,
Her mind is now brandnew ...

the whore of babylon

These horrortales in a row, like horses, like bow and arrow, like the thunder whisper it rises in my mind, while it speaks everything is in fire, and no one understands, for the horror has struck and everything bends, i gave my life away i gave my destiny, and now this baby rises from her grave to destroy the horrorless life in me, no one can strike me like she does, no one can rise like she does, the whore of it all, the harlot two-faced in her fall, the greatest horrortale of all, the greatest horrortale of all, she's sucking the life out of me, to lay her eggs of destiny, deep inside my dream, these horrtales they come alive, showing so much pride, in primeval destiny she rides, on her horse with her bow, the arrow will show them all, there was no life in me, only a horortale to bring them all down on their knees, the whore of babylon, the whore of babylon destiny cries

Many horrortales in my bottle today, it brings me through the week, it brings me through the year, strange vibes are rising into me, like sea of death it's strengling me, my baby's coming home to me, my baby's coming to me, on her bow she has sweet destiny, the horse's pride, all these babies ride, on horses so high in deep delight, this destiny cries Horror is rising, horror is rising, bringing them all on their knees, the greatest horrortale has come, coded in their destinies, coded in their destinies

sandman go to sleep

As the creatures rising from the pits of horrortales, They will not spare a life, for they will bring the thrill, of the life beyond the sea, this horrortale will bring them on their knees, like the lullaby strikes, letting all these sandmen sleep, sandman go to sleep tonight the horror rises, arrows on my bow, rise in delight, don't spare a life, don't spare a soul, bring them to the cinema of the great great horrorshow, as the horror rises this ornament's friend is with me, can't you see, his tales are rising, coming from his legacy, tonight when horror rises, my ornament's with me, horror rise, horror rise, let the horrorless life fall down on it's knee, we need these horrors to survive can't you see, from this horrorless life, this horrorless life, so tonight the horrors rise, my ornament's with me, so horror rise, horror rise The bottles are filled with horror tales, like bags of meat like waspnests, torn open to show it's grief, it will bring you on your knees, it will bring you on your knees Tonight, from depths of hell the horror will rise, to fulfill the land with destiny, to fulfill the land with destiny, it's full of rage, it's full of screams, it makes you scream, this devil let's you believe in him, like jack comes from the box, like peter pan fades again, bringin you all on your knees, celebrate the life, celebrate the horror, the lovers' tale, celebrate love, the whore of babylon is coming to thee

Horror Night

From the pits of horror a dark creature's rising, energy is rising like the softest milk, making love to hundreds and thousands, to millions to fulfill the thrill, the whore of babylon is rising, the whore of babylon, no need to escape, she will find you everywhere, this whore of babylon, she doesn't know how to end. Tonight the killerwhale will rise, so many bottles of horrortales, the shark has survived your last arrow, and now he rises in you, to eat your tail, he eats your heart away, in horror he rises, soldiers come to take your soul away, it is the evil night, it is the ornamental pride, of a satan who has lost his ways, since the horrorless life struck he died. Tonight the killerwhale will rise, for it is horror night, the horror tale comes to quench the last light, the whore of babylon is on your way, she will reach your house, like billie jean she steals your soul away Tonight the horrortale will rise, like sweet milk she will stream, like softness she will agree to all what you did to me, Tonight the horrortale will rise to put you in your right, it was just a horrortale to me, just a horrortale to me Lights are spouting loud, the horrortale of ages has begun, Now she wanders through the night to search for a soul to slay, Tonight the horror rides, it wanders through your soul, the great slaughter has begun, like apocalypse's day Tonight the horror rises, black and red bottles on the street, spouting their fires, raising up their energies, to do the strike, this army will bring everyone on their knees, for the greater horrortales will come, to finally bring destiny, the road to hell has begun.
Tonight the horror strikes, the fire has begun to flow, like the last destiny, she will slay you all, tonight the horror rises, only a tale of lovers fighting, it's not real at all, it's only a good good carnival, to forget about these pains you brought to me, this horrortale will set me free, of the horrorless life you brought to me, you bored me, but now you will agree, this greater horrortale brought you on your knees, just a story between you and me, nothing more, nothing less, today you will beg for more, but there won't be, for it's horror night, something strange between you and me, coming from a pit deeper than hell, these horrortales will set us free, this horrible between you and me, reached it through the thrillergates below the depths of hell, but first i had to see the horror of heaven, before i could bleed like this, this blue blood of horror, i'm dying deeper, into the pits of horror where i will be seed.

As you glide through my sheets, with all your fluids, you snake, taking away my destiny, in change for a horrortale, riding me, a sweeter destiny, is growing into me As you glide through my blankets, coming over me, the snake of destiny, a killerbite, my soul descends to hell in pride, to take a dive, into the deeper seas of horror, where all seemed to be a lie

Tonight the ornament will rise, this lovers' bite, between my sheets a snake slides, turning around my destiny, she's coming from a deeper pit, through the gates of a thriller she came, through the gate of a thriller she leaves, i am save, nothing seems to hurt me anymore, until the horrortale descends on my inner shores, rippling like a wet dream in me, all these coiling fires and energies coming over me, bright lights shatter my sights and surveys, all the pictures in my head need to hide, as i feel sick she undresses me, i feel so naked, but she comes like a warm blanket over me, to heal me in my faith, there's nothing like her bible anymore, until she breaks me on the shore, a greater horrortale begins

She has been sent out by a greenblack lie, a strange horrorlullaby, She has been sent to me by a strange greenblack horrorlie, to be a strange black horrorlullaby, descend with me into the green, to burn our sheets, to disappear in the wilderness of our dreams There is grace in your wilderness as you descend over me, your lights and fires seem to kill me, your lightening strikes me, whenever i feel sick and dead you're coming over me, to heal me by a greater horroream instead

I'm coming alive

Tonight the ornament will rise in destiny, the thrillers will come alive, these roaring destinies, the wild cats will come out of their graves, to strike the records of my mind, it's bringing me sweet destiny, i'm coming alive

Angelic lie

Thrillers in my mind, coming alive, all these beasts from revelation, coming out of their pits of horror, to show the horror of the ages, the thrillers of heaven descend, the angelic lie, rising in my bed, like a horrortale it's striking me instead

I will agree

Thrillers with their cold blood in bottles, feeding me, raising me, to show the horrors of heaven, in greater destinies, coming from the pits deeper than hell, a great story to tell, so scare them all, and let them fall, from heaven, into the deepest pits of horror, i will agree

Horrors of heaven

As the horrors bring the tears into the skies, As the horrors will sail like the greatest ships through our minds, They will slay them all, They will let them all fall, into eternal damnation to come alive, to watch the deeper pits of horror, these horrors of heaven coming alive These archangels you worship are the greatest horrortales, coming from the pits deeper than eternal damnation, in a horrorbottle they dwell, they keep your soul alive, to keep it in heaven's slavery, a horror night, the whore of babylon and her delights, i warned you, but you didn't listen to me. This mini-disc will eat your soul, for heaven has reached your shore, coming to take life away from you, by angelic lies they march over thee, bind their lies, and throw them in the pits of hell, let horror come over them to dwell in them, let them drink from the bottles of hell Tonight the ornament is rising, so many tales to tell, while no one believes them, while no one believes them, for horror will tell, and when the wasps come to eat their flesh they still won't tell, that they believe in this horror, they only believe in hell That's their fate, that is the horror of this day, their heaven is a hell, and they forget about the horrortale, and they fade away, in the horrorless life, what a waste

Tonight the horrortale will rise, coming after me, these horrortales will come after me, all these lions and these beast will hunt after me, until they have struck me deep, to open all these bottles deep inside of me, to let me return home Tonight the ornament will rise, taking me away, the ornament will rise, rise in destiny, and all these thrillers come alive to take my soul away, deeper in the grave, deeper into eternal damnation, to reach for the horror skies, to finally be set free from lies, but the horrors of heaven will come over me, to show me there's a deeper sense inside of me, this sense of horror, they took it away from me, but now i'm free, this horrorless life cannot get me. These thrillertrees rise in me, These horrortrees giving their fruits, to let me die in deeper destiny, to finally become free from the horrors of life, but greater horrors of life will get me, fallen away from grace, they will bring me again on my knees, but their hells cannot take me again, i'm now in thriller's destiny, this greater horrortale, is finally saving me, to bring me through the lion's eye, this desperate night, between you and me, it was all a lie, all a lie

Tonight the ornament will ride, to spread it's lovers' tales, in horror he will raise his bow with the arrows of destiny, he will pierce so deep into the fragility of your soul, to set you free, finally free, through everlasting damnation we reach the horrortree, a good story to read When the thrillers come out of their caves, they bring the horrors with me, to plant their seeds between you and me

Horror Book of the Dead

As I was wandering through the realms of the dead, and had eaten from the treasures of hell, i finally came to horror-city, where all dreams end. In the abyss i encountered beast worse than my nightmares, but compared to horror-city these beasts were but confused babies. Yes, I took the thrillertrain, an ornament of death, to penetrate deep into this city, hoping it would take away my pain. As I found the ornaments of suffering, the horrortales, these lokogamen they took my life away, like an egg of the alien i was, becoming a member of the greatest city beyond death, a new life started. And I found out death was just a strange train with strange passengers, and this train it failed too much, finally bringing you through the hellgate. But you see hell was just also a strange strange tale of someone who drunk too much, for everything will finally end in horrorcity, where you just find out you were a part of the greatest horrortale. Tonight the ornament will rise, the great great horrortale, this tallest thinnest snake, taking you away. He'll show you death was just a silly train and hell was just a bridge to a greater horrortale, a seat in the cinema, the horrortale will start. As I was wandering through the city of the dead, a greater tale was taking me to the horror city instead. On wings she came, she was an ornament to me, I was sinking down deep into her mystery. her wings were full of fire, while she screamed to me : hell was just a lie, just the carriage of horror city. It was just a waitingroom for something greater. I know who God is, he's a writer of thrillers, of horrortales creeping beyond our minds. I know who God is an excellent writer. Who develops all these pains in us ? It's the horrorwriter, the horrorwriter. All these ornaments of pain deep inside of me, these thriller records leading me to the desperate night to finally become free. Voices in my head, it's the thriller record, birds bleeding in their falls, going down to horror city, going down for their relief, this hell is a strange train, this hell is a strange record, where are we going to, to the city of our relief, so come all my babies, and watch the screen, between you and me, the horrortale will break the window, will break the window, between you and me. Finally I can have you in my arms, finally I can sleep, not knowing that you are a greater horrortale, destroying all my dreams ... Can't we just going to the abyss of horror, this city is strengling me ... The lullabies of horror, will finally take me to their dens high on the hills, to their dens high on their rocks, deep inside their caves there's light coming over me, to wash all the pain of yesterday away, only to make place for a greater tear, the well of destiny, it was your tear, you bore with you for so many years, but now we're free. So don't you cry my baby, it was just all a story. These beasts are all our friends, bringing us to higher glory. Can you come with me, or do you feel sad today, it's okay, then we will flee, and go the other direction. Don't you cry, my baby, we were all part of a tale, we were all part of a cinema, higher on the hills. A place higher than heaven, this horror city lives between you and me, a silent cry, like slavery, it's dying everyday, until we follow her, to hear her voice, and bring her to a destiny, a head to live in, displaying all her tales, to have a saviour who will lead us out, and then the horror will begin. So don't you cry my baby, don't you cry again, for it's just a story, a cinema, deep inside of you, my friend, can you hold my hand, a minute, i will wash away your tears, i am the prophet of the horrortale, i will lead you all to the city of your dreams. Listen to me, as I play the piano in your head, always soothing you at the ends of every story, drinking from the tear instead, so many sources swelling up in you, to bring a new story for me and you. Please believe me, there is no escape from this cinema, there is no escape, my lily queen, no escape from this dream, between you and me, you have to belief it's the best this way, so don't have grief, i know what i am doing, i know what i will do, so don't you cry anymore my little princess tomorrow will take you to it's shore, tomorrow will show you the green wet lights, these horrors will fade away, in a tranquilizing night. So come with me, let us make our tents here, to watch the skies of thriller stars, so thrill me, take away my pain by your tales, don't let this destiny slide away. Watch me now, my lily queen, and don't turn away, I will lead you to the morningtale of a dream so far away. This land is big, we can do anything we want to, no need to escape, no need to jump away. Come my child, I know no pencil can describe what happened to you, but the horrorwriter can do. Come my child, there is an ornament of light for you, the story of your life, a horrortale between me and you. So come my child, do not have fear, there is a way out of this misery, the horrorwriter will do, but if you don't like stories, there's nothing I can do for you. These thrillers, still strange saviours, stranger than Jesus Christ, are you thrilled when you see them, they're going to take you away, to save you by a strange strange pain, the pain of a horrortale. So come my child, let this bible be your delight, this horror bible comes to take your soul away in the night. In a soulbottle you will live, but it's better than the life you live now. Oh, horror, take me away, this horrortale is saving me from the day. Tonight the ornament will strike, to chase the lights of the day away, this desperate nightmare will fade away. Behold, the morningmare will ride to pierce your soul and take you away, for another ride, ending in the deepest night. And on the bottom of your grief you'll find another tale, this ornament of suffering, it brings you through the day. Behold the evil of the horror will take your light away, and end up all the fights between darkness and light, between hell and heaven, this arena will fade away. Let me take you to another arena, my dear, it's the platform of a horrortale, quenching the present horrortale of heaven and hell, there's no escape. Tonight the horror of a greater tale will rise, to shatter the nightmare, to bring you to another arena, where thrillers dance in the night. When the thrillers dance there's no escape, they're taking your light away, to find a deeper tale. Tonight the ornament will rise to find you in your deepest grave, it's coming over thee, like a tranquilizing light, taking you away, to the next station of death, with it's own horrortales. Tonight the ornament will rise, the waves of thrillers come your way, howling in the night, like wolves searching for prey. So can we rise the standard high, to ride the thrillerwaves, to find the horror in the skies. These horses can be tamed your ornament will rise, so come with me today, to search for the perfect lovertales. So when your spear pierces me my horrortale will rise, to let me escape with an other horrortale to your surprise. These wars deep in the night my ornament sais to me, is to escape the lie of monogamy. Monogamy, just a strange train to a horrorless life. But what if to live without horror is the greatest horrortale of all. How long does this movie takes, it already had to stop, but it's still running you see. Is there a scratch in our record, can you tell me, or is this neverending horrortale descending into me. There is no escape when the horror strikes.

Horror Healing

You think you escaped from your prison only to find out that you have entered a worse prison. When I escaped the prison called thriller, i had entered a place worse than thriller, hell and all my previous experiences. This place was called horror, but soon i found out, these strange pains were healing me. These are strange pains to love me, strange tears to set me free. This horrorplace is healing me in a strange way, horror healing, horror takes my pain away by a stranger pain.

The Horrorless

The thriller takes me away, to finally washes me in horror. The thriller takes me away, to a greater healing to a greater pain, these strange tears are leading me to the exit of this place, of this horror, this prison, to encounter the horrorless, i wished i would have stayed. there is no escape, i cannot return to where i came from, the horrorless is eating me, horror won't you save me, horror won't you take me away, there is no lover like you. Horror lover, whore of babylon, taking my soul away, to let the horrorless fade away. She is faithful like any whore would be, but she's just a fairytale, a fantasy, when the horrorless has taken your soul away.

Oh the horror to be in horrorless life, to be bored forever, all by a lie. Oh the horrorless will take your soul away, when you come to it's den, there is no escape. Oh the horror of the horrorless will stay with us forever, there is no escape. Oh, the horror of a horrorless life will stalk us everyday, to take all our happiness away. What can we do when the horrorless took our soul away, when we're living the same life day by day, isn't that the greatest horrortale of all, it's the whore of babylon in carnival. Pray you will miss this day, but she never answers prayers. Tonight the ornament will rise to show the greatest jokes of ages, the horrorless will strike, the horrorless will strike. Tonight you have to pray that you will miss this train, but the horrorless will strike anyway. The horrorless will strike, this greatest horrortale. To find a horrorless life in a horrortale, the greatest horrortale. Tonight the horrorless will strike, thrillers will come out of their graves, these wildest cats will try to make you save. But then the horror won't show up, she will be always too late, to let you meet this greatest horrortale.

All these thrillers they are weapons, writing in the fight, but they won't bring delight, when all these souls are dying, they're only bringing stranger pains taking them away, taking them away, to a strange thriller prayer on the mountains of a horror's grave. We are in horror paradise, in horror heaven, with these horror prayers surrounding us, wolves come out for prey, what if this horror dies, then the horrorless will take it away. The gun of horror is a spoiling fairytale when the horrorless will arrive.

Lullabies of Horror

Oh sweet horrortale, your fire doesn't eat me away, your ice doesn't freeze me, in your arms I am safe. In the ice of horror i feel warm because of you. In the night I'm not afraid anymore, for you are so close to me, oh horrortale, you set me free. In the night when the wolves are howling she's coming to me, to show me the flame of delight, tearing away my night. Yes, she comes to me, like the horrortale she descends into me, always with me, her rose is not stinging me, only setting me free, she's never hurting me, so please stay with me, oh horrortale. In the night she raises me high, to be in tall delights, these ornaments of suffering are so close to me. Perpetual horrors and thrillers in the night, she's bringing sweetness to me, in tall delights, like the elevator to the horror's symphony, these taller lights, chasing away the sounds of the previous nights. Wolves are howling when the ornaments of horror come to me : all these tranquilizing sweetnesses descending into me.

Iris

In the wind, I see this child, locked up behind so many broken dreams, she cannot find her way anymore, Yes, in the wind, I cry another tear, for this child she's coming so near, but I cannot give her grip, She is lost in a horror tale, she is lost in a tragedy, While I am here, tied by my own destiny. Can you hear me, oh sweet child, can you watch me smiling,

It's okay, I can handle it all, although we have to say goodbye, for I will fall away again,

And you will be so lonely again. Iris, can't you see me, I can only hold you in my dream,

I can only wipe your tear away deep down in my fantasy, Iris, but one day, this horrortale will let us free

Marlous

Saw a girl in broken destiny, her mind was shattered by a strange strange fairytale, it appeared to be a masked masked horrortale. Marlous, but one day you will smile again, one day we will be happy again, but now you have to agree, this strange strange fairytale is bringing us much grief. Marlous, your words soft and tender, Marlous, but do you remember the days we were together, before you had been struck by this tragedy. Marlous one day we will return again to that place, where you sang your song, where you wrote that letter, that horrortale which will set us free, Marlous, don't you remember all what you gave to me.

Someone's playing in my head, I get dizzy, is it another fairytale, or just a broken butterfly spreading another horroream. Broken butterfly, fallen away, now bathing in strange sweetness, depressions found their way to open your secret cases.

I'm wanting to save all my babies, but someone has struck me, and now I'm gliding into a deeper horrortale. So many horrortales as a fragile bridge bringing you to me. You could not save me, I could not save you, but these horrortales made a way.

Watch the river flow, watch the river grow, there's a new day, cannot leave the horror, it's wandering through my mind, like a long lost lover, Watch the rivers flow, these destinies, watch these rivers grow, between you and me, cannot leave the horror, it's wandering through my mind, like the long lost lover, having a shelter for us, in which we can hide, for these days will soon be over, and these rivers turn into fire again, so let us love the horror she will keep us safe, and she will understand

The Butterfly Question

Here I stand, sat here for a long day, now I'm here on my legs, not a mermaid anymore, touched by the kiss and the thrill of an ethereal prince of silent skill, like letters were his roses he spouted them into my nights. Here I stand, lost my tail, my big mouth, had to sell it in change for his embrace, like a prostitute of nowhere he escaped while I was searching for my waste. Should have told him who I was, the mermaid's touch, a cold embrace, turning into fire the other day, still descending into the echo of every new day, spouting like he did before, speaking like his neverending home and shore, still like the whore, still like so many questions, cannot find his last answer to this surprise of mother's delight, a mermaid's butterfly's day. Cannot find the key, cannot find my speech, cannot find the fruit of dying so deep ... Gave my life before, lay dead on your shore, you found me, you watched my face and granted it some mermaid's destiny ... you were so in love with those glitters of my eyes ... stirred up by the lullaby, of a black day, but I was dying in your arms, blood was flowing out of my eyes and hands, like a weak butterfly I lied in the sand, speaking in another sense, by the wind in your hair, fragile snares of forgotten lullabies ... Why did you commit suicide ... Now we cannot find each other anymore for you went to heaven, and I went to hell but our embrace did tell ... we lost so many of our faces Why did you drink the poison from my heart ... this bottle of the ages of war tearing us apart, only the gods will know, they have sent you to heaven, me to hell this story I will tell, maybe you will visit me there, outside of your shell ... Come on, and die again with me, to escape with me, outside this shell of destiny, come on, and give us another chance ... Slowly marching, like the underground, things are heavy, I gave my life but now I'm old and young at the same time, footsteps in hell, breathing like the watering spell ... of a mermaid deep inside of me ... Slowly marching, my heartbeat in me ... decided to die again in this destiny ... Why do I have to live here, without you, deep inside the mermaid speaks in me ... I am a cocoon, I am in a cocoon ... forgetting about all what you did to me ...

Hide

As I'm sliding into your dreamy morning embrace of sleepy magic eyes I unfold myself by dying into your mysteries, layer by layer, until I reach your shivering fleeces waiting in extasy for my penetrating dive inside to catch your echo in the distance, a song you could not understand, that's why you always had to hide ... Hide, my dear, my lily queen, hide away in extasy I will follow you, the delightful flame of roses coming like a flash, leaving so many traces of wondering, guessing how will this all end ...

Lips of the Rose

When the night almost falls, the fire of roses is descending like a blanket covering the borders of the sea, while calypso is ascending in you and me, telling stories and tales, under a soft embrace, your lips run fast, it's killing me, while softness flows like icecream, i believe in this destiny, of a pink hand making me understand, all these butterflies in me, with their lights of roses, making me drunk, making me stir up my extasy. Will not close this door again, while these creatures of light sand are coming over me, like the tall embrace, the distances are fading away before my face. Can you wait a little longer, these lights are getting stronger, until the flash of a rose, descending into these morning streams, taking all the dreams away. We must not lose grip while we dive, these sands in the oceans, make us understand. So many letters from space, in atmospherea it has it's place, telling so many stories in the language of the soul, the language of this embrace.

Past

Trust me I have to die, when this killerwhale comes I must take the dive, to bear this cross, I will survive, sweet deaths like heat is coming to the surface of my mind, an echo from so long ago, embracing me in delight. Can you tell me about this river flowing through me, can you tell me about these feelings I have for you, why can't I play with these riddles you plant into my soul, they stand like frozen soldiers blooming in the snow, not hearing what I say, not seeing what I show them, it's no time to play ... They drum the killerdrums on sundaymornings, hit the skulls on saturdays, but the rest of the week they're sleeping.

Kiss me goodbye these days are over, you must find your own way now. Roses will follow you every morning, find your footsteps in the snow, for it will freeze between us, until all the suns have died out. Can't you see the love has turned into hate again, we can better stop our conversations for they never end. Don't come to me anymore, I will fly away, to find a new shore, go say I'm a whore, go say I'm a picture of a magazine or a crazy sexmachine.

Killer-Icecream

Twinkling eyes, flirting dress so fragile, fading away when someone comes near, I pray, one day you will totally disappear, you sweetness of Tantalos, killer-icecream.

No sugartales

Watch me now, roses watching, can I have you in my arms, or does it sound too sensual baby, growing from a tall pit where the roots of roses dwell, watching all the mornings coming, throwing in them all they have, throwing in them all their spells. Watch me now, roses watching, can I have you in my arms, or does it sound too dreamy, growing from a tall dark pit, having no lovers, no roots of roses, having no babies, no sugartales.

Sad Day

The moon is shifting before my eyes, can feel her breath her lover's desire, I'm diving away instead, through the walls my spirit leaves, like the tattoo melting away after a day of grief.

I have found the rose of a purple fire, of a purple colour shifting in desire, like a sensitive ray piercing my mind to let my conscience ejaculate. I'm raising the edges of my coat higher, while the rose is ascending along the glassy wall, an ejaculation from a million years ago, still reaching for my mind, like the hunter of no delight. No stories to tell, no babies to sell, no creativity, only a spear to open the last well. As I hear the strange voices in the distance, screaming my name, like lovers of the golden rose, of yellow rose waters, watering like the killer embrace. Why do they make me soft after a day of hardness of no trace, why do they let me follow my own shadows after the deep descending embrace, cut away from it's source, bleeding purple colours from a strange storybook, all roses disappeared.

Powers of Yesterday

In these ethereal worlds, in these etherian minds of the rose, a black horse belgian prince laid down inside, with his bow, his arrows and his enemies, watch his cocoon, this rose is growing pale, yes, further than he wanted to, he's now an officer in states of dreams. Like the prince of the etherian, the chief of a thousand mornings, breaking through, like that old black horse he loved, he's now following you. He got all it takes to conquer you, but now he is a shadow fading away, too fragile to believe in himself, to fragile to believe the powers of yesterday.

Nothingness

Got the belgian prince within my sight, a trembling beauty, full of fear, full of scars behind the feathers of his jacket, so unwise. Got the belgian prince almost eating from my hand, come near, come close, you lullaby, and don't shatter away in all these lies. Like a myriad of ethereal princes following your eternal smile, the smile of hundred roses walking all in line, for you, and it's true, they're not intend to do the things like you, keep your mouth shut all these years, no thought will leave from all these fears. And still, you're gliding through the years, with your bow and arrows of silence, sweet voices no one hears, like the sound of someone disappearing, sliding back to the sea, he was nothing in the eyes of you and me. Now put on your clothes, put on your seals, put on these destinies, between you and me, to escape once again, to slide away once again, to the seas of our dreams. I can hear you coming like the rain ticking in my conscience. I can hear the message of a dream of thousand years ago, maybe longer ago, cannot see it brightly. Can I hold these tears, and sliding back to all those years the sea brought to me on the wave of myriads of quivering roses. Can I dive along these streams, my spirit won't die anymore, for I reached the shore behind the nightmare, roaring like the perpetual destiny. Like the onion-flower, I grasped this tear away from you, you couldn't bear. My soul won't die anymore, for the arrow reached the shore of all my sensitivity to pierce it once again, and all these trauma butterflies between you and me, have shattered all our bones, we couldn't rise up again, to only lie in misery, poverty, a world of hiding sweetness opening up to you and me.

Belgian Grin

Softly he is bowing his head, he has no friends, for no one understands. He's on his own, the tears leave when he cries. No one wants to be his home, and I'm standing there, watching from the mountain of my pride. Come with me, have pride when you're with me, there is nothing to hide, my flames will find you. Come with me, I have seen your tears, I am your Jesus of the Rose, crucified in your fears. He watched my trembling hand when I met him, He could destroy me in a flash as he was the memory, like a lion's rose he stood erect, watching my ... Jesusian Pride with strange delight, no one wants to be with him, in fear that he devours them. Come with me, have some pride, I will give you all you need. Come with me, this Jesus of the Rose has interest in you, fly away with me. As he showed his back I didn't see any wings, but he could fly like the melody, a tingling dream. All the girls of the lower streams wanted to have a ride with him, this amazing sight. Can I help you, dear sir, you have grown so tall, but you have lost your dreadful lion's rose, can I help you in, this lover's tale will bring you all you need, inside this belgian grin.

Wild Rose

Jesusian Lions coming over me, making me so dreadful, making me without any grin, still the girls want to have a ride with me, for the Lion's Rose is their dreamy destiny, side by side, they flow inside of me. Can I help you, ma'am, can I brush your shoes, or tearing your clothes for this wild rose descending into you.

The Rose's Strike

I'm the one who plays with destiny, I'm the one who plays with grief, like the virtues of a wild rose, deep down inside of me. I'm the one playing with life and death, hell and heaven, and still I'm not scared. Challenge me, in this ring of love, watch the wild rose coming over you, stigmatizing your lover's bite. Scars and trauma's, play with me, come outside your dens, and throw it all over me, Rivers of Hell, Suns of Heaven, come over me, I am the kettle of your dreams. Strange invocations, challenge the gods to fight, their titles are a rose's destiny. Their marks to doubt, go, wrestle with them, go to Pniel's Rose Paradise. These arena's are good for your soul to grow to develop your lovebite to develop your rose's strike.

Jesusian Rose

Jesusian Rose, so traumatic, his mental cross is bending under the illusive weight of this strange magnetic snow, like I cannot touch this button, for it's behind this mental knife show, displaying the lights of roses, they don't want you to enter the fight. I can smell the odors of crashed bones, so I drink another cup of Tea, it's torturing me, like there's no escape, but the roses defend me, with their licorice alarms, with their nectar smiles, all is good and well, young sailor, are you ready for the night. This tenderness I never felt before, for my mother was a whore, and my father was a racecarman, he never reached my home.

Daylight Friend

She bites me, now I have a mark, fragile streams of the rose slide inside me, like the slime of roses waters stolen away from the dens of snakes. It's ejaculating in my head, my conscience weeps, it never ends, it's trembling like the soul of a flower. Then she bites me lower, now I have another mark, growing like the shell, like a strange scar underwater. My visions are drowning here, my feelings shiver again, now I have a rubber stripe to protect me when my views bend. It rises like a plastic wall, melting until rose's catch it's smile, in a red solar roses rain, vanity takes place. What did you do, now I'm bound forever, you were great in science, great in school. Carrying the pink lights through the rose's bridges to the shores of the yellow captains of narcissus and dreams, can I sink some deeper, penetrating your dreams, descending in your sentimental prides like the lost toyprince I decide to ripple all these layers of your mind as a switchboard to reflect my pride. No one will believe you, no one will be sensitive to your tears, for only me, the toyprince will provide a good temple for all these years. Girl do you really believe it has to be like this, that a trauma prince rides his horse this way, we're doing the ritual once again, until a lost saviour like Peter Pan takes us away, to a colder embrace, to a distance kiss, to the silence of all these years. I wasn't ready for this, but my father taught me, it has to be this way, so I bring it into the puzzle, these soft white hairy lies I will turn them around until they find their destiny, all these minds of lust and desire will tumble away.

Sympathy

These roses are freezing, dying, can't you do anything ? No, it has to be this way, as father told us, please stay in silence. But then, can I pray ? No, for father doesn't believe in prayer, you must give it away. Then I'll turn to the elders of my church, saying your father is a liar, he drinks and sleeps with foul women, and sends the beggars away. Please, can I be an officer, can I change the records of your mind, like an ethereal prince I will find you, bleeding in the night. I have nothing to say anymore. These words are too high to reach your shore. Oh, captain please, don't take this misery away. I have to give it to my mother when she prays. These words are not for you, my son. I'm wondering if you will ever learn. So I went to the elders again, and I asked : Can I be your Peter Pan, I can teach you to fly to certain stations no one understands. But they locked me up, saying I'm like my mother crying. There's nothing to complain, I just have to reach higher. Now I'm still dying in this grave, no mothers, no fathers, they're all gone in their houses. No one believes in me while they pray, and father still doesn't believe in anything but you, it has to be this way, it has to be your way, please just stay in silence, but then : Can I just pray ? No prayer for the dying, no prayer for the dead. For father doesn't believe in them, he only believes in his bottle and his bed. Well father, can you send me some of your women, and some of your beer, can you make me forget this nonsense, and all of these tears. No, it has to be this way, as father told us, shut up, and stay in silence, while he prays to his bottle, while he prays to his bed with all his foul, foul women. It's better that you stay out of this.

Jesus

Hear the rose's roar, she's in her den, with a thousand princes carrying her dress, shattered like the butterfly in tranquilizing lights. I close my eyes, I cannot see, but still you're watching over me. Hear her roar, she's lying at the feet of the cross kissing the feet of the Jesusian Rose dying there, washing his sandals by her tears. No one can wash this heart of mine, it's too far gone, it's foul like the rose's order, like purple flowers along dirty rivers. Can't believe the mystery, when the rose said : die. Can't believe she pulled me through the mud and all the chaos. It's like she's creating a different world. This lion's rose is attacking me to bite me again to initiate me in myriads of mysteries. But I don't believe in temples, don't believe in the things I cannot see. Yes, I am an atheist, born from a rose, but not interested in her religious grief. Jesus was an atheist, He didn't believe in all these strange religions and spells, heavens and hells. Jesus was an atheist, following an atheist god, a god of non belief. Jesus was an anarchist, didn't believe in ruling romans or pharisees. Jesus was my heart bleeding by all this religious crap you threw over me, like I was the rubbishbin, a rose's trauma. Jesus was against your monogamy and montheism. He was the rose's prostitute, making the beggars rich by poverty. Jesus was our all-dying heart, pierced by religion and politics. No, he was an anarchist and an atheist, not believing in this crap between you and me. He was the rose's prostitute. He was the harlot of the sandal smile, descending into the sands of all these ages of faul crap, the rubbishbin of an atheistic god. He believed in an anti-god, a molested idea, believing in you and me, while our rose was rising again, sweeping and washing away all the misery. She's drying his pierced feet by her hair, this rose's delight is everywhere. She can't believe his blood was streaming, for it was all running inside.

The Cave of the Lion's Rose Lights

Lion's Roses in the fields of your heart. My soul slides further, this sight is tearing me apart. I feel your coldness trying to warning me, but your desire draws me deeper, inside this snake's den, the slimy rose is calling, hidden under carcasses and mud, like in a strange cocoon she's dying, but coldness is also my shield. These terrible odors break my mind, these terrible odors take away my pride. Lion's Roses in the fields of your heart. My soul slides further, while the fear is tearing me apart. Then it's like I cannot think anymore, like the heart of my mind has stopped beating. Then death jumps over me as a fragile blanket of nightshifts and butterflies. I'm dying deeper into the cave of the Lion's Rose Lights, the cave of the Lion's Rose Lights, the cave of the Lion's Rose Lights. Your lips frozen, your nipples are swollen, while the milk of death is streaming, like the spiderweb descending, I come over you, in terrible fears, for lightening has struck you, I'm in butterfly's grave. This is the end of me and you. Lights of roses ripple along the slimy spiderthreads. They're wet and flirting like the underwater morning threat. As I glide deeper it just terrorizes my mind, like the trauma is coming through to end the fight. She's now the princess of a blue fairytale, she isn't satisfied but this is all she has, like the prisoner of a shark's cave. I raise the portal of an anti-god's delight, I blow into her atheism and pride. She cannot see me, as I cannot see her, it's all in my mind. There's a creature between us, laughing, smiling, a creature between us, radiating these lovers lights, these roses lights, the Lion's Rose, is coming over me. It sets me free, and then it returns to the sea. Escape with me. To a world we cannot see.

Suddenly

Through the underworld your silent voice slides, like the whisper opening up the excitements of my mind, I've been in love before, but this is something more. Through her undercave I'm reaching for her shore, where the blossom of hell grows, foul like the indian spell. There have been pirates here, I can smell, your dirty eyes tell. Through the lovers road I reach the bridge, these coming feelings roaring in the seas, and suddenly I stop for I can't have her babies. I turn around to watch her smile, she's sitting on her knees. Then she binds my hands, and shows me she's a killerqueen. After all these nightmares I still can't be myself. Throughout the underworld she reigns, throughout the underworld she tells her tales. An optical illusion she is, descending into my memory to come through.

Waspian Fruits

On a Jupiter Chessboard we sit and die, watch and fly away, someone turns the sky, the chessboard starts to spin. Don't you realize you have to fly, or you will be a pawn again the other day. On a Jupiter Chessboard we watched the skies, where our babies died. We could not save them, for we were just pawns. But now the rose has set us free, now the Chessboard spins, a strange waspian vibration, where the mental ejaculations flow for our release, please keep distance, don't come there again, but deep inside your memory you remember where these waspian fruits flow from. He was tied to a stake of an indian embrace, it took him a hundred years to recover from this mental sting. Still he's tied there, deep down in his memory, while I can't set him free. Waspian ejaculations in the skies, I cannot save this mother dying for her child, I feel like a pawn today, but I will try it tonight. He was tied to a stake of a million years ago, cannot break the chain, cannot reach the shore. Drowning in these sentiments of a primeval lake. Someone brought me a fruit, this waspian fruit, it was penetrating my mind, descending into my pride. Now I can reach out for his love, to set him free, today. I thought I felt like a pawn, but now I feel like a snake, coiling inside a rose, rising up to die, the flowercutter's head, he's afraid and now I'm dead. But my soul finds the spiderthread leading me deeper into death, not seeking for revenge to bite the flowercutter's head, I just follow all these roses lights deep inside, guiding me to darker places, guiding me to the ghostship of all these lost ages. Don't need a future, I only need to die to travel back again, where I came from, with the lights I have found, to save this mother dying for her child. I let her drink from the waters flowing from my hands. I cannot hear her voice, but I'll make her understand. I'm giving her from the waspian fruits.

Waspian Lullaby

Like lightening she stood before me, the tall light of the rose, penetrating so many hearts, like the wasp tear, these lights broken apart. Come with me, do you agree, to enter these waspian worlds, soothing thunder, soothing heats, while cold ejaculations guide the ghostship through the seas of waspian flowers, mighty waves, roaring like the ...

S.O.S.

I was trembling on my knees, begging her to save my life, as she stood there holding her knife against my throat. It was a waspian nightmare, all these ejaculations leaving me, until her cold embrace sucked all the life out of me, this Waspian Rose, her mouth was like the threatening kiss, descending to pierce my soul, to steal my bliss. Am I in heaven or in hell, or is this just a waspian shell, like the strange roaring cocoon vibrating like a waspian ocean-spell. Her dark embrace, telling me I had died into her caves she drew me, while I couldn't hide. A strange waspian lullaby was bringing me on my knees again, please save my life.

Waspian angel

A part of me is saying it is all a lie, while another part of me says it's all real. A waspian chessboard I got from you, where would it bring me, would it bring me a new year. A lovers spell is what you said to me, I couldn't say thank you, I couldn't breathe, the heat was taking me away in soft soothing softness I lost your embrace, until the hard man struck me, I was dead for many ages, can't you see, where can I run to, to who can I go to tell what I need. All I need is just a deeper death. My senses are all broken, I do not understand. In these seas of misunderstanding I wander for so long, please take me to the waspian oceans and make me strong. I understand that only weakness opens the eye. By strength we only see illusions, and I don't know why. Can you lead me to your grave, oh waspian angel, my embrace will always guide you, will you help me to believe in you, I was taken away by a strange chessboard, but since you saved me I am here, waiting for these portals to open to swim in these waspian seas of tomorrow.

Memory

It's just a memory, sliding over me, breaking the lights of destiny, breaking the lights of tomorrow, to have me, going back to history, to primeval drums and insanity, to find the broken lights of a spider's destiny. All these chessboards they surround me, spinning like the waspian delights, but I cannot touch these, for that would bring me back into the horror night, the factory of a rose's destiny, where all the dolls come alive, to die again in strange fights.

Desert Lullaby

The silences of wasps are on my bow, I can shoot to open their barrels, where their fluids of ecstasy hide. These sounds are only breaths, taking me away, swelling up until they break away, descending tenderly in my emotional vibrations to bring my conscience in delights. I have lived behind these bars for so long, I want to find the waspian caves, the deeper caves, bringing me closer to your heart, where desertmen embrace you, their bows charged by the silences of spiders, their fluids are rising higher, to watch their killer sprays. All I can do is close my eyes and sigh. All I can do is hide away following all my tears, these threads get stronger everyday, until they are a new cave to live in, to break the desert's

Waspian Prison

I'm locked up in this waspian prison. I'm locked up in this waspian embrace, but still roses lights are descending here, while they don't belong here. All these ages I'm locked up, in this waspian cage with a strange waspian clock. All my ejaculations run away, through the fragile layers of my mind and my pride, found the broken lights of spiders today. My lights are rising up, for a gigantic seasnake found my cave, she is staring through the windows while my memory breaks ... or am I just dreaming again, a new illusion letting me believe in a new sort of god So I try to be more atheistic, or I will be sucked away into a danger worse than this waspian prayer. I have been locked up in this prayer, for these guys wanted to protect me. I have been locked up in their canon, in their endless forgiveness and grace. You can better stay with one god, the first and the last, or otherwise millions will come to tear your soul away

Waspian prayers are coming over me, for my father and mother love me. Waspian prayers floating away, for other gods come here to pray to their gods, all these ladders of the mystery, it brings me on my knees, but I will rise again, only to be your atheistic friend. Waspian portals, roars of millions of years ago, still roads to go, waspian portals overflow my memory, my spirit slides deeper to their ornamental destiny. Like the cold ejaculation of memory, it takes me deeper, all my babies show the deeper traces underneath it all. Is it me, or am I speaking like a waspian waterfall.

Nothing like Yesterday

I am looking for words to thank you, all I can do is cry, for you took away my heavy burdens by your touch and by your smile. Your path was over coals of fire, but now they are like steps of pink fire There is nothing like yesterday, there is nothing like watching you while you pray, your eyes are calming me, your soft voice is rolling over me There is nothing like yesterday, I would watch you when you prayed, but since you died I always cried since you died I always cried There's nothing like yesterday It is all so far away Come closer to me, my bird ... come closer to me to tell your tales unheard Your stories would always heal me your words would comfort me I always felt like a baby in your hands You were tender and caring full of passion, full of wisdom but it seems I cannot find you back These realms of the dead are just too big There is nothing like yesterday when you were still with me, when I watched you when you prayed, eyes so full of care, stories to take me away I am a wanderer now, waiting for the day I'll find you again, back in my arms, but where are you in these realms of the dead It's so big it overflows me, I'm always drowning, always frozen like a statue in the wind Can we only dream, to find our feather of stories back There is nothing like yesterday, when I remember you, I watch you while you pray, your eyes are calming me, your soft voice is all over me

Feathervoice

As you're sitting before your shrine, before your fireplace, I always smile so deep inside, it's such a peaceful sight, taking all my burdens away, you're the enlightenment of my heart, soothing my mind, soothing all my other parts It's okay you whisper, and then you whisper my name Finally you take me slowly away together we watch the flames, while you're telling softly your stories to me you're calming me

It's okay, you whisper, you're putting your blanket over me, and then you hold my hand, when I'm lying in bed, telling me so many stories until I fall asleep Featherplace, fireplace, coming over me, I feel your hand on my hand, you're holding me, I cannot stop the tears from falling, you take my burdens from me Featherplace, fireplace, taking all the burdens from me, you're leading me to the soft soft river ... like the lullaby you sing oh feathervoice, please take me in Your boots are soft like feathers, your dress is white and soft as snow and your eyes are brown, they're telling me, all the things I need to know feathervoice take me in, in your eyes I sink ... I'm floating away, please hold my hand, where are you please hold me, you must lead me, for I do not know the way

Depths of Your Eyes

I'm drowning in your eyes, your brown eyes, telling me stories, taking me in, so fast, so deep, I'm sliding, floating, I do not have any grip You're taking me away to my childhood where you heal me ... My eyes are watering, you stand there, like a wall of fire to protect me, like a wall of feathers to keep me soft, and the days you take like a bracelet I'm drowning in the depths of your eyes, you're telling me stories, taking me in, I'm sliding, floating, do not have any grip, you're standing there in the dungeons and the valleys of my childhood to break all the chains to quench all the flames of hate You open the doors of my cages for me, you lead me out of my caves into the fresh air filled with licorice You lead me out, I can run through many forests, I am free, and alive and you are standing behind me With a candle in your hand, you lead me out, and covers me by your blanket in my bed You're holding my hand You're making me at peace Telling me so many stories Until I fall asleep my head on your lap my head on your shoulder I'm weak and I dream

Breaking the Screen

At the coasts of Tantalus, the tragic birds arrive,
They have made a long trip across the sea, and now they have to find a place where they can sleep,
At the coasts of Tantalus, the son of a lawyer is eating icecream,
No one knows he got here to see the birds, the tragic birds of destiny, But then there's a wasp in the icecream, bathing there, while the boy starts to scream, Mister, mister, can you give another icecream to me,
No, boy, you have to take what you get, that's all I have for you today

At the coasts of Tantalus, the tragic birds arrive, doing things we do not understand, Come let me take you with them into the skies, Above the seas of Tantalus I cry,
These waves are killing me, until a greater tragedy is taking me,

At the coasts of Tantalus, my grandmother said to me : Baby, can we hide somewhere, For these Birds of Tantalus they grow inside

At the coasts of Tantalus, my baby said to me : Let's take another tale, this one is scaring me, So I brought her some icecream, and another tale to dream, will you go with me, my baby, let's fly together, across this Tantalus Sea.

Dream Escape

Baby, come with me into this rubberband dream, a liquid plastic dream, so full of tragic view. There is no other way to raise the new screen, let us escape into television, let us escape in liquid destiny's dream. baby, come with me, can I ride you like a pony, can you fly with me, my dream, can you take me away to your tragic destiny. Ladybugleather Baby can I take you away with me, can we take these plastic lover's dreams into the silent screams.

Dreamland, dreamsand, dreambeach, take me away, all these plastic lover's sands are luring me today, to their tragic beaches, tragic smiles, these lights from the purple, with ornaments so bright, beaming lights into me you've never heard of, taking you away. Dreamland, dreamsand, lover's blanket, liquid destiny, this baby's breathing, what can I do, must I hide her in a silent breath, behind silver screens to hide her views.

Dreamside baby, liquid lover's band you're growing along the sand, like the beach of yesterday, a tragic lover's tale brought you away. Dreamside baby, can you understand what I am trying to say to you, these tragic lover's tales will never end, it's your destiny to hear them all, let us both escape to the lover's tragic carnival. Dream escape, can I take you away, can you read between the lines, let us hide somewhere in sweeter pain, dream escape, can I take your ornament away for you hide too much of your tears.

Dream Escape can I take you away, can I bring you to a lover's dream in tragic Hide Away.

Hide and Seek

On a morning my destiny said to me : I've cried all these tears and you saw none of them. I was playing hide and seek, but she didn't understand, and then she flew away to a greater destiny. And I said : baby why did you leave me She said honey don't you remember We're playing Hide and Seek

Hide and Seek, like some lover's tragic destiny, I do not know the rules of it all, but I can see the glimpse of a greater carnival

Can we open all these boxes, can I hide away with you, or will we play it all together in a brandnew view Hide and Seek like a sweeter tragic point of view, we're all just playing games to do the Hide and Seek

Honey don't you remember, so many parts of me I cannot reach, maybe you can reach them, we'll do our Hide and Seek.

Why can't we just escape to have a greater survey, why can't we play our Hide and Seek. Why can't we have a better view at each other, why can't we play our Hide and Seek Hide and Seek, can I watch you from a distance, can I watch the deeper things coming out of you, we will do Hide and Seek ...

Hide and Seek can I turn your ornament around, to show me what's just deep inside of you we do our Hide and Seek Hide and Seek can I play this thing around, can I turn the screen, my baby, to watch another sweeter tragedy Can I grow into your ornament to open a deeper part of you, can I watch the streams inside your heart, reflecting you and me ... Let's run away from them, to do our Hide and Seek.

Baby I can feel your heart, it's gone awhile ago, I am your lover's friend. Maybe I must let it go ... but don't you want to play some hide and seek with me Hide and Seek, can I order some plastic loverdreams, liquid like the rubberband of destiny, let's do our hide and seek To stretch it into sweeter tragedies Don't you hide, we'll do our hide and seek

So don't you come crying in the night to me For I might be with someone else raising the liquid plastic lover's screen We do the Hide and Seek

Hide and Seek II

Can I have some time with you, my friend, I want to talk about some things you didn't understand, my love, throw your marbles away, and let us go for some other play Baby, can't you see, these tears were only hiding a greater destiny It's setting you free It's letting you play the hide and seek

Baby can't you see these ornaments so deep inside of me Let's do the hide and seek I know it sounds so tragic, but it's a sweeter tragedy than all the ones you had before You know I'm saving you out ...

Mother has always told us to give her our crowns, to sink deeper into tragic destiny, into a lover's tale of hide and seek.

Fight and Love

Like lovers underwater we are looking for other shores, like the babies roaring, underwater choirs, these songs I used to sing, these ornaments which used to rise, I see, you couldn't understand, but now I hope you see or is a tragic misunderstanding still hunting you She hunts you down, she takes your crown, she's fast and strong like the ladybugleather dream ... flowing so fast through me

Is it like the werewolf to you ? ... my friend Is it like the assassin you still love my friend Is your pirate irritating you, and then he talks so sweet Isn't that all about life's grief To play Fight and Love

Tonight the ornament will rise, in destiny These lovers underwater, searching for the destiny searching for the new game between you and me Baby can we do the Fight and Love do you want to play like the Hide and Seek it will take you away to greater destiny to sweeter tragedy Come with me, today I'm your ladybugleather dream

Fight and Love II

Like the python fire she creeps and slides through Amsterdam Her ornaments rise to play
Fight and Love

Her ornaments they look so tight and so small Melted by the Lights of so many fights But now she's rising just to play this game again of Love and Fight of Love and Fight ...

He dreams ... He sleeps She takes away his tragedies to bring sweeter tragedies to him She loves, she fights to play with his desperate lights and then she plays the tragic Hide and Seek to raise all the ornaments deep inside of him Just can we have our games just can we have our little fights by a warm warm love's light

Tragedy of the Lion's Bird

The lion's bird is sitting on my knee, Hitting my face with tragedy,
And the young bird growing there,
Like the spear of cold eternity, Haven't I told you before,
This bird is reaching for my lover's shore

The lion's bird has come to me again, tripping on my stairways, before I bend,
I try to run away, with you,
The tragedy has come, to take us all away, Turning us into brandnew

Lion's bird, has come to sit on my knee, It's scaring me, this bird has nowhere to hide, It's all a big big tragedy, slowly sliding into my mind, Lion's bird come over me

Lover's Tragedy

Friend come over me it's late,

I got a story to tell,
But you won't like my leather chains, for you to tell these days are over, Friend it's the last time,
You take this heart from me,
For from now you will take other hearts,
To lover's destiny,
It's over my friend,
Just come this last time over me,
To watch the big big tragedy

Raiser of the Lover's Grief Tragedy

In softness you will rise,
But don't you know,
This life is all about tragedy,
So go and build yourself a house,
And remember me,
For one day it will bring you through the tragedy,
But then I can't help it you see,
There will be other tragedies, Bringing you down on your knees,
Oh, but when you're willing to deceive me,
With your leather chains in me,
I'll guess you'll never see it, Got to raise this lover's grief,
Between you and me

Eternal Tragedy

I'm home again,
With you in my arms,

We have overcome the tragedy,
I'm home again, but don't you see,
There's tragedy like eternal destiny,
Another tragic destiny, a lover's destiny, It's ticking on the window this bird,
Like a ghost unheard,
My dear, it comes from history,
With so many leather chains, bringing sweet sweet tragedy, of tales unheard, of roses sweet, too sweet, raising this song today, like a sword so deep, It's only raising out of our grief,
So let's give it time,
We must use wisdom to see,
This eternal tragedy,
Embrace her dear, don't run away,
We got to accept her ways

Cruel Tragedy

Outside it's cold, but here it's warm,
For all these tragedies, coming forth from eternal love, Let just all these beggars die,
We don't need them to survive,
All these saviours in the storm, trying to take us away from sweet sweet tragedy

I'm taking you in my arms again,
Let the beggars die, my friend,
They need to have their own tragedy

I know it's cruel, I know it fades away,
For these beggars are always strong enough to take us away, Bringing us to deeper tragedy,

Like we wished we had never seen them,
Like we wished we had killed them before,
These beggar birds have now killed everything between you and me, So why did we take them in,
Were they strong enough to take our hearts to let them win, Forever they will tell the stories we used to tell,
Forever they will be between us, taking so much away from us, Until the bird of tragedy takes them away as well,
It's too late to say farewell, but tomorrow you will tell,
And I will be crying on my bed,
And I will love you instead,
These beggars were too strong for us, my friend,
Their cries in the wind still haunting my tragic destiny, Too late to say farewell, but tomorrow you will tell,
And I will be alone, to wake up alone,
To only see your letter telling me,
You are gone for eternity, It's hopeless my friend,
I've survived this lover's grief, with all the beggars you gave to me,
You cruel, cruel thing, how could I raise my children, but these weren't my children,
Just the destinies you gave to me,
Oh, cruel cruel friend, but at the end everything will bend, Into another lover's destiny, I'm out of this you see,
To find the tragic misunderstanding deep inside of me, I will forever bleed, forever will I take this destiny,
I will learn to see, this lover's knife so deep inside of me

Tragic Misunderstanding

I've learnt to sing this song after all these years,
So come back, my dear,
But you won't come back, for me it's already clear,
You want to give the tragedy to me,

For you yourself are living in an eternal grief,
I always refused to see,
But please come back to me,
Don't let me die in this grief,
I got to save us forever,
I am a saviour you see, a beggar taking away all the tragedy,
So don't let me die, I will steal away the tragedy,
Like Robin Hood, to share it to the ones poor of tragedy,
I think I got the message figured,
There was a tragic misunderstanding so smart

But all these words seem to fade away before your heart, You're cold as ice, but why are you still haunting my dreams

Blossom awakening after the lover's fight,
A night of reunion, all these faces between you and me, Like finding the hand of this old friend,
But no one will take away my tragic sight,
It helps me to come through the day,
So don't steal it away,
I need it to reach for my own shores,
Instead of your destinies,
So don't take it out of my hand, my friend,
We could always talk, even into lover's bend,
The eternal blend, but it's over my friend, it's over my friend,
You got to understand

But oh, when you're willing to deceive me,
It gets some lover's hands after all,
But I guess, you'll never see it,
I got to raise this lover's bend,
Into the grief of mystery

Oh, when you're willing to deceive me, Maybe I'll come to you again,
I guess you'll never believe it,
For you're too tragic yourself

Finally reunion, all these faces between you and me, Have finally come to an end

Wolfleather Tattoo

I'm slowly walking along the waterfall, baby breath, I found you here in a tragic carnival,
I said : Baby, can you hear me at all, we're in this tragic lullaby, it never seems to fall, It's rising up to taking our hearts away There is no escape ...
Are you my tragic lover, she asked, I said I do not know maybe Then you need to see this show she said Then she took off her clothes very slowly to show me all the scars she had
She was bleeding, having strange tattoos like strange strange cartoons like wolf's leather It's so plastic liquid, everyone could see the lights, it's like a sticker, a destiny, a sweeter tragedy ...
It was a tattoo of a rabbit a tattoo of a lullaby inside her head inside her mind
I watched my mouth was open but blood was coming out All these words spoken were just hiding tragedies like wolf's leather covering the salty skin

Like wolf's leather my baby will win to play another game of hide and seek, of fight and love
....

She bowed her head and cried for she didn't know where to hide she just wanted to be with me But I'm just a tragic destiny So I took flight To cover her with some other wolf's leather pride ...

Baby, you need to sleep you must be strong for the next tragedy the sweeter it will become, it will also bring the salt but the salt is so sexy can't you see, it's bringing us into the sweeter destiny

Minds were cold after the fight I had to slay the wolves this night Now all this wolf's leather I brought before you, my lover's queen My lover's unreachable dream But still it is a tragic sight, becoming sweeter in the night the salt is on your skin, to let sweetness come in

Ladybug's wool trousers

Got a suit of ladybug's wool, it drove the girls crazy, licking all the honey of my heart, but I had to begin from the start, so I took the wolf's leather, like a sticker on their skin, a rabbit with a feather.

Got a suit of ladybug's wool, it drove the girls wild, licking all the honey of my heart, but it started to stream through my trousers, searching for my boots underneath And now I'm still barefooted all these years

Got ladybugwool trousers, got some ladies on my side, like desperate nightmare creatures, I took them on a ride, but somehow I have to agree I prefer to be free this tragic view of me

Still I don't know who you are, you are like a tragic star

Oceans in the Night

Blue blooded waspians, with their mouths so blue,

Their ornaments so red,

It's something between me and you,

Blue blooded waspians,

The spider has been killed,

Crucified like Jesus Christ,

These girls so wild in the night ...

Blue blooded waspians, on my side again,

After such a long long time,

Blue blooded waspians,

Still my friends ...

On the wild side I hear a sound,

The blue blooded waspians are marching in ...

Blue blooded waspians,

Can you hear my voice,

Can you hear me calling,

Can you hear my oceans in the night ...

Can you hear the sounds of lovers ...

Roaming on the waves,

Roaming on the hearts of a thousand soldiers ...

Come back home ... Come back home ...

You're home

Butterwine Ballerina

In the garden I can understand, Your message to me, In the garden you are still my friend, Floating next to me, Baby, don't you understand, I'm with you also, I'm holding the sight of you, Don't you understand, our worlds are tumbling, We have lost our ways, but now we're here, watching each other while spinning around, Tumble around, ballerina, ballerina mine, get the garden going around, get the garden going around Let's spin the butterwine

Forget about me

I rubbed beer in my hair, it's dripping there, Someone got drunk and got mad at me, Now I have to pay for this adventure of mine, She wants to sail across the river, She has laid her arms around me, She wants me to see the message inside of her, But all I can do is running for her, Get the message she says, We're raising bears with beer and wine, Get the message let it flow underwater, under the table we sat down There's dripping beer from my shadow, now, It's getting full, it gets fullhouse now, I'm diving in the mystery hoping she might forget about me Every word from her mouth like roses, baby what did you drink for me, Wished you would show all these letters to me, Turn the pages of this letterbook, Grow wild, grow wise, she's only like that for one strike, She cannot fool you, baby, all she can do is tumbling down

A Childhood's Shipwreck's Poetry Another tragic point of view

A tragedy, depression, you are a beautiful woman, But you're too tragic to see, Still you are my lover after all these years, But to that you're also too tragic to agree, You still think you're lonely, you still thinking you're full of lover's grief, I guess you never see it, won't wait for you, eternal grief, But oh, when you're willing to deceive me after all, I guess you will never belief me, This is all doomed to fall You are a tragic lullaby, dresses so sweet, You are a tragic misunderstanding, walking through me, And still you say you're lonely, still you say you're full of lover's grief,

Can't you see me, I'm holding your hands after all these years, I am the Loneliness in your veins,

I am the tragic sight, another tragic lullaby I'm like you, I cannot belief, cannot see, cannot hear,

While deaf ones guard me, blind ones hide me, All I can do is cry in grief, But you, my little tragic lullaby of eternal grief, Coming to me after midnights, Like the bird ticking on my walls, I am your destiny, I will take you away, to another point of grace, Of another tragic point of view

Take the other train

Come away with me, my darling, let us hide in grief, Let us share our tragic treasures, although we do not belief, Let us try to build the tragic kingdom, my friend, To see our sandcastles will bend, in the tragedies of the sea, A tragic mystery, for us, to see, it will bring us on our knees, Finally I understand the destiny, Finally I see this tragic lullaby in me, So don't cry my friend, Just take me away, to a lover's island, but I know it will all bend, Into other things we do not understand, It's eternal tragedy taking us away, were we made for that, Or maybe I am such a tragedy myself,

Cannot be in griefless nights, for that's a bigger tragedy, What am I going to do with all these sights Still I think I didn't recognize you, still I think you were just a passenger, Passing me by, although I never could forget you, I found you on the station, My bird, I gave you some destiny, in tragic words unheard,
I have given you food, good food, but then I had to go away,
I remember your smile, the lights in your eyes, when I talked about a grief so far away,
It was like destiny's desire to take another train

Werewolf

I'm not a normal guy, I can be soft, but in the night, something's happening to me, I never told you before, I know, but please listen to me, for I will show you something of our deeper destiny, a tragedy, but it's a bridge across this sea, I can be the softest boy in the afternoon, but when the evening falls, strange things are happening to me, And in the night then a werewolf comes to me, to show me a greater destiny, Like a tragic kingdom deep inside of me

Come closer, my dear, come closer,
But then just run away from me,
For there's a wild beast deep inside my tragedy,
You once gave to me

It's a cold scream, It's a cryptic tragedy deeper inside of me, Showing up into the nights you pushed the knife in me,
I had to appear before all your judges,
But now you will have to appear before me,
In satin destiny,
My words aren't cruel, just read between the lines, turn all the pages,
But you never belief anything I try to let you see,
For you're too tragic inside, my girl,
For someone else had also put a knife so deep,
Inside of you, so deep, not knowing all the consequences,
Not knowing about it's coming griefs, Patience my little darling, for I will take the knife out of you,

Just let me be a werewolf in the night,
Trust me when I have to fight,
I'm the warrior of this tragedy,
To be softer in daylight, Strong enough to take us both away, Forgive me to play Saviour,
But I didn't have anything else to do today,
I know it's all a big big masquerade,
To cover so many tragedies, Maybe I just need to let them all float away,
To free these birds outside the cage, of all these masquerades, of all these masquerades,
I hope you love my stories, my dear, but they are all fake,
Just didn't have anything else to do today,
Maybe I am a child now, running away,
From so many misunderstandings, Got to face them today, I am a pirate on a ship not knowing how to take, these birds of so many tragedies, It's more than I can take

To be the conscience of a prince of tragedy,
To be the jester of a soul brand new,
To be the carnival coming up and then sinking away, It's all just a certain tragic point of view

Tragedy in me

I was lappossessed by your smile, hiding so many tragedies, I was lappossessed under your feet, trying to wake up my tragedies, strong enough to take you out, although you didn't belief

I was lappossessed by your smile,
And I looked up for some saviours, brought the beggars in, to give them some chairs and a table, I laid some cigarettes before them, laid some cigarettes behind them,
And I tried to take away the tragedy,
Of a long lost summer's grief

And now I'm lappossessed by your smile, Lappossessed under your feet,
Ornaments to hide, ornaments to keep me warm inside, Lappossessed in your smile,
These tragedies they jumped on me,
Like wild cats coming from a deeper destiny,
To hide this lover's grief

I was full of attention, I was full of warmth and love to you,
I was full of grace, I was full of compassion, While you were only installing the tragedy in me

Bored or Busy

I will never return to that day,
When you took my heart away,
I will never return to the grief of a long lost fantasy,
But maybe when I'm strong enough I will bend it's destiny, So please don't give up on me,
Give me a bit time,
Although it will all be, another masquerade of me,
But girl what can I do,

I'm feeling so bored today,
I just want to open some boxes,
Please let us play

I know when we were young, we used to play so much,
But now we're a bit older, we like to spend our times in these tragedies, Did we lose our minds, or did this childhood just fly away from us, I want it back, can you help me today,
Are you bored or busy

Shipwreck

I'm just a shadow of my childhood's conscience wanting to play, Don't know what to do, feeling so bored today,
I have lost my ship with all it's men and pirates and friends,
I have lost so many dreams in the waves,
After the shipwreck yesterday

On a morning I encountered the prince of all these tragedies,
He said : baby why don't you come with me,
You don't belief in anything anymore,
You don't belief because of all the lost fights before,
But let me give you another pirate-suit,
Let me take away the terror of a morning full of broken hearts, It's now afternoon, school is over, child, it's now time to play

After that Day

Since the bird took me away from Amsterdam I can only cry, baptizing myself in tragedy, a way to deal with the grief from a past I had forgotten, the primeval smile.
And my life is baptized in tragedy, I cannot leave, I love her too much, until the tragedy herself will fly away.

Oh tragedy so sweet, her lingery-string filled with purple lights, losing all her fights.
By the purple lights she stand, her face like a ghost, she never wins, For there is sweetness in her lingery-string, by the purple lights she cries, Soft tears she makes here everyday, her lips are warm and full, for the tragedy took her away

She has some sweet little dresses, since tragedy took her away,
She has some little secrets, after that day

Tantalos

Ticking on my head, ticking on my window, the clown laughs, it's a tragedy, Yesterday it was the jester bringing me on my knees,
I am the prince of jesters, the prince of tragedies,
No, won't take my throne back, oh clown,
It all doesn't matter to me, while I am so down.
I can breath again, stretch me out again, like a tall lover never touch, for tantalos is behind us.

The Cheat

Amsterdam I miss you so, but I had to go,
Now I lie on my bed, broken beerglas, Cannot do anything, only dreaming instead, It's getting softer inside, while everyone outside become harder,
Will I take revenge, or dive deeper into the tragedy, She's waiting for me, but I'm leaving her for another maid,
But still I love tragedy, although she also cheats on me

Outside the Slavery

In Amsterdam I had to work, Behind purple lights, assuring me there was some work to do,

But now the tragedy took me away, a bird of Tantalos, Putting me behind the windows behind the night,
For all to see, the tragedy so deep inside of me, I'm not a slave anymore you see,
But now they watch my destiny, Hiding all these years behind the purple curtains I have arrived,
So many words between you and me,
But it only took away my sweet sweet destiny,
So let us not talk again, but die again, in a silent scream of tragedy, It's coming to take me, like the bird of Tantalos, it arrives with me,
In new lovers tales outside the slavery.

Deeper tragedy

You only touched me once and then you left, She's the bird of Tantalos,
You once touched me, and now my hearts are bleeding, Entering a deeper tragedy,
After all these years I learned,
After all these years I cried,
So many blood is streaming out now,
All the tears I had to hide,
For the birds of Tantalos were flying, but now I have escaped, This lover's tragedy

I was a slave of weddings,
A slave of bitter misery,
But now I've come alive,
Into another tragedy of leaving everything behind,
I was a slave deep in your heart,
My heart is now crying out, to the songs I once never believed in,

Oh please, just let us hide,
After all these days are done, Until the bird of Tragedy takes us away again, into a brandnew slavery,
We can never really escape from these years, but I mold these tears and fears deep inside of me, Like the hands of my heart are speaking :
It's over now my friend, We're going to another bend.

Soon another tragedy will bend, to come deep inside of me, to show me all the lullabies of a greater grief, all these misunderstandings, growing now to show their true faces, of a world between you and me, of a marketsquare of slavery, is it my destiny, let us escape, begin a new day with me, although I can never belief, in this eternal grief, coming in circles over me

Bird of misbelief

From a martyr's heart I come, from a martyr's heart of grief, giving anything I need to bend this song of a bird's misbelief, We have missed our ways of shooting right in the middle,
So we could never die, for no one could turn the key,
Of this golden chessboard's energy

Circles of eternal grief coming over me,

August, bird of terror and tragedy,
It is a year full of growing deeper in a certain gate between you and me, I refused to see such a long time, I was bound by a bird of misbelief,
We have missed our ways of shooting right inside the night of a lover's tale too tragic for our eyes,
So we could never die in this eternal slavery,
Such a masquerade of energy, these circles riding slowly through the light of all this destiny's pride, A jester between you and me, with so many masks so many hearts taking all the breath away from me,
Such a deeper grief, letting me sink in all this misery of a heartless compromise, I can never see, for I am bound by a bird of eternal misbelief

Cinderella (sides and sights)

It might be too sexy for your eyes,
This woman with the million lights, Entering inside of me,
Like the things you cannot eat,
I am the bird of Tantalos, my friend, coming to give you all these bends of sweeter tragedies, a secret deep inside of me, showing all the ends of a slave's sad destiny

It might be too sexy for your eyes,
Too sexy to let it take away your grief,
It's a bird of Tantalos, coming to take away a lover's destiny,
All these circles of grief, will enter deeper inside of the silent scream, of a market's silent grief

Hey, cinderella, I got some boots for you today, You were barefooted for such a long time, while everything seemed to be in delay,
Let me glorify your sides and sights to let it fade away,
Into a better tragedy, taking all the life away, that was destined to live between you and me, like a bird of misplaced energy, glowing in the night,

to keep the lover's flame so bright, while all the ends of all the past glories were fading away, so take another year, take time to direct this grief, take time to let the misunderstanding bleed, take time to send the lily queens back to their dreams, take time to let the ornaments cry, to show their cities of grief, deep inside the world between you and me, it's running out of time, we need a new bag to have this destiny, of a misplaced torture's grief

To Snow White

Hey, my lady, daughter of grief,
I have caught the rainbow, have caught your misbelief,
I have caught the rain of terror, I have caught it all, have killed my sparrow, Hey, lady of the silent scream, I have heard your empty voices, I have heard the unheard dream,
I have seen your invisible leather chains deep inside of me, Hey, lady terror, hey lady dream, I forgot about all the terror you once brought to me, I have bend it's lights, have lost my fights, but now I'm back to see,
The bird of Tantalos setting you free,
The bird of Tantalos setting you free

I am the jester of a broken heart, full of songs of grief, found the apple of the tragedy deep inside of screens,
It was all a story to deceive me, it was all a story to hide a deeper grief,
No I am not your saviour, the bird of Tantalos will set you free

You, Bird of Tantalos

You bird of Tantalos, you bird to raise the screens, You bird to steal away my dreams,
You bird to install a deeper tragedy, for a deeper destiny,
All you circles in the night coming to take away my lights,
All you circles in the night of everlasting griefs,
Only to watch my screens, to forget about the tragedies inside of me, I can never find myself again, I can never find my self,
In this land of misery

You bird of Tantalos, you bird to raise the thoughts, of a marketsquare to sell all my tragic dreams,
You bird of Tantalos, you bird of silent screams,
You devastator of all my lily queens,
You bird of Tantalos, you bird of silent screams,
Can you take me again into your broken dreams,
I will try to understand you, will try to understand you,
Can I travel with you

You bird of Tantalos, you bird of misbelief,
Can I travel all the roads you fly to watch your grief,
Can I watch your screens, can I watch your broken dreams, can I devastate the song you use to torture me,
Can I watch your screens, can I watch your broken dreams, can I take you away behind the screens to show you my grief

Drowning

I'm cold and lonely,
A bird of Tantalos has taken away my sight,

I'm only staring at a window,
Like the screen of yesterday night,
I am desperate, I am sad and slow, Tired and broken, having so many questions,
But I know you will not answer them,
For there's a bird of Tantalos flowing, taking away my sight, making the deaf ones decide, to drown my silent screams

Day of Misery

These tears I cry, These waters of tragedy, only veils to hide my deeper tragedies, These tears I cry, cannot take away my pain, it's only there to hide my deeper dreams,
For the lover's knife is standing before me, with so many masks it tries to destroy me,
No one can slay me like you do, no one can crash against my walls like you do,
These destinies are killing me, but my tears flow to raise the screens today,
You will never find me, you'll only find some stories and some apples, to come through the day of misery

Jester called John

John, don't you ever leave me, you're my uncle, the bloodline has tied us tonight, together in a dream, I will fight for you, and you will for me, like you ever did, oh uncle of me, John, you never seemed to agree,
You never screamed when I was bleeding,
Only taking me away to deeper tragedy,
Uncle John you never told me of our destiny, Uncle John, you only taught me about death and misery, Uncle John, our conversations just never seemed to stream,

For then I turned around to sink away in grief,
Your words have killed me, your words have set me free,
Your words just let me bleed, to turn all the darker pages in me, Uncle John you know it wasn't right for me to scream, but you see I was full of anger about all what you did to me, Please just let it be, please just let it be,
I've changed my mind

You always leave me, uncle John, when I need you, You're always telling stories to deceive me,
Why did you bring me to the marketsquare,
Was I a slave, or were you just taking good care of me,
But why all this grief,
Uncle John I told you, I'm a lover not a fighter, Uncle John you're ornament turned green,
Which means I am a liar Just raising the screens of tears to hide my dreams,
I am a liar, until the bird of Tantalos takes me again,
Then I have to give these pearls from my heart,
But I'll never give my heart again, I'll let it bleed to death instead,
But no, I'm just a storyteller, like you, Uncle John,
I'm the Jester, I am your son, Uncle John who tied the bloodlines tighter through this dream, It's all coming closer to me

Uncle John, your women are pretty, Coming over me, in my desperate nights they hold the knives like lights of different dreams,
Can I have the masterpiece, the ornament of tragic life, John, you're hiding so many women for me in the night,
You still let me watch my screens,
Not able to come out of my miseries

Uncle John you are a bird of Tantalos, taking away all my dreams, but at the end you give them all to me

Slave no more

My martyr's songs have disappeared,
These beggar nights, they have all gone clear,
All the muses of my dreams turn me away,
To the dream of a childhood's play

My martyrs have all disappeared,
My martyrs have now found their own tears,
My martyrs are now able to bleed themselves,
They do not need me anymore, to be their slave of screams and yells

Pirate of my dreams

He's the boss of an army of birds high in the sky, He's a boss, still making me cry,
He's the boss, while these songs are coming over me,
I cannot be his soldier anymore,
I will set these birds free

He's the life of a life I could never see, He's the one turning all the ornaments around in me, He's the one, yes he gave me life,
But now I started to see,
It was nothing but a slavery

I was the puppet of his dreams,
The guardian of his screens,

But why did I defend such a strange compliment,
He gave to me

In a land of songs and spiders I'm drowning, All my views are bending into trauma,
It was all you gave to me,
This army full of birds coming over me,
To take me to my destiny

He is an army to bend, my strange compliment, he is an army to see the light in me,
He is an army of dreams coming over me, to turn the fight into strange delight

He is the muse of golden tears, raising the screens behind all these years,
No I can never escape when he wants me for a rape,
And I can never see the lights he bleeds I'm a prisoner of the screen, but I gave my life to set him free,
This pirate of my dreams,
This pirate of my dreams

Prisoner of Tantalus

He has birds, so many,
Coming to him day and night,
To tell him about the fights,
Who got killed, who got alive again,
These birds know all what it takes for him to win,
He is the captain of my heart,

He is the pirate of my silent screams,
Yes, he lets me bleed in silence,
So no one takes me for a ride in another dream, Oh yes, he is pride, a man of honour and strife, Full of jealousy he is, but his birds tell him like it is,
He's a prisoner of Tantalus

Prisoner of Tantalus, chasing after dreams from the screens,
He never reaches his own silent screams,
He's a prisoner of the screen, prisoner of the dream, Coming to take him away so many years from here,
And then it's all floating away,
He's locked up in history,
Never able to break the screen, this iron screen

Uncle John Again

Uncle John you never told me how to play the piano,
How to play it tragic like you always did,
Uncle John you never taught me how to play it different, Uncle John you never reached me in my deepest dreams, I'm still waiting for you, pirate, still waiting for you, when will it all begin

Uncle John you never told me about the secrets you hid for me, Uncle John you never spoke to me,
Only in my dreams, only like the light fading away, turning all my stories into tragedies, You only let the pirate speak, bringing me such grief,
You only let the pirate speak, about misery

You never played the piano for me,
You never played the piano for me,
You only let the pirate speak, to let him play with my misery

Uncle John you never told a fairytale to me, You only brought me deep deep tragedy, of a martyr and some sentimental poetry, you have put the knife so deep inside of me, to install the greater destinies, of a martyr fading away after the strike, to fly away with all these birds from tantalus, he only grew so that he could hide

The Martyr's Threat

To be the martyr behind the screens, it frightens me,
It brings me tragedy, for no one can hear me,
I only fall in ravines of the deaf,
Please believe in me, but they can never understand

Of a martyr's cry, of a martyr's grief,
It's coming over me, it's desperately alive,
Of a broken dream, of a tear gliding away, to raise the screens, but behind it there's a slaughter, your tv is a slaughter, just smash the screen, that's the message of a haunted dream, your tv is a screen, I will crash the tv-screen, to show you the cannibals of tragedy, there's something behind the screen, moving like the killer-queen,
I will set these puppets free if you won't listen to me

Turn the Screen

Cannibals, moving tables, freezing me, it's like heather's coming to me, she's a long lost doll, she ...has some to break the screen, turn the screen, turn it around, turn this misery, watch the screen, when all these views are bending, rippling on the other side of the screen, turn the screen, make the ornament wide, install the destinies, of a puppet-doll deep inside, these tears you cannot hide, they will raise another screen,
between you and me

Turn around, screen, let the ornament come through,
Let us bend all these views and hide,
Build the walls, another screen will fall today, while smoke will rise,
To penetrate the new day,
Close your eyes, and you will see the new screen between you and me, Close your eyes, and let us see the days you gave to me, of an ornament so bright

Turn the screen, turn the chessboard-screen, let all it's puppets fall away, Set the prisoner of this screen free,
It's heather's destiny, but we can turn it around

Heather

Heard the screams and shrieks of heather's soldiers in the distance, She's coming to me,
Heather don't take away these ornaments from me, just pierce them if you want,
But don't take them away, I need some stability after all these years, Heard the screams of all her soldiers in the skies, these birds from tantalos and tragedy,

Yes, she broke the screen today between you and me, but she turned it around, to create another dream, oh Heather your soldiers hate me, for what I did to them, it seems they'll never understand, about what's growing between you and me, I've come to set you free.

She is a liquid doll, she can't see,

She is blind and everyone is deaf for her screams,

I am the only one who hears her, but I only stir up this tragedy,

Like a balloon, like a condom of tragedy, to protect her against the disease of a life without misery,

Heather, strange health full of pain, like the python you're in flames, oh heather, don't put your grief on me, just cry some tears to build the screens of a long lost tragedy,

Your tears are so sexy

Card of Prey

There were hearts on cards, but these weren't true,

These cards of false love were breaking my mind,

For the Big Heart was bleeding on a ship far away,

Chased out of so many hearts, it was a martyr's card of prey

She is my bleeding heart, in a night no one understands,

All our sandcastles, all our dreams are dead

Child from All of Us

Two by two they go to Noah's Arc of Marriage,

Two by two, to escape from these days getting colder,

Watch the eternal flame, deep inside her brain,

She's a trickster, she has invented this lover's game,

To bind them, letting them all go down under,

Into an eternal divorce so deep inside their veins

They all go down into the circle of Marriage, Like everlasting Loneliness, they have never seen the beggar's smile, from a child who was just from all of us

Nameless Pride (The Meaning of This Land)

Like fools they dance around the nameless pride, These slaves of marriage, all divided in ornaments,
Like the Dominoes, they take their commandments, Tied to the stakes of indian gods, of nameless tricksters, Foreign gods they know how to lock them up in a whisper,
So many dreams they can never reach, the cards of false dreams wandering through their simple minds, the trickster once gave them as a present of the night, so many broken dreams, they never seem to understand the meaning of this land

It's a Marriage Horror-House, baby, Driving us insane,
giving us strange pictures we do not understand, I want to go back to all these faces, to the meaning of this land

Celibate Captain

So many ties have tied us, so many decisions in our head, Girl, just let us leave this town, going to the nameless instead,
There are so many trauma's speaking in our heads, Let's play some other games, for these ones are driving us insane

I know a captain standing on a bridge, waiting for an eternal plane, Let's rise with him,

for eternal divorce like this will make us wise

He's our celibate captain, he's our inner sword of divorce,
He will show us all the beauty of a world shivering beyond our minds.

Cryptic History

Sword of Celibate, turn me on, turn me on,
Your ribbons are so pretty, you will lead us on, Sword of Celibate, of a divorce so rare, so strange not like the usual ones, it's spinning in my mind

Sword of Celibate, sword of nameless pride,
She devastates it all, this woman is so wild,
Warrior of a broken life

Sword of Celibate, turn me on, you're the lover of a life beyond our minds,
She devastates it all, this woman is so wild,
Warrior of a broken life,
Sword of Celibate, lover of the dead, lover of the ones burning in hell instead, Setting them free by the beauty of your ribbons, these lovers of the Loneliness, these warriors of a broken life

From the pits of our hearts it's rising,
This carnival can never be stopped,
These faces from hell, they're taking something which they will never tell,
These are warriors of broken dreams, warriors of cryptic history

Last Goodbye (Miscommunication)

And this girl, she came to me, her roses bleed,

She showed me her bleeding hat, and all I could say was : it gets me mad,
Here is someone without traces, only cryptic dominations,
In this land of the dead I found her breath,
There was nothing I could do to save her out of this threat,
It was just a cryptic deliverance whispering from a mountain so far away,
We could never reach it if we would stay

And this girl, she whispered : my darling, lullaby,
I will send you some traces when I give you my last goodbye,
I know I did this many times before as you do not seem to remember, Baby you are far away, in your cryptic dominations, Everything will go away

As I stopped breathing, all I could hear was a nameless girl inside my head, You're prettier when you're dead instead,
It was a long lost time after I finally faded away,
I found the trickster of my mind, she suffered there instead of me,
And all I could say was : girl just let us dream, girl just let us run away,
We will not scream again, it's over, we will not die again, for we have found the well of everlasting life, in a cryptic miscommunication

Everlasting Circle

Found another lover to worship, found another ship to go astray, Everything will go down under, when the flood comes to take everything away, Found another tie burning in my head, found another scream telling me it's over again, When can we stop this cryptic marriage taking us again and again, creating another god helping us in

When will this ever stop this everlasting circle,
We are growing but it seems it's all the same again,

We are now bigger but eating the same scriptures roaring in our minds,
The same prides, the same compromises, always trying to make a special someone smile,
Will everlasting death stop this all, or everlasting celibate to break this whole carnival,
Can we ever watch the screen again after this fall, or will we really reach each other's hearts for the first time in our lives, will we really touch each other, will we really taste each other's delights What needs to be bound, and what needs to be loosened, that will be a question we will finally understand.

Wasted Loneliness

It raises the screen, this strange company,
We can never touch each other, only the screens of our mind,
To finally let us burn inside, of a passion which can never be satisfied

I have fantasied enough about you, always crashing against the screens of my soul,
Not able to touch you, I am afraid, ashamed, so lonely and depressed, While the Law says we're married, we're even living in the same house, lying in the same bed, eating from the same table, but we don't know each other, there is a screen between us, Marriage TV, the trickster has invented this to make us weep,
To let us feel lonely forever, misunderstood, always fighting about things which doesn't matter,
This Marriage Arena makes me scream,
When you touch me I'm bleeding, for you only pushed a button of TV, ending so many stories which used to soothe me, I cannot understand this threat you're sending out to me,
While you say : Baby don't you like my lingerie, Baby, don't you like the curtain between you and me,

Baby, hold my hand, my heart is bleeding,
There is blood on the TV-screen,
There is blood flowing from all this misunderstanding, between you and me,
Our sex-life is a big big lie, it's only stirring up the passions we cannot satisfy, in this land of the lie,
We are caught by a trickster, we are locked up in his carriage,

To which world is this train going, there's no way out, There's blood on the TV-screen, Baby, you are calling me

Baby, you are teasing me, when you're standing like that behind the screen, When you're only touching the buttons of our TV instead of me, It's taking so many stories away which used to sooth me, Why do you love this Marriage-TV, just a screen between you and me, Why can't we just play together in the wilderness, oh baby,
Or are we animals too wild, would it only devour you and me ?
Is this screen our protection, our mother keeping us alive,
We cannot die here it seems, in this land of the lie, But baby, when you touch my screen, so many things are breaking, and you are my only saviour helping me out, this monotheism isn't a good idea

You tell me outside there are so many predators,
By this you keep me bound, by your lies you're always coming over me,
Only to bring misery to my screen, when will I be free,
Can I take any train, away from you and me,
Was divorce my saviour this time ? Was divorce the one who took me away from the screen ?
Finally free, finally you set me free,
I would never use this sword you used, would never call for this type of guy,
But after all I'm glad he has set me free,
But I still love you after all, dancing in this strange strange carnival, It's the beat of a different drum, you're deeper now,
I would never do it the way you did, but it's over now,
I finally have to admit.

The screens of divorce and celibate, a deeper love,
I can finally touch you ... Grace ...
Can finally watch you without fading away
It's only a red condom now between you and me

The only thing hiding us away to not bring a deeper disease

The tiger finally didn't take away the carnival,

We only watch it now through a different screen, a deeper touch so real, awakening so many worlds in me,

Still I'm safe, behind the red grace of a condom screen

It's just a cryptic way to describe the lullaby in me

A secret tear, a precious way I tell you that I care,

I feel you now, and I want to feel you, I finally can really touch the snare,

To heal the heartache deep inside of you

But I still agree, I finally feel locked up, after all you did to me,

Maybe this secret tear, this red condom isn't enough for me,

I want to feel you deeper, but I am afraid of the disease,

Do not want to be in everlasting marriage Please, do not penetrate me,

Let us swim away in this lake to find an even better screen a watering screen

I can touch you, coming closer, but it's pulling me away, like elastics,

It's bringing me to a better day to break the curse of monogamy,

It was the greatest disease ...

Now I've found the nipple screen, a greater screen between you and me,

Letting all your milks flow deep inside of me,

I can touch you now, without fear, so deep

But still you have your ways to bring me down,

You have me now under your feet,

The only screen between you and me

Until the bird of tragedy separates you and me

I feel you deeper, but then there's nothing anymore between you and me,

My memory is now broken,

While other stories are filling me

What is it I desire ? I do not know you

I have never seen your face I can only cry for I feel so lonely

Until the tears wash my last memories away

They were already so confused and split up There's only a cryptic creature taking me away

My senses have been gone There's only cryptic material staring at me

Waiting to be opened desiring me with a desire strong enough to break any screen

Is it a flame from your heart not remembering me not wanting to see me

You have found your way in the mass, meaning so much to you

Baby, when will this show ever end ? Maybe until a greater cryptic creature will take us away

It's a picture of you of a cryptic marriage cryptic marriage is bringing us through

We will not blast it, but grow it we will love it, and cherish it until the heartache is finally through, until the mindache is finally through all these cryptic screens between me and you all these cryptic lies between me and you would finally be a cryptic truth

This picture will finally lead us through, this picture will leave everything behind ...

We used to kiss to have a blanket in the darkest night,

We used to kiss each other good before we said goodbye,

I know you will take another train again,

And then I'll find out again, these kisses won't let me speak,

They're just raising the screens, taking all my breath away,

To let me enter a deeper tragedy at the end of the day

This blanket of kisses a trickster once gave to me, and now I can never sleep,

I'm in a prison only touching screens, I wished I was your shoe so that I would be safe for your kisses,

These kisses they only kill me, taking all the life away from me,

Yes, you use me like a bottle, so I wished I was your shoe,

I wished I was your boot, letting you run away in the night

Your kisses are the death-threats,

The knives you push into my heart,

You need a bottle to suck,

And after it you break the bottle,
But my kisses did the same to you

Now I wished I was your boot, letting you run away, Now I wished I was your boot, taking you away, to a place we would both be safe.

Satelite of Our Love

Let us run over the screen, let us climb over the edge,
To watch the sexual tax-machine, high in the air,
Can we grasp it, this moon, this satelite,
Or will it push us deeper into the night

I have an automaton on my back, it's a tax-machine, But not a normal one, it displays sex, yes, everyone is the same, it takes the marriage away, yes, everyone is insane

Let us run over the screen, let us climb over the edge, to watch this killer-queen, this insane sex-tax-machine, It takes so much life away, yes, everyone is the same

Never Be the Same

She has put a playcard in the machine,
Now all these waters are green,

These eyes, it kept the screens alive,
Where doves crashed, blood was dripping there, Still the hard stare said it was enough,
These days were tough,

All the beggars around the money, couldn't touch, could never cry, Senses were hard and broken off, Lepers in the sky

These eyes, it kept the tragedy alive,
So many birds crashing down, tales of horror unheard, but now these eyes are blind

My eyes are a strange TV quenching all my senses inside, not able to touch, not able to feel and cry, Still I cry so many tears, but they're all fake after all these years, I need a red condom setting me free,

Behind the nipple-screens, where all your milks and odors are flowing, where you keep the eye under your feet, piercing it by the spear of divorce and celibate, and by a simple knife of cryptic polygamy,

My ears are a strange radio, keeping me deaf to so many things, I cannot translate, all I do is misunderstand you, all I can do is hear the lie, please save me out,

But you, the trickster finally say no these guys stay in there, they're just the keepers of a secret of cryptic mystery

Gamble Baby

I'm still a gambler after all these years, Having gamble balls in my eyes, with the strange strange lights,
These are like traffic lights,
Papa, I'm having a baby, Slept with so many gamble machines,
They say I'm a whore,
And they call you a liar

But we will still be together, like gamblers after all these years, You can spout the balls like no one can,

Daddy, I'm so full of fear, Don't let them take my baby away

America

Smoke is in our head, Fire in our brains, Someone has taken our love away,
In Las Vegas it's all quiet,
In Los Angeles they're all sitting down,
To watch the big screen

Terror has struck us,
Our heads are bleeding, Screen's white,
Angel is coming down tonight

America, our love was not forever,
Now we're digging in the ground,
Deep in the darkness we find our lost baby,
She grew up, but she's foul

We will find our ways back to the wilderness,
We cannot fly, we hit the ground,
There's something deeper, crying loud

In Hollywood we watch the screen,
The horror we believed in, it has us in its grip

American Dream

Where the skies will be filled by clouds and high towers, No one's standing on feet anymore,

Planes only get higher,
To see shocking sights in Amsterdam,
There are dolls around the table,
Cannot understand the things I'm telling them

Where skies filled by clouds and high towers, bring the planes higher,
We see sights in the poor world,
A mother crying for her baby,
For it isn't there anymore, because there was no food

And we get fatter in Amsterdam,
We float too high to do something,
They call us the nuclear bomb,
We laugh and ask for more,
On the moon we don't see anymore,
The earth is pretty, nothing's wrong,
It's the American dream, Eyes are closed,
It's dinnertime already, can you pass me the salt

On tv dolls behind the windows,
Let them show up, place enough, but we won't reach out, for it's sunday,
And on mondays we all have our own jobs,
It's the American dream, we can handle a lot,
Here we all get richer, and we bath on Mars,
In champagne, getting blind in golden rain,
It's the American dream, breakfast is healthy, eat the brain,
To laugh is to live, and those who die are insane

Where skies get filled by clouds and high towers,
A voice is calling, but we are too far away,

Fattened up in our cars, we let the dolls go home

American Girl

American girl, full of lies, she comes to me in disguise,
She has skeletons underwater, in her boots she breeds the thunder, Cannot argue with this girl, sending big brother for a thrill,
Her sister smokes, she has her style,
She never listens, only to her sister's cry,
It's a family-thing going around the table,
From an American girl you never win

Showed her the red machine one day,
She never found her way out,
She found her cowboy deep inside,
She feels so safe now, and all I do is float

American girl, full of lies, she came to me in disguise,
She came to me in her helicopter, Fell out of it to be my doctor, She's playing the clown again,
But I'm not her automaton, Showed her the red machine today, Game's over now, and she finally feels safe

American girl, full of wonders, full of tales,
In her boots she breeds the thunder,
Can't bring her home tonight,
She's with me in red delights,
Can't bring her home tonight,
Wait for the morning, sending you her sights

Emily

Emily, shivering waif, without destiny,
With the transparent wings you make statements in the night,
Still your cage is open, since the strike of yesterday,
Now come closer, I will take you away

Emily, princess of a transparent castle, Full of lust, forgotten by love, but this you won't regret, Emily, princess of passion, shivering waif without hopes without a destiny,
It has to be like this, for now you're free

White waifs

White waifs in the city, full of passion, no one hears,
All bound by love, living behind plastic tears, TV makes all things clear

White waifs in the city, ornaments move, Full of lusts they're gliding through the city's plastic tears

Run Away Girl

The girl has a pointy hat, with a rag tied to it,
The girl has a name, but that's not interesting for now,
For we don't believe in love anymore, the woman bows, Stop, don't you mess with me, can't take another marriage,
She still goes under, never comes up, she's playing it loud like thunder, After hundred years of carnival we know it all

The girl has a pointy hat, with a rag tied to it, Wings, but it's not interesting, this picture, for we do not believe in love anymore, the woman bows, she's bleeding, having shivering waifs by her side, Susan turns her head away, she's thinking about her knife, Let this love bleed, let this love bleed, do not turn away

I saw her standing on the castle, on a balcony actually,
She was waving to me, throwing her hat away,
I said you don't have to do this, for I am not a believer anymore,
I lost my faith about twohundred years ago,
And then she smiled to me, and then she ran to me,
I took her in my arms, together we walked away,
And then again, she smiled another time to me,
I said baby won't you agree, we have lost our previous balcony, Why can't we go back to the castle

But then she took her knife, she said : baby we need to let love bleed,
But I think that's not a good idea, so she turned away and smiled, She's so afraid like a shivering waif, she said baby why can't we run away, Why can't we run away, run away, we cannot run away,
But then I saw a girl in the waters, she had hair like sixty miles away, Shivering in the waters, I said baby let us run away, but she ran to the castle instead, Diving into a bleeding bed, of yesterday's holiday, women bowing, taking our souls away

Princess

There is a land behind the sun, there is a land behind your smile,
I do not believe in love anymore, it's just a lie
There's a land beyond our memory, there's a life to gain,
When we watch the story of this love coming to an end,
There's a warm underface, a blink behind the eye,
Why were we masked, love is just a masquerade,

And cry again, after the sun comes down, it's bleeding again,
But we can be strong again, after the love has gone,
The princess enters in

Don't believe in leaders, don't believe in smiles,
For baby, I know what it's all about,
Don't believe in lullabies, don't believe in camouflage,
For baby I know what's all behind

We watched the story of our paradise,
It came to an end, ending in lies,
Don't believe in leaders, don't believe in smiles,
Baby, we know what it's all about

No more worries, no more lies, no more compromises, We're only playing with dice,
No more sentiments, no more cries,
For our love is dying, and tall men are rising, Taking all our lies away, no one will be someone's prey

No more sentiments, no more cries,
Playing with all these dice,
No one will take our hearts away,
No one will forever stay, our love is dying today

American Soldier

From far away he comes,
Fires in his eyes, no one knows his name,
The sacrifice he has to bring,
Is more than he can take,

He lost his family, lost his life,
Only to get a piece of old wine and cake

From far away, he walks fast,
To find his love behind walls of glass, America, you gave your son away,
To become a bird of prey,
Still you say you are so proud,
In God you trust, you say this loud

America, America, slaughterhouse, dangerous womb, You abort your sons, a screen of blood,
To entertain the world, it's like Christ and God,
The sacrifice you brought to save the world

American Lie

I'm still coming from down under,
Cannot see the skies nor the seas,
Cannot see the smiles you're hiding, I'm just a ghost locked up in tv

Your number I do not know, I just watch the show,
Coming in every night,
To leave by a small light

American lie, you believe in love,
But the morning after, the kids are growing up,
Not knowing where to go,
American lie, you always see them later,
As a shoulder on which they can cry

You took so much away,
You are their only hope,
So now they have to survive,
It's the land of the eternal life

In this land we never die,
Even in hell they find us, adding to our cry,

Live Forever

You told me my truth is a lie,
You told me sex is a lie,
So why can't we separate sex and love,
You told me my sword is a lie,
You told me my love was a lie,
So why can't you give me a knife and separate,
Love doesn't live here anymore

Still you are my princess, still I see your smile, Still you're growing stronger, I will never deny, Still I wish you all the best, still I wish we can be close together,
Be so close together, so we can do it better

You told me my truth was a lie,
You told me love was a lie,
You told me why can't we live forever

Cocoon

Oh, and if it hurts, why do we keep on loving each other,

Isn't there a better way, why do we need to be police undercover,
I cannot breath, I cannot hide, You're watching me all the time, this marriage needs to come to an end,
I don't believe in it anymore, baby, I wished you were a whore, Please let me escape, this butterfly needs to fly, Butterflies need to go away

And I know, you're so adventurous, dangerous,
And I know, you're reading books to escape from us,
It's better for us, I know it's also strengling you,
This snake, coming from love-pits far away,
I hope it will be all a cocoon

Oh, yes it hurts, why can't we go away forever,
Can I escape on my own or do we need to escape together, Give me your hand, but oh, when it hurts,
I'll let you fall away, then we cannot escape together, Letting each other fall away, fall away, into another hand,
Or will we bleed forever, while no one understands,
Oh yes, it hurts, why can't we go away,
These chains are scaring me, I must agree, this love is not forever, Dying in my hand, no one understands, dying in my hand, will you understand

Love Never Sleeps

When love is such a lie, the island floats away, Lovestories always fade one day,
Is there a better way, or will we be in this circle forever,
Will we be somebody's prey, turning us into the weather, Oh, this love is a lie, I can't deny, I can't forget, can't regret, Oh, this love is a lie, push it away (Don't push away, don't push away)

I tried to separate the love from the lust, it doesn't belong together, For love is a lie, letting babies cry,
Love is a prison, a pitfall, bringing us all down at the end of the day, Strange religion throwing it all away,
Only lust will hold us together, only lust will sleep, Love will never sleep

Only lust will sleep (Love will never sleep)

Love never sleeps, baby can you hear me,
It's all designed to deceive, it never lets the prisoner free, Lust will set us free, lust will set us free,
From deep inside, lust will let us free

Love never sleeps, oh baby, can you hear me, Love never let us breath, divided the goats and the sheep,
But they say lust will make us and break us, Cannot agree, there's passion all over me, Strong enough to break the chain,
The lust to be free, and let free

Taking it all Away

Little girl with a wolf,
Love will come to take it all away,
Grown-up girl and wolf,
Love will come to take it all away,
Young woman walks with wolf,
Let him have his prey,
They were together all these years,
He was like her family,
But now love comes to take it all away,

Run girl, run, but you cannot escape

Run girl, run, be the wolf's prey

Hunterman of passion,

looking for a woman, finding her in the bushes,

While wolf gets his prey, another prey,

For the hunterman of passion,

Is taking it all away, while the wolf gets another prey

(Wolf gets another prey)

Hunterman of passion,

Hanging there like Jesus Christ,

I must say it's a good disguise,

For no one knows it's you this way,

The wolf sais

Hunterman full of passion,

Why can't you just run away,

Do you still believe in her,

Do you still believe it is your mission to save her,

Are you Jesus Christ, good camouflage to take her soul away

Young girl full of passion, Wolf has your attention,

Don't go with him today,

For this hunterman will take it all away

Killer-Queen

Love has killed us another time,

Love has brought us to this grave,

All the tears we have to cry,

Love is just a lie, but it will always take us away again,
So I tried to separate love from lust,
For the passion is much stronger, speaking truth among us,
Love is just a killer-queen,
It possesses us, and then we can never find our ways home, Love is just a killer-queen, a masquerade, Love you weren't honest to me,
Like a strange religion you took my soul,
Can I find my way home,
But outside they're all telling me love is the best,
Love must go together with the lust,
For lust is a killer, and I am the bottle,
So we must be fighting again, When love ends and her face turns old again she was sent out as the egg of birthday, by snakes of wedding she threw out her lines, to bring the king on the chariot, she was the old face turning young again, to suck his blood away, to keep him in the tight grip, don't let her kiss you, it's a kiss of death, weddings like coffins, there are sharks in the lake behind the house, and then her face turns old again

she has minds in her grip, wavy eyes, she leads them to the wedding, slowly turning in slaughter, there was meat on the cake today, someone was turning his head away, now there's blood on the coffee, and her face turns young again, to find another friend, there's adultery in her mind, she's hungry, shooting more lines, she puts her dress up, showing her high heels, then she blinks, it's the wedding, spreading more lies, weddings like coffins, her face is on fire, sharks in the lake behind her house,

and then her face turns old again

i know a place worse than hell, in her bed, i was married to this girl, she became my mother, tied to so many things, it's the wedding making me like this,
i'm a monster now, and it seems there's no escape, what is she breeding, i must escape this wedding, she's breeding the eggs of birthday for meat, two by two in noah's arc, it's a butchery don't you know, to let canon speak, to let her face turn young again, and when she cries the sand is streaming, and a new day begins i know a place worse than hell, here in her bed, it's the wedding turning you into a monster, you need to escape this place, for her face gets younger everyday, she used to be your mother, but now she's your daughter to take her prey i know a place worse than hell, it's the wedding, there where devils dance, and canon makes his rhymes, there where he stands up and cry again, and he puts the blame on you, and then her face turns old again she stuffs them by weddings, by strange laquer, by strange kisses, so don't let her kiss you, for she has coffins in her lakes, sharks in her rivers, she has strange houses, and while her face grows younger, she takes so many things away, she's stuffing you by her lies in the weddingnight her face turns old again, but by the knife she gives you the dream, and you serve her illusion, to the end of your days, you're always to blame and the anger is growing under your skin, but she's far away, you only have her shadow for too long I'm on the weddingfields ... can anyone help me, i'm never dying here, please take me away to the circle of life, please take me out of this dream she keeps my heart alive in her waters, i'm stuffed and she speaks lies to my mind, i'm in her arc, there's no way out, i can only send out my raven, i'm in a noah horror, please save me out, my raven has a message, the rain's still falling, like someone's tears,

are these my tears ? it never seems to stop, we're reaching for the ceiling, and there's my raven, i'll never wear white anymore, show me the red suit, she's snow white, i am her dove, the red one, and my raven is black, there are red doves before my window, gotto open the window for them, my raven is staring, while snow white dives, there's a new morning, in paradise new glory, she finds a pearly apple, bites, and sinks, tree's growing now, while noah's arc disappears, exploding in the night, while all the red doves fight there are snow white's on the wheel, spring is coming, her face turns younger, and I'm delighted by her spell, she's the raven's friend, my honey, she soothes the red doves and what about the original sin we're living in ?

since snow white ate from the pearly apple underwater, we're now living in the original innocence, so let us all dive, bite and sink, let us all fly away, like the raven, never returning but isn't noah's horror a hunter ?

she will find us, and bring us down under,
in her bed she fights us again, to the bath she draws us, but a toy is staring at us, it's a duck and it bites, on the ground she slides, like the snake she tries to deceive us, but we hit the sky isn't noah's horror a hunter ?

her face turns old again, but then she becomes younger, can we run away from her ? she sells poisoned apples and invitations, but we're not going to the wedding, we're on our way to the station, princes on high horses standing there, breaking the fragile snare, what can we do when noah's horror returns, it's moving away like black pearls, there are a million divorces in the nights, can we finally be free to enter the wheel ? in america the crosses stand high or is this original sin too deep, something which no one understands ?

we're still bound inside, what if this horror doesn't show us the key, or must we become like noah ourselves to finally escape his grip, noah's horror, it's something in the mind, something boiling inside, chasing after a higher truth, something between me and you noah, noah, like a candle in the night, you designed the bridegroom and his bride, you made them weep, making their eggs tall, all to become ripe in your carnival, so many noah's are walking here now, it's an army of noah's, making their fathers and mothers fall, it's an eternal wedding, night and day, and something is always a piece of the prey, he's married to the uninvited witch, and their kids are called sundays, their grandchildren the mondays, there's always something to say about this wheel, it's a killer rose, a strange breeding, breeding the thrill uncle noah, to the kids a threat, their aunt always sleeps, never comes out of bed, there's horror in their boat, outside it's always raining he's breeding the monsters in the cellars and on the attics, he has always someone to blame, drinking wine with blood, there's always meat enough, he's a butcher noah the butcher, man full of tales, they always have to believe in him, for they are tied to his grace, tied to an original sin, they have eaten from his meat, from his apple and his tree, he keeps their souls in coffins of glass and chrystal, while wine flows, a waterfall of grandchildren, a waterfall of lust and life, there's meat on the weddingcake, blood in the wine

in the garden of noah, strange garden in a ship, strange apples and fruits are growing, strange ghosts are floating, they are designed to have eternal life, but they often live in a bottle in a strange ship it all happens, strange snakes in the garden deep in the cellar, strange trees, something is growing there, it's bringing me on my knees, there's meat growing here, no you must not eat, for something will grow in you, there are children growing here, noah knows all about it, he calls them peanuts, but they are all dying don't eat from his peanuts, for the snakes are gliding here, and they will lead you out, thorns grow around the castle, let sleeping beauty sleep, take another fairytale, for to be noah's slave is nothing for you and me, let me take you out, far away from this garden, we're still gypsy's wild indians, moving from tower to tower, we have lost our hats, they do not call us noah anymore, we have our own houses now along the shore, on an island we break through, while snow white's in the sky, we eat from our own pearls, and from the stuff by which we never die did we finally escape noah's horrorhouse, baby ?

or was this another illusion driving us crazy ?
i will never give up when i play on this gamble machine, one day i will win, and then it takes us away with a grin, in america our souls will be, safe on an island, floating on a stream, i must get rid of your face then, for it haunts me, are you the last soldier of noah trying to take me in ?
i'm so paranoid, so suspicious, must live on my own, to finally have my own crown and my own home noah's horrorhouse, i even had to get rid of you, you were my original sin, my sister, the bloodline had tied us but I found noah's gun to shoot deep inside, did he have a cross ? yes, it was his father, for Joseph was his family, and Jakob was his liar, did he have a cross ? yes, it was his mother, for Eve was his family, and Adam was his mocker, can I close the bottle now, no bloodlines anymore, my family is dying while I'm swimming to the shore, they all sing in church, for luther was their saviour, they call him god, but he's noah, the pope found a way to make them leader so sister, let us say goodbye, for mother is a whore, and daddy is a breeder, sister, say goodbye, i have noah's gun, am not an original sinner anymore, but found original innocence on the shore, sister, say goodbye, i have noah's gun,

i have his sword, while it's shimmering in the sun, everything is melting away, cannot hold you, my arms are weak, cannot mold you, cannot get you in, here our roads separate, goodbye, it is too late, tell them all that i love them, on noah's gun, i will be in wild west fun, it's too late, story is over, found me a mommy now, found me a statue on my gun, she's smoking like a wild west gun, so say goodbye, tales are over, church is dying and cars are crossing over noah, noah, hear your whisper in the rain, you're still so vain, nothing is gonna get you anymore, you're alone now, forever, ship is burning, everyone's drowning, we're all free now, baby, carnival is over, come with me to drink something, know some strong drinks up there, come, we will sit and talk on the hill under the sun, tell me some new tales, what are you going to be, have i told you that I love you lately noah, noah, am not an original sinner anymore, you cannot push me under your laws, i'm free, and free from your whores, maybe i'm your only lover now, everyone has left you, or is it my crow, got some tales to whisper in your ears, where have they gone, all these years, baby why are you in fears, there's nothing to worry, i'm with you, let's build a ship, let's make something new, for outside it is raining, and babies are crying, someone must be very bored, let's make a ship and escape to a tropical island, do you need a whore, i'm with you, do you need a new shore, we're coming through, through the microphone i'm saying : captain, captain, parrots in the sky, chrystal fever passing us by, noah, noah, your waters are brandnew, there's a skater, while someone is sinking, while ice is burning, and lies are turning, ties are turning, watch your clock it's twelve past eleven now, only some minutes to go, and everything will explode, so let us drink the last glass of water, we're heading for the end of the show, did you like it, it was just a tale, but it stings so deep, it hurts, i know, i am the master creep, i am the master creep, baby you're calling me, baby you're calling me, but i just fell out of the ship goodbye noah, i'm in the waves, i'm waving, watching you exploding, i have you now in my tight grip, i'm sliding like a snake through the waters, making beautiful music, we're finally both in the waters, baby, now we can both escape, i know a lonely island, i know a lonely island, but i am so weak baby, i love you, show's over now, let's do the job together, so many things to do now original sinners

we are original sinners, we are lost in hell, don't come closer to us, it is addictive, and don't come under our spell, we are wild, no one can save us, for we rejected jesus christ, we stand in erected pride, we are lost in eternal damnation we are original sinners, we are lost in a greater hell, than all the things you tell, we have a bigger threat around us than you, so don't come closer, for we will find you we are original sinners, we are predators, growing in our shells, we have parties in our caves, we dwell in lusts, and we don't believe in papers, we are the pope, we are noah, we are sandman, we are christ, we're nothing after these days, for all our crosses will turn away, our crosses will turn grey, like a strange strange mirror, run away we are original sinners, we ate from fruits of meat, and now we're lost in paradise, we're wandering like the erected pride, like kings on chariots are we, tied to the stakes, tied to the breaks, tied to the tales, tied to our enemies, lost in space, on our knees, we are beggars, we are growing in the green we are the original sinners, for our ancestors told that we are, we are the original sinners, for someone once ate from an apple, do you think it's mad, but we are original sinners, on our way to hell, never coming back, so leave us alone, it's contagious, we're original sinners, original saviours, it's hunting us, hunting high and low, noahs on a bow, hunting high and low, it's christ with a feather, it's christ with his socks low i'm still trying to believe, i'm still growing older, but it just doesn't get me we are original sinners, we are original saviours, noahs on a bow, christs with the feathers, socks low, come on girl, let's paint the weather, in this one night show, in the morning it's all over, finding another lover, piercing the tree for a newborn fruit, we are the original sinners, original singers, singing ourselves through the day, we are deaf to the lies, we are deaf to the screaming christs tied to the stakes, we are deaf to the sinners of the new day, we have eternal life, never in need for a wife, we are the original sinners, are the original singers, piercing our ways through the day, through the meat of yesterday, we have never been a cannibal, it's growing from the trees, between you and me i am an original sinner, going to hell alone, going to the wedding all alone bigger lie and her face turning grey, after every day, this love affair doesn't end, but still they call it yesterday, like the original sin, strange wedding on a card, like the original sin, moses cuts it in two, a strange divorce, when i married you i sinned, but when we were in a divorce, we became original sinners, strange wedding on a card, already cut in two, by the moses sword, pictures in black and white, chessboard apples, strange fight still her face turning grey after every day, baby, let's escape in the night by a strange divorce you hit me, i'm an original sinner now, by a strange apple you got me, now i'm screaming loud, there was a snake between us, strange children growing old, there was blood between us, glasses so cold, your kiss it made the pictures so bright, still bending over, please let us escape in the night, for moses cut the tree, and he killed the snake, and now he puts the blame on us, we are original killers you are my original bride, you are my original knife, i have the moses sword in my hand, let us make love in the sand, and let this picture bend noah and moses with the tree, their snake is strangling me, i'm falling on the ground, they give me apple juice, and they're crying loud, i was their only son, baby, you are lying to me, when you are falling on your knee noah and moses with the tree, tree of paradise, a bird in disguise, take the apple, her feather falls, then snake is sliding, hearts are breathing, hearts are bleeding

noah and moses sitting in a tree, eating from an apple, spitting the pips on me, it's killing me, these babes are killing me, noah and noah sitting on a tree, building an arc, making me free, let us escape from yesterday, for these eyes are killing me moses and moses in a tree, eating the pips, don't do it to me, well, trees are coming out of their mouths, telling me to say goodbye, okay, i say goodbye, this is my last goodbye, last agreement, burn burn tree of roses, set me free sword of moses, sword of divorce, sword of noah, sword of marriage, sword of jesus, sword of the bride, comes to them in disguise there's an original sinner deep inside of me, cannot get it out, this riddle is screaming loud, oh, but can i have the key there's an original bride in me, and an original bridegroom, with an original noah on his knee, he's a beggar, but they won't let him in, for he's old and ugly, and then an original moses is coming forth from them, to kill the old man, and to set their hearts free, in a divorce they all bleed, it's the original square of sin, a strange, misleading mirror, eat the fruit, i'm dying here, it's shimmering, four faces in the wind, eve and adam, a snake and a fruit, but who was the tree, maybe it was me or was i the fruit, was i the mirror, reflecting the old original sinners, and then you came to eat me, when will this whole circus come down, baby, you're playing the clown, let us stop this whole fairground, let us stop this cross of paradise, or do we have to play this game again and again, until someone comes with a bigger lie, to make us understand what is all behind or will we go into a deeper sleep, of baby, please let me breath, i have a mooses and a noah in my mouth, a siamese twin, a strange tongue, strange snake, letting me win, all the balls are mine, but still the wine is flowing, like blood from my belly, it's making me turn over again, then i have adam and eve, yes they're torn apart, while trying to grasp the fruit, they are searching for their original lovers, before they came here, but now they're just following shadows, for no one's really there, it's only an illusion, a dream coming from a tree, for the old man frozen he wants revenge, god is mad, for no one wanted to belief, he was in lover's grief old man, do you belief, there's a lover in your tree, it's the snake showing you the fruits from your branches, a product of your love, but why do you want to stone adam and eve, noah, do you belief, mooses is in your tree, he has the sword of paradise, to set you both free, build an arc, and go to sea, build the original cross, as a way to heaven, for paradise will be lost, build the original cross, an original thornecrown, hell on earth, as a way to heaven, make an original scornrobe, tailormen, you have the power, your seeds will be sown, go to sodom where you'll have a place to live, an original arc will make you safe, two of each race, the flames will burn so bright, the original arc will keep you safe in the night, there on the huntingfields you ride, kings in the chariots, trees will grow for your delights carry the original cross in the city, and all the original sins will fall away from you, oh, carry the original thornecrown in the city, and all the original guilts and hells will fall away from you,

you're no original sinners, you're original singers, coming through, we tell the tales so many left behind, we tell the tales of the show coming tonight in a place where god was the spirit of noah, an old man, wanting to have revenge, he took adam and eve and said some things were forbidden, then he sent the snake to offer them a fruit, a mirror to let them bleed, bleeding away, like him, they got to carry his cross, now they can find him in his realm of the dead, to be like him, like an old tree

where god was the spirit of noah, and the snake was his soul, where his body was a tree, where his fruit was his foot, kicking them away into a darker destiny, they were in his webs, on his arc they sank, on his jesus they lost their guard, and their last friend where god was the spirit of noah, and the snake was his spit, where the tree was his body, where his fruit was his foot, eating their meat, they were in his webs, he called it canon and church, on his arc they sank, on his jesus they lost their guard and their best friend where god was the spirit of noah, and the snake was his nipple, where the tree was his body, where his fruit was his milk, paradise was overflowing, adam drowned, his original sin, but what about eve, she was the deceiver, she was his right hand, she was his mirror on a horse, but she drowned in the flood noah, noah, you have only one hand after these floods, you lost your adam, your original sin, lost your eve, your deceiver, but you have drunk from your milk, and now a new hand is growing there, the original innocence

noah, noah, with your pigfarms on the hill, with your babies they are growing, and everything is overflowing by your milk, still blood with the wine, still meat with the bread, the skies are shimmering, there's joy in heaven, what can we do, wine and bread is still hurting you, let me ask you a question, isn't it better to get rid of your soul and spirit, you do not need an inner beauty, for meat is all you really need, you're still a butcher, still a liar, still a hunter one day he went to god, and gave him an apple, and he ate and drank, while he was reading a letter, and another day his snake was with him, you do not need them both, just let the milk flow, another flood, in sodom you find dorothee, he's only a wizard of oz, such a liar, such a bragger, but he can't do a lot, so take your chance, and take him down the yellow brick road, to the place where everything started, to the place where aunt Em did the laundry, he's only a wizard of oz, he's just a original cross, like a tricky road to heaven it always leads you back to where you started, now just analyze the picture, there they are again, adam and eve, after the flood, they rose, and it's so strange, but it's always like this, they are the objects of this cross, this original cross, so this eve is the original bride, the original thornycrown, and this adam is the original scornrobe, like the scarecrow, wanting to go home, and this noah is the original wedding, you cannot walk, it's the original footnail, and moses is the original divorce, you cannot move, it is the handnail, the original handnail, and the snake is the original death, it is the original spear, and the tree is the original stripes, the fruit is the original tear, it is all the strange strange wheel of paradise, we can never escape, it brings us from year to year, like in a strange arc, through a strange split sea, going to the promised land, we're moving on our knees, creeping through the sand like paralyzed, will we ever reach the beach, will the sun ever touch the sea, to burn this whole picture of grief.

Jesus was my biggest cross, mommy doesn't belief me, she thought she was no bitter grass,

I still have her on my back, as my eternal cross, won't speak of my father, he is my eternal loss,
I am sick and almost dead after this party, drink some sweet wine with noah, to comfort me, is it all just a game, it's driving us insane, but what can we do, we would be bored, so don't stop it, let's go forward, let's move, from year to year, my sister is my eternal tear, my brother is my silent scream, surrounded by sharkteeth, i must see how i get through there's a puzzle in my mind ... it has something to do with family and paradise

Jesus is my red suit, there are snakes surrounding the cross, adam and eve staring at each other, and the beast has another year of prey, i see the faces of my mom and daddy, and some family-faces weaving the days of the year

Prince

Can I hear the whisper, can I see the blind smile, Fading away, not able to follow the trace,
She was somewhere else, no one knew her name

And suddenly in a flash the king stood before me,
He had raised his locked treasures in the sky,
And now all these babies cry,
Can you open it for me, can you wipe away my tear,
Can you help me, I can't come through, these walls are aching me

Found a delicate prince, he liked no hierarchy, Poverty in his eyes, reprobation in his weak smile, Fainting away, fading away, all this beauty going away,
In a flash, he was somewhere else where no one knew his name

Fading away, it's always fading away,
And we are too weak to follow the trace, Fading away, this prince is fading away,
Before the morning has broken, before we unlock the windows and the doors, Not able to know what's going on

Barefooted

She was walking barefooted, he didn't have many clothes,
But he gave her his shoes, and she will be gone before he knows,
He was a shepherd's son, she was a delicate smile, There's not much time to turn me on, the pages die, the book has gone

She was a perpetual princess, too weak to wait, she couldn't come home,
He was a shepherd's son, although he had a graceful heart he couldn't stand her smile,
For now you are the sun, and I'm the moon,
You rule in daylight, while I fall in the afternoon,
You are the leader of this pit, and I am too weak to follow it, Harsh judgements come from guys like this

Found the leader's smile, she was a marionet,
She was barefooted, so I sold my boots, it was better like this,
She forgave me, while I run away with her smile,
But now I know business smiles always die,
Not able to follow traces, the morning takes everything away,
I can only rise and fall in the afternoon, that's all I can say

Found the liquid baby, she cried soft, I gave her my hand,
She took a bite, now do you understand,
Found the liquid baby on a hill, she ran away,
I had to forgive, but she didn't forgive, business smiles always die too soon

Please have a silent voice, you don't know what's going on,
This toy before me is about to break, Masterpieces always flow away, flow away, Found the silly doll, ornaments to take,
Bracelets on the hill, she's a liquid baby, liquid is her voice, don't know what's going on, business smiles like this always fall

Blind

Shepherd's boy coming close,
She refuses hands, she floats to the shore,
Being whole again, after the party she goes

Shepherd's boy just change the illusion, Won't she bring you another toy,
When the day is over see her watch and fall,
This criminal will fall

Shepherd's boy, I'm wondering why these days are frozen, You are frozen, while I'm passing by,
You cannot walk, you stand alone, Shepherd's boy why didn't you change the illusion, Following your mind, like the mirror's confusion, These reflections in your mind are all just blind

Waters and Waves

Can I follow you today, having so many things to share,
I have seen your treasures deep inside, let us have a good time,
I know you have such good ways to play the game,
And I'm a shimmering pirate on a plane,
Am diving when these things are burning,
Fresh, fresh waters and waves take me away

Can I follow you, I love your smile,
I love the poverty in your eyes, radiating eternal love,
This love will last forever, you have made this thing always going underwater,

Will you tell me all you know, will you give me feathers to come into your flow,
Or will you let me down at the end, telling me you have never been my friend

Oh cruelty, I fear you, this is why I'm just passing you by

The Mask

Girl, I will protect you, but I will never make an indian of you,
For you are from the black side, and I am from the red side, Maybe I was brown before, maybe I was like a girl before,
But you are from the black side, you are from the black side, Go home, I will tell you tales, protecting you, but I will never make an indian of you

Girl, I will protect you, speaking soft words to you, but I will never make an indian of you,
For you are from the pink side, you are from the pink side, Maybe I was brown before, maybe I was a girl before, Girl I will protect you, don't you know, girl I will tell you tales,
But I am from the red side, I will never make an indian of you

There were times I didn't care, there were times I loved to share,
But now I keep my doors so tight, throwing away so many delights,
For I will never make an indian of you, never make an indian of you, Girl, just try to walk over it, and come to me in disguise, Let's forget about the past, there's a day brandnew, Although I will never make an indian of you Never will I take you out of your lies,

For you chose to be here in disguise,
So many masks lying before me,
I will never make an indian of you, never make an indian of you

Indians

There is more behind the skies, this world is full of lies, These are the riddles of truth, my dear, the carriage from year to year, There are indians rising from the tear, It's burning here

Understand

There is understanding in you, I saw the spark, But all you do is lie, you hit the atom and you fell, Still you are a natural beauty, wrapped in silk, Made by wizards, although it's burning like a thrill

God

No one's standing on feet, God is calling, You weren't good this year, But he's just an old drunk man, beating the different drum

Right your Wrongs

He had some songs and words, he made me cry, The way he moved his lips would let the demons die, But then they rise like never before, Watch out, he's a misleading whore, He commits adultery with your mind in dark rooms, While the lights are on, His cigarets are moving like sparks, To create a hypnotic screen to right your wrongs And he said : I'll tell you the stories you won't understand, I'll make you rich, to cover everything up by a shell, In sea we will throw you, like underwater paradise palace, While you wake up, it was a long and hot night in Dallas

Miami Toys

With your chocolate cheeks, with your lips of muddy waters, It's killing me, I come alive again, by your smile, you make my head weak, Oh Indian Girl, you're spinning me around in a Shark Night, My consciousness I lose again and again, while strange magical drops lead me to your sands, Where the tears are there like lakes burning, telling about all these years Lady with the chocolate cheeks, high and muddy waters, Soothing all the panic, we are far away, in a Miami Cupboard, Where the toys play, It's all written in a book, but no one wants to leave it that way ...

Shark Night

I told you not to sleep tonight, it would be horror night, Shark is coming closer, this life has no end, Distance is a threat, so come out of your bed, Let us run through the forests these nights, Let me take you away to paradise

Lust of the Lord

I feel hate all around me, I feel blood all around me, feeling women sliding over my skin, I feel doubts terrorizing my mind, I feel life is against me, all it wants is to rape and kill, And I feel love, but I'm not interested, I do not care, for it just doesn't attract me, To my it's hypocrisy, it doesn't lead me far, I'm always losing myself in the midst of it I feel hate all around me, so much blood, while women are creeping over me, Did they lose something ? I am not interested, not attracted at all, it's just carnival, This isn't love, there is no love, for love doesn't exist, Please give me the lust of the Lord, and I'm done with it I feel hate all around me, now can't you shut up, These women their eyes suck blood, and I'm losing it, losing it, Until I touch the bottom of your heart, You're the lust of the Lord, yes, you're my baby in spring, After this winter, I finally fall in, It was a long cold night without you, oh the fright, And still they call it entertainment, still they call it shifting screen, California Morning, my daylight friend, Nothing but a Hollywood Station, nothing but a snowwhite embrace, you once gave me, Now the tears are still falling for this, tears are falling, still they call it bliss, California Candlelight, will I be home tonight

Elastic Man

Like the lips of a woman far away, I watch her when she passes by, there's so much fright inside of me, I cannot say that this woman brings me into extasy, she's a mystery, But she brings me close to the edge, I follow her ladder mystery inside my head, Cannot say she is my interest, for I'm always saying goodbye, I'm the man of elastics, when you pull me, I will fly away, I cannot help it, it doesn't seem to change, it only gets stronger, Fly bird fly, I have to go away Music Baby, driving me crazy Dream of me, in latin satin, shattered, growing, lusts undercover, subtle like a ray of light, Small enough to stop the fight in my head, dream of me, in latin satin, shattered, say goodbye, For we all have to fly, away, don't be somebody's prey, we are hitchhikers never get in, Never give in, never bleed away, just go away, just leave, you must agree, Tell me tales from a distance, and I won't listen, for there's music in my head, Music baby, driving me crazy, dream of me, in latin satin, latin life, and go away, This is not something to mess with, baby, leave and go away, Small enough to stop the fight in my head, baby, dream of me, in sands I say goodbye, The waves are getting me, never bleed away, just go away, around the table, Tell me tales from a distance, and I won't listen, for there's music in my head, Music baby, driving me crazy

Disguise

It's too late for me, you have found your prince, and I watch your temples and your castle, fireworks in your palace, I'm just an old old beggar, a bird telling lies, it's almost night, baby don't you cry, I will sing you a lullaby, I will sing my pain away, and your pains from the big yesterday, After the shipwreck, but now you found your prince, too late for me, I'm just an old old beggar bird telling lies, watching the skies without hope, Selling all my tragedies, selling them to the babies burning, selling them to those in iccold snow, Warm your heart by the candle of lies, for truth is just a spy, taking away our privacy, I rather come to you in disguise I am the man with the mask, blood behind the window, never touch, For you would hurt me so, I can never smile again, I can never watch daylight again, Come to me in disguise, let us escape this night, For truth would destroy us, it made us bitter, so let us lie, let us drink from this wine, I am the man with the mask, truth made me bitter, but I found a perfect disguise, To come to you in the night, I am the man with the mask, with a foot and a paw, creeping through your window, Let the lie make me smile again, for I got bitter and full of grief after my fall I am the man with a mask, truth hurt me so, it's never real, we must turn the deal, Will never cry anymore, will never bleed anymore, Come to you in disguise, in this bitter night, the mask will take away our fright, Watch me now, I'm young again, and you are still my friend, A friendly pencil made me again I am the man of a thousand tears, am the man of a thousand years, I am the man of the mask, always growing near, Like the spy of the big lie I am the man of the mask, man of the lullaby, baby, don't cry anymore, Everything is over now, everything is fine now, Wake up now

Chrystal and Glass

And I'm still screenbound after all these years, Still finding my way in desperate tears, All what I do is an excuse, the consumers suck, The horrible life of a superstar, We're all living in America, pierced at an indian's stake, A house of chrystal and glass He came from far away, fire in his eyes, He was a Vegas Machine, spreading so many lies, But still he's my friend, a ballgame, Don't hurt him, he's so young, What more can I say than that he is my son, And now he's the president of an army of roses, Begging for more power, begging for the ultimate possession, It's a perfect possession in his eyes, He's lying, here, but he's just in disguise, We will all find our way home, soldiers, We came here, but we lost our grip, In Belgium the girls still have soft boots and soft lips, Tell me what you're going to do tonight, I will climb up to the citylights, So many photo's in shatters, So many pictures of a comicbook, Say goodbye, my friend, don't let them bind you anymore, These indians, these indians, waves searching for their own shores, Let them go home as well, we were just men from the same story, But we were saved by a schoolboy's bell ... When you dream, do you remember me, I was always the one who washed the pictures of your mind and memory, I lost some grip this way, wasn't your girl anymore, dementia's on the shore, and I'm still a whore, Well, in many eyes, for they don't believe in disguise, They take everything like it is, like paper dice, Can I have you for christmas, the days go so fast, Can you bring some warmth into my letters, Everything is passing by And there is chrystal and glass changing my point of view, The way how I watched you, the way how I touched you, I'm more than Jesus Christ, I am the real life, Between chrystal and glass, in a zoo where it all started, Tied to the indian's bar, because a history had been closed, Waters are streaming, no one likes to drink here, Saloons of a broken heart Still there is fire in my song, can you hear me, Do you think I'm wrong, do you think I made you cry, Or am I the one where you belong, No warmth you will find in another woman's light America gave his only son, To right the wrong America, America, cowboys in Las Vegas, You told the world to climb on the roofs of your houses, America, America, it's still a conscience table, raising soldiers too soon, the birds must defend their tales

Where Snakes Shiver

And suddenly we're all in the flames of a conscience so insane, Time is getting slower, and the snakes of the playgrounds shiver, Ornaments fall down, this child has just lost it, going home where mother's frozen like a picture, Glass fell out of her hand, baby do you understand, Picture's getting brighter, we're in mothers all-denying, She has the lights in her eyes, she has the lights in her eyes, And she wants to lead us home tonight Take the train to the other side of the world, like the other side of the moon, to tales unheard, Break the screen, it's still messing with you baby, but someday someone will tell you, It was all misplaced devastation

American Riddle

Devastated we had to fight in vietnam,
Our sons got knives in their heart,
We couldn't rise, weren't fruitful,
But still we're doing it for you

Still there are standing indians before us, Hearts like tongues out of their mouths,
And then time stands still ...

American Cannibal

It's a wild west bible, he hides in his cellar,
This skeleton drinking strange wine,
In Holland they do not know each other,
In America it's pain bringing them together,
Their mouths are guns, their dreams are nuclear bombs

It's a wild wild west bible, if you ask me, girl,
These indians cannot breath, gotta show them the ladder to a paradise's misbelief, Don't believe all these men, they're full of stories,
But read it in your caravans, show your babes some fun,
It's ole grandfather telling stories,
Like ghosts rising from coffins and death, Told you not to drink that coffee, but now we're all glad,
After all a happy end

They call it the freedom of speech,
They rule us by a microphone,
It's a love-hate relation,
Baby can we end this show,
Or is this how life should be,
Living on in this American Dream on a bloody screen,
These are wild west guns, honey, we better hide,
We better take some cows for a ride,
These guys they never understand,

Tight cowboy faces, but their leader is my friend

Will save you, baby, out of their mouths,
Can hear your cry, but I can only dream aloud,
They say we never win, as this is a game,
And there should be winners like losers,
So turn the chessboard, baby, we must play and then hide

The Other Captain

I'm in a prison of sharks, and she is staring from a distance,
She said I did it wrong, and now I have to pay, but it takes too long,
Have been here all my life, the witch is saying, she always came to me in disguise, I'm in a prison of sharks, baby can you hear me, always fading away,
When someone comes near me, do not touch me, do not be cursed,
I know so many things are exploding when you answer me like that,
I'm a prisoner of sharks, baby, it's something I regret

I'm in a prison of sharks, so many lights around me, Truth is a spy, I don't have privacy,
It's too late for me, although you try to get me out,
I'm sliding away in this destiny,
I am a prisoner of sharks, wished I was a prisoner of dragons, Wished I was a prisoner of you

Please, let someone steal me away, kidnap me, Although it is too late, I'm too deep in this,
Will never find my way out, will you ever ever find me,
I'm a prisoner of a shark,
Have an implant deep inside of me,
Always telling me I speak too loud,
That what I did was wrong, so wrong,
And now I have to pay since I got born in this place,
All these sharks around me, so many years to waste,
I am a prisoner of a shark, wished I was a prisoner of you,

Please take me out, please let me be in your doubt,
Make him doubt, make him insecure, make him lose his mind,
Make his body tall, his eyes bloodred, we got to be the captain instead

Sex-Bomb

And I am from America, And I have still my socks low, And I am from America, not a girl like you, but I still love the show, And I am from America, I love to eat some ducks, To spit it out tomorrow, no one is against me, They all love the plot, And I am from a America, they call me a sex-bomb, I can do everything, and I can do a lot

The Musqueteer

It's the puppetmarket of porn, my baby, Don't cry, tomorrow it's gone, It's the puppetmarket of porn my baby, Will take you out of it, Show you where you belong, On a red velvet bench, Stretch yourself like tall lover never touch, The idea is you're all under sand, fighting like a musqueteer In a world bizar, I'm asking you, Do you love the love bizarre, spitting sand in the afternoon, A love supreme, coming to you, Dive away, for it's killing you, The day after you're like shatters in the papers, Someone said your name, and now it's all over, Like sauce over potatoe-sticks, They called you Donald Duck, bizarre friend, Donald Duck, pornographic ball inside of me, Lucifer is still my friend, Turning around, and no one understands, They're all in fire so insane, Did I tell you, you're the master of this show deep inside your brain, Didn't have to do anything with it, with this point of view so insane, Bizarre Donald Duck, sitting on the bench, all my lovers got stuck, And all my views had to bend, I had to belief in you, You were my mother's friend, but did I ever tell you that I hated you, I want to get out of you, but they will never understand, Is my desire too bizarre, is it a crime I want to escape, Bizarre Donald Duck, sitting on my bench, smoking pipes like Lucky Luke, with his hard voice, all walls are breaking, I see my neighbour's staring, What a day in Christmas Palace, Sauce on the porn, and sauce on my mind, then the eaters come, Who sais something is blind, it's like Christ getting potatoe dreams, Still cutting them, heads are bald like lucifers, climbing in my mind, And then it all explodes, can't you see the horror of this, baby, Can't you see them flying, it was just your denying, Raise the screen again, tell your stories again, Tell me I'm a liar, tell me you're my desire After three days all shatters on a table, Paper dice are rising in the skies, It used to be a holiday in Brasil, And now they're telling me with their big big faces, I was their enemy Do I have to die, in this Indian Lie, On this puppetmarket, while no one heard my cry, They didn't give me any chance, their judges shaking heads, I was their yesterday, I was their superstar in delay, Now we can jump on him and ride him, All his stars are fading away, now we can write him letters, Now we can say what we want to say, There's a musqueteer deep inside my dream, Baby, take it out of me, for this guy is killing me

Little Red Hood

She's painting my mind all over again, To her grandmother is a wolf now, She has grown up, got another point of view, Why are your eyes and mouth so big now, You must leave this family, as things don't seem to be right, You have grown up now girl, It was always like this, but now you have seen the light At nights they work, In daylight they sleep, Yes, they all work underground, Like miners having a fever, You don't doubt anymore, You have seen it clear She is painting my mind now over again, Got another point of view, I have grown up now, She walks tenderly and smiles, And then she turns away, I have to follow her to that place, Where she once gave her flowers away And after days it still seems dark, it's deeper now, She stares at me, like yesterday has grown older, We have to run away, don't want to be it's prey, It's all clear to me now, these years were killers somehow, Those with the biggest eyes have the biggest mouths, We have to run away from this house, I take her in my arms and run, We must leave this place, it has lost all it's grace And I am wondering who she is, She's grown up now, like a lady, Painting my mind all over again, There she runs, And I must follow her Little Red Hood, All she did was changing her point of view, These years they look so big now, Like it's hunting for prey, We must run away Little Red Hood, All faces have changed now, But it's all in your head, There was no one there, believe me, Just ghosts in your mind, running there, strange ink you brought me, heads on paper, but i didn't write these letters, it's something from out of space, we both must have gone crazy, like the situation has taken us away And still the wolf is your best friend, Still the wolf knows your silent sentiment, You speak in the wind to me, You're so far away, and that's frightening me, But I found another stone today, Found another place on which I could stay, Our love was not forever, Our love is now fading away, Like the sand divided by the wind, Our eyes are bigger now, Our mouths closed, but grown in height Candlelights paint the picture, It wasn't so far away, So take me away

Snow White

horror

Waiting for mother

On her bed she sits, thinking she has lost her life, thinking she can never have a breath again. Now the doctors have broken her, installed the big big lie ... Snow White, never say goodbye Mother asked her today, how come you are in such delay Then Snow White said : doctors have struck my head They didn't have mercy Only wanted to have a piece of the prey Some pieces are out of my arm I'm frozen, and I almost do not know what to say Mother why are you crying these doctors are only lying Their advices upside down They come straight from carnival Drunk as they are They are looking for mates in war Snow White don't you understand, all these views must come to an end There are soldiers all around us They are looking at us, like we are their enemies But we do not know them They are coming from an older memory Mother, I do not understand what you are saying These soldiers are standing between us It's like everything is breaking ... It's like I'm deaf and blind, leaving all things behind Mother what is taking me away Is it the whore, the killerwhore, searching for prey, is it the lady of the brothel, the madame, the senorita Why me, I am too young Need to wait for my chrystal coffin, for a prince of darkness to take me away Daughter, are you there ? I cannot hear you, cannot find you I wished I would hear your voice Everything is denying me They're saying I'm a whore, and daddy is a liar We have raised the marriage high, only to spread the desire They call us the trick of the brothel They call us scum Maybe the divorce will help them out of their ideas Maybe the drunk can help us, to get us out of their fears Oh mother, why are you crying will never be in denying I'll save you out, I'll send you my chrystal fire On the other side I found my doll He's burning like a christmas-doll In the divorce, I found a good reason to make a choice Throw all my burdens overboard Will embrace the Dark Lord ... Mother, don't you cry no more, I will be the next whore You can forget about your shame I will take it over, although it will kill my brains Will have the desire, to bring it to a good end Oh mother, why don't you understand Mother, don't you cry no more Don't listen to all these paper lies I will free you, take your work over, I have heard your prayer Will send my spell to you tonight No more burdens will be on your back No more crying No tales to break your neck All these lies will fade away I take possession of this prey I'm a predator Oh mother, you know I know I will eat them will never let them go home Game is over now Will raise your name Oh July, come home soon again You are my friend Snow White Goodbye I know you have come to my grave ... I know you have cried so many tears there I wasn't unaware Have counted all your tears and blooddrops for me I drank them all Will drink them all Listen to me, Snow White, your daughter is over you Take me away Take me to a place where we won't be prey anymore In this chrystal cage I'm shivering for evermore Still didn't found what I'm looking for This message is over soon And then I ask you : What are you going to do You know my voice, oh daughter of mine You know where I am Just come and glide away with me To new tales of our destiny Snow White Goodbye These doctors have taken me These doctors have broken me My bed was their table Like wolves they had dinner ... Like gods they found their sinner On their tables they have spred their scorpions to cut slices in their bread, They have tools to eat ... by medicines they have some light ...

Doctors come to me in my night, wanting me to give them delight, Like the flame I'm coming over them, like the flame I will leave them,

Will leave them alone in their dungeons The stars will be their doctors tonight Like the hours of Saturday, a ladder from the marriage to the prey My bed was a barbarian table their medicine to have some light ... like a slaughter-machine they watched me only caring about the money My bed was a barbarian dinner-table By medicine they entered my veins like the brothel for their pains Bloodthirsty they are these medicines, these trains inside looking for my heart to quench my lights Trains so deep inside These medicines are taking away all my delights Through the door of death they watch while the coins just bring their mind back An addictive mind, addicted to some sort of crack ... My bed was a barbarian table Someone took my heart away looking for some breakfast deep in my brain These hospitals are nothing but butcheries fast trains to mystery Brothels and machinery Trains and diplomacy It's taking the life out of me Still the hours of Saturday will lead me out Step by step they will take me out On their back they will take me, and still they break me Find the next station deep inside my memory Hours of Saturday they work together, Still taking me away, from the Marriage to the weather Invisible paths breaking below me I'm falling in their pits, They're still breaking me The coins are the weapons in their little play, Stinging their automatons for another ride Their letters are their huntingfields, Their notes are their little stirred up tragedies Oh how pathetic to see their plays Something is dying taking so much away Doctor, I know you, saw you on the huntingfields, Searching for prey smoking for the delay ... In the waitingrooms you kill them all, Call it carnival It's breaking my brains Your surgery is just slaughterery The coins in your eyes are just your visions of despise Doctor, doctor, you kill them all, In your small brothels you change them all Preparing them to deeper death, To become your soldiers Doctor, you're just a politician, You lost your way in carnival With your high words you deceive them all, By false promises, with your assistants you have underwear-fun, But when they found out you have no any cent, They slaughter you behind your back, and make you understand, What it means to be a rich man, but you never understand, For that's all the doctor's sleepsand You have them all in your killergrip You decide when and how they rise and fall Hours of saturday, take me away, Yes, hours of saturday, take me away

Silent Hand

When the toy pirate screams, the toy pirate dreams, the toy pirate runs away, will he escape from the box you planted When the toy soldiers dance, will we understand the things between you and me, they're always lying, always crying Toy soldiers from the box you created rolling there, falling there, it's amazing how they come out and how they're sliding back after the day they win Silent hand, silent scream, all between you and me, kiss me goodbye, on my hand, kiss me goodbye, this story will end ... Goodbye my love, goodbye my angel, running away, so many souls go astray She is flirting with the mirror, she is drinking from the wine, she is still doing the crime, ornament don't throw it away, I'm looking for a new embrace These tears they come like jewels, these tears they come like prides babies smiling wide with tears in their eyes Pirate dream a silent scream, silent hand, do you understand, it was not meant to be, it was not meant to be ... take another dance with me throw it all away and let us look behind us there is someone there so many souls go astray Can I help it, can I teach it, can I turn these days Away, it's all gone, all these souls have been gone astray Children count the days I'm married, married off to a pirate's dream, Oh please help me, throw some fire, help me out of this silent scream ... Silent hand take me away

The Mistress

Look into my eyes, my dear, they're running wild, searching for those in fear, Like the shivering, oh silent knight, oh toy knights come here to fight ... This place is cursed is doomed the years are over always over never finding their ways back home a tragedy And the tragedy like flying birds, they're all cursed And the toy knight says : baby why don't you hide, The mistress is ill spin me around Let us escape from her box and smile Do you know we knew her ... she was so sweet but now she's ill Let's escape my baby until she wakes up bringing us the thrill Can't hear her stories now My sister is always waking up, Please let us run away just run away Don't you know, we knew her Don't you know we adored her She always invited us to her home Let us escape from her box and smile Do you know so many ways to go So many ways to die, it's all coming near Show me some pride Do you know so much she has shown We know everything but let us escape now ... Take me away Silent toy knight take me away

Come Back to me

Come back to me, there are horses around us Come back to me they have told lies about us Now I am on my knees come back to me Now I want to see Have some pride Hold your head up high Take the memories away from you and me Close your eyes, can't you see all what I gave to you, Close your eyes, and feel the echo the echo's breaking through, Close your eyes, I cannot see Close your eyes I cannot feel But it's all coming close to me Come back to me tearing my machine

Misplaced in the jungle, ornament was screaming to me, got my bracelet in my hand, found the memory Then I had to fight, had to overcome Then I climbed the mountain, mountain-rock, where I dived away from Found an ornament of fear, found on ornament behind this year a memory so deep inside a perfect light Make it darker now, baby, come closer Found the ornament deep inside, it's speaking like you baby let's run and hide ...

You

Let the people say what they want to say, it's now between you and me enough of our own faces screaming, or being silent it's all about the memory They say I cannot come to where I belong, for I carry a gun They say my ornament is bleeding for I'm always in casino on Saturdays Baby, all what I want to say all what I want to do all what I want to hear is you

Sweet Canary

Roses to Mary, it's silent in the room There are pink curtains like fleeces between me and you They are watering like tears are falling, and then it's glue Roses to Mary in the room I'm opening the window and I see you Roses to Mary when you're not in town Roses to Mary, sweet canary Roses to Mary

Toys

Turn the toy Indians on, turn the toy cowboys off They have run for too long And raise the toy knights in the fight Toy pirates will come in the night And then watch the game watch the memory flame

Killer Dice

I wished I could hear you in this silent night I'm bored and lazy can't take another fight Still I want to hear your voice and read your books, display doll display doll nothing is too crazy I want to be with you Then you opened up the window and stepped in It was smelling like the candle You play games to win But I can never stand while I'm losing So I must cheat a bit Can I shuffle the cards this time And use my killer dice

Shiny Yellow Doors

Open the door, this time Open the door I'm dying here Can you take me inside to hide me for another year, You were always my shelter, now I stand alone outside Open the door, this time Open the door, I'm dying here Can you take me inside to hide me for another year, You were always my shelter, always bringing me through, So open the door, my dear Open all your yellow doors Your yellow doors, shining in the night Your yellow doors, standing on the shore Still my delight so open them, don't let me die here Please just put them open, here, in front of me and take me in I have been gone for such a long time, but I'm back again Still loving your yellow doors, especially when they spin around ... Yellow door, take me in again Don't let me die here on the shore Just take me in

Statue

I'm wondering why everything is running away Nothing is here to stay Time is running through my hand, it's like magic, I do not understand Oh, how I miss you but I'm not allowed to speak or hold on I must go further don't know why and that's the reason I cry Oh, how I want to call for you Oh how I want to open my doors to you But there's glass between us Everything is sliding away And I feel so weak so confused Why can't it stay All I can do is cry inside, but my face is hard I am a statue I'm a toy soldier only coming alive in the night The only thing I can do is sing Cannot help, cannot speak I only play piano The strings of your heart Bringing the message in Hope I do not have I fear you will never translate what I'm saying Hope I do not have nor trust I'm frightened confused lost inside Where can I hide My face is like a candle burning bright, But I can never speak I cannot trust daylight Always coming alive in the night

Save the Doll

Saving the doll, saving her smile, saving her letter, saving her goodbye's, Saving her golden glitters, saving her wine, saving her temple, saving her shrine, It's August here, but still it snows, It's raining also, a wonderful show,

Saving the doll, saving her glide, saving her machine spreading so wide, Saving her books, her jealousy breath, saving her underwater dream, It's alright with me, I can sleep again, I can rest my face on her dress,
I can be warm again, can be happy again, we're saving the dolls,
For yesterday couldn't make it bend, Save the doll, Save her smile, save the statue, save her style, Save her mission, save her silly scream, save her ornament, That's what she believes, she believes in you and me, Save these dolls, save their heads, save their arms, save their legs, Give them everything they need, for yesterday couldn't make them breath, Yesterday don't you ever return,
Save the doll

Say My Name

In the house where the statues are, house where they all gather once in awhile, I found a silly letter,
In the house where statues march, once in awhile they go outside,
While they shout, talking about this silly letter, talking about the weather, Turn your head to the sky, my baby is walking by

In the house where statues live, house on prairie, house on a statement of yesterday,
Can we return to that place, they love to say our names, Say my name, make me alive, say my name, and spread it all wide,
Let us dance like never before, and bring me to the morning-shore, Turn your head towards the sky, baby is walking by

In the house where statues live, such a long time ago,
But it's still in my memory, like yesterday, they're playing flutes and violins in delay, Say my name, oh baby, come alive maybe, say my name, of baby, come alive, baby, Tomorrow it will all be clear, there was no one really there Shoot !

Dolls behind the piano's, set them free, They're living there in slavery, Dolls behind the windows and the violins, Please set them free, they're walking between you and me, With so many letters, while we could save a third word, Shut up your mouth and listen to some tales unheard We need to do it different, baby, These monogamies keep them into slavery, Don't you long for the greater circles ? We can escape in celibacy Dolls behind the pictures, set them free, Statues behind the family, let's set them free, Baby, they are all marching between you and me, Monogamy keeps the armies alive, So let's shoot these guys

So Ripe

This baby lives in celibacy, she has a greater circle in her heart by which she breaths, Embracing all the layers of hidden life, This baby is blind, she doesn't need the big eye to slide, She's deaf, hearing the greater and secret sounds, She's a stretched plastic dream, She killed the beast of monogamy, so that she could reach you, You, the doll, so deep inside, you, the king, she, so ripe

I don't understand my own hardness, don't understand my own softness ...

I don't know where it goes, and I don't know where it's going to ...

All I know is I am a prisoner of myself, of something deeper I don't understand ...

There are simple things in life, but this is too difficult ...

The roaring pains in me ... I don't know what it's telling me ...

It is speaking in a language I do not understand,

Please let me wake up, to talk to myself ...

It seems the hardness never dies, but these roads before me are all dying ...

I cannot step forward because of my misunderstanding ...

I cannot move because of the unknown ...

It's so deep inside of me, I cannot reach it ...

Neither when I try it fast, neither when I try it slow ...

Please take me to the river inside, and talk to me, and help me figure it out ...

I'm too tired to do it on my own ...

They don't want to have their heads on the covers,

They don't want to have their names in the magazines,

All these girls they hide behind their brothers,

Watch the peanuts crash against the screens

Paint the screens all black my baby,

Hang the curtains, put a misty seal,

They cannot lie to you, my honey,

Don't you know wicked pirates, dirty deals

They don't want to have their heads on the covers, Don't want to have their names in the magazines,
All these girls they kiss their brothers, Hide my face from the machine

Paint the screens black my baby, Hang the curtains high,
Don't you know they cannot lie to you, my honey, Wicked pirates only cry

Too Much Pain

The flames of your words are burning me, Let's stop our conversation, baby,
It's like a war undercover, it's like a cold business scream, Let's leave life like this, and listen to some silent faces never spoke

The cars of our relationship are crashing against the walls,
Of all these misunderstandings,
We cannot reach each other right now, so why don't we just let it be,
Maybe we are just too wild, we need to be free

I cannot break the circle,
Why don't you come back to me,
I cannot jump across this mountain,
We must have a compromise,
This loneliness is killing me, but I still want to be free

I hate you, I miss you so, I am a slave, please let me go, Or one day I break free, and it will never be the same

I am a slave to my mind, a slave to my feelings, who invented this machine,
When I will be free I will be a hunter,
I will not let anything come close again,

For it's all there to enslave, and there's never a good compromise,
When I am free, I will be the hunter,
I will be the flame, letting no one come closer,
It's already too late I have too much pain

I'm watching the stars, there is no escape,
I have waited for years and years, but it never came, and I was always too late,
It's it my destiny to miss the last train do I need to die in silence
Do I need to drown in my tears but baby, if it would bring me to you It's worth it, then the ascet rules

I'm watching the stars, there is no escape,
My pains tied me to you I found you there in death's embrace Oh, fragile one, stronger than hell, from weakness words of power streams, Taking us both away from hell,
There is nothing anymore We will swim to a new shore

I'm watching the stars at night, is there an escape
Is there a friendly face taking my pain away On this island are you what I wanted you to be,
Or are you just more weight tied to my destiny

I'm watching the stars at night, faces mirroring in the sea, Like diamonds burning bright, escaping from you and me ...
Let us follow them, maybe they know a place Where we can all be free of this burden between you and me

Walking along the edge staring right through it someone has to confess Cannot see anything but still I feel so many flowers growing underneath and all i ever wanted to see were statues ... baby you and me we're statues bleeding, something is leaving something is always leaving something is always hiding something is always hating us yes, something is always dreaming of a world without you and me

Something is always telling me goodbye Something is always laughing when I cry yes, something is always misunderstanding me screaming when I speak screaming when I dream Is it the police like a heavy heritage of you and me

Something is always telling me that I shouldn't trust you, my baby, baby Something is always telling me that I can better run away run away But if I will run away with you If we can build this dreamcastle of so many toy soldiers between me and you playing just playing nothing can tell us anything what we need to do Anything is always silent when we speak, when we do it's always between me and you

Pale Lips

Raise the sword, lips are in fire, lips are warm and shiny pale Pale like the dragonlights between us Something is screaming, always screaming There are days we can better forget But something tries to remind us instead Baby you are my dream Something always disagrees Even now I try to hide Still this day is gone I'm sliding away I'm always sliding in circles waiting for the great day Will it ever come Or will it slide away forever Darling come we must live forever like the great day we must live forever slide away slide forever great day

No Lullabies

Baby we belong to this world but I'm searching for the traces while I'm sinking deep again I can better stop ... this path never ends I have given up all hope ... Orange speech lips of fire pale like dragonlights I have given up I'm sliding away no strength to go on hope is too heavy Slap me in my face Tell me I have failed Tell me I'm a criminal, deserving death, deserving to lose it all I don't have any hope I only have fear and despair I can never reach for your hand It's all sliding away I cannot remember you I'm too far gone So what's the deal, what are you fighting for It can never be the same

Close your eyes, give up the fight, forget about the lullaby, forget about the wild animal ...

Baby, we belong to this world but I'm searching for the traces while I'm sinking deep again, I can better stop this path never ends

I'm thinking of you like something of a thousand years ago I'm now standing in a hall with dragon tears like curtains diving in the oceans without you sailing on these pearls without you Silent tears coming through Baby, what will you do I'm thinking of you like something of a thousand years ago My mouth is full of lust and pride so dignified Silent tears coming through Baby what will you do, I'm thinking of you watching you

I'm unaware of so many things,

I'm unaware of the dreams I'm missing ...

Here, I gave up all my hopes,

I even gave up on you

I am the sun dying,

I am the sun flying,

All that I miss, all that I do,

is watching you ...

I'm unaware, I only stare, and watching you from the distance ...

I'm unaware of all the things you say to me ...

You aren't here, but you will be in my destiny ...

But I gave up all the hope, and I gave up all my dreams, and I gave up everything, I even gave up on you ...

I'm lost ... in a thousand spaces I'm shattered but I'm living on ...

I am the sun crying and sighing

I am the sun flying ... All that I do, all that I miss, all that I want,
is watching you

Can you smell the distance ... can you smell my pain ...
I'm wondering ... no one's coming they're all outside ... crying on your grave ... I still see shadows dancing like a fool ... like the sun touching the moon like the burdens going down ... all that they do ... is watching you

Where the Sun is Burning

Can you hear me, crying from the mountains, can you hear me going down ...
I'm going down to the grave, to see your face ...
Can you watch my hand, my ornament ...
Can you watch my face ... where the sun is burning Can you sit and dance, can you watch my face, where the sun is burning ... I'm watching you from the cloud ...
I'm watching you from behind My face is split ... I have attention I have attention I have no friends only attention ... only attention ... and where the sun is burning, and where the sun is burning ...
I found your name on a grave
You just lived hundreds of years ago ...
I don't even know you I don't even know you ...
Where the sun is burning where the sun is burning I found out you're just a bitter past of someone else Your daddy ... your mother your sister and your brother while I was just a breeze in the shadegetting born in future getting born on your grave ... where the sun is dancing where the sun is burning a feather on a wave a feather on a wave

A fantasy, a fantasy a fantasy is dying in me A fantasy a fantasy a fantasy is dying in me
I cannot stand the mystery ... I cannot stand the mystery I cannot find the mystery I'm in the end I'm in the beginning but I never find the mystery I never find the mystery It's just an echo in me

Like the waterfall of all my hidden tears I'm crying like a million years I'm dying inside but I will never find my inner pearl bleeding from behind I have watched your trousers drying in the rain I'm a morning in the evening I'm a feeling in the brain but I'll never find my history, I'll never find my hidden pain it's ecstasy sliding through this neverending vein vanity just vanity just vanity will speak to me too lame to raise my fist ... too lame to reach the shore i'm dying here in pleasure that's what you will ignore always ignore always see the lies are still in me

And all these vampire-creatures running through the night, Taking pieces of me away with them, not everything for they can't stand the light, Running away, sliding away, from a fire wanting them to fall,
A fire of prey

And all these vampire-creatures running in my heart,
They tore you and me apart,
They spoke lies, they loved to hit the wound,
Our love is dying now, our love is crying now,
But there is no mercy or care around

And all these vampire-creatures taking so many sights away, Do I still remember who you are,
Am I still watching you in my mind,
And all these vampire-creatures taking so many memories away,
Is it driving us insane, or is it for us the way out

Never Sundays (Raining Blood)

She's washing her clothes in the mud, she's coming down like the flood, screens are all overflowing. She's drinking milk from the newborn. It's on hell's tv tonight, on the eastside, screams of irony take place, for there's football in the stations, heads of the newborn falling down, the ironians are sitting on their thrones teaching them who master it all. Skins they suck empty, clothes washing in the mud, but she never washes it on sunday, for there aren't sundays here, and it never rains, it's only raining blood.

Easter of Prey

Ironian smiles, while tv's on, it's raining blood in hell, and the mud is strong, holding up a footballfield, but then it sinks away, to become the beast's prey. Ironian smiles, while another footballfield rises, where indian ironians run I never liked these guys, but they are entering in, until the beasts are tearing the grounds, opening up their mouths, while the public's irony is taking them away, it's time for another prey. And I see cows running on fields, while ironian smiles are high, until the blood rains. And then a voice shouts high and loud, all on hell's tv and then I'm putting it out. I go to sleep again, but someone is watching me closely with an ironic stare. I say I'm already in hell, so what do you want. But he's only there to bring me deeper, to a chessboard of prey. It's always winter here, always burning, shooting flames from inside out to be launched like a player. But can I run away, don't want to be a gladiator. Ironian smiles, while tv's on, it's raining blood in hell, and the mud is strong, holding up a chessboard, but then it sinks away, to become the beast's prey. Ironian smiles, while another chessboard rises, where indian ironians stand tall never liked these guys ... could never stand the words coming out of their mouths They jump and then they kill Their stares just spread the thrill It's taking so many hearts away They're always looking for prey Hell's tv, another mystery when I put it off, I just come into another part of this machine It never sleeps It always slides and creeps I can never breath If you win or lose the game ... Machine will swallow them all away Someone speaks ... fire and blood coming out of his mouth, like a spitting python, like a dragon and an idiot together He's the quizmaster of hell's television, when he speaks all the skeletons are burning, it's taking so much life away while the dead balls are rising, to become born again in hell, on the footballfields they cry They do not know the way But the ironians they take their heads and pray They shoot for prey All these babies find their cradles and cages All these babies fly home while the ironians smile They were never my types of guys Ironians, ironians, running after balls too far away And on the footballfields someone is dying, but the ironians do not care, for this is hell, ... more death will come to find it's way And someone on the footballfields is weeping but the ironians do not care for this is hell more tears will come to find their ways And milk is streaming forth from the newborn And all their mothers are drinking Milk to raise, rivers are rising, break the seal, someone's hiding behind Milk to raise, mothers screaming, break the seal, cannot live with yesterday Ironians do not care a lot christmasbells aren't ringing Then eastercows they enter having easterbells, while Spanish idiots play the fools I can't stand them, seeing them running after tables Break the seals Tomorrow we break the seals Tomorrow never comes, for it's always today The secret of the easter of prey

Wednesday Forever

Someone is rising, it's like the milkman, having milk from the newborn from hell Forget about the tales of football, it never comes They are running after tomorrow, a day which never comes Someone is rising, it's like the milkman, spanish ironians break the seals ... Can't you run away Can't you fly away, for there's no yesterday There's only a today And today it's Wednesday, it's like hell's day It can never turn around, it's always frozen, and a little flame is coming up to spread the fire Forever Wednesday, forever today, while balls in hell are burning, seal has been broken, by ironians of Brasil, white white milk is floating, from newborn faces of hell We have taken away, we have taken away the shell Someone took the helmet off, now there are snakes on the footballfields, finding their ways Break the seal today, please break the seal today, for today is forever, forever wednesday

Car Game (Flip the Flipper)

You have to flip good here, or you won't survive Flip good, and take a good dive ... There are flipperians on the road and now it's them against you Will you become one of them ? That's the question but they fight, and that's the truth Do you want to become a gladiator ? It will turn your life brandnew But you can better flip deeper than them, doing it better There are some ironians and idiots on the road It seems they have the Flip They're flip the flipper They have the flip in their pockets, look it's flipping out It's crashing through walls, and crying loud Then it flips over, and takes you by the throat You better flip better than them, or they will throw you off the road

Chicago

Killers on the road, like flippers, they have found eternal life on the bottoms of their cups Now they are like Holy Grails They're on their way to Chicago And I know it will put some switches And the rest will flow, freedom in slowmotion ... Time to think We're not in Africa anymore We have broken the seal Killers on the road, like flippers, they have found eternal life in the bottoms of their cups Now they have reached Chicago There's wine floating above their heads But this Car Game is also a threat For there are idiots on the road, and ironians And there are pigs in Chicago Pigs and Butchers but on this chessboard no one wins And you got to do the Car Game, but you won't get through, for there are idiots on the road, and ironians, giving you the boot Then you float back to Africa again wishing you would lay in Chicago's sand But only on christmas you get a ride And you know you won't make it, for the judges decide And in Africa it's never christmas, you're in hell, but there's a double bottom She's waiting for you in America a picture of the past

Peruomane

They came from far away ... It's now Africa, it's so insane These cowboys came from Peruomane, an America below the South where breasts and buttocks were just heads and nipples were mouths That's what Jim Morrison said But no one ever listens to him since he's dead Here idiots and ironians lived Jim Morrison never found the exit But is he still in, that's the question Or was he just a sightseer watching from a distance wall He's still our horizon this guy Can we go back to that place ? Africa's so lost since it was isolated from America Peruomane, it must just rise and never fall Got the butcher's switch in Chicago But butchers and pigs, they always fall away Peruomane rise, and start the carnival It's the forbidden tree of hell It's on television tonight, and Jim Morrison will shine more than ever. America, don't let your Africa fall again. I gave it to you. Care for it like a newborn baby. These are the words from the prophet, the spirit of the forbidden tree of hell. Peruomane, the Rise and Fall of Jim Morrison, but he will rise again.

The Tongue (All Fall Down)

Tongues of hell rising, forbidden trees, with the fruits of the dying So put your tongue out of your mouth Hang on the telephone the whole night, until hell takes you away in it's delight And according to Jim Morrison Europe was also a part of America in the past. And everyone was made of paint and light, in the deepest darkness And Jimmy had the paint-gun. It was the eternal tree of hell. So break the seal, it's carnival, drink the beer All fall down

Los Angeles

Got the switch in Los Angeles, here the screens bow, and send their lights ... Here the seals have been made We've been tricked by lights and paint And Flip the Flipper chews the lights like chewing gum His tongue is tall and thick Like snake's universe it coils around hell's forbidden trees There are no seals on the bottles here It streams having no end. And then the woodcutter comes to cut off the forbidden trees of hell with his axe Never christmas anymore Only easter, leading us to Tartarus ... There are cows on the roads now Never trains anymore Jim Morrison plays on the flute, the piper leading us to Tartarus His eyes are speaking His forehead speaks and his cheeks, displaying the A of anarchism. But in the cities, the ironians and idiots sell the old fruits of the forbidden trees Don't eat them, just slide away The women here are like forbidden trees Don't take them They will fade away They are like ghosts anyway always sliding away But what is left ? Only a painting of the forbidden trees. And an almost naked man stands before it. We're in hell's museum.

Redtime Lovesong

Girl, we must sacrifice each other this evening, We must say goodbye for the greater good, Giving each other back to a greater circle, This is what we have to do, We are just one-day-lovers, We never reach the end of the day As I'm getting weaker and your heart begins to beat, This is what we have to do for a greater good, Between me and you, The memory will fade away, and you will find another lover for one day, So look me deep in the eyes for the last time, I will wrap you in a blink, will let you shiver inside, You're such a paranoid girl, and I'm an autistic sight, We can never reach each other, but you will find another friend on tomorrow's shore, Just a one-day-friend, a passenger, all these days they pass us by, All these days they just pass us by

Frozen Friends

It's strange there are some friends with me, they always stay, They are frozen in time, can't get them out of my memory, They are like family, It seems like I need them, they're my breath, but still it's scary, There are things I never seem to forget, I think I'm frozen in this piece, seems I'm frozen in this clock, It seems I never can relate to the things deeper inside of me, Death is never the solution, for it will only create another frozen confusion, Please, red time take me out. It seems I have learned to watch the things by different eyes, It's like red time's on my back now, making the good compromise, All these frozen things around me, I can turn them in my head, Can mess them up in red time's wheel flowing through the night, Giving them the answers, to what they believe is right I have learned to shut up more, and to watch a second time, Seeing the bends I would never see if I would just talk and stare, I have learned to watch these things from the distance, And they seemed to be another one coming out of the confusion, It's now all clear to me, red time is the answer for you and me, The answer for you and me I have wasted so much anger, could only stare and talk, I was a gladiator of this machine, But now since I found the red talk, silent whispers in the night, Words fading away in strange delight, I could never watch things a second time, always the gladiator of your mind, coming from a greater circle, always solving the riddle of another fight, deeper in the mysteries of your night

Sane

I am your idiot, the gladiator of your mind, Always trying to prove that I'm not crazy and not bad, Always working to prove that I am not a liar, Why working so hard for an image I am not ? I do not fit in your boxes, the product of a certain point of view, Well I am not crazy enough, I need to be an idiot to break these chains, And then I probably burn in your hell, But that's better to be the gladiator of a mind so sane

Girl Inside

I'm an idiot, have to fly with your birds, Have to die with your goats, yes, they're coming from the waters, Telling you the tales unheard, it's like we have to play your conscience, Still gladiators, gladiators, rise and die, for there are so many girls inside I'm an idiot, have to fly with all your pigs, Have to die with them, gathering the seeds for tomorrow, Planting them one by one into all these girls inside, Still we are their gladiators in their night, Gladiators of a conscience so sane, so innocent, Why did we grasp all this fame, on hell's television it is tonight, Breaking all the bones of all the traitors inside, We can never open this door, we can never stand tall on it's shore, It has to be this way, for girls inside want to have a piece of the prey, These girls of the wheels, so cruel, but always sane and innocent, We are their lawyers, asking them why can't we be their judges, But we have to leave this crown, gotta ask them, cannot be the clown, Do not have the words for such answers, always fading away after everyday, Arena frozen in my mind, taking us back after the fight Girl inside, can you run and fly with me, can you let me free, Can you take a dive in the night, for the greater good, I know you're in an arena too, girls never like each other, Always jealousy, always gossip, but can you shut up for awhile, I know your also a gladiator, someone's idiot, but you have to learn how to sacrifice

Hell's TV

Memory like hell's tv, burning in the night, taking us back to the fight, we are the gladiators of someone's accusations. Need to burn home and house, all the furniture inside, don't forget the dolls of their children, such cruelty is never right. But we are gladiators of someone's conscience, gladiators on hell's tv tonight, burning like the memory We are gladiators of someone's desires, gladiators of a long lost romance, can you give it back tonight, we have to sacrifice it to the wheel A strange machine, gliding through our heads, like hell's tv And someone's on the radio while we are sleeping Cannot hear my own dreams tonight Memory like hell's tv, burning in the night, it's burning in my head and brains, it's burning in my eyes, cannot see the things of yesterday, I see everything different

The Goat and the Idiot

Hell is in fire, panic panic, all that we have build is now lost Hell's on fire, criminals burning ... What can we do now we've lost Can I buy some papers from you, a new silhouette Can I dream with you instead For all my cinema's are gone now There's a new show in hell, breaking my beautiful spell All these lights are turning, bending Bend over, girl, will lead you to another shore There's a great great wheel turning like hell's tv-show Hell is in fire, it's strange to me no cinema's anymore, only tv ... Do you want to have them all lazy now Tv in their own caves and I'm lost somehow Hell is in fire, cinema's burning voices on the radio tonight A goat is entering, with an idiot Please give me some light Or this will turn into a fight Voices on the tv ... rolling waters from the screen Can you quench the fire, smoking or do I have to watch my own screen

Wild

Can you dance in hell like this hallelujah, can you dance in hell like bubblegum ... roses are turning blue, white smoke from the waters Can you dance in hell like this hallelujah, dance like this, this year there won't be christmas Can you dance in hell like this hallelujah, frozen statues melt today, there are idiots swimming in the waters Sharks come out of their caves Can you dance, can you dance like this Can you dance, can you dance like this

Can you dance in hell like this, halleluja, christmas won't be here today, not in hell and not in heaven, only easter comes here for it's prey he's such an idiot such an idiot can you dance like him can you smoke like him and spit the fire he's on the fairground, lose or win

Say, can you dance like easter, can you dance like this idiot's smile Hell has been frozen over, but the flame inside makes everything wild

Days in Hell

When indians play football in hell, hell gets frozen over, only a little flame will burn inside, to change everything into another day These days in hell searching for prey You can do anything ... There are no laws here Only lusts for nothing is real Idiots they walk here Idiots have their smiles Like strange waters and strange flowers And someone is peeing in the skies These days in hell made everything wild When barbarians play football in hell with heads and testicles too big The sacrifice is wicked, and they're burning every christmas When idiots play football in hell Waves will grasp heaven Strange fist will crash them all These gladiators let every christmas fall ... To let a deeper easter rise, so evil Waves will enslave them all But all this only happens when someone plays with his little machine of carnival

Cruel Picture of a Boy's Friend

Mother, get me out of here, open the door Why did you lock me up here since I was two years old, you stupid whore Mother, please, I will be kind, don't leave me alone in the night Mother, why is it that I always get presents at christmas, but then you lock the door again It's like sinking in the sand Cruel picture of a boy's friend

These christmas-presents they sting and they lie, but they're my only friends in this darkness, and they never tell me why These friends are the idiots of my skies I can never think and dream when they're talking to me Talk to me please talk to me for my dreams are killing me Wished I had some easter-presents, like some little lights in my nights Ornament's so close, it stings me Wished I had some moments with another one's diary I know it can kill me but so what ? I was never alive ...

Why do I always have to live in this cellar But one day I will rise I will be a boy's friend in disguise It was all a cruel picture in a mother's mind Like a time-bomb she is She's a dressed up idiot Mother, get me out of here I hear you're having parties upstairs, you wicked whore Mother why did you lock me up here since I was two years old I never had the chance to see the daylight Never had the chance to go to school I'm only living here with these christmas-presents So please, open the door

Can I have some easter-presents, some moments with another one's diary I know it can kill me But so what ? I was never alive Or am I now a paranoid, baby Let me out from here, baby Just for one night And then I'll sink away again to my private hell without a light ... Just one night, I beg you, baby, and then I will slowly fade away To close the diary of you and me together I promise you will forget everything I say

Major Spell

Something is moving in hell ... Idiots do a major spell Crowns are falling off everyone is free ... New Year's taking of For everything turns backwards in hell after such a spell There are idiots on TV Cows and clean roads between you and me

Too Late

On hell's tv today, o woman like a widow, help and pray, she lost her children in the dark Lost her husband by a shark On hell's tv today I'm wondering am I alone here ... No, there are some skeletons in the waters behind me Waiting till the overflow On hell's tv today A man with a high hat telling them all they have to pray, for satan's here, this idiot, he will spread the fear And he will set the angels out of their cages Won't go back to that place, where he had built his puppetspace puppetmarkets God is just an ellebow away On hell's tv today a mother weeps, for christmasbells don't ring anymore, only easterbells like cowbells, and there are cowboys on the shores Sometimes I want to scream to God, but who is he ? He's just a puppet from a madman's diary Madmen on the street Madmen in the skies Madmen all over me On hell's tv today, a brother searching for his sister, searching her for she could pray, he doesn't have a voice and a conscience Brothers on the streets today, searching for their sisters, for they could pray, while they were too far away Can I have just one prayer out of your mouth, can you write it down for me, before I take the road into the deep On hell's tv today, sharks come out of their cages, cows are on the roads today, where are the trains And lucifer is smiling, because he has a great day, for his god is dying, and now he can take the other way Is this the end of all our prayers, is this the end of all our christmasses anyway On hell's tv tomorrow a little voice will do it's prayer, but then satan comes to break the last snare Satan can you rise, you had these puppetmarkets in disguise, you had these churches on your back, your marionets moving by your strings, tell them all their god is in a free fall flying towards seas of fire satan will burn them all just a madman's carnival There's urine on the stairs Satan smiles today He has burnt some of his puppets, the ones who used to pray ... When will this nightmare ends, no one understands No one will pick something up from it It's just a madman's play While the idiots are still following his diary On hell's tv yesterday ... Someone lost it on his way He's crying looking for his children His wife took them away She was the puppet of a madman's diary the puppet of a strange strange society Can we help her today, can we cut the strings and take her away For when her husband will find her, she will be meat on the plate Please, madman do something, or it will be too late (It's already too late) ... Go there or it will be too late (It's already too late) Please, go there, or it will be too late (It's already too late)

Spear

She stood there before me, the picture had been frozen, while I was staring, such a naked sight, could see her bones through her skin She watched me like she would watch sharks, she shivered ... and then she took a knife and ran towards me to kiss me, and then she moved like an idiot all over me Who's up who's under who's sun who's thunder who's winter who's summer it's burning anyway why do you scream why do you yell this pretty dream is just the hell's shell You still play with toys girl, still play with rabbits and teddybears You have to ride a horse, and growing into a spear

No complaints

There are heads on the water, men in a boat ... These are the idiots, everyone is dying Everyone is shivering Pictures get frozen in the heads like seconds take a thousand years Where are all your criminals now, did they hide this year ? People screaming to their gods, but only sharks are coming forth. There are heads on the water, men in a boat, these are the idiots, you better stop talking, better stop dreaming, better stop lying ... They hear everything, they slide through your walls but in the end they crash down in their falls first they cry a lot, crying loud, and then they scream your name, these are the idiots, think twice before you start to complain.

Sacrifice

I have a wound, I was on hell's tv today, people were buying their heads away It was dope, so that they didn't have to pray ... Then they took their glasses Staring into the crowds below them, while spitting loud And I have a wound, like a big tattoo All I do is scream but it's only a dream Idiots came to me today They raised me up, they gave me power, but at the end of the day I gotto take a shower while everything was in delay My ornament was burning, turning My ornament screamed my name, like I was in big fame I was like a president, throwing my crown away And now I am the idiot of idiots Now I am searching for prey like them but it was just my way to tell them about another day I am an idiot of prey, since you stared at me since you took my breath away You raised me high, and then you let me fall, to be a part of your carnival Didn't know you would be so creative after all And now I have the tattoo I was on hell's tv And I met you again Like the power of some superwoman You're drawn by the thunder I was drawn by the sky In us the sun went down under While we were laughing, telling each other goodbye Goodbye for the last time Hope I will never see you again I met you in disguise so many other times Even after the sacrifice

Idiots of Brasil

Finally I reached hell in my death Finally I could take the bridge to leave this shell It had bothered me throughout the years Finally I was in hell to watch your tear I took a dive, and told you : honey, you will survive For we are with the idiots Idiots are growing in us Idiots take our souls away On hell's tv I met you We're waiting for the next day We watch the cows below us, they're running to make way turning everything backwards searching for prey These are the cows of prey Raised by the idiots of Spain And there are French idiots on their way, to take the last train

Idiots of Spain they're marching, having no mercy, only cruelty is flowing through their veins ... While someone is crying, they only push the spear deeper They have lost their way While Indian idiots with so many flags, colourfull, while someone's vomitting, someone's breathing hard and loud, while someone's kicking harder Are we in a classroom today The teacher's voice is slowly fading away They are the truants, they never love us Teacher tells goodbye They're teasing us by their soft lies, about paradises too far away for our understandings, well I will take the road to hell instead, on a shimmering tv-day My hero fell out of the machine today I have taken his hand taking him away Paradise will never be the same

Idiots and Donkeys (No Choice)

You have a mind on your own, and I cannot follow it, for it's always changing, always shifting before my eyes, you try to make me insane ... So I rather choose the road to hell To scream with idiots and donkeys All what it takes to quench your voice ... It's penetrating me I do not have another choice All what takes to bring you down, all what takes to quench your voice, I swear on my mothers grave ... I do not have another choice Than to scream with idiots and donkeys.

Sarcasm

He walks with bones around his arms, With muscles on his back and chest, But these aren't his, He's a vampire boy on his way to sarcastic bliss, Through your mouth he speaks, He takes your head and then he bleeds

Knife in the Middle

Put the knife in the middle, Where the cake is soft, where meat is hiding, Everyone is sliding away Put the knife in the middle, where girls stand tall they have raised their nipples, Where all the milk flows, something grows, Or is it me becoming wise, is it me opening my eyes, Nothing is moving anymore, I'm sliding over frozen statues, Over roofs and through the darkness, only my own lights form these grey moving pictures, Of a song once died out Close your eyes, get the picture, We've been tied to a wheel, Another point of view, higher flames than this, it's over between me and you, I found another prince, This prince of june, He's a vampire's heart, he's a tale unheard, he's speaking where you can never hear him, All he wants to do, is taking a part away from you Put the knife in the middle, Where it's easy to cut and slide, Where the mud has sunk much deeper, In a tale where we will unite, As a prince with his princess, oh so wise, oh so wise, but the queen and king are just knives in disguise, run away, for it's the day of sacrifice

Kiss of Prey

Covered by skulls, covered by rotting meat, He kisses the bride, and it all slides away, It is the kiss of prey Slowly he comes near, When he leaves there's death all around, When he kisses it's the first and the last time, Kisses of prey, their shadows always stay I said go away, I said don't you come here anymore, I know what you are all about, Baby, you're a kiss of prey, Once showing yourself you slowly turn your head away, It's like the fire is burning, We cannot control this love, Kisses of prey, always taking everything away

My Lullaby

Thought I would call this new girl, She's so damned insecure, When you're shy, keep fading away, To the land high in the sky, Making us all wondering why So I called this new girl, So damned insecure, She stuttered on the phone, And I said baby I will lead you home, And then she started to cry her mother died today, And her lover decided to slide slowly away When morning comes everything will be over, Everything will appear so insane, When morning comes hell will be frozen over, Come with me, my lullaby, no one will know why

Float Away

Tell me what is important, The sky is full of fools, One day we will break through, Everything will disappear, Everything will be forgotten, A new year is coming near Tell me what is of use, The waters are full of fools, Telling we are criminals, Everything will be frozen, Everything will fade away and float away I want to forget about it all, To lay it down and freeze it all, It has to stop now it's breaking my mind I want to leave it all behind, I'm in this prison, like an eternal night, I cannot see you, but you're standing there, You're arms wide open, touching my sensitive snare Can you take me away, To another point of view, please tell me it wasn't true, Can you take me away, can you change to pictures in my head, Can you crash my memory Your dress is whiter than the whitest white, It's getting clear to me, you're washing my memory, Your inner healing is shining through, there's fantasy between me and you, stronger than death, stronger than life, stronger than my memory, I will survive I cannot change time, but i'm fighting against it in a hopeless arena, Is this my fate, take me away, is there any chance to escape ? I cannot change time, I'm broken inside, but time's a trickster, I must lead my own life

Delirium

You must wake up, my child, Everything is growing outside, We have conquered conscience, We have travelled through the night, You must wake up, my love, Everything is growing inside, It's the last delight, and then the morning comes, We will be in the fields together, They won't take us away, for we are dreaming, fading, Growing inside, like a lucifer in a darker night, Coming up from the morning to take our space away, dogs and horses are running, baby, let us be weak, Baby, it's already time to sleep, Hold my hand, we have conquered time and thinking, We have stopped it all, we can take the train for another fall, Deeper inside, only deeper inside, we do not need anything coming from behind, We're deeper inside, deeper inside, baby let's hide in the night, Here we will get our pictures clear, Everything looks so insane, delirium takes us into another year

The System Left You

She said
The system left you,
you gonna need the harder times,
The system left you,
and it will bite you out of line
The system left you,
gotta need the harder hit,
The system left you,

Mother's Sky

These creatures looking for a place to hide, lay them down, deep inside
These creatures need some place to sleep,
They are running to the night,

The creatures in the sky,
lay down, deep inside,
the creatures in the sky,

lay them down, far behind

Don't you know when mother's speaking, got to know the mother's sky

Enchanting the Marionet

Cry for the urban renewal, cry for a heart full of tears, these waterfalls, these waterfalls, they bring water to all who hears.

Remember my name,
when your dreams are over,
I will lead you to the finishline,
these boys from lynx bring you over the hills,
in a green car, in a strange household,
where all materials move.

Remember my name,
when your dreams are over,
I will lead you to the finishline,
these boys from lynx bring you over the hills,
in a green car, in a strange household,
where all materials move.

It's a strange sort of glue ... it's horror, but that's all hardening them,
no problem for echo ...
this boy designed by harems your mother sewed in your suit all sifted by the kettles, she's still .. enchanting the marionet ... in strange lipsticks' rythm she's enchanting the marionet ... until he's home again still the hard spray in your mind ... dim lights in the night,

from the dark chrystal,
your mother sewed in your suit ...
no problem for echo ...
this boy designed by harems marching under lipsticks' rythms,
enchanting the marionet

in black sand he lives, sending prisoners downstairs,
it's horror, but that's all hardening them, they will be sold by a public's touch,
no problem for echo ...

this boy designed by harems
marching under lipsticks' rythms, enchanted the marionet

Remember my name,
when your dreams are over,
I will lead you to the finishline,
these boys from lynx bring you over the hills,
in a green car, in a strange household,
where all materials move.

Remember my name,
when your dreams are over,
I will lead you to your destiny,
these boys from lynx bring you over the hills,
in a green car, in a strange household,
where all materials move.

Ornament of Speech

Chrystal dreamers, walking from the top of spring, Chrystal dreamers walking from the top of spring,
to all nations,
chrystal dreamers flow to the sunlight, dreams cannot be forgotten there, where nations fall in the night, where the sun let them down, but tomorrow there will be sun's grip again, on the ornament of speech

Chrystal dreamers, going down under, waiting for the sun to touch their waters, Chrystal dreamers going down under,
searching for the white pink, standing on aldan's coasts, riding the white rabbits, the mysterious pipers, attracting the doves from their roofs ...

Tucan boys,
They know the sensitive spots,
They still throw stones in them, watching the waves their clothes are getting older they are loved in schools, they are loved in bed, with sentimental juices, gliding through their brains, touching their hidden horizons,

they are loved in schools, they are loved in bed, when their sentimental ornaments start to get shy, these ornaments of speech, these ornaments of whispers without words.

i am watching my brains today, i am watching my ornament of speech, gliding through the day, like a snake hunting

Their boots are wet, their heads and hands are cold, grasping like rats hearts are warm, for flames burn there ... masters of the veils of illusion ...
Soothing the mass into sleep at the ends of the days and seasons

Prince of Autumn

She's sewing her son's beard on his face again
..... I can see the mosaic of the old church again
A cathedral in the forest again
The tall windows still speak to my mind again ... and again ... and again ... and again and again ... and again

They all live in that old church again ... the old spinners, ravens beyond the faery's world
They are gathering my old dreams in the forest again ...
The cuckoo is staring at me again ...

I'm hearing the echo's of the embroiderer she's standing tall in the tall church of the old little town Everything is small there, I see small trains and small stations with little conductors Where is she going to ? I see her going to the sea, fishing at the drowned little people and toy-trains they are like little tin soldiers but I also see little bank-managers She gathers them in her hat, and dives in the ocean to become a mermaid

The lion loves to see her swimming It reminds him of the time he could swim Now he's sick, lying in his bed day in day out He never wants to go back to the sea, although he had a good time there Now he's writing night-tales, and listening to his birds all the time ... The lion has a warm heart for her, he loves to dry her with his tall towels bringing her to the tower-attic again There she spins his dreams old champions

Sick lions are wandering through the streets of Virgo There she slides through the Northern wind She changes into an icycle

Maria Magdalena finally finds her son, he almost died in the rain Now he's autumn's prince, riding the horse of spring finding a pair of lady's shoes with high heels in the forest Kissing them and bringing them to his mother She smiles deep, now she can run through the forest

A bunny is gathering the acorns for the winter, disappearing in the summer's rain

In first day of spring, I saw an octo smiling, he finally reached the forest, he finally reached the wet dresses, singing in the rain, the ornament is swelling on his finger, it's now an autumn's prince it's such a pretty autumn's town, you're spinning around like mud on tables, raising the forest, for another day near the beach

You're such a pretty autumn's prince, you're spinning around like classroom tables, spinning around like deserts in a dream ...

Black and White

What's this dress,
my hands are full of shatters, heritage from the crash, she didn't want to die

What's this dress,
Can you give it some emotion, can you give it some colour, it's a heritage from my mother, and my sister doesn't live anymore ...

A spanish dream took her away, on clouds so high i couldn't reach it, this animal didn't want to die, oh far away from these places, she still lives in a dream, she showed me the beak of a swan.

You, oh prince, you came from white mountains, wrapping snow-clouds around your shoulders, breathing snowflakes in and out. You, oh prince, your mother didn't raise you, but a white blanket did.

Now this ornament looks pale, now this ornament looks tender, while the sophisticated men walk so tall. Now this ornament is shy, now this ornament grows greyer, for the sophisticated men wanted to be black and white.

Now this ornament looks pale, now this ornament looks tender, while the sophisticated men walk so tall. Now this ornament is shy, now this ornament grows greyer, for the sophisticated men wanted to be black and white.

You oh prince of satin, you oh prince of green, walking in solutions, you think you have seen, walking in tall leather, walking side by side, screaming like there is no other day. Satin scream, broken dream, when you will reach the city, my son, they will burn your velvet ships sink.

But they will give you the treasures.

Now this ornament looks pale, now this ornament looks tender, while the sophisticated men walk so tall. Now this ornament is shy, now this ornament grows greyer, for the sophisticated men wanted to be black and white.

Now this ornament looks pale, now this ornament looks tender, while the sophisticated men walk so tall. Now this ornament is shy, now this ornament grows greyer, for the sophisticated men wanted to be black and white.

Now I Have No Time To See It

You said the show was over,
You said the cold was over,
You said your dog was bleeding, but now I have no time to see it,
You said it's never ending,
You said our rooms were blending, You said it's never leaving,
but now I have no time to see it.

You said you're mother's screaming,
You said no time for leaving,
You said that now you're hurt,
but now I have no time to see it,
You said the tears you're crying,
It's like they're never dying.
You said this hour there's hope,
but now I have no time to see it

You said the snow had ended, you said the cold had ended, you said the trees were burning,
but now I have no time to see it,
You said your mother turned it, you said a miracle's through it, you said no time to leave,

but now I have no time to see it

Proclaimed Rights

Paralyzing fires, ornament dreams, hunter comes closer, dances and screams, hunter takes place, on his beast, witches are dying, for they don't belief, but hey this girl is crying, hey this girl she stopped denying, ride with the hunter to everlasting sights

Paralyzing lives, paralyzing fires, snakes are rising, Won't listen to me, I am on one knee, Paralyzing desires, tender nights, it cannot save you this time, for there are hunters with their lights, Stretching the leather, sweeping the dust, with their nights the lust

Watchfull ornament, piercing cry, he tries but she's breaking his lies, Hunter comes closer, changing the sights, in blood always denied, Raising his sword to come through

I was an archer all my life, but now I only use a dagger, Come to me and I will set you free, on dark horses we find the night,
With their nights the lust, proclaim my rights

On Black Horses

On horses too tall, the art of hunting, wake up call, Bloodflies, side by side, swarms deep in the night, proclaimed my rights

On horses tall they enter the lights and the fires, vanishing before my eyes, like the invisible strike, in mornings dark fires, the blood of the cry

On horses they sit and then they fall, art of hunting is raising them tall,
So many wounds, and scars never seem to fit, this land is dying, the hunter is crying, hunter hunter, martyr

On black leather, sands of the grey, sands of the water, Take me away, on black roads, mud between the fire, Faces are haunting I cannot deny,
Take me through the flames, through the dark dark nights,
On black black roads, on black black desires, Suffering instead of lying,
Gotto be honest with myself, the art of hunting is crying, Cannot leave this girl, but she's eversliding

On black horses she rides, Guns are tall, a wicked harpoon, better days before me, Better words, shadows in the nights, luring me deeper inside, Look, I'm in a torn decision, hear my cry, my desperate cry,
On black horses she rides, giving me her sights, Shapeshifting in the night, these bloody nights

Soldier Rise

On torn clothes I slide, forest didn't have mercy on me, Still on one knee, still with half desires, taking me away in the nights, Half delights, causing blood and misery, art of hunting, rise, be my destiny,
How can you be humble among these beasts, as they will eat you alive and enslave you, Better be pride and bitter, take it to your belief

Stand up for your rights, powersoldiers are speaking,

The art of sitting is done, the art of suffering is gone, Claim the hunter, claim his desire, or we can't make it through the night,
All these beasts raise tall, but who are we, we are too humble, Mixed up by christian fairytales, oh soldier rise

Come with Me

Can I take you there, high in the sky,
There's a rabbit kingdom, we will always smile,
Those waterfalls will wash your tears away,
Can I take you there, so high in the sky,
On horses we will go there,
They have their wings wide,
They have always covered you,
But come now, with me, into the skies,
There's a rabbit kingdom waiting, we will always smile

And the waterfalls will wash your tears away, will wash your brains of memories, will wash away your days,
And the waterfalls will wash your thoughts away, let us go insane, let us go insane, for our sanity is eating us away

Smile Away Forever

Someone's knocking on my door,
Telling me the tears are over,
Let's smile forever,

Someone's knocking on my door,
Telling all our fears are over now,
She leads me into the skies

There is a way to find me deep in your dreams,
There is a way to glide into my streams,
There is a way to hold it close to you,
Let's smile away forever, let's smile away together

Someone's knocking on my door,
Telling me the tears are over,
Let's smile forever, wipe the tears from your eyes, Come with me across the skies

There is a way to find me deep in your dreams,
There is a way to glide into my streams,
There is a way to hold it close to you,
Let's smile away forever, let's smile away together

The Letter

Cities, full of rabbitfeathers, Cities, full of rabbitmarkets and fairygrounds, While trains are moving loud,
In the distance grasp the letter,
Read it by your mind,
You have the rabbit eye so deep inside,
Watching all the colours,

Of the world that is to come,
In a Rabbit Kingdom we will all stand strong

So dance with me, ballerina, let us sing the song again,
Let us bow down to the stories in the sand,
So dance with me, ballerina, let us sing the song again,
Let us build our precious sandcastles to live there without end

She wrote you a letter,
About a kingdom so far away,
She is living there all alone,
Why don't you let her take you away,
And all your friends,
It can be fun living in the sands

So dance with me, ballerina, let us sing the song again,
Let us bow down to the stories in the sand,
So dance with me, ballerina, let us sing the song again,
Let us build our precious sandcastles to live there without end

You Are My Fantasy

You are my light when I stand up,
You are my light, you are my beach,
You are my light that keeps me going,
You are like my sands of time,
You are my lights in the sky,
Covering me, always letting me dream,

Never waking me,
Dreaming, never waking, dreaming never waking,
You are my fantasy,
of a rabbit kingdom deep inside of me

Baby, It's Me

I know you have the strength to build this world,
You carry the seed, the fantasy,
You found it once on the shore,
Of a fairytale deep down there in your heart,
You found it when you broke apart,
Now you are like the fountain,
Now you are like the summer's stream
You are full of creativity, Baby, it's me

Change So Fast

You must forget about your past,
There's nothing fun there,
The lights of venus will wash our memories away,
They will do it layer by layer, They're building step by step,
There's nothing worthy to remember, Everything will change,
change so fast

The Water

In the morning I wake up,
To see your lovely face,
We will never fall asleep again,
I'm holding you tight

Drink some water, drink some water, from the venus fountain, Step on sand and step in water,
It's flowing there to make a new world

Come to the water, let it wash you brandnew, Slide into the water, and let it cover you, Let it come over you,
We will never fall asleep again

yesterday evolution flower, evolution friend, evolution waters, evolution's coming to an end, as we rise, delivered from the cage, transformed and taken by the flame, evolution fire, died out at the end of the day, the night is falling upon us, it's screaming loud, there's a tender one among us, it's preaching like the waterfall, in tender rivers we fall, away, in endless days where are the sunlights of this morningship, it looks so grey it takes us away, back to the night again, we cannot stop it, we cannot stop from falling, we cannot reach out for tomorrow, like the night has swallowed us, it's yesterday showing us the loss, oh yesterday i'm falling in your arms again, oh yesterday you smile and make us understand, oh yesterday it's killing me again, when lovers will be friends, lovers only friends where are the sunbeats of the morningsky, it's never there, taking us back to all the pain, until we understand, we cannot stop from going back, we cannot stop from falling down, to yesterday, i'm falling in your arms again, oh yesterday like killing time, killing all the other sides, tomorrow never comes, it's yesterday where we belong, and yesterday we're growing to the night again, until we understand, we cannot stop from going back, and yesterday, we're growing strong, we're growing in the morningside, watching all these lights fading away ordinary day

i am your lover many lightyears away, i was your lover many times away, in the morningsky, aha,
i was your tender cigaret when morning faded away, caught by the afternoon, it's playtime fool, and in the evening i caught your smile, please play with me again, let's shoot the butterflies by sand, for there is no other way, there is no other play, there is no other cocoon, there is no better way, on this ordinary day ordinary day, not so far away, ordinary day, reach out, ordinary day, until it flies away, shoot the butterflies by sand, make them understand, ordinary day, don't kill our butterflies, take them away by an ordinary day ordinary day, ordinary day, ordinary day, an ordinary day trembling in the skylight, standing wide, blocking all these trains, i'm trembling in daylight, till evening light will overcome, when we know where we belong, ordinary day, take us away troll

they came from far away, taking us by surprise, in their trains of light, dancing like a fool, you always played it cool, now my head's on fire

take a train, a train of view, don't be shy, we got things to do, don't throw it away, baby, don't play the fool, gotta dance with you,
take a train, a train of view, don't be shy, got a lot of things to do, so baby, don't you throw it all away, don't play the fool, i gotta dance with you labyrinth of love

where deep inside the waterfalls are flowing, can you hear my voice, i'm in trouble, tro-o-ouble, come out and watch me, watch my lights, i sing for you, in these trafficlghts, on these stairwaylights, i want to be with you, don't go away, don't be swallowed by the day, where your diamonds, where your plays are covered by my hand, i'm speaking to you, your inner friend, hey hello, can you hear me, can you hear my voice through the waterfall, don't be swallowed by the day, don't be swallowed by the days, come away with me, let us flee, to the inside world, to watch the inside world, there's nothing worthy outside, all illusion, find the riddle speaking, riddles to the doorways inside, come with me, let us hide, in this labyrinth of love, can i hold you, can you find me, can you come along with me, in the fire we go strong, in the fire we belong, let's shapeshift into another dream, for we are the key, we are the key of love labyrinth of love, oh labyrinth of love, let us see, labyrinth of love, coming from beyond, swallowing it all away, hunting for it's prey, you and me, we're finally, together we are strong, you are my key, you are my force and glory, you are my destiny, don't slip away, baby, don't laugh away, we gotta find the way, you are the key, baby, you are the key of love, please answer me, you are the key, i'm finally, finally growing, growing strong, to these days i belong can you find me in this labyrinth of love, i have searched for you a thousand time, but you were never home, always wild, always like the fire, baby, always like the haunting key, in this labyrinth of love, always changing, always moving, like the dance of love, coming from beyond delight

i remember, on a day so bright, stars were falling, saw you in delight, saw you moving your body by the wind, this wind of love, are you kidding me, are you kidding me, you look like a marionet, like a supertroll, wide eyes, mouth open, tongues are reaching out to me, speaking about so many things, can't you shut your mouth, i try to dream away, i try to take the last train, trains away from you, closing all these doors, to finally come through, i remember on a day so bright, stars were falling, you were in such a delight

all washed away

when circles end, when will you understand, you're playing girl, with the dolls to be a thrill, like the marionet, trying to take my life away, you're playing girl, dangerous girl, you pushed the knife so deep inside, what can i say to you, on a day like this, i'll remember it for always, remember it for always, i'm now a desperate witch, you made me like this, like the beast underwater, waiting for the flame, to take it all away, my dreams don't have a meaning, so burn it all away, bright days come to take it all away, girl, take it all away, for the bright lights will take it all away, so take it all away, it's a neverending play, this neverending play, so put up your make-up, put up your sentiment, put on the sand, and be the baby, there is nothing to lose, put up the stare, cold as ice, put up the bloody desire, and spread your lies, for days so bright like this will take it all away, so take your chance, baby, wash these dreams all away, for bright lights come today, shoot for the last time, shoot to make your prey, for then it will be all washed away, for then it will be all washed away, all washed away sad

i sat on the morning with my only friend, he said baby why are you so sad,
i turned around, and then i smiled, and took an arrow from my quiver, and he said loud, he was proud, he said : shout

i speak to masses in my dream, they never listen, they only scream, i bring the fire, but they never lose their cold, i bring desire, but they never seem to grow i speak to masses, i speak to masses, but they never understand, they never understand, they never understand, when will they understand, that i'm in loss again, showing my teeth to the wind, showing the sharks on my back, showing dragons on my leg, i feed the masses, but they never understand, they're always hungry, and they never seem to get it done, why don't you stop and cry no longer, i feed the masses, when will i be strong, i feed the masses, don't know where i belong, but i will be strong, flying away one day, to another fire, to another cold desire

i sat on the morning with my only friend,

s-machine

entering the fire, soon it washes away the night, soon it washes away my pride, to enter another delight, so humble was your spell, i could open the shell, so don't you run away, i'm almost close, so don't you hide, the fire has almost washed away the night i hear you breathing, hold on, i hear you screaming, hold on, i hear your tenderness, be strong, be strong, with you i belong, like an s-machine, all day long, all day long, all day long

Marionet

I'm a marionet, I'm so lost and lonely, Am a marionet, but there's a coming crowning,
For marionets always win, marionets always win

I'm a marionet, always down under, always in might, Always stringed by light, ensnared by the symmetry

I'm a marionet, I'm dreaming instead, Leaving the world behind, leaving the world in my pride,
I'm a marionet, it's a lie to be humble among the predators, Among the wolves, among the tigers, I will be proud

I'm a marionet, I'm a balletdancer, I'm a skater, I'm an icebreaker, I'm a marionet, I'm a silly dreamer, I like to be so proud among the wild ones, I'm a marionet, it's a lie to be humble, to be humble instead,
For I'm a marionet, I wasn't made for that, I was made for love, I was made for you, I was made for you so tenderly, What must I do

I'm a marionet, always breaking free from strings, always ensnared by your lovehand, I'm a marionet, I'm a marionet, I'm a marionet, I'm a marionet

No Use In Being Humble

There is no use in being humble,
I do not have to say anything to the world,
But I speak to you my tender ballerina,
For I know you are a marionet too,
I promised you to be your baby, Promised you to be your boots, Promised you to bring you across the river, Promised you to be so cool

Hey, I wished you were my tender snare, Close to me, I would play you, like marionets do, Hey, I wished you were my everlasting dream,
I would follow you, follow you, follow you

There is no use in being humble,
Don't have anything to say to the world,
Don't have anything to show them,
But I tenderly belief in you,
The one that's shining through

The Dance

A marionet knows how to suffer,
He knows that suffering makes him tender,
He knows that tenderness makes her eyes open,
The wilder he looks, she asks him to dance,
The wilder he looks, she asks him to dance

A marionet knows how to suffer,
A marionet knows how to use his sword,
But when it comes to her,
He knows how to ride his horse,
The wilder he rides, the more she loves to dance,
The wilder he rides, the more she loves to dance

A marionet knows how to dance,
A marionet knows how to suffer,
A marionet knows how to hang

Like Marionets Do

Through the mortalizing lights I slide,
To the pirateship I glide, to be immortal in disguise,
I play the mask open wide,
Through the blood and the fire, I hold your hand,

I wander through the sand with you,
Like marionets do, like marionets do

He didn't like my golden speech of diamond grief,
He didn't like my battle-art,
He didn't like my dance on the tables,
He didn't like my name nor my torn clothes and scars

Through the blood and fire, I hold your hand,
I wander through the sand with you,
Like marionets do, like marionets do

He didn't like my salty mornings,
He didn't like my horses and my pride,
He didn't like my kisses on leather,
But he did like you,
And that's why I'm coming to you, coming to you,
Like marionets do

He didn't like my earrings,
He didn't like my jewelry,
He didn't like my dusty treasures,
But he did like you,
I'm coming to you, coming to you,
Through blood and fire,
I'm coming to you,
Like marionets do

Land of the Marionet

Should I make him mad, He's someone who never understands,

I have been in his cage too long,
But this marionet is strong

Should I make him cry, He's someone making me depressed, Pirates of fire, pirates of blood,
Let me sleep again, make my days short,
Pirates of lies, pirates of symphatize, Let me sleep again, and make my days short

I'm a sleep, sleepwalker, Leaving the ship by a boat, Inside they quench their fires,
But lights here are overloaded,
I a dream I find you again,
It's now between you and me,
I make you understand,
This is the land of the marionet,
These pirates are proclaimed dead

Unite

Listen to their cries, wolves in the night,
Be silent, don't move, I'm coming closer to you, Don't you understand, you are my best friend,
Take my hand, come to my ship,
I am the marionet, I'm having you in a safe grip, Don't be afraid, don't come in disguise,
In this night we all must unite

Unite in love and pride

Kiss of Insanity

I must try to get rid of my lies, Everyone has another point of view,
We can never hit the spot,
We are doomed to misunderstanding,
We do not know the art to shoot right in the middle,
We all go astray in trying to understand each other

And we will never understand, we will never understand,
So baby let's bend, lie with me in the sand,
We will never have the same point of view,
We will never understand, we are doomed to lose each other when the waves swallow the sand

We will never understand, we are doomed to lose each other

I hear you calling but I misunderstand,
And you misunderstand me, we hate each other,
We are doomed to fight each other,
Strange gladiator-machine, in which I will hate you forever

And we will always misunderstand, until we break inside, Where oblivion is a bliss, where the kiss of insanity breaks us free

There's a small part in my life which isn't broken,
It never breaks, it only grows, it is stronger than the breaker,
It's the kiss of insanity, it has set me free, Although I will never understand you, as there was no you and me,
You were just my wrong belief,
I think I do not belong to that sect anymore, as I now believe in the kiss of insanity

When I fight you, I will never win, only lose, as you aren't real,

I don't belief in you anymore, don't belief in a you and me

Today I am happy, as I lost my belief in you,
You were a strange religion, a superstition, Now oblivion is my bliss, I can finally forget

There is no separation between a self and an other,
There is only being, awakening to the oneness of everything

I lost my belief in a self, lost my belief in an other,
A strange gladiator-machine, a strange strange superstition, Now I have been awoken by the kiss of insanity

Lilith

In the Garden you are crying, Momma was full of denying,
She never gave you anything,
She never left her London Tower, Growing there, blooming there, like the last Eeden flower

I wished to see paradise,
But now I only want to watch hell,
I wished to see paradise,
But it's so far away, I only want to watch hell,
To search for the lost flame

You ride like a horserider in the night,
Lost in flames, but full of fame and mystery,
You are the famous one, written in a sacred book, notorious, suspicious, and so paranoid, throw all your answers overboard

Bring me back to the garden, Burn my mind away

In heaven they march, far away, Crown our maidens, crown our desires,
The first time I watched Lilith smile

The Name

I still have problems to come here,
It's like it belongs to someone else,
It's like it is forbidden domain,
And the voices here are scary

Is there any way to get behind the curtain,
Is there any way to forget about the name they gave me here,
I still live in fear and mixed emotions, or does it have to be this way,
Is there any way to get behind the curtain,
Is there any way to get to your burden,
Is there any way to erase the name they gave to you and me

The Snakes (What No One Told)

I am wondering, do you like it here at all,
The streets are always empty,
The snakes doing what no one told them to do,
I am wondering is there any place where I can remember the things you said,
Is there any place to bow down for the altars of your strange strange views, What no one told you to do

And the snakes are still here, after all these years,

You've grown so old, I've grown so empty,
Is there any place to hear your story again,
Or is it dying like the last well, speaking what no one told

Camouflage Girl

Stories, stories, always fading, When you're passing by,
I see the flames are in your hair,
A treasure in the sky,
I see you walking down that old old road,
To give a name to the nameless,
To flow away through their minds

But you are just a camouflage girl, You are no whore like that,
You bear the camouflage, a heavy threat,
You are just a camouflage, a camouflage girl

Camouflage girl, camouflage girl, camouflage girl,
Camouflage girl, camouflage girl, camouflage girl, You're just a camouflage girl

Ireland

The bitter fruit takes me away, oh Ireland,
I still love you so, but I had to go,
I built a place for us so far away, where we both will be safe, Ireland, don't cry anymore

Ireland, a lost fairytale,
It burns, it cries, it's just too much to say goodbye,
I know a place where we both will be safe, Ireland, a beautiful girl, she burns, she cries, she cannot take the lies,

It's just too much to say goodbye,
I know a place where we both will be safe

Frozen Boy

Be proud of your shame, It's all I have, this frozen boy

A cat without wings and space,
He chose for love, and now he's an aeroplane, in sweet vain, in sweet vain
A cat without wings and space,
He turned around, and now he's an aeroplane, an aeroplane

So many shames in this world,
He kills a liar from above,
So many liars in this world, so many dying in this world

A cat without wings and space,
he turns around and now he's an aeroplane,
in sweet vain, in sweet vain,

He's going on, this frozen boy,
He's changing without moving,
This vehicle in soft rage
He went down where everything's soft and green, Where grey knows your name, it's cleaned in a million years,
And suddenly, they are you and me

A mouse without wings and space,
He turns around, and now he's an aeroplane,

this frozen boy, like this frozen boy, he's hugging all his shames, so proud of his fairytales

Amsterdam

Amsterdam, gathering money for the birds, in an old hat, it's just an old hat, my father bought yesterday, Goodbye yesterday, goodevening tomorrow, we're gonna live with you today, you will guide us to the next stage

Amsterdam, an old hat, gathering money for the birds, all these kings of yesterday, will finally make the big tomorrow, in Amsterdam's fame

Under the Brown

He made a trip, to the big place,
saw all the cakes laid down there, a pretty sight, but she wasn't aware, she was caressing her roses, since Jupiter had died

He made a trip to the end of the world, watching the stars, so many things to move your arms to,
He sent robots to the mountains, like old memories, the blood he denied, this train needed a ride, Ride on, honey, ride on, since jupiter died, you caress her roses, as kings of rippled peaches, of waters under the brown

One and Only

The rose is stinging me, I hear her voice,
She is crying, she is lying, such a strange strange force,
It always puts me down, tears me to pieces,
I'm standing on the wall, to be her watcher the whole night,
But she doesn't exist after all

She's just the voice of my misunderstanding, She's just the voice of a strange belief,
Of a strange strange superstition,
Of a strange strange make-belief, in a you and a me, in a strange gladiator-machine

Today I'm breaking free, free of the belief in a separation between a you and a me, Today I'm breaking free, free of the sect believing in a you and a me,
There was never a you and a me, never a separation, as all is oneness,
And everything is being, believing in the one and only

The rose is stinging me, rose is stinging me, today,
But there was never a you and a me,
This strange sect of a gladiator-machine,
But what kind of a machine is taking me away,
It is the one and only
